Fifty persons have applied for positions as lay meat inspectors with the State Department of Poultry and Animal Health, said E. S. Biddle, department director, this week.

Following examinations this past Wednesday, Biddle added he hoped to hire four persons to start schooling in April. Work is scheduled to start July 1.

Biddle explained the new employees would inspect only red meats since poultry processing plants are inspected by representatives of the federal government. "However," he commented, "we may find some small poultry plant needing state inspection."

The agricultural department also seeks three full-time veterinarians. Dr. Ernest Symington will be chief inspector.

Under a bill, signed by Gov. Terry Dec. 28, 1967, livestock designated for slaughter in commercial establishments, with meat to be sold only within the state, will be given state inspection. Meat crossing state lines has federal inspections.

Home Conference On Falling Set For Wednesday

Teaching how to fall in case of an accident will be the principal topic of a home conference for community leaders.

Miss Nancy E. Pierce, physical education instructor at Christiana Senior High School, will present a program on how to fall and avoid injury. Miss Pierce says that many times people fall and are not injured simply because they know how to land safely. On the other hand, many people do fall and are critically injured simply because they do not know how to absorb the shock of a fall when it happens.

George Fric, Executive Secretary and Manager of Allied Construction Industries of Delaware, will discuss physical causes and cures of falls, which will include construction faults in the home as well as in public places.

Dr. Forrest Calico, flight surgeon of the Dover Air Force Base, will discuss causes of falls. He believes that many times the emotions of individuals are the cause of accidents and his presentation will touch how we can recognize emotional upsets and do something before the injury occurs.

Alexander Rand, director of First Aid for the Delaware Chapter, American Red Cross, will cover first aid for falls. Mr. Rand believes that many times people are more severely injured by the way the injured are cared for, which many times greatly increases the recovery time for an accident victim.

Dr. Maynard Mires, health officer for Kent County Health Unit, will be the moderator of a panel on preventing falls at home and in public.

The Hon. Elbert N. Carvel will address the conference during lunch. Mr. Carvel is vice president for Sussex County for the Delaware Safety Council.

Accidental poisoning and recreational safety will also be topics covered with the community leaders during the conference.

Boating, swimming, hunting, and camping will be covered as part of the information given to the leaders.

Col. Charles G. Lamb, commanding officer for the Delaware State Police, will present the problems associated with vacation travel. Since Delaware is inhabited by vacation travelers during the summer, Col. Lamb believes that many accidents are caused by this increased travel.

The conference will be held at the Capital Grange Hall on South Governors Avenue on Wednesday, March 6 and will be open to the public.

Caesar Rodney School News

The Caesar Rodney Junior High School Basketball team closed out a very successful season with a 28-21 win over Air Base Junior High School on Thursday, February 22.

This was the 7th win in 8 ball games for the Jr. Raiders. Their only loss came early in the season to Seaford Junior High. The Jr. Riders were paced by leading scorer Mike Wright who finished the season with a 10 point average. Bill Fisher, Reggie Collins, Bill Jardin, Randy Fox and leading rebounder Tom Harmon all played important roles in helping to fashion a winning season. The team was coached by Anthony Brunwick.

Judith Burgess Pledges Sorority

Miss Judith A. Burgess, daughter of Mrs. Louise R. Burgess, Harrington Avenue Extended, Harrington, and Winston C. Burgess, Fleming Street, Harrington, has pledged Chi Omega Fraternity for women at Roanoke College, Salem, Va.

Chi Omega, founded at the University of Arkansas in 1895, has more than 80,000 members. The fraternity's philanthropy is the publication of research studies in the social science fields.

Miss Burgess, a freshman, was graduated from Harrington Special School District.

And How Is Your Seat?

Chairs, chairs everywhere but not a "comfy" one in sight! It's a common complaint. Buy comfort the next time you shop for a chair, recommends Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

The best check for comfort is the simple test of sitting; however, any chair will feel good after a hectic shopping trip. Testing chairs can be like testing perfumes; after you've tried one or two, they all begin to seem alike. Also, what feels good for a few minutes in a display room might be impossibly uncomfortable for long sitting intervals in your home.

Research shows that you're most comfortable in a sitting position when your feet rest comfortably on the floor and there is no pressure on the underpart of the knee. The seat should be slightly shaped to the curve of the buttocks and the back support should be tilted backwards and curved to cradle the spine area. A place to rest the head and arm supports will also add comfort.

All chairs should stand squarely on the floor and the legs should be adequate for the chair size. Give it a thorough check: look behind, inside, and under the chair to see how it's made. If unexposed areas are not finished, it's a good clue to inferior craftsmanship.

Nails should never be used to hold joints together; they simply won't do the job. Doweled mortise and tendon joints assure fine quality. A dowel is a wooden pin that fits into holes in the pieces to be joined; it gives rigidity to the chair. A tendon is a rectangular projection which is covered with glue and inserted into the mortise or hole. Corner blocks glued and screwed between the corners of the chair bottoms also give strength to the chair. They're a mark of fine quality.

Always inspect the finish of the chair in a good light and run your hand across the top to detect any rough spots. Know the different kinds of woods used in chairs. Read the labels to be sure you're getting the wood you're paying for and not the name of a finish.

Consider the maintenance and cleaning. Will the chair be hard to dust? Does the finish resist water and alcohol?

Judging the quality of an upholstered chair is an even greater challenge since seven to ten different layers are hidden. You have to rely on the store's recommendations: so be choosy!

The chair's tufting is usually the best clue to quality. Miss Morris explains that most manufacturers will not spend time tailoring an inferior chair. Fabric patterns should be matched at the seams and centered on the back of the chair and cushions. Look for wells that are smooth and straight and hems or pleats that hang straight.

Cushions should fit tightly into the seat corners and should be reversible so wear can be distributed. Never compromise at a chair sale, cautions Miss Morris, on a chair simply because it is a "bargain." Some sales are legitimate; some are not. Odd pieces from suites are generally reduced from their original price. Furniture that can't be matched or from a discontinued line are often genuinely reduced. Pieces used in displays are often reduced and sales are often given to make room for new stock.

Junior Broiler Program Will Begin In March

Delaware's 21st annual Junior Broiler Program will get underway with distribution of day-old chicks on March 22, says Ray Lloyd, extension poultryman at the University of Delaware's Georgetown Substation.

Each contestant will receive 50 chicks donated by hatcheries and service clubs in the state. Youngsters will care for the chicks eight weeks, then enter their seven best cockerels for judging.

Contest finals will be held May 15 and 16 at the Delaware state fairgrounds, Harrington. Trophies and cash awards will be presented to the winners and a free barbecue will be prepared for contestants and their parents. Training meetings will be held in each county to advise contestants on raising their chicks.

Over 130 youngsters took part in last year's Junior Broiler Program. Grand champion honors were awarded to John Lowe, a Newark 4-H'er.

The Junior Broiler program is sponsored by the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association. Lawrence Justice, Laurel, DPIA director, is chairman of the event.

Lions Win Henlopen Mat Title

Harrington High School's wrestling Lions, coached by Tom Muehleisen won the Henlopen Conference wrestling championship Saturday afternoon and evening at Delmar High. The Lions have been up and down all season and will probably end the mat campaign with a 500 record. They were "up" at Delmar and in upsetting the host defending-champion Wildcats, they assured themselves of a satisfying year, no matter what happens in the concluding dual meet with Delmar and in the state meet.

Only four schools in the 12-team conference have mat teams but there is plenty of interest, both adult and student, in those four areas.

In first-round competition Harrington took a giant step toward the title by eliminating Delmar matmen in the first three classes. Jim Redden (95), Chuck Hurd (103), and Norman Baynard (112) won decisions from Hearne, Hastings and Tingle, respectively.

Terry Donovan (120) pinned Moore of Millsboro, Roger Klapp (127) outpointed Pimentello of Dover Air and Allen Greenly (133) flattened Theis of Millsboro. This had given Greenly a lot of trouble one week earlier.

John Brown (138) dropped a decision to Gibson of Delmar. Steve Welch (145), outpointed Bigelow of Dover Air. Roger Moore (154) beat Wykes of Millsboro, David Hurd (165) pinned Devine of Dover Air and Bill Webb (180) finished off Pleva of Dover Air. Lennie Donovan, the Lions heavyweight, gave away about 40 pounds and lost to Painter of Dover Air.

Ten of twelve Lion entries were thus assured of first or second places, a berth in the state meet at the University of Delaware and the Lions had a good lead toward the Henlopen crown.

Jim Redden (95) tabbed an upset when he pinned Bartlett of Dover Air in 3:06 in the finals. Bartlett's record was far more impressive than Redden's but the first-year Lion matman was not to be denied.

Chuck Hurd (103), a champ at 95 pounds in '67, won as expected over Fred Camblin, of Dover Air. Norman Baynard (112) is strong and willing but inexperienced. His rival, Schneider of Dover Air, is undefeated and wanted a quick pin. Baynard wouldn't surrender. Schneider looked at his coach after falling repeatedly to flatten the Lion, shrugged his shoulders helplessly and settled for a decision.

Mike Adams of Delmar (112) tried hard to pin Terry Donovan of H.H.S. and get extra points (Continued on Page 8)

Woman Killed Near Felton, Mate Hunted

A woman was killed at her home near Felton Sunday night, according to state police.

The Dover troop identified the victim as Della Harris, 55.

Officers said Monday they were looking for her common-law husband, Abraham Stanley, 49, in connection with the incident.

Other details of the incident were incomplete as investigating officers had returned to the scene Monday morning and were unavailable for questioning.

Police said the woman was found at her home on Kent County 385 at 6:40 p.m. She was taken to Kent General Hospital in the Felton Fire Company ambulance and pronounced dead on arrival at 7:45.

Police said they believed the woman was stabbed to death, but were awaiting autopsy reports before making a final decision.

Reduction in 1968 Potato Plantings Recommended

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recommended that growers of early summer and fall crop potatoes plant 5 per cent less acreage than they did last year, and that late summer plantings be reduced by 4 per cent.

These recommendations are made by USDA's consumer and marketing service, in "1968 Acreage-Marketing Guides, Summer and Fall Potatoes," AMG-61. The guides are developed to help growers plan production to meet marketing needs.

Over production of 1967 fall crop potatoes caused grower prices to drop to extremely low levels. Production of 1967 fall crop potatoes was 15 per cent above the 1962-66 average, and prices in the present marketing season have been 19 per cent below the 1962-66 average.

On Jan. 8, 1968, USDA initiated two programs to strengthen grower prices:

(1) A payment program to encourage diversion of potatoes to starch, flour, and feed; and (2) a limited program to buy potatoes for distribution to schools and other outlets. A third program, to buy dehydrated potatoes for needy families, was announced on Feb. 1, 1968.

On Feb. 8, payment rates under the diversion program were increased because of the slow movement of potatoes from heavy storage holdings and because prices were continuing to decline.

Most of the major producing states are now participating in the diversion program and grower prices have stabilized if not improved. For example, in one major producing area, prices increased from $1 per hundredweight in early February to a minimum of $1.15 by mid-February.

High yields were partly responsible for the record 1967 fall storage crop, but grower plantings, which exceeded acreage guide recommendations by 75,000 acres, are believed to have caused more than half the oversupply.

Supplies for the 1968-69 season should be in balance with consumer needs, C&MS analysts said, if production is in line with the guide and marketings follow a normal time pattern.

The guides for individual states range from the same acreage planted in 1967 to a 15 per cent reduction from last year. With average yields on the recommended acreages, production of summer and fall potatoes combined would be 7 per cent less than the 1967 surplus crop. The fall crop makes up about three-fourth of the total annual production.

The total 1968 potato planting recommended by C & MS, for winter and spring as well as summer and fall crops, is 1,429,160 acres. This is 4 per cent less than the acreage planted in 1967. With average yields, total production from the recommended acreage would be 286 million hundredweight, compared with the 1967 output of 306 million hundredweight.

Demand for fresh table potatoes in 1968-69 is not expected to vary much from the current season. Use of potatoes for processing into chips and frozen and dehydrated products is expected to continue an upward trend, but the overall per capita use of potatoes will likely show little change.

Father and Son Reunited After 40 Yrs.

By Albert C. Price

Earl McNichols had a reunion with his only son, Pearly Wilson McNichols, last week after approximately 40 years.

McNichols, 108 Dorman Street, said he and his son became separated as a result of a fire which completely destroyed their home in Columbus, Ga.

While he went looking for employment, his wife, Estelle, and their son, who was only three years old, went to live with her mother on a small farm just outside of Chester, S. C.

For the next two years, McNichols traveled quite extensively, working at part-time jobs and sending what money he could spare to his wife and son in hopes they could rebuild another home and be together again; however, misfortune struck again and he was notified his wife had passed away some months before and his mother-in-law and son had moved from Chester, leaving no forwarding address.

Last week, to his surprise, his son came to Harrington to visit him, informing him he secured his address through the Delaware State Department of Public Welfare.

McNichols said after a two day visit, his son, who is married and lives in Gastonia, N. C., where he works as a sales representative, has invited him to live with him. He said he plans to leave Harrington about next November to go spend his remaining days with his son after taking care of his business affairs here.

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne Holberton

As Lent starts, many people begin to plan more of their main dishes around the "big four"—fish, cheese, eggs and beans. All are mighty good eating at any season, but they are particularly popular in the menu picture on meatless days. These foods are quite versatile and are usually among the low-cost items in the grocery store.

Lent comes from an Anglo-Saxon word meaning spring, and is the forty days preceding Easter Sunday. During these forty days many people abstain from eating meat on all or certain days of the Lenten period. However, a number of religious groups have greatly relaxed their attitudes toward eating meat during the Lenten season. Nevertheless, many people still practice the teaching of the past.

If foods are selected wisely, meatless meals can provide ample supplies of high quality protein, iron and the B-vitamins, thiamine and riboflavin.

Fish and cheese have less iron than meat, therefore, when the meal is centered around these two, it's a good idea to serve plenty of iron rich dark green vegetables such as broccoli, spinach, etc. Whole wheat enriched cereals also give additional iron.

Eggs and cheese are an excellent meatless combination. Both foods are good sources of high quality protein, and egg yolks are rich in iron. They do a good job of supplying the missing iron.

Dried beans and peas offer a protein which is not complete, so team them with milk, cheese or eggs.

The plentiful foods for March are marked by a varied assortment of protein rich favorites and should help greatly with the job of planning Lenten menus. Peanuts and peanut products will head the list, followed by potatoes, eggs, dry split peas, pork, and milk and dairy products.

As for this week—vegetable supplies are a bit short and quality needs to be watched. Snow, frost and violent winds have done heavy damage to Florida's fresh vegetables, unfortunately. This is the season when Florida is the main supplier of fresh produce. Up in price are loose tomatoes, cauliflower, acorn squash, kale, egg plant, and green beans. However, special sales may relieve this gloomy picture a bit and offer opportunities to save.

The only change of any significance in meat prices is in pork. Center cut pork loin roast, center cut chops, rolled sausage and second grade bacon all went up in price. Beef prices are steady and so are lamb prices—steady and high.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hughes and sons, Billy, Jeff and David, of Kirkwood Gardens, Wilmington, were weekend guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reed Hughes. Mr. Hughes is remaining this week with his parents.

Mrs. Sallie Knox, of Viola, is a patient in the Kent General Hospital, Dover.

David Wood, a former Felton boy, who's home is now in Harrington, with his mother, Mrs. Wilma Wood, is home from Vietnam.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Hammond visited Mrs. Hammond's mother, Mrs. Walter Cole in Goldsboro, Md. Saturday evening.

Samuel Walters Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Moore and son, David, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Swain and daughter, Bobbie Ann. Elmer Poynter is a patient in the Kent General Hospital, Dover.

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles M. Moyer and son, Michael, visited the Rev. Moyer's classmate, the Rev. James Friesner, in Washington, D. C., on Tuesday. They were Tuesday overnight guests of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moyer, Bladensburg, Md.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Naomi Renner, two sons and two daughters. Services were held Monday morning at Lock Haven, Pa. Interment was in Cedar Hill Cemetery, Mackeyville, Pa.

Century Club News

Conservation was the subject of the program at the meeting of the Harrington New Century Club on Tuesday afternoon when the president, Mrs. James D. Moore presided at the business session. She made several announcements as to coming events as follows:

The date of the card party previously announced for March 18 has been changed to Wednesday evening, March 27. Members are asked to give articles to be used as prizes and to bring them on March 12 or March 26—the two meetings prior to the party. The price of the tickets will be $1.

Mrs. Moore repeated the announcement made by Mrs. Fulton Downing at the last meeting regarding the plans for the program on March 12. Members are asked to assemble at the club house at 11:30 a.m. to drive to the Blue Coat Inn at Dover, for a buffet luncheon, after which they will go to the new police headquarters for a tour of the building and a talk on a very timely subject, "Protection In Our Own Homes". Mrs. Downing will be assisted by Mrs. James Fair, Mrs. Norman Oliver, Mrs. Abner Hickman, Mrs. L. H. Rogers, and Mrs. William Sneath. All drivers who invite friends to go in their cars, and all members who desire transportation will please call Mrs. Downing, 398-8341 or Mrs. Moore, 398-3421 so that reservations can be made by March 8.

The rummage sale in the club house on March 8 and 9 will open each day at 10 a.m. and close on Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday at 1 p.m.

Mrs. J. L. Brinster, who was chairman of the program of the day, introduced Walter F. Gabel, of the Administrative Staff of the State Forestry Commission, who gave a most interesting and informative address on the work of that department where he has been working for the past twenty one years. About fifty colleges and universities have courses in Forestry but only about twenty five such institutions are accredited in this line. He spoke of three main areas in that work which are: 1. Protection against forest fire. 2. Nurseries for the propagation of trees through seedlings. 3. Woodland management which is advisory and free to those who desire it. He said seedlings in quantities are given on certain conditions for the purpose of reforestation. Winter is the most active season for this work because trees can be ex-

Poems from Paradise Pastures
 By W. Cliff Miller

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW

When the March winds start to blow
 Dumping the last of winter's snow
 Then we know that spring time can't be far away, when:

IN DREAMS

To the highways some will go
 And some to the jungles wild
 Some to the frozen arctic shore
 And some to climates mild.

Each with a restless wonderlust
 Seeking some inner crave
 But following always the urge to do
 Before they go to the grave.

Man has always wanted that something more,
 Something he'd never had,
 Maybe it's wealth, or worldly fame,
 Maybe it's good or bad.

To all he seemed a contented man,
 In the niche he was chosen to be,
 But each down deep in his inner self,
 Holds a yearning we cannot see.

Man always wanted to do the thing,
 He dreamed he would do some day,
 But it proved to be ever a "Will O' the Wisp"
 That lured him along life's way.

He waited and yearned from youth to age,
 Expecting to follow the urge,
 But before his secret dream came true,
 They chanted his funeral dirge.

Letter to the Editor

NOT TOO LATE
 Rep. G. R. Quillen

It was with great interest I read "The Beginning" by G. B. S. in last week's issue. The sad part about the article is that there is truth written in those few words. It is a shame that G. B. S. had to hear it from an Iron Curtain escapee. (I assume he was this).

I must state that this is not the first step (Registering of fire arms) that we in the United States have had toward totalitarian form of government. I could name many but space would not allow. Evertime Washington sends us, the Delawarean, a gift of money there is a requirement attached. This means reports to D. C. and someone to oversee the spending in each state. We are paying McDowell $15,000 a year to try to make Delaware the first state to be lost as a state. To name a few areas where D. C. has its hands are education, welfare, hospitals, roads, driver education, T.V., you name it, D. C. has it. D. C. wants the same text books in all the schools in the U. S.

For the short time I have been in Dover as a representative I have been fighting such things. Another item of great concern to me is state operated kindergartens. I will not dwell on this item, but think of all the nations that have had State-owned kindergartens and it will cause you to think four times before saying yes, we need them.

Like G. B. S. we can all learn a great deal from people who have arrived from Iron Curtain countries. Most of us are well aware of the 1940's, it can and is occurring here.

I hope we can stop totalitarian rule before it gets worse.

Glaucoma Can Be Cured

Glaucoma incurable if it is discovered in its early stages and treatment is begun at once. Unfortunately there are some people over 40 who have glaucoma and do not know it, so they are not receiving the proper care.

Glaucoma is a condition in which the fluid which normally flows through the inside of the eyeball cannot drain out. It builds up and begins to press against the nerve fibers and blood vessels of the retina and the optic nerve. Gradually as this increased pressure crushes the nerve fibers and the optic nerve, the individual begins to lose some of his sight. Total blindness may result if the glaucoma remains untreated. Although glaucoma can occur at any age, it is more apt to occur to those who are over 40. Glaucoma is not contagious but it does seem to "run" in families.

There are several kinds of glaucoma. The most common form is the chronic simple kind which creeps up on a person so gradually he is unaware of it. Therefore, it is a wise precautionary measure to have your eyes checked for glaucoma periodically, especially if anyone in your family ever had this disease.

Glaucoma can be easily detected by a simple painless test with a tonometer, a small instrument which measures the pressure within the eyes and shows whether or not it is normal. Both eyes should be tested since glaucoma can occur in only one eye. The test for both eyes takes about three minutes.

If your ophthalmologist should discover that you have glaucoma, treatment to reduce the high pressure and check the condition can be started promptly. Adults over 40 should have their eyes tested at least every two years since the condition of the eye changes as a person gets older.

The Army Guarantee

An Army recruiter reports that he spends much of his time telling people about "The Army Guarantee." He considers it the best deal a young man can get anywhere, as far as his military obligation is concerned.

First, he explains that the Army's guarantee is not just a figure of speech or a slogan, but an actual guarantee in writing.

It is assurance that a young man will get the training he wants, and is qualified for, before he enlists. He can make his choice from more than 300 jobs for which the Army offers training and then qualifying tests are taken to make sure he has the aptitude required for that particular training. If he doesn't qualify in that, he has a second choice.

In either case, if he qualifies, he has the guarantee before his enlistment. If he is drafted, however, the guarantee does not apply.

For more information, see the Army Recruiter located at 218 S. Governor's Ave., Dover, or phone 736-6937 or 674-1360.

Prosperity's Killing Us

A disturbing bit of information that came to light recently was that, despite the great strides in medical science in this country, there has been no significant lengthening of life for males since 1954 and only a very small increase for females.

The best guess is that we're too prosperous and too productive and we don't get enough exercise.

The farmers produce food at prices we can afford to pay to eat high on the hog. (It's true, even though many housewives will disagree). Except for the hot dog she boils, the lady of the house has the gadgets and she knows how so that she prepares delights for our palates and we don't have enough will power to push ourselves away from the table, even though we need the exercise.

Health and medical care is now the nation's third largest industry, amounting to $49 billion a year.

In the New England Journal of Medicine, Dr. William H. Forbes suggests that the reason this huge expenditure and the accumulated advances in medical knowledge lately haven't done much to prolong life is that our nutrition is too good.

"Several studies have shown that young rats on a diet that is well-balanced and adequate in vitamins but deficient enough in calories to slow down the rate of growth will live much longer than rats fed all they want," Dr. Forbes said.

Then he called attention to the lack of exercise. The average housewife gets more exercise at home cleaning house and tending children than her husband gets in his air conditioned office with secretaries running his papers back and forth or a worker in an automated factory who merely watches a machine and occasionally pushes a button.

If we can't restrain ourselves with the knife and fork, we in Canton ought to take advantage of some of the city's fine recreational facilities with our golf courses, parks and new YMCA building.

Let's resolve to get out there and work ourselves into trim shape this winter. Can't start for a while, though. Too busy.

Hmmm, wonder if the wife is fixing those pork chops for tonight?

Government Aid Critics Have Hand Out, Too

Just about everybody these days receives government aid of some kind. Yet it is interesting to note that frequently those who benefit most are the loudest critics of what they call creeping socialism and are the staunchest advocates of rugged individualism.

The following legendary account of the attitude of many Americans is taken from the Lake City, Iowa, Graphic:

It seems a young man lived with his parents in a public housing development. He attended public school, rode the free school bus, and participated in the free lunch program. He entered the Army and upon discharge kept his national life insurance. He then enrolled in the State University, working part time in the State capitol to supplement his GI check.

Upon graduation, he married a public health nurse and bought a farm with an FHA Small Business Administration loan to go into business. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with the aid of a GI loan and obtained emergency feed from the Government.

Later he put part of his land in the soil bank and the payments helped pay off his debt. His parents lived comfortably on the ranch with their social security and old-age assistance checks. REA lines supplied electricity.

The Government helped clear the land. The county agent showed him how to terrace it, then the Government paid part of the cost of a pond and stocked it with fish. The government guaranteed him a sale for his farm products.

Books from the public library were delivered to his door. He banked money which a Government agency insured. His children grew up, entered public schools, ate free lunches, rode free buses, played in public parks and swam in public pools. The man owned an automobile so he favored the Federal-aid highway program.

Then, one day he wrote to his Congressman:

"I wish to protest excessive Government spending and high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I think people should stand on their own two feet without expecting Government handouts. I am opposed to any socialistic trend and I demand a return to the principles of our Constitution." — Raymondville (Tex.) Chronicle-News.

Disease of The Kidney Can Be Treated

Normal healthy kidneys extract about two ounces of waste products from the blood every 24 hours and excrete these substances with water as urine. They also control the body's water content by working with the respiratory system, the skin and the digestive tract.

There are a number of kidney diseases, one of the most common being acute glomerular nephritis, which is usually a children's disease. Generally this follows an upper respiratory infection caused by a streptococcus. The patient usually has a high fever which lasts several days and then it drops to about 100, where it stays for about two weeks. The urine will be bloody at first and then it turns a sort of dirty brown. Your doctor will, as a rule, prescribe antibiotics to counteract the infection and will emphasize the importance of bed rest.

Nephrosis is another common disorder of the kidney. It causes a gradual waterlogging of the body and gives the whole body a bloated appearance. Bed rest is essential, but no specific treatment is known, although a high protein diet and adequate vitamins are ordinarily prescribed.

Pus in the urine, called pyuria, is not a specific disease of the kidney, but is a symptom of an infection of the kidney or the bladder. Symptoms of these infections can vary from a fever as high as 104 degrees with chills and sweats to simply a feeling of lethargy. It is important to have this condition treated promptly by your doctor, since the longer the infection lasts, the more difficult it is to cure.

Backpain is not a usual symptom of kidney disease or urinary tract infection.

Sometimes after extensive surgery or a severe injury the kidneys stop excreting urine. When this happens, there is a device called an artificial kidney which removes the blood's waste products and keeps the patient alive until his own kidneys start to function again.

Seaman Ralph L. Currie

Seaman Apprentice Ralph L. Currie, USCG, son of Donald R. Currie, of 616 N. W. Front St., Milford, was graduated from basic training at the Coast Guard Recruit Training Center, Cape May, N. J.

Wayne R. Paul, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Paul, Route 3, Dover, was promoted to Army sergeant upon completion of the Ft. Benning, Ga., Infantry Non-commissioned Officer Candidate course, Feb. 5.

During his 12-weeks of training, the sergeant received instruction in leadership, light weapons, infantry tactics, map reading and communications. His selection for the course was the result of a specialized Army program that grants rapid promotions to outstanding individuals. He entered the Army in March, 1967.

Airman First Class Marshall L. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jackson, of 133 Mispillion St., Harrington, has been recognized for helping his unit earn the U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit award.

Airman Jackson, an aircraft pneumatic repairman in a detachment of the Atlantic Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center of the Military Airlift Command at Lajes Field, Azores, will wear a distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration.

The unit was cited for maintaining a sustained search and rescue commitment with a perfect flying safety record. The airman is a graduate of Harrington High School.

Wm. B. Anderson, Retired Mail Carrier, Dies

William B. Anderson, 67, of near here, died Wed., Feb. 21, at Abington (Pa.) Hospital after a short illness. Death was attributed to a heart attack, the family said.

Mr. Anderson, a member of Trinity Methodist Church, was retired. He had been a rural mail carrier for 42 years, and had retired in December, 1965.

He is survived by his sister, Mrs. Mary Williamson, of Harrington, and a brother, Benaiah T., of Abington.

Services were held Saturday afternoon at the McKnatt Funeral Home, 50 Commerce St., Harrington. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery.

Around Home with Jean H. Cranston

So many people are reportedly addicted to sleeping pills these days, that it is timely to consider the subject of sleep—and how to achieve it the natural way.

There is no need to emphasize that almost everybody requires the traditional "eight hours per night" so the body can restore and recharge itself after the day's activities. Sleep is also vital because acute fatigue can damage body cells; even normal fatigue can adversely affect an entire day's performance. So make it a habit to get enough rest.

If you can't fall asleep within half an hour of going to bed, observe these sleep-inducing factors. First, don't eat too much before retiring; try warm milk instead of a Dagwood! Keep your bedroom cool, quiet and dark. Your bed should be comfortable and flat—which also aids posture. Have the sheets and blankets long enough to tuck around your neck so you are not in a draft. It may even be helpful to have your bedroom painted a soft blue or green. Some experts say that restful colors like these are a factor in ability to fall asleep.

FENCE TALK with George K. Vapaa

A quickie watershed tour will be made in southern Kent County before the spring cropping season breaks. Our Soil Conservation District supervisors would like to invite everyone interested in land drainage programs to help us make an inspection of work in progress. The date is Fri., March 1, starting from the Bridle Bit Restaurant, located on the dual highway between Harrington and the State Fairgrounds.

Many of us will gather for lunch at noon, a Dutch treat affair. But we will start the tour promptly at 1 p.m. and you can plan on finishing up by 4 p.m. The managers for the White-mare and Harrington-Beaverdam Tax Ditches have done a splendid job of maintaining the ditch banks on their newly completed system. We will also see several examples of new pipe crossings under the roads.

By 2 p.m. we should arrive at Woodenhawk bridge where construction has begun on the Marshy Hope Main Tax Ditch. Local residents are expressing amazement that the surface water is moving so well this early in the construction. Trees are being cleared and the draglines have made good progress under some rather miserable working conditions. We think you will be able to see enough from the roads, but bring your boots if you want to slog around in the mud.

We will work back toward Vernon along the Marshy Hope Main and then back in toward Harrington. On the north edge of town, and extending east and west, is the proposed Brown's Branch Tax Ditch. Interest for construction is high because of drainage problems for the city as well as for farmers. Here is a good example of what started as a hand-dug ditch years ago. It has gradually silted in to the point where the ditch no longer functions as it should.

Several of us will be driving and can take extra passengers. Call Fred Mott, one of the District supervisors, or me (736-1448) if you would like a ride. We believe the experience will be well worth the time you will spend away from the farm or your job.

Our extension office seemed unusually quiet last Monday morning. And along around 11 a.m., our secretary realized we weren't getting any incoming telephone calls. We could telephone anywhere, but no bells were ringing in the office.

At the same time we found that there was no heat coming from the office radiators. I said it was quiet—not quite. A building contractor was using a jack hammer on the floor below our offices. Part of the building is being remodeled for Sunday school rooms. Old inner walls are coming down, and new walls are being relocated elsewhere.

It seems that the jack hammer action caused several fuses to blow out. We're sorry if you were not able to reach us. We were there. Try us again.

Progress in subsurface irrigation can be reported by our agronomy staff at the University of Delaware. Few studies have enjoyed as much public attention in the early stages of development. For we found ourselves making rather crude trials after a speaker from Texas introduced the idea at a Farm and Home Week session.

To review. The advent of low cost plastic tubing tempted us to see if we can reduce the cost per acre of supplying irrigation water to crops. Dr. William Mitchell, our extension agronomist, used a cold punch method to make small holes at twelve inch intervals in the pipe. This was done as the pipe was buried some 18 inches deep using a mole-type plow. In operation, water is allowed to filter thru the small holes and by capillary action thru the surrounding soil. And the principle works.

But several questions are raised and call for further study in the greenhouse and laboratory. We need to know about changes in cultural practices, the effect of roots or soil on hole stoppage if any, variations needed in row spacing due to soil textural or other conditions, to mention only a few. More work is needed before we can recommend that farmers move into subsurface irrigation. We think the results to date look good, but if you go ahead with some trials, then you do so knowing there are risks. Further study should clear them up.

Seventh Day Adventist Church News

"Visitor's Day" will be held by the Sabbath School of the Harrington Seventh-day Adventist Church, Saturday morning, March 9, announced Debbie Shull, Sabbath School superintendent.

Members in all divisions of the Sabbath School will vie with each other in the effort to bring the largest number of guests for the occasion. Invitations have been given to former members and friends to be present for "Visitors Day" ceremonies. Both children and adults will participate in a program featuring the contributions the Sabbath School makes to a well-rounded life—mentally, socially and spiritually.

Traditionally, Adventists have placed much emphasis on organized Bible study. Sabbath schools were first conducted by the denomination in the years 1853 and 1854. Today Adventists operate some 30,000 such schools, with an enrollment of more than 1,300,000.

Seventh-day Adventist Sabbath School currently raise more than $1,000,000 each three months for the support of world missions activities. Other highlights of Sabbath School progress will be reported to members and friends who will attend the Saturday morning program.

A Tired American Speaks

The following editorial is by Alan McIntosh of the Rock County Herald, Luverne, Minn.

We believe you will like it:

I am a tired American.

I'm tired of being called the Ugly American.

I'm tired of having the world's panhandlers use my country as a whipping boy 365 days a year.

I am a tired American—weary of having American embassies and information centers stoned, burned, and sacked by mobs operating under orders from dictators who preach peace and breed conflict.

I am a tired American—choked up to here on this business of trying to intimidate our Government by placard, picket line, and sit-ins by the hordes of dirty unwashed who rush to man the barricades against the forces of law, order, and decency.

I am a tired American—weary of the beatniks who say they should have the right to determine what laws of the land they are willing to obey.

I am a tired American—fed up with the mobs of scabby-faced, long-haired youths and short-haired girls who claim they represent the "new wave" of America and who sneer at the old-fashioned virtues of honesty, integrity, and morality on which America grew to greatness.

I am a tired American—weary unto death of having my tax dollars go to dictators who play both sides against the middle with threats of what will happen if we cut off the golden stream of dollars.

I am a tired American nauseated by the lazy-do-nothings who wouldn't take a job if you drove them to and from work in a Rolls Royce . . .

I am a tired American—who is getting madder by the minute at the filth peddlers who have launched Americans in an obscenity race, who try to foist on us the belief that filth is an integral part of culture . . .

I am a tired American—weary of the bearded bums who tramp the picket lines and sit-ins—who see no evil in Castro, but sneer at President Johnson as a threat to peace.

I am a tired American—who has lost all patience with that Civil Rights group which is showing propaganda movies on college campuses from coast-to-coast—movies denouncing the United States, movies made in Communist China.

I am a tired American—who is angered by the self-righteous breastbeater critics of America, at home and abroad, who set impossible yardsticks for the United States; but who never apply the same standards to the French, the British, the Russians, the Chinese.

I am a tired American—who is weary of some Negro leaders, who, for shock purposes, scream four-letter words in church meetings.

I am a tired American—sickened by the slack-jawed bigots who wrap themselves in bed-sheets in the dead of night and roam the countryside looking for innocent victims.

I am a tired American—who dislikes clergymen who have made a career out of integration causes, yet send their own children to private schools.

I am a tired American—who resents those who try to peddle the beliefs in schools and colleges that capitalism is a dirty word and that free enterprise and private initiative are only synonyms for greed. They say they hate capitalism, but they are always right at the head of the line demanding their share of the American way of life.

I am a tired American—real tired of those who are trying to sell me the belief that America is not the greatest nation in the world—a generous-hearted nation—a nation dedicated to the policy of trying to help the "have not" achieve some of the good things that our system of free enterprise brought about.

I am a tired American—who gets a lump in his throat when he hears the "Star Spangled Banner" and who holds back tears when he hears those chilling high notes of the brassy trumpet when Old Glory reaches the top of the flag pole.

I am a tired American—who thanks a merciful Lord that he was lucky to be born an American citizen—a nation under God, with truly mercy and justice for all. — Mexico (Mo.) Evening Ledger.

Carpenter Ants Household Pest

If you notice small piles of unexplained sawdust in or around your home, you may be faced with an infestation of carpenter ants, says Dr. Jack Rowell extension entomologist at Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Speaking at the University of Delaware's annual Pest Control Short Course, Rowell explained that carpenter ants are a common pest here in the eastern United States. They attack almost any type of wood, including homes, wood frame buildings, telephone poles and fence posts.

In most cases, ants enter the wood through small surface cracks and tunnel into the soft interior where they live and breed, said Rowell. Porches, steps near and high moisture areas, especially vulnerable to carpenter ants.

Carpenter ants are usually black or dark red and are between one-quarter and one-half inch long. Unlike termites, however, they do not actually feed on wood. Ants can often be seen travelling to and from the nest, searching for food. These insects usually feed on sweet plant juices and on common household sweets such as sugar, honey and cake crumbs.

Carpenter ants are most active and usually cause the most damage during the summer months. In heated buildings, however, activity may begin in early spring and extend well into the late fall months.

Rowell said that many modern insecticides will provide complete control of the carpenter ant. Among the most effective are chlordane, dieldrin, lindane, malathion and DDT applied in solution or as dust.

In many instances, however, insecticide residue on runways will not wipe out the entire colony. Force insecticide dust into tunnels leading to the nest itself to achieve complete control, he advised.

There are two principal ways drugs can cause trouble: by the inherent toxicity of the compound and by an adverse reaction through an allergic type of reaction.

Toxicity may also result from overdosing which is why it is so important to follow the doctor's directions exactly. It is not necessarily true that if one pill is good for you, two pills are even better.

In some people inherent metabolic abnormalities make certain drugs toxic to them. Therefore, prescription drugs should never be taken without a doctor's supervision.

There are some very useful drugs which can cause an allergic reaction. One of the most common of these is penicillin. This reaction can be an inflammatory skin rash or a serum sickness of hives or swelling of various parts of the body or, most dangerous, an immediate allergic reaction. There are many other drugs which can cause equally dangerous or annoying allergic reactions.

The following points can not be stressed too strongly. When your doctor gives you a prescription for drugs, follow his directions for use exactly by taking the prescribed number of pills at the stated intervals.

Do not take drugs which have been prescribed for someone else. Even though your symptoms may appear similar to the illness the drugs were prescribed for, your doctor is the only one capable of determining this.

Sensitivity To Drugs Can Be Dangerous

The majority of the prescriptions written today are for drugs and vaccines which were not known fifteen years ago. The use of these drugs and vaccines has had a striking effect upon disease in the U.S. For example, diphtheria is hardly ever seen, pneumonia victims are usually confined to bed for only four or five days when the period used to be four or five weeks, and the tuberculosis death rate has dropped from 70,000 deaths in 1935 to less than 10,000 today.

However, these drugs which are so effective against disease also have a dangerous aspect. In certain people they can produce an adverse reaction. Therefore it is helpful to understand ways in which a drug can be harmful as well as useful.

Everybody is agog because an 18-year-old youth with a Ph. D. degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has been appointed an assistant professor of mathematics at Stanford University at a salary of $10,000 a year.

At 18, most young people are just graduating from high school. To get where Harvey Friedman is now, they would be looking forward to four years in college and another five or six years in graduate school. They would be in their late 20s, at least, before they would have a position comparable to his.

If the educational system were more sympathetic to genius, we might have a lot more Harvey Friedmans—and be a richer society for it. But the grind has been routinized so that geniuses are required to plod along pretty much at the same speed as the dullards. A Harvey Friedman with a Ph. D. at 18 is then viewed as an oddity.

Genius bloomed more freely before the days of mass education. John Keats translated the "Aeneid" from Greek to English when he was 15 and wrote some of his best poems before he turned 20. John Stuart Mill could read Greek when he was 8 and at that age tutored his younger brothers and sisters.

Perhaps Harvey Friedman can set a healthy precedent for the 20th century. — El Cajon Daily Californian.

Epilepsy-Altered Electrical Pattern Of The Brain

Epilepsy is a medical condition which means an altered electrical pattern of the brain. If this results in an excessive electrical discharge, that is, if the brain sends more stimulation to the nerves of the body than is needed, excessive activity of the muscles stimulated by these nerves results and a "seizure" occurs.

Epilepsy takes many forms which vary all the way from no symptoms through attacks so severe that the patient has to be hospitalized in order to save his life. Epilepsy may change during a patient's lifetime. It may be active only during a short period or it may clear up completely or it may change from one type to another.

Epilepsy can be caused by anything that affects the metabolism of the brain cells. This can be due to faulty development of the brain before birth, injury to the brain during birth, complications from a childhood disease, head injuries, brain infections, brain tumors, faulty circulation of the blood, poisoning or some metabolic disorders. Often, no known cause is found.

Although epilepsy itself is not inherited, the susceptibility to it may be.

The diagnosis of epilepsy is based on a history of the patient's symptoms, a physical examination and an electroencephalograph which is a measurement of the brain's electrical pattern. A number of medicines which help tremendously in controlling epileptic seizures have been developed. In a majority of patients, medication can stop the seizures completely. For a large proportion of the others, this medication can reduce the seizures to such an extent that it is possible for the epileptic to lead a normal life and to earn a living.

Proper Use Of Corn Planter Is Important

When the time comes for spring planting, only proper use of an efficient corn planter will get your row crops off to the best possible start, says Thomas H. Williams, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware.

Williams explains that planting more seeds than your soil will support usually decreases the productivity of individual plants. If you plant less seed than the soil will support, your land and planting time are partially wasted.

Accurate seed placement will do more to assure you of good yields than any other single mechanical operation in your entire farming operation, says Williams. In planting, you cannot afford anything less than the best equipment together with the most accurate information on its proper use.

Among the most common planter misuses, Williams cites worn seed knockers, seed cutoff pawls and springs worn or mismatched seed plates; planting too fast; wrong size drive wheels and slipage; and poorly graded seed. Other planter abuses include calibration at slower than normal planting speed and chemical and trash accumulation in seed hoppers, he concludes.

Lion Cagers Rout Delmar, Vacate Cellar

Harrington High's basketball Lions routed visiting Delmar 75-54 on Tuesday night. The Lions' season-long lease on the cellar spot of the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference was terminated. Delmar (2-14) moved in as (2-13) Harrington vacated the premises.

The locals started fast with a 20-8 first period edge, built this to a 21 point bulge after three periods, then gave reserves a chance to play in the fourth quarter.

Harrington led 35-20 in field goals but had a terrible night at the charity stripe, missing 15 of 20 free throws.

Nick Morris is becoming a deadly shot, as his scholastic career comes to a close. He sank 16 baskets for a career-high 32 points and upped his average from a good 13.1 to a better 14.4 points per game. John Winkler added 13 points, Bill Moore had 12 and Jerry Cagle made 10.

Matmen Defeat St. Michaels

Tom Muehleisen's Harrington High wrestling Lions won their fifth match in nine starts, when they defeated St. Michaels, Md. 37-12 here last week.

St. Michaels is a first-year grappling team. When they showed up without a heavyweight or a 180 pounder, it was evident that they were in Harrington just for the experience. The Lions were ahead 10-0 on two forfeits, in effect, before they even took to the mat.

The Saints did very well for an inexperienced team and exhibited some talented newcomers. They lost two very close bouts in addition to the ones they captured.

Jim Redden, at 97 pounds, out-pointed a tough, 75 pound cookie named Green, by 14-0 but could not put the tiny tyro flat for two counts.

The veteran Chuck Hurd (103) decided Palmer 16-4. Norman Baynard could not make the weight (114 pounds) in the next division, so his foe Murray was given five points for a forfeit victory. The two then wrestled an exhibition bout with the Lion pinning Murray in 1:25.

Herridge of St. Michaels (120) and Terry Donovan wrestled to a 2-2 deadlock with seconds left. Then the seldom-levied "stalling" penalty was called on the visitor giving H.H.S. a 3-2 verdict.

The next St. Michaels grappler was even better. Cummings (127) won an 8-2 decision over Roger Klapp, a two-time Henlopen Conference wrestling champion. Cummings did a great job for a kid in his first year of "scuffing."

Jim Deputy, subbing for the injured Allen Greenly (133), became a casualty himself. Trying for a takedown on a leg-drive maneuver, he suffered a dislocated elbow. It's extremely rare to incur an injury in this manner since Deputy did not land very hard.

The Marylanders for the fourth set to in a row were well represented at 138 pounds. Cooper extended the Lions' John Brown before bowling 7-5.

The string ran out as Steve Welch (145) pinned V. Murray in 3:54. Louis Kemp flattened Bridges in 2:37 and Haddaway lasted only 58 seconds with the powerful local, David Hurd.

Bill Webb (180) and Lenny Donovan, unlimited, won forfeit decisions. King Hill, the Saints tiny, youthful coach is a former champion wrestler from Western Maryland College. His charges hold a victory over Easton and will be tough to handle in a couple of years. St. Michaels has 530 pupils in the last six grades and is larger than H.H.S. in this respect.

Bridgeville Nips Felton, 90-81

Felton traveled to Bridgeville on Tuesday night and made a gallant bid to down the unbeaten Mustangs but didn't find the right formula until too late. The Mustangs outscored the visitors for three periods, then held off a late Felton rally to record a perfect 16-0 regular season.

The Green Devils finished a fine campaign with a 12-4 record. Bridgeville outpointed the losers 37-34 in action tosses and 16-13 in free throws. Felton missed only twice from the charity stripe. They have one of the most accurate teams in the free throw department, that we have ever heard about in scholastic ranks.

Led by Bob Dill's 107 points in 124 tries for an average of .862 and Chris Moore's 73 hits in 82 tries for .853, they have outshot most of the professionals this winter.

Al Horne and Francis Johnson of Bridgeville led all scorers with 35 and 33 points, respectively. Bob Dill paced Felton with 26 points, Chris Moore had 23. Sipple and McCloskey totaled 27 more between them.

Dill finished his scholastic cage career with Delaware's best average this season, hitting at a rate of 27.6 points per game. He finished second in total points to Andy Raymond, of Rehoboth, who played two more games than did the Feltonian.

Racing Board Named

Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr. last week appointed the seven commissioners who will operate Delaware's new stakes racing program.

He also reappointed three members of the state game and fish commission.

Named to the racing commission were Howard A. Miller of Wilmington, Guy Lockerman Sr. of Townsend, J. Gordon Smith and Francis A. Dimondi of Dover, Ralph Reed of Milton, Russell Kirby of Milford and Paul C. Stokes of Rehoboth Beach.

Their appointment follows enactment last year of a bill setting aside 5 per cent of harness racing pari-mutuel stakes for stakes race purses. The bill was designed to encourage breeding of standardbred horses in Delaware.

Terry's appointments were bound closely by the law which limits political appointments and requires three members to represent tracks, three horsemen and one, breeders.

Stokes, Miller and Dimondi are Republicans, the other four are Democrats. Miller, Smith and Stokes represent the tracks, Reed is a breeder and the other three represent horse-owners.

Reappointed to six-year terms on the game and fish board were J. Reese White Jr. of Rehoboth Beach, Franklin N. Tarburton of Wyoming and Irvin D. Evans, of Wilmington.

"Red" Dill Reaches 1000 Points, Felton Beats H.H.S.

Bob "Red" Dill, the pride of Viola, reached the 1000 point plateau at Harrington Friday night, as he led his Felton High Green Devils to a 90-78 victory over a scrappy Harrington quintet. Dill poured in 31 points to become only the ninth player in Delaware cage history to reach 1000 points during a high school career.

Jim Hawpe's Lions did well to hold the Felton powerhouse to a 12-point victory margin and actually outscored the visitors 31-29 in field goals. The hard-driving Green Devils usually draw a lot of free throws and made 32 with Dill sinking 13 of 15; Buddy Sipple canned 10 of 11 and Chris Moore netted 6 of 7.

The Lions are normally an excellent foul-shooting team, also, but were a little off in this department. They caged 16-of-33, falling below .500 for one of the few times they have done so this campaign.

Moore and Sipple split 36 points, down the middle, for Felton.

Harrington had four men in double figures. John Winkler had 21, Nick Morris 16, Jerry Cagle 14 and John Swain 10.

Harrington Bowling League

Wally's Garage continues their winning ways, winning all four games Tuesday night to add to their lead margin. J. Gallo led in the high series department with a 542 series, including a 200 game. It must have been a bowler's nightmare for all concerned this past week as the individual results will show. After several weeks of 600 plus bowling for some boys and other real high series in the 500 department, it's surprising to see no one being able to do better than the 542 bowled by Gallo.

Acme also is staying up near the top, taking three games to remain in striking distance of Wally's Garage. Acme solidified their second place position from last week after being tied with Robbins Hardware for that spot, by moving out one and a half games in second place this week.

Hamilton Fund, Kent Gas and McKnatt Funeral Home are all tied for third place with identical records. Of the three teams, two of which were tied last week, only McKnatt's was able to win all four games, while Hamilton Fund and Kent Gas won three of their games. F. Dill was high man for Kent Gas with a 539 series, including a fine 207 game.

Also giving Kent Gas a boost was H. Wheeler with a good 210 game and K. Layton with a 200 game. D. McKnatt gave his team a little extra boost with a nice 202 game and a good 539 series, to move McKnatt's up a notch in the standings from last week. Too much good eating by members of Kent Gas must be the reason anyone could hardly hit their averages, as they were the guest of the sponsor for dinner the previous evening at the Bridle Bit Restaurant; their reward for winning the second third.

Robbins Hardware found it rough going as they slid down a couple notches from last week. Unless they can bounce back quickly, they are not likely to catch the leader this third, as time is running out. Robbins Hardware, who was in contention and even led in the closing stanza of the second third, is going to have to do some impressive bowling the rest of this third if they wish a share of the title.

Penn. R. R., with W. Lord leading the way with a nice 539 series and a league leading 211 game Tuesday night, moved up a notch or two by winning three games. Taylor & Messick was not so fortunate as they dropped all four games to tumble way down to eighth place, although S. Collins tried to give them a little push upward, rolling a nice 200 game.

The Spoilers, who also lost four games Tuesday night, find themselves in ninth place, just one game from the cellar. Jarrell

Fuel, who seems to be having a tough season this year, occupies the cellar spot, losing three games. This team usually shows much more strength than this record might indicate and should be regarded carefully by the other teams.

Greenwood Loses Finale to Dover Air, 58-51

Greenwood High's season ended with a record of 10 victories in 18 games, after they lost a 58-51 verdict to Dover Air High Falcons.

The losers trailed by three points at halftime, forged into a 48-44 lead with a good third-period effort, then tallied only 3 points in the final stanza.

Dover Air led 26-21 in field goals but got into trouble with an inept 6-for-20 free throw performance.

Larry Hughes led Greenwood with 16 points. Larry Wyatt had 14 to finish the season as his team's top scorer with 307 points in 18 games.

LIONS WIN

but Donovan hung in there in fine style though losing by ten points.

Roger Klapp (127), handled an old rival, Downing of Delmar, by a 6-1 count.

Phil Shedaker (133), of Delmar, was voted the meet's outstanding wrestler after pinning Allen Greenly in 5:22.

Otis Fooks (145) of Delmar won a 4-3 dukeover Steve Welch, Harrington's 1967 state champion. Welch was leading 3-2, (counting a point for riding time) when the match apparently ended. The excited crowd drowned out the buzzer. The boys continued to wrestle with Fooks gaining an advantage. When the referee realized the bout was over, he checked with another referee nearby and gave Fooks the winning two points, stating that the Wildcat was in control before time ran out. This left a bitter taste in the mouths of Lion fans, who feel that the arbiters gave a "hometown decision" to please the rabid, vocal Delmar rooters.

Daugherty of Delmar beat Roger Moore 5-0, at 154 pounds, but David Hurd (165) ended the Wildcat's dream of repeating as loop champs when he flattened Millsboro's tough, quick Art Morris in 5:17. Morris was on his back for almost a minute before the ref banged the floor for the pin.

John Brown (138) won third place in his division with a 10-2 nod over Dawson of Dover Air.

Harrington had four champions (Redden, C. Hurd, Klapp, D. Hurd), six runners-up, and a third place winner to score in 11 of 12 classes.
