

COUNTY SEWER PLAN READY WITH DOVER OUT

Kent County Engineer Walter J. Fritz told the Levy Court Tuesday he's tried everything he knows to get the city of Dover into the county's proposed sewer system.

Fritz said the preliminary design work for the system, excluding Dover, is completed and he expects to have cost data prepared by the next Levy Court meeting.

"Are you sure every avenue has been approached to get the two together?" asked Commissioner Isaac Thomas.

"I've exhausted about all the avenues I'm aware of," Fritz replied.

Dover has refused to join the county system with officials contending the city would lose $5 million already invested in the city system and possibly the city's size might be frozen if other agencies could provide utilities.

Fritz also said the county system would be prepared to handle raw sanitary sewage with each user paying according to the type of sewage he dumped into the system.

Smaller developments, which couldn't afford a treatment system, could afford a pumping system and would then be able to tie into the county, he explained.

Robert O'Brien, county planner, said he didn't know of any other approach that could be used with the city.

"Time is running out," O'Brien observed. "It doesn't make sense to have several small systems." In the long run, he said it would be cheaper to have one central system.

In other matters, Fritz said the county would have a new landfill site within three weeks — probably at one of the State Highway Department's existing gravel pits either in the Dover area or near Smyrna.

The other county landfill operation is located between Harrington and Frederica.

The Levy Court authorized Fritz to hire a landfill equipment operator at a cost of between $4,362 and $5,666 a year. Fritz said an operator would be needed as soon as the new landfill opened.

"You can't have a kitchen without a cook," said William F. Sepnce as he moved for the authorization.

Glen A. Richter, president, complained to the Levy Court that he had picked up a carload of trash that had been strewn by the Sharon Hills Cemetery.

He suggested that perhaps it was a matter for state police to investigate, but William A. McCabe, county sanitarian, advised that convictions were difficult to get unless someone actually saw the person doing the dumping.

O'Brien suggested that the Levy Court start publishing a "box of shame" with the names of persons whose trash was found littering the roadways.

McCabe said he would write a letter to Richter's dumpers to advise them their trash had been found.

O'Brien told the Levy Court that aerial photographs of the county had been made the week-end of April 6 and that he expected to have photographs ready within 30 days.

"We will make them available to the public at a nominal fee," he said.

McDowell To Run For Congressman

I am announcing my candidacy for the Democratic nomination of United States Congressman from Delaware.

The catastrophic events of the last two weeks have left people in Delaware and in the nation stunned, saddened, bewildered and angry.

This is not a time for political pronouncement. It is a time for governmental action. And it is a time for all of us to reflect on what is wrong with our society and on what is wrong with our policies.

The problems our state and nation face are evident to everyone. In time, as sanity and reason replace the chaos and unreason of the moment, I shall be specific about issues.

For now I state simply my intention to seek the Democratic nomination to Congress. Like most Americans I am committed and I am involved. Having served ten years in Congress, I believe my commitment and my involvement can be most effectively expressed there.

Local Pre-School Enrollment Set For April 22-23

Pre-school enrollment for children entering first grade at the Harrington Special School District in September will be held on Monday and Tuesday, April 22 and 23, at the West Harrington Elementary School from the hours of 9 to 3 p.m.

Children must be six years of age by December 31, 1968. Please bring birth certificate.

Detectives Study 250 On Relief

The Senate committee investigating the welfare department Tuesday ordered its staff to investigate about 250 welfare cases selected at random.

The two detective agencies the committee has hired will handle the investigations.

Sen. George A. Robbins, D-Milford, said the committee received lists of all recipients getting aid to the disabled, aid to dependent children and general assistance at its closed-door meeting Tuesday with Welfare Department Director Ronald E. Miller.

Robbins said the committee has learned federal law does not require notice to recipients before state workers visit them, and "you could assume" the recipients will not be notified before they are investigated.

Levy said later he spoke Tuesday with Alan S. Boyd, U. S. secretary of transportation, and asked him for recommendations for the Delaware post. Terry said he also has spoken to Delawareans to get suggestions of candidates.

The governor said he will not make "a hasty appointment" and that he wants "a man knowledgeable in the whole broad area of transportation."

"Under no circumstances will the appointment be involved in politics," Terry said.

The bill is designed to avoid another mass transportation crisis in Wilmington and its environs. A contract between the Delaware Coach Co. and Amalgamated Transit Union Local 842, signed after a 5 1/2 month strike, had been due to expire April 30.

The contract was extended eight months this week, however, calming fears that another stoppage was imminent.

The bill passed Tuesday could lead to a public takeover of bus service in Wilmington. That will be determined by the local transit authority the new Department of Transportation will have the power to establish.

Highway Dept. Receives Award On Annual Report

The Delaware State Highway Department received the Golden Milestone Award of Distinction from the National Highway Users Conference this week for its 1966 annual report. The presentation was made at a noon luncheon session Tuesday of the 12th Highway Transportation Congress at the Washington Hilton Hotel, by E. Harwood Rydholm, vice president and director of civic affairs for Chrysler Corporation, and chairman of NHUC's Golden Milestone Award Committee.

Ernest A. Davidson, director of operations of the Delaware State Highway Department, received the award on behalf of the State of Delaware.

The Golden Milestone Award itself was presented to the State of Nebraska's Highway Department for its "Your Investment in Nebraska's Highways" report.

Awards of Distinction went to Pennsylvania and Wisconsin in addition to Delaware for their contributions to clear reporting of highway department programs to the public they serve.

The Golden Milestone Award trophy is a gold and marble replica of the 15 foot high Golden Milestone Shaft erected in the forum of ancient Rome by Caesar Augustus to mark the point of origin of the roads leading to parts of the Empire from Rome.

A special plaque will be presented at a later date to Gov. Charles L. Terry, Jr., under the auspices of the Delaware Highway Users Conference.

Transit OK Starts Terry Hunting $25,000 Aide

Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr. has already started looking for someone to head the state Department of Transportation that won final approval in the Senate Tuesday.

The secretary of the department will be paid a maximum of $25,000 a year under the bill.

The salary ceiling was not in the original bill which the Senate first passed, but was added in the House.

The bill now needs only Terry's signature, and the governor has pressed hard for a transportation bill since last summer.

There was no debate Tuesday, but with four senators absent, the bill got just 10 votes, the minimum needed for success.

Terry said later he spoke Tuesday with Alan S. Boyd, U. S. secretary of transportation, and asked him for recommendations for the Delaware post. Terry said he also has spoken to Delawareans to get suggestions of candidates.

The governor said he will not make "a hasty appointment" and that he wants "a man knowledgeable in the whole broad area of transportation."

"Under no circumstances will the appointment be involved in politics," Terry said.

The bill is designed to avoid another mass transportation crisis in Wilmington and its environs. A contract between the Delaware Coach Co. and Amalgamated Transit Union Local 842, signed after a 5 1/2 month strike, had been due to expire April 30.

The contract was extended eight months this week, however, calming fears that another stoppage was imminent.

The bill passed Tuesday could lead to a public takeover of bus service in Wilmington. That will be determined by the local transit authority the new Department of Transportation will have the power to establish.

Senate OK's Municipal Court Help

The Senate Tuesday passed a bill to allow the chief justice of the Delaware Supreme Court to assign state judges to Wilmington Municipal Court in an emergency.

The bill, passed last week by the House, was spurred by the overflow of cases in Municipal Court after last week's disorders in the city of Wilmington.

Among legislation introduced Tuesday were five amendments to the House-passed department of justice bill. Three of them would exempt educational and other agencies from the bill's provision that all state bodies use the department's legal aide; another would delete all references to the powers and duties of the department, and the fifth would prohibit the attorney general from private law practice.

Sen. Russell D. F. Dineen, D-Wilmington, introduced all five. Another bill introduced Tuesday will be changed later, according to its sponsor.

Sen. J. Donald Isaacs, R-Townsend, said his bill to raise the salaries of state policemen by $500 a year also would raise pensions, but that this was not his intention.

Insecticides and pesticides would be put under state Board of Agriculture control under a bill sponsored by Sen. George A. Robbins, D-Milford.

Of Local Interest

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Mills were their son, Douglas, Jr., and his friend, Joe Payblack, of Elmira, N. Y. Both are students at Frederick College, Portsmouth, Va. Saturday evening the Mills and guest had dinner at Oxford, Md. On Sunday they visited Lewis, Rehoboth, and Dover Air Force Base. In the evening, they attended a band concert at the University of Delaware.

Exchange Student Tells Rotary About Switzerland

An exchange student's program was the highlight of the Rotary Club's annual ladies' night Tuesday evening at The Bridle Bit.

The Harrington High School Senior, Beth Amsler, of Switzerland, showed movies of her home and homeland and recited a brief history and geography of the alpine country.

The nation was formed in 1291, she said, and has been without warfare since the time of Napoleon. It is about two thirds the size of Pennsylvania, has a population of five and a half millions, and has 24 cantons, or states, she continued.

It is the crossroad of Europe and is known as an international meeting place, she emphasized.

German is spoken in north Switzerland, where Miss Amsler lives; French in the west, Italian, in the south, and Romanian, a dialect resembling Italian, in the east, she concluded.

Present were her host parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Davis. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Peck, host parents to the exchange student of the past school year, Anita Sapunar, of Bolivia, and Mrs. William Taylor, host mother to Toby Kristinsdottir, of Iceland. The Icelandic miss was Harrington's first exchange student. Taylor is recuperating at home after an operation.

The exchange student program, sponsored by the American Exchange Student Field Service Program, was started three years ago here upon the suggestion of Rotarian Alan Rutledge.

Sponsored locally by the Rotary Club, the program was headed two years ago by Gayle Smith, program chairman Tuesday night, who added Peck was his successor.

Getting back to Miss Amsler. She was amazed Delaware "was so flat and the pace of life in the United States so fast." She goes back to college in Switzerland next year but is undecided as to a career though she is considering interpreting.

Considering the financing of an exchange student, she said her family provided $650 and the Harrington Rotary Club $650. In this vein, George Thompson explained a vice president of his company, Callis-Thompson, Inc., Robert D. Faw, of Salisbury, Md., gave $300 to the local club, and the same amount to the Salisbury club.

The new chairman of the local exchange student program, Thomas H. Peck, said exchange students in this area would visit the Century Club and schools Fri., April 26, and would spend the weekend with local families.

He added the public was invited and concluded by saying a sports day would be held May 10 to raise funds.

Rotary President Ted Storus presided.

DP & L SALES HIGH IN FIRST QUARTER

Operating results of Delmarva Power & Light Co. for the first three months of 1968 were described as "excellent" by the company president, Austin T. Gardner, in his report Tuesday to shareholders.

During the first quarter 1968, Gardner said at the annual meeting, electric sales were up 18.5 per cent over the comparable period a year earlier and gas sales were up 16.2 per cent with corresponding revenues up 13.2 and 16.7.

Gardner said while the increased sales were accompanied by increased costs, earnings applicable to common stock based on present federal income tax rates amounted to 51 cents per share compared with 43 for first quarter 1967.

According to Gardner "Giving effect to a possible retroactive tax increase of 10 per cent, earnings for the first quarter would be 47 cents per share, still exceeding the 1967 earnings by four cents.

Trenee duPons, Jr., a vice president and member of the executive committee of the DuPont Company was elected to the Delmarva board of directors.

Delmarva, according to Gardner, expects to spend about $236 million during the next five years. The figure includes costs

Keith Failing Hurt in Crash

A 52-year-old Harrington man was listed in fair condition Monday night at Milford Memorial Hospital after a two-truck accident Monday on U.S. 13 just south of here.

State police said Keith Failing was pinned in his van-type truck for about 20 minutes while a Harrington Fire Company rescue crew worked to free him. Police said the impact of the collision caved in the side of the truck's doors, pinning the man's legs.

A physician said Failing, suffered multiple fractures of skull, wrist and hip and cuts on face and legs.

The accident occurred about 11:30 a.m., according to police, when Failing's southbound truck and a Delmarva Power & Light Co. service truck collided. The DP&L truck, operated by Thomas Brown, 47, of Harrington, was westbound crossing U.S. 13. Police said Brown was not injured.

A.F.S. Fair Set For May 10

The local Chapter of the American Field Service have set May 10 as the date of the A.F.S. Fair. At a meeting held this week at the home of Chapter President Thomas Peck, plans were finalized for the activities to be included. Mrs. Leon Kukulka will be serving as general chairman. The Fair will be held at the Harrington School beginning at 11 o'clock. Further information will be published in next week's paper.

On April 26 and 27 the Harrington High School is planning an A.F.S. weekend in honor of Beth Amsler, Harrington's American Field Service student. A.F.S. students in the surrounding communities have been invited for the weekend. They will be guests of local families for dinner on Friday evening after a day at the Harrington School. On Friday evening they will attend a party at the home of Beth's American parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Davis. On Saturday the students will be guests of honor at a luncheon sponsored by the A.F.S. Chapter and return to their homes in the afternoon.

Also during this weekend a Tag Weekend has been planned. Student Council representatives will be in the shopping areas of the community offering the tags for 25¢ each. The support of all citizens of Harrington is earnestly solicited for this project which has meant so much to the town.

Three Injured Near Woodside

Two automobiles collided on U.S. 13 one mile east of Woodside Monday afternoon resulting in serious injuries to three persons.

One car, driven by Elbert Johnson, 49, Harrington, was traveling south on the highway when the other vehicle, driven by Nelson F. Betts, 37, of Milton, pulled out of a private driveway.

Betts and his wife, Leah Betts, 35, both suffered broken pelvises. Another passenger, Harry Betts, 15, their son, suffered broken ribs. Johnson was unharmed.

All the injured was admitted to Kent General Hospital.

Police said Tuesday morning Betts faces arrest on charges of failure to yield the right of way when he is released from the hospital.

Youth Canteen Dances Resume

Starting this Saturday night, April 20, the youth canteen dances will resume at St. Stephen's Church Parish Hall. They will be held on alternate Saturday nights through June 15th. They are non-profit but have to cover expenses, and if they are able to do so, they will held weekly on Tuesday nights starting June 25 through August 27, except on July 30, which will be during the week of the Delaware State Fair.

It is most important that the parents cooperate with the committee in continuing the success of this project to provide proper entertainment for the youth of this area.

It will be appreciated if those who signed to be chaperones will cooperate when called upon. All parents are again invited to come and observe any dance night.

Electrical Firm Wins State Bid

Satterfield & Ryan, local electrical contractors, have won another bid for work for the State of Delaware.

Felton School Spring Concert Set For April 25

The Felton School Instrumental Music Department will present its annual spring concert on Thursday evening, April 25 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Featured on "An Evening of Music" are the following organizations: Junior Band, Polka Band, Dance Band, High School Concert Band and routines presented by the High School majorettes and Pom-Pom girls. M. Ross Evans will direct the groups.

Refreshments will be sold during intermission by the Band Parents Club. Tickets will be sold at the door which will open at 7:15. The concert is open to the general public.

Driver Education Summer Courses Registration Open

Persons interested in taking driver education this summer must register by April 26. Registration forms may be obtained at the Harrington High School office.

Any person, no matter where he goes to school, who is a resident of the school district, or who will be fifteen years of age by July 15 may register for the course. Tenth grade public school enrollees will be considered only if wintertime scheduling is impossible.

The course will involve students for a total of 30 hours of classroom work and 12 hours of direct driver instruction.

Nancy Harrington Fraternity Treasurer

Nancy Harrington, a junior at Radford College and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Tharp Harrington, of 108 Commerce Street, Harrington, has been elected treasurer of Phi Beta Lambda, business fraternity, at Radford College, Radford, Va.

She is a business major and graduate of Harrington High School.

GSC Odd Fellows to Meet April 20th

On Saturday evening, April 20, the regular monthly meeting of the General Service Committee of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Delaware, will be held in the rooms of the Morning Star Lodge No. 6, beginning at 8 p.m.

Greenwood

By Pat Hatfield

Memorials:

The School Farm Committee is most grateful for the excellent turn out, fine spirit, and beautiful day last Saturday.

Twenty tractors plowed 120 acres, and 65 men, women and children were served lunch at the school. This is a project to earn money for the school.

Eli Shrock is somewhat improved, but is hospitalized again and having further tests made. Address: Albert Einstein Medical Center, Room 864, 8th floor, Old York and Tabor Road, Philadelphia, Pa., 19141.

The Select Chorus of L.M.S. will give a program at Tressler Church this Saturday evening, April 20, at 7:30.

Sunday evening we enjoyed a program given by the International students from Eastern Mennonite College. They were: Thanh Phi Dang from Vietnam; Nathon K. Nyambok, from Tanganyika; Bryon W. George, from the West Indies, and Regina Schunck, Germany.

Among those from Greenwood attending the Hatfield-Fox wedding in Bear, were Miss Florence Carlisle, Miss Bess Carlisle, John Carlisle, Miss Leila Tatman, Arthur Tatman, Mrs. Ruth Willey, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield, Jr. and Mrs. William Carlisle, Jr.

The wedding ceremony took place in the Fairwinds Methodist Church in Bear.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Hatfield. The bridegroom is Gerry Fox, lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

After the ceremony, the group moved to the Horseless Carriage, Ogletown to the reception which was in the form of a banquet. Approximately 175 people enjoyed the wedding feast and visiting with the happy young couple.

Greenwood Kiwanis Club

Last Thursday night the Club entertained Scoutmaster James E. Moore, and 15 Scouts of the local troop 242.

Twenty Kiwanians were present to greet the Scouts and their Scoutmaster and enjoy with them the excellent country style ham supper, served by W.S.C.S. of Greenwood Methodist Church, with Mrs. Delema Smith, chairman.

Scout Warren Hamstead led the assembled group in the salute to the flag, and Scout David Cannon said the grace.

Following group singing led by William (Bill) Fleischauer, some of the Scouts presented an excellent demonstration entitled, "Fire Safety in the Home." President John Turner, in behalf of the sponsoring group, presented the troop charter to Scoutmaster Moore. The Scouts received their membership cards from their Scoutmaster.

Tonight Henry Peters chairman of the Public and Business Affairs Committee, will present the program. April 25th program chairman, Walter Mills; May 2, director's meeting, Pres. John Turner; May 9, program chairman, Lawrence Meredith.

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne Holberton

The secret of selecting a delicious steak is no secret, if you know something about beef quality and the different cuts.

Beef varies in quality more than any other kind of meat, but you don't have to learn to judge beef quality for yourself. Check for the purple shield which shows the U.S.D.A. grades. If they are not on the outside fat, ask the attendant behind the counter about the meat grade. The U.S.D.A. grade names are Prime (which we see very little of), Choice (the greatest percentage of meat sold at retail is of this grade), Good (much leaner than higher quality beef and it lacks the juiciness, it probably will need moisture for cooking), and Commercial (usually used in canned foods).

Only meat which has first passed a strict inspection for wholesomeness may be graded. So you may be sure when you see the grade mark that the meat came from a healthy animal and was processed in a sanitary plant.

Regardless of beef's quality grade, some cuts are naturally more tender than others. Cuts from the less used muscles along the back of the animal—the rib and loin sections—will always be more tender than those cuts from the active muscles such as the shoulder (chuck), flank and round. The most tender cuts make up the smallest proportion of the beef carcass, and they are in the greatest demand. Therefore, it's easy to understand why they are the highest in price.

For greatest eating satisfaction, buy any steak you intend to broil at least 1 inch thick. Then learn the proper methods of broiling. Here are the names and a brief description of the steaks that are most popular.

Tenderloin (filet mignon) is the most tender of all steaks. It has no bone and very little fat. Broil or pan broil it in all grades. Allow about 6 to 8 ounces per person.

Porterhouse steak is considered the best of all steaks containing bone. It has a generous section of tenderloin which can be cut out and served as fillet mignon. Pan broil or broil in Prime, Choice, and Good grades. Allow from 12 to 14 ounces per person.

T-Bone steaks are very similar to porterhouse, but with a smaller elongated section of tenderloin. It can be used in the same way as porterhouse. Allow 10 to 14 ounces per serving.

Club steak is cut from the short loin, as the previous steaks are. The major difference is that there is no tenderloin. Its relative small size makes it well suited for individual servings. Rib steaks are often sold as club steaks, since they contain the same large muscle.

Sirloin steak is a large steak and it contains several different muscles. To get the most for your money, look for one with a small amount of bone (wedge or round bone) but for tenderness look for one with a long flat bone. If the sirloin is cut into two boneless steaks, the top sirloin is the better of the two. Broil or pan broil Prime, Choice, or Good grades. Allow 8 to 10 ounces per person depending on the amount of bone. Rib Eye is cut from the eye of the beef. It is boneless and has little fat. It is most often called a Delmonico steak. Allow 8 to 10 ounces per person.

The spring used clothing appeal comes this year from May 1 through May 13. The emphasis is on blankets and light-weight clothing. Each church should collect its own and take it to Calvary Methodist Church between the hours of 9 and 4, Mondays through Friday during the May 1 to 13 dates. Everyone who gives clothes should see that they are clean and in good repair and should try to contribute 10 cents per pound of clothing. This will help with handling and shipping. The clothes should be the serviceable type and should not include toothless shoes and such. All articles collected are packed in sturdy cartons and securely tied. This clothing will be used by Church World Service for needy people throughout the world. Those who are not contributing through other sources are invited to bring them to the office at St. Stephen's between the hours of 9 and 1, Monday through Friday. It has just come to our attention that the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded receives even clothing that is in need of reasonable amount of repair. Some of the patients actually repair such clothing and it is used there at Stokeley. Such clothing should be sent directly to Stokeley and not be confused with Church World Service.

This Sunday at 10:45 a.m., St. Stephen's will begin her year of use of the proposed Liturgy for the Episcopal Church in the United States. Members of St. Stephen's who have copies of the "New Liturgy" are asked to bring them to the service. The meeting of the Altar Guild is being called primarily to acquaint members of the Altar Guild with their new duties which have to do with the use of the trial Liturgy.

Advance notice is given of a healing mission that will be put on by the Order of St. Luke and will take place at Goldsboro Methodist Church at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 28.

Veterans' News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—My employer is going to pay for my tuition in school. Am I still eligible for benefits under the G.I. Bill?

A—Yes, provided you are otherwise eligible. However, educational allowance is not payable if the veteran is enrolled in a course paid for by the United States under the provisions of any other law where the allowance would constitute a duplication of benefits from the Federal Treasury.

Q—A statement in my service medical report says that I have a stomach hernia that I received while in service. Although I was discharged from the Army about five years ago, is it too late for me to file for compensation from the VA?

A—No, it is not too late. There is no time limit as to when a veteran may file for compensation for a disease or injury which he believes was incurred while serving in the Armed Forces.

Q—My husband is a World War II veteran. We have been married a number of years. He still lists his mother, who is well-to-do, as his sole beneficiary on his $10,000 G.I. insurance. Is there anything I can do about this? Can I get the VA to change it? I am unable to work any more.

A—No, you can't. Only the insured can change the beneficiary. Legally, the Veterans Administration must pay the proceeds of G.I. insurance to the beneficiary named by the veteran.

Q—I served for three years in the Army from early 1961 to early 1964 and was honorably discharged. I was stationed in Europe during the Berlin crisis. Am I eligible for "Cold War" G.I. Bill benefits even though I was not in service after August 4, 1964?

A—Yes, you are eligible. The "Cold War" G. I. Bill—Public

Law 89-358, which went into effect June 1, 1966—provides that any veteran who served on active duty for a period of more than 180 days any part of which occurred after Jan. 31, 1955, and who was discharged or released from service under conditions other than dishonorable or for a service connected disability, is eligible. See your nearest VA office for information and assistance concerning benefits provided by the "Cold War" G.I. Bill.

Q—This April will be the first time since I got out of service that I will file an income tax return. I am receiving disability compensation and an educational assistance allowance. Must I report these payments on my income tax?

A—No. Compensation for a service-connected disability and educational assistance allowance are tax exempt benefits. Other veteran benefits that are tax exempt and need not be reported are subsistence payments for vocational rehabilitation training, grants for "wheelchair" homes and automobile equipment for the severely disabled, payments to surviving dependents of deceased veterans, and compensation allowances for dependents of certain disabled veterans.

Only interest earned on G.I. insurance dividends left on deposit with VA is reportable and taxable.

Q—I understand that once payments to my beneficiary (wife) on my G.I. insurance policy contract have begun, she cannot change the plan of settlement. Is this true? Suppose her needs change suddenly after my death, what can she do?

A—Formerly, once payments had begun on a selected option settlement of a G.I. insurance contract, the beneficiary could not change this option. However, under new VA regulations now in effect, your beneficiary (wife) may change to a more advantageous option if (1) the change is requested within one year of the beneficiary's initial choice of option and (2) the beneficiary's health has not changed during that interval. So your wife does have a choice.

Yews Suitable For Most Landscaping

If you're looking for an attractive evergreen that requires little, if any, care, perhaps the yew will fill the bill, suggests Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Japanese and English yews, or taxus as they are called by nurserymen, have been grown in this country for many years, says Stevens. But it's only recently that these plants have been available in a variety of sizes and shapes.

Though all yews are similar in appearance, they differ widely in growth patterns and mature heights. These shrubs vary in size from 1 to 50 feet high and 1 to 40 feet wide. Many dwarf varieties, however, do not grow over 18 inches tall.

Yews will grow well in both sunny and shaded areas. However, the shrub does require good drainage. This is, perhaps, the only serious limitation of the yew. If yews get "wet feet," the foliage turns yellowish-green, then brown, and the plant dies.

Do not plant yews in poorly drained areas or in areas that are overly wet at some time during the season. In these areas, plant Japanese Holly or some other shrub that is tolerant of moisture.

Some of the most useful varieties for this area include Densa, which is twice as wide as its height; Expansa, usually three feet high and five feet wide at maturity; and Nana, three feet high and six feet wide at maturity.

ty. These three plants are dwarf Japanese yews.

For medium upright varieties, Stevens recommends Hicksi, a columnar yew reaching a height of six to eight feet; Hatfield, a pyramidal yew six to eight feet high; and Kelsey, a dense, compact fruit-bearing yew.

Purpose of planting will usually determine the approximate variety to use, says Stevens. Yews can be used as foundation planting, border plantings for screen or background and as specimen accents. Carefully select the variety that best fits your landscape needs.

The number of varieties and forms make yews one of the most suitable shrubs for ornamental use.

Entomologists Go To Okefenokee
A Georgia swamp—complete with alligators — may seem a strange substitute for Florida beaches for a college spring vacation. Yet, 12 University of Delaware students chose to camp out at Georgia's Okefenokee Swamp for their vacation. And they'd do it again.

The students, all majoring in entomology, and four faculty members from the University's department of entomology and applied ecology, spent the week collecting, identifying and cataloguing insect species at the 335,000 acre wildlife sanctuary.

Okefenokee, the "Land of Trembling Earth," was named by Seminole Indians. The name fits the region of jungle-like beauty which abounds with plant and animal life rarely found elsewhere in the United States. According to the campers, it looks as though a dinosaur might be around the next cypress.

The entomologists didn't find a dinosaur, but they did see at least a 100 alligators, many more than 10 feet long. "We found a new use for ball point pens, too," laughs Frank Boys, agricultural chemicals specialist at the University. "Emptied out, the pens make a good alligator call." Provided you want to call alligators.

Okefenokee has snakes in abundance too. "I was climbing a tree; when I looked up, there was a large king snake sunning himself on a branch," says William Boytim, West Chester, Pa. Luckily, they only saw one poisonous snake, a moccasin, during their stay. "But we did take a few of the others back to camp."

"Just to see how we'd react to them," claims Miss Merry Ellen Evans, New Providence, N. J., one of the two girls who made the insect-collecting trip. Even though the girls say they ended up doing most of the cooking—"I can't look a cheeseburger in the face"—Merry, at least, is now a confirmed camper.

"I'd never camped out before, but now I'm really gung-ho." This despite a too-small pup-tent—"I had to decide whether to sleep with my head or my feet outside"—and no air mattress.

Fortunately, the largest animals to visit the camp were raccoons and one noisy skunk who sounded like a Sherman tank, according to Boytim.

Actually, the trip was a tone-week field course in collecting insect specimens, explains Dr. Dale F. Bray, chairman of the department of entomology and applied ecology. Each student was required to make an insect collection and prepare an ecological report based on their observations of the various insects in Okefenokee. The students paid their own way for the trip.

The camping trip was an experiment of sorts, says Bray. "We had never tried anything like this before—camping in the field with 12 students. All in all, we are very pleased with the results especially since we found several new specimens for our departmental collection."

The students are enthusiastic about the Okefenokee expedition, too. Beautiful weather, calm water and multitude of insect life they'd never seen before all added up to an entomologist's dream—and a good place to spend spring vacation.

Students taking the trip in addition to Miss Evans and Boytim include Mrs. Deborah Sutherland Stevens, Cornwall, N. Y.; John Connell, Newark; Peter Jumars, Wilmington; Don Lescewicz, Wilmington; Thomas Mitchell, Newark; Chester Tyson, Wilmington, and David Nye, Newark.

Other students were Frederic Muller, Little Silver, N. J., Frederic Stiner, Baltimore, Md., and John Zimmerman, Coon Rapids, Minnesota.

Accompanying the group were Dr. Dale F. Bray, Dr. E. Paul Catts, Dr. Lewis P. Kelsey and Frank Boys, all of the department of entomology and applied ecology.

Bureau of Prisons Director to Speak At U. of D.
Myrl E. Alexander, director of the Justice Department's bureau of prisons since 1964, will speak at the University of Delaware on Wednesday, May 1.

His lecture, open to the public without charge, is the fifth and last of a series on "The Threat of Crime in America" at the university. Alexander's talk on "Crime and Corrections" is scheduled at 8 p.m. in the Rodney Room of the Student Center.

The series began in October and has dealt with delinquency, urban crime, drugs and law enforcement. Sponsors of the series are the university's departments of sociology and anthropology and the Extension Division, with support from the E. Paul duPont Endowment for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Corrections.

Alexander's career in prison administration began in 1931, when he served as warden's assistant at the Atlanta (Ga.) Federal Penitentiary. He later worked as parole officer at federal institutions in Lewisburg, Pa., and Danbury, Conn.

In 1945 and 1946, Alexander was on special assignment as chief of prisons for the office of military government in Germany. The following year, he became assistant director of the bureau of prisons and left in 1961 for four years as professor of correctional administration at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Alexander wrote "Jail Administration," a book published in 1957 as a survey of good practices of jail management. He is a frequent contributor to professional journals.

In 1965, Alexander was appointed to a 10-member United Nations Advisory Committee of Experts on the Prevention of Crime and the Treatment of Offenders.

He is a member of the professional advisory council and the board of directors of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency. Among other memberships are the American Correctional Institution, American Society for Public Administration, American Academy of Political and Social Science, and the National Jail Association.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

More than young men's fancies turn to love in Spring as noted by an old timer near Knapp's stream on Paradise Pastures:

At the end of the wood
 Where a hickory tree stood
 Casting shade o'er the brooklet small,
 Where an old fallen tree
 Made the crossing more free
 When the kiddies picked nuts in the fall.

Such a place as this
 The birds never miss
 When mating times comes in the spring;
 There the robin so bold
 Who was first to brave cold
 For this spot for their mating to bring.

And the "cotton-tail" too,
 Brought his mate here to woo
 And lived in the old hallow tree
 Here the "Chic-a-dee" small,
 Mid grasses so tall
 Chirped his love song with gusto and glee.

At the brook's mossy brink
 Can be seen come to drink,
 Should you happen by chance there to stray,
 The wood chuck so spry,
 With his love mate close by,
 Content in his love nest to stay.

And these folks of the wood,
 Could tell if they could,
 Of a lass and a lad every day,
 Who came to this nook,
 By the side of the brook,
 To while loves sweet moments away.

Professor Sun, speaking in Room 140 DuPont Hall, will discuss a model for a biological control system.

A coffee hour preceding the lecture will provide an opportunity for students to meet Dr. Sun in Room 100, Evans Hall, at 3 p.m.

The lecture is sponsored by the department of mechanical and aerospace engineering and is open to the public.

Pop Art, Kinetic Art To Be Illus. At U. of D.

Pop art, kinetic art and abstract-expressionism will be among the movements illustrated during the two-day film festival at the University of Delaware on April 24-25 at 8 p. m. The festival, sponsored by the art history department and the Cultural Activities Committee, will feature outstanding films by prize-winning contemporary filmmakers and biographical films on modern artists.

Special attractions of the program will be "Day of the Painter," "The Synthesis of Music and the Abstract Image" and computer art. It will be open to the public on both evenings without charge in Room 130 Sharp Laboratory.

Examples of the film as an artistic medium will feature the work of Andy Warhol, Stan Vanderbeek, Stan Brakhage, Ed Emshwiller and Jonas Mekas. Enthusiastic crowds forced a second performance of Mekas' films when he presented them on campus this fall.

Modern artists represented on film will include Picasso, Alexander Calder, Chagall, Jackson Pollock, de Kooning, Tinguely, Roy Lichtenstein, James Dine and Frank Lloyd Wright. Major art movements including cubism, dada, abstract-expressionism, and pop art will be illustrated.

Dr. William I. Homer, chairman of the art history department, and Judith Yellin, curator of the photograph and slide collection at the university, selected the films to be shown. Each will furnish brief commentaries on the films and artists.

Harrington FFA News

The results of the Public Speaking and Parliamentary Procedure Contest that was held Wednesday afternoon and evening, April 3, at the Harrington High School were announced recently.

In the Junior Public Speaking Contest Jimmy Russell from Harrington, placed second and will be awarded a silver pin.

In the Senior Public Speaking Contest John Brown, from Harrington, placed second and will receive $75.

In the Parliamentary Procedure Contest Harrington placed second with the following officers participating: Gerald Legates, president; Glenn Layton, vice president; Mike Coverdale, secretary; Terry Donovan, treasurer; Marshall Anthony, reporter; Donald Harcum, sentinel; Larry Larimore, chaplain, and John Brown, advisor.

The chapter will be awarded $50 and all chapter officers will receive silver pins.

Eight Youths Receive Public Speaking Awards

Eight Delaware youths received awards in the State FFA Public Speaking and Parliamentary Procedure Contest at Harrington High School April 3, says Dr. Ralph Barwick, associate professor of agricultural education at the University of Delaware and executive secretary of the Delaware FFA.

First prize of $100 in the senior division was awarded to Edward Davis, Newark. Second place winner John Brown, Harrington, received $75. Ira Tutthill, Camden, and Bart Shetzler, Middletown, third and fourth respectively, were awarded prizes of $50 and $25.

Gold Emblem award in the junior division was received by William Harris, Milford. Silver Emblems were awarded to James Russell, Harrington, and Gary Dempsey, Newark. Robert Hudson, Selbyville, received the Bronze Emblem.

Judges for the junior contest were Ronald Gumienny and Mrs. Shirley Temple, teachers at Harrington High School and George Matthews, a staff member of the Sussex Vocational - Technical Center.

Parliamentary procedure competition was won by the Caesar Rodney Chapter. Members of the winning team include James Harrison, Eugene Dill, Carl Donophens, John Comegys, Wayne Blackburn, Eric Tarburton, Ira Tutthill and Alfred Thomas.

Second place was awarded to the Harrington Chapter while the Middletown Chapter placed third. Fourth place was awarded to the Newark Chapter.

Judges of the senior public speaking contest and the parliamentary procedure contest were Dr. Edward Maul, Esq., Georgetown; Dr. Thomas Maddux, a veterinarian at the University of Delaware; and Mrs. George Lang of Newark, a member of the National Association of Parliamentarians.

Conference Meetings At U. of D.

Jeannette McDonnal, dean of students at Pierre S. duPont High School, will preside at the conference meetings of the Chesapeake and Potomac Chapter of the Association of College Admissions Counselors, May 15-17.

Mrs. McDonnal is president of the chapter which will hold its annual meeting this year at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va.

In addition to a number of Delaware high school counselors, conference delegates will include Dr. Robert W. Mayer, director of admissions and records at the University of Delaware; William R. Baldt, assistant director of admissions, and Willis J. Stetson Jr., admissions officer.

Baldt is secretary-treasurer of the chapter and a member of the conference planning committee.

Other area participants include the keynote speaker, Dr. Davis Paschall, president of the College of William and Mary, and Brother F. Christopher, F.S.C., director of admissions at LaSalle College, Philadelphia. Brother Christopher is president of the Association of College Admissions Counselors.

In addition to several major addresses and reports, the conference will hear a panel discussion titled "What's Happening on Campus?" during the morning session on Fri., May 17. College administrators and students will participate.

Specialized Course At U. of D.

Public welfare workers can learn more about family interaction by taking a specialized course offered by the University of Delaware scheduled Wed., April 24, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Fred Fragner, chief psychiatric worker for the Mental Hygiene Clinic of New Castle, will teach the eight weekly sessions in Room 201 at Wilmington High School.

Problems treated in the course will include enduring characteristics of family patterns and processes, both normal and deviant, within the contemporary American family and in the context of external social systems. Psychological, social and economic correlates of familial malfunctioning and disintegration will be considered as they relate to social work intervention.

The course is offered under the auspices of Title I of the Higher Education Act of 1965 and carries no academic credit. There is no fee for personnel of the Department of Public Welfare.

Registration must be achieved by the Extension Division at the university by April 19 or admittance to class cannot be guaranteed.

FOUR DELAWARE FFA MEMBERS have been awarded prizes in the junior division of the State FFA Public Speaking Contest at Harrington High School. From the left are judge Roland Gumienny, Harrington; Robert Hudson, Selbyville; Gary Dempsey, Newark; and Jim Russell, Harrington. Not present when the picture was taken was William Harris, Milford.

Choral Union Presents "The Elijah"

Using a full compliment of voices, orchestra and a guest bass soloist, the University of Delaware Choral Union will present "The Elijah" on Tuesday, April 23, at 8:15 p.m. in Mitchell Hall.

The performance of Mendelssohn's oratorio, sung by the 180-voice ensemble will be under the direction of Joseph Huszti, director of choral music at the university.

Featured in the title role will be James C. McKeever, professor of voice and director of church relations and alumni affairs, at Westminster Choir College. McKeever is also director of music at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City.

Professor McKeever has studied at Muhlenberg College and is a graduate of Westminster Choir College. While at Westminster, he was bass soloist with that college's famous touring choir. Most recently he has studied with Samuel Margolis, vocal teacher of Robert Merrill and Jerome Hines.

In addition he has served as minister of music at the First Presbyterian Church in Haddonfield, N. J., and as visiting lecturer in music at the Princeton Theological Seminary for 17 years. He has conducted choir festivals, choral and voice clinics throughout the U.S. and has made numerous appearances as bass soloist in oratorio performances.

Professor Huszti said that many student and faculty soloists are combining their efforts to make this musical event outstanding. The concert is open to the public without charge.

Annual Interfrat. Council Greek Weekend

Nearly one-fifth of the University of Delaware's undergraduate student body will take part in the annual Interfraternity Council Greek Weekend, April 19, 20 and 21.

Some 600 fraternity men and their dates will participate in a dance, house parties and athletic competition.

The major social event will open with a dance at Fournier Hall in Wilmington from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. on Friday.

On Saturday, Alpha Epsilon Pi and Theta Chi will have a joint house party, as will Sigma Nu and Delta Tau Delta. Pi Kappa Alpha will hold an open house for all fraternity men and their dates. Individual parties have been scheduled by Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Alpha, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Sunday's Greek games on the Harrington Beach area between Harrington Residence Hall and the Student Center will include such traditional events as a mile run, tug of war, medicine ball throw and a rpe climb.

More exotic contests are a 75-yard chariot race, a team mattress carry with a pinmate on top of the brothers riding on one, and a Volkswagen carry.

Glenn Paulsen, IFC president, announced that spectators will be welcomed at the games which are expected to begin at about 1:30 p.m.

Chem. Engineering Students Receive Awards

Four chemical engineering seniors at the University of Delaware are the recipients of $500 Scholastic Merit Awards.

Students recognized for their academic achievements are Charles R. Snyder, Newtown Square, Pa.; Gerald Maggioncalda, Vineyard, N. J.; Gordon F. Meigs, Westfield, N. J., and Clark A. McCollough, Lancaster, Pa.

The awards were made possible by the Rohm and Haas Co. of Philadelphia and the Stauffer Chemical of New York. Qualifications displayed by the recipients include superior academic achievement, leadership and technical grasp of engineering progress.

Snyder has maintained a seven semester grade index of 3.65 out of a possible 4.0. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity; president of Tau Beta Pi engineering fraternity; president of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary leadership society, and is active in the student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Maggioncalda has attained a cumulative index of 3.44 and is highly recommended by faculty members for technical accomplishments.

Meigs also has averaged 3.44 in his academic work and has been active in intramural sports, sings in the concert choir and participates in the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

McCollough has a scholastic index of 3.27. He has been president of his dormitory; is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity, serves as a junior counselor, and also is a member of AIChE.

C-K-R-T. Auxiliary News

Mrs. Morrison Stuart, vice-president of the Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee American Legion conducted the monthly meeting of the unit on Tuesday evening, in the absence of the president, Mrs. William Outten.

A report on the activities of the Junior members told of the Easter tray favors which they made for the patients at three local nursing homes. 63 Little Easter baskets were made and distributed to the Messick, Fletcher, and Swartzentruber Homes on Saturday. The Juniors also assisted with the sale of the Easter Lilies during the Easter Seal campaign.

Mrs. Stuart announced that the C.K.R.T. Unit has reached its membership quota with 129 members as of this month. This is three members over quota. Delaware is the second Department to reach 100% of its membership.

Mrs. L. Gooden Callaway reported that the luncheon for the Past President's Parley was held at the Blue Coat Inn, in Dover, recently. Five members from Harrington were present.

A letter of thanks from the Veteran's Hospital at Perry Point was read thanking the Unit for its donations to the Mardi Gras Fund.

The National President, Mrs. Vernon H. Randall, will arrive in Delaware on Fri., May 10 for her annual visit. A reception at 6:30 and banquet at 7 will be held that evening at the Hub Restaurant in Dover. The Unit voted to pay for the ticket of any member who wishes to attend, up to 10 tickets. Any member desiring to attend should make her reservation with Mrs. Dale Roth before May 4th.

A donation of $5 was made for the Department President's Project. This year the money will be used for equipment for the sanctuary of the new chapel at Perry Point VA Hospital.

Mrs. Bud Camper has accepted the position as chairman of the Child Welfare Committee to replace Mrs. Don Dell who has moved to Ohio. Mrs. Camper will assemble the items necessary for 10 first aid kits to be used in the migrant workers camps this summer.

A gift of $3 was voted on to be sent to the Indian girl in New Mexico who is a special project of the Department of Delaware.

The following members were appointed by Mrs. Outten to serve on the Nominating Committee: Mrs. Roth, Mrs. Harold Fry, Mrs. Stuart, and Mrs. Henry Bullock.

Mrs. Larry Grinolds, Mrs. Oscar T. Roberts, Mrs. Jarvis Hurd,

Mrs. Ted Layton and Mrs. Harold Melvin will serve on the refreshment committee for May. Special guests at the May meeting will be representatives from the Senior Citizen's Center.

Mrs. Fry has asked for some members to assist at the matinee races being held this Saturday and next Saturday. This is a child welfare project of the Legion Post. Call her if you can help on either Saturday.

Blue Cross Managing Dir. Re-elected

Re-election of Harold V. Maybee, managing director of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Delaware, Inc., to the Board of Governors of the Blue Cross Association was announced at the annual meeting of the nation's 75 Blue Cross Plans in San Francisco.

The board is the governing body of the national organization to which all Blue Cross Plans belong. At the annual meeting, Blue Cross membership was reported to have reached record levels. In the United States, the number of persons Blue Cross serves has reached nearly 84 million, more than 40 per cent of the population.

The Blue Cross system of local Plans stepped up the dollar volume of its benefit services more than 25 per cent in 1967. Blue Cross handled a total of nearly $6 billion for all health care services last year in both public and private sectors.

"Some Results Of Improperly Posed Problems"

Professor Lawrence E. Payne, director of the Center for Applied Mathematics at Cornell University, will lecture at the University of Delaware on Friday, April 19, at 2:10 p.m.

The topic of his colloquium in Room 219, Sharp Laboratory, will be "Some Results of Improperly Posed Problems."

Dr. Payne was an associate of the Institute of Fluid Dynamics and Applied Mathematics for 14 years. He also has served as a consultant to the National Bureau of Standards and has been a National Science Foundation Senior Fellow at Kings College in New Castle, England.

His research specialties include elasticity, isothermic inequalities and approximation equations.

The colloquium is open to the public without charge.

FENCE TALK

with George K. Vapaa

Birds in Delaware will be the subject of our meeting on April 22 at the new Dover YMCA. The starting time is 8 p.m., the meeting is free, and open to everyone who wants to attend.

It is cosponsored by the YMCA, the Game and Fish Commission and the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Delaware. Exhibits of bird houses, bird feeders and free bulletins will be offered at the same time.

Three topics will be offered: "Bird House and Ways to Enjoy Them," by Dr. Dale Bray of the University of Delaware; "Waterfowl at Bombay Hook Reserve," by Norman Holgerson and "Picturing Bird Life in the Nest," Dr. Lester Greene of Georgetown.

Emphasis will be given to purple martins, a variety of bird which catches and eats insects on the fly. We hope to see more martin houses erected in the Dover area. For they certainly help to keep mosquitoes under control!

The McCauley's Pond Watershed area seems to offer one of the best potentials for rural community development of any area in Kent County. The landowners recognize this and are moving ahead nicely with their plans. Our Technical Action Panel of USDA agency people is working with them.

A film titled "Rural Holidays" was used at the last membership meeting. It is available for showing to other groups thru Fred Mott, our soil conservationist, or from our Extension Service Office. Call 697-3376 or 738-1448. The 25 minute color film tells of vacation farms, rural day camps, camp sites, hunting preserves and outdoor winter sports.

The residents will soon come up with priority projects for community improvements. Aerial photos will be used to help design such activities as a boy scout canoe training camp, a put-and-take trout fishing stretch along the stream, a low-income housing and beautification project, vacation farms and private camping areas. The hope is that all of these things can be done within the framework of what is a prosperous farm community.

These plans are a splendid example of the multiple uses which can be developed for land. Our TAP group is already finding other community leaders interested in this.

Peat-Lite Mix is a superior seed germinating media. Bob Stevens, our extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware, has provided a simpler mixture than was given in this column some time ago.

Here are the recipes for two small quantities: For a one-peck mix use 4 quarts of vermiculite #2 size, 4 quarts of shredded peat moss, 1 tablespoon of limestone, 1 teaspoon of superphosphate, and 2 tablespoons of 5-10-5 fertilizer.

Termites are flying again and this is probably the best time to be on the lookout for them. Most everyone knows that termites or "fat ants" work on wooden foundations of houses or garages.

Check to make sure that no wood comes in direct contact with the soil. Or that mud tunnels or tubes do not stretch from the ground to the wood. Check particularly around wooden steps or door sills, or along cracks of the footing - both inside and out of the building.

Don't panic if you are suspicious. We have free bulletin materials to help you. You can do the work yourself (if you don't mind hard work) or get written estimates from two or more members of the Delaware Pest Control Association. You can find them listed and advertised in the Yellow Pages of the phone directory.

Conserving Soil and Water is the theme, May 6th the deadline. Anyone of school age may submit a poster on any phase of conservation. Posters should be about 22" x 28". Submit them to the Soil Conservation Office, 2319 South Dual Highway (near the Camden - U.S. 13 intersection). Cash prizes will be awarded with the top three posters placed on display at the Delaware State Fair. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Delaware Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts sponsor this contest each year in observance of Soil Stewardship Week—May 19-26.

Dairy 4-H members and families are invited to a judging and type clinic at the Joseph Moore Farm, April 20th from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Professor Roger Emig, Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, Lancaster, Pa., will be the judge and teacher. A good opportunity for 4-H'ers to start this year's judging training.

Save Your Easter Lily

Potted Easter lilies, a holiday symbol to many Delawareans, will last for several weeks if properly cared for, says Dr. Richard Lighty, assistant professor of horticulture at the University of Delaware.

To keep your Easter lily in full bloom, put it in the coolest sunny place available, he suggests. But, don't leave it in a dark corner. You can certainly use your lily as a centerpiece or living room decoration, but be careful not to leave it in a warm place for too long.

Lilies need proper drainage, says Lighty. So don't let water stand in foil wrapped pots. Water the plant only when the soil appears dry, then add enough water to wet all the soil in the pot. Let excess moisture drain into a plate or saucer.

If you have cared for your lily properly, it should still be green when the danger of frost has passed, usually in early May. Pick a sunny well drained spot in the garden and plant the lily. Place the contents of the pot so the top is about two inches below the soil surface. Fill the hole and water well. Chances are the lily will naturally turn brown and lose its leaves before too long.

Sometimes in the fall, the plant will send up new shoots in an effort to bloom again before frost set in. While this is somewhat undesirable, it will not harm the plant. Don't dig up the lily in the fall, cautions Lighty. These plants are hardy and will overwinter nicely.

In general, Easter lilies are inferior to lilies bred specifically for the garden, says Lighty. But most people like to see if they can keep their holiday plant blooming in the garden each spring.

Around Home

with Jean H. Cranston

A practical decorating idea is to have two or three interchangeable sets of slipcovers for dining room chairs—and to change these covers to match or complement various table settings.

Slipcovers, or tie-on pads, require a minimum of fabric and could be made of interesting washable materials that would add charm to family or party meals. When "best" china is used, the covers could pick up a color from its pattern—or, for a special occasion, plans a centerpiece of flowers to match or harmonize with the chairs.

Use inexpensive fabrics that are machine washable—the sewing would be mostly straight stitching that even a beginning seamstress could manage.

Control Crabgrass Now

Now that grass has begun growing again, Delaware lawn enthusiasts will soon be faced with a perennial headache—crabgrass, says Dr. William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware.

But don't despair. Crabgrass can be controlled and now is an ideal time to tackle the problem. Several herbicides available at home and garden centers will control crabgrass, says Mitchell. Pre-emergence herbicides—those applied before crabgrass appears—are usually more effective than post-emergence chemicals, but all approved chemicals are safe for lawn use. In using herbicides, be sure to read and follow the directions on the container, he cautions.

To apply crabgrass treatment, mow the grass, then rake and clean the lawn thoroughly. Apply the herbicide evenly and don't disturb the lawn with further raking. Water and mow the lawn as usual. For best results, apply herbicides sometime after the first of April or before soil temperatures reach 60 degrees.

If you lawn—or your neighbor's—was plagued with crabgrass last year, you'll undoubtedly need to use a herbicide, says Mitchell. Millions of seeds fell to the ground and, given a chance, will sprout this year. As soon as the soil warms up, they will germinate and grow wherever there's a tiny patch of bare soil.

Another way to control crabgrass is to keep it from showing up at all, says Mitchell. A thick stand of turf will choke out crabgrass before it can become established. Plenty of water, proper fertilization and frequent mowing at a two-inch height will encourage vigorous turf with few bare spots.

Harold P. Green

Harold P. Green, 43, of Felton, died last Friday in Milford Memorial Hospital after being stricken at his home.

He was a lifelong resident of Delaware, a retired laborer and a veteran of World War II. He was a member of the Simpler Adams War Post, VFW.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Maude Green, of Felton; five brothers, John, George, William, Benjamin and Chipman, all of Felton, and four sisters, Mrs. Mary Legates and Mrs. Myrtle Killen, both of Felton; Mrs. Estella Tucker, of Harrington, and Mrs. Margaret Hollenger of Rising Sun.

Services were held Monday afternoon in the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, with interment in Hopkins Cemetery.

Boy Scout Troop No. 79 News

Boy Scout Troop No. 79, held a court of honor on Tuesday evening, April 9, at St. Stephen's Church, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Neil Russell.

Robert McNally, the institutional representative, presented the awards to the following boys: James Russell, public speaking and safety merit badges; John Russell and Robert Cerkljeskie, tenderfoot; Terry Turcotte, four year pin; Thomas Clarke, second class; Ronald Letterman, first class and citation. After the meeting ended, refreshments of cake, coffee and coke were served.

The Troop received the 1967 National Camping and "The Plus Three" awards at the Del-Mar-Va Scout dinner held in Milford. The Troop also received a ribbon for Goodwill Day. Donald Draper has joined the troop as assistant scoutmaster.

The mothers of the Scouts made the cakes.

Workshop For Fraternity Leaders

A workshop for fraternity leaders will be held at the University of Delaware on Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28, in the Student Center.

The program will open at noon on Saturday with a luncheon in the Morgan-Vallandigham Room and will continue through Sunday afternoon.

John E. Hocutt, vice president for student affairs, will be the luncheon speaker, taking as his topic, "Some Notes on Leadership."

Topics under discussion during the conference will be parliamentary procedure, intramural teams, social programming, fraternity public relations, motivation, ideas and resources, interfraternity public relations, motivation, ideas and resources, interfraternity playbill, chapter house safety, scholarship, food management and alumni involvement in fraternity activities.

The conference is designed to focus attention on the importance of fraternity leadership, to provide practical as well as theoretical assistance to fraternity members, to promote interfraternity cooperation and to assist in constructive program development.

University participants in addition to Vice President Hocutt will include Dr. Ray E. Keesey, associate dean of Arts and Sciences; Michael D. Archino, assistant director of recreation and intramural sports; Miss Susanna Occhi, instructor of women's physical education; Dr. Ralph V. Exline, associate professor of psychology; Jack S. Sturgell, student center director; Michael L. Rabbitt, technical director, E 52 University Theatre; Donald P. Hardy, dean of men; Stuart J. Sharkey, director of residence; Dr. John E. Worthen, assistant to the provost; William Baldt, assistant director of admissions; and Gilbert P. Volmi, director of housing and dining services.

Guest participants will be W. Glenn Dill, a partner in Evans, Dill & Co., of Wilmington, and Leonard B. Wilson Jr., safety supervisor with the DuPont Co.

Fraternity presidents and past presidents and members of alumni corporations of Delaware's ten national chapters will chair the panel discussions and meetings.

Interested persons are invited to make luncheon reservations with Howard Gostin, Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity, 48 W. Park Pl., Newark, by April 19.

Criminal Lawyer Lecture at U. of D.

A paid professional fighter who often holds a man's life in his hands will lecture at the University of Delaware on Thursday, April 18, at 8 p.m.

F. Lee Bailey, brilliant criminal lawyer, who achieved the sensational reversal of Dr. Sam Sheppard's murder conviction and the acquittal of Dr. Carl Coppolino in New Jersey, has said every trial lawyer is a professional fighter. Like a fighter he places the greatest emphasis on preparation. Bailey is an expert at preparation, it is said he knows more about electronic snooping than anybody short of the F.B.I.

Bailey will speak on "Justice and the Press" in a Mitchell Hall lecture sponsored by the Student Center Council. The public is invited without charge.

At 33, Bailey has had only six years of legal practice before the bar, but while studying law at Boston University he opened an investigative agency. In addition to his schooling, he has served three years as a staff legal officer while a jet fighter pilot in the Marine Corps. By the time his enlistment ended he had gained considerable courtroom experience.

His unique record of success in the courtroom has made Bailey a most sought-after speaker. He attributes his success to having witnesses and evidence meticulously screened and knowledge of damaging as well as beneficial facts, before going into the courtroom.

Sypherd Memorial Lecture Series To Feature Poet

A distinguished American poet will be the fifth speaker in the Sypherd Memorial Lecture Series in English at the University of Delaware on Thurs., April 18.

Dr. Louis M. Simpson, professor of English at the State University of New York at Stony Brook, will present "A Reading of Poems" in the Rodney Room of the Student Center at 4 p.m. The program is open to the public without charge.

A native of Jamaica, West Indies, Dr. Simpson became a U.S. citizen in 1944. He holds three degrees from Columbia University, where he taught from 1955 to 1959. He also has worked for the Bobbs-Merrill Publishing Co. of New York and was professor of English at the University of California at Berkeley from 1959 to 1967.

Recipient of the Prix de Rome for 1957-58, Simpson was also a literary fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Letters and a Fellow in Poetry for "The Hudson Review" the same year. He was a Fellow of the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation in 1962-63. In 1964 he was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in Poetry for his book, "At the End of the Open Road."

His other books of poetry include "The Arrivistes," "Good News of Death," "A Dream of Governors," "Selected Poems," and "An Introduction to Poetry." He is author of a novel, "Riverside Drive," and "James Hogg: A Critical Study." His poems and articles have appeared in numerous magazines.

In 1965 Simpson was awarded the Columbia University Medal for Excellence, and in 1966 he received a grant from the National Foundation for the Arts and Humanities.

Century Club News

The annual club luncheon of the Harrington New Century Club was held in the club house on Tuesday afternoon with many members and guests present to enjoy the gala occasion. The club house was lovely with spring flowers and beautifully appointed tables. Mrs. James D. Moore, the president, presided and introduced the official guests. Mrs. William D. Siddons, of Wilmington, president of the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs, was the guest of honor and brought greetings. Also present were Mrs. Raymond Townsend, of Georgetown, vice president of Sussex County, and Mrs. Henry Tracy, of Dover, vice president of Kent County, and the presidents of 15 local clubs.

A delicious and bountiful luncheon was served by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Asbury Church. Lovely programs were made by Mrs. H. Terry Johnson and the pianist was Mrs. David Greenly.

The theme of the program "Weather" was carried out well throughout the afternoon. Mrs. Floyd Nasser read a paper which she had written in a very clever way on "Weather or Not". Three songs in keeping with the theme were sung at appropriate times in the program. They were, "Singing in the Rain", "April Showers" and "Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella."

A rainwear fashion show was given by the Hess Apparel Shoppe of Milford. The narrator was Mrs. Inez Lusby, of Salisbury and the models were Miss Betty Cain of Salisbury, Mrs. Joseph Konesey and Mrs. Norman Oliver, of Harrington.

The chairmen of the various committees who made the affair so successful were: Program, Mrs. James Fair; decorations, Mrs. Ridgely W. Vane; tables, Mrs. George Mahony; hospitality, Mrs. Charles L. Peck, Jr.

Next Tuesday, April 23, the club will have its last meeting for this year when the president's tea, reports of officers and the installation of officers for the coming club term of two years will take place.

AAPT Annual Meeting at Univ.

Physics teachers from the Central Pennsylvania Section will gather at the University of Delaware April 19-20 for the annual meeting of the American Association of Physics Teachers.

More than 45 colleges and universities from central and eastern Pennsylvania and northern Delaware will send representatives to inspect the physics facilities at the university and hear physics educators speak. Delaware's physics department recently received a half-million dollar grant from the National Science Foundation to expand the scope of undergraduate and graduate instruction.

First-day proceedings include the presentation of papers by members. Highlight of the evening schedule will be a lecture by Dr. John G. King of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A native of England, Dr. King received his B.S. and Ph. D. from M.I.T. and joined the faculty of that institution in 1953. He became a full professor in 1965. Atomic physics, molecular beams and cosmology are his research specialties, but he also enjoys designing novel laboratories for undergraduate physics courses.

The second day of the two-day session will be devoted to consideration of the use of computers in the teaching of physics. Invited talks, contributed papers, live demonstrations using a teletype and telephone line connected to a computer in Washington, D. C., and a round table discussion will assess the value of computers in physics education.

Coordinator for the conference is Dr. Charles B. Cooper, professor of physics at the university.

Announcing Chevrolet's new Torque-Drive.

Nobody else offers anything like it at the price. Torque-Drive does away with the clutch pedal. Most of the shifting, too. And for the most economy, it's available exclusively on all Camaro sixes and Chevy II Nova 4- and 6-cylinder models. Look how simple it is. You accelerate in 1st; then shift to Hi for cruising. That's all. If you like, you can even start in Hi. And accelerate from standstill to cruising speed. It's just a little slower that way.

Senior Center News

Thurs., April 11th three new projects were discussed and the members were shown the art of making handbags from furniture webbing and variegated wool. Mrs. Mary Greenley generously loaned us her bag in order that the members could see the completed product.

Mon., April 15th while the Century Club was preparing for a state function 20 members from the center traveled to the Petersburg Recreational Center and before a cozy fire enjoyed a picnic luncheon. After lunch toasted marshmallows, games and socializing was enjoyed by everyone.

Thurs., April 18th will be our monthly birthday party and we will be celebrating the birthdays of Mary Thistlewood, Reba Smith, Lucy Knipper, Mabel Kemp, Bernice Johnson and Sadie Chambers. Don't forget each person attending is to bring a cherished memento and it is to explain why they cherish it.

Our First Ceramics class will start at 1 p.m. Thursday, April 25. Mrs. Jean Wilson and Mrs. Dorothy Melson of Greenwood, will be our instructors. We have made arrangements to have six sets of brushes and tools available for use and the first piece of greenware and the glazes necessary to finish your first piece will be furnished free and the finished products sold at our next bazaar. Please bring a piece of sponge, small dish for water, soft cloth and a small box to hold your piece at the first class. If you want to join the class call the director immediately. Remember you must be 60 years of age and a member of the Harrington Senior Center but applications for membership will be available upon request. After the first lesson members will be expected to purchase through the center their own equipment, greenware and glazes for items they wish to keep. Each member will, also, be responsible for caring for their own equipment. Other rules and regulations will be issued at the first class. The D. & J. Ceramics Shop at Greenwood (who will be the girls instructing us) are to have a ceramics sale Wed., April 24. You might like to go down and see the type greenware they have available.

Starting May 1st the Center will be open Monday, Tuesday and Thursday and closed on Fridays until further notice. Watch for the May program which will show the changes in activities and the days they will be held. Mary Cooper has entered Milford Memorial Hospital for observation and we do hope she will soon be back with us and in good health.

Farmers To Plant Less Corn, More Soybeans

Delaware farmers may want to take a last-minute look at how much corn and soybeans farmers elsewhere plan to produce in 1968, suggested W. T. McAllister, extension farm management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Local prices for corn and soybeans are usually a few cents above the national level, says McAllister. But it is the total national supply in relation to the total demand for corn and soybeans that actually determines the price level.

Corn growers, disappointed by low corn prices and difficult harvesting this past fall and winter, have indicated through the USDA's Farmers' Intentions Survey that they plan to grow less corn and sorghum and more soybeans this year. If intentions are actually carried out—and historically reports have been quite accurate—corn plantings would be down by almost six million acres.

In 1967, over 70.9 million acres of corn were planted. If this were reduced to 64.9 million acres, as currently projected, it would result in the smallest number of acres of corn harvested in the Twentieth Century. However, a large crop of corn would still be produced because of improving yields.

Based on normal weather conditions, a total crop of 4.5 billion bushels would be expected in 1968 compared with 4.7 billion bushels in 1967.

There is also some concern about the level of soybean prices this fall if there is a two million acre increase in plantings, says McAllister. Soybean prices help up fairly well this fall and winter in spite of the largest crop on record. This has encouraged farmers to divert acreage from corn to soybeans.

A substantial quantity of the 1967 crop has been placed under CCC loan and prices the remainder of 1968 are likely to rise enough to bring some of these soybeans into the market. However, an unusually large carry-over of the 1967 crop into the 1968 crop year is almost certain.

The combination of a large carry-over plus a billion-bushel crop in 1968 would put soybeans in a surplus position and cause weak prices, he concludes.

The Houston Methodist Church observed Easter with a community sunrise service at Blair's Pond. At 6 a.m. a large crowd greeted the sunrise with the Easter song, "He Lives." Gene McNatt and Mike Barto provided the trumpet accompaniment and played two brass duets. "In the Garden" was sung by a men's trio; Ralph Jump, Jr., William Fisher, and the Rev. Harry Bradford.

The pastor's message was centered around Job's words in Job 19:25-26, "I know that my Redeemer liveth." He stated that the resurrection touched the lives of four people: James (Jesus' brother), Peter, Mary Magdalene, and Paul. Each had a specific need that Christ met and he can meet our special needs today.

Special thanks are expressed to the young people who helped with the service: Danny Morton, Bobby Southard, Douglas Morton, and Kenneth Blessing.

At the 11 o'clock worship service the choir sang the anthems, "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today" and "Were You There?". Mrs. Eleanor Yerkes was organist for the service.

The pastor's topics were: Junior flannelgraph, "The Little Green Ball" and sermon, "With Jesus on the Mountain - the Mount of Triumph."

At the conclusion of the service ten young people were received into church membership.

Help Stamp Out Spring Cleaning

Why let dirt pile up so spring, the prettiest season, is spent behind rags and mops?

Budget your time, says Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware. Then you can have time to enjoy your family and leisure activities.

Tasks should be distributed throughout the week, alternating heavy with light chores. How about doing one room thoroughly every week or two? This plan upsets only one room at a time—not area is neglected and cleaning is much easier.

Plan your chores ahead of time; it helps you avoid early morning indecision. Miss Morris suggests a final blackboard or bulletin board where tasks for everyone could be posted. Train children to share responsibilities for their own possessions and household jobs.

Check your cleaning skills; maybe they need polishing. Could you combine jobs and save steps? Are you using proper cleaning tools? Or, are your standards too high?

A small portable container for frequently-used cleaning supplies will save you many wasted steps. A long extension cord on the vacuum cleaner will cut down plugging and unplugging from socket to socket. If you dust windows frequently, they'll need less washing. Draperies tumbled in a dryer keep fresh and dusted and need less laundering.

Miss Morris warns that "rush" cleaning is not the same thing as efficient cleaning. She suggests that you time yourself on cleaning jobs so you know which ones can be done in 5, 10, or 15 minutes. Do one or two 5-minute jobs while you wait for dinner to cook.

It's hard to write a formula for a good housekeeper, concludes Miss Morris, but it's easy to recognize a good housekeeper's home.

Mrs. William E. Jones

Mrs. Euphania Jones, 84, of West Asheville, N. C., died Saturday in West Asheville Hospital after a long illness.

Her husband, William E. Jones, died many years ago.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Marian Jones, of West Asheville; two sons, John, of Asheville, N. C., and Lewis, of Miami; four grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Collier, of Camden-Wyoming and Mrs. Charles Messick of Harrington; and two brothers, Samuel Andrew of Farmington and Charles Andrew of Blackbird.

Services were held yesterday afternoon at the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home, Harrington. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery.

Ralph Jewell

Ralph Jewell, 83, died Saturday at his Burrsville home here after a long illness.

Mr. Jewell was a retired farmer. His wife, Mrs. Clara Workman Jewell, died in 1958.

There are no immediate survivors. Services were held Wednesday afternoon at the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington.

'No Grazing' Period Nears For Diversion Program

Farmers were reminded today that the "no grazing" period for diverted acres under the 1968 feed grain program will start May 1. It will continue for the following five months until October 1st.

J. Helyman Roosa, chairman, Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, explains that farmers who are diverting acreage under the program have agreed not to graze the diverted acres during a specific 5-month period of the growing season and not to harvest a crop from diverted acres at any time during the year.

Farmers participating in the Conservation Reserve and Cropland Adjustment programs have agreed not to graze land diverted under these programs or harvest any crop from such land during the life of the agreements.

Kent County farms signed up to participate in the 1968 commodity diversion programs for corn and grain sorghum number about 405. In the wheat program there are 241. In the Conservation Reserve program, 17 and in the Cropland Adjustment program 16 are participating.

Junior Trackmen Swamp Rebels

Harrington's Junior High trackmen piled up 57 points to Selbyville's 15 in a 7-8-9 track meet held here Wednesday afternoon.

Jim Deputy won the 50 yard dash, ran second in the 100, then anchored the winning 440 relay team.

Norman Baynard soared 15 feet 3 1/2" to win the broad jump, placed second in the 50 and shared high jump honors with teammate Steve Gannon.

Dwight Ross tossed the eight-pound shot 37 feet for his first career victory after a second place last week. Fred White anchored the 220 and was a member of the winning relay teams.

Jim Redden fought off a first lap challenge by Williams of Selbyville to take the 880 in 2:33.9. Jackie D. Parker, a 12-year-old, seventh-grader, finished fast for a close third place effort in 2:41.8. This was a very fine performance considering that the slender trackhead had won an exhibition mile in fast time less than 30 minutes before.

Wardell Davis and Donald Parker finished second and third to Baynard in the broad jump for a 1-2-3 H.H.S. sweep. Parker, Tommy Clarke, White and Deputy sped to victory in the 440 relay. Randy Cagle, Bill Walls, White and John Gray made up the winning 880 relay unit. Walls picked up thirds in the 50 and 220.

50—J. Deputy, H; 2, N. Baynard, H; 3, Walls, H—6.5

100—M. Bunting, S; 2, J. Deputy, H; 3, D. Parker, H

220—J. F. White, H; 2, M. Bunting, S; 3, Walls, H—27.5

880—J. Redden, H; 2, Williams, S; 3, J. Parker, H—2:33.9

440 Relay—1, Harrington (D. Parker, Clarke, White, J. Deputy)—56

880 Relay—1, Harrington (R. Cagle, Walls, White, Gray)—2:41.8

High Jump—1, Tie (S. Gannon, N. Baynard, H)

Broad Jump—1, N. Baynard, H; 2, Davis, H; 3, D. Parker, H—15 feet, 3 1/2 inches

Shot Put—1, Ross, H; 2, Blake, S; 3, Brinkley, S—37 ft.

crused around in 6.23, a fabulous performance for one so young. Kim Hitchens and George Davis, both 12, were next with another 9-year-old Ray Gannon getting the last of the seven trophies with an excellent 6.48.

Two other starters have been under the weather lately but gamely finished the arduous trek, nevertheless. Don Bryant and Mark Krouse have won awards for running in the past and have the ability to win more trophies in the future.

The "Pacing Parkers" and Danny Porter, have all the requisites for future greatness, if we can only keep them at it.

Harrington Bowling League

Robbins Hardware proved to be no match for league leading Acme Tuesday night as the grocery boys cleaned up shop, winning three games and the final third title. Congratulations for a real fine effort goes to Acme, who maintained a superb show of bowling in the final weeks of competition. R. Gray once again lead Acme to victory, rolling a grand 219 game, coupled with other fine efforts on the part of the rest of the teammates. Consistency proved to be the key to their success as they rolled over opponents since taking the league lead several weeks ago. Warning! Look out for them in the finals!

Kent Gas didn't fare too well Tuesday night, losing three games from McKnatt Funeral Home. They still managed to remain in the second place spot though they fell into a tie with Wally's Garage for that position. H. Wheeler led the way for Kent Gas with a grand 574 series, including a nice 201 game. Bowling well for McKnatt's was R. Garey, who amassed a superb 581 series, including a league leading 225 game for the night. Kent Gas must pull out all stops to win the championship title, as McKnatt's will be one of their opponents and Kent Gas hasn't fared too well with them thus far this season.

Wally's Garage fell victim to a team called the Spoilers (an appropriate name for sure) Tuesday night, causing them to split four games. Being a game and a half out of first place, Wally's Garage had to win all four games and hope that Acme would make a poor showing. Of course, neither happened, so they (Wally's Garage) must be content with a tie for second place in the final third as the season comes to a close. G. Hobbs rolled a real fine 214 game to aid the Spoilers.

Hamilton Fund and Jarrell Fuel battled it out, with Jarrell Fuel taking all four games. Neither team moved in the standings, but the fine showing by Jarrell Fuel kept them from slipping into the cellar. Leading the way for Jarrell Fuel was R. Jarrell, who rolled a very fine 571 series.

Penn. R. R. got a good assist from M. Brown, who rolled a fine 219 game, but it wasn't enough to offset a strong showing by Taylor & Messick, who swamped them for four games.

B. Collins picked the last night of competition for Taylor & Messick to end the season in grand style, rolling his first ever 600 plus series. With very fine games of 208 and 214 he amassed a grand league leading 605 series.

And, so, with the final third over, the rest of the team can take a deep breath, relax and sit back and watch Acme, McKnatt Funeral Home and Kent Gas battle it out for the championship. The contest will begin Monday evening at the bowling lanes.

On the basis of performance records, Acme will have to be the team favored to win the championship. But, on the other side of the coin, Kent Gas is due for a good night or two, and they have the credentials to back them up if they can all get together for an all out effort. McKnatt Funeral Home, on the other hand, has beaten both these teams soundly during the season, and if they bowl true to form, the title will be theirs.

An election of officers was held Tuesday evening at the bowling lanes, with the following officers elected for the coming year: President, David Ryan; vice-president, Daniel Pearson; secretary, LeRoy (Hank) Wheeler, and treasurer, Donald Wilson.

Track Lions Rout Rebels and Bears

Harold McDonald's Harrington High track team won its second triangular meet in a row Wednesday afternoon, by amassing 88 1/2 points to 33 1/2 for John M. Clayton and 15 for Selbyville. Last week the locals defeated Lewes and Rehoboth.

Freshman Chris Wetherhold and sophomore Ken Tribbett were key Harrington performers, winning two events each.

The weatherman promised 70 degrees weather with 5-mile winds. At 12 p.m. the weather was ideal. By four o'clock the temperature plummeted and a stiff south wind made the scene miserable.

Wetherhold's easy mile win was 4:51.8 compared to his lifetime best of 4:51 flat. His 880 romp in 2:10.3 was his top two-lap effort of 1968. Only the weather kept him from easily bettering both those times.

Tribbett was actually the top point scorer for Harrington, as he captured the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, then anchored the 800 relay team to a lopsided triumph.

John Swain may have the longest stride ever by a Lion trackman. John nipped Ronald "The Champ" Morris at the tape in 55 seconds flat, good time for the conditions, in the quarter mile run.

Nick Morris and Earl Nichols took the pole vault and high jump, respectively. Nichols is a senior, out for sports for the first time.

The Lion 880 relay team zipped to a swift 1:40.7 clocking and would probably have broken 1:40 but for a mixup at one baton-strides back and probably broke (Ron Morris, Tolbert Harris, Jerry Cagle, Ken Tribbett) looks like the cream of the Henlopen Conference.

A few minutes later Cagle and Harris had to run in the mile relay, along with Nick Morris and John Swain. This foursome coasted in easily in a slow but winning 4:04.7. When fresh and pressed they can do much better.

Bill Webb scored heavily for Harrington with seconds in the high jump, shot put and discus. He spun the platter out close to 100 feet, the top Lion throw of the last two years.

Brad Morris, a freshman, works harder than most Lions and is showing steady improvement. His 5:23 mile effort was eight seconds faster than last week. Bob Smith, an eighth grader, was next for a 1-2-3 H.H.S. finish.

John Shulties, a 13-year-old eighth grader, is six feet, one inch tall and ranks with Chris Wetherhold, Jackie D. Parker and Danny Porter, a fourth grader, as the boys who may go much farther in track, than have any previous Harringtonians. One or two might make the grade internationally.

Shulties in his first few weeks of track has broadjumped close to 18 feet, made long throws in the shot put, neared 2.25 in the half mile and demonstrated great potential in the quarter mile. When Swain and Morris crossed together in 55 flat, the young giant was only a few strides back and probably broke 59 seconds in his first 440 race. Actually, he runs very well at and including three miles.

Like Wetherhold, this boy is a top candidate for a future athletic scholarship in track. If he stays healthy and keeps his interest in the running sports. With a cast on, he won't make it.

After his fine 440 effort, Shulties had enough left to grab third in the 880 behind Wetherhold and B. Lynch, of John M. Clayton. Louis Kemp, recently switched to the half, came on strong for fourth in personal record time. Kemp was once a top cross-country prospect but grew too heavy for the long grind and switched to football. But the years also put on added strength and maturity which made the sophomore able to run well in the middle distances, the quarter and half miles.

Jerry Cagle finished second in the 100 yard dash and ran on both winning relay fours. Coach McDonald's recent switching of Cagle has beefed up both the century and the 880 relay, a couple of previous trouble spots.

John Brown, an outstanding prospect two years ago, is concentrating on baseball this year. Brown surprised with an 11:58 two mile effort. Actually the former 880 relay leadoff man, when in top shape, could be used in a half dozen different running events. A natural runner, he is just that versatile. As an eighth-grader, in 1966 he posted an excellent 2:21 half mile while shin-

Gardner said that Delmarva "suffered no serious losses of property or curtailment of operations during the recent unrest in Wilmington.

"We are working with other employers in Wilmington to provide job opportunities for those living in slum areas. We have hired a number of people from these areas for jobs within their capabilities, and believe this is a problem which should continue to receive our support," Gardner said.

Gardner said a major effort to reduce air pollution will be made this year with installation of an electrostatic precipitator on the No. 3 unit at the Delaware City Station, at cost of about $700,000. He said: "Substantial expenditures will be required in future years both for construction and operating purposes in our continued effort to reduce air pollution."

Felton Wins Baseball Opener

Bob "Red" Dill has been a thorny problem to Felton High's Henlopen Conference rivals for "a, these many years". But Father Time is catching up with the chunky, Viola carrot-top, for Dill is now in his last sport season for the Green-and-White.

He held visiting Millsboro to three hits and got that many himself, to lead a 13-hit Green Devil attack, that beat the Blue Devils 15-3. Sipple, Thompson, McCloskey and Fisher had two safeties each for the winners in the Tuesday afternoon tilt.

J. D. Parker Wins Age 12 Mile

Jackie D. Parker, Harrington's splendid seventh-grade distance runner, won an exhibition mile run for boys 12-and-under, here, on Wednesday afternoon. This race was set up when a similar race won by Harrington boys at Tower Hill School, Wilmington, in 1966 and 1967 was canceled.

Chris Wetherhold won the first test with Donald Parker emerging victorious last year.

Jackie was shadowed by Tommy Clarke for two laps in 2 minutes and 50 seconds. Danny Porter, a tremendously-talented 11-year-old, fourth grader slipped into second place after three laps with Clarke holding third position.

Howard Parker, Jackie's brother, is only nine years old but
