

City Annexation Wins By Comfortable Margin

Residents of an area east of the city voted, by a comfortable margin, in favor of annexation Saturday afternoon.

Favorable tallies were 694, with 577 against.

Of 14 property owners eligible to vote, 9 favored the annexation.

The results of the election will be accepted at a meeting of the City Council Mon., Sept. 9.

Behind the annexation was a city proposal to extend sanitary-sewer and water mains, east of U.S. 13, and south of Porter Street extended to Greenaway Stables. This would be a separate project from the current one, for which bids were recently received, for improvements to the community's sanitary sewers.

The outcome of Saturday's referendum will permit the city to annex, by resolution, land it purchased for polishing ponds for further purifying of sewage after it has been processed by a new disposal plant nearby.

Felton Soldier Dies From Grenade Wound

Pfc. Bruce E. Dolbow, 19, of near Felton, died Sunday from wounds received when he was struck by a grenade in Vietnam.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dolbow, were notified Friday that their son had been seriously wounded. Dolbow was taken to a hospital in Yokohama, Japan.

Another telegram told the Dolbows their son was in no danger of death when he was moved to Japan. Sunday night an Army official visited the Dolbow home.

He told them their son had died from a pulmonary embolism resulting from his wounds. Mr. Dolbow said he had been told that his son had lost his right leg above the knee and had shrapnel wounds in the right arm and side and the left leg.

Dolbow left for Vietnam last June after having been drafted out of high school. He had been scheduled to graduate from high school in June 1967 and had enough credits to do so, but he failed English and was not graduated. Dolbow had returned to school to pass English when he was drafted.

His father said Dolbow had been "greatly interested" in sheet metal work. "He was just a normal, good-natured boy," he said.

The Dolbows have two other sons and three daughters. Four of the children, George H. Jr., Dorothy, Sue Ann and Kathy, are at home. A son, William C. is with the Navy in San Diego.

The Dolbows last heard from their son in a letter written by a Red Cross nurse while he was in a field hospital after he was wounded and before he was moved to Japan.

In the letter, Dolbow told his parents he'd be home soon.

Trailer Upended By Winds

High winds upended and smashed a mobile home and blew down several tree limbs and television antenna near Felton Sunday night.

Elbert Harrington, owner of the trailer, said the mobile home was unoccupied when the winds hit about 10:55. He had outfitted the home for his mother but she had not moved in yet.

The mobile home was blown about 50 feet onto a diesel tractor parked nearby. Harrington estimated the damage at $8,000 to $9,000 and said he was thankful that he had gotten insurance just his past Saturday.

"We knew it was blowing hard last night," he said, "but we didn't have any idea it was anything like this. We heard a crack like lightning, looked out the window and saw the trailer."

"My wife started screaming," he added. The trailer, which is near Harrington's home, is just across U.S. 13 from several homes which were blown down in a tornado which struck the town on Jan. 27, 1967. A disaster was narrowly averted then as the tornado just missed the Felton High School where 1,200 pupils were attending at the time.

E. P. Brasher Named Research Project Chairman

Eugene P. Brasher, professor of plant science at the University of Delaware, has been named chairman of a continuing 12 state regional research project on Discovery and Preservation of Valuable Plant Germ Plasm.

The project, initiated in 1948, introduces, evaluates, propagates and preserves potentially valuable plants for crop improvements, industrial use and research purposes.

"Most of our major crops are of foreign origin," says Brasher. "The areas where these crops originated still have large reserves of germ plasm that may be used to improve existing crops, particularly in areas of insect and disease resistance, winter hardiness, drought resistance and the ability to tolerate climate stress. Democrats Pick Terry and McDowell For Top Posts

Stormy weather seemed in prospect for Delaware's Republican congressman as well as its Democratic governor after Harris B. McDowell Jr. demonstrated once again his political resiliency.

As two days of state political conventions ended Friday, Democrats in Dover gave McDowell the party's nomination for Congress on a ticket headed by Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr.

McDowell was unseated in 1966 by Republican William V. Roth Jr. after he served five terms as Delaware's Congressman-at-large. But he mastered the political comeback last Friday by defeating State Development Director Samuel L. Shipley and most of the party "establishment" to get the nomination.

Carrying on in the "new" McDowell image, he blustered Roth in his acceptance speech, calling the Republican Representative a man with a voting record resembling "something out of the McKinley Administration."

Saturday, McDowell said in an interview he would carry on a relentless campaign to force Roth onto the defensive.

The tenor of McDowell's attack on Roth resembled that of Russell W. Peterson's acceptance speech denunciation of Terry as a man who does nothing to prevent crime and disorder.

Peterson won the Republican gubernatorial nomination and Roth the congressional nomination at the GOP State Convention in Rehoboth Beach Thursday, Aug. 22.

Peterson had to overcome two challenges as stiff as the one McDowell put down to win the nomination. Roth and Terry were nominated by acclamation.

But the two conventions were similar in few other ways. Friday's Democratic State Convention in Dover was confused and sometimes disorganized. But it gave more attention to getting it over with and practically no attention to hoopla.

The Republican affair in the resort city was elaborately but studiously organized, attended by enthusiastic demonstrations around the Convention Hall and free-flowing social events in beachfront hotels. And it lasted twice as long as the Democratic conclave.

The Democrats, operated on a loose schedule, with few but decisive caucuses.

The Dover Middle School auditorium was far too big for the 134 delegates, 134 alternates and perhaps 100 onlookers.

There were hundreds of empty seats which contributed to the look of confusion on the floor. And there were some lapses on the podium in which Democratic State Chairman Alexis I. duPont Bayard failed to recognize one delegate seeking to second one of the candidates.

In Rehoboth Beach Convention Hall, all the seats were occupied and hundreds of Republicans crowded the aisles. The candidates had their aides move through the aisles and among the delegations.

The aides kept contact via walkie-talkies as they moved through the aisles and among the delegates picking up bits of information and transmitting them to control points near the hall.

The operation appeared to be working flawlessly in Rehoboth Beach.

An attempt to do the same thing with hand-held radio communications proved something of a disaster for the Democrats in Dover.

For the first time at a Democratic convention, the aides of the two contending candidates—McDowell and Shipley—showed up with the walkie-talkies for secret exchanges of information.

But, alas, there was some confusion. It seems that the Shipley people and the McDowell people were operating on the same frequency and little was secret.

Not that it mattered much. Shipley was out of things before the convention convened.

Wilmington caucused and all its 36 delegates went for McDowell. Sussex County caucused and added three more votes to the McDowell total. Then New Castle County gave 30 delegates to McDowell while 10 other delegates, who would have gone to McDowell recorded themselves as not voting.

The caucuses assured McDowell a minimum of 69 votes before the convention opened.

When things did get started in the afternoon, Bayard got quick approval of the party platform without even having it ready and the nominations started.

It was all over before dark, including the acceptance speeches.

At the conclusion, the Democrats had renominated Terry. In his acceptance speech he labeled Roth a behind-the-time prisoner of money interests.

In an interview, McDowell said he would carry that issue into the campaign but would put his main stress on getting Roth to defend his record in Congress.

"I'm not going to be just trying to smoke him out on the issues," McDowell said. "I'll be forcing him to defend, as he's never been before, his position on the issues."

McDowell has been accused by fellow Democrats of being complacent in 1966 when he lost to Roth by about 19,000 votes.

In the interview, he sought to defend the complacency. "You get a little heady when people keep telling you you can't lose," he said. McDowell said he depended on polls that showed large percentage of undecided voters right up to the week before election day.

He said he believes that if he had done some better research he would have found that Roth was in better shape than appeared on the surface.

The Roth camp, he said, had the polls that indicated Roth (Continued on Page 8)

State Board of Health to Hold Hearing on Fluoridation

The State Board of Health will hold a hearing on fluoridation of public water systems Thursday, Sept. 26, at 10:30 a.m., in the State Board of Health Building at Federal and Water streets, Dover.

The hearing is to receive comments from operators of public water systems.

The meeting is instigated by the State Board which proposes the adoption of a regulation governing the fluoridation of public water supplies.

The state group gets its authority from House Bill 166, which became law May 25.

The introduction of Section 24.1, General Provisions, of State Sanitary Code, states: "Dental caries is a widespread condition among the citizens of the State of Delaware which adversely affects the public health. To reduce such adverse conditions and to promote better health, the establishment of continuous fluoridation of public water systems is required."

The clubhouse, heated and air conditioned, will offer patrons trackside dining for the first time. Five-level terraced dining will be catered by the H. Stevens Company.

A bright orange, yellow and avocado color scheme is being utilized to spruce up existing pari-mutuel windows. An escalator will transport patrons to the mezzanine and clubhouse levels. Reserve seating will be available in both the grandstand and club house areas.

Nine races nightly again will be featured Monday through Thursday, with 10 (Continued on Page 8)

Cape May-Lewes Ferry to Run Extra Sailing

The Cape May-Lewes ferry will run as many extra sailings of the bayliners each day this summer as necessary to meet the increased demand, said General Manager Theodore C. Bright, yesterday. Additional vessels will be put into service upon just a few minutes' notice," promised Mr. Bright, "whenever required."

"Rather than confuse the motoring public with further announcements about this or that additional crossing, we are adopting a new policy for the balance of this summer. We make this promise now to the motoring public: Show up anytime between our first and last regularly scheduled sailings each day and we will get you across without delay," concluded Bright.

The general manager also reported that traffic on Saturday, August 17, hit another new high, topping the previous record, set just the week before, by 13 percent. The new one-day record established August 17, was 1,905 vehicles and 7,302 passengers which compares with 1,690 vehicles and 6,641 passengers set seven days before.

Traffic count on Sunday, August 18, tied the record set the week earlier when exactly 1,690 vehicles used the huge bayliner to make the 70-minute crossing between Cape May, N. J., and Lewes, Del.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q—Will the new surtax on incomes which is retroactive to last April 1 apply to the educational allowance I receive from the Veterans Administration under the G. I. Bill?

A—No. Educational allowance, compensation and pension, and even G. I. insurance dividends are exempt from taxation, including the new surtax. The only taxable VA payment is the interest earned on G. I. insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA. This is not considered a veteran's benefit and must be reported as earned income.

Q—A deceased veteran had active service in both World War I and World War II. Will a burial allowance of $250 be paid for each period of service?

A—No. The Veterans Administration may pay up to, but not more than, $250 toward this veteran's burial expenses. The claim for reimbursement of his burial expenses must be filed with the VA within two years of the veteran's burial. His family should contact the nearest VA office for assistance in obtaining this burial allowance.

from active duty after three years of service. However, I now belong to an organized reserve unit which trains two days each month and two weeks each summer. Will this reserve service increase my education and training benefits or add to the time in which I can use by G. I. Bill home loan entitlement?

A—No. The Post-Korean G.I. Bill, which grants veterans such as you with active duty after Jan. 31, 1955 both education and training and home loan benefits, excludes Reserve training from this program.

However, you are already entitled to the maximum of 36 months of education and training benefits by virtue of your three years of active duty.

You must complete this training within eight years after leaving active duty. And you have 20 years from the date of your separation from military service to use your G.I. Bill home loan entitlement.

Any time you have a question about any of your veteran benefits, check with your nearest Veterans Administration office for the answer and assistance.

Also approved was the purchase of a 22-acre site at $9,450 per acre for a proposed junior high school in the Alfred I. duPont District.

The Board heard reports by attorneys concerning the transfer of a portion of the Frederica District to the Milford District. Paul H. Boswell, representing the residents who wish to be transferred to the Milford District, brought additional resident signatures to the Board which, he said, brings the total signatures to 85 per cent of the residents. Henry J. Ridgely, representing the Frederica District, said the petition may be 11 1/2 years old and questioned the eligibility of the signers. The Board and the Department will study the transfer request and the Board plans to make a decision at the October meeting.

The Board approved the postponement of a part of a building program in the Caesar Rodney District. A contract was approved for partial completion of the program with the understanding that the plans be completed when funds are available.

The rules and regulations delegating administrative and financial control and responsibility to combinations of school districts for psychologists, speech and hearing teachers, visiting teachers, and transportation supervisors were approved.

The renewal of bus contracts which expired in 1968 was approved.

A $3,944 bid from Dover Litho for the printing of the Educational Directory was approved. It was agreed to rebid the annual statistical report since the only bid received was 30 per cent over the cost of last year's publication.

The Board adopted specific criteria for the implementation of a plan of reorganization of school districts.

A family life and sex education guidelines for grades K-12 were approved by the Board. Thirteen districts are

The Board approved the following Manpower and Development and Training programs: $59,751 for welding courses and $40,486 for a nurses aide training program in the Wilmington District.

Due to a cutback in federal funds for ESEA, Title II, programs, the Board approved a priority list for special purpose grants. First priority will be given to the needs of children and teachers who are members of minority ethnic or racial groups; then to needs of children and teachers in remote, sparsely settled rural areas; and then to the needs for materials for early childhood education.

The Board approved the following project proposals for the Wilmington Public Schools: instructors salaries at the H. F. Brown Technical High School — $16,030 for trade extension; $9,772 for evening technical; $20,000 for apprenticeship; at the Howard High School — $2,016 for pre-vocational; at Wilmington High School — $2,100 for trade extension. The Board also approved $4,400 for apprenticeship costs at the H. F. Brown Technical High School.

The State Superintendent was asked to prepare and seek passage of legislation that would create interim boards of education to serve from the time that the Board presents a final list of new school districts under the Educational Advancement Act until June 30, 1968, and that these boards be authorized certain functions, particularly relating to hiring of personnel.

Since budgets are still being negotiated, the Board authorized the State Superintendent to approve projects for the four James H. Groves High School Project Centers subject to later confirmation by the Board.

The Board rejected a plan to include a health education course as a prerequisite for certification as suggested by the Health Advisory Committee to the Department. Annual Farm Tours Begin Next Month

Many Delaware youngsters, particularly city dwellers, have never seen a farm. They have never had an opportunity to see where their food and clothing comes from and to examine farm animals and crops on a first-hand basis.

Tours of the University of Delaware's Newark research farm answers a great many questions for these youngsters. Children have a chance to watch cows being milked and animals being fed. They see chickens, cattle, horses, pigs, sheep and other farm animals; they see farm machinery and field and vegetable crops; they see for the first time what a farmer does and how he does it.

More than 50,000 children have visited the University farm since the annual tours began in 1957, says New Castle County agricultural agent Edward H. Schabinger. Last year, more than 6,000 kindergartners and school age children came for the tour.

"We think this tour is a worthwhile experience for all youngsters," he adds. "Particularly for the urban and suburban children who have no conception of the American farm."

Red Cross Says Use Caution on Labor Day

In an effort to help lower the number of deaths from motoring accidents over the Labor Day weekend — 810 last year—the American Red Cross today issued a list of safety precautions and home first aid measures for drivers.

"Those 810 traffic fatalities during the 1967 Labor Day weekend were 40 short of the all-time high in the same weekend of 1966," said John T. Goetz, area director of the Safety Programs for the Red Cross Eastern Area. "But any life lost is one too many. Safe and sensible driving by everyone on the highways next Saturday through Monday will help them come home alive."

He listed these measures to take for road safety: "First, before you start on a trip, make sure your car is safe—that its brakes, lights, signal devices, windshield wipers, exhaust system, and the steering mechanism — are working properly. Check to make sure all tires, including the spare, are in good condition.

"Second, keep the space in front of the rear window clear, so that the driver has full vision from the rear and sides as well as forward. Pack the car's interior to prevent objects from becoming dangerous projectiles in case of a sudden stop or a collision.

"Third, carry along a good first aid kit and some flares, flashing signals, or other warning devices.

"Fourth, use your safety belts at all times.

"Fifth, take a break from the road every two hours or so, in order to keep alert.

"Sixth, make allowances for the unpredictable acts of other drivers. Drive defensively.

"Seventh, check tires for cuts and other damage after traveling over bumpy, rocky roads before returning to turnpike speeds.

"Eighth, be careful when you use power windows—children can be hurt by them.

"Ninth, don't drink before driving; don't drive after drinking.

Delaware's Waterfowl Season Set

Waterfowl regulation for Delaware will be very similar to those of last year the Delaware Game and Fish Commission announced today.

Although extremely dry habitat in the prairie states and provinces of the U.S. and Canada will result in smaller fall flights for mallards, canvasbacks and pintails, Canada geese will continue to be in good numbers. Black ducks, wood ducks and green-winged teal are expected to arrive in numbers similar to those of last season.

Hunters are advised that the original plans of the commission to have both duck and goose seasons begin on November 8, 1968 had to be changed because of a last minute decision of the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife requiring Delaware to have a goose season no earlier than November 16, 1968. The decision was made by the federal government to assist their efforts to increase the numbers of geese migrating to more southern states in the flyway. Whereas geese have increased dramatically in Delaware and Maryland in the last decade, the opposite has been true for states to the south.

Waterfall Seasons
Ducks, Nov. 8-Dec. 27, daily limit 3, bag limit 6.
Canada goose, Nov. 16, Jan. 25, 1969, daily limit 2, bag limit 4.

Brant, Nov. 16-Jan. 24, 1969, daily limit 6, bag limit 6.
Coots, Nov. 8-Dec. 27, daily limit 10, bag limit 20.

In the Atlantic flyway the daily bag limit on ducks shall not include more than: (a) 2 wood ducks; (b) 1 canvasback or 1 redhead; (c) 2 black ducks; and (d) 2 mallards.

In addition to the annual Delaware hunting license persons hunting waterfowl must purchase a migratory bird stamp costing $3.00. These stamps may be purchased at most U.S. post offices.

CHECK BACK-TO-SCHOOL CLOTHES FOR CHILDREN

Almost every mother knows that her child's safety is at stake when he crosses a busy thoroughfare or plays near the edge of the water. But how many mothers know that when they buy back-to-school clothes for their children, they might be buying a potential fire hazard?

"Probably very few," says Dorsey B. Kinnamon, vice president for Public Safety of the Delaware Safety Council. "Most people simply don't stop to consider that their clothing can burn," continues Mr. Kinnamon. "Women don't realize that their daughter's frilly party dress or their son's floppy pajamas can ignite and burn with surprising speed."

About 1,5500 deaths and over 100,000 disabling injuries result each year from clothing fires. The great majority of these accidents happen right in your own home. You have probably suffered a minor burn from a cigarette or a hot iron at one time, and can remember how much it hurt. Burns of any degree are painful, and the serious ones resulting from the clothing fires are the most difficult and costly injuries to treat known to medical science.

Just how do clothing fires happen? And why? None of us can live without fire and the comfort it provides but fire is a dangerous villain when used carelessly. The flame of a match and the small glow of a cigarette are potential death if they have a nearby source of fuel such as your clothing.

How can a mother be sure that she is buying the safest clothes for her children? Mr. Kinnamon says that closely woven fabrics, of a heavy weight and with a smooth surface, are least likely to burn. Wool is a good example of such a fabric. In general, close fitting garments are less likely to catch fire than loose fitting ones. Particularly dangerous are flowing robes, flared skirts, blousy sleeves, and clothes with ruffles and frills or a napped, textured surface.

All fibers will burn under certain conditions and in varying degrees. When wool, cotton, linen and silk were used almost exclusively in clothing, the burning characteristics were simple. Now much of the clothing is made either from synthetic or man-made fibers, or mixture of fibers, which confuses the problem to a degree. Wool and most synthetic fibers burn more slowly than either cotton or rayon; however, some synthetics actually melt and burn, forming a sticky goeey mass that could also cause localized burns in some situations.

It is the parents' responsibility to prevent situations in which a child's clothes could burn. Infants and toddlers must be protected from fire at all times, since they can't look out for themselves. Mr. Kinnamon advises that older children be taught about the dangers of fire as soon as they are able to take directions. They should learn to be cautious when they are near common sources of fire such as space heaters, stoves, and burning trash or leaves.

Perhaps you are thinking that there are many aspects to this problem of clothing fires. If so, you are right! The important thing to remember is that the clothing can burn. Prevention of burns resulting from clothing fires depends on three things:

1. Select fabrics that burn slowly, that are inherently flame-retardant or that have been treated with a permanent flame-retardant finish.
2. Consider the weave and design of garments as they are purchased for family members, particularly for children and elderly persons.
3. Use fire and flammable liquids carefully and safely in your home. No clothing will burn unless fire or a source of heat are present.

Parents, and children too, should know what to do in case clothes ever catch on fire. The natural tendency is to panic and run. But Mr. Kinnamon points out that the safe thing to do is just the opposite of this. If fire strikes, throw the victim to the ground and slowly roll him over and over. This stifles the flames and prevents them from sweeping upward to the face. If a blanket or rug is handy, roll the victim in that to quench the flames more quickly.

Del. Alumni Contribution Ranks High

Alumni of the University of Delaware show above average loyalty to alma mater, according to a recent report issued by the council for financial aid to education and the American alumni council.

A survey of annual alumni giving to state universities and land-grant colleges for 1966-67 places the University of Delaware eighth in the nation. In that year the university received gifts from 5,165 of 16,798 graduates solicited.

Contribution figures for 1966-67 gave Delaware a 30.74 percent showing. Basis for the percentage was the number of alumni donors compared to total alumni of record.

Based on its 1966 annual fund-raising campaign, the university earned a national alumni giving incentive award in 1967. The citation recognized Delaware's distinguished achievement in the development of alumni support.

Financed by the U.S. Steel Foundation, these annual awards are administered by the American Alumni Council. Delaware has consistently placed among the top ten major public universities in a alumni response since 1960.

Other institutions in the top ten were Georgia Institute of Technology, V. M. I., Texas A. & M., Miami University of Ohio and the University of Tennessee. Topping the list was the South Dakota School of Mining and Technology, which received gifts from 58.57 percent of its 3,500 alumni.

Proper Maintenance Saves Machinery

Farm machinery repair costs usually range between 10 and 12 per cent of new machinery costs, according to Thomas H. Williams, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware.

Proper maintenance, however, reduces machinery wear and repair costs and helps prolong machinery life. More important, a well conditioned machine insures efficient operation and helps get work done on time.

A well equipped farm shop can save farmers a considerable amount of money, says Williams. And proper tools stored in an orderly manner will save a good deal of time on many repairs.

A good shop includes most of the tools and equipment necessary for maintaining and repairing the machinery on a particular farm, he adds. The shop should be wired for adequate lighting and should have enough electrical outlets to accommodate all electrical equipment.

Working space should be allocated so that machinery, tools and labor may be combined with peak efficiency.

Delaware Farm Labor News

State Summary

As of this time ample labor remains in the area to complete the harvests as long as the present pace is continued. Temporary demands occur in the tomato harvests, but potato crews that have completed their commitments are most helpful in relieving these shortages. Additional rain would be very welcome in most areas of the state. Very few of the crews in the area are indicating any interest in employment other than that for which they are already committed.

Wilmington Area

The potato harvest is moving along very well. A few growers have completed their harvests and quite a few more are approximately from 60-75% completed. There have been several crews leave the area to go on to other commitments, but there still are Generally speaking, it is advisable to provide machinery storage and shop facilities in the same building.

approximately 225 workers harvesting potatoes. Sugar corn and tomatoes seem to have about reached their peaks, with growers asking for help to pick tomatoes. Potato crews, when available, are helping to pick tomatoes.

Dover Area

Approximately 480 workers remain to harvest white potatoes. Some growers have finished and their crews have moved on to other jobs. One potato crew has been placed in a sugar corn processing plant for about 10 more days. Others have joined in to pick tomatoes, keeping a total of 700 workers picking tomatoes. Another 125 migrant workers are working in tomato canneries. Sugar corn for processing and fresh market is still very good.

Georgetown Area

Hot and humid weather continued this past week, growers irrigating due to lack of soaking rain. Processing of peppers, tomatoes, lima beans and snap beans continues. There is work available for local workers in processing plants. Laurel Auction Block reports cantaloupe supply diminishing expect 20,000 to 30,000 to be offered for sale daily this week, quality poor to excellent. Watermelon quality excellent, with 50,000 to 75,000 to be offered daily for sale. Farm Labor office at Auction Block filled 160 job orders this past week.

1968 Feed Grain Payments To Be Made

Growers in the 1968 feed grain program will begin final program payments soon after September 1, J. Heyman Rouse, chairman, Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today. The payments will cover any unpaid part of the estimated diversion payment and the additional price support to growers who signed up and then met the provisions of the program. Growers could request that half of the estimated diversion payment be made in advance at the time of the signup last spring.

These payments will be made on 390 farms participating in the 1968 feed grain program. The payments will raise returns from the 1968 corn crop substantially. Farmers in the program are also eligible for loans on their entire 1968 production of corn at $1.24 per bushel.

For the larger-base farms, no diversion payment will be made for diverting the minimum 20% of the farm base; payments for diverting more acreage than the minimum, up to the larger of 50% of the base or 25 acres provided this is not more than the base, will be made at the diversion rate set for the farm.

The price-support payments, 30 cents per bushel for corn are earned on the established yield of the planted acreage up to one-half of the farm's feed grain base.

McAllister Predicts Large Corn Crop

In a few short weeks, corn pickers and grain combines will be moving across Delaware fields harvesting another big crop.

This year's local crop is not expected to be as large as last year's, reports W. T. McAllister, extension farm management specialist at the University of Delaware. But on the national scene, another large crop is in view.

Prices may be slightly higher than they were a year ago, says McAllister. But they'll still be low. This puts added pressure on corn growers to get top dollar for their crop.

Saving the little margin between production costs and market price begins in getting the harvester in proper working order before entering the field and keeping it adjusted to corn and weather conditions during the harvest.

FENCE TALK
 with George K. Vapaa
 My annual supply of desk blotters has just come in. No matter that I still have some back to 1961. But two or three blotters a year seems to be more than enough in the age of ball point pens.
 The blotters advertise feeder cattle sales at Tazewell and Abingdon, Va. There are 16 of them this year, starting on September 3 and continuing through November 12. I'll be happy to furnish details to anyone who will call 736-1448.
 Many farmers should consider beef cattle or other livestock to utilize drought damaged corn. Low prices for corn at harvest time can make livestock feeding more attractive.
 We still have some farmers who say they only sell anything off the farm that can walk off. It would seem to be the time for more people to use this reasoning.

WOW! Pat Caulk, State Grange Master, has just filled me in on some details of the meals served at Harrington during the Delaware State Fair.
 Let's see, almost 4700 pounds of chicken. They served halves that probably averaged a pound, or two pounds of dress chicken per bird. That would make a sizable flock.
 About 3000 pounds of other meat. I remember seeing three large hams getting baked at one time, and ate my share of hot dogs and hamburgers.
 We talked about the sweet corn last week. Well the ear count was over 16,000 or about 300 crates. Do you know something? A good farmer can grow all of this on less than one acre of ground today.
 As to milk: 335 gallons or 1340 quarts and 173 gallons of ice cream. And don't forget the eight tons of ice!

Pat didn't list the number of homemade pies that came in each day except to say that more came in than ever before in the past 10 years. So even if a Granger was unable to get to the Fair, she might have been represented by her pie.
 Yes, the Grange and other organizations draw people each year to the Fair for fine meals. I am impressed with the fine fellowship that these groups generate with their members by working together on such projects as this.

A new beer bottle is in the news. When full this bottle is like any other, but when it is emptied and exposed to sunlight it will disintegrate in two years. The empty bottle can be burned to dispose of it in less time. The mind is staggered by the savings this could effect in eliminating the labor needed to clean up empty cans and bottles. Certainly the country-side would be more attractive. Maybe another pesky problem will be solved in a safe manner.

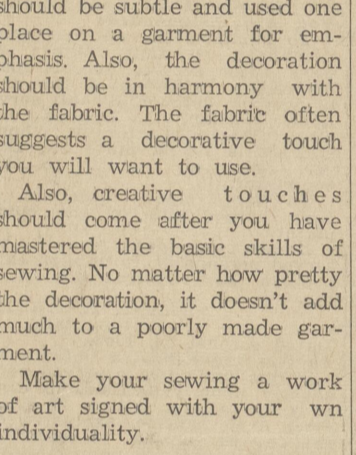

"How much longer" — the small boy inquired, "will I have to eat spinach to be able to whip anybody who tries to make me eat spinach?"
It Seems To Me
 By Janet C. Reed
 Everything you make can have a creative touch that marks it as your own. The designer, Valentino, often uses a V somewhere in his designs. You don't have to be that obvious, but you can find your own original mark.
 For instance, you can make your own buttons—the possibilities are endless. A narrow, covered cord can be fashioned into a Chinese ball button or wound into a coil or some other design. One student raveled threads from her fabric and crocheted a textured button to blend with her suit.
 Ribbon can be rolled into a toggle type button or in some other shapes. Fringe a bit of fabric and outline a self-covered button or roll it into a fuzzy ball. Rick-rack rosebuds can be used as buttons on a wash fabric. Once you start you will see possibilities all around you.
 Bound buttonholes can be varied, too. Make them on a slant, or in one continuous strip in another color down the front of a dress. Make them in a triangular shape or any shape. Make them in a seam.
 Belts are back in fashion and offer possibilities in multi-color effects and trims. Closures can be as varied as your imagination. Use a series of buttonholes and buttons in different colors, or eyelets and cord, or several parallel loops of fabric. Experiment with Velcro as a closure and apply a decorative touch to the belt itself.
 If crewel embroidery is your hobby, add a touch of embroidery to your dress. You can buy decorative braids by the yard if embroidery is too slow for you.
 Will your fabric make an attractive fringe? Place fringe edging on the collar, or the picket or down the front. Is the wrong side of the fabric different enough to be used as a subtle trim? Maybe the selvedge could be an attractive edging.
 A word of caution when you are being creative. It's so much fun that it's easy to go too far and end up with a homemade look. Decoration should be subtle and used one place on a garment for emphasis. Also, the decoration should be in harmony with the fabric. The fabric often suggests a decorative touch you will want to use.
 Also, creative touches should come after you have mastered the basic skills of sewing. No matter how pretty the decoration, it doesn't add much to a poorly made garment.
 Make your sewing a work of art signed with your own individuality.

Tangy, crisp pickles stimulate appetites and add zest to meals all the year around. Take advantage of the plentiful supply of vegetables and fruits at harvest time to make your own pickles and relishes.

To be sure your pickles turn out well, use only the best ingredients, modern tested recipes and proper equipment. Be careful to follow directions exactly and to store the pickles properly.

BURN 'N SERVE Seldom in the history of Kent County has a political party offered to the voters a ticket of the quality, appeal and dedication as is evidenced in the Democratic candidates who will run in November.

The Democratic slate for the General Assembly, represents vast experience in government, business and the human attribute of helpfulness to fellow citizens.

Every candidate for the State Senate - Allen Cook in the 14th District, James D. McGinnis in the 15th, and George A. Robbins in the 16th - has a broad legislative record of excellence. Each has made remarkable contributions toward our growth and progress as a state. Each is a proven man with the essential know-how necessary to get things done.

These are some of the great Democratic team and Kent Countians should feel proud to have an opportunity to give it support as it runs together with the brilliant nominees for state office chosen by the Democratic convention last Friday.

Local Grapplers Finish 1-2 in Wrestling Camp

David Hurd and Louis Kemp two well-built Harrington High wrestlers, attended a wrestling camp at Granby High near Norfolk, Va., and finished first and second in their weight class, in a take-down tournament. Hurd and Kemp met in the final bout with senior Hurd getting the verdict over his junior rival.

The two 165 pounders were tutored by Gray Simmons, coach at Granby High and Bill Martin, coach of Lock Haven State Teachers College, Pa. Martin is interested in having Hurd on his college squad in 1970.

100 boys from 20 states were enrolled in the wrestling camp.

H.H.S. Prepares For Final Football Season

Lion Football Coach, Bill Muehleisen welcomed 37 candidates on Monday, for what will probably be the last football season for Harrington High. Felton, Harrington, by state mandate, will probably be united by this time next year.

Harrington's football fortunes have been on the upswing for the last few years under former head coach, Frank Glazier and the present mentor. As a result, H.H.S. has a chance to finish above the 500 mark for 12 years of football, despite several years as the doormat of the Henlopen Conference.

Last year's eleven had a 6-3 record on the field, which was upped to 8-2 after Delmar beat the Lions but used an ineligible player and Lord Baltimore quit the sport because of a rash of injuries.

The locals have 15 lettermen back and could be tough, if the large shoes of graduated Steve Welch at quarterback, can be filled. John Swain, Mike Adams and John Christopher are candidates for this spot. The first two named lettered in 1967.

Junior monogram winners back are Louis Kemp, John Block, Lenny Donovan, Roger Klapp and John Brown. Other junior candidates are John Christopher, Ken Tribett and Chester Scott.

Coach Muehleisen states that this is the most spirited and enthusiastic group to come out for football at H.H.S. since he has been here.

How the Lions will face this campaign may depend to a great extent on the opening tilt with perennial powerhouse Bridgeville now riding the crest of a 21-game winning streak. The Mustangs lost much backfield strength but retain a tough, beefy, forward wall. The schedule:

Sept. 13 Bridgeville, Home
20 Selbyville, Away
27 Delmar, Home
Oct. 4 Dover Air, Away
18 Felton, Home
Rehoboth, Away
Nov. 1 Millsboro, Home
8 Indian River, Away
15 Milton, Home

Dallas Jordan Wins Shawnee Golf Tournament

Dallas Jordan of Green Hill Golf Course carded 38-37 (9)—66 Saturday to win Class A of the Delaware State Golf Association's ABC Tournament at Shawnee C. C.

Jordan scored birdies on the ninth and 17th holes, collected nine pars and seven bogies to edge Rock Manor's Jim Watson by three strokes. Watson posted 37-38 (6)—69. Russ Wheeler of Green Hill was third with 39-38 (7)—70.

Lou Pollitt of DuPont took the Class B crown with 37-43 (15)—65. Don King of Maple Dale was second with net 66, and Rick Manor's Hugh McCole third with net 67.

By carding 41-44 (20)—65, Jim Henry brought the Class C title back to Green Hill. Henry was four shot ahead of DuPont's Howard Groff and Shawnee's Ed Walsen. Groff took second place on a match of cards.

Harrington Bowling League

A reorganizational meeting of the Harrington Bowling League was held Tuesday evening, at the Milford Lanes.

There will be twelve teams competing this season, with some of last year's teams assuming new names. They are as follows:

Penn Central (P.R.R.), Peoples Restaurant (Acme), Gerardi Bros. (Kent Gas), Butler's Fuel (new), Spoilers, McKnatt Funeral, Jarrell's Fuel, Robbins' Hardware, Taylor & Messick, Hamilton Fund, Wally's Garage, Quillen's Market (new).

The members elected a trophy committee named as follows: Donald Wilson, chairman; Harry Jack, Paul Fallon, Norman Clough.

It was decided to begin the bowling season next Tuesday. Time of competition will be 7 p.m. The same lanes will be used as last year.

was overtaking him late in the campaign. In the last three weeks, when they found out," he said, "they and Lt. Gov. Sherman W. Tribbitt for second terms, nominated McDowell for the House of Representatives, Rep. Mary Etta Gooding for state auditor and former State Sen. Watler J. (Doc) Hoey for state auditor.

A fight over the state auditor nomination was eliminated in caucus with Hoey outpolling Sussex County Democratic Chairman Raymond V. West.

West eventually put Hoey's name in nomination. Facing that lineup in November, the Republicans have Roth for Congress, Peterson for governor, State Sen. Eugene D. Bookhammer for lieutenant governor, and State Treasurer Daniel J. Ross and State Auditor George W. Cripps for re-election.

The only roll call was on the McDowell-Shipleigh affair. McDowell's total had reached 45 and was only half-way through New Castle County when Shipley got the floor and conceded.

Flanked by his wife and their young children, Shipley promised to support McDowell and remain active in party affairs.

He said he would concentrate on bringing young people into the party. "This will be a party of hope and youth," he said.

Finally came the acceptance speeches and Democrats started to go home. There were perhaps 150 when Terry moved to the lectern.

He ignored Peterson's attack of the day before and said he was not running against anybody, that he was running on his record of accomplishment.

He struck a moderate chord on the big issue of both conventions, saying he would devote himself to "justice and order through law."

Later, McDowell, whose nomination did not please Terry, said he was in full agreement with what Terry had to say about law and order and the problems of poverty.

Local Senior Leaguers Attend Baseball Camp

A trio of Harrington Senior League baseball players attended a baseball camp at Williamsport, Pa., early in August. This is a high class operation run by former professional baseball men, who teach the kids many fine points of the game. Each lad is assigned to a team and plays several games before he returns home.

Tommy Clarke and Mike Davis, both 13, and Norman Short, 14, ranked high among the 175 boys in camp. They were especially outstanding in the physical fitness test and in the baseball knowledge quiz.

Clarke, the smallest and least experienced of the trio was commended by his coach for his hustle and team spirit.

Short and Davis were cited as outstanding baseball prospects. The former pitched a shutout in one of his two mound appearances. Davis was attending his fourth session at Williamsport.

This writer feels that any parent who can afford the cost should investigate these camps in baseball, wrestling, basketball, track, cross-country, football, etc. There is bound to be improvement in an athlete's performance, in some cases, camp attendance may increase a kid's potential, immeasurably.

Veterans' News

The Service-Connected disability compensation benefits increase signed into law August 19th by President Johnson will mean approximately $500,000 in higher payments in 1969 to more than 4,500 Delaware disabled veterans, Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Veterans Administration Regional Office said today.

Beginning January 1, 1969, VA payments to Delaware veterans with 100 per cent service-connected disabilities will be raised from $300 to $400 a month, Mr. Fields said. The increase for veterans with service-connected disabilities rated 10 to 90 percent will average 8 per cent and will also be effective the first of the year, the VA Regional office manager explained. Currently some 4,600 Delaware service-disabled veterans are receiving $4,000,000 annually in VA compensation payments.

Nationally, the new law, which passed both the Senate and House unanimously, will provide an estimated $234.7 million in additional benefits the first year to approximately 112,000 totally disabled veterans, and 1,840,000 veterans with service-connected disabilities rated 10 to 90 per cent. Mr. Fields said.

In the fiscal year ending last June 30, the VA paid $1,954,000,000 in basic compensation benefits to 2,011,000 service-connected veterans.

firm of O'Brien and Gere, offered the assurance at the Kent County Levy Court's public meeting in the courthouse.

Early in the meeting, the residents' concern was voiced by Victoria E. Dunn, who told county commissioner "We're interested in the crabs and the clams and the fish."

"One reason why the crabs are so bad this year is because of increased pollution," she said.

Williams said, "you must realize that times have changed. Things that were tolerated five or 10 years ago just are not tolerated today."

Next to speak was Joe L. Rawlins, the Democratic candidate for the 32nd Representative District's seat, who chided the Levy Court for not consulting with Bowers officials and residents about the location of the treatment plant.

Rawlins said the project will "make a cesspool out of our district." And he complained that residents will have no say in the matter.

Mrs. Dunn and Rawlins were among about 15 South Bowers area people at the meeting. Nearly 50 people in all attended.

Williams repeatedly told the group that pollution of the stream that runs past the fishing community would not be increased. He also said that the Murderkill River was selected for effluence because it had the largest freshwater flow of any stream in the county.

The proposed sewer system would collect wastes along a pipeline running from Smyrna to Milford. The wastes would be given tertiary treatment at a plant near Frederica on the Murderkill River.

and horticultural characteristics of existing crops are also considered.

Brasher, who has been at the University of Delaware since 1941, assumed the chairmanship at the group's annual meeting August 7. He will be responsible for the direction and administration of program activities.

Cooperating agencies in the project include 14 agricultural experiment stations in the northeastern United States; the U.S. Department of Agriculture; the Soil Conservation Service; and other regional plant introduction projects.

race programs prevailing on Friday and Saturday. A daily double and two exactas will be offered on the week nights, with three exactas being spotlighted weekends.

Horses are arriving on the grounds daily. More than 850 applications for stall space have been received for the 450 to be allotted by director of racing William W. (Pete) Shaw.

"We anticipate the greatest season in our history," says Shaw. "The response from horsemen has been outstanding, and the calibre of racing should be at an all-time high."
