

THEY PROMISE THINGS TO COME—Councilmen, contractors, and the mayor start the long-awaited improvements to Harrington's sanitary-sewer system when contracts were signed Wednesday night, Sept. 4. Seated are (left to right): William Kuhn, Kuhn Construction Company, Hockessin, contractor for sewage-disposal plant; City Manager Kathryn Derrickson, Mayor Fulton J. Downing, Vice Mayor Burton Satterfield, and Robert Edgell, Teal Construction Company, Dover, contractor for improvements to sanitary-sewer system; standing (left to right): Russell Tatman, of Edward H. Richardson Associates, the city's consulting engineers, and Councilmen Benjamin Hughes, Grace Wanda Quillen, and John Satterfield. Councilmen Wilson Bradley and Gordon Dale were not present.

Harrington Debuts Before 2,758 Fans

Harrington Raceway, once the black sheep of Delaware harness racing, opened its 23d season before 2,758 fans last Friday night with a spectacular $1 million look. Boasting a new clubhouse, complete with dining catered by Harry M. Stevens Inc., and innumerable other improvements, the rural Delaware plant can now match the physical comfort as well as the spiritual excitement of any other track in the country. The glass-enclosed clubhouse, which is both heated and air conditioned, can seat 380 persons for dining and can be enlarged. The classy structure was just recently completed, thereby finishing the track's two-year $1 million improvement program. "We're very proud of our new clubhouse," Director of Racing Pete Shaw said with an equally proud look. "Along with our other improvements, we feel the clubhouse should improve our handle about 25 per cent and our attendance about 15 per cent." The Harrington management hasn't forgotten the grandstand patron either. The ground flood of the grandstand is now completely glass-enclosed in, and the heating capacity over the grandstand has been increased by 30 per cent. More betting windows have also been added, and the closed-circuit televisions, installed last year, have been increased from eight to 14. Finally, more lighting has been added in the parking lot. "I don't want to sound like a braggart," Shaw laughed, "but I've been trying to convince people lately that we have the best racing facilities around here outside of Brandywine. I think people will appreciate what we've accomplished." Judging from the enthusiasm radiated by chipper Racing Secretary Cy Perkins, the racing at Harrington will not take a back seat to the club-house in the nights to come. "We've got horses coming out of our ears," Perkins related with a twinkle. "We had applications for about 900 stalls, many more than we have. A lot of the horses that we already have, or that are coming, are good ones too." Seven "good ones" performed in the featured $1,000 pace Friday night with top honors going to Vernon Oregon upset 3-5 favorite Silk Lady, a three-time winner at Brandywine. Leaving from post 7, the son of Adio Oregon left quickly and tucked third behind Silk Lady and Frostmite at the quarter. Driven adroitly by Jim Wilson, owned by Lewis Fitchett of Melfa, Va., Vernon made his move at the three-quarter pole, pulled even with Edgar Alexander's Silk Lady on the final bend and pulled away through the stretch to (Continued on Page 8)

Kent Inmate Indicted For Jail Assault

A Kent County Grand Jury Monday indicted Patrick A. Shehan of Dover on a charge of assaulting a fellow inmate at the Kent County Correctional Institute on May 10. The true bill handed up by the jury Monday charges Shehan with assault with intent to commit murder against James B. Lee, 21, also of Dover. The jury Monday also returned indictments for first-degree murder and kidnapping along with 37 other true bills. The murder charge came in the case of Jacob L. Ayers of Hartly, accused of slaying his common-law wife, Louise Marie Savage, at their home on Kent 101 last month. Charged with kidnapping by the jury was Warren W. Bader of Harrington. He was arrested by state police on kidnap and rape charges in July near Bowers. His companion, a 16-year-old Dover girl, told police she had been raped by Bader, police said. The bulk of the remaining true bills dealt with burglary and larceny charges.

Kent Ok's Site Plans For 4 New Areas

The Kent County Planning Commission Monday approved site plans for four proposed developments in the county. The plans approved Monday were the first ones to be submitted for approval under the county's new subdivision regulations. Approval was granted Dover Airport for the construction of a trailer park with a capacity of 80 mobile homes on U.S. 113 north of Dover Air Force Base housing; William Rehak of Hartly for the construction of a fifth lease-home to be built on Delaware 44 near Hartly; and Kimball Trailer Sales for the construction of a commercial building on U.S. 13 near Woodside. Also approved were the paving of a runway and construction of three hangars at the Chandell Estates Airport, northeast of Dover on Delaware 9, and the construction of two commercial buildings by Keil's, Inc., at its store site south of Dover on U.S. 13.

Dover Suffers Blackout

Dover was without electricity for almost an hour shortly after noon Monday from a power failure caused by a faulty safety device. Conrad Hebert, city power plant supervisor, said the safety device malfunctioned, causing one generator to fail which, in turn, thrust an overload on a second generator which then went out. The city's tie-line with the Delmarva Power & Light Co., which serves as a back-up for the two systems, was not connected Monday because Delmarva Power & Light was doing some maintenance work, Hebert said. The lights faded and then went off at 12:15 p.m. Power was restored at 1:07 p.m. No serious incidents were reported as a result of the failure although the Kent General Hospital had to function with battery powered lights. M. W. B. Abraham, hospital administrator, said the hospital's own emergency generator failed after about a half hour. The city power failure lasted too long for the private generator to carry the load, he said. Additional relay circuits are planned in the hospital expansion program scheduled for completion in the next two or three years. One patient was in the operating room, Abraham said, but the operation was carried through successfully with the battery units and the use of daylight. Emergency generators at the police station and the Robbins Hose Company firehouse went into service as soon as the city power stopped. City police on their regular patrols stopped and directed traffic at the major intersections where traffic lights were out. Police Chief W. Lloyd Spence said no additional men were needed. While Judge Robert C. O'Hara set the sentence in Superior Court Murphy's wife loudly wailed for mercy for her husband, crying "oh no, oh no," court officials said. She was helped from the courtroom by friends, court officials said. The 33-year-old Murphy will actually serve only the first four years of the sentence in jail. O'Hara suspended the last three years and placed him on probation for those years. Murphy was arrested in February 1967 after a Greenwood mother of three children was attacked in an abandoned gravel pit south of the community. A jury handed down a guilty verdict in July, accompanied by a recommendation of mercy. Police said the woman was out checking with neighbors on the whereabouts of her two sons, both found later brushing their horse, when the assault took place. She was talking with another neighborhood woman, authorities said, when Murphy passed by in a truck and offered to drive them around to look for the boys. The second woman declined, but the victim agreed, and was taken to the gravel pit, just off County Route 583 south of Greenwood, and assaulted.

Sunshine 4-H Club Notes

The Harrington Sunshine 4-H Club holds its first regular meeting of the season at the home of Lynn and Faye Stayton on Mon., Sept. 9. Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: Terrie Gallo, president; Billy Winkler, vice president; Barbara Ryan, secretary; Joan White, treasurer, and Cindy Melvin, reporter. Project cards were given to members to be filled out and returned as soon as possible. Plans were made for a window display during National 4-H Week. The next meeting will be held October 14 at the home of Terrie Gallo.

Maurice Wright Hurt in Crash

Three persons were injured, one critically in a three-car accident at U.S. 13 and Sussex 16 in Greenwood Thurs., Sept. 5. State police said the 8:45 a.m. accident sent three persons to Nanticoke Memorial Hospital in Seaford. Injured, police said, were Everett L. Batty, 59, of near Gainesville, Va., his wife, Louise, 57, and Maurice Wright, 59, of near Harrington. Police said Mrs. Batty suffered a crushed chest. She was listed in critical condition at the hospital. Everett Batty, they said, suffered lacerations of the right knee and Wright was treated for a possible fractured skull. Batty was listed in satisfactory condition and Wright in fair condition. Police said the accident occurred when Batty failed to stop at a stop sign on Sussex 16 at the northbound lane of U.S. 13 and struck a pickup truck driven by Wright. The impact of the crash, police said, then sent Batty's car back into a car on Route 16 driven by Peyton Mervine, 35, of rural Greenwood. Mervine was not injured, they said. Police said Wright was thrown from his truck when it was struck by Batty's car.

Greenwood Man Jailed in Rape

A Greenwood man, Ernest R. Murphy, last Friday was sentenced to seven years in jail for the rape of a 45-year-old housewife last year. While Judge Robert C. O'Hara set the sentence in Superior Court Murphy's wife loudly wailed for mercy for her husband, crying "oh no, oh no," court officials said. She was helped from the courtroom by friends, court officials said. The 33-year-old Murphy will actually serve only the first four years of the sentence in jail. O'Hara suspended the last three years and placed him on probation for those years. Murphy was arrested in February 1967 after a Greenwood mother of three children was attacked in an abandoned gravel pit south of the community. Jones Says Quillen Failed to Keep In Touch With Constituents

David G. Jones, Democratic candidate for representative from the 33rd Representative District, Tuesday night accused his Republican opponent of failing to keep in touch with his constituents. He is challenging Rep. George R. Quillen, also of Harrington, for the post. Quillen, charged Jones, has failed to secure passage of a single piece of "significant legislation." Continuing, Jones, who read from a prepared statement at the opening of Democratic headquarters on Commerce Street, added: "Citizens of this district who are vitally interested in government desire and need a man in office who is dedicated to a community in which the people may safely walk the streets; in which property is protected; in which children may safely play. Using as a guidepost the present administration's strong stand on the preservation of law and order, with justice, I intend, if elected, to ensure the safety of our community. In my work as a law enforcement officer, I have stood before Legislative Hall to protect our government from those who seek to destroy it. "Yet, there must be some measure by government that would eliminate the conflict by certain groups in our state with the government. The people must have a better way than by riot to make their needs or desires known." Another speaker, Sen. Allen J. Cook, of Kenton, echoed what Gov. Terry has been saying — whichever party is in control next year will have to raise state revenues. Cook said it would be impractical to increase tax rates within the current revenue structure, and proposed raising money by taxing persons who come into Delaware to work and use the state services, but live in other states. The Democrats Tuesday night pleaded for and pledged unity in their campaign to unseat Republicans who have controlled legislative and county offices for the past two years.

Legion Awarded Citation For Child Welfare

Callaway-Kemp-Raughley- Tee Post No. 7, American Legion, has received a citation for the most outstanding report on child welfare in District 3, it was revealed last week. The post received the citation from the Department of Delaware, American Legion, for -966-67. Local child welfare chairman is Frank O'Neal.

Trashmen's License Rule Ok'd In Kent

Kent County Levy Court Tuesday gave the county engineer power to refuse licenses to trash collectors during a brief Levy Court session. Walter L. Fritz Jr. was given license refusal power to give him some measure of control over county trash collectors. Under the county landfill ordinances, trash collectors are required to pay $100 a year for a county trash collection permit. Collector's vehicles also are required to pass an annual inspection. The amendment to the ordinance passed Tuesday says that the engineer may refuse to issue a permit if the collector fails to prove the need for his services in the area he serves. In other business, Fritz told the Levy Court the county landfill located on the St. Jones Gravel Company land will open Monday if final state Water and Air Resources Commission approval is granted. The court also authorized consulting engineers O'Brien & Gere of Syracuse, N. Y., to appoint the county's bonding attorney for that part of the proposed county sewage system north of Dover. County Planner Peter Brockstedt reported to the court that the zoning commission met Monday night and recommended that the proposed county interim zoning code be approved by the court without amendment.

McDowell Speaks On Political Process

Harris B. McDowell, Jr., Democratic candidate for Congress, proposed "an opening-up of the entire American political process." The former five-term congressman spoke before a Democratic Beach Jamboree at the Henlopen State Park in Lewes. McDowell said that rigid restrictions on the involvement of ordinary citizens in political decision-making "is resulting in the widespread alienation of voters." McDowell predicted that this alienation will cause many people to withdraw from the two-party system. "I fully endorse a modernization of our archaic and discredited election laws to provide for direct primaries at all levels for all candidates. This would have to include the election of all delegates to the two parties' national conventions." McDowell also called for a shortening of the campaigns. He said this could be accomplished by taking the primaries out of the summer months and holding them in early September. The national conventions could then be held in mid-September. McDowell said that if all (Continued on Page 5)

A Felton man, accused of trying to use his belt to strangle a state trooper on the way to jail, was indicted by the Sussex County Grand Jury Tuesday. July Houston, 32, was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder on the trooper, Donald H. Lyell. Houston was one of 30 indicted by the grand jury Tuesday, in a list that included two charges of first-degree murder, one of second-degree murder, a rape charge and three charges of manslaughter by motor vehicle. AFS Chapter To Host Exchange Student Sunday

Have you toured in the Central American states? Do you know the city of San Jose, Costa Rica? This year many residents of Harrington will be hearing a lot about this tropical country and its customs. The first opportunity will be on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 15 from 2 to 4. At that time the local American Field Service Chapter will hold an open house for Miss Luisa Quesada, the foreign exchange student from San Jose, who is spending this school year with Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll and family. The open house will be held in the home economics rooms of the Harrington High School. Thomas Peck, president of the local AFS Chapter, has extended a cordial invitation to all who would like to welcome Luisa to Harrington to be present some time on Sunday afternoon. He will be assisted by other members of the local chapter. In order to arrange for refreshments for the group those who are planning to attend the open house are asked to call Mr. Peck's home at 398-8630. This is just to give the Hospitality Committee an idea of the number, and is not required to attend. If you find that you have half an hour free on Sunday, drop in at the high school home economics rooms and visit with Luisa. She is a charming young representative of her country and she is anxious to meet the citizens of her American town.

FENCE TALK

The world's largest marine garden of Eden is Suffolk County, Long Island, New York, if the accept the blurb of the Chamber of Commerce.

A new group, called the Long Island Cooperative Potato Growers Exchange, hopes to stabilize their potato marketing program, to create confidence and cooperation among growers.

The organization will begin to function when the growers with at least 80% of the total acreage sign contracts to observe minimum prices as decided by a grower's marketing committee.

The growers will market only through authorized sales agents, and may if they wish, also become ASA's.

There are a number of other conditions of lesser importance, such as a $5.00 membership fee plus a $1.00 per acre annual assessment.

Would the plan work in Delaware? Perhaps, with a couple of reservations. It would be well if we could get other Delmarva growers into the plan.

I would suggest that any increase be limited to 5 or 10 per cent of the previous year. A new grower would be something else, perhaps an initial planting of 100 acres, enough to let a man tool up to start.

Market muscle or market power requires some control over supplies. There is a cooperative in northern Florida which already operates under this type of a marketing program.

Delaware potato growers just recently reactivated their state association. This time the local brokers have been invited to join.

A corn farmer faces a dilemma at harvest time. It centers around the price he receives for his corn and a penalty he takes for shrinkage.

Dry corn is quoted at 15.5 percent moisture, with a discount for anything above this. Wet corn must be dried for safe storage, an added cost.

W. T. McAllister, extension economist at the University of Delaware, has put together a pamphlet which explains shrinkage and drying costs of corn.

The process of figuring is not simple, because you are not figuring a moisture percentage difference. It is a dry matter difference between wet and dry corn.

It Seems To Me

By Janet C. Reed

Corduroy is a perennial fall fabric favorite, valued for its beauty, durability and comfort. It's ideal for casual wear and it's especially liked by the young crowd.

If you're working with corduroy, be sure you lay all the pattern pieces so the tops are in the same direction. If pattern pieces are not cut this way, they will show a color difference due to the nap of the fabric.

In which direction should the nap fall? Designers use the nap in either direction and sometimes even cut the garment on the crosswise grain. However, manufacturers suggest that corduroy be cut so that the nap falls down on the body.

Since there is a color difference, you may find the color more becoming with the nap running in one direction or the other. Hold the fabric up to you to see which effect is more pleasing.

The nap of corduroy can make your figure appear somewhat heavier. Choose a pattern with simple lines and little detail. Diagonal seams and darts will mean some distortion of the ribs in the fabric.

Plan construction details to eliminate bulkiness. In some cases, facings can be made from a lighter weight fabric such as percale. If you use corduroy for facing, trim the seams to different widths (called grading or develing) for a neater appearance on the outside.

Avoid top stitching since the ribs of the fabric make it difficult to stitch a perfectly straight line. Do the final stitching of the zipper placket by hand.

Experiment with pressing; usually, light steam pressing on the wrong side of the garment will be sufficient. Avoid heavy pressure of the iron as this will make seam impressions on the right side of the garment, as well as flatten the nap.

Corduroy will keep its new appearance longer if it is dry cleaned, but it can be washed satisfactorily. If you dry corduroy garments in the dryer, they require little pressing.

Treat velvet on the same way as corduroy, but it's usually made up into dressier styles. Press with team and finger pressure.

Veterans' News

The Veteran Administration had good news for the tax-paying parents and guardians of an estimated 42,000 dependents going to school under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Act.

Payments to "war orphans" are now regarded as scholarships and are not to be counted for income tax purposes in determining whether the dependent received more than half of his support from the taxpayer, according to Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington VA Regional Office.

Under the law, "war orphans" (children of veterans who died or are permanently and totally disabled as a result of military service) are entitled to monthly benefits of $130 for full-time enrollment, smaller amounts for part time.

According to Mr. Fields, a recent Internal Revenue Service ruling calling such payments "scholarships" reverses an earlier finding. Previously these educational allowances were regarded as being contributed by the student when determining who furnished more than half of the student's support for income tax purposes.

Since the ruling is retroactive, the VA advises parents and guardians to apply to their local district IRS director for the best method of filing for a refund. Generally, eligible young men and women between 18 and 26 are entitled to up to 36 months of schooling under the Act.

Apples are undoubtedly one of nature's most delicious gifts to mankind. Piled in a fruit bowl, the red and yellow varieties make a pretty, appetizing picture. Hold a polished apple in your hand and bite through the shiny skin. The crisp, juicy fruit is cool and refreshing to the taste.

The many varieties of apples differ widely in appearance, flesh characteristics seasonal availability, and suitability for different uses.

For good eating as fresh fruit, the commonly available varieties are: Delicious, McIntosh, Stayman, Golden Delicious, Jonathan, and Winesap. For making pies and apple sauce, use tart or slightly acid varieties such as Gravenstein, Grimes Golden, Jonathan and Newtown.

For baking, the firmer-fleshed varieties - Rome Beauty, Northern Spy, Rhode Island Greening, Winesap, and York Imperial - are widely used.

Country Lane Extension Club News

By Charlotte Collison

Country Lane Home Economics Extension Club met at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Collison on Sept. 3. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Jane Everline. Even though only seven members were present, everyone was enthused about the coming meetings and new craft ideas. We had several suggestions for crafts. Mrs. Mabel Jean Donovan will bring her weaved afghan in to show at our next club meeting. Mrs. Catherine Donovan has started a quilt made of old nylons used as stuffing for the afghan quilt.

The club is planning to take a trip to the "Mike Douglas" show this fall if tickets are available.

The president passed out the new 1968-69 club program books. New committee chairmen were chosen as follows:

Citizenship, Mrs. Mable Jean Donovan; civil defense, Mrs. Dorothy Laughery; consumer information, Mrs. Catherine Donovan; family life, Mrs. Bernice Parker; health, Mrs. Cathyl Bowdle; international relations, Mrs. Mary Lou Wright; safety, Mrs. Jeanette Holloway; craft, Mrs. Mabel Jean Donovan; publicity, Mrs. Charlotte Collison; sunshine, Mrs. Mary Collison.

There were no committee reports. Mrs. Dorothy Laughery made a motion the meeting be adjourned and it was seconded.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

More and more of today's Americans pack a lunch. From kindergarten right on through high school and working careers, a quick and easy toted lunch seems to be in order. If you are on the preparation side of the situation, you know how easy it is to simply slap two slices of bread together with whatever is left over from last night. If you are the eater, then you know this type of sandwich lunch is almost as bad as none at all. Somehow, packed lunches can turn into a series of nutritionally inadequate snacks — snacks that add little more than calories to the diet.

If you are the lunch packer at your home, look to variety as the key to successful lunch box menu plans. Have the four food groups represented in each luncheon menu—the milk group, the meat group, the bread and cereals group and the fruits and vegetables group — but add something new and different to each day's plan. Turn to the seasonal fruits and vegetables, and breads varied in size, shape and flavor for sandwiches. Consider interesting meats, fish, and cheese for fillings, or cottage cheese salad if weight control is a problem.

Why not have a sandwich made of raw vegetables—they are delicious. Simply add dressing, seasonings, to one of these: chopped cabbage, nuts, and grated carrot. Or try grated carrot, minced celery and green pepper, with chili sauce; or grated carrot, chopped peanuts, and raisins; or chopped radishes, cucumbers and green pepper.

Egg sandwiches are tried and true standbys, but why not add a little zip to this old favorite. To make a change, mix chopped, hard-cooked eggs with mayonnaise, desired seasonings, and one of these: chopped corned beef or salami and mustard pickle, sliced frank and chili sauce, or grated carrots, sliced ripe olives, chopped crisp bacon, or snipped chives.

If meat is prepared for your sandwich, then add salad dressing if desired, and seasonings to one of these meat combinations: sliced bologna, coleslaw, or chopped chicken, apple and celery, or ground ham, drained canned crushed pineapple, a little brown sugar and ground cloves. If some of last night's meat loaf is left, simply slice down and add chopped green olives. This makes a good hearty sandwich. Sliced roast pork and apple butter is another refreshing and delicious sandwich. And last but not least, why not have a baked bean sandwich—chop up the franks, add the baked beans and catchup and minced onions.

Discover Wonderful Del.

This summer the blue waters of Delaware's famous bays sparkled with more sails than ever before. Each year more Delawareans are discovering that Delaware Bay, Rehoboth Bay, and Indian River Bay are just about perfect sailing waters — a good steady wind, clean clear water, launching ramps (either those at the sailing clubs or those provided by the state) within easy reach.

By no means all who sail in Delaware waters are members of sailing clubs, but the four sailing clubs, and the races they sponsor, do much to add to the excitement of sailing.

The Lewes Yacht Club, at Lewes Beach near Roosevelt Inlet, the biggest and oldest in Delaware, was founded in 1930. There are more than 200 members. Races are scheduled every weekend in summer, not only for adult members, but also for the junior division Sailfishes. Kids around Lewes have at least a hundred of these boy-size boats. Grown-ups at Lewes like the Mobjack, a very lightweight, 17-foot, sloop-rigged boat, but you'll also see a number of sailing Catamarans and Trimarans.

The Rehoboth Bay Sailing Club, at the head of Rehoboth Bay at Dewey Beach, has nearly 100 members. The popular boat on Rehoboth Bay is the Lightning, larger and much heavier than the Mobjack, so the club has many ships, and a sturdy block-and-tackle hoist to get boats into the water. The Lightning is a popular boat in many areas, and Rehoboth Bay is the scene of races including boats from many parts of the country. But a lot of Sailfish zip around there too, and quite a few other boats such as the Skipjack (14 feet), the Celebrity (a grander sort of Lightning), and the O'Day Sailer which is slightly smaller. There are some Catamarans there, too.

At Indian River Yacht Club, at Oak Orchard where Indian River become Indian River Bay, the sailing members like Lightnings and Penguins (a two-man racing dinghy).

Handiest to Wilmington is the New Castle Sailing Club, at New Castle Common, just south of Battery Park. Founded in 1953, the Club races every Saturday during the summer, and keeps going in the winter with meetings for dinner and programs on sailing.

Sailing in Delaware is very much a family sport. The largest boats in ordinary use here require no more than a three-man crew, so they're easy for a family to handle, with dad or mom at the tiller, and the kids manning the lines. Delaware bays are shallow, so that all the boats have centerboards, and something like a lightweight Mobjack can be off the trailer and into the water in about 10 minutes. And of course the shallow bays are a good reason for the popularity of the Sailfish, which one man or two small boys can lift. When the kids dump over, they just stand in the water near shore and right the boat.

Now that school is keeping again, the sails will mostly be out only on weekends, but good sailing weather here lasts well into the fall—still time to discover some wonderful Delaware fun.

Blanket Season Around Corner

Cool weather calls for blankets. Basically, a blanket supplies warmth — so shop with that in mind.

For warmth, blankets of any fiber should have a dense, thick nap and a firm weave, according to Miss Janet Reed, extension clothing and textiles specialist at the University of Delaware. The nap traps air and acts as insulation—the same way insulation on a house keep in heat.

Many fiber blends are available; however, wool and acrylic fibers have the best nap. Synthetic fibers should have anti-static finishes, and moth-repellent finishes are desirable for all wool blankets. Nylon bindings give extra wear to any blanket. Nylon or acrylic blankets are less apt to shrink than rayon, cotton or wool.

Rayon blankets are considered more flammable than other fibers; be sure blankets of more than 50 per cent rayon have flame retardant finishes. For satisfactory warmth, launderability and wear, don't buy rayon blankets made from re-used fibers.

Made with a leno-type weave with or without nap, thermal blankets actually provide little warmth, says Miss Reed. They may come in handy for a lightweight summer blanket, or use them with another blanket for winter.

If you decide on an electric blanket, you'll find the length of time the guarantee runs is a good indication of quality. It stands to reason that a blanket guaranteed for five years will probably be of better quality than one only guaranteed for one year. But be sure the control is covered in the guarantee, and also see if you have the choice of replacing or repairing either the blanket or controls if they become defective.

The Underwriters Laboratory seal on an electric blanket indicates that individual parts and the finished blanket have been tested to meet safety requirements.

Blanket sizes are not standardized, Miss Reed points out.

Add 13-14 inches per side to the mattress measurements for adequate tuck-in. Lengthwise tuck-in depends on your preference.

Most blankets can be washed in an automatic washing machine and dried in a dryer; check the care instructions. Electric blankets should not be drycleaned because the plastic insulation may be injured. For the same reason, electric blankets should not be stored with moth flakes or crystals.

Mrs. Leroy Sapp

Mrs. Iva T. Sapp, 86, of near here, died Sunday at the Fletcher Nursing Home in Felton after a long illness.

She was the widow of Leroy Sapp who died last year. She is survived by four sons, Charles, of Adrian, Mich., Emerson of Dover, Albert of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Louis W. of Harrington; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Coverdale of Lincoln and Mrs. Grace Lyons, of Harrington; nine grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

Services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Berry Funeral Home, Milford, with interment in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q—When I get out of service I'll still have to finish high school. Would it be smart for me not to use my G.I. Bill Education and training entitlement while completing high school so that I can have all of it available for college?

A—There is no need to "save" your entitlement for college. Last year Congress passed a law permitting veterans to receive an educational assistance allowance ($130 a month for a single veteran in full-time training) from the Veterans Administration while completing high school. This allowance will not be charged against your full entitlement to college level training under the G.I. Bill.

Q—Can I buy a particular house I would like under the G.I. loan program even though the seller insists on getting more than the VA appraisal price?

A—Yes you may, provided that you are willing to pay in cash the difference between the amount on the Veterans Administration Certificate of Appraisal and the actual selling price of the house.

Q—I would like very much to serve as a volunteer in a VA hospital but my free time is limited to a couple of hours during the middle of the day. Is there a need for volunteer help during these odd hours?

A—There certainly is. The Veterans Administration Voluntary Service can use help just about any hour of the day, any day of the week, generally between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. There are all kinds of jobs to be done. Check with your local VA hospital. Your interest and assistance will be most appreciated.

Paint Protects Galvanized Steel

Paint galvanized steel roofs, rain gutters and downspouts to improve appearance, increase heat reflection and prolong steel life, advises Ernest W. Walpole, assistant professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Delaware. Galvanized coatings deteriorate in five to seven years exposing the steel to rust and corrosion, says Walpole. Under ideal conditions, galvanized steel should be painted just before rust appears. Since it is almost impossible to pinpoint this time, however, paint immediately after the first signs of rust are evident.

Wait about six months before painting new steel, he adds. This will allow weathering and deterioration of the stain inhibitor applied by the manufacturer. It's difficult to get a good paint bond on new galvanized steel; but if waiting six months is impractical, wash the steel with vinegar and rinse with water before painting. This helps break down the stain inhibitor and makes the steel more receptive to paint.

In painting, it is essential to apply a prime coat that bonds to the metal well. For galvanized steel, use a primer formulated for this specific purpose, usually zinc chromate or a zinc chromate compound. Apply oil base paint of the desired color over the primed surface.

Prepare the steel surface properly before beginning, he cautions. Brush off surface dirt and scale with a wire brush and remove grease and oil films with mineral spirits or detergent and water. Be sure that the metal surface is completely dry before applying primer or paint.

Delaware Farm Labor News

The potato acreage remaining to be harvested is dwindling rapidly with a few crews seeking additional employment within the next few days. Some scattered shortages of tomato pickers are occurring, but are primarily among growers that do not have housing. Labor supply and demand in reasonable balance for this period.

Wilmington Area

The potato harvest is slowly nearing completion. Most growers, who have not already finished, are down to the 20-25 acres "to go" stage. Crews have dwindled in size but there appears to be enough labor to complete the harvest. The tomato harvest is also nearing completion. Labor is adequate except for a few individuals to help on a couple of tomato patches. Lima bean harvest is under way, but no serious labor shortage is anticipated as this crop is mechanically harvested.

Dover Area
Quite a few potato growers have completed their harvests, while remaining growers are down to low acreages. Labor remains in balance even though crews are smaller in number. Labor seems to be adequate to complete the tomato harvest, but one grower could use individuals to fill in with a crew to pick snap beans for fresh market. Mechanical harvesting of lima beans for processing has started.

Georgetown Area
The processing of snap beans, lima beans, peppers, white potatoes, and carrots continues in local processing plants. Shortage of workers to harvest tomato crop in area at present. Will start late apple harvest end of this week or first of next week. Laurel Auction Block reports cantaloupes still being offered for sale but just about finished for season. Watermelon quality excellent 15,000 to 25,000 expected daily this week. Auction Block will remain open the week of September 16-20 if sufficient melons are offered for sale and buyers are on hand to purchase them. Work available for women in processing plant, contact Employment Security Commission office Georgetown, phone number 856-2717 for additional information.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

After ten successful years of happy retirement I feel obliged to mention some of the contributing factors; good health and pleasant surroundings, plenty of recreation — chores all play a part but, like politics it's a two-party job and I have a good partner who deserves most of the credit for all my successes. However, some anonymous contributor added the following to my efforts—

SO YOU QUIT

So you've gone and just quit working,
 And now hang around the house;
 And you think you're so important
 Just a bossing of your spouse!

You'll hang out all the washing
 And bring 'em in when dry;
 You'll run the vacuum cleaner,
 And other things you'll try.

You'll make up beds, run errands,
 You'll fuss and cuss a bit,
 And you'll thank your stars in heaven
 The good old hay to hit.

Did you ever stop to ponder
 What might become of you,
 If that same old loving partner
 Decides to retire too!

TO KNOW HIM

By Samuel A. Short Jr.

To love your Lord, you must know Him,
 Each hour all through the day.
 To know Him, you must have Him,
 Beside you in every way.

To have your Lord, you must want Him,
 In your heart and in your mind,
 So in your mind you must seek Him,
 In your prayers when you pray.

When you pray just speak to Him.
 He'll never turn you away,
 When He answers, just you greet Him,
 And then, with you He'll always stay.

So don't forget when you greet Him,
 Greet Him with your biggest smile.
 Let Him know that you need Him,
 For ever and ever and just, not a while.

Don't ever feel you're forsaken,
 Nor unhappy where ere, you go,
 Just put your trust in your Saviour,
 And He'll always love you so.

So as you pray to Him alone,
 Ask for His devine guidance.
 To make you a perfect and faithful disciple,
 And He'll make you all His own.

Take a little time while you're working,
 To thank Him for helping you.
 In humility you will find Him,
 For to love Him you must be true.

A few weeks ago Mr. Miller of Paradise Pastures wrote a poem about the old time cigar store Indian, stating he wondered what had happened to him who stood there so silently, stalwart, and so brave. So here is where he is now. (He's in retirement).

THE OLD CIGAR STORE INDIAN

By Samuel A. Short Jr.

The old cigar store Indian is now gone and is no more,
 Age has overtaken him and he's retired from the store.

His services is o'er and his duty he's done,
 Coaxing the buyers for his products, one by one.

Centuries have come and many have gone,
 Since the old man stood there as we came along,
 His paint and his make up is now out of date,
 He is needed no more, age has been his fate.

You may wonder how this all came about,
 So I'll tell you now without a doubt.
 It was the man's pipe the only smoke they knew,
 When the cigar came into existence making its debut.

T'was in the beginning when first things came first,

Advertising was the cause for the smoker with the cigar thirst.
 It had to be that I'm sure you can see.
 Why the Cigar Indian stood there so silently.

Advertising was his game; it was all the same,
 Thinking nothing of it; that's how he gained his fame.
 Things like this happens every day as we go our way,
 It happens to all, it did to you and me, we too, have had our day.

Public Hunting Program

The Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge will be open to both archery and shotgun deer hunting. Refuge manager Nelson announced that approximately 1,045 acres of the Dutch Neck Unit will be open to licensed archers from one half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset Sept. 14, 21 and 28, October 5, 12, 19 and 26, and November 2. Hunting area maps and regulation leaflets will be issued at the entrance to the hunting area located at the junction of Route 9 and Dutch Neck Road.

During last year's controlled hunting program, archers harvested nine deer on the refuge. Close, clear, well-placed shots were the keys to success.

The Dutch Neck Unit will be open to licensed shotgun deer hunters from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset November 15, 16, 18 and 19, 1968 and January 16, 17 and 18, 1969.

Required federal permits will be reserved for successful mail applicants as chosen by a public drawing. Application must be made on special refuge forms and mailed to arrive at the refuge by October 8. Successful applicants will be notified by mail. Application forms may be obtained from state hunting and fishing license sales offices.

The number of hunters admitted to the open area at one time will be restricted to 50. Reservations forfeited by non-appearance of applicants or not previously reserved will be made available by drawing at the refuge office one hour before sunrise.

Applications will be required for shotgun deer hunting only. However, a fee of $1 per person will be charged all deer hunters.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Refuge Manager, Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge, R.D. 1, Box 147, Smyrna, Del. 19977, Telephone No. 653-9345 (8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday).

Fire Company Auxiliary News

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Harrington Volunteer Fire company held their regular monthly meeting on September 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Fire Hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, Betty Taylor, with 17 members present for this meeting. Reports were given by the members of each office.

Dorothy Collins gave an excellent report on the Kent County meeting held at Cheswold on June 25.

A discussion on the definite plans for the bake was then held, which is to be held on September 20 and 21, Friday night from 6 to 8 p.m. and also Saturday morning starting at 10 a.m. It will be held in front of the Fire Hall with all kinds of baked goods and chicken salad to be sold. Each member is responsible for a chicken cooked and cut up for the salad.

The delegates and alternates to attend the Convention at Talleyville are as follows: Betty Taylor, Dorothy Collins, Kathleen Montague and Mary Ann Wilson.

The refreshment committee for the month of October is Ena VonGoerres, chairman; Mabel Kemp, Katie Austin, Jerrie Outten and Dorothy Collins.

The meeting adjourned at 8:45 p.m. with refreshments being served.

Ragweed Control Helps Hayfever Sufferers

Break out the pills and handkerchiefs. Get out the nosedrogs. Another hayfever season is in full swing and thousands of Delawares are sniffing and sneezing their way through another miserable summer.

One of the most common causes of hayfever is ragweed pollen, one of the most widespread allergens known, says E. M. Rahn, associate professor of horticulture at the University of Delaware. People who are sensitive to this pollen suffer severely with sneezing, swollen membranes and watering eyes—all symptoms of hayfever.

Both species of ragweed encourage hayfever suffering, says Rahn. Common ragweed, which grows at least three feet high, has green fern-like leaves with tiny greenish-white flowers. Giant ragweed grows from six to ten feet high and has one, three or five lobed leaves with greenish-white flowers. During August and September, both plants release huge quantities of dusty yellow pollen into the areas where people live, work, play or travel to and from their jobs.

Ragweed is especially prevalent in areas where the soil surface has been recently disturbed. This may occur in construction, and grading areas and in other areas where the soil surface is bare. Ragweed is also fairly common near housing and apartment complexes before these developments are landscaped.

Since hayfever and asthma, often an outgrowth of allergic reactions, are considered to be one of the most serious chronic respiratory diseases in the United States, it is important to eliminate as much ragweed as possible.

Rahn urges property owners, tenants, gardeners, municipal officials and highway officials to eliminate ragweed on a year-round basis, and particularly during the pollen producing season. Control ragweed by spraying with 2, 4-D or related compounds, but be particularly careful that drifting spray does not damage other sensitive plants.

Freshly emerged pollen is most irritating to hayfever sufferers, says Rahn. For those people, the critical factor is the pollen concentration at nose level. Proper ragweed control can go a long way in reducing the pollen concentration and will bring a good deal of relief to Delaware's many hayfever sufferers.

Community Singers Open Membership

Mrs. William Kramedas, president of the Community Singers, invites all women interested in singing to call her at 734-3575 if they would like to join the Singers for their coming fall season. At the first meeting, Sept. 18th, in the Dover Public Library, State and Budd Streets, coffee will be served beginning at 9 a.m. during the registration period. Rehearsals generally are from 9:30 - 11:30 a.m. preceded by a brief coffee hour each week. Since the great success of their musical, "The Most Happy Fel-la" last June, everyone has been asking when the Singers will present another Broadway show. Mrs. Kramedas and her committee are now planning to satisfy this demand next May.

The Singers are beginning their 19th year with the same policy on which they were founded of open membership and no audition. A free nursery, under competent supervision, is provided for women with pre-school children. Mrs. James Conlogue is chairman of nursery activities.

The major program of the fall season will be a joint concert of the Community Singers and the Orpheus Club of Wilmington, Wed., Dec. 4, in the William Henry Middle School Auditorium, to which the public is cordially invited. Bruce Hendrickson is the director of The Orpheus Club. Mrs. William J. Storey directs The Singers and is assisted by Mrs. Clayton Pearce, as accompanist.

River, Bay Authority To Pursue Report

The Delaware River and Bay Authority said today it would "pursue with diligence" a report by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers which said that the Federal government would not assume responsibility for a navigable channel in Delaware Bay.

The channel, including Crow Shoal, is on the route of the Cape May-Lewes Ferry, operated by the Authority. When the Ferry route was established in 1964 the Authority dredged the passageway and has maintained it ever since.

Subsequently the Authority petitioned the Corps of Engineers to assume the dredging as a public responsibility, said Authority Director William J. Miller, Jr.

In a recent announcement, Major General C. M. Duke, Division Engineer in New York, reported that "since the Delaware River and Bay Authority is the sole beneficiary of this improvement, and in view of the fact that there are no other present or reasonably prospective users of the channel, no general navigation benefits would accrue from the work. Therefore," the statement said, "no modification of the existing navigation projects in Delaware Bay would be recommended."

Authority chairman Alexis I. duPont Bayard took exception to the statement that only the Authority benefits. He pointed out that the Cape May-Lewes Ferry is an inter-state transportation artery serving literally thousands of individuals, passenger cars, buses and trucks.

"It seems to me we should diligently pursue this report and point out that the general public does benefit from having these channels kept navigable," Bayard declared.

The Authority ordered Director Miller to secure the full Corps of Engineers' report and make subsequent recommendations.

Veterans' News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I was drafted and have served two years. Now I am about to be released from active duty but must serve in the Reserves. May I keep my Servicemen's Group Life Insurance while in the Reserves or must I convert to a private plan?

A—You must convert your SGLI policy to a private plan within 120 days after release from active duty if you want to keep this insurance protection. For further information, contact your nearest Veterans Administration office when you get back home or write to the Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington Street, Newark, N. J., 07102.

Q—I lost my father in Korea, and the Veterans Administration has been paying an allowance to my mother for me. When I enter college this fall, will the War Orphans Educational allowance also be sent to my mother, or to me?

A—The VA usually pays this benefit directly to the college student, unless the mother or other fiduciary has been formally appointed as "guardian" by court action.

Q—I am interested in buying a farm with a G.I. loan, I am told I can do this even though the selling price is more than the VA appraisal. A—Unfortunately, you have been informed incorrectly. Farm real estate (nonresidence) cannot exceed VA's appraised value. PL 90-301, signed by President Johnson last May 7, permits veterans to pay more than the VA appraised price for homes—not farms. The maximum guarantee for the type of farm loan you mention is still 50 percent of the loan amount of $4,000, whichever is less. Again, PL 90-301, which raised the VA maximum guaranty on homes from $7,500 to $12,500, did not change the farm loan guaranty.

Oliver J. Polk

Oliver J. Polk, 71, of Harrington, died Monday, Sept. 2, at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Elsemere, after a long illness.

A native of Bridgeville, he had lived for the past five years in Harrington. He was a veteran of World War I. Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Rosa P. Thomas, of Harrington; a half-brother, Ralph Cook, of Utica, N. Y.; and a half-sister, Mrs. Bessie Cannon, of Bridgeville.

Services were held Saturday afternoon at 1 at the Hardesty Funeral Home, 200-202 Laws St., Bridgeville. Interment was in Mt. Calvary Cemetery, Middleford.

ASC Committee Election Deadline Nears

The approaching election of ASC community committees for farm program administration in Kent County was announced by J. Heyman Roosa, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. He called attention to the fact that the community committee elections this year are being held during the third week of September in all agricultural communities throughout the nation in an effort to increase the awareness of this important farm-program function in eligible voters.

The farmer-committee system is a unique means of administering national agricultural programs and policies. The community committees assist the ASC county committee in administering the price support, acreage diversion, agricultural conservation, and other farm-action programs in the county; they are particularly responsible for keeping their neighbors informed about the programs. The county committee supervises the ASC county office and is responsible for the local administration of the various programs.

Voting will be by mail, the Chairman explained, and ballots are being sent to each known eligible voter. In case eligible voters fail to receive a ballot through the mail, they may contact the county office at Dover for official ballot form. Generally, a farm owner, tenant, or sharecropper is eligible to vote if he is eligible to take part in one or more of the programs administered by the ASC committees. Eligibility to vote or to hold office as a committeeman is not restricted by reason of sex, race, color, religion, or national origin.

Envelopes containing marked ballots may be mailed or returned to the ASCS County Office by September 16, 1968. Ballots will be tabulated publicly by the county committee on Fri., September 20th, at the county office beginning at 9 a.m. The public is invited to witness the vote counting.

Following are the slates of nominees for ASC Community Committees: Community A — Frank B. Cole, Clayton; Donald R. Dixon, Clayton; Donald E. Dulin, Clayton; Alfred D. Moore, Jr., Smyrna; Charles B. Ross, Clayton, and F. Willis Ryan, Jr., Clayton.

Community B—Millard W. Dixon, Dover; William M. Harrington, Dover; John T. Moor, Dover; Joseph P. Moore, Dover; Clarence T. Scuse, Jr., Smyrna; Arthur N. Short, Smyrna, and George E. Wilson, Jr., Smyrna.

Community C — Charlie Brittingham, Dover; Carlton A. Carter, Dover; John E. Gunter, Maryland; Charles E. Hartnett, Hartly; H. Baxter McKee, Dover and Steve Szelestel, Jr., Hartly.

Community D — Paul W. Carter, Felton; Archie Dill, Harrington; Dan Gooden, Camden-Wyoming; William R. McCullough, Felton; William J. Wells, Harrington, and Jack Webb, Goldsboro, Md.

Community E — J. Derrickson Biggs, Felton; Marvin J. Davis, Milford; William S. Greenley, Frederica; John H. Greenley, Felton; James S. Metz, Magnolia; Samuel D. Walker, Woodside and Samuel E. Webb, Frederica.

Community F — William E. Bullock, Harrington; Owain D. Gruwell, Felton; Chalmers Hendricks, Harrington; Frank J. Hrupsa, Harrington; Tilghman Outten, Greenwood; William A. Stafford, Harrington, and Harry A. Webb, Greenwood.

Community G — Ernest Argo, Harrington; Charles W. Cain, Harrington; Robert H. Dean, Harrington; Ronald D. Robbins, Milford; Roland B. Starkey, Felton; Howard Warner, Milford, and Robert F. Winkler, Felton.

For each committee, three regular members and two alternates will be elected. The chairman, vice chairman, and third regular member of the elected ASC community committee will also serve as delegates to the county convention to be held on Wed., October 2, at the County Office, Dover, at 1 p.m. The alternate committeemen are alternate delegates to the convention. Delegates to the convention will elect farmers to fill vacancies on the ASC county committee, and they will also determine which of the regular county committeemen will serve as chairman and vice chairman for the coming year.

Questions on eligibility to vote and to hold office or on the election procedure will be determined by the ASC county committee subject to appeal to the ASC State Committee.

4-H Club Talk

with Marion MacDonald

Four Kent Countians attended the recent YAC Conference at Jackson's Mill, West Virginia. Those participating in this Young Adult Conference were: Beverly Lucks and Janice Harrison, of Wyoming, Grace Tinley of Dover, and Marion MacDonald.

Our 4-H year ends and begins during this month. Club members have completed their record books. Club leaders have submitted these records for County and State Award consideration. Each record is the result of carrying a 4-H project for a year, developing the project area work to the individual's needs, participating in training meetings and contests and finally accurate reporting. County award medals are provided by sponsoring companies in over 30 projects. These awards will be announced at the Kent County Achievement Banquet on October 24 at Caesar Rodney Senior High School.

National 4-H Club week—October 7 - 12—will be the time of the County Window Display Contest. Local businessmen through the county let our 4-H clubs place a display in their windows. These displays are judged during the week. The Kent County 4-H Order of Links provide cash awards for the top three displays. The county winner then will enter the State Contest at the Delaware State Fair, 1969.

Also on the agenda to wind-up 4-H Club Week will be our annual Kent - Sussex 4-H Parade in Milford. The four contest divisions are: walking groups, mounted groups, individuals - walking or mounted, and floats. Trophies will be presented to the first place in each division. Mrs. Arlene Walls, Milford, is chairman.

This is re-enrollment month—all 4-H members must complete a new enrollment card, selecting their projects for 1968-69 club year.

U.S. Ag. Dept. Outlines 1967 Corn Takeover

Corn from the 1967 crop taken over by the Commodity Credit Corporation under the loan program will be stored, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Only corn threatened with deterioration will be sold.

The price support loan maturity date for the 1967 crop loans was July 31, says Paul B. Hastings, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Delaware Committee. And producers have begun delivering corn to satisfy CCC loans. Many producers, however, have extended their loans and will continue to hold corn on the farm or in warehouses. Takeover corn will be stored in terminals or sub-terminals if necessary to make room for the new harvest.

In order to offset adverse market effects of non-storable corn sales, the U.S.D.A. will purchase corn. Offsetting purchases will be made at local market prices but will not be higher than the local price support loan rate. Offers to sell non-storable corn and to purchase offsetting quantities will be issued by the ASCS commodity office at Kansas City. Specific terms and conditions will be issued by that office.

In view of the somewhat larger than usual takeover of the 1967 corn crop, the Department of Agriculture has emphasized its general policy of storing most of the takeover crop. CCC is selling only non-storable corn and limited amounts of export corn taken over in the southeast and offset by purchases.

Officials point out that even lower grade corn will be stored unless deterioration threatens.

Univ. Substation To Host Broiler Housing Seminar

Panel discussions on raising broilers in cages and on ventilating system operation will be among the highlights of the seventh annual Broiler Housing Seminar September 25 at the University of Delaware's Georgetown Substation.

In recent years, there has been increasing interest in growing broilers in cages, says extension poultryman Ray Lloyd. This session will examine that possibility from a research standpoint and relate the experiences of growing pullets in cages to possible application in the broiler industry.

Discussing ventilating systems, Lloyd pointed out that many broiler people are not using their current systems to their potential capacities. "This program will help these people take full advantage of their ventilating system and will highlight recent ventilation developments," he said.

Other features of the day-long seminar will include the safety of metal frame poultry houses; power requirements in broiler production; and dust problems in broiler houses. Controlled air and light housing and the quality of meat grown in windowless houses will also be discussed.

Participants in the program include researchers from universities in Arkansas, Maine, Maryland and Delaware and commercial representatives from Maryland, Michigan and Illinois.

This is the only seminar devoted exclusively to broiler housing held anywhere in the United States, says Lloyd. And more than 200 industry leaders from 19 states attended last year's meeting.

The Broiler Housing Seminar is sponsored by the Co-operative Extension Services of Delaware, Maryland and Virginia; the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association; and Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc.

Poultrymen planning to attend the seminar must register before September 18.

The vicar is happy to announce that on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, Sept. 22, 23, and 24, at Whatcoat Methodist Church in Camden, there will be a special Healing Mission which will be conducted by Father John Maillard, Anglican Priest of Devon, England. Father Maillard, an internationally known author, is the founder of Milton Abbey Sanctuary of Healing in England, one of the largest healing centers in the world. The program will begin on Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. with Mondays and Tuesdays sessions beginning at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. There will be a box lunch on both Monday and Tuesday with beverages and dessert served by the Dover Chapter of the Order of St. Luke. It is not often that we have a chance to participate in such a fine event under one of the world's outstanding leaders. Surely everyone who can will want to set aside at least one of the evenings involved.

Attention Vestry: The monthly meeting of the Vestry, due to circumstances, will take place this month on Mon., Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m.

Two Football Tilts Here This Weekend

A football weekend is in store for Harrington and Felton grid fans, as the Lions meet Bridgeville's powerhouse Mustangs here on Friday night and Felton takes over the local field the next afternoon at 2 p.m. to play its first varsity game ever. Dover Air's Falcons will test the fledgling Green Devils of Coach Art Refosco.

Bill Muehleisen's Lions have quite a few boys who have played a fair amount of football but only six or seven with extensive experience. One of these, standout lineman Elwood Lord, probably won't play against Bridgeville because of a leg injury incurred in a practice scrimmage with Caesar Rodney.

Jerry Cagle, a small half-back with good moves and fine speed is the only returning back on offense or defense. On offense, he will be joined by John Swain, the new quarterback, Oscar Matthews and David Hurd.

Graduation hit the Lions hard, as backs Steve Welch, Jim Harris, Jack Redden; linemen Howard Brown, Bob Donovan, and ends, Bill Moore and Gary Minner, played their last games in 1967. Since this will probably be the last Harrington football team ever the boys are anxious to compile a fine record. Next year will undoubtedly see a consolidation of small high schools as mandated by the Delaware legislature.

Harriers Train At Killen's Pond State Park

Harold McDonald's Harrington High cross-country Lions are training on a new cross-country course on state park property. The revised layout is 2 1/2 miles long, is mostly uphill and should get the local thinclads into better condition, than in previous years, for the regular season schedule and the state championship run. The latter test is held in Wilmington's Rockford Park.

The Lions did not recruit heavily this autumn since they are basically a young squad with only one senior and since it appears that 1969 will see Felton and Harrington consolidated by state law. A consolidation would bring out all the candidates needed to keep this area prominent in cross-country circles.

This one-year lull in heavy recruiting may have been one of the reasons why eight or nine former harriers went out for football this season. Some of these were in the 80-90 pound category and naturally were promptly cut from the pigskin squad, probably for their own good. These boys may have deluded themselves or been persuaded they had a chance in football by classmates. Some parents and other adults may have gotten into the act, also. But, it says here, no thinking person would say to an 84 pound youngster "Hey, kid! You should go out for junior high football. You would make a fine player."

We say "Don't put the cart before the horse." For after all we don't know if these lightweights will ever be big enough to play football, do we?

These ex-harriers, that were cut from the football squad, will be welcome to return to cross-country but we question their loyalty and their future value, if any.

Sophomore Chris Wetherhold has traversed the new, much tougher layout in 13 minutes, 53 seconds. At least four colleges expressed an interest in Wetherhold, as a freshman runner last season.

Co-captain and junior Roger Jarrell is next with 14:53, with Danny Hitchens, a three-year veteran close with 14:57.

Hard-working Brad Morris is fourth with 15:33. Jim Redden, 16, has a good early season 16:18. The only senior, co-captain Ronald "The Champ" Morris has had only three workouts but is No. 6 already and should move much higher. Bill Stubbs, at No. 7, completes the current varsity but Jackie D. Parker, like that it is wise to assume that his name will be seen quite often in this column. Gerardi Bros. also split four games with Hamilton Fund getting the other two. H. Wheeler helped Gerardi Bros. maintain their fifth place with a fine 214 game. Hamilton Fund must be content to hold down the ninth place position.

Penn Central was the only team which managed to sweep all four games. The victim in the setto was Butler's Fuel, who has the unenviable cellar position. The fine showing moved Penn Central from the bottom of the heap to a respectable sixth place in the twelve-team league.

Taylor & Messick Softball Champs

The local Taylor & Messick softball team, under the sponsorship of Walter Messick, won the softball championship in the Milford Softball League Wednesday night. The game was played on the league field in Milford. Taylor & Messick won the title by downing a Milford team, Hotel Norman, 3-2 in eight innings of play.

Taylor & Messick's roster includes Leonard Outten, Kenny Paul Outten, Sheldon Hayman, Bobby Collins, Frank Collins, Denny Cannon, George Langford, Bobby Wright, Ronnie Wright, Carl Wright, Larry Larimore, Julian Woodall, Leslie Wix and George Collins.

Aiding the team were the following bat boys: Doug Collins, Jimmy Messick, Robin Outten, Michael Wix, Glenn Hayman and Reig Outten.

Harrington Bowling League

McKnat's Funeral rolled over Wally's Garage Tuesday night, taking three games from them. McKnat's took over the first place spot with a real fine assist from D. Garey, who rolled a good 202 game and amassed a very good 542 series. Also aiding in the move to the top was H. Brode, with a fine 210 game. The three game loss put Wally's Garage down into the seventh position.

It seems that McKnat's is on its way to capture an early berth on the championship trio. Once they're out in front, it seems there's no stopping them. Not only did they take the championship last year, but went on to win the Best of the Lanes title at Milford Bowling Lanes.

D. Hayman was again top man for Jarrell's Fuel, as they took three games from the Spoilers. Though they won three of four games, it was not enough to keep them from slipping from their top berth to second place. Hayman's 553 series, including a 205 game, helped send the Spoilers into tenth place.

Peoples Restaurant swamped Quillen's Market for three games as R. Gray led the team with a fine 200 game. J. Winkler rolled a nice 209 game and B. Johnson contributed a very nice 539 series for Quillen's in a losing cause, which saw them near the cellar. The fine showing put Peoples into third place.

H. Chadwick, in his first appearance, amassed a superb 596 series, including a grand 221 game and a 203 game, and D. Pearson rolled a fine 214 game as Robbin's Hardware split four games with Taylor & Messick. Robbin's dropped from second to fourth place, with Taylor & Messick moving up to eighth place. Chadwick's fine bowling put him in the lead in both high game and high series departments for the week. With a start
