

Garment Factory Expansion Program to Cost $250,000

The Harrington Shirt Corporation is planning an expansion program costing up to $250,000, Sheldon Starr, the president, said Wednesday.

The plan calls for a minimum of 20,000 square feet in additions to the southern side and rear of a cutting room the company operates on U.S. 13. The company's main plant on Clark Street will not be affected by the proposed program.

Starr said Wednesday the additions would include a warehouse and shipping room, and facilities for the manufacture of blouses, dresses, and slacks.

The new work force would include about 100 persons, at the start, of which 25 or 30 would be males.

While there is no construction date, Starr emphasized building plans would be ready in two or three weeks when he would also be able to judge more accurately the water and sewer needs of the complex which would include a sprinkling system throughout.

News of the proposed expansion came out Monday evening at a meeting of the City Council when it was revealed the shirt corporation wanted to know if sewer and water would be available.

Mayor Fulton J. Downing appointed a committee of Burton Satterfield, Third Ward Councilman, as chairman; Wilson G. Bradley, First Ward Councilman, and John Satterfield, Fifth Ward Councilman, to meet Wednesday morning with Starr. The outcome of the meeting, at which the mayor was also present, was the City could meet the requests of the corporation.

The exact terms will have to be determined by the Council, as a whole, but one solution would be to annex the general area which also contains a dress factory and a dealer in oil equipment.

The mayor, Starr, and some councilmen have approved the annexation idea. In any event, the sanitary sewer would be part of a community-wide improvement plan for which bids for construction will soon be advertised.

Program in Chemistry Offered By U. of D.

Expanded opportunities for professional development in the teaching of science courses will become available to Delaware high school teachers in September.

A new graduate program in chemistry, offered by the University of Delaware, is intended both for prospective science teachers and in-service teachers. It will lead to the degree of master of education in natural science.

During the first year of operation, course work will be offered full time to recent college graduates on campus and through the Extension Division to in-service teachers. Plans call for those who complete the program in 1968-69 to serve as teaching interns in Delaware schools during 1969-70 to permit other teachers to enroll on a fulltime basis.

Dr. Robert L. Uffelman, associate professor of education, said the new graduate program is "a further effort by the Science and Education Center to upgrade the teaching of science in the secondary schools of the state."

The National Science Foundation, from which partial support has been requested, has described the program as unique because it involves a joint effort by the State Department of Public Instruction, the university and a private corporation. The Du Pont Company has assigned $50,000 to the project as a part of its aid-to-education program for 1968.

Dr. Seymour Volles, professor of Chemistry, who holds a joint appointment in the College of Education, is coordinator of the program, which will include many unusual features. Among them are association and study with other chemists-in-the-making in a research atmosphere, development of new teaching materials and laboratory experiments as a part of a summer institute, and practice teaching with pay as interns.

Applicants for the program must have a bachelor's degree; a year of general chemistry; 18 hours of work in chemistry, mathematics, physics or biology or a combination of these subjects; nine credit hours in education; and satisfactory performance on the graduate record examination.

The graduate degree curriculum will include organic, inorganic and physical chemistry and basic concepts of chemistry—all designed to meet the requirements of the high school science teacher. Qualified degree candidates will be encouraged to take other science courses appropriate to their individual teaching responsibilities.

Interested applicants from Delaware and adjacent states are invited to make application to Dr. Volles, Coordinator, High School Chemistry Program, Brown Laboratory, University of Delaware, Newark.

Community Action Group Meets

On Tuesday, Jan. 16, the Harrington Community Action had a sort of reorganization meeting at the high school with ten people present. Again last night, Jan. 23, another meeting was held.

This group has had a difficult time in getting underway this year due to the lack of leadership, the Rev. Quay D. Rice, chairman, announced today. This past fall the group published in The Harrington Journal a picture of a building which had been given to it by the International Laxtex Corporation, along with a plan for a fund drive which was to take place, in order to raise funds with which to settle the building on a foundation and to install heat, electricity, toilets, insulation, etc. In all the amount needed would be well over $1,000. At that time due to professional commitments, the chairman had to be out of town and in spite of well laid plans the fund drive failed to get underway.

The group is now planning to conduct the drive in the near future and is publishing this story in the hopes that the people of Harrington will be well informed and will be prepared to help generously. The Community Action group hopes in the future to be able to establish and run such wholesome projects as a neighborhood center, recreation center, a child care unit for mothers who desire to work, remedial education, a get-back-to-school for dropouts and other such wholesome things. All of these could take place in the building if it is put into condition. It will be up to the people of Harrington to dig generously into their pockets in order to help with this undertaking.

At the morning program, Dr. Jack Treece, assistant professor of animal science at the University, will discuss his research on genetic characteristics found in individual milk proteins and their relation to the individual dairy animal. Al Mackay of Bayville Farms, Norfolk, Va., will explain the operation of Bayville's self-cleaning system for cow lots. The system is based on water flushing, processing and pumping. Chris Miller of Agpro Inc., Santa Rosa, California, designer of the patented flush system, will explain how the system results in a high efficiency milking-housing-feeding dairy plant with less labor.

Featured speakers at the afternoon session are Professor Sidney Barnard of the Department of dairy science, Pennsylvania State University and David Arms, economist, of the Cooperative Dairy Economics Service of New England.

Swift Closes For Repairs

The Swift & Company Poultry dressing plant in Felton has closed down for 10 days for "major repairs," a plant spokesman said Monday.

John Hill, plant superintendent, said the firm's 170 employees were furloughed at 2 p.m. Friday and are expected to be recalled to work Jan. 29.

Hill said a new boiler, new dressing equipment, and other machinery is being installed which will increase the plant's efficiency, products, and capacity. It is the first time the plant has been shut down since 1959, Hill said.

Under an agreement worked out with the plant union, Hill said, all employees were given the option of taking a week of paid vacation — if they had it coming — or working part-time during the shut-down.

Hill said some employees have been sent to company plants in New York and Georgetown, and others are working on the Felton plant repairs.

Hill said the union insisted that the company not force the employees to use a week's vacation if they didn't want to.

"It's against our company policy to force a worker to take a vacation, anyway," Hill said. "We'd rather have them working than drawing unemployment."

The superintendent said that every employee either got a week's vacation pay or is working on a part-time basis under the agreement.

Jaycees To Present Award At Dairy Day

The annual Jaycee award to Delaware's Outstanding Young Farmer will be presented January 31 at the Delaware Farm and Home Week Dairy Day program, according to H. Wallace Cook, Jr., Middletown, chairman of the Jaycees' OYF committee. Nine Jaycee chapters throughout the state nominated candidates for the award.

Sponsors of the trip will be the National LP Gas Association; Shagin Gas Co., Middletown; Collins and Ryan, Inc., Millsboro; Suburban Gas Company of Delaware, Glasgow, and Protane Corp., Harrington.

Men from 21 to 35 years of age who receive at least two-thirds of their income from farming are eligible for the award. They are judged according to progress in their agricultural career, the extent of their soil and water conservation practices, and their contribution to the well-being of the state and nation.

Governor Charles Terry has been invited to present the award to Delaware's Outstanding Young Farmer.

School of Prayer To Be Held At St. Stephen's

Mrs. Shy Mackes, of Dover, leader of Prayer Retreats, Quiet Days, and Schools of Prayer in all denominations, will conduct a school of prayer at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Harrington, for five consecutive Monday evenings, beginning January 29.

The school is for men as well as women and is open to the public. It is sponsored by the Women of St. Stephen's. Each session will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. Those attending are asked to bring Bibles, notebooks, pen or pencil, and an open heart. A book table with books on prayer and spiritual life will be available at each session.

Mrs. Mackes was born in Puerto Rico and lived there for seventeen years. She attended college in New England, married Donald Mackes of Stroudsburg, Pa., and is the mother of two sons. For the past twenty-five years she has lived in Dover.

Her activities include prayer group work and the Order of St. Luke, the healing ministry of the church. She conducts Retreats, Quiet Days, and Schools of Prayer in all denominations. Several of her articles and poetry on prayer and the healing ministry of the church, have been published in religious magazines.

Last summer Mrs. Mackes was a member of the Dr. Frank Lauback Literacy World Tour. She visited Lauback Literacy centers in fourteen countries of Europe, the Middle East, the Far East, and Australia.

"Personally, I cannot conceive of any way of controlling the supply of corn, soybeans and small grains produced throughout the country, except through some type of federal program," he said.

He added that he was neither arguing for or against federal farm programs or farmer bargaining associations, but was only stating a logical conclusion. "I am sure 1968 will be a year in which we see many changes and a year of great challenge for the agricultural producer," he concluded.

City Accepts Bid on Bonds For Sanitary-Sewer Improvements

The City Council accepted a bid on bonds, proceeds of which are to be used for improvements to the sanitary - sewer system. Mayor Fulton J. Downing said plans are ready, "and when the State Water and Air Resources Commission accepts them we will put them out for bids."

The $380,000-bond issue will run from February 1 to 1993. The issue will be paid off by an increase in the sewer-usage fee. When the increment will go into effect was not decided.

Meanwhile, Mayor Downing reactivated a committee to check the use of water meters. The group comprises Benjamin Hughes, chairman, and councilmen Burton Satterfield and Grace Wanda Quillen. In the interim, Dale Phillippi, street superintendent, will check meters monthly for two months to determine usage. The sewer-usage fee is determined by water rate.

Returning to sewer improvements, City Manager Kathryn Derrickson was authorized to ask the city's consulting engineers to check with R. D. Grier & Son, of Salisbury, about moving pumps from the Liberty Street station to an adjacent dry-well pit, construction of which is about completed.

Also pertaining to sewer improvements, was the proposed sale of timber from 26 acres to be cleared for polishing ponds near the sewage-disposal plant.

Specifications called for work to be done in a month. The Council deemed the three bids received inadequate, and asked the city manager to write the bidders, and to request an answer by today, on what bids they would make if given three months to do the work. If better bids are received, the City will check with Dudley Willis, of the City's consulting engineers, to see if the delay in cutting the timber, mostly hardwood, will interfere with the construction schedule for the polishing ponds.

The bids opened Monday evening as follows: Simpler Lumber Company, Felton, $983.50; Hazlettville Lumber Company, $900, and Mezik Lumber Company, Denton, $500.

The 26-acre tract is about half of the wooded area of the approximately 80 acres purchased by the City.

In other Council activities, the group authorized the city manager to sue for unpaid 1967 taxes comprising better than $1200 in capitations, and $1139.25 on real estate.

Dean Discusses Farm Bargaining

Collective price bargaining for corn, soybeans and small grain probably cannot be effective without the aid of supporting federal crop programs, says Dr. William E. McDaniel, dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences at the University of Delaware.

Such federal programs, if effective, can probably accomplish similar results without bargaining sessions.

Speaking in Baltimore at the 61st annual meeting of the Maryland Crop Improvement Association, January 10, McDaniel pointed out that the price of a given commodity tends to be determined by the overall supply and the effective demand for the product. If the supply exceeds the effective demand, prices will decline. An example is the recent price of corn.

Present federal programs which limit the average of a particular crop tend to cut supply by limiting production. When a farmer cuts acreage, however, he usually does all he possible can to increase yield on the limited acreage. Supply, therefore, is not lessened in proportion to the decline in acreage. "If production is to be controlled by government programs, the most effective program would be one which limited the number of bushels produced," he said. He added, however, that such programs would be difficult to administer.

If the bargained-for price in a given demand situation is higher than the "free market price" then all available supplies will not be taken. To keep the surplus from driving down the price which has been bargained for, supply must be controlled.

"Personally, I cannot conceive of any way of controlling the supply of corn, soybeans and small grains produced throughout the country, except through some type of federal program," he said.

Deputy State Fire Marshal John M. Hurd Jr. investigated the blaze and said it apparently started when an electrical wire shorted in the cow stable. The fire followed the wire across to other buildings, he said.

"It couldn't have been anything else that started it," Elison explained. "We don't smoke, and there were no tractors running inside. It was smoking when I drove up the drive, but we were able to get our seven heifers, bull and three calves out in time."

Chester Donovan, chief of the Frederica Fire Company, said his truck was the first on the scene and flames had already engulfed the buildings.

"It sure didn't take the fire companies long to get here," Elison commented. "It could have (Continued on Page 8)

Century Club News

On Tuesday afternoon the Harrington New Century Club met at the club house for a brief business session after which the members were invited to go to the Marion Stevenson Detention Center at Milford for a tour of the building. It was a rainy afternoon, but in spite of the weather a goodly number of interested members attended and all were well repaid for the interesting tour which was conducted by Mrs. Frank Paquette, who is a very capable secretary at the institution. Mrs. Paquette was a former resident of this town and was known to the visitors Tuesday as Virginia O'Neal Holloway.

She told many interesting facts as she showed her friends around the building. It is claimed that it is one of the best centers of its kind in the United States. The members were greatly impressed by the need of such an institution where children of school age, who unfortunately commit some crime of more or less seriousness can be helped and taught some lessons whereby they are given a chance - at least - to become better citizens.

Arrangements for this visit to the Detention Center were made by Mrs. Francis Winkler and her committee - Mrs. Oscar Roberts, Mrs. Charles Rapp, Mrs. Earl Sylvester.

The next meeting of the club will be on Tues., Feb. 13.

Around Home

With Jean Cranston
Statistics for a long while have shown that more accidents occur in the home than any other place. All personal injuries can and should be prevented!

Peculiar type of accidents have struck housewives undertaking household chores. Toxic gases are released from a do-it-yourself cleaner, a "witches' brew", of a cleanser, chlorine bleach and ammonia.

The generation of a poisonous gas when housewives decided to combine two or more cleaning agents commonly found in almost every household. The addition of the old familiar chlorine bleach (a sodium hypochlorite solution) to an acid or acid-producing substance, such as a toilet bowl cleanser or just plain vinegar, will suddenly release a quantity of toxic chlorine gas. Similarly, when it is mixed with other alkaline matter - ammonia or lye - the chemical action liberates a highly irritating gas. If inhaled, these fumes can cause serious injury and possibly death.

In short - Never mix bleaching agents with any other cleaning components.

Saddle up and ride with us to Newark next Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday, Jan. 30, 31 and Feb. 1. Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware is being held during the mid-winter semester break. We hope that you and your neighbors will attend the sessions on one or more days. The much of the program is aimed at our commercial farmers, there is a great deal of interest for the urban or suburban gardener or homemaker. There is no charge for any of the events and everyone is welcome.

Sessions will be held for field crop farmers, vegetable growers, potato men, orchardists, dairymen, beef cattle men, pleasure horse lovers, homemakers, youth leaders, and gardeners. There will be heavy emphasis on the safe use of chemical pesticides, new harvesting machinery, crop diseases and insects.

Special events for this year include the "Spring Sewing Spree" for the ladies on Tuesday, a "Garden Go Round" on Wednesday by the horticultural department and a display on "Birds and Birding in Delaware" by the animal science department.

Every farmer in Kent County should receive a detailed copy of the program in the mail. Others may telephone 736-1448 or visit our Extension Service Office in the old Dover Postoffice and ask for a copy.

Farm and Home Week is the time when we put Agricultural Hall on display. Our research people can show you some of the laboratory experiments or their greenhouse work.

The gypsy moth, a pest of forest trees and shrubbery, hasn't reached Delaware yet, according to John A. Franklin, plant pest control supervisor for Delaware and Southern New Jersey. It was found at Cochrantville, Pennsylvania, this year which is perhaps 12 miles from the Delaware line northwest of Newark. And it was found southeast of Bridgeport, N. J., which is maybe 15 air miles from Kent County across Delaware Bay.

Almost 1800 gypsy moth traps were spotted all over Delaware last summer. The traps look like a paper coffee cup with a handle with a small hole in the lid. If you did not see a trap, perhaps you did see the red ribbons dangling on a tree or bush along some of our country roads. These were used to locate the traps quickly.

The caterpillar stage of the insect causes the trouble, eating the leaves out of the top of trees. The traps are designed to attract and catch the male moths, which are chocolate brown. The female moths are larger and white in color, with brown spots, but do not fly. The life cycle is complete when the female moths lay egg masses on tree trunks or other protected places. These hatch into the caterpillars. Control today consists of aerial spraying with Sevin insecticide.

The pest first came from Europe to Massachusetts in 1869. It is spreading gradually to the south and west. Remember, the gypsy moth is not here yet. If we can locate and spray for it on time, then we can protect our shade and forest trees that much longer.

John Franklin uses the zeal of a missionary against this devilish pest. The least that the rest of us can do is to alert him to any signs of the gypsy moth we may suspect.

Mrs. John B. Hill

Mrs. Maude E. Hill, 87, of 270 Delaware Ave., was found dead in her home Saturday morning by her niece, Mrs. Kathleen Minner. The family physician attributed death to natural causes.

Mrs. Hill was born in Maryland and lived most of her life in Harrington. She was the widow of John B. Hill, who died several years ago. She was a member of the Trinity Methodist Church and the Woman's Society of Christian Service and was a Sunday school teacher at the church for more than 20 years.

She also was a charter member of the Harrington Senior Center. She was employed by the Harrington Shirt Corp. formerly Geo. Sherwin Shirt Company for over 30 years, until her retirement.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Nellie V. Holloway and Mrs. Louise L. Minner, both of Harrington.

Services were Tuesday afternoon at the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home, 110 E. Center St. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery.

WE NEED A SEPARATE STATE DEPARTMENT TO ATTRACT INDUSTRY

A squib in a daily remarked the commission of a Pennsylvania realtor to lure National Cash Register Company to Millsboro was larger than the annual budget of the State Development Department. Continuing, the item said attracting industry was (Sam) Shipley's job. Sam is the head of the department.

Quite so, but the job is too big for Sam, who has an industrial manager in Richard L. Murchison. In all fairness, the industrial section could use more operating funds, but we believe a separate department might be better.

When the State Development Department was formed, during Gov. Carvel's first term, its function was largely as a publicity agent for the state. One of its chores, in the early days, was to attempt to get the governor's proclamations printed in the newspapers. Such releases were on inane topics, for example, as "National Cat Food Week." These inspirations were, and still are, an imposition on the governor, but one can never tell whence cometh a vote.

Another function of the State Development is to answer requests for information about the state. "Dear So-and-So: I am in the sixth grade and would like all information you can send me about Delaware. Yours, John Doe, Rocky Comfort, Mo."

The development department also arranges state exhibits, out of state, of course.

The industrial section compiles economic data and provides lists of industrial properties for sale or rent.

We do not believe this section has enough money to advertise the state's advantages pertaining to industrial sites. At least, we have not seen pertinent advertising, as we have seen from other states, in suitable publications.

If the Development Department could purchase lists of industries readily adaptable to the state, the chambers of commerce could solicit prospects. The department could also use a directory of industries. It formerly had one, but it hadn't a few years ago when the local Chamber of Commerce was looking for one.

The Harrington Chamber of Commerce finally found a supposedly mailing list of industries suitable to Delaware, at no cost to it and mailed 1400 brochures but did not receive a nibble.

That's what we mean when we say the Development Department needs all the help it can get for its industrial section, but we still believe, in this day of consolidation of state agencies, a separate one might be considered.

In the meanwhile, we believe the State Development Department has all it can do.

BRAKES ON ICE

"Stopping on ice really becomes a dilemma for some motorists," states J. James Ashton, manager of the Delaware Safety Council. A rapid pumping of the brakes is the safest way to stop on ice. By pumping brakes, steering control can be maintained, warns Ashton. The secret of stopping on ice is to keep all wheels rolling to maintain steering ability and at the same time using brakes to get the maximum stopping effort your tires can develop on the slippery surface.

Apply the brakes quickly, (lock them) for an instant and as quickly release them for an instant. Repeat this—on and off, on and off, to a complete stop. The effect is to give alternate short intervals of maximum braking effort and effective steering control of all wheels when the brakes are released and the wheels roll. This technique can be used indefinitely with straight hydraulic or mechanical brakes. With air brakes be careful to avoid dangerously low air pressure.

The air pressure required to lock wheels on ice without chains can be as little as 10 pounds, so much pumping can be done with a gentle touch on the brake pedal.

"Another important fact," Ashton points out, "is that you must be able to see danger to avoid it. Keep your windshield clean at all times, inside and outside. Wipers—both blades and arms—should be in A-1 condition. Rubber blades that are aged and cracked sometimes are likely to streak the windshield. Even if you have new blades, they can be inefficient if arm pressure is inadequate. This shows up in skips and poor wiping. Pressure of one ounce per inch of blade is needed and recommended."

THE PROFESSOR NEEDS A NEW NAME

Dr. Sidney B. Simon, an associate professor at Temple University, Philadelphia, says he will refuse to assign grades to his 105 students this semester.

He feels the A-to-F grading system corrupts teaching. "It will clog up the system and it may cost me my job," he said, "but it is about time somebody did something about this."

We think it is time somebody did something about Prof. Simon. In theory, one should go to school to study and learn, and virtue should be its own reward.

However, it will not work that way. The grading system offers an incentive in that it also inspires worthy students to obtain the best grades obtainable. Without the grading system, what would the unambitious student do except park his jalopy at Lover's Leap?

Would industry want to hire graduates of a school without a grading system? How would scholarships and fellowship be filled?

We believe the Philadelphia professor must have a nickname, and the first guess doesn't count.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

LOVE OF OLD FRIENDS

Text: "A man that hath friends, must be friendly." (Prov. 18-24). Our friends are our greatest assets in life, more important than any material assets we may possess.

Last Monday, twelve of us Senior Citizens representing over 800 years, got together at the center for a friendly remembrance of each other and recalling past services that might have helped make Harrington the friendly place it is to live in.

As some expressed themselves after the meeting, "It's a lot of satisfaction to receive so much consideration from our friends at a time when we are so near the end of our earthly journey."

Some men strive for glory and fame,
 That all the world may know his name.
 Piles of wealth by brain and hand,
 Becomes a power in the land.

But when he hears the end of life,
 And looks back o'er the years of strife,
 He finds that happiness depends
 On none of these, but love of friends.

Frank Haas, 89, was the oldest present. Only Joe Fleming, 93, could have surpassed him. Joe intended to be there and so did Charles Peck, Sr., but something turned up to prevent. All three of these boys can still greet you with a

SMILE

We come, we linger, then we go;
 So let us while we may,
 Pass out a smile or two to them
 Who chance to come our way.

So small a thing and yet so much,
 It seems to some poor soul;
 Whose darkest hour is just the time,
 Our pathways cross to goal.

A smile can pass the darkest gloom,
 And help us on our way;
 So smile the while and help some one,
 And bid him time of day.

At best 'tis but a little while,
 And then — Eternity.
 So let's go hand in hand and smile,
 And pass off cheerfully.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holbertson

The effects of bad weather can be seen again this week, though fair weather now prevails over much of the nation. In fact, it may take a week or more before supplies and prices for fresh produce, eggs, and most meats return to present day normal.

Both beef and pork prices are up due to short slaughter. Among the most economical buys are pork spareribs, cured hams, bacon, chuck roast of beef, and a few steaks. When you check these cuts as well as others, be sure to notice waste in fat, bone and trimmings and consider the number of servings. The cut that is cheapest per pound is not necessarily the most economical per serving. To help the budget, be sure to check canned stews, chili and other mixed main dishes as well as meat soups.

Stewing and roasting chicken continues to make news as prices are much more reasonable than they have been in months. Turkey supplies are bountiful and so are turkey products.

Egg prices are on the way up, in fact, they have increased as much as six cents on Grade A large size. This increase may be only temporary, it all depends on how many eggs come to market.

Lettuce continues to lead the way in price increases at the vegetable counters. Prices are ranging from 35 to 49 cents a head for lightweight heads — quality should be checked carefully before you buy. Other vegetables that continue high except when on special sale are broccoli, carrots, cucumbers, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, and celery.

The best values price-wise seem to be cabbage, dry onions and a few white potatoes.

The fruit news is more cheerful, as Temple oranges drop in price and supplies of grapefruit continue large. Bananas are another real bargain as prices continue low. Apples are still available and pears, pineapple, avocados and strawberries all add variety to fruit offerings.

Benjamin C. Hart

Benjamin C. Hart, 64, of Magnolia, died Tuesday at Kent General Hospital, Dover, after a long illness.

Mr. Hart, a native of Magnolia, was a civilian employe at the Delaware State Police office in Dover.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cathryn Hart; two sons, M. Leon and Conlyn L., both of near Dover; two brothers, William, of Dover and Marshall, of Magnolia; a sister, Mrs. Madeline Anderson, of Red Bank, N. J., and a granddaughter.

New Publication Details Variety Recommendations

Latest field crop variety recommendations for Delaware and Maryland are now available through the University of Delaware, says Dr. Richard H. Cole, chairman of the department of agronomy. A publication includes recommendations for corn, soybean, small grain, forage grass, forage legume and turf grass varieties.

To make recommendations more specific, both Delaware and Maryland have been divided into regions. Regional boundaries were determined by the length of the growing season, soil types and elevation. Recommendations are based on actual test performances for a minimum of three years, farm experience and availability of seed.

"Field Crop Recommendations for Maryland and Delaware" is a joint publication prepared by the agronomy departments at the University of Delaware and the University of Maryland. Copies of the booklet may be obtained through county agents in Newark, Dover or Georgetown or from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, 19711.

The next regular monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club will be held on Feb. 19, at 7 p.m. at the Bridle Bit Restaurant. All members are cordially invited.

Lion Cagers Bow At Lord Baltimore

Still searching for that elusive first victory, Jim Hawpe's Harrington High basketball Lions went down to their fifth straight defeat at Lord Baltimore on Friday night.

All five losses followed the same pattern. In each, Harrington's showing was respectable, as no foe outclassed the Lions.

The Eagles outscored the locals in the first and third periods. Harrington had the edge in the fourth quarter, while the second stanza was even. Lord Baltimore's play in the third period gave them the nod.

Bill Moore, of Harrington, and Doug McGee, of the Sussex Countians shared scoring honors with 27 points each. Moore's total was his career high. Nick Morris (12) was the only other Lion in double figures.

Lion Wrestlers Rally To Beat Dover Air

Experienced matmen Chuck Hurd (103) and Terry Donovan (112) are on the sidelines with injuries. With two top Lions out of action Coach Tom Muehleisen's Harrington High wrestling team often finds that the score is 15-0 after the first three matches. This is as bad as it could possibly be at that time and happens because the Lions have only young, inexperienced reserves in the three lightest weight classes.

Against a weak team such as Dover Air the Lions can and did make a comeback to win. Ordinarily, you can't spot the opposition 15 points and still hope to be "emoige trumpant" as they sometimes say in Brooklynese.

The visiting Falcons hit an air pocket after the first three bouts. Mike Adams flattened Trevino after three minutes and ten seconds in the 120 pound clash to put the Lions back on the right path. Sherwood of Dover Air lasted only 44 seconds, as Lion 127 pounder Roger Klapp brought his team up to only a five point deficit.

Allan Greenly put the Lions on an even footing again with a fall in 1:46 over Timmetal.

John Brown (138) and Steve Welch (145) won decisions as Harrington moved out to a 21-15 advantage.

Roger Moore (154) pinned Pouloff in five minutes and twenty-five seconds. David Hurd at 165 pounds and Bill Webb at 180 took a total of only 2 1/2 minutes to dispose of their rivals and put the match in the win column for H.H.S.

With pins in ten of twelve bouts the evening's entertainment was over at the unusually early hour of 8:30, an extremely rare occurrence.

95—Bartlett, DA, pinned Redden, 5:14; 103—Camblin, DA, pinned A. Adams, 3:38; 112—Schneider, DA, pinned Baynard, 3:53; 120—M. Georgetown Grapplers Win From Lions, 32-12

Still missing two key men the Lions could not threaten Georgetown's perennially-strong Golden Knights. Georgetown had just been beaten for the first time in six years, by Smyrna. This is the time to wrestle the admittedly weaker Sussex Countians. But there aren't many, if any, teams in Delaware, that can spot Herm Bastianelli's charges 15 points and come out unscathed.

John Thornes, Georgetown's ace 120 pounder, eked out a narrow 2-0 verdict over Mike Adams. Roger Klapp (127) did well against Sloan before dropping an 8-4 duke.

Allan Greenly (133) was Harrington's first winner, blanking Smith 3-0.

Steve Welch, a state champion at 138 pounds last winter, is the only unbeaten Lion of those who have wrestled in all four matches to date. Welch had an unexpectedly tough time before nosing James 6-5. Steve may have been weakened by weight problems, as he had to take off some extra avoirdupois, earlier in the day. After February 1, he will be allowed to weight 148 instead of 147. This should help greatly.

Bill Webb (180) outpointed Pearsall for Harrington's third victory.

Lenny Donovan, who handles the heavyweight duties for H.H.S., is not that heavy, but fills in there since the locals have no good, big man. His best effort to date had been a draw when he wrestled at 180 against Holy Cross.

At Georgetown Lenny surprised by getting into the win column. He is both light and inexperienced. These are terrific handicaps in the unlimited class. Spotting his rival 25 pounds, the young Lion came out on top by sheer courage alone, as he took an 8-2 duke.

Harrington's Lions were left with a record of two wins and two defeats.

95—Bastianelli, G., pinned Adams, 0:57; 103—Bennum, G., pinned Redden, 1:20; 112—Moore, G., won by forfeit; 120—Thornes, G., dec. Adams, 2-0; 127—Sloan, G., dec. Klapp, 8-4; 133—Greenly, H., dec. Smith, 3-0; 138—Alexander, G., won by default; 145—Welch, H., dec. James, 6-5; 154—Short, G., dec. Kemp, 6-1; 165—Schmertzler, G., dec. Hurd, 3-2; 180—Webb, H., dec. Pearsall, 3-0; Unlimited—Donovan, H., dec. Simkins, 8-2.

Winkler Repeats As Bowling Titlist

For the second straight year, John Winkler of Harrington, has won the Senior Division of a bowling tournament for boys, held in Wilmington.

John is a senior at Harrington High School. The victory qualified John for a trip to Washington, D. C. in July. At that time he will compete with other bowling champions. College scholarships will be awarded to the top performers.

Winkler rolled a 564 three-game series in his winning effort. The Junior Chamber of Commerce, better known as the Jaycees, are the sponsors of this bowling competition.

Harrington Bowling League

Robbins Hardware put on a very fine showing, literally destroying Taylor & Messick's hopes of winning this second third, by winning all four games from Hobbs Newsstand. Meanwhile, the Taylor & Messick team had their hands full with Acme. Tuesday night saw Robbins Hardware take a half game lead over the ten team league. With just one week to go in this third, it appears that anyone of the first five teams still have a chance to become the champs of the second third. All the teams are going to have to be up for next week's bowling which has gone right down to the wire.

Right behind Robbins Hardware is Kent Gas who didn't fare much better with Hamilton Fund, splitting four games, tho K. Layton led in both departments with a grand 614 series, with games of 226 and 211. R. Creadick helped keep the games in balance for Hamilton Fund with a great 587 series, including a 201 game. J. Case also came through for Hamilton Fund with a very fine 207 game.

Acme knocked the wind out of the sails of Taylor & Messick, capturing three games to knock the Taylor & Messick team to third place. The third will be Taylor and Messick's if they can recover from that disastrous blow. C. Bushy gave Acme a real big boost with a very fine 587 series, also rolling very fine games of 219 and 201.

Wally's Garage and Jarrell Fuel battled it out with each other, with Wally's Garage coming out on top to the tune of three games. D. Hayman tried to pull the fat out of the fire with a good 562 series and a fine 206 game, but his efforts were in vain.

McKnat's Funeral Home fell victim to Penn. R. R. this week losing three games. With the upper teams so close, it wasn't possible for either team to advance any and must confine themselves to the bottom of the list. Next week they will act the roll of the spoilers and the first five teams had better be wary or them.

Day-Long Horse Program Slated

An ever increasing interest in horses by both rural and urban Delawareans has inspired a day-long horse program at the University of Delaware's annual Farm and Home Week.

The morning session, beginning Thurs., Feb. 1, at 9:45 a.m. in the University's new fieldhouse, will feature demonstrations on foot care, trimming and balancing the feet, grooming, care of small cuts and bandaging. Speaker will be Dr. Matthew Mackay-Smith of the Delaware Equine Center, Glasgow; and Richard W. Small of the Strathmore Stud Farms, Monkton, Maryland.

Featured speakers on the afternoon program include J. Alden Leslie of the Delaware Equine Center; Ernest Walpole, assistant professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Delaware; and Dr. W. J. Tyznik of Ohio State University.

Leslie will discuss internal parasites, parasitology tests and recommended controls of worms in horses. Walpole will speak on stabling facilities for suburbanites and on boarding and training facilities while Tyznik will discuss new research findings in horse nutrition.

A question and answer period will follow the afternoon program. Speakers and horse specialists will be available to discuss specific horse problems. Guests are also invited to attend the "Horseman's Get Together" at the Howard Johnson Motor Inn. This session is designed to give horse owners and specialists the opportunity to exchange information on an informal basis.

Final session of the program will be held Thursday evening at the fieldhouse. Max J. Tappero, a trainer from Forest, Va., will demonstrate exercises for schooling pleasure horses and western riding horses. R. S. Bailey, Jr. and A. J. Bachman, professional trainers at the Crooked Billet Stables, Wilmington, will demonstrate the use of the longe and long lines in training young horses.

Greenwood Takes See-Saw Tilt From Clayton

Greenwood's basketball Foresters took a nip-and-tuck contest from John M. Clayton's Bears at Dagsboro-Frankford on Friday night.

The 76-79 triumph was the fifth in six games for the winners and solidified their hold on second place, in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference. Greenwood is 6-2 overall.

The rivals passed the lead back and forth like a hot potato with a different leader at each quarter pole.

Clayton led 22-17 after one period. The Foresters were in the van 40-38 at intermission. The Bears were back in command 60-58 with three stanzas played. Greenwood doubled the losers output 18-9 to grab the verdict.

A balanced scoring effort did the job for Greenwood. Four starters were in double figures with Larry Hughes tallying 23, Larry Wyatt 19, Frank Spence 14 and Steve Willey 10. The fifth regular, Norman Hamstead, added 8.

Felton Romps At Selbyville

Felton's Green Devils won a high-scoring contest at Selbyville on Friday night 102-87. They moved out steadily to a 21 point advantage, then eased off in the final period to allow the Rebels to close the gap slightly.

The Devils hit six more field goals than did the Rebels and could have been in trouble since Selbyville was hot at the foul line with 21 canned in 28 tries. But for the second time in as many weeks, Felton was better at the charity stripe, than are the professionals, sinking a phenomenal 24 of 27.

Felton's Bobby Dill hit 12-for-12 free throws enroute to a game high 38 markers. Teammate Chris Moore didn't miss a foul shot either, while picking up 26 points. A rival coach can get mighty sick of that kind of accuracy.

Gene Palmer and Buddy Sipple were in double figures for Felton with 16 and 12 respectively. Tony Brinkley caged 37 points in defeat.

EARL QUILLEN, JR. SAYS: DID YOU KNOW

I'd rather be a could be If I couldn't be an are,
 For a could be is a maybe With a chance of touching par.
 I'd rather be a has been Than a might have been, by far,
 For a might have been has never been, But a has been was once an are.

 The years are beginning to add up if it takes you longer to rest than it did to get tired.
