

Property Tax Gets 6¢ Boost In Special School District

The property tax of Harrington Special School District was raised 6¢ per $100 Thursday night, May 9, at a meeting of the Board of Education of Harrington Special School District. The capitation tax remained unchanged at $11.

The new property tax rate will be 70¢ per $100, against 64¢ last year. The increase was cited to be used for minor capital improvements, to be paid off in two years.

The breakdown of the usage of real and capitation taxes is as follows:

For bonded indebtedness—24¢ per $100 of assessed valuation and $10.20 of the capitation tax.

For current expenses—40¢ per $100 of assessed valuation and the remaining 80¢ of the capitation tax.

For minor capital improvements—6¢ per $100 of assessed valuation for each of the next two years.

A letter from the Board of Education listed 60¢ for current expenses, but Albert W. Adams, secretary of the board and superintendent of schools, said the figure was in error.

Returning to the tax raise, the letter reads as follows: "The last-mentioned tax of 6¢ (minor capital improvement) was authorized in House Bill 267 passed by the General Assembly. Under this bill each school district is required to carry out needed school improvements—other than new construction—from funds 60 per cent of which are provided by the state and 40 per cent by the local district. The local district's share may be derived from a short-term bank loan, to be paid off from local tax revenue, by the sale of bonds, or by a local tax to be collected without a referendum during the period the act is in force."

FFA Presents State Awards

Four Delaware Future Farmers of America have been awarded the Diamond Farmer degree at the 38th annual state FFA convention on the University of Delaware's Newark campus.

Wayne Hendricks, a Harrington High School graduate and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers A. Hendricks, received the Star Diamond Farmer degree from state FFA president Dewey Whitmore, Greenwood.

Diamond Farmer awards were also presented to Eugene Dill, Caesar Rodney senior; E. Mark Phillips, a Sussex Vocational-Technical graduate; and George Wilkins, Milford senior.

Dill is the son of Mrs. Ethel Steele, Wyoming; Phillips the son of Mrs. Earl W. Phillips, Millsboro. Wilkins' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilkins, Milford.

Qualifications for the Diamond Farmer degree include completion of at least two years of vocational agriculture instruction; productively invested earnings; marked academic achievement; and leadership qualities in community affairs.

Other awards presented at the convention include the state junior and senior public speaking awards and the state parliamentary procedure award.

First place in the junior public speaking contest was awarded to William Harris, Milford. Edward Davis, Newark, was awarded first place in the senior division. The parliamentary procedure award was presented to members of the Caesar Rodney FFA chapter.

Cancer Crusade Returns $614.03

The Harrington Cancer Crusade for 1968 under the chairmanship of Mrs. Richard D. Baker, of 317 Weiner Avenue, and Miss Nancy Richardson, of 314 Calvin Street as co-chairman have reported $614.03 solicited from business and door-to-door contacts.

Sixty per cent of the money collected stays in the state for local assistance to cancer patients, education and research.

COMING EVENTS

The Marydel Chapter of the American Iris Society, is having an Iris Exhibit, at the American Legion Home on Dover St., in Easton, Maryland, on May 22nd, Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

"Harrington was allocated $40,000 in this program of which the state will furnish $24,000 and the local district $16,000. Projects under this act must be completed by June 30, 1970. Rather than attempt to raise the needed funds in one lump sum, which would necessitate a 12¢ real estate tax, the Board of Education resolved to carry out the needed repairs over a two-year period and raise half the amount required in each of two years.

"The work contemplated consists of repairs and renovations of the heating and heating control system in the 1928 building, renovation of the plumbing and toilet facilities in the 1928 building, renovation of the wiring and lighting facilities in the 1928 building, and conversion of some available space into additional classrooms. Successful completion of this last project could delay an additional building program by two or three years."

SAMUEL A. SHORT, JR., VETERAN GROCER, CIVIC LEADER TO RETIRE

By Albert C. Price
A veteran Harrington grocer will retire June 1 after 33 years in the business. However, his activity in other jobs covers 52 years.

Samuel A. Short, Jr., the proprietor of Short's Delmar Market, formerly known as Short's Clover Farm Store, plans on auctioning his merchandise at a date to be determined, unless someone desires to take over the business.

The liquidation of the market would leave Harrington with but three groceries. In reply to a statement one could make money there, Sam replied: "You dog-gone right you could."

He was born Aug. 16, 1897, in his grandmother Swain's house, on Hanley Street and Cain's (Gaines) Alley.

At 19, he began working for L. Booker Harrington's Harrington Hardware Store, now owned by Fulton J. Downing, on Commerce Street. He worked there two years and then returned to the family farm where he worked a year. The farm, a mile out on Dorman Street extended, is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Byron Kemp.

Sam, as he is familiarly known, worked two years in the signal crew of the Pennsylvania Railroad, now the Penn Central. In 1921, at the request of Harrington, Short returned as a clerk in the hardware store and worked 14 years.

In 1935, he purchased the grocery store on Center Street and operated it with the aid of his wife, Ethel.

The store was built by D. E. Sawtelle, in the 20's, but first operated by William Simpson, father of Edwin Simpson. The next operation was Elijah Harrington, with William Faulkner following suit. Short was the next owner.

Short has been, and is, active in church, fraternal, and civic affairs.

Comprehensive Development Plan Ready for Publication on City

Non-Conforming Uses

The present zoning map does create several areas of non-conformity. This is predominate in the commercial and manufacturing zone. A substantial number of residential uses of satisfactory quality are found in the commercial and industrial zones. Some thought should be given to making them conforming uses, if possible, through a change in the zoning district lines.

Zoning District Requirements
The R-1 district allows residential development to take place on lot sizes of 6,000 square feet or more, with a minimum frontage of 40 feet. Maximum building coverage is 30% and minimum set-back requirements are 35 feet. Single family, two family and multiple family units are permitted in this zone.

The R-2 district allows for the same uses as provided for in the R-1 zone. The major difference between the two zones is in the area and yard requirements. In the R-2 zone, a minimum lot size of 3,000 square feet is permitted along with a maximum lot coverage of 35%. Much of the area in the R-2 district is still undeveloped.

Further analysis will be given to zoning and its relationship to the proposed land use plan in a subsequent section of this report. In this regard, consideration will be given to the suitability of soil for various types of uses and in what areas new growth can be anticipated.

Soil Types in Kent County
Kent County possesses a variety of soil types. Some of the more common types which are found in the Harrington area include Pocomoke loam or sandy loam and Fallsington loam or sandy loam. These soils are black to grey in color and they are characterized as having poor drainage. The suitability of these soils to support urban types of uses is quite limited due to their constant wetness. Other soils found in the vicinity of Harrington include Woodstown loam or sandy loam, Klej loamy sands, Evesboro loamy sands and Sassafras loam or sandy loams. These soils range in color from brown

City Prepares For Annexation On Area East of Community

The City Council took its first step Monday night to attempt to annex an area south of Delaware 14 and east of U.S. 13.

It authorized a report to be prepared by Grover C. Brown, the city solicitor, to be sent by him to taxpayers in the area along Delaware 14 only considered for annexation but for which no improvements are contemplated in the near future. The report would consider the following: An assessment of $2,000 annually on all properties except farmland which would be exempt. For the assessment, the property owner would get trash collections and police protection. Trailers would be assessed at $2000 each.

A contract would enforce the above provisions five years, or until such time as the properties would receive all city utilities. The contract would be renewable.

The attorney's letter would stipulate a date, at the solicitor's convenience, when property owners could appear at a special meeting of the City Council. Councilmen hoped next Wednesday or Thursday would be suitable.

The Council emphasized the provisions of the attorney's report would not apply to an area along the northbound lane of U. S. 13 south. This area included the following: Land of Max Corder intended for a trailer lot; Callis-Thompson, Inc., Ace Manufacturing Company, and New Era Shirt Corporation (formerly Harrington Shirt Corporation).

Water and sanitary sewers are planned for this area and property owners would pay the usual city taxes if they, too, voted for annexation. It was said by city spokesmen the firms were interested in the move.

If those areas along U.S. 13 and Delaware 14 are annexed, the city limits will be extended to opposite Hollywood Cemetery and southward to a prong of Brown's Branch. The city's land then follows this prong westward to the present sewage disposal plant.

The municipal land, encompassing some 80 acres, can be annexed by a resolution.

Some 26 acres has been cleared and will be used for a new sewage disposal plant and two polishing ponds which would further purify the effluent from the plant.

HARRINGTON MANOR EYED FOR STREET IMPROVEMENTS

The City is contemplating street improvements in Harrington Manor, it was learned Monday night at a meeting of the City Council.

Improvements considered are blacktopping the unpaved portions of Dixon, Benjamin, and Center Streets, and patching up other streets.

Other business before the Council:

Gave right-of-way forms to Dale Phillips. He will try to get them filled out by property owners on Mud Road, a thoroughfare just off the ends of Milby and Mispillion Streets. The state highway department will improve the road if rights of way are granted.

The Harrington New Century Club said the City would note the 100th anniversary of its incorporation next year; the Century Club would observe its 60th anniversary, and the Delaware State Fair would observe its 50th year. No action was taken.

The police force was interviewed. The patrolmen wanted a 40-hour week instead of the usual 48 hours. Chief of Police Franklin Rogers is to make a report on it. The police requested radar but no action was taken. The police were warned to enforce parking laws.

Jackie Wyatt, president of the Jaycees, told the Council his organization would paint the fire-plugs, red and yellow curbs, and parking spaces. He added the work might begin Saturday if the City furnished the paint. The movement is part of the May cleanup and paintup.

Council is still looking at junk cars in town. City Solicitor Grover C. Brown said such vehicles could be towed by the City from the streets and those on private property could be termed a public nuisance.

AFS Fair Success; Donations Still Welcome

The AFS Fair held last Friday at the Harrington School was pronounced a decided success by Thomas Peck, American Field Chapter President at a meeting held at his home on Tuesday evening. A total of $637 was announced as the profit from the Fair and the Tag Day sale, plus a few more donations yet to be counted.

Mrs. Leon Kukulka, general chairman of the fair agreed that the day had been most worthwhile, with a large number of children enjoying all of the activities at the fair.

The profit will provide for a continuing program of the American Field Service Exchange Student for next year. It is the hope of the Chapter to be able to announce the name of the student for next year, and the host family, sometime early in June. All plans have been completed by the local committee, and they are awaiting notification from the AFS organization in New York.

Mr. Peck, Mrs. Kukulka and members of the Fair Committee expressed their thanks to all who helped in the planning and execution of the fair, and especially the parents and children who attended and took part in any way.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the American Field Service Harrington Chapter with time or money should call Tom Peck. All donations are welcome.

Delaware Food Market Report
by Anne Holberton

Are you counting calories? If your answer is "Yes", be sure to count the nutritive value in the foods you eat.

Those foods you allow yourself should contain more food energy. They should be packed with vitamins, minerals, and proteins needed to build your body and to help keep you in good health throughout your diet, as well as afterwards.

Since you will probably be eating less, you should be concentrating more than ever on quality food. There are many guides available to help you as you select the food you buy, such as U.S.D. grades, but it's also important to know yourself what is a truly fresh fruit or vegetable just in case the grade is not shown. It stands to reason a bunch of broccoli that has open buds and is wilted does not contain the necessary vitamins and minerals you need—so it is a poor buy regardless of price.

Let's take a look at a few foods that are relatively low in calories and see how to get the best eating quality.

Eggs are a dependable source of protein, iron, vitamin A and riboflavin (Vitamin B2) and they are one of the few foods that contain natural Vitamin D. Despite all of this, a large egg has only 80 calories, about 60 of which come from the yolk. When buying eggs, look for the U.S.D. A grade shield, for it will assure you of the quality you are looking for. The two top grades (Grade AA and A) are ideal for all purposes. You will find these grades in all sizes with the most common sizes Extra Large, Large, Medium and Small. Size, which is independent of quality, is based on weight per dozen.

Everyone enjoys truly fresh fruits and vegetables, particularly people who are counting calories. It's a joy to know most fresh, raw, unseasoned fruits have fewer than 100 calories per serving. Cantaloupes will soon be coming to market and they are a dieter's dream since they contain so few calories, only 40 calories per half. Yet they contain many important vitamins. When you select this fruit, look for one that has close thick netting on the rind. This indicates best quality. Cantaloupes are ripe when the stem scar is smooth, and the space between the netting is yellow or yellow-green. They are best to eat when fully ripe, and have a fruity odor.

Another product which weight watchers can use to their advantage is instant nonfat dry milk.

Asparagus is now in season in Kent County.

When you shop for asparagus, select chunky or slender stalks—the choice is yours.

Check the tips first—they should be firm, fresh, and compact (not seedy or flowery), point straight up (not bend or curl), and have a deep green color.

Next check the bottoms of the stalks. They should seem brittle with only an inch or two of white woody base to trim off before cooking.

Ag. Fraternity Treks To School for Blind

Noah's Ark on wheels is a good description of the truckload of animals that recently brought the farm to Philadelphia and happiness to more than 200 blind youngsters. Seven University of Delaware students trucked pigs, sheep, rabbits, chickens, a cow and a pony to Overbrook School for the Blind. The seven, all members of the University chapter of Alpha Zeta, the honorary agricultural fraternity, were Bill Boytim, West Chester; Dick Burr, Newark; Scott Downing, Wilmington; Walter Hopkins, Lewes; Ron Osbourn, Wilmington; Bob Pitts, New Castle; and Gary Simpson, Houston. Dr. W. R. Hesselstine, extension dairy specialist at the University and fraternity advisor; Ed Foster, University farm employee; and Judy Rockefeller, the pony's owner, also made the trip. The feel and smell and sound of animals made them seem real, perhaps for the first time, to the blind youngsters who are mostly from the city. They had to handle each one and compare the woolly fleece of the lamb with soft rabbit fur, the cow's hide with the pig's skin. Each one had his favorite. "The rabbit because he's soft." "The sheep because he smiles a lot." Or the cow; "I like the cow—it's the best animal I've seen, and I've been here three years. But I'm not going to milk it. Huh-uh." But some of the youngsters were eager to milk the patient Holstein, or at least they tried. Overbrook has students from kindergarten through high school. The younger children were content to fondle all the animals and to ride the pony, around and around and then around again. But the older youngsters knew a great deal about the animals—an amazing amount, commented Boytim—and wanted an opportunity to learn more from actual contact. One teenager said he appreciated the visit because "it gives me an insight as to what animals are really like."

While they were at Overbrook, fraternity members toured the facilities, including the home economics department where girls learn to cook and sew, and the shop where boys learn wood-working. Mrs. From, school director, showed them the school's pride and joy, the museum, with its three-dimensional models of machines, maps and animals—everything from a helicopter model to a real elephant's foot. The Delaware delegation receive a royal welcome from the youngsters each year. "I've been waiting for you for weeks," one said enthusiastically. Alpha Zeta members have been bringing animals to Overbrook for eight years now. It's a tradition; one the agricultural fraternity will keep going as long as Overbrook's children want them.

Review Power Mower Safety

With the lawn growing rapidly and the weekend gardeners out in force, now is a fine time to review power mower safety, says Thomas H. Williams, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware. Know your mower before you try to use it, he advises. Take time to read the manual—to learn the safety devices and potential hazards of your machine. Before you now, clear the lawn of children and pets and inspect the area for sticks, stones and other debris. Thousands of people are injured yearly by debris shot from the mower's rotary blade. And never allow young and inexperienced children to operate power lawn equipment. Keep hands and feet clear of the discharge chute, he adds. Many amputation injuries have been suffered when careless operators caught hands or feet in the whirling blades of a mower. Wear heavy leather shoes for added protection, says Williams. Steel-toed safety shoes are best. Never mow barefoot or in sandals. Maintain your mower regularly to prevent accidents. When making repairs or adjustments, stop the mower and disconnect the sparkplug wire. Never refuel a hot or running engine. Always push your mower—never pull it. And mow steep slopes sideways so that the mower doesn't get away from you. Riding mowers and garden tractors are especially hazardous. Never carry riders on these machines and be extra careful when backing up. When working on steep slopes, use extra caution to prevent the mower from tipping. Power equipment is a real time saver and, when properly used, can make short work of a tedious job. Improperly used, it can be the source of tragedy, injury and death.

Review Power Mower Safety

With the lawn growing rapidly and the weekend gardeners out in force, now is a fine time to review power mower safety, says Thomas H. Williams, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware. Know your mower before you try to use it, he advises. Take time to read the manual—to learn the safety devices and potential hazards of your machine. Before you now, clear the lawn of children and pets and inspect the area for sticks, stones and other debris. Thousands of people are injured yearly by debris shot from the mower's rotary blade. And never allow young and inexperienced children to operate power lawn equipment. Keep hands and feet clear of the discharge chute, he adds. Many amputation injuries have been suffered when careless operators caught hands or feet in the whirling blades of a mower. Wear heavy leather shoes for added protection, says Williams. Steel-toed safety shoes are best. Never mow barefoot or in sandals. Maintain your mower regularly to prevent accidents. When making repairs or adjustments, stop the mower and disconnect the sparkplug wire. Never refuel a hot or running engine. Always push your mower—never pull it. And mow steep slopes sideways so that the mower doesn't get away from you. Riding mowers and garden tractors are especially hazardous. Never carry riders on these machines and be extra careful when backing up. When working on steep slopes, use extra caution to prevent the mower from tipping. Power equipment is a real time saver and, when properly used, can make short work of a tedious job. Improperly used, it can be the source of tragedy, injury and death.

CANCEL FINANCIAL AID TO RIOTERS

State financial aid should be canceled to college students who take part in campus riots, sit-ins, seizure of buildings or other disruptive action.

This occurred to us when we read the U.S. House of Representatives had voted to deny federal assistance to the offenders.

The restriction on aid now benefiting 1.5 million youths in government-subsidized loans, grants, and work study payments was approved on a 306-54 roll call.

A reliable authority said $100,000 annually was granted by Delaware for financial aid to students to the University of Delaware, with a similar amount to Delaware State.

After the disgraceful conduct of certain students at the latter institution recently at the dedication of a building, when Gov. Terry had to leave the speaker's platform and bongo-beating students ignored the pleas of the institution's president, Dr. Mishoe, we say those taking part in the demonstration should be expelled. If some are receiving state aid, this goes double.

We have advocated the changing of DSC to a junior college, a branch of the University of Delaware. At present, some students, certainly not the majority, have promoted racist speakers, "Run the whites out of DSC", one recommended. Other took part in demonstrations at Legislative Hall.

A court decision was sought, and obtained, for integration of Delaware's colleges. All right, let's see it's followed out.

Delaware State should be made into a junior college or closed.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

MOONSHINE

And though I still love the "Sunshine of Virginia," Give me the "Moonshine of My Old Kentucky Home."

Oh! Give me the life of a dreamer, To dream 'neath the shade of the trees, Where I listen to birds and their singing, And can drowse in the hum of the bees;

Without ever a thought of the future, Or this work-a-day world full of care, Just to fill out a dreamer's existence, In the balm of Paradise air.

I prefer country life in the farm land, Far away from the bustle and hum, Of the ne'er ending fight for a living, Until our heart beats are numb.

On the green grassy slopes of the pastures, 'Neath the shade of wide spreading trees, Where wild flowers scatter their fragrance, When touched by the wandering breeze.

God built the country, His wisdom Inspires and speaks to our hearts; Man's hand-work is seen in the cities, Mid the batter and rush of the markets.

When we wish to get nearer the angels, And we sigh for a haven of rest, We instinctively long for the verdure Which blooms on some daisy-crowned crest;

Where our brain and body, when weary May drowse on the gem-spangled sod, Far away from life's battles so dreary, At ease in the temple of God.

60th Anniversary Navy Nurse Corps Week

Gov. Charles L. Terry, Jr. proclaimed May 12 through 18 as Navy Nurse Corps Week in recognition of the importance of Navy Nurses to our national defense and our way of life. Navy nurses stationed in the United States, Europe, the Far East, on islands in the Atlantic and Pacific, on ships of the Military Sea Transportation Service, and on the hospital ships, U.S.S. Repose and U.S.S. Sanctuary, in the South China Sea, off the coast of Vietnam, are celebrating their 60th anniversary. The Governor urged the citizens of Delaware to support the Navy Nurse Corps, its goals and traditions.

In proclaiming Navy Nurse Corps Week, Gov. Terry, Jr., stated, "The Navy Nurse Corps supports the fleet by maintaining the health of the members of the United States Navy, and throughout the years and throughout the world has served its country in the highest traditions of professional excellence in time of peace and in time of national emergency."

The Navy's patient-care team of doctor, nurse and hospital corpsman, treat thousands of patients daily in naval hospitals and dispensaries. These patients, mostly Navy men and women and their families, are expertly treated for everything from common cold to cardiac condition requiring open heart surgery, as well as accidents arising from occupational hazards. And, because the physical well-being of these patients is vital to the strength of America, the Navy Nurse Corps plays an important role in the defense of our country.

During World War II, Nurse Corps officers within the continental limits were assigned to 40 naval hospitals, 176 dispensaries and 6 hospital ships, in air evacuation of casualties, and to foreign lands where American women had never before been sent. At land based establishments overseas, they were assigned to naval activities in the Aleutian Islands, Alaska, Australia, New Zealand, New Hebrides, New Caledonia, Russell Islands, Hawaii, England, Africa, Italy, Newfoundland, Bermuda, Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, Cuba and Trinidad. When the surrender was signed aboard the U.S.S. Missouri in Tokyo Bay in September, 1945, nurses were stationed aboard hospital ships waiting to go ashore to administer care to allied prisoners, and to evacuate them from Japan.

The peak census of the Navy Nurse Corps was reached during the Korean conflict on June 30, 1951 when 3238 Nurse Corps officers were on active duty. The three hospital ships, U.S.S. Consolation, Repose and Haven, rotated as station hospitals in Korean waters during the hostilities.

The proclamation for Navy Nurse Corps Week states in part that Navy nurses "are always striving for greater perfection."

In universities and colleges throughout the United States, proof is offered that Navy nurses are striving toward this end. There are many Nurse Corps officers on full time duty under instruction completing study in the Baccalaureate Degree and Masters Degree programs, there are enlisted WAVES and corpsmen of full time duty under instruction completing for their Baccalaureate Degree in Nursing, and there are male and female student nurses who are called Navy Nurse Corps Candidates. Upon successful completion of the course of instruction, the WAVES, Corpsmen, and NNCC's will be commissioned as Ensign, Nurse Corps, Naval Reserve, and report for active duty at one of the large Naval hospitals.

Navy nurses are proud of their heritage. They are esteemed members of the distinguished Navy patient-care team. They are commissioned officers of the United States Navy with the prestige and obligations of that honored calling. They are an integral part of the defense organization, patriotically contributing their talents to the cause of world peace. For further information, contact Chief Petty Officer Edward Sanders, U.S. Navy Recruiting Branch Station, Keith Building, Dover, Del., or phone 734-7319.

Del. Tech Officials To Visit Fire School

Officials from Delaware Tech are coordinating plans with directors of the Delaware State Fire School for applied work in Fire Science Technology. Facilities at the Fire School in Dover will be used for practice work in the associate degree course being offered at the Delaware Technical and Community College starting in September.

George E. Schultz, director of Delaware Tech's evening programs, and William A. Faucett, coordinator of general studies, are making plans for the curriculum to be offered at the Northern Branch of the college, Northeast Boulevard and 30th Street.

Accompanied by Wilmington Fire Chief, John J. Malloy, and assistant chief, Michael J. Kirlin, the two college officials inspected the fire school last week as guests of Louis J. Amabili, director.

The Fire School at Dover maintains facilities that simulate field conditions where volunteer and professional firemen attend training sessions conducted on weekends. Up to 200 students can be accommodated. The fire science technology curriculum at Delaware Tech will be a full associate science degree program to train those aspiring to fire-fighting careers and to upgrade the skills of those already engaged in fire departments.

Courses will include administrative functions, communications, skills, fiscal management and personnel problems, as well as specific fire science studies.

Two-Year Army Option Offered

The Army is offering a "Two Year Regular Army Option" to qualified individuals.

Under this option an individual can enlist for a two year period as regular Army unassigned. Type of training received will depend upon the qualifications of the individual and the needs of the Army.

Men who enlist under this option do have an advantage over being drafted, in that they may be able to select when they want to leave for their training and that there is no limit to the number of dependents the enlistee may have. Physical and mental requirements presently in effect will not be changed.

More information concerning the "Two Year Regular Army Enlistment Option" can be obtained by calling your local Army Recruiter at 736-6937 or 674-1360 or drop in and see M/Sgt. Frazier, at 218 S. Governor's Ave., Dover.

National Hospital Week to Be Held May 12 to 18

Noting that May 12-18 is National Hospital Week, W. J. Bulkley, social security district manager, said that all hospitals in Kent and Sussex Counties are participating in and have contributed significantly to the success of the Medicare program.

Since Medicare began in July 1966, there were 9.2 million admissions to hospitals covered by Medicare. Payments under the hospital insurance part of the program have totaled $5.2 million, of which over 90 per cent was paid to hospitals for inpatient care furnished persons 65 and over.

"For 19 1/2 million elderly Americans," Bulkley added, "Medicare has largely removed the major financial threat of illness."

For a free Medicare pamphlet, write to Social Security Administration, P. O. Box 478, Dover, Del. 19901.

WAC Rec. Chief Announces New Enlistment Options

During her recent visit to Dover, Major Theresa A. Quinby, chief of WAC recruiting in northeastern United States, announced the unexpected opening of new schools for women enlisting during May and June.

Among those available for the first time in many years are telephone switchboard operator, postal operators, map compiling, ADPS programming, meteorological observation, transportation movements control, pharmacy specialist and flight simulator operation and maintenance. Quotas for these schools are extremely limited, Major Quinby said, and women who are interested should inquire immediately.

To qualify, a woman must be between the ages of 18 and 34, a high school graduate or senior, single and able to pass the aptitude tests appropriate for the school of her choice. According to Major Quinby, these schools have been available to women as a result of the recent increase in the Women's Army Corps strength to 13,500.

Major Quinby urges all women who are interested in enlisting for one of these or other guaranteed options, to contact M/Sgt. Walter R. Frazier, U.S. Army Recruiting sergeant located at 218 S. Governor's Ave., Dover, or phone him at 736-6937, 674-1360, for additional information or appointment with a WAC counselor.

What's The PF In Your Basement?

Did you know your basement has a "best corner"; that is, a corner that provides the best protection against radioactive fallout? It's the one with the highest outside ground level, the one with the least amount of basement wall extending above ground. Now, that's something you can easily determine for yourself.

But do you know how much protection against fallout the best corner provides? Of course not, only a scientific evaluation could give you that information. And that's exactly what the Home Fallout Protection Survey is doing for Delaware householders living in one-, two-, and three-family dwellings with basements - evaluating the degree of protection in each home basement, and mailing this confidential information directly to the householder.

In response to Gov. Terry's request, the office of Civil Defense in Washington arranged for the Bureau of the Census to make this state-wide survey. The Bureau obtains a few simple facts about the construction of one-, two-, and three-family dwellings. On the basis of this information, a computer at the Census Bureau calculates the Protection Factor (PF) for each individual basement.

Protection Factor is a term used to indicate a certain amount of protection against fallout radiation. For example, a person in a basement corner which has PF-40 would receive only one-fortieth or 2-1/2 per cent as much radiation as he would get if he were outside and completely unprotected. The higher the PF, the more protection the basement affords. PF-40 has been established by the Office of Civil Defense as the minimum standard for public fallout shelters. The familiar sign black-and-yellow fallout shelter sign designates buildings where these shelters are located.

In addition to providing the PF for the best corner, the computer calculates the PF for the center of your basement. This, in effect, tells you the amount of protection normally found in your entire basement.

But what if the PF in your best corner is below 40? The computer calculates how much weight of material should be placed over each square foot above the best corner to bring its PF up to 40.

All of this information comes to you with a Civil Defense booklet suggesting relatively inexpensive measures you can take to increase the radiation shielding in your basement. And if you want detailed plans for improving the shielding in your basement, just mail the postage-free card attached to the booklet.

You say you don't have a basement? Then fill in the questionnaire anyway, and you'll receive a Civil Defense booklet containing other helpful information about fallout protection for you and your family.

FENCE TALK

with George K. Vapaa

Nature dictates land use. But man messes nature up with so called progress. This was part of a story I heard on Cape Cod, Massachusetts at the Visitor Center recently.

Early Cape settlers harvested most of the natural timber to build ships and for their very practical cottages. Denuded, the soils blew around even more vigorously. The sand dunes are much higher than our own along the Delaware coast, probably because the 70 mile long arc of land is more exposed to changing winds.

Happily the picture is changing. While fishing was once the major industry, now tourism prevails. Land use planning seems to be underway and the hardwoods are being reintroduced. The National Seashore efforts will help bring matters back into balance.

We should work even harder to keep our own Delaware coastal lands a fine vacation heritage.

Pesticides differ. A close neighbor showed me his well manicured and landscaped outdoor living room. But off in one corner were ten rose bushes dead from black spot, a fungus disease.

"What did you spray with," I asked.

"Here it is — malathion — just what the salesman said I needed," he replied.

"That's the clue to the problem. Malathion is a good insecticide for many garden bugs, but you also needed a fungicide, a perhaps a milicide for powdery mildew. He should have sold you a combination rose dust or spray, which contains all of these materials."

Home fruit growers can also do better with combination fruit sprays as a shotgun treatment. In any case, identify your pest problem—insects, plant disease, mildew, weeds, improper feeding, etc. Then apply the proper treatment at the right time. Read and carefully follow label instructions for farm chemicals, just as you would follow medical prescription instructions.

Combination pesticides are a bit more expensive than the separate ingredients. They may not get all pests either, but they usually hold the most common troubles in check.

Three overseas visitors have returned to Kent County in recent weeks. And perhaps it is not strange that they come at dogwood bloom time, the most refreshing season of the year.

The first has been Jan "Bert" Konings, our Dutch prodigy, who now is the London representative for an American pulp manufacturer. Bert's strongest asset is his command of four languages, English, French, German and Dutch. Though he and his wife emigrated here from Holland, and their son was born here, his work seems to keep him in Europe.

Residents of pre-World War II Harrington may remember Bill Scheer as the manager of the local chain food store. He was wounded seriously during the war, but recovered, and elected to continue work as an auditor with the Armed Services in Europe. He married a Belgian and has lived most of the time in Paris. But since NATO moved out of France, he has been located at Frankfurt, Germany. He is back visiting his parents.

The father of N. C. Vasuki (who works with the Water Pollution Commission) is N. G. Chokkanna. He is "on holiday" from his tour of duty as director of a coffee research station in Ethiopia. I have never met an overseas scientist with so firm a grasp of agricultural principles and practical uses. He still works for the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations, the home country is the real India.

Indians have an interesting way of naming their children. As Vasuki explains it: "It is just like the telephone book. The N in his name stands for Negleir, the original town in India where the family came from. The C is for Chokkanna, his father's given name, and Vasuki is his given name. Daughters carry their father's given name the whole of their lives. The only way you know a woman may be married is to ask someone."

I wish we could tell you more about these visitors. Suffice it to say that they are most welcome whenever they can come. The world has become a small globe indeed. If we can only learn to respect and honor every nation in the world community.

Veterans' News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—My son will be getting out of service soon. He enlisted right out of high school. I have heard that there is a new program in which a veteran can work for the government and still go to school. Can you tell me anything about it?

A—A recent Presidential Executive Order permits federal agencies to give Vietnam era veterans transitional appointments to positions at grade GS-5 or below. To be eligible for these transitional appointments in the first five levels of federal employment, a Vietnam era veteran must:

—Have served on active duty in the Armed Forces for at least 180 days (unless disabled in service), some part of which was after August 4, 1964.

—Have completed less than one year of education beyond high school or its equivalent.

—Agree to take an approved program of education or training for at least one full school year while he is working.

Full details on this program may be obtained from the nearest U. S. Veterans Assistance Center, Veterans Administration or Civil Service Commission office.

Q—My widowed mother receives a pension based upon my father's military service. She is now confined to a nursing home. Is she entitled to an increase in payments.

A—Recent legislation permits the Veterans Administration to add $50 monthly to a widow's pension award received by a person who must be kept in a nursing home. The VA office handling your mother's claim should be advised of the fact that she is in a nursing home and entitled to the added benefit payable to widow's requiring aid and attendance.

Q—I recently received my National Service Life Insurance dividend check. I am now drawing 100 per cent disability compensation and, because of this, the premiums are waived on my policy. Since I do not pay anything into the insurance fund, should I return the check?

A—You need not return the check. However, you should understand that you are not on a disability waiver of premiums because you receive 100 per cent service-connected disability compensation. You are on this waiver of premiums because your disability satisfies the requirement, for insurance purposes, of "any impairment of mind or body which renders it impossible for the insured to follow any gainful occupation." If you become employed, VA will probably terminate your disability waiver, even though you continue to be rated at 100 per cent disabled. In any event, dividends are payable on National Service Life Insurance policies where a waiver of premiums is in force, and you are entitled to yours.

Spruce Up Your Summer Cottage

This summer, use ideas instead of money to live up your vacation bungalow or rented cottage. The wide selection of easy-clean plastics and durable-press fabrics offer a world of cottage "dress-ups" to the penny-wise but adventurous homemaker.

Look for convenience, cleanliness and comfort when you decorate, advises Miss Janet Reed, extension clothing and textile specialist at the University of Delaware. And be sure your inexpensive creations are easy to pack in the family car and easy to install.

Update tired looking furniture with the flip of a gay, oversized beach towel. They make excellent slipcovers or tablecloths—and no cutting or sewing is needed. If you use a beach towel or terrycloth bedspread, it can double as a blanket on cool nights. Matching curtains can clip over curtain rods; they're easy to keep clean and easy on the eyes.

Terrycloth hand towels make great napkins for sticky-fingered cookouts, and they're just the right size for place mats on the rare day you eat inside. Or, stitch together a few dime store bandanas, says Miss Reed. Presto, a patchwork tablecloth; complete with the set with bandana napkins.

Rugs don't have to strain the budget and they do keep the dust and beach sand down. Accent or area rugs will perk up a room quickly, too. Keep an eye out for sales on washable bathroom rugs. Also, the new indoor-outdoor rugs of synthetics, vinyl or raffia are sturdy and easily cleaned.

Of course, paper — from curtains to plates—makes summer living easier and more colorful. Lighting your cottage needn't be expensive, but it can be fun. A decorative bottle can be changed into an attractive lamp with a bulb socket from the hardware store. No need to drill a hole in the bottle; the socket come with a cork that fits into the bottle top. With many of the new bulbs no shade is needed. Happy creating!

It's a guaranty that spring is here for sure when camping starts again at Delaware's State Parks. If you're no camper, the State Parks are easy to reach for a beautiful day's outing . . . picnicking, swimming, boating, fishing, or just communing with old mother nature.

Here's where to go:
Brandywine Creek State Park for a guided nature walk any Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. The newest of Delaware's State Parks, being developed as a nature study area, is located on typical Brandywine valley hills, just off Rte. 100 north of Wilmington.

Brandywine Springs State Park — People have been going out from Wilmington to this recreational area for more than 160 years. Picnic pavilions, athletic fields, paths through the woods and along Red Clay Creek. On Rte. 41 at Faulkland Rd., just west of Wilmington.

Lums Pond State Park — The favorite picnic, swimming, and boating spot for New Castle County. Between Rtes. 71 and 896, just west of Kirkwood.

Port Delaware State Park — Delaware's relic of the Civil War, on Pea Patch Island in the Delaware River off Delaware City. An interesting place for a picnic, with a small museum of Civil War memorabilia, and marvelous views of shipping on the river. Reached by boat from Delaware City on weekends and holidays from Memorial Day until after Labor Day. Round trip service from noon until 7 p.m., $1 for adults, 50 cents for children.

Killen Pond State Park—Dover area people have adopted Killen Pond as a favorite spot for sailing. It's a nice quiet relatively undeveloped place for a picnic, too, and the fishing is likely to be good. Just east of Rte. 13, about 5 miles north of Harrington.

Campsites nestle among scrub pines on high ground overlooking sea and bay. There is a seashore beach with surf bathing, and a shallow bay beach with quiet waters. er details where you must be extremely accurate.

Shortening the stitch about an inch from the point of a dart and stitching right off the fabric will eliminate the need for tying threads and also keep the dart from pulling out.

But when you stitch those long seams, change the stitch to 8 to 10 per inch for straighter, quicker sewing and less seam puckering. And if necessary, it's easier ripping!

Advance announcement is made that on May 26, a member of the Gideons, Ken Shinn, a telephone company executive, will make the presentation of the Gideon's cause at St. Stephen's at the 10:45 hour. Mr. Shinn is a graduate of the Philadelphia Bible College, is a member of Faith Community Church at Camden and is chairman of Child Evangelism in the State of Delaware. An opportunity will be given for those who desire to do so to contribute to the distribution of Bible in hospitals, motels and hotels, schools and in some of the countries all over the world where God's name is not yet well known.

Women of St. Stephen's are reminded that their United Thank Offering boxes will be presented this Sunday at the time of the offertory which will take place at the church.

It Seems To Me

By Janet C. Reed

Sewing machine manufacturers don't advertise their machines as automatic because some people take this word literally. Even the most elaborate sewing machine will perform no better than you do.

Learn to stitch a straight seam! This may be elementary but we see lots of wobbly stitching lines; many women and girls have never learned the first lesson. You can buy all sorts of guides if the throat plate of your machine is not marked, but the best method is to train your eye to measure an even 5/8 inch from the cut edge.

Don't overguide the fabric when stitching long seams. The teeth of the feed carry the fabric along smoothly with only gentle guiding by you.

When you stop, the fabric should stay firmly in place and there should be pressure enough on the pressure foot so the fabric will not slip. Frequent stops give a jerky line; try to stitch as long as you can without stopping.

The regulator which controls the size of the machine stitch is a most useful part of the sewing machine. Make it work for you. With a small stitch, you can accurately sew around any pointed or squared area such as collar points or pocket flaps.

Use about 20 to 22 stitches per inch for about an inch or so on either side of the point. You can hit the point exactly and the fabric probably won't pull out when you trim away the excess fabric in the seam allowance and turn the collar point. It's impossible to get a professional collar point unless this excess fabric is trimmed quite close to the machine stitching.

When stitching curves such as scallops or a round collar, a short stitch will give a more accurate curve and again allow you to trim away the fabric close to the stitching line. The length of the stitch will depend on the fabric and the steepness of the curve.

Set the stitch regulator at 20-22 stitches per inch for bound buttonholes and other dressmak-

Agonomist Discusses Best Nitrogen Sources

One of the questions most frequently asked by Delaware farmers is "Which nitrogen source should I use?" Difference in nitrogen may appear in certain situations, according to Dr. William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware. But basically, nitrogen is nitrogen regardless of source.

Some of the more common nitrogen sources used here in Delaware include ammonium nitrate, urea, nitrogen solutions, aqua ammonia and anhydrous ammonia, says Mitchell. Micro-organisms in the soil release nitrogen from these compounds in one of two forms—nitrate ions or ammonium ions. Some plants can utilize either or both of these forms, but most nitrogen enters the plant in the nitrate form.

Ammonium nitrate contains both the ammonium and the nitrate form of nitrogen. This is a very dependable source that performs well whether it's top-dressed on sod or incorporated into the soil.

Urea is also a concentrated source of solid nitrogen which, like ammonium nitrate, is derived from ammonia. With adequate moisture and proper temperatures, the nitrogen release occurs rapidly.

On sandy soils, however, nitrogen losses can occur if urea is surface applied. This is especially true if urea is applied on sod ground during periods of high temperature and low moisture.

If urea is applied after May 1, it should be incorporated into the soil, says Mitchell. On turf, it should be watered into the soil. Since most sod and small grains are top-dressed before May, urea is a very acceptable form of dry nitrogen.

Nitrogen solutions are gaining in popularity, especially in corn. But solutions containing free ammonia must be incorporated to prevent loss. Pressure solutions, such as the 37 percent solution, have an added advantage in that they are more concentrated than non-pressure solutions, such as the 37 percent sive per pound of nitrogen.

Aqua ammonia has recently been introduced to east coast growers, says Mitchell. It can be used as a side dressing source or plowed down before planting. Aqua is produced in the area where it will be used by adding water to anhydrous ammonia.

Since aqua ammonia is a low pressure storage and application equipment. Shipping this material as concentrated anhydrous ammonia helps keep costs low and makes it competitive with other nitrogen sources.

Since most of the nitrogen sources are made from ammonia, it's not surprising that interest is growing in applying anhydrous ammonia as a nitrogen source. Anhydrous is a highly concentrated form of nitrogen and is very economical to transport. Elimination of costs involved in producing ammonia derived sources such as low pressure solutions and solids also make it a practical source. But the high pressure equipment needed to handle anhydrous is one of the product's disadvantages.

Anhydrous ammonia has been most commonly used as a side dressing on corn, says Mitchell. When chiseled to a depth of six inches, it has proven to be an effective, low-cost source of nitrogen.

In the final analysis, selection of the proper nitrogen source should be based on availability and cost of the material and how it fits into the individual farm operation, he concludes.

BURN 'N SERVE

A windfall for Kent County!

That's what we're promised by the rampaging Republicans in Legislative Hall. That's the prospect as they bill the State Treasury for the total cost of operating the State Home and Hospital at Smyrna. So the Counties are off the hook.

But who's saying that the taxpayer can expect from that? Herman's Levy Court Commissioners are guessing a "generous" five or ten cents, off the present $.50 County property rate.

But one cent on the current assessment produces a little more than $20,000. And the Welfare Home bill last year was well over $300,000. You don't need a computer to figure out we ought to be seeing a reduction of at least $.15 in the rate this year.

Remember that figure — 15 cents. A rebate of any less than that is a "silent" tax increase — an easy way to raise the net cost of Kent County government; and pass it along to you as a favor.

And no green stamps, either!

Might be of interest, too, to consider the "fiscal responsibility" exercised by the GOP Legislators in helping the State pay the Welfare Home bill.

The gimmick? A "vanity" auto license tag — your own initials for an extra $25 a throw. It's gonna take an awful lot of vanity just to soak up Kent County's share.

But who knows? Maybe Herman has it to spare, at that.

Lions Nab Henlopen Track Crown; Chris Sets Three Records

Big John Shulties was a boy under pressure. He had a mission. Earlier his Harrington High teammates in the field events had gone down to dismal defeat at the Henlopen Conference Championship meet held Wednesday at Dagsboro-Frankford. The jumpers and weightmen had contributed only three points, a third-place finish by Earl Nichols in the high jump. They had been expected to score in four field events.

Harrington's runners did better. Chris Wetherhold set a conference mark in the mile, then raced to school and Henlopen records in the half mile, displacing Harrington's Harry Knotts (1960) and Dennis Rogers (1965) from the Henlopen record books.

Now the last event of the day was approaching. A pressing Milton Warrior team coached by young Bill McCants, former Caesar Rodney state pole vault king, was only one point behind, 40-39.

Shulties is only 13, and is in the eighth grade. He was urged by his coach and teammates "stick with the Milton man" in the mile relay. "If he gets too big a lead, we might lose the championship."

Shulties is 6 feet 1 inch tall despite his youth. He raced the older Milton runner to the first curve and got the early lead. The Lion then matched the Warrior, stride for stride, down the backstretch. Still leading coming off the final curve, John stumbled, quickly recovered and handed off to Jerry Cagle with the Blue and Gold, two yards ahead. The youngster despite the stumble had run a sparkling 56.1 quarter, compared to his previous best of 58 flat. Cagle, at 18, is winding up his track career. He increased the lead on his leg, then Tolbert Harris ripped off a 53.9 stint, that allowed anchorman John Swain to stride easily to an overall clocking of 3:40.4. Thus, Shultie and his three partners entered the Henlopen record book, erasing Bridgeville's meet standard of 3:44.1, set in 1966. The Lion eighth grader met the challenge and conquered it.

Other Lions, who kept Harrington in the running were Ken Tribbett, Ronald Morris, Roger Jarrell, Danny Hitchens and John Brown.

More on this cup winning effort, by Coach Harold McDonald's Lions, next week.

Senior Howard Brown enjoyed his finest hour, as a high school athlete, when he blanked Lord Baltimore's Eagles 5-0 on one solitary bingle, at Millville-Ocean View Monday afternoon.

The high-water mark for Brown came in the twilight of his H.H.S. career, just ten days before he is scheduled to hang up the mitt and spikes for good. The right hander batted ten Eagles and gave up a single to catcher Doug Megee.

Bob Young's Lions were led at the dish by leadoff man and catcher, Gordy Jarrell and second baseman, Bill Newnom. Each had two hits in three tries. H.H.S. has now won three of seven games played.

Felton Routs Bears, 17-1

Felton High's unbeaten baseball team crushed John M. Clayton's Bears 17-1 with a resounding 20-hit attack, on Monday afternoon.

The Green Devils hit for extra bases several times. Meanwhile, Bob Dill was allowing the visitors only three hits.

The winners have only three contests left as they bid for a perfect season and the championship of the 12-team Henlopen Conference, that would go with it.

Gene Palmer rapped out four hits. Barrett Quail and Roy Thompson had three each. Sipple, Dill, Mosley and Moore hit safety twice apiece.

Rebels Edge Greenwood, 9-7

Selbyville's Rebels got off to a 6-0 lead after two innings but had to hang on as Greenwood fought back before finally bowing 9-7 to the border-town team.

The Foresters tallied four runs in the second inning, trailed by five when the Rebels got three in the top of the fifth inning, then three Greenwood markers ended the scoring and not a moment too soon for Selbyville partisans.

Steve Wiley had two of Greenwood's six hits, as the Foresters are back at 500 again with a 4-4 record.

Trackmen Beat Milford, Smyrna to Finish Unbeaten

A scheduled dual meet with Milford was changed into a triangular meet with Smyrna as the third participant. This didn't worry Coach Harold McDonald or his Lions, who went right to work and defeated the larger, Diamond State Conference schools, to end an unbeaten season. The locals bested eight schools this campaign including three from the Diamond State Conference. Final score of the test at Milford was Harrington 58, Milford 39, and Smyrna 32.

Chris Wetherhold was a double winner for Harrington, as he coasted to easy victories in the mile and half mile. Chris was unbeaten in the dual and triangular meet season, in both events.

Ronald Morris and John Swain were 1-2 finishers in the 440 yard run.

Roger Jarrell and Danny Hitchens did the same in the two-mile run with John Brown scoring in fourth place.

Harrington nipped Milford in the 880 relay in 1:37.9 despite a bad baton pass or two, and romped home in the mile relay. Ronald Morris, Jerry Cagle, Tolbert Harris and Ken Tribbett made up the 880 relay unit. Nick Morris, Cagle, Harris and John Swain formed the mile relay foursome.

Ken Tribbett ran well to get second places behind Smyrna's fleet Oscar Watson, who was Milford Invitational champ in the 100 and 220.

Bill Webb and Lenny Donovan finished second and third in the 12-pound shot put.

Nick Morris was runnerup in the pole vault. Mark Dalton, of Smyrna, formerly of Harrington, was third in the 880 yard run.

Greenwood's S. Baker One-Hits Lord Baltimore

Scott Baker, of Greenwood High, gave up only one hit as his team downed Lord Baltimore 8-0.

Hamstead, at shortstop and catcher Mike Breeding, had half of the winners' eight safeties.

Greenwood broke open a scoreless ball game with two runs in the fourth inning and added six insurance tallies in the sixth frame.

The winners improved their record to four victories in seven starts, while the hapless Eagles are still winless (0-7) with the season rapidly coming to a close.

H.H.S. Softball News

Perhaps exhausted by earlier Herculean efforts, the mile relay team finished fourth in a race won in 3:43.4. The locals had done 3:36.3 earlier this campaign.

Tolbert Harris did a good job in this last event. John Swain also gained ground on Tower Hill's anchor man, who has a statewide reputation as a fine runner.

The Harrington Lionesses hit the victory trail again after dropping a few games. Playing at Lord Baltimore on Monday, the locals came out on the better side of an 11 to 8 verdict.

Andrea Walls and Hope Tolbert paced the Lionesses with three runs apiece. Shirley Larimore and Freda Gray contributed two runs each, with Juanita Garey and Terry Dixon scoring one run apiece.

Pitcher, Shirley Larimore is obtaining more accuracy with each game, and is making things easier by striking out opponents.

Lions Do Well In Peninsula Relays

The Peninsula Relay Carnival held at Baynard Stadium, Wilmington, last Saturday saw Harrington High's Lions turn in a strong performance, overall, despite a couple of disappointments.

Originally, Harrington was entered in Group 3, the small school section, where it was anticipated the locals would finish second behind Tower Hill's powerhouse. When only two other schools, Tatnall and Milton entered Group 3, it was decided to put the quartet of little schools in Group 2. Here they would vie against much larger schools including Archmere Academy, A. I. duPont and Claymont.

Despite the much stiffer competition, Coach Harold McDonald's hard-running lads finished fourth of ten teams, only 1 1/2 points out of third. A post-race analysis disclosed that an accident, an illness and a sub-par effort in one race cost the locals a tie for the Group 2 championship.

In the two mile relay, Ronald "The Champ" Morris led off for H.H.S. Expected to do about 2:12 or worse, Morris clocked 2:07.5 and gave Tower Hill's fleet Larry Thornton a close battle for the lead. Pole vaulter Nick Morris was estimated to be a 2:25 half miler but came home in 2:20.7. Two miler, Roger Jarrell running the unfamiliar 880, did 2:19, about four seconds faster than forecast. Chris Wetherhold received the baton in third place, then clicked off a 2:04 plus half mile leg to run a strong A. I. duPont half miler into the ground and bring his team into second place in 8:54, only 2 and a fraction seconds behind Tower Hill's crack, winning aggregation. Fans in the stands were buzzing over Wetherhold's great performance.

When they found out he's only a freshman, several predicted that he's a future state champion. This, of course, is no news in Harrington.

Ronald Morris ran a fine opening stint in the 880 relay. Two-miler John Brown, then surprised with a terrific second leg. Tolbert Harris was furiously gaining ground on the front-running Archmere sprinter when he stumbled badly on an unseen obstruction. Harris regained his stride, then stumbled again. Ken Tribbett, running with aching head and plugged-up nose stayed with the leader most of the way before fading in the last few strides of the anchor leg. If the unlucky Harris could have avoided those pitfalls, H.H.S. could have won even with a sick Tribbett, but settled for third place.

The medley relay team of Jarrell, John Swain, Tribbett and Wetherhold was last for a while but eventually started to pick up some of the other schools. Wetherhold gained ground slowly in his mile portion, but appeared to be doomed for a fourth place finish. An unexpected burst of speed over the last 100
