Christmas Lighting To Receive New Face

David G. Jones, general chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Christmas program, reports great progress by the committee in preparing for the upcoming season. In an effort to redesign the street lighting, 26 pole decorations have been ordered, replacing the old and outdated strings. The location of these, it has been decided, will be from McKnatt's Funeral Home to Quillen's Shopping Center. The Harrington Jaycees have volunteered to install these decorations. An electrician will be needed to make the necessary electrical connections. Some of the more servicable string lights will also be used at locations yet to be chosen.

The committee reports an effort is being made to change the location of the Santa Claus house and the town Christmas tree. It is the desire of the committee to find a permanent location for the tree. If this can be done a live tree will be transplanted in order to always have a decent tree available each year without the added expense and trouble of locating and setting up one.

The committee further announced the responsibility of organizing the annual Christmas parade has been assigned to the Harrington Jaycees. The parade, representing the official arrival of Santa Claus to Harrington will be held Dec. 2, at 1:30 p.m. Prizes will again be awarded to best decorated homes, best decorated residential windows and also commercial windows. The total cost of this year's project is expected to be in the neighborhood of $3000. It is planned to instigate a fund-raising campaign in order to pay the necessary expenses.

Four Breaking and Entering Incidents

Four places were broken into and entered over the weekend and Monday night, said Chief of Police Franklin Rogers.

A man named Griffith, who was moving from Jackson's Ditch Road to 118 Delaware Ave., over the weekend, suffered the greatest loss amounting to three stands, vacuum cleaner, boys clothing, skirts, curtains, and bed clothing.

There were three cases of breaking and entering Monday night. The Delmarva Power & Light Company building on Liberty Street was entered by breaking a window and a door lock but no loss has been ascertained.

Change was stolen from a small bank at Pilgrim Holiness Church, Delaware Avenue. Entry was gained thru cutting a window screen.

A window was pushed in to the boiler room of St. Bernadette's Church. A latch was also broken on a side door but no entry was made because the door was bolted inside. No loss has been found.

Man Held In Camp Slaying

Ernest Thomas, 47, of Greenwood, charged with second-degree murder in a weekend labor camp slaying, was being held at Sussex Correctional Institution in lieu of $10,000 bond last Sunday night.

Thomas, sought by Delaware State Police in connection with the Saturday morning death of Robert Lee Guyton, 49, surrendered without incident later in the day at an Ellendale residence, police said.

A two-state police alert had been broadcast for him, describing him as armed and potentially dangerous. Authorities said they recovered a .38-caliber revolver at the time of the arrest.

Guyton, a resident of Annet's Labor Camp on Delaware 36 near Staytonville, died at about 5:40 a.m. at Milford Memorial Hospital, where friends had taken him, according to police.

Investigators claimed that Guyton and Thomas became involved in a "heated argument" outside the camp's recreation building, apparently over money in a card game.

Guyton, they said, was shot in the left side with a .38-caliber pistol and died as a result of massive hemorrhage in his left chest cavity.

Petitioners Secured for Formation Of Brown's Branch Tax Ditch

Local Bills Should Be Introduced Soon, Advises Rep. Quillen

The State Highway Department has begun maintenance of two roads leading to Wheeler's Park, Rep. G. R. Quillen said Wednesday. At the same time, he advised persons interested in having local bills introduced in the General Assembly to get in touch with him soon.

Quillen explained the state Constitution did not allow action on local legislation in the last half of the General Assembly. This portion starts next year.

The representative defined local legislation as such matters as sidewalks, streetlights, county sewer problems, and improvements.

Continuing, he commented the 1968 session of the General Assembly, by the Constitution, can be limited only to budgetary, revenue, financial matters, public welfare, and emergency legislation. "At the time of this writing, I have no news on HB 209 (to raise teachers' pay) as it is in the Senate and it has not made much headway with the bill," Quillen said.

Returning to the improvement of roads leading to Wheeler's Park, they being Harrington Avenue and Second Avenue outside the city limits, the Harringtonian said, "I wish to thank the interested persons who have sent me letters and, in person, thanked me for acting on this matter. As there has been much talk and little action taken in the past on these streets, I feel many people will benefit."

(Editorial Note: The Senate met Wednesday to act on a revised bill on teachers' pay. The House would have to act on it.)

Five persons have petitioned for the formation of a tax ditch company, said Mrs. Kathryn Derricks, acting city manager, Monday.

She said they were William Stokes, Charles L. Peck, Sr., Franklin Hendricks, Fulton J. Downing, and Jehu F. Camper. Mrs. Derricks said she could have procured more petitioners but the number received was adequate.

The petition has been presented to Pete Talbert, state drainage engineer, with the next move to be a public hearing, date to be determined.

After the hearing, the next move will be a referendum of residents of landowners in the affected area.

This region is a portion of Brown's Branch and a tributary. The second-named starts northwest of Harrington and proceeds thru the community to Harrington Manor where it runs into an arm of Brown's Branch just west of U.S. 13. This arm, also included in the proposed tax ditch project, runs east and joins with Cemetery Ditch where the proposed project ends.

The City of Harrington, the instigator of the project, will also vote in the referendum, date to be determined. There will be one vote for each $1 paid in taxes.

The proposal for a tax ditch was sparked by a 9-inch rain here Aug. 3-4 and consequent flooding.

Skull - Dish Found At South Bowers Indian Site

A skull fashioned into a shallow dish and used in Indian magical rites was dug up Sunday at the archeological site near South Bowers.

State Archeologist Ronald A. Thomas said the find tied the skeletons found there — 58 so far — even more closely to a tribe whose artifacts were first found at Kip's Island in central New York.

A similar skull cap dish was discovered there with a bundle of goose bones, also used in Indian magic. The Delaware skull also had bird bones around it, but Thomas cannot yet say for sure that they are goose bones.

The first piece of pottery was discovered at the site was discovered Sunday when a number of shards about the size of a hand were dug up. They were found four feet under ground.

Because of the great public interest — 7,000 persons have visited the site since Aug. 1 — Thomas hopes to make it a permanent archeological attraction.

BUST THE BALLOONS — says Sandy Passwaters, who is shown at her stand at the Girl Scout carnival for muscular dystrophy, held last Saturday morning in the high school parking lot. The fund raising project netted $100.45. Mrs. Kenneth Roberts, of Greenwood, is the scout leader.

A GIRL SCOUT NEWS
Troop 679

The Girl Scouts of Troop 679 put on a carnival for muscular dystrophy last Saturday morning in the High School parking lot and raised the wonderful amount of $100.45 for that worthy cause. Though the day was rather cool, the enthusiasm of the girls, and their leader, Mrs. Kenneth Roberts, of Greenwood, was not. They worked early to get their booths set up and ready, and late to take care of all of their customers and to clean up the grounds. They showed great ingenuity in their signs and kinds of games and prizes a fact that was attested to by their profits for M/S.

Special thanks need to be made to Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKnatt for helping their daughters, Debbie and LuAnn with the Sno-Cone booth; Kay Raughley, for bringing her pony "Topsy", and the family of Debbie Nutter for bringing her pony "Topsy", the pony rides. Aleta Mason assisted with the ponies, too. The carnival, which was the first on many activities planned with the girls by Mrs. Roberts, will be used toward their service badge. This year portends to be an active and rewarding year for these children. Mrs. Roberts will be calling on various resource persons from the community to assist her, but would especially like to have an assistant leader. If anyone in the community would volunteer to help her, she and the girls would be most grateful. Her number is 349-4855.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

Retail prices of fresh meat are staying pretty much as they have been for the past three or four weeks. There are a couple of exceptions, however—veal cutlets continue to rise in price and a few smoked meat items are higher, notably first grade bacon and whole smoked ham.

To get your best buys, it is even more important to check weekend specials carefully. This is when beef steaks and the better beef roasts are lower priced. Beef supplies are somewhat smaller than last fall. Put this with the increasing population, creating a greater demand since there are larger disposable incomes, and you will readily see that beef prices are very likely to remain high. In fact, prices may ease up a bit more before they become steady.

At the end of last week hog deliveries were about ten per cent over the same time a year ago, packer demand was slow and many prices declined. Many retailers are now reflecting the wholesale decrease and good values are available on loin chops, roast, and spare ribs. Supplies, however, are increasing less than in 1966 and the seasonal decline in October pork prices is not expected to be as great as last year.

There are good buys among fresh vegetables this week, as seasonal items become more plentiful. This condition will probably change as the damage done by Hurricane Beulah is assessed. One thing is certain: The Texas vegetable crop is practically a total loss. As a result, you can expect supplies and prices of many items sold at our markets to be affected. As of now, several states are shipping in large supplies of carrots and cabbage and these vegetables are still in the budget class.

The harvesting season for sweet potatoes on Virginia's Eastern Shore is well under way and as volume increases, prices should decline. This vegetable is highly perishable, so enjoy it often while it is in season. Buy only what you will use in a day or two, use it quickly, and then buy more.

More Idaho potatoes have made an appearance and supplies of cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, green beans, peppers, dry onions, and eggplant are adequate.

Apples, honeydew melons, Bartlett pears and red grapes are all lower priced for weekend sales. Though some bananas were lost due to high winds in the growing area, there are still adequate supplies at local markets, and prices are holding steady to slightly higher. Avocados and lemons continue on the light side as light supplies of grapefruit and oranges begin to arrive. Supplies of citrus fruits will also be affected by Beulah since the Texas citrus crop was severely hit.

August Rainfall Makes New High

It won't be any surprise to Delawareans that August was a wet month, but at least two rainfall-measuring stations in the state recorded new highs.

Dover's station measured the highest total for the state during August, with 15.46 inches, almost three times the normal amount for the month and apparently the highest ever.

Georgetown's 14.15 inches of rain during August, measured at the university's substation, was well above the previous recorded high of 9.3 inches in August, 1955.

The rainfall figures are included in the monthly report on the state's water conditions, published by the Delaware Geological Survey.

Wilmington's August total, measured at the airport, was 11.16 inches. Previous highs, all in August, were 14.91 inches in 1911 and 12.09 inches in 1955.

Army Private First Class John W. Dunham, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dunham, Bridgeville, was assigned to the 2nd Infantry Division, in Korea, Sept. 5.

Pvt. Dunham, a chemical laboratory specialist, entered the Army in June 1966 and was last stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

The private graduated in 1962 from Bridgeville High School, and attended the University of Delaware, Newark.

Better Housing Expensive Seminar Participants Told

It's a short crowded life these days—if you're a chicken. The rooster and his flock roaming the barnyard—free as birds—are a thing of the past. Chicken factories are the rule. Day-old chicks go in one end, one to each seventh square foot of darkened space, and nine weeks later plump, delicious broilers come out the other.

More than two hundred representatives from the broiler industry in seven countries taking part in a recent broiler housing seminar at the University of Delaware's Georgetown station discussed the modern chicken factory. They agreed that a completely controlled environment produces better chicken at a higher profit.

Fried chicken may be typically American but British home-makers are adding chicken to their menus too. Dr. David Sainsbury, veterinarian and poultry expert from Cambridge, England, stated that the growing British broiler industry has completely switched to windowless, insulated housing with automatically controlled heat, light and ventilation. "There isn't a single broiler house with windows left in England or Ireland."

In Georgia, largest broiler producing state in the United States, they call the new automated chicken factories "improved housing", according to Lee Arrendale, Clarksville. Georgia chickens are no longer nervous in their new windowless houses; they like being crowded together under dim lights. At least, they grow fast and come out tasting good—and they make a profit for the industry, too.

The trend in Maine is also toward windowless houses, according to Richard Pierce, Lipman Poultry Company, Augusta. "It's the results that count, and we are consistently getting best performance and best overall costs from these houses. Our future in the broiler business will be influenced considerably by these windowless houses, particularly since one man can take care of nearly 60,000 birds in six hours a day and earn good wages."

Windowless housing is still far in the future for Delmarva. According to one poultryman attending the seminar, only five percent of the new houses going up on the peninsula are windowless.

Charles Nelson, Jr., Federal Land Bank, Salisbury, Md., said bankers are concerned about the high cost of new types of housing. "Bankers are not against progress; the industry must be competitive." Yet the houses are expensive and many growers still owe money on three or four year old broiler houses. "Can they afford to go deeper into debt considering the current slump in prices?"

Del. 4-H'ers Compete in Nat. Dairy Judging

Four Delaware 4-H'ers will represent the state in the National 4-H Dairy Cattle Judging Contest held during the North American Dairy Show at Columbus, Ohio, October 14-19.

John Cmegys, 16, Hartley; Charles Ebling, 18, Townsend; Robert Gove, 15, Townsend; and Gene Willis, 17, Milton, will compete in the nationwide event. Dr. W. R. Hesselbine, extension dairyman at the University of Delaware, will accompany the team as coach.

Contestants will judge five cow and five heifer classes selected from Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein and Jersey breeds. They will give oral and written reasons for the way they rank the cattle.

The national competition is designed to help 4-H'ers learn more about the various breeds of dairy cattle and the relationship between conformation and performance.

Asbury Methodist Men's News

By Sam Short Jr.

Donald Garey opened the meeting of the Methodist Men Sun., Sept. 3, and the minister, the Rev. John Edward Jones, asked the blessing. The minutes were read by the secretary, Carl Hill, and treasurer's report was given by Earl Nelson.

Fulton Downing reported no one wanted a dish washer and it was dropped for the time being. George Tatman reported he had the information he had been requested to get on the folding tables for the dining hall of the church and after he made his report a motion was made and passed to purchase 10 at once.

Sam Short reported the auction sale for the church was progressing very satisfactorily and there would be a lot of antiques for sale such as: chairs, tables and glassware. Sale is to be held Sat., Oct. 14, beginning at 10 a.m. Rain date will be the following Saturday. Lunch will be served both noon and evening.

Jack Dill then introduced the speaker, Bro. Carlton Goodhand, of the Pilgrim Holiness Church, speaking on "Challenging You To a Closer Walk With God". Taking from the Bible the 5th chapter of John. "The pool in Jerusalem, named in Hebrew, 'Bethesda', saying a great multitude of folk, blind, halt and withered lying there waiting for the moving of the water for an angel went down at a certain season into the pool, and troubled the water, stating whosoever then first stepped in was made whole of whatever disease he had." He said he had thought about the many churches we had right here in our own city and making his comparison he wondered what percentage of our citizens would attend church today and how many of the church members would shake a hand and invite the unchurched to attend church or even offer to go along with them.

The breakfast was served by Thomas Clarke, of pancakes and sausage, with Ed Graef as chef.

Bugs - Keep Away From My Door

You can't keep insects out by simply locking the door and hoping they'll go away. Your warm house looks like a good place to spend the winter to cockroaches, silverfish, crickets, boxelder bugs, elm leaf beetles and fall webworm caterpillars, among others.

Fortunately, you can "insect-proof" your home to keep most insects outside, according to Frank Boys, agricultural chemicals specialist at the University of Delaware. Apply a barrier of insecticide around the foundation now to kill the unwelcome visitors before they get in.

Chlordane applied to the outside foundation will keep out most of the invaders. If the insects are already coming in, diazinon (Spectracide) should give control. For boxelder bugs outside the home use malathion plus some detergent or carbaryl (Sevin). If elm leaf beetles or boxelder bugs are a real problem, treat the trunks of elm and boxelder trees with the insecticide mixture.

Spraying is the best way to apply the barrier around your house, Boys points out. Treat the outside walls and foundation from sill down to soil and a band of five or six inches next to the foundations. Give cracks and crevices extra attention; spray enough insecticide that it begins to run off. Never spray near wells or cisterns and follow label directions for amounts and precautions. Always be careful to keep the chemical away from children and pets.

If a sprayer isn't available, a sprinkler can will do. A paint brush makes a good applicator for treating window sills and door thresholds.

WHAT A RELIEF—The parking lot of Harrington Shirt Company. This view points east. The lot is south and slightly west of the plant. It has entrances from East Street and Clark Street. This is a relief as the workers have had to park on Clark Street until recently. HEALTH and SAFETY TIPS

'Brown Recluse' Is A Problem

An innocuous-looking little spider named "The Brown Recluse" has recently been found to be even more dangerous than the long-feared "Black Widow". The Brown Recluse has become enough of a health problem—several deaths and a number of serious bites—to become a subject of a research study and a recent report published in the Medical News Section of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The spider tries to steer clear of humans—hence its name—but because it likes to hide in dark recesses of buildings, it comes under inadvertent human assault in bedding, shoes and other places where it seeks daytime refuge. The Brown Recluse has been found in at least 13 states in the South, Southwest and Midwest, and is thought to be moving into other sections of the country. Because of the spider's tendency to retreat into wadded-up newspaper ers or blankets or other dark areas in daytime, it easily could be transported north by vacationers to states where it has not yet been seen.

The spider may bite without the victim being aware of it. There is little early pain associated with a bite. Unlike the Black Widow, both males and females can inject venom.

Pain may be felt in two to eight hours, followed by inflammation of the skin, blistering, hemorrhage and ulceration.

Of the Brown Recluse's bite, one researcher told JAMA News: "Several deaths have been attributed to this spider. Our data indicate a biological poison much more potent than known snake venoms, and probably more toxic than venom from the Black Widow spider." Exactly how the venom acts remains to be determined.

Treatment involves injection of a medication over a period of days and in more serious cases hospitalization.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—Please clarify who receives the death gratuity in the case of a serviceman who dies while on active duty.

A—Each of the military services—Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard pays this benefit in cases of deaths of its servicemen. The amount is equal to six months pay, but not less than $800 or more than $3,000. The money must be paid to the serviceman's surviving spouse, or secondly, to surviving children. Servicemen who do not have a surviving spouse or children may designate parents, brothers or sisters in any combination to receive the money in case of death.

Q—I have been on active duty for 21 months. Am I now eligible to go to school?

A—No. You need full two years to qualify if on active duty.

Q—I have been on active duty for the past eight years. Am I eligible to go to school.

A—Yes.

Q—I am the parent of a veteran who draws compensation for service incurred disabilities. How much income can I have and continue to be considered a dependent?

A—Each case must be determined on its own merits since dependency of the parent must be established. The payment to the veteran is based on the fact that he is responsible for the principal support of his parent.

Q—My oldest child recently reached age 18. He will continue in school two more years but is only able to go two hours per week. Can I continue to consider him a dependent for compensation purposes?

A—The student must attend the equivalent of three regular daily or evening sessions per week. Two hours could qualify depending on the length of the sessions of the school.

Q—As a non-veteran, may I buy a G.I. home when it has been repossessed and again offered for sale?

A—The Veterans Administration has for sale to anyone who can qualify as to credit standing a large number of home which have been foreclosed following non-payment by the G.I. purchaser. See your real estate broker.

Christian Workers School Starts Sunday at Milford

A Christian Worker's School for church school teachers and others interested in Christian education will be held at the Avenue Methodist Church, Milford, on four successive Sunday evenings, beginning October 8. The school, sponsored by the Dover District of the Methodist Church, will begin at 7:30 p.m. each evening and will consist of five courses.

Four of the courses will be of special interest to those who teach in our church schools. They include, "Helping Children Grow in Christian Faith"—"Skills in Working with Elementary Children"—"Adolescent Religion, and Adult Learning in a Changing World". Instructors for these courses have been selected and are well versed in each of these areas.

The fifth course, open to Senior High School Youth, is an innovation. Kirby Krams, director of religious services for the Youth Services Commission for the State of Delaware, and the Peninsula Conference director of youth work, will be the leader for this group as they discuss the topic of "Being Christian in This Crazy World". The youth will discuss the problems of today's society as they relate to Christian objectives. They will study the mutual problems of church society and youth as they work together.

The board of managers of this District Conference on Christian Education, with the Rev. Edwin A. Horney of Smyrna as chairman and the Rev. Harold E. Walton, of Seaford as Dean, has planned four evenings of inspiration, information and dedication for those who work in the various churches. They anticipate a large registration from each of the churches in the Dover District.

Poems from Paradise Pastures
 By W. Cliff Miller

Back in early days of motoring on, then, crooked dirt roads, a motorist with tire-trouble, inquired of a native farmer: "How far to the nearest service station?"

Farmer: "Bout two miles the way the crow flies!"
 Motorist: "How far if the D— crow is rolling a tire?"

That could have been on the back road Felton to Masten's Corner, now a busy and improved thoroughfare, still crooked as a pretzel, four miles the way the crow flies, but six the way the buzzards fly. We often travel this route and wonder what prompted such a crooked right-of-way in the first place. Maybe it could best be solved in:

"PATHWAYS OF THE MIND"

One day through the primeval wood
 A calf walked home as good calves should
 But made a trail all bent askew,
 A crooked trail, as all calves do.
 Since then, three hundred years have fled
 And I infer that calf is dead
 But still he left behind that trail
 And thereby hangs my moral tale.

The trail was taken up next day
 By a lone dog that passed that way
 And then a wise bellwether sheep
 Pursued the trail o'er vale and steep
 And drew the flock behind him too,
 As good bellwethers always do.
 From that day on, o'er hill and glade,
 Through those old woods a path was made.

Man after man wound in and out
 And dodged and turned and bent about
 And uttered words of righteous wrath
 Because it was a crooked path
 But still they followed . . . do not laugh
 At the migration of that calf.
 That crooked lane became a road
 Where many a poor horse with it's load
 Toiled on beneath the burning sun
 And traveled three miles in one.

Thus, for a century and a half,
 They trod the footsteps of that calf.
 The years passed on in swiftness fleet;
 The road became a village street
 And then, before men were aware,
 Became a crowded thoroughfare
 And soon the central street was this
 Of a renowned metropolis.

Now men two centuries and a half
 Had trod the footsteps of that calf.
 A hundred thousand men were led
 By one poor calf three centuries dead
 For men are prone to go it blind
 Along the calf-paths of the mind
 And work away from sun to sun
 To do what other men have done.

They follow in the beaten track
 And out and in and forth and back
 But still their devious course pursue
 To keep the path that others do.
 They keep the path a sacred groove
 Along which all their lives they move
 And how the wise wood gods must laugh
 Who saw that first primeval calf.

Corn Storage
Prospects Better
This Year

Corn storage should be more attractive this year to Delmarva growers, according to W. T. McAllister, extension farm management specialist at the University of Delaware. However, many are reluctant to store corn this year because they received an unfavorable return on the 1966-67 crop storage.

Last year Delmarva had a small corn crop; drying and storage space was more than sufficient to handle the light crop. Feed manufacturers and dealers with large storage facilities bid strongly last year for the local supply.

Local prices were at a peak at harvest for the entire marketing year. The 1966 crop sold for a lower price in July 1967 than in November 1966. Therefore, growers who stored corn lost — not only the cost of the storage but also in the actual price they received.

Last year's situation developed because Delaware and Maryland had unusually small crops while the nationwide crop set a record. This record crop plus an export demand which was less than expected kept prices low all year.

This year, another large national corn crop is anticipated — 14 percent more than last year's record crop. However, the local crop is also large; feed manufacturers and grain dealers are hard pressed to handle the volume of corn available to them.

The temporarily overloaded market puts a downward pressure on prices, McAllister notes. The large U.S. crop, which will be harvested a little later than Delmarva's, will keep corn prices fairly low during most of the 1967-68 marketing year.

Major price improvements will come only when temporarily glutted markets clear out. Therefore, during the rest of the marketing year, price advances are likely to about equal the cost of storage. Of course, an unusual domestic or export market could develop, which would cause a price boom and upset the prediction.

GOD, MAN, SALT WATER and the EASTERN SHORE
 by William I. Tawes

By word, painting and sketch, Mr. Tawes recalls, with Bay salt and spice that tiny postage stamp of America he christens "the Creek Country." In so doing, he lets his own native marshes and waters reflect those of countless other Chesapeake towns and neck districts.

Writing with a distinctive hybrid of contemporary awareness and old-fashioned reverence, he tells of a time, place and people that have ripened in his mind for over sixty years. Presents a vision of a world that is now, for the most part, history.

William D. Burritt, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Burritt, Route 2, Lakeview Oaks, Smyrna, was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Ft. Dix, N. J., Aug. 31.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

Burritt, a member of Phi Kappa Theta fraternity, received his A. B. degrees in 1967 from Belmont Abbey College, Belmont, N. C.

 Mrs. Katherine H. Johnson, 77, wife of Charles T. Johnson, died Tuesday morning at the Jersey Shore Medical Center, Neptune, N. J., following a short illness.

Formerly a resident of Harrington, she had lived in the Belmar, N. J., area for 29 years.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two children from a previous marriage, a son, William L. Brown, of Point Pleasant, N. J., and a daughter,

Even with a fairly good chance to make a small profit by storing, growers may find storage profits offset by their need for cash, the advantages of harvesting early, or income tax considerations. The decision to sell or store depends upon the facilities available and the program that appears most profitable to the individual grower, McAllister concludes.

Maine Teacher
Wins $500 DPI
Award

Mrs. Ruth Sands, supervisor of the School Lunch Program in Bangor, Me., has won $500 for submitting the best recipe in Delmarva Poultry Industry's 1967 School Lunch Recipe Contest.

Mrs. Sands is a native of Michigan, has a master's degree in institutional administration from Michigan State University, and worked 18 years at Michigan State Residence Hall. She moved to Maine when her husband accepted a professorship at the University of Maine. She has served in her present capacity with Bangor schools since April, 1966, supervising eleven schools, feeding 2500 lunches per day.

Her recipe entitled, "Treasure Island Chicken" was adapted for quantity service from an old Michigan family-type cookbook. It combines orange juice and spices with chicken which is especially appropriate at this time because chicken and orange juice are both among the foods supplied by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to help schools build nutritious school breakfasts and lunches for students at the lowest possible cost. Chicken is an excellent source of protein, vitamin A and calcium. Orange juice is an excellent source of vitamin C.

Second prize of $300 was won by Mrs. Velma Sanger of Easton Junior High School, Easton, Md., for "Corny Oven Fried Chicken", a recipe that uses dry milk, corn meal and poultry seasoning with the chicken.

Third prize of $100 was won by Mrs. Helen Ericson of Naquag Elementary School in Rutland, Mass., for chicken baked in a butter sauce that includes vinegar, sugar, and paprika. She called her recipe, "Oven Fried Chicken Supreme".

Copies of these and "honorable mention" recipes may be obtained by writing Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., Rt. 2, Box 47, Georgetown, Del. 19947.

Mrs. Marian Thompson, Barnegat, N. J.; three grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren; three brothers, Lawrence, of Philadelphia; Abner of Harrington; and Edmund Hickman, of Neptune, N. J.; and a sister, Mrs. Wilhelmina Taylor of Easthampton, Mass.

FENCE TALK
with George K. Vapaa

The fence stretched a long way last week—all the way to Omaha, Neb.

This is the site of the world's largest stockyard. It is also the land of the tall corn. The Cornhuskers, as Nebraskans call themselves, market better than 90 per cent of their crops through beef cattle and hogs.

We had about 900 county agents there for our annual meeting. Family members and guests swelled this number to perhaps 1500 people before the sessions ended.

Congressman Ben Reifel, of South Dakota gave a talk on working with minority groups. He is an American Indian himself and related the story of Squanto. Squanto was in effect the first county agent with the first practical farm demonstration. He showed the Puritans how to plant corn, how to fertilize by placing a fish beneath the seed, and how to store the matured grain until it was needed.

The Congressman reminded us that we must understand the cultures of people whose backgrounds are different from ours if we hope to help them in a meaningful way. We heard examples of effort with poverty groups, ethnic communities and newly developing foreign nations.

The Green Acres county agent, Hank Kimbell appeared on our platform just as he does on television. He told us the whole program is filmed indoors on a sound stage, with a cyclorama backdrop.

Hank said "There is nothing I wouldn't do for Eva Gabor, and there is nothing she won't do for me. That's the way it is—nothing doing."

His children are active in 4-H club work with a rabbit project. We found Hank a very entertaining and personable young man in real life and the Oklahoma agents decided he needed a new western cattleman's hat to take the place of his beat up bonnet.

His parting remark: "Thank you very much. I just want you to know that I've got the bull to go with it."

This is about poke. I should like to commend Mrs. Dan Towery of Dover for bringing in some suspicious berries that she thought might be toxic, altho she brought them as "huckleberries".

Several of our specialists and I immediately recognized that the berries were not in the heath family, Ericaceae, but in the Solanaceae or nightshade family, which contains quite a variety of poisonous plants. However, as I happen to have written about several weeks ago, this nightshade family also includes potatoes and tomatoes, definitely not toxic in any sense of the word.

So two horticulturists at the college, Dr. Don Fieldhouse and Elisha Rahn got out their plant manuals and found that the fruit was not poke—too many carpels. About that time Dr. Vernon Fisher came into his office with a poke plant, of all things, to prepare a color slide for another project. He does most of the identification work anyway and he simply opened his wallet to extract a news release and picture of these very berries—garden huckleberry or wonderberry!

How did he happen to have this too? Well, someone else had been suspicious earlier.

The news article says you can buy the seeds in Ohio and gives the address which I will be glad to furnish if you will call our office at 736-1448. But the fruit tastes bitter to me and must be dead ripe to eat. It is used mostly for preserves.

4-H Club News
With Marion MacDonald

A world of opportunity is available to youth through 4-H Club work. 4-H is more than champion cows, sewing lessons, and blue ribbons. It is a way of life for more than 600 Kent County boys and girls. Drawing participants from 9 to 19 years, 4-H combines the best of learning and fun. It offers a wide variety of projects and activities which emphasize "learning by doing", and rewards our youth for personal growth and achievement.

Members choose their own individual projects from some 94 offered in Delaware. These range from photography, automotive, foods, clothing, flower growing to calves, poultry and horsemanship. The young scientists may choose projects in entomology, electricity or animal science.

Our members like 4-H for the many activities and projects it offers groups and clubs. Clubs select worthwhile activities such as the community beautification projects that the Kent County Klubbers and Peach Blossom Clubs are carrying out. The Millwood Club is planning a club safety program for the coming year. Volunteer leaders help guide and advise members of community and neighborhood 4-H Clubs.

Now is a good time to join 4-H Clubs throughout Kent County are reorganizing and new clubs are starting. To learn more about 4-H contact the County Extension Office at the old post office, Dover, phone 736-1448.

What can I have to eat that's different? How many homemakers ask each other this question when they meet in the supermarket?

Turkey is a good buy this season for it is plentiful. This recipe sounded like a good and different way to use left-over turkey. This will make a good main dish salad especially for lunch.

This recipe tested and developed by USDA food specialists, makes 6 servings of 1 cup each.

Turkey Fruit Salad
3 cups cooked, diced turkey
1 cup seedless, halved grapes
2 cups drained pineapple chunks
1 cup apple wedges, unpeeled
1/4 cup fruit salad dressing (recipe below)

6 lettuce cups
Paprika as needed
1.3 cup almonds, slivered
toasted if desired

Combine turkey, grapes, pineapple chunks and apple wedges. Chill until just before serving time. Blend lightly with salad dressing. Dip edges of lettuce cups in paprika. Serve salad on lettuce. Top with almonds, if desired.

Fruit Salad Dressing
1/2 cup sugar
1 Tablespoon flour
1 egg
3 Tablespoons lemon juice
3/4 cup pineapple juice
Mix sugar and flour in the top of double boiler. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Cook over hot, not boiling, water, stirring constantly until mixture is thick and clear. Chill. Calories per tablespoon: About 30. Yield: 1 1/4 cups dressing.

Greenwood

By Pat Hatfield

Pilgrim Holiness Church:

Richard Copple, a graduate of Greenwood High School, and a public school teacher, will give his testimony at Pilgrim Holiness Church, Sunday night, October 8, at 7:30. He will testify how God raised him from a bed of affliction a few months ago, when he was not expected to live.

Another feature of this service will be several selections from the Mennonite group.

Mrs. Nelson Meredith, Sr., flew to California this past week to visit her son, Samuel Meredith and his family, and to welcome her new little granddaughter into that family.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield were Mr. and Mrs. David E. Keith and children, Hilary and Teddy, of New Castle. Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Case and children, Karen and Blair, of Newark, joined them for dinner and the evening, Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and Mr. and Mrs. David Keith and children called on Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Jones, of Felton, and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith, of Greenwood.

Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith spent Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Allison Davis. On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Hatfield was a dinner guest of Mrs. Meredith.

Mrs. Elizabeth Saylor, of Sellersville, Pa., spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Mart Usher. Thursday they took her back and on the way home called on Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lofland, who is in the Wilmington Medical Division for eye surgery. She was reported doing nicely. Mr. Lofland is spending the week in Wilmington with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Veasey, while Mrs. Lofland recovers from her surgery.

Mennonite News
Friday evening, Oct. 6, at 7:45, Elmer and Eileen Lehman will be at Greenwood Mennonite Church for an illustrated lecture on their work in Costa Rica.

Thursday evening of last week, the Greenwood Mennonite School Chorus participated in the services at the Bridgeville Church of God. We are happy to have Jean Miller serve as the school cook again this year.

Vern Miller seems to have made a slight change for the better, but our prayer support is still coveted. He is the son of the Glen Millers, now of West Virginia.

Ruby Swartzentruber was able to come home from the hospital, but expects to be in a double cast for several weeks yet.

Kevin (Johnson) Miller, who was hospitalized last week for respiratory infection, is home again.

Barbara (Mrs. Fred Slabagh) who had surgery last week, is home from the hospital also.

Mark Dennis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dennis, Jr., spent the weekend with his great-uncle, Edwin Davis, in Bucks County, Pa.

Miss Anne Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cannon, was a Sunday night supper guest of Mrs. David Keith, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield. In the evening, they called on Wayne Andrews, who was home on leave. Wayne is stationed in Philadelphia now and was the guest of his grandmother, Mrs. O'Day.

Asbury W.S.C.S. Notes

A pebble tossed into still waters creates ever widening circles until all of the water shows the influence of the one tiny pebble. So the effect of the small donations of a Woman's Society of Christian Service to the missionary field cause ever widening results throughout the world. Carl Hill likened the pebble to the missionary donations at the monthly meeting of the Asbury Methodist Church Woman's Society of Christian Service on Tuesday evening. Serving on a panel discussing the effect of the Christian church on communities and countries in the United States and Africa, Mr. Hill spoke of the effect in Harrington and the U.S., while two guests from Africa told of the effect in their native lands of Kenya and Nigeria.

Mrs. Charles Greenhaugh and Mrs. Hayward Quillen were leaders for the meeting and Mrs. Greenhaugh introduced Fulton Downing who served as moderator for the panel discussions. Udoka Johnson Udoka, from Nigeria, attending Delaware State College and Solomon Thande, of Kenya, a student at Wesley College, were the other panel members. They are both sponsored by Peninsula Conference and of course are representatives of the Christian faiths in their countries. Both young men spoke of the influence in their lands of the missionary schools on family life as well as the social and moral values of their countries.

Mrs. Guy Winebrenner presented the devotions which preceded the program. Mrs. Audrey Schreck presided at the business meeting which followed.

Several dates of importance to society members were announced: Open house at the Neighborhood House, 1218 B. Street, Wilmington, on Wed., Oct. 18, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Membership Tea at the Manor House, Seaford, Oct. 26, 1:30 to 4 p.m.; UNICEF collection Oct. 30 after school at the Harrington New Century Club; church auction sale, (Sat., Oct. 14, beginning at 10 a.m.); Oct. 15th, Society members to attend morning worship as a group; next meeting November 7th, a joint meeting at Asbury with Trinity W.S.C.S. as guests.

Mrs. Edgar Graef, chairman of Campus Ministry reported that she has been keeping in touch with young people from Asbury who are at college or in the service. Anyone knowing of an address that she might need should call her.

Two new members were announced, Mrs. Robert Gillette, of Deborah Circle, and Mrs. John Shaffer of Rebekah Circle. Rebekah Circle served refreshments.

Mrs. Laura Russell, 92, died Wed., Sept. 27 at her home near Greenwood, after a long illness. She was the widow of Volney L. Russell, who died in 1958. She was a native of Delaware and had lived near Greenwood for 34 years. She made her home with a stepson, Winfield Warrington.

Lions Seek First Grid Victory at Rehoboth Tonight

Harrington High's victory-starved Lions start a "new" season at Rehoboth tonight. After colliding with unbeaten powerhouses from Delmar and Bridgeville, the locals had last week off. It is hoped that this respite was long enough, to drastically reduce Coach Bill Muehleisen's sizeable injury list.

The Lions looked much better in their last outing and in Rehoboth, they will be meeting a thrice-slaughtered foe. The Seahawks are coached by Albert W. "Buzzy" Adams, Jr., son of Harrington High's superintendent of schools. The younger Adams is in his first year of varsity football coaching and has been soundly trounced by all three foes, including heretofore and perennially lowly Selbyville. The Rebels most satisfying victory in history was something like 38-0.

Harrington will be favored to take this one, but no one knows which way that crazy pigskin will bounce. Local fans usually attend in fairly large numbers, when the Lions travel to the resort town. Better take a sweater. We'll see you there and help root the Lions to victory.

Lionesses Win Hockey Opener

Vi Testerman's Harrington High School Lionesses lost a lot of talent by graduation, but still had enough power left to defeat Dover Air High, by a score of 9-1.

Diane Smith paced the win, in the contest at Dover Air, by scoring three goals.

Beth Graham and Bonnie Kukulka each hit the net as the Harrington Jayvees won 2-0.

Varsity players are: Candace Peck, Debbie Aiken, Judy Davis, Donna Lee Gray, Cindy Kohel, Faye Austin, Hope Torbert, Helen Welch, Andy Walls, Beatrice White, Tillie Kukulka, Donna Dean, Patty Hurd, Doreen Gray, Diane Harrington, Cynthia Clarke, Cherry Holloway, Susan Greenhaugh, manager Patti Tucker, manager Terri Carroll, Diane Smith, Juanita Garey.

Jayvee players are: Joan Mason, Linda Jester, Debbie Chaffinch, Judy Wyatt, Gloria Welch, Emily McKnatt, Lynn Stayton, Aleta Mason, Peggy Tibbett, Beth Graham, Terri Kohel, Roxanne Mertz, Debbie Wyatt, Bonnie Kukulka, Jean Price, Sue Ellen O'Neal, Debbie Schepp, Gwen Melvin, Roberta Goodhand, Joan White, Thea Quillen, Ginny Jo Richardson, Connie Wilson, aCthy Lobo, Susan Welch, Cheryl Lekites.

Wheatley Wears Green and Gold Now

Edward Lee Wheatley, native of Harrington, now wears the green and gold of the Lees-McRae College Bobcats.

Ed is a freshman at Lees-McRae this year. He plays tackle for the Bobcat eleven and has seen some action in the young season. The Bobcats are 1-0-1 having tied Chowan 6 to 6 in the season and having beaten East Tennessee State's JV's 26 to 6 last week. The Cats have eight games yet to play. They entertain Gardner-Webb Sept. 30 for homecoming and play Newport News Apprentice, away, Oct. 7; Carolina Military Academy, away, Oct. 14; Chowan, home, Oct. 21; Gardner-Webb, away, Oct. 28; Ferrum, home, Nov. 18.

Wheatley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Wheatley of Harrington. He played football at Harrington High School for Coach William Muehleisen.

Chris, R. Morris, Hitchens Lead Harriers over MHS

Freshman sensation Chris Wetherhold, Ronald "The Champ" Morris and freshman mighty mite, Danny Hitchens, assured Harrington High's cross-country Lions of their 26th straight victory and 55th in the last 56 starts by finishing 1-2-3 at Millsboro Tuesday afternoon.

Wetherhold's time of 12:31 was a new course record. The 14-year old now owns best marks at Seaford, Milton, Millsboro and Harrington. In eleven years of attending cross-country meets, we have never seen a course as rough as the Millsboro layout. But the freshman duo took it in stride, despite the adverse conditions.

Since last year's run at Millsboro, the course has become deeply eroded in spots and ankle deep in sand in others. It has been slightly lengthened and to compound the issue, the state highway was laying a strip of blacktop alongside the last quarter mile. A new, soft, slanting, dirt shoulder about three feet wide was all the racing room provided. Whenever a rural mail box was reached, the runners had to leap into the tar to get by. Nevertheless, Wetherhold ran 20 seconds better than in 1966 and Danny was 12 seconds faster.

Captain Nick Morris was fifth and sophomore Roger Jarrell was seventh to account for Harrington's winning low total of 18 points. Fifteen points is a perfect score, accomplished by one team having the first five finishers.

Jackie D. Parker, who looks like the next Chris Wetherhold, ran the best race of his career to grab eighth position. The next nine runners, a mixture of veterans and newcomers, all did very well. Jack Warrington, Brad Morris, Richard Benson, Bill Stubbs, Bob Rash, Joe Gannon, Charley Brown, Wardell Davis and Billy Walls, all wore the Blue and Gold. Rash and Gannon were greatly improved over their efforts at Seaford. Joe is strong enough to move up the ladder quickly if he could find time for a 15 minute workout at home each day, in addition to his efforts with the team. Extra practice sessions are paying off for the three chief exponents of additional workouts, Wetherhold, Jarrell and Brad Morris.

Chuck Hurd, an ace wrestler, ran in Tuesday's meet after only two brief practice sessions. His excellent performance made Coach McDonald wish that Chuck had reported in 1964.

Newcomers Leonard Palmer, Steve Gannon, and DeWeese Fisher did well as they trounced several older, more experienced harriers.

John Forbes has been low man on the totem pole at H.H.S., but apparently found out what he was doing wrong. Forbes finished ahead of eleven runners this time and must be feeling much better about his first venture into athletics.

The Lions travel to Milford today (Thursday) and entertain Caesar Rodney and Milton at Killen's Pond on Friday.

Track Ban Of Buckson Expires

The 10-day suspension of Atty. Gen. David P. Buckson—which expired Tues., Sept. 26 — was made public late Saturday night by Harrington Raceway judges.

A notice posted at the harness track at 12:30 a.m. Sunday revealed that owner-driver Buckson has been suspended for failing to pass a "breathalyzer" or "balloon" test before the seventh race on Sept. 15.

Buckson, who was scheduled to drive Miss Becky Pick in that race, was suspended both for failure to pass the test and for failure to drive when programmed. A driving change was made before the start of the race.

A driver fails the test if it shows more than .05 per cent of alcohol in his blood.

John E. Ducharme, presiding Harrington judge, would not explain why the suspension was not posted immediately, as is the custom.

Five drivers were fined Monday night by judges at Harrington.

Hubert N. Jackson of Queen Anne, Md., was assessed $10 for using a goading device other than a whip or spur in last Friday's sixth race. Norman Hutson of Dover drew a $10 reprimand for warming up his horse for Saturday's seventh race without its colors. The other three drivers all were fined for failure to drive when programmed. Winston Lineweaver of Maurertown, Va., and Walt Kinsley of Sewell, N. J., each drew $10 reprimands. Walt Warrington of Elkton, Md., was assessed $30 for failing to fulfill assignments in three races on the Saturday card.
