Local Paper, of the 80's, Tells Of Notorious Chicago Riot

Harrington Enterprise, of Thurs., Nov. 17, 1937, tells of the sentencing of seven anarchists participating in the notorious Haymarket riot in Chicago, May 4, 1886. Four were hanged, one committed suicide, and two drew jail terms. In the riot, seven policemen were killed by a stick of dynamite. The Enterprise terms the riot the most calamitous day in Chicago history except for the great fire, Oct. 9, 1871.

The Enterprise's front page devoted 1 1/2 column inches to the sentencing and carried engravings of nine principals. Not only was the print smaller than is customarily used today, the column was wider.

The Journal was lent two copies of the Enterprise by Miss Elizabeth Berry, of Felton. The papers were addressed to Hooper Ross who lived near Farmington.

The Enterprise was a "blanket" newspaper, with a page size of 19 3/4 inches by 25 inches. It was published by B. Howard Johnson by 9 Clark St., the present location of Tony Perrone's Shoe Repair Shop.

In the past century, it was customary for weekly newspapers, even in small communities, to publish more news of national interest than of local interest. But local items follow:

The "boss" pumpkin, so far reported is one raised by Mr. William Hopkins on his farm near Whitesburg, Md. It tips the scales at 102 pounds.

Mr. Ezekiel Anderson, an employee of Franklin Bros. furniture factory in this town, had his hand seriously injured while running the upright moulder on Tuesday morning.

A vacant dwelling and barn, belonging to John Franklin, Esq., situated a short distance from this town, on the D.M. & V. Railroad, were destroyed by fire late Tuesday night. Nothing definite is known of its origin. Several suppositions have been expressed.

Joseph G. Robinson, who lives near Farmington, this county, last week received a certificate

Clendening Heads Heart-Days-For-Business Canvass

Thos. E. Clendening, proprietor of the Clendening Pharmacy, will head the 1967 Heart-Days-for-Business canvass in Harrington, it was announced by Mrs. Earl Sylvester, local heart fund chairman.

Heart-Days-for-Business is a solicitation of local commercial and professional offices, affording local businessmen an opportunity to contribute to the annual heart fund drive.

Heart-Days-for-Business will be conducted here during the twenty-five day period starting February 1st, according to Clendening, who expressed the hope that all solicitations would be completed and funds turned in to the heart fund headquarters not later than February 29.

Clendening also announced that all downtown business offices, stores, professional offices and shopping centers, as well as those located just outside the city limits, will be visited during the period.

from the Government, entitling him to a pension of $1300 and a monthly allowance of $8. Mr. Robinson was a member of the First Delaware Cavalry.

Mr. Hezekiah Harrington has returned to his old stand from which he moved some months ago in order to have the building repaired. It now presents an attractive appearance, a glass front having been put in and otherwise having been beautifully.

Mr. Edwin Knox spent last Sunday in Salisbury.

Mrs. Beniah Harrington is visiting friends in Chesapeake City.

Mrs. J. E. Horney is visiting relatives in Caroline County.

Mrs. Andrew Allen, of Georgetown, is visiting her sisters, Misses Annie and Louie Salisbury.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Lewis, of Denton, were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Lewis, of this town, on Sunday last.

Miss Jennie Coursey, of Greensboro (Greensboro), this week visited Miss Addie Murphy, of this place.

$24,000 has already been subscribed for a proposed Harrington National Bank. At a bank meeting in the Town Hall on Saturday Last, Mr. W. T. Sharp was elected president pro tem, Mr. Clement Harrington, the president, being absent.

T. J. and J. P. Curtis, heirs, will sell at public sale in front of the Delaware House on Saturday, Dec. 3, a tract of 104 acres, situated near this town.

Local advertisers, and their merchandise, are described in brief, as follows:

Hezekiah Harrington, railroad ties; Dr. F. J. Ownes, Mechanic Street, diseases of females a specialty; Josiah Melvin, shoes, $1.50 to $2.50 per pair; J. P. Hopkins, bone fertilizer; Anderson (groceries) at Reed's old stand; J. W. Germroth, bakery; W. D. Meredith, tonsorial artist; C. N. Grant, barber; Smith & Masten, millwork; A. H. Matthews, groceries; S. S. Harrington, manufacturer of bone fertilizer. (Editorial note: The children used to collect bones for these buyers.

Mrs. James D. Simpson

Mrs. Sadie A. Simpson, 84, of East Liberty Street, died Monday at the home of a daughter after a long illness.

She died at the home of Mrs. Thelma Minner of Greensboro, Md.

Mrs. Simpson was the widow of James D. Simpson, who died in 1954.

She was a practical nurse until her retirement.

Mrs. Simpson is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. Merle Roth and Mrs. Peggy Curtis, both of Harrington; two sons, Lex, of Bordertown, N. J., and Carroll B., of Wilmington; 16 grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren. Services were Thursday afternoon from the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home, 110 E. Center St., Harrington. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery.

Jaycees Honor Mayor With Prayer Breakfast

The Harrington chapter of the Delaware Jaycees sponsored a prayer breakfast for Mayor Fulton J. Downing Sunday morning, at 7:30 a.m. at the Harrington High School Cafeteria.

Presiding over the breakfast was David G. Jones. The invocation was given by Robert E. Taylor, and Robert Newcombe and Donald Garey read passages from the Old and New Testaments. Guest speaker for the occasion was Lt. Gov. Sherman W. Tribbitt who gave a talk on prayers and religion in our government. Benediction was given by LeRoy Calhoun. A delicious breakfast was served by Hazel Johnson and her staff.

There were approximately 85 persons present to honor the mayor. Among these people were Will Kirkwood, president of the Delaware Jaycees; Jim Gray, vice-president of the Delaware Jaycees for the Harrington Chapter; Gerald Pusey and Carl Walls, both state vice presidents.

Mrs. E. Sylvester Appointed Heart Fund Chairman

Mrs. Earl Sylvester will serve as campaign chairman of the 1968 Heart Fund campaign in Harrington, it was announced by Mrs. James D. Moore, president of the Harrington New Century Club, which organization is sponsoring the campaign.

Mrs. Sylvester will be assisted by the following team captains: Mrs. Fulton J. Downing, Mrs. Theodore Harrington, Mrs. G. B. Mahoney, Mrs. A. B. Parsons, Mrs. Charles Peck, Jr., Mrs. Fred C. Powell, Mrs. Charles Rapp, and Mrs. Sam Williams.

In Harrington the Heart Fund drive will reach its high point during the twenty-five day period starting February 1, when volunteers will visit their neighbors to deliver educational information and receive Heart Fund contributions.

Your Heart Fund gift will support research, education and community heart programs of the local Heart Association.

Conference Called By DSEA

A press conference has been called by the Delaware State Education Association for Wednesday morning, Feb. 7, 9 a.m., Treadway Inn, Dover. Major topics under discussion will be the final report of the NEA-DSEA Committee of Inquiry, Frederick D. Thomas, president, Lewes, announced this week.

This committee was called for in October 1967 by the delegates attending the annual representative assembly of DSEA. The demand for such a study grew out of dissatisfaction on the part of Delaware's teachers, with Governor Terry's veto of House Bill 209 and the passage of a substitute bill which was declared "inadequate" by the Association.

Dr. Jack Kleinmann, associate executive secretary of the NEA Commission on Professional Rights and Responsibilities, and Dr. Eugene McLoone, educational finance specialist from the University of Maryland, will be on hand to discuss the report. They will also answer questions from members of the press in order to provide insights into the report. (Continued on Page 8)

Whittington's poultry operation embraces hatching egg production, feed manufacturing and the growing of approximately six million broilers annually. In addition to the company's poultry program, DPI's new president grows broilers on his own farms, raises approximately 1,000 acres of corn and operates a 325,000 bushel capacity grain elevator.

A product of the public school system of his local community, Whittington is a graduate of the Staunton Military Academy and majored in poultry husbandry at the University of Maryland, graduating in the class of 1951.

Following military service as an officer in the United States Air Force with assignments in Germany and French Morocco, Whittington returned home to become associated with the family poultry business in 1953.

Whittington's poultry and farm organization memberships include Maryland Farm Bureau, Tri-County Poultry Association and National Broiler Council along with his active role in the DPI association. He is a member of the Marion Lions Club, a trustee of the Rehoboth Presbyterian Church and chairman of the Board, Bank of Somerset, Princess Anne, Md.

He and his wife, Lou, have two children, Sally, eleven, and Tommy, seven. They reside in Somerset County, near the farm where he was born and raised.

The free food includes among other things such items as butter, rice, flour corn meal, oats, beans, dried milk, peanut butter (Continued on Page 5)

Kent County Give In-to Move Dump

Faced with strong opposition to the present site, the Kent County Levy Court came out of a three-hour executive session in Dover Thursday night, Jan. 25, with the decision to move its landfill operation to a new position.

After being presented with a petition the previous Tuesday, signed by residents living near Rt. 398 and McCauley Pond, which protested a dumping grounds they felt would be on their doorsteps, the commissioners decided to remain in the same general area, but move the operation to a more remote section.

The new site will still be on the Frank Porter property, with whom the court signed a year's lease several days ago.

"This new area is larger than the spot originally chosen, and well removed from the road," said Levy Court president Glenn A. Richter. "There is no possibility of pollution where we are now going, because there is no water near it. It is much more desirable from the residents' standpoint."

While the new area was not pinpointed, it is reported it cannot be reached from Rt. 398. However roads entering the site will be opened in the near future with directions on how to reach it.

There has been no decision as yet on whether to place a nominal charge for dumping, or allow the area to be used free of charge.

Watershed Organization To Meet Feb. 8

The newly formed McCauley's Pond Water Shed Improvement Organization will hold a meeting at Houston Fire Hall on February 8th, at 7:30. All persons in this area are urged to attend.

Servicemen Thank Legion Aux. For Christmas Gifts

Six overseas servicemen, five of whom are in Vietnam, lost no time in expressing their thanks to the auxiliary of Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee Post No. 7, American Legion, for Yuletide gifts.

The auxiliary put its packages in the mail early and the mail service was exceptional: most recipients dated their mail in early December.

The letters are listed as follows:

Dear Mrs. (William) Outten: I want to express my deepest thanks to you and all the Legion ... at Harrington. You can't imagine how good it felt to receive a package from you people back home.

I hope this note is adequate enough until I can thank you all in person.

I thank you again. Sincerely yours, Donald Palladino SP/4 Palladino Co. A, 87 Eng. Btl. (Const.) APO San Francisco 96312

Dec. 14/67

Dear Sir: I received your package and was very glad to get it. I thank you very much for taking time out to express your feeling toward me. I really don't know how to thank you; the only way I can thank you at this time is by writing you. Since I have been in Vietnam I've been hit; other than that I am getting along very fine. It makes me feel very fine every time I hear from someone back in State-side. I am out of the line now. I work in the post-office. I like my new job very well. I only have 90 days left in Vietnam. I am getting short now. Well, sir, I got to run now. I'll keep in touch. Bye now.

Truly yours, F. Benson Pfc. Francis Benson US 52808609 9th Admin. Co. 9th Inf. Division, APO SF 96370

To American Legion Aux.: I wish to say thank you very much for the wonderful package you sent me at Christmas. It helps when you know that someone is thinking of you, especially at this time of year. The gift was very much appreciated and will be very useful. Thanks again.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to each of you. May God bless you all. Bruce Collins

Bishop J. Brooke Mosley

Bishop Mosley To Speak At Episcopal Church

It was announced by the Rev. Quay D. Rice, Vicar of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, here, that this Sunday, Feb. 4, the Rt. Rev. J. Brooke Mosley, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Delaware, will make his yearly visitation to St. Stephen's Church, where he will perform the Rite of Confirmation and preach at the 10:45 a.m. service.

In addition to being first of all a preacher of the Word of God, we read in the Book of Common Prayer that "the office of a bishop is, to be a chief pastor in the church, to confer Holy Orders (to ordain); and to administer Confirmation". It is the last of these functions that Bishop Mosley will perform this Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m. In the Episcopal Church, as in the entire Anglican Communion, only a Bishop has the authority to confirm.

Confirmation is the rite of renewing the solemn promises and vows which were made at one's baptism. After those who are to be confirmed have done so, each of them kneels before the bishop who lays his hands upon the head of the confirmed and prays the confirmation prayer.

The word "confirmation" is not found in the Bible, but in several places in the New Testament, we read that after Baptism, the Laying-on-of-Hands was administered. Also there is abundant evidence of this rite in early church history.

Bishop Mosley received his Bachelor of Divinity Degree from the Episcopal Theological Seminary at Cambridge, Mass., and was later conferred the Degree of Doctor of Divinity by Kenyon College in Ohio and the Doctor of Sacred Theology Degree by the Philadelphia Divinity School. He and Mrs. Mosley are the parents of three youths. They live in Wilmington at Bishopstead, on Wood Road.

Those who are to be confirmed are: Edna Adams, Paye Austin, Mrs. Margueretta Eliason, Mrs. Bessie Nutter, Roxanne Mertz, Chris Mertz, Diana Rosengren, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Nored, Billie Walters and Bill Winkler.

The public is invited to this service and to remain for the reception for the Bishop and the new members which will be held after the service.

Wesley Church Awards Contract

Wesley Methodist Church of Dover has awarded a contract to Wilkins & Company, of Milford, for the remodeling of the former Dover Post Office Building which is to be known as the Wesley Church Educational Center. The low bid of $49,469 from the Milford firm was one of four bids submitted. Other bids were received from George Meyers, Clute Brothers, and Mitten & Son.

In addition to the work being done to the former Post Office structure, bids were also received for major renovations to the presently occupied church building. A final decision on the extent of this work to be undertaken will not be made until February 1 when an official Quarterly Conference has been announced. Low price bid for the entire project came to a total of $85,433.

Chairman of the Building Committee, Louis B. Edgell, informed the church that the contractor intends to complete the entire work within 150 days if the complete project is undertaken by the church. (Continued on Page 5)

A giant step toward full library service for Harrington will be taken Tuesday, Feb. 13, when the Harrington Station opens.

The station, which has its own entrance, is located at City Hall in a room which has been made available by the City Council. It will be open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 to 4 p.m. and Wednesdays and Fridays from 6 to 8 p.m.

The handsome new shelves and the books which number some 1500 are on loan from the State Library Commission. Mrs. William C. Humes is a member of the Library Commission.

The new facility is sponsored jointly by the Business & Professional Women's Club and the Century Club of Harrington. Community support is not only welcomed, but necessary. For a beginning, you might check your personal collection to see if there is a book or two you would want to donate. These books will be a beginning toward a permanent collection. A memorial fund is to be started also.

Mrs. Harold McDonald heads the station. She has asked that anyone wishing to donate specific books should submit a slip with the book's name, author, publisher, and year published. This will avoid a duplication of books and assure a contemporary collection. Further information concerning volunteer projects can be had during station hours or by calling Mrs. McDonald at 398-8525 after 5 p.m.

Del. Economy Less Dependant On Federal Govt.

Delaware's economy is less dependent on federal government contracts than any of the other 49 states according to a report recently released by the U.S. Department of Commerce, Samuel L. Shipley, director of the State Development Department, has announced.

Only 7.8 per cent of the state's economy is influenced by government contracts. Alaska is most dependent upon federal procurement with 33.3 per cent. Maryland ranks eighth with 20.4 per cent.

In arriving at these figures, the Commerce Department took into account three aspects of federal spending: (1) direct or prime impact, direct federal purchases from firms; (2) indirect impact, representing goods and services produced by others in addition to the prime contractors; (3) consumer spending generated by federal spending. Thus, the direct and indirect impacts become income to the residents of the states as do the federal payroll expenditures. The portion of this income spent in the state represents the third or consumer spending impact. The procurement dependence per cent was arrived at by dividing the sum of direct impact, the indirect impact and consumer spending by the gross output of the state.

The total impact of federal procurement was $162.9 billion in 1963. Most of the figures released last month (December) in a report entitled "Regional Effects of Government Procurement and Related Policies" reflect 1963 government spending. Although Delaware ranked second in per capita personal income ($2,970), the state ranked 29th in procurement activity per capita ($665).

"These figures indicate the stability of the state's economy," Shipley said. "Delaware's citizens and industries are relatively free of dependence on frequently fluctuating government spending."

According to the report, in 1966, Delaware ranked 45th in receipt of federal defense funds with $169.3 million. California ranked first with $1.96 billion.

The report says that the federal government is increasingly aware of the effect of expenditures on regional economies. "The magnitude of procurement suggests the existence of a powerful tool for alleviating regional imbalances." Regional needs are becoming an important factor in the federal procurement policy.

Credit Cards Need Care

Twenty million Americans use more than 200 million credit cards. The convenience of credit cards are obvious, but they have several disadvantages also.

Credit cards can cost you high interest charges if you spread payments over a period of time, according to Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware. You may be paying as much as 18 per cent annually as interest; this is much higher than the rate normally charged by banks for personal loans.

Of course, not all credit cards allow you to spread your payments; some bills are due upon receipt. Many credit card agreements state that the issuer has the right to demand full payment of the bill without notice, even if it is not yet due and payable. This means at any time; the issuer does not have to give you a reason.

They may also have the right to use any of the cardholder's property which they control to pay off the debt. In addition, the issuer may change the terms of your agreement at any time. Be sure you read the terms of your credit card agreement carefully before you decide to accept one.

One of the greatest dangers of using credit cards is that the monthly bill can become staggering if you don't watch it closely. This is especially true of all-purpose credit cards, such as bank cards, because they can be used to charge so many every-day expenses. Keep your debts less than one month's income for things you cannot sell to pay off what you still owe, suggests Miss Morris.

Guard your credit cards as carefully as you guard your money—if not more so. There is almost no limit to the losses which can result if they are lost or stolen. Losses from the illegal use of credit cards range from $20 to $50 million a year.

As a cardholder, you are responsible for all charges made to your account until you notify the issuer that your card is lost or stolen. Even then, you may still be liable if you were careless with it. If your card is lost or stolen, call or wire the issuer immediately, recommends Miss Morris. Follow this up with a letter. Most companies will relieve you of liability as soon as they receive this notice.

To protect yourself, be sure your card is returned to you after each use. Never lend your credit card; you assume all responsibility for its use or loss.

Destroy all expired or cancelled cards; destroy or promptly return any unsolicited card which you receive and do not intend to use. A number of card companies have decided that, in cases where an agreement is not signed before a credit card is issued, the first use of a card by the cardholder means he accepts the terms of the card. Therefore, if an unsolicited card is lost, stolen or misused, the cardholder is not liable for the debts.

However, since legal liability is unclear in many cases, a number of insurance companies now offer credit card insurance for up to $10,000; the cost ranges from $2 to $8 per year. Many of these policies will pay the amount of illegal charges, the attorney's fees, court costs and other legal expenses you might have to pay to defend yourself in a suit.

As a consumer, you must weigh the advantages and disadvantages of using a credit card for yourself, reminds Miss Morris. Know the facts before you take on the responsibilities of credit card buying.

Dieticians, The Navy Needs You

The U.S. Navy is presently experiencing a serious shortage of dieticians. Financial assistance is available to those entering dietetic internships or graduate degree programs.

Navy dieticians are commissioned officers in the Medical Service Corps, serving in large, modern Naval Hospitals around the world.

If you are between the ages of 18 and 32 (women) or 21 and 32 (men) and are interested in a challenging and rewarding position, contact your local Navy recruiter, Chief Petty Officer Edward O. Sanders, Keith Building, Dover, or phone 734-7319.

Jaycees Name Outstanding Young Farmer in Del.

Delaware Jaycees have named William W. Vanderwende, 34, Bridgeville, as Delaware's Outstanding Young Farmer for 1967-68. Second place was awarded to Philip P. Cartanza, 35, Dover, while Edward A. Deputy, 34, St. Georges, placed third.

Vanderwende, who has been farming for 16 years, operates a 1,000 acre dairy and small grain farm. He maintains a herd of 78 Holsteins and produces corn, soybeans, barley, wheat and snap beans.

He is a member of the Delaware Farm Bureau Federation, Interstate Milk Producers, Holstein-Friesian Association, Delaware Dairy Herd Improvement Association, Delaware State Grange and the Delaware Production Credit Association.

Vanderwende will receive an expense paid trip to Des Moines, Iowa, in April to compete for national honors.

Cartanza has operated a potato and vegetable farm for 16 years; last year, he grew 500 acres of potatoes. He served as vice president and treasurer of the Delaware Produce Growers Association and is a member of the Farm Bureau.

Deputy began farming in 1953 and now operates a 1,015 acre grain and dairy farm. He maintains a herd of 35 Holsteins and grows wheat, corn, soybeans, barley and sweet corn. He is a member of the Farm Bureau, Interstate Milk Producers and the Wilmington Milk Market Committee.

Outstanding young farmer competition is sponsored nationally by the National LP Gas Association and locally by Shagin Gas Co., Middletown, Collins and Ryan, Inc., Millsboro; Suburban Gas Company of Delaware, Glasgow, and the Protane Corporation, Harrington.

A. Virden, Smyrna; Joseph A. Kallock, Jr., Millsboro; Charles M. Carter, Townsend; Richard L. Sapp, Milton, and Harry Voshell, Middletown.

Awards were present at the Dairy Day program of the University of Delaware's Farm and Home Week.

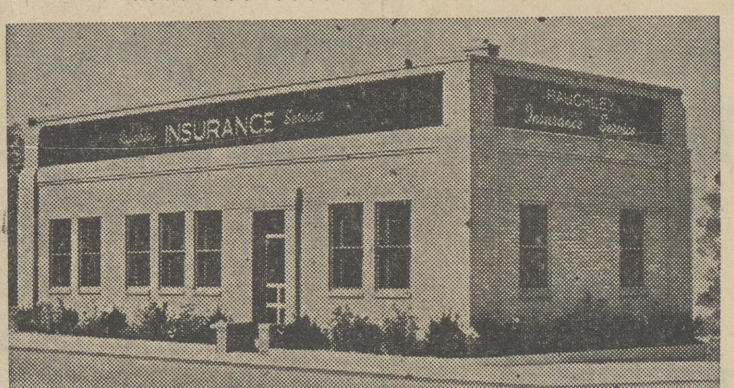

Eligibility for the award is limited to farmers between the ages of 21 and 35 who operate a farm and earn at least two-thirds of their income from farming. Judging is based on progress in an agricultural career, the adoption of soil and water conservation practices and contributions to the well being of the community, state and nation.

Judges were W. T. McAllister, extension farm management specialist at the University of Delaware; Edward E. Evans, manager of the Delaware Production Credit Association; and George C. Simpson, manager and secretary of the Delaware State Fair. Other contestants were Harry Every newspaper man has heard the story, but it bears repeating: One day, P. K. Wrigley was riding on a train with a friend and the conversation turned to the chewing gum business.

The friend, who had an eye for saving a penny, suggested now that the Wrigley chewing gum business was so well known and had such large distribution it might be wise to dispense with advertising, save that expense and make that much additional profit.

"I could ask the conductor the same question," replied the financial genius. "This train is now going 60 miles per hour, so why not disconnect the engine? Advertising is to merchandising what a locomotive is to a train. It is the power which keeps it going." — Publishers' Auxiliary

We represent the Old Folks
You know, the homey kind
Who saw the Springtimes come and go
And they were left behind.

We recalled the weary winters.
In the very long ago;
And lived the old days over,
In the memories we know.

When the final trumpet sounds for us,
We want to slip away;
And wait beside the river's edge,
The coming of the day.

Where those we loved and lost a while,
We'll greet with wild acclaim—
Happy to know we've paid our fare,

Speaking of how times change, most of us old timers recall when the only time you asked: "Is it a boy or a girl," was at the hospital.

FRI., FEB. 1, 1952

The Rev. and Mrs. John H. Anderson, of Tampa, Fla., have been visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Hester Bailey.

Evening courses in commercial education will be offered at the Harrington School beginning in February if there is a sufficient enrollment to justify having the courses.

The allocation of almost all the critical materials needed in constructing a building for pupils of the elementary grades of the Harrington Public School system has been made, and the inauguration of the project in the near future is a certainty, it was divulged by J. C. Messner, superintendent of schools.

Two men, armed with revolvers, automatic pistols, and shotguns, some of which were believed to have been stolen in the robberies in Dover and at Harrington Jan. 18 and 19, were arrested in an automobile stolen in one of the robberies, at Charleston, S. C., Saturday.

Cpl. Louis Hobbs, son of Ormand Hobbs and Mrs. Orle Hobbs, is home on a furlough from the Air Corps and will be here until Feb. 17, when he will report to MacDill Field, Tampa, Fla.

Carpenter Foreman George Potter, on the Pennsy, is improving in the Baltimore Eye, Ear, Nose, and Throat Hospital following the removal of a cataract.

An improvement has been noted in the smoke condition at Harrington the past three weeks. There is room for still further improvement and many of our town folk are anxious to see the steam locomotives replaced with diesels.

Earl Koons, of Millersburg, Pa., spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Emil Adams.

Mrs. Amos Minner has been in a Wilmington hospital having a wisdom tooth removed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilson and J. C. Gerow, of Frederica, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Richardson.

Miss Morris is a senior at Greenwood High School.

A spring wedding is planned.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holbertson

How much money do you spend on food each week? Are you spending more than your budget allows? How can you get more for your food dollar? These questions have been growing in importance lately.

The plain but realistic fact is that, like it or not, prices keep going up for almost everything everyone buys. And many experts are predicting that the upward trend will continue in the months and years ahead.

So, how do you stretch the food dollar? There are many answers to this question. The most important, of course, is careful shopping. Careful shopping means comparison of prices and quality, as well as quantity. But before you shop do a little homework, check your pantry shelves and make a list of needed items.

Next shop with this list. You will have a guide and a plan — this will cut down much of the impulse buying. However, be flexible enough to substitute foods on "special" for similar, more expensive items on your list.

Since one-half of the food dollar goes for meat, milk and eggs (this is for the average family), it is well worth while to buy your meat very carefully. This food accounts for the largest part of your food budget. When buying meat, compare the cost per serving and not cost per pound. Also, compare the serving per pound from different cuts and kinds of meat as well as fish to see which is the best buy. A rule of thumb is that a pound of boneless meat serves four, while one pound of meat with the bone in will serve only two.

Be sure to allow enough time when you shop to read the label carefully. Then compare weights and prices. A 9-ounce package of one ready-to-eat cereal may cost the same as a 13-ounce package of another. Four extra ounces can amount to quite a bit during a year. Also figure the cost per ounce of both large and small cans of tomatoes for instance. You may be surprised with what you come up with.

There are a number of other money saving hints, such as buy only what you can use (food wasted is expensive), don't buy a "bargain" unless it is one to you, etc. However, let's stop here and take a good look at your grocery bill. There is a big difference between your grocery bill and your food bill. The former usually includes many non-food items such as cleaning supplies, paper products, etc. Add up only those things that are food plus meals eaten away from home, milk bill if it is delivered and all other money spent on food (snacks, candy, etc.), then and only then, will you have a true picture of what your food bill really is.

There will be a skating party for all the young people on our Delmarva Zone to be held in Seaford, on Tuesday evening at 7:30. All those who are interested in attending should contact Rev. Griffin. All Junior and Senior High School students are invited. This will be Tues., Feb. 13.

Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. the Junior Choir will practice at the church. Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. the mid-week prayer service will be held.

There will be a special showing of the film, "World Apart" at the Nazarene Center on Johnson Street, in Salisbury, on Saturday evening, Feb. 10, at 7:30 p.m.

Private Douglas S. Phillips, 20, son of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Phillips, 305 Hall Place, Milford, completed a field radio mechanic course Jan. 26 at the Army Armory School, Ft. Knox, Ky.

Mrs. John Taylor

Mrs. Linda C. Taylor, 94, of Felton, died Monday in the State Home at Smyrna after a long illness.

She was the widow of John Taylor and a resident of Felton for more than 70 years. Surviving are three sons, Lawrence of Washington, D. C.; Carleton, of Smyrna and David, of Stockley; four grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Estella Flester, of Dover.

Services were held yesterday afternoon at 1 in the Berry Funeral Home, Felton. Interment was in Hopkins Cemetery, near Felton.

Take Advantage of Investment Credit

In filing 1967 tax returns, take advantage of the investment credit allowed farmers and other businessmen, advises W. T. McAllister, extension farm management specialist at the University of Delaware. Each dollar of tax credit is a dollar of tax you don't have to pay.

Investment credit is a real tax break, but it can also be a source of trouble, cautions McAllister. Trouble develops when equipment on which the farmer claimed investment credit in a prior year is not kept for the length of time used in computing the credit.

"An example would be a tractor purchased in 1963 for $5,000. The farmer expected to keep the tractor for six years and claimed two-thirds of the investment credit allowed. This would be 2/3 or ($5,000 x .67) or $3,350. However, the tractor was not large enough, so in 1967, the farmer traded it for a larger one investing an additional $4,500.

The problem is doubly complicated, because having owned the tractor for four years, the farmer qualified for only one-third of the investment credit, not the two-thirds claimed. Therefore, one-half of the investment credit, or $1,675, must be paid back as tax on the 1967 report. A special line for this purpose has been added to the 1967 tax returns.

The second problem is to determine the basis for figuring investment credit on the new tractor. This is done by adding the depreciated value of the machine traded to the amount of additional money invested. Assume the remaining value of the original tractor was $1,667. The basis for determining investment credit on the new tractor would be $4,500 plus $1,667 or $6,167.

If the farmer determined that the life of this new tractor would be six years, he could take two-thirds of the full seven per cent investment credit allowance. He reports this investment credit of $287 on form 3468 and transfers the tax credit to line 13 of form 1040.

It's not really difficult to figure investment credit if you read the instructions carefully and follow the examples given in the "Farmers Income Tax Guide" available from your county agent, concludes McAllister.

James Edward Hearn

James Edward Hearn, 84, of Lincoln, died Thurs., Jan. 25, at his home after a short illness.

He was a retired farmer and a native of Lincoln.

Mr. Hearn was a member of Lincoln Methodist Church, Lincoln, and treasurer of its Sunday school for 29 years. He was also a member of Order of United American Mechanics Lodge, Milford.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Ida K. Hearn; a son, William E., of Harrington, and a granddaughter.

Services were held Sunday afternoon at Lofland Funeral Home, Milford. Interment was in Lincoln Cemetery, Lincoln.

AFS Program—To Live With American Families

American Field Service is a program whereby youth from other countries have the opportunity to live with American families during the period of the school year. This affords a wonderful opportunity to learn more about their country and at the same time they may learn how we as Americans live and work and play. The program also affords an opportunity for American youth to visit other nations with the "Americans Abroad" program. Locally our youth have not as yet taken advantage of this.

Our community this year has a student from Switzerland. Her name is Beth Amsler and she is residing with the Olin Davis family. She is a nice person to get to know and more of our people should make an acquaintance with her by inviting her into their homes. Basically, this is the thought behind the program, to get to know other people of the world and exchange ideas and learn how others live.

The program requires that our community raise a considerable sum of money to bring the AFS student to our city. Therefore, we should take full advantage of getting to know our guest better because she is the guest of the whole community while she is here.

Beth is the third student that the Harrington AFS Chapter has brought to our community. "Toby" from Iceland resided with the William A. Taylor family and "Anita" from Bolivia last year made her home with the Thomas Peek family. All of these girls have been good ambassadors from their respective countries and our community has gained immensely from their presence with us.

It would be wonderful if we could interest some of our boys and girls in visiting other countries since the program provides for this.

James E. Haddaway

James E. Haddaway, 83, a lifelong resident of the Camden-Wyoming area, died Sunday in the Baltimore Medical Center after a short illness.

He was a Wyoming civil engineer and surveyor. He attended St. John's College in Annapolis, Md., and was a Kent County engineer in the 1930s. In 1949, he was appointed to the State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors. He was a member of the Wyoming Methodist Church, the Knights of Pythias and Camden-Wyoming Rotary.

His wife, Mrs. Edith Baker Haddaway died in 1960.

He survived by three daughters, Mrs. Henry Cowgill of Towson, Md.; Mrs. James N. Guthrie, of Seaford; and Mrs. Owen W. Miller, of Dover; three brothers, Arthur and Austin, both of Baltimore and Bernice, of Church Hill, Md., and five grandchildren.

Services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Torbert Funeral Chapel, Dover. Interment was in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Camden.

FENCE TALK

with George K. Vapaa
Improving urban ecology is the theme of a conference for county extension agents next spring. The title reflects the changing demands for educational information as more and more people move from the country to the city - or at least, away from a living on a working farm. Or put it this way. The population in Kent County was 32,000 in 1930, and over 50 per cent of the people lived on farms. Today, the latest 1967 census shows a Kent County population of about 82,000 and only seven per cent live on farms. But this seven per cent still uses about 60 per cent of the land, and of course the Extension Service is geared to serve this segment of commercial agriculture. If there is any change, we find ourselves specializing along certain lines to meet the increasing technical needs of farmers. Everyone in the state crosses county lines, especially with the minor farm enterprises.

For agricultural agent estimates that a third of my work time is with non-farm people. The problems range from gardens of all kinds, insects, plant diseases, pesticide information, land use concepts, civil defense education, poverty problems. Our efforts extend to social issues where once they were pretty much limited to production and marketing of food and fiber.

This agent conference will deal with the situations facing agents in urbanizing counties. We'll examine new mass media approaches of teaching, the trend towards specialization of agents within a group of counties, and we will have a splendid opportunity to see the newly emerging city of Columbia, the Beltsville Research Center turf plots and the National Arboretum.

I expect to return to Kent County with many ideas for use within our own situations. The micropore release of fertilizer is the latest idea for home gardeners. Long term controlled feeding, from three to five years, is now possible for ornamentals without danger of injury to tender roots.

The principle is simple. Fertilizer is packaged in a small paper or plastic bag (a patented feature). The packet is placed unopened beneath the soil at a depth of about six inches. Water vapor in the soil enters the packet through the micropore holes and dissolves the fertilizer. The nutrients escape gradually through the holes to the root zone where the plant feed upon them.

University of Wisconsin researchers, who developed the process, say that the fertilizer feeds the plants only during the warm, damp growing season, when the plant needs it most. No fertilizer is released during cold weather.

These "Easy Grow" packets were a feature at the Farm and Home Week program at Newark. Local garden supply stores will be carrying them this spring. Try several packets and see for yourself on your roses, bushes, potted plants or trees.

Parity means equality or equity in an economic sense, says W. T. McAllister, our farm management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Parity has been used in agricultural legislation since the first Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933, and aside from some changes in base periods and items included in its formulation, the concept has not changed much in the last 35 years. A definition of the parity formula idea would be: "to establish prices to farmers at a level that will give farm commodities a purchasing power for items farmers buy equal to the purchasing power that existed in some base period." The base period selected in 1932 was 1910-1914 and that same base period is used today but with some modifications.

As used in farm legislation, parity is a purchasing power concept. For example, if 100 bushels of wheat in 1910-1914 would buy two tons of fertilizer, it should buy the same amount of the same fertilizer in 1967. I'm sure it is not difficult to see that the cost and price and value relationship of things that farmers buy and commodities that farmers sell changes over a period of time. The formula was revised in 1950 to modernize it, but the purchasing power base continues to be 1910-1914.

In recent years there has been more concern about parity of income than parity of purchasing power. The parity of income idea is to provide farmers with a standard of living comparable to or equal to that of other segments of the economy. Because of the wide disparity in terms of output, investment, efficiency, location, commodities, etc. among farmers, it is most difficult to arrive at an income that would be equitable to all. It becomes even more difficult to relate farm income to income earned by workers in non-farm jobs.

What, then, do people who talk about parity mean? In our farm commodity programs parity still refers to equality of purchasing power between commodities sold and things farmers purchase for use on the farm. When we talk about parity income it means providing a similar standard of living on farms as compared with off farms. Whether it is purchasing power of standard of income or living, in an economic sense parity means equal.

A small laundry bag for personal laundry can be a convenient closet accessory. Just remember that your closet is not the best place to keep dirty clothes for any length of time. To make a drawstring laundry bag, you will need two-thirds of a yard of 36-inch material. Straighten the material by pulling threads top and bottom. Fold lengthwise, right sides together and selvages together. Stitch down the side and across the bottom using a 5/8" seam allowance. Stitch a two-inch hem around the top of the bag. Then make another row of stitching one inch from the top. This forms a casing for the drawstring and a heading. Cut two slits in the casing opposite each other and finishes the edges by hand with the button-hole stitch. Cut two tapes of cords twice as long as the width of the bag and insert into the casing to make drawstrings.

Another type of laundry bag can be made from three-fourths of a yard of 36-inch wide material and a wooden coat hanger. Fold the material lengthwise and stitch a seam along selva to within 12 inches of the top edge. This is the placket opening. Remove the selva along the placket opening and bind with bias binding of make a facing of material. Clip the selva of the rest of the seam.

With the placket opening in the center front, place a wooden hanger along the top of the bag. Shape the bag to fit the hanger. Be sure to allow for seams. Turn bag inside out and seam top and bottom edges of the bag.

Bulletins List Spray Schedules

The latest information on how to best use insecticides and pesticides on crops is now available from the University of Delaware.

Dr. John W. Heuberger, chairman of the Department of plant pathology, Donald MacCreary, extension entomologist, and Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist, all at the University, have prepared two folders on 1968 pesticide recommendations for Delaware. One folder covers insect and disease control on vegetables; the second contains spray schedules for control of fruit insects and diseases in orchards and home plantings.

Speaking at the University of Delaware's Farm and Home Week program, Heuberger and MacCreary stressed the importance of proper use of insecticides and pesticides for controlling insects and diseases which cannot be satisfactorily checked by other means.

The effectiveness of the pesticide program is determined mainly by the person who uses it. Most control failures result from the grower not applying the right materials, in the right amount, at the right time and in the right way.

The 1968 pesticide folder on vegetables contains instructions for pesticide applications for tomatoes, lima and snap beans, white potatoes, sweet corn and cucurbits. Information for home vegetable gardens is also included. The fruit and orchard folder contains a commercial and home apple spray schedule and a peach spray schedule.

These booklets may be obtained free of charge from county extension offices in Newark, Dover and Georgetown, or from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, Del. 19711.

Establishes Turf Grass Association

Turf interests from throughout Delaware aided by University of Delaware personnel have formed a new organization—the Delaware Turf Grass Association. Purpose of the group is to form an organization of persons interested in turf grass establishment and management and to stimulate turf grass testing, research and education through the state university, says Walter Petroll, of Winterthur Gardens, chairman of the Bylaws Committee.

Membership in the Delaware Turf Grass Association is open to those directly interested in turf grass management and those recognized by the association for distinguished service in turf grass. These include golf course superintendents, grounds maintenance supervisors, commercial turf specialists and home lawn enthusiasts.

The association is governed by a four man board of directors and its officers. Newly elected board members include Percy Vickers, Rehoboth; Frank Jarman of the DuPont Country Club; Nicholas Merriman of the Hercules Country Club; and James Janis, Newark. Officers are Edgar Downs of the Rehoboth Country Club, president; Dave Paterson, Longwood Gardens, vice president; and Walter Petroll, Winterthur Gardens, secretary-treasurer. Dr. William Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware will serve as technical advisor to the group.

Darn tootin', Isaac Newton!

When you read about the cost of living index, don't you sometimes get the feeling poor old Isaac Newton must be whirling in his grave? Whatever happened to the law of gravity? So many things go up. So few things ever come down. Which brings us to that interesting word TELEBARGAIN. Just a nice new way to say what's been true for a lot of years—that the telephone is one of the biggest bargains in the family budget. What else works so hard for you . . . for so little? While the cost of practically everything else keeps soaring, the overall cost of phone service keeps going down . . . decreases in long distance rates, for instance. So . . . how do you like them apples, Isaac Newton?

BIRDIE 3 . . . You've heard the standard definition of what makes news . . . it's when man bites dog. What is it when a parakeet bites a newspaper? neatly nipping three digits from the important phone number a lady customer of ours had jotted down? A headache, is what it is. So don't you play fast and loose with important phone numbers. Keep them safe, sound, and easy to reach in your personal directory. You say you don't even know a parakeet? Well, everybody knows somebody who'll bite off more than he can chew.

SPEAKING OF TELEBARGAINS . . . Most wives know that extension phones make great TELEBARGAINS. Unbeatable for saving steps, effort, and womanly wear and tear. Such being the case, this is really addressed to the handful of husbands who haven't figured out yet what's in it for them. (Wives, you can show this around.) It's simple. Can a weary wife take care of your comfort as efficiently as an energetic one? Nope. So, if you're the one standing in the way of a time-saving, work-saving extension . . . husband, for your own sake, move aside.

SURPRISE, SURPRISE! . . . Researching for a paper on "Juvenile Delinquency," the university student figured he'd telephone a dozen homes one evening at around nine o'clock. Plan: to ask parents if they knew where the kids were. Result: in five of the homes kids answered who didn't have the least idea where parents were!

Senior Center News

On Thursday we celebrated the birthday of Mary Footen and the refreshments were furnished by Betty Lord, Mary Lou Callaway, Mrs. Muehleisen, who are members of the Business & Professional Women's Club and Gladys Hill, president of the Senior Center members. Everyone enjoyed playing bingo and carried home some useful prizes.

Friday was devoted to making dresses for Stockley and Monday the monthly calendar was printed and mailed as well as working on crafts.

This Thursday a covered dish luncheon was enjoyed by the members with Rev. Quay Rice as our guest of honor.

We are still in need of a ceramics teacher. If you know of someone please call 398-3908.

This Friday we will again be sewing for Stockley. Do come out and help. We would like to finish this project before starting in ceramics.

Mon., February 5, we will have a tour of the Dover Police Station; leaving Harrington at 1:15 p.m. and returning by 3 or 3:30 p.m. There is no charge for this trip and if you would like to join us call for a reservation.

Thurs., Feb. 9th will be devoted to a member's meeting. Come out and help plan next month's activities.

Fri., Feb. 9, Mrs. Ed Williams will be at the center to discuss the art of making ceramics and show some of the work of residents of the Methodist Manor House.

Leases Are Guaranteed By SBA

Leases guaranteed by the Small Business Administration are now available to all qualified small businesses to enable them to rent prime commercial or industrial space.

Leon Fine, regional director of SBA's Philadelphia Office announced that under new legislation, which became effective Jan. 9, SBA's lease guarantee program is open to all small firms.

Fine said that many small firms—even those a developer might prefer over a larger firm—are at a disadvantage when attempting to obtain leases in choice locations such as shopping centers or industrial manufacturing parks. They are often denied leases because they lack the AAA credit rating required by firms providing long-term mortgage money to the developers.

"Insurance companies, banks, and other lenders desire sound leases before they will extend substantial long-term loans to developers," Fine said. "As a result, small businesses are often excluded from prime space which they badly need. The lease guarantee program was developed to correct this. The SBA, in participation with private casualty insurance companies, will guarantee five-year to twenty-year leases."

Fine said that SBA is prepared to provide lease guarantees under the following conditions: —The company must be small as defined in SBA regulations. —There must be a lessor, lessee relationship. —The company must show that it cannot obtain the lease without a guarantee and that it was unable to obtain a lease guarantee from a private source at a reasonable rate.

"SBA seeks the widest possible participation with private insurance companies," Fine said. "In such participations, leases may be guaranteed for a minimum of five years up to a maximum of twenty years, with the SBA as reinsurer."

"Premiums are calculated as a percentage of total minimum rental and range from 6.5 per cent for a five-year lease to 2.1 per cent for a twenty-year lease. "Premiums are payable in advance, with no refund provisions."

Fine said that the renter must pay three months rent in advance, to be held in escrow, repayable with 4 per cent interest at lease termination if not used to pay rent defaults.

In case of default, he said, the landlord must satisfy certain requirements such as prompt notification of default to insurers before he is eligible to make a claim. He is also to look to the escrow first to satisfy defaulted rentals.

"If private participation is not available, SBA can extend direct lease guarantees," Fine said. "However, since SBA's premium is limited to 2.5 per cent of total minimum rental by law, a fee that is too low to cover costs of insuring short-term leases, only leases of from fifteen to twenty years may be guaranteed on a direct basis."

Further information on the lease guarantee program may be obtained by visiting SBA's Regional Office located at 1317 Filbert Street, Philadelphia, Pa., or contacting the office by telephone 597-2725/26 - Area Code 215.

Can Avoid Corn Stalk Breakage

Stalk breakage was a serious problem in many corn fields last fall, says Dr. William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware.

Modern harvesting equipment and the high cost of labor make it almost impossible for a farmer to harvest an ear that has fallen to the ground. If stalks are lodged, but not broken, some of the grain can be harvested by moving the picker slowly through the field, says Mitchell. This slows up the harvest, however, and may cause an even more serious lodging problem in other fields where the corn is allowed to become too mature.

Mitchell points out that comparison of 50 corn hybrids in University tests during 1967 indicated that areas with 18,000 plants per acre had 60 per cent more stalk breakage than adjacent areas where 15,000 plants were grown. The additional yield of five bushels at the higher population was not nearly enough to compensate for the stalk breakage losses. Some of the hybrids tested had less than 10 per cent lodged or broken stalks while others had more than 50 per cent.

He adds that potassium fertilizer helps to build strong stalks and will definitely minimize stalk breakage problems. This, however, is only one of the factors involved and will not prevent corn from falling down.

Growers can plan now for standing corn next fall by selecting a hybrid with good standability ratings in performance tests; providing enough potassium in fertilization; and using no more than 15,000 plants per acre, he concludes.

Delaware Heart Association Names Heart Chairman

The Delaware Heart Association named former United States Senator, J. Allen Frear, Jr., chairman of the 1968 Heart Fund Drive, announced Alfred E. Bacon, Jr. M.D., President of the Heart Association.

Frear will direct more than 6,500 Delaware volunteers in the Heart Association's annual fund-raising drive.

Making the appointment Dr. Bacon noted that February has been designated Heart month and February 25th Heart Sunday—that day when volunteers canvass their neighborhoods door-to-door.

A native Delawarean, Frear served as United States Senator from 1948 to 1960; as a Securities and Exchange Commissioner from 1961 to 1963, and is now a vice president of the Wilmington Trust Company. He is active in the Rotary, Masonic Bodies and the Peoples Church.

Release Hi-Red Beet Bulletin

The Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station has announced the release of a new triple-purpose garden beet, Hi-Red, according to Professor Eugene P. Brasher, chairman of the horticulture department at the University of Delaware and developer of the new variety.

In a newly published bulletin, "The Hi-Red Garden Beet," Brasher explains that the Hi-Red was developed for the fresh market or for processing whole, sliced or diced. Color is the outstanding feature of the Hi-Red variety; its juice adds superior color when used in combination with other vegetable juices. In extensive trials with more than 20 beet varieties and strains, Hi-Red contained 37 to 132 per cent more pigment than the others.

The plant is about 10-12 inches high with broad, greenish purple leaves and bright red stems. Hi-Red's yield is comparable or superior to all standard varieties harvested at the same stage of growth development, says Brasher. The Hi-Red reached marketable size in about 75 days, six to eight days later than such varieties as Detroit Dark Red or Perfected Detroit.

The new beet is the result of long-term hybridization and selection involving an unnamed long season beet, Perfected Detroit and Deepest Red.

Copies of Brasher's publication, "The Hi-Red Garden Beet," may be obtained from the Mailroom, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, 19711.

Honor Dairymen At Dairy Day

Two Delaware dairymen were among those honored by the National Dairy Products Corporation during Dairy Day activities at the University of Delaware's Farm and Home Week. Willis

Passmore, Townsend, and C. Fred Stites, Dover, each received an engraved plaque from Dr. Leonard Deubler, field supervisor for Sealtest Foods.

Awards were based on outstanding dairy production records and management skills. All dairymen participating in the Delaware Dairy Herd Improvement Association were eligible to compete. Scoring was based on milk quality, feeding programs, production sanitation, herd health, production levels, breed improvement and other factors of good dairy herd management.

Awards were also presented to four Delaware Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervisors. B. Lee Currey, Wyoming, and Orville Whealey, Milford, each received $40 and an engraved plaque. Frank Searles, Harrington, and Lester Krull, Middletown, each received $35.

Deubler also presented a $150 check to the Delaware Dairy Herd Improvement Association to help defray expenses of the 1968 dairy tour.

The Delaware Dairy Herd Improvement Association presented certificates of recognition to owners of cows outstanding in the production testing program. J. N. and D. N. Wells, Milford, had the top milk producing cow in Sussex County and the state; top fat producing cow in New Castle County and the state is from the herd of J. Oliver Koelig, Newark.

Top milk producer in Kent County is owned by Delbert Cain, Harrington, while J. Oliver Koelig had the top milk producer in New Castle County. Top fat producer in Kent County was from the herd of C. Allen Davis; Hopkins Cloverleaf Farms, Lewes, had the top fat producer in Sussex County.

Production awards were presented by State DHIA president Daniel Williams and Dr. W. R. Hesselstine, extension dairyman at the University of Delaware.

Warriors Beat Lions, 93-60

At Milton Tuesday night, the Lions had little chance against Milton's basketball specialists. The winners came out on top in every period with Harrington's best showings coming in the middle two chukkers.

Five Warriors were in dual digits. Bill Moore paced Harrington with 23. Nick Morris scored 15.

Greenwood Splits Two Loop Encounters

Greenwood High School's basketball Foresters were surprised 78-60 by Lord Baltimore's Eagles on Friday night, but rebounded with a red-hot fourth quarter, to shade Millsboro 67-58 on Tuesday. The Foresters now have six wins and two defeats in Henlopen competition and are 7-3 overall.

Greenwood couldn't get rolling in the first half against the Eagles, especially in the second period, when they were outpointed 25-14. The losers did much better in the second half when they played the winners on virtually even terms.

The Foresters trailed 27-21 in field goals but lost all chance of winning because of the astronomical number of free throws awarded to LB. The Eagles drew 43 gratis tosses. That same night in league play only one team, Delmar (34) had more than 30 foul shots, of 12 teams competing.

Quillen of Lord Baltimore took game honors with 30 points. For Greenwood top scorers were Larry Hughes (20), Larry Wyatt (15), and Norm Hamstead (13).

Greenwood started slowly against Millsboro also. Though getting further behind at each quarter post, the Foresters still stayed within striking distance and trailed by 53-45 after three periods.

The victors put everything together in the fourth quarter. Offensively, they clicked for 22 big ones. Defensively, they limited the Blue Devils to a scant five points, one of the top defending efforts this season.

Greenwood's 29-24 field goal edge more than made up for a sub-par night at the charity stripe.

Larry Wyatt hit 20 points for Greenwood. Frank Spence canned 15, Norman Hamstead bucketed 13 and Larry Hughes caged 10.

Ron Hovington, Millsboro's one-man team sank 38 points, but no teammate could get in double figures.

Winter Track Is Growing In Delaware

Track and field, the major sport in the Olympic Games and the most universal of all athletic endeavors, throughout the world, is more and more becoming a twelve months' sport.

For a number of years winter activity in Delaware was limited to two meet, an outdoor "Frostbite Invitational" in March at Tower Hill School and an indoor meet on a tiny, dirt oval at the University of Delaware.

The breakthrough came last season. One of the world's largest and finest indoor tracks was built in the huge, new field house at the University of Delaware. Composed of a cork rubber-asphalt compound known as Tartan, the new oval is only eight laps to the mile as contrasted to 11, 12 and even more laps to the mile, at many arenas in large, metropolitan areas. The eight lapper is bouncy, has longer straightaways, less sharp curves and, of course, is free of outdoor problems such as heat, cold, mud, wind, etc.

Four meets were held at the track last winter and several Harrington runners competed in them. In addition to the U. of D. layout, several New Castle County schools have outdoor, all-weather tracks. A winter schedule has been drawn up which will utilize three of these. Meets will be held on days that the temperature is 40 degrees or above.

The first meet is at Tower Hill on February 3rd, followed by one at Conrad High on February 10th and a relay meet at A. I. duPont on the 15th.

Five days later the first indoor test will be held at the University of Delaware. The runners will be back at Tower Hill on the 24th and compete in the Winter Indoor championships on March 1st. A few days later the Frostbite Invitational will wind up the seven-meet schedule.

In addition to these seven outings some New Castle County Schools belong to the Greater Philadelphia Track and Field Association. This gives them another six meets or so at indoor arenas in Philadelphia. West Chester, Haverford, Swarthmore, etc. Some of these upstate boys thus have as many winter meets as they do in the spring season. This has to result in much better performances and a drastic increase in the number of track scholarships awarded to Delaware thinclads. Harrington runners have been selected to receive these grants in the past. We predict that more Lions will benefit in the future because of the opportunity for increased activity in track.

On Tuesday night, Lord Baltimore and Felton were a point apart at the end of the first stanza and all tied up at halftime. The Eagles picked up an eight point lead after three periods but the Green Devils scorched the nets with 30 points to take a 76-69 decision. Only Bridgeville (27) scored over 25 points in a single period Tuesday, in loop play.

Good work at the free throw line again aided Felton. The Eagles blew 16 foul shots while Felton missily only five.

Bob Dill led the victorious assault with 28 tallies. Chris Moore (19), Buddy Sipple (13), Gene Palmer (10) were other winners in double figures.

Lion Cagers Lose Squeaker To Millsboro

Harrington High's basketball Lions, suffering through a winless season, lost a heartbreaker to Millsboro here on Friday night.

The teams were nip-and-tuck throughout the contest. The Lions outscored the winners in field goals 21-19 and made 10 three throws of 16 and still lost, since the Blue Devils drew 26 free throws and made 18.

Bill Moore and John Swain split 38 points evenly for Harrington. Ron Hovington, one of the Henlopen's top pointmakers had 21 for Millsboro.

Harrington Bowling League

Kent Gas pulled itself up the ladder, way down from the eighth spot at one time in the second third, and overcame overwhelming odds to take the second third championship from Robbins Hardware. Going right down to the wire in this third, Kent Gas blanked Robbins Hardware to take a commanding three-game win margin. After giving way to strong opposition in the first third, Kent Gas, who had led most of the way in that third, ended the first third in a dismal third place position. They were not to be denied in the second third however, tho, the only time they held the first place spot was after the final night of bowling. The Kent Gas team held the second place spot while Robbins Hardware and Taylor & Messick exchanged the first place spot back and forth for the past four weeks. K. Layton really gave Kent Gas a big boost with a very fine 596 series, including a 200 game. H. Robbins bowled a fine 203 game for Robbins Hardware.

Wally's Garage came up with a very fine finish, coming up from fifth place to finish in second place. They took three games from Penn. R. R. Tuesday night to account for their fine finish. This Wally's Garage team proves to be pretty tough in the final stanza, so the rest of the teams are going to have to be on their guard throughout the remaining contest. Penn. R. R. finished way down the ladder in ninth place. Taylor & Messick had their hands full with Hobbs Newsstand and chose Tuesday night to fall apart, losing three games to the Newsstand team. With a chance to again take over the lead and win it all, Taylor & Messick could muster but one game to their credit, though G. Collins was trying to keep them alive by rolling a very good 550 series, with a good 202 game. G. Hobbs aided the Newsstand team with a fine 201 game.

Acme was knocked back down the list with a strong Jarrell Fuel showing. Acme, tho, had a chance for the title, but like Taylor & Messick, could only capture one game. D. Hayman was one reason they couldn't handle the Jarrell Fuel team. Hayman rolled a superb 597 series and a grand 212 game to lead all the departments this week.

Hamilton Fund split with McKnatt Funeral Home Tuesday night to finish in sixth place. Hamilton Fund got fine assists from J. Bogden with a fine 532 series, and J. Case with a good 523 series, including a nice 201 game.

In a summary of the first two thirds, we find that four men have bowled over the magic 600 mark thus far this season. Two of these men have bowled over this mark at least twice. They are: D. Hayman (607-639); K. Layton (623-623-603-614); H. Wheeler (612), and R. Gray (604).

Leading in the high individual game department so far are: K. Layton (256), G. Collins (246), and J. Bogden (242).

Fleming's Old Reliable Drug Store; Augustus Dickerson, cordwood. (Editorial note: The drugstore was later Sharp & Fleming and the building is next to The First National Bank. The Maryland Steamboat Company left Denton every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at noon, arriving in Baltimore at 4 a.m. The P. B. & W. Railroad had four mainline passenger trains, each way, of course, with one an express from Harrington to Porter's Newark, and Baltimore, by-passing Wilmington. The D. M. & V. Railroad had two round trips daily to Rehoboth, with connections at Georgetown for Franklin City, Va. Connections: At Porter, in Newark & Delaware City Railroad. At Townsend, with Queen Anne's Kent Railroad; at Clayton, with Delaware & Chesapeake Railroad and Baltimore and Delaware Bay Railroad. At Harrington, with Delaware, Maryland & Virginia Railroad. At Seaford, with Cambridge & Seaford Railroad. At Delmar with New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk, Wicomico & Pocomoke, and Peninsula Railroad. Charles E. Pugh, general manager; J. R. Wood, general passenger agent.

Editorial note: No connection is mentioned for Greenwood; hence, one can assume the Queen Anne's Railroad had not been built. We would like to have any data on this railroad. Next week we will carry information from Harrington Enterprise, of June 30, 1887. Since the newspaper carries Vol. 4, No. 51, it is presumed the first issue of the newspaper was published the first week in July, 1883.

Army Nurse Corps Celebrates 67th Anniversary

The Army Nurse Corps launched "Operation Registered Nurses," an appeal to nurses to serve their Nation to coincide with the 67th Anniversary of the Corps during the month of February, it was announced by Sergeant Walter R. Frazier, local Army Recruiter.

United States Army Nurses are currently providing excellent care and attention to hospitalized members of the Armed Forces in Vietnam.

The percentage of men losing their lives as a result of battle injuries is the lowest of any war-time period in history, according to Sergeant Frazier.

"But," the Sergeant continued, "there are far too few Army nurses, and, as casualties mount, Army nurses may not be able to provide the same excellent care."

The United States Army has care for returning casualties." The United States Army has been forced to strip its hospitals around the world to meet the pressing and increasing need for combat nurses in Vietnam. As a result, it now lacks sufficient nurses in the United States to care for returning casualties.

A critical need exists in the all-officer Corps for registered nurses between the ages of 20 and 35. Interested young men and women are urged to write or visit Sergeant Frazier at 218 S. Governor's Avenue, Dover, Delaware or to call him at 736-6937 to obtain additional information about the Army Nurse Corps and its guaranteed assignment program.

and its recommendations. Dr. Kleinmann served as NEA staff consultant to the committee which held hearings in Dover early in December.

Thomas also has called a special meeting of all local association officers, county association officers, building representatives, and all interested DSEA members for Tuesday evening, February 13, 7:30 p.m., Dover.

"The purpose of this open meeting will be to 'air the report' and give our members and local leaders an opportunity to ask questions and make recommendations to DSEA in terms of what course of action should be taken. We hope to have an expert from NEA with us at this meeting as well," Thomas concluded.

The Board of Directors, DSEA, has a scheduled meeting Feb. 28, at which time official action will be taken.

Marine Corps 120-Day Delay Program

The Marine Corps Recruiting Office in Dover announces that high school seniors will be afforded the opportunity to enlist in the U.S. Marine Corps' 120 Day Delay Program.

This program enables a high school senior to enlist in the Marine Corps while still in school. Upon graduation he will leave for active duty within 120 days and not before his graduation.

Other advantages of the program are that the 120 days delay in going on active duty will be credited towards the completion of his total military service obligation. Also the 120 day period is credited for pay and promotion.

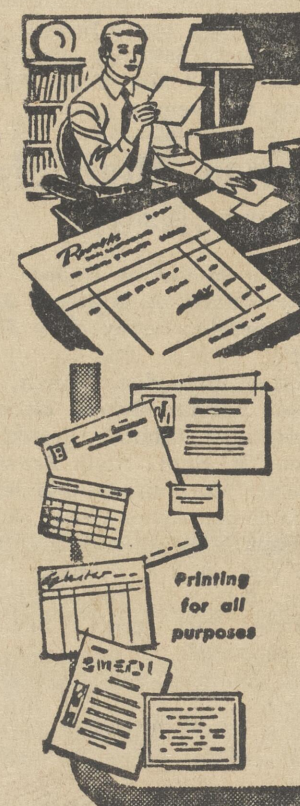

By taking advantage of the program the young man immediately becomes exempt from call by the selective service. The delay also provides ample time for personal affairs before reporting for active duty.

Anyone desiring further information on the 120 Day Delay Program or other Marine Corps Programs may contact S/Sgt. Charles D. Peak, at 237 W. Lookerman St., Dover, or phone 674-4191.

of Gothic cathedrals; the Brooklyn Roebing Bridge, said to be the starting point for major long-span bridge designs of the 20th century; Robert Maillart's three-hinged arches and how they behave in unusual forms; and the purity of structure used as aesthetic expression in such structures as the Lincoln Center for the performing arts in New York and Rotterdam's new water treatment plant.

The lecture is jointly sponsored by the departments of art history and civil engineering. It is open to the public without charge.
