City Agrees To Provide Water To 3 Highway Businesses

The City Council, after an executive meeting of half an hour, agreed to provide water to three firms on the north-bound lane of U.S. 13 forthwith.

The decision came after representatives of Callis-Thompson, Inc., Ace Manufacturing Company, and the New Era Company, attended the regular Council meeting Monday night.

Dudley Willis, of Edward H. Richardson Associates, Inc., the city's consulting engineers, gave the Council an approximate price on tunneling the water main under the highway and installing two fire-pipes. He estimated the cost at $8600.

Previously, the City had broached the idea of the three firms, all outside the city limits, of paying for the installation. Users of water outside the city limits pay 50 per cent more than do users within. Representatives of the three firms, George Thompson, of Callis-Thompson, Inc., Mrs. Carl Pearson, of Ace Manufacturing Company, and Sheldon Starr, of New Era, looked with a jaundiced eye on this proposal.

Starr had been promised water by the city before his firm built a $150,000-warehouse. He said it had an idle sprinkling system.

Willis believed the city could get a good price on the extension of water mains from Teal Construction Company which is currently employed in extending the community's sanitary sewers.

Felton Man Killed on N. J. Pike

A Felton man was killed last Friday as he stood near his stalled truck on the New Jersey Turnpike.

State police said that Leo W. Leyanna, 42, was standing on the shoulder of the turnpike examining a blown out tire when he was struck by a truck driven by Robert Williams, 30, of Philadelphia, state police said.

Trooper George Newman, 37, was slightly injured when Williams' northbound truck sideswiped his patrol car, which was parked behind Leyanna's truck on the shoulder. Newman was treated at Burlington County Memorial Hospital, where Leyanna was pronounced dead. Williams was not injured.

Police said the victim was thrown about 50 feet by the impact. His wife, Mrs. Evelyn Leyanna, seated in the truck, got out upon hearing the collision. She was treated at the hospital for shock.

Williams was taken to Manfield Township Court and charged with death by auto. He was released under $1,000 bail.

Services for Leyanna were held Tuesday afternoon in the McKnatt Funeral Home, Harrington.

Welfare Dept. Seeks Quarters In City Hall

The Kent County unit of the State Welfare Department seeks quarters in the City Hall without charge, the Rev. Quay D. Rice, Jr., vicar of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church and acting head of the Kent County Office of Economic Opportunity, told the City Council Monday night.

The Rev. Rice said he had been asked to make the request by Mrs. Mary Cuyjet, head of the county welfare unit. He added the request was prompted by reports of welfare abuse and a local office would enable one to get closer to the problem.

Two rooms were desired, one of which would be for conferences. The project would be clearly on an experimental basis, he concluded.

Since the City rents the City Hall from the Harrington Fire Company, the Council decided to get in touch with the renter.

In other Council business Monday night, it acted as follows:

Decided to run the police car another year and to let Chief of Police Franklin Rogers decide if its plexiglass dome should continue in use.

Mayor Fulton J. Downing appointed a committee of City Manager Kathryn Derrickson, Dale Phillippi, superintendent of public works, Councilmen Burton Satterfield, and Benjamin Hughes to poll merchants on Commerce Street about parking on that thoroughfare and Gaines Alley.

Requests have been for parking on only one side of Commerce.

Mayor Downing also said the city auditors had been here and would get out the audit on time without "a lot of fuss".

Terry Declares Farm Cooperative Month

Governor Charles L. Terry, Jr. has designated October as "Cooperative Month" in Delaware, according to W. T. McAllister, extension agricultural economist at the University of Delaware.

Delaware's agrribusiness community, including production, marketing and distribution of agricultural commodities, accounts for over one-fourth of the state's gross annual output, says McAllister. Farmer-owned cooperatives play a major role in helping farmers maintain prosperity by securing production supplies at reasonable cost, providing essential services for farm and home and giving farmers an effective voice in the marketing of agricultural products.

By joining together in co-operatives, farmers have been able to continue as independent businessmen in a highly competitive free enterprise system, he adds. Today, there are approximately 20 farm cooperatives in Delaware, excluding mutual farm insurance companies, farmer-owned sales agencies, and milk testing. These cooperatives report a membership of almost 16,000 and a gross annual business of about $18 million. This means that the average farmer belongs to four different cooperatives and does about $4,500 in business with cooperatives each year.

Governor Terry's statement urges all Delaware residents to become better acquainted with the benefits derived from the technique of economic cooperation during "Co-operative Month."

City Will Hold Another Annexation Referendum

The City Council voted to hold another referendum on annexation Monday night after a complainant questioned the legality of a successful election Sat., Aug. 24, and threatened to contest it in court.

The disputant, Nelson Rash, trading as Cadillac Realty Company, contested the vote of Mrs. Carl Pearson, manager of Ace Manufacturing Company, who cast an affirmative vote on the annexation. Rash avowed the vote could be cast only by a corporation official. Mrs. Pearson, also present at Monday night's meeting, declared she had been authorized by her firm's head, Mayor Shroyer, of Shamokin, Pa., to vote for the annexation.

Grover Brown, the city solicitor, replied he was uncertain how the case would come out in court.

The area to be annexed ran from Porter Street extended, east of U.S. 13, south to Rash's property. Rash said he cast a negative vote in the August referendum because the city would not absolve him from taxes until sewer and water were installed. The city solicitor said this would be illegal since it would discriminate against taxpayers in the city who did not have sewer and water.

The Council then agreed to hold another referendum, at an undisclosed date, covering the same territory as before excepting property of the Cadillac Realty Company.

Why Christmas In October?

In December at Mooseheart, hundreds of children of all ages will wake up on Christmas morning with excitement, anticipation, and hope in their hearts and eyes. They, like every other child, are expecting something for Christmas.

To make these dreams a reality, Moose Chapters, all over the country, put up a Christmas tree in October. Donations from Moose members, friends, or any one interested in making Christmas at Mooseheart a happy event, are placed on these trees. The money from these trees is sent to Mooseheart in time to invest every child there the same joyous Christmas that our children experience.

This tree, shown by Mooseheart chairman, Claudia Steele, will be waiting to be trimmed with donations in the Moose Home at Harrington the month of October.

Felton Man Found Dead At Home

The body of Joseph Farrow, 54, was found at Felton last weekend in his home, two rooms in the rear of an abandoned store.

After Farrow, who lived alone, had not been seen for nearly a week by his sister, Mrs. Martha Clough, she called state police of the Dover station who investigated.

The coroner's office was called and, with the assistance of the Felton Fire Department, the body was taken to Kent General Hospital and thence to the Torbert Funeral Home.

Burial was in Hollywood Cemetery here.

The coroner's office ruled the cause of death as a heart attack. Farrow had been under treatment for a heart ailment by a Harrington physician.

Truitt Hits Comeback Trail At Raceway

Woody Truitt doesn't know the meaning of the words quit or fear. They aren't even listed in his racing dictionary.

The 36-year-old Whaleyville, Md., driver, seriously injured in an August spill at Ocean Downs, hit the comeback trail at Harrington Raceway last week. And he hit it convincingly, guiding long-shot Bill Frost to a photo finish victory.

Truitt took his charge from lane three and held that position until the stretch turn when he moved outside to overhaul tiring Buck Creed at the wire. The tandem toured the mile in 2:08.1 in registering a fourth season win and returned $16.10.

Many in the mid-week crowd shied away from betting the talented Truitt, evidently fearing that the mishap might have left an indelible imprint that would unconsciously affect the Maryland veteran during maneuvering in close quarters.

But Truitt would have no part of their apprehensions and quickly erased any doubts concerning his ability to rebound from the misfortune. He had to move through and around horses in the closely-bunched stretch and executed the maneuver without a flinch.

Woody Truitt was back. Bill Frost knew it, his rival drivers knew it, and the bettors who failed to back Truitt at the pari-mutuel windows knew it.

Half of the Harrington 60-night meeting still remains, and fans are certain to hear and remember the Truitt name many times over before the light goes out Nov. 14.

Leather is definitely an "in" fashion for fall - boots, bonnet, slacks, skirts, jackets, vests, and handbags can make a complete matching ensemble.
Leather has always been a favorite, but keeping it looking like new can be a problem.

Many leather garments need a special cleaning process not offered by every cleaner, however, now more garments are being cut from leather tanned by a process that makes the garments washable. This cuts upkeep costs and makes leather more practical.

Once seriously damaged by improper spotting or cleaning, leather usually cannot be restored. Find out how to care for leather garments and their upkeep costs. Purchase according to your budget and sense of values. Save hangtags and directions for care and refer to these when cleaning and removing spots. Follow directions to avoid costly mistakes.

It Seams To Me

By Janet C. Reed
Button, button, which is the right button? It can give a quality look or a "home-made" touch to the garment you make.

Consider the garment style, your size, the color and texture of your fabric. If your garment design has one large button, this is often the center of interest, and you can use any decorative design that pleases you. The button will be larger if only one is used.

When several buttons are placed down the front of a garment, they'll be smaller so they don't completely dominate your figure.

The size of the buttons should be considered somewhat in relation to your size; for the larger figure, slightly larger buttons will be in better proportion.

The size of the buttons suggested on the pattern is usually a safe guide. The designer thought this size was appropriate for the design, and the spacing of the buttons has been planned for this size.

The usual and safest button choice is one the same color as your background fabric. It may vary in texture for a subtle contrast.

When colored buttons are used on a plain fabric, the effect can be spotty. If you want color contrast, use it on one place on the garment through accessory colors. Not only will the garment be in better taste, but you have more variety in accessory colors.

If your dress is a printed fabric, key the button color to the background color rather than to one of the colors in the print.

Self-fabric covered buttons are a safe choice on many fabrics. However, they are so commonly used on garments made at home that they can give a home-made look even when they are well done.

If you do use them, work for a smoothly covered button. This is easier to do on some fabrics than others. If your fabric does not ease smoothly over the button mold, avoid covered buttons. If you want fabric covered buttons, use your imagination to make them look different from the usual "kit" type.

Buttons are not only functional but a fashion item. Some seasons the metal button or the pearl button will be more important. Even the size will vary with the designer's whims. But the elements of good taste are always in fashion when you are making button choices.

FENCE TALK

with George K. Vapaa

The blue grass country calls your county agent this week. Louisville, Ky. is the site of our National County Agent annual meeting.

Every year we meet in a different section of the county. Next year we will be closer to home again, Atlantic City, N. J. Some of us make a practice of going every year if possible. Where else can you compare notes and ideas with 1500 or more people doing the same sort of work as you?

One whole day will be devoted to visits to horse farms in the Lexington area. Last year we looked at beef feeding operations in and near Omaha, Nebraska. Next year our Garden State neighbors will show us food processing and related agricultural industries.

Our national association functions thru committees most of the year. All of the work relates in one form or another to professional improvement, or how to do a better job as a county agent.

Poultry condemnations will for the third time be the subject of a national meeting at the Salisbury Civic Center on October 22-23. The topic reaches for the reasons why some broilers are pulled off the dressing line before they can get to the market. Any culling cuts the producer's cash return.

The meeting is open to everyone, but is of particular interest to people in the poultry industry. The top professional talent presents the program, as for example Dr. S. B. Hitchener on "Septicemia and Toxemia Condemnation as Influenced by Marek's Disease and Lymphoid Leukosis". Closed circuit TV will be used to bring the details of disease problems in clearer focus.

Here is one topic that intrigues me: "Zoning Procedure, Economic Advantages and Effect on Condemnation Rates". The speaker is Neal Christenbury, a field production vice president for Holly Farms in North Carolina.

Phone our Extension Service 736-1448 for the complete program. I'm told that the proceedings will be published and distributed for a $5 fee to non-registrants.

Looking for a fall vacation? How about a three day dairy tour to Pennsylvania and Connecticut? We're talking about Nov. 7, 8 and 9. Visits to the farms of Louis Longo, the Hicks farm, the London farm, and John Melodich farm. Overnights at the Hotel America in Hartford and the Parker House at Boston.

The group will travel in cars and the schedule seems to be easily paced. We would like to make reservations, so your county agent will appreciate an expression of interest by telephone. My number is 736-1448 if you want more details.

A man should try time, and his face should wear the expression of a just judge, who has nowise made up his opinion, who fears nothing, and even hopes nothing, but who puts nature and fortune on their merits; he will hear the case out, and then decide." Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

"GOODBYE SUMMER"

We're bidding goodbye to you—summer, Your beauties we'll never forget, Your days have been one beautiful slumber, Your parting leaves naught but regret.

Your warm sunny days we'll remember, When greens are all covered with white; And the days you are now taking from us, We'll recall as sweet dreams of the night.

Your visit puts all Nature smiling, As innocent childhood at play; And now nature mourns at your leaving, And songbirds have all ceased their lay.

We'll await the song of your coming, When the Springtime heralds your return; Farewell to the best friend of childhood, And we all hope to greet your return.

Bulletin Surveys Sixteen Years Ago

Del. Campers

A newly released University of Delaware bulletin examines the characteristics of Delaware campers and the camping facilities they seek, says Dr. Gerald Cole, assistant professor of agricultural and food economics.

In preparing "A Profile of Delaware Campers," Cole and graduate assistant W. P. Roenigk studied nearly 1,000 camping groups. Results indicate that camping in Delaware is increasing at about seven per cent each year. In 1967, an estimated 45 million Americans camped; Delaware attracted about 100,000 of these campers.

About 70 per cent of our camping groups came from out of state, says Cole. They were most frequently attracted by the ocean beaches, although they didn't necessarily camp in that area. Average income among campers was generally higher than the average Delaware family income and more than two-thirds of the campers were from non-rural backgrounds.

Campers prefer public campgrounds two-to-one over the privately owned camping facilities, he adds. This preference, however, was not reflected in their actual use of camping facilities. This discrepancy is probably due to the inadequate supply of public facilities. Hot showers and flush toilets were the two improvements campers sought most.

The average camper and his family spent $81 on a week-long trip in Delaware. Many families indicated that they couldn't afford to travel in Delaware if camping facilities were not available.

In the final analysis, those involved in development of Delaware's land and water resources must decide whether the campers' contribution to the Delaware economy outweighs the economic costs in depleting resources, says Cole.

Copies of "A Profile of Delaware Campers" are available without cost from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, 19711.

Mrs. W. Burton Wilcutts

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Wilcutts, 81, of Frederica, died Sunday at the Milford Memorial Hospital after a lingering illness. Mrs. Wilcutts, widow of W. Burton Wilcutts who died in 1959, was a lifelong resident of Delaware.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. David Robbins, of Felton and Mrs. Marshall Cullen of Dover; one brother, George Hopkins, of Dover; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Berry Funeral Home in Felton, with interment at Barratt's Chapel Cemetery.

Clean and Store Spray Equipment

To minimize repair costs and get pesticide programs off to a good start next spring, clean and store sprayers during the winter months, suggests John S. McDaniel, extension agricultural chemicals specialist at the University of Delaware.

Begin by draining all spray materials from the tank, pump, boom and hoses, says McDaniel. Then remove the plugs at the end of the boom and flush out pesticide accumulations.

Now fill the tank with clean water, add one ounce of household ammonia per gallon of water and pump the solution through the boom. This should remove most common pesticide residues from the equipment. After draining the ammonia solution, pump several tanks of clean water to rinse the machinery.

Remove and clean boom nozzles and screens. These should be stored dry or immersed in a jar of light oil. To prevent the pump from sticking during storage, drain and coat the inside with soluble oil.

If the tank is susceptible to rust, rinse and coat interior surfaces with soluble oil. Make sure the boom is drained, supported, and stored away from any corrosive materials. Finally, remove and clean all hoses. Then roll hoses, taking care to avoid sharp kinks and store inside for the winter.

In storing dusters and hand sprayers, rinse thoroughly to flush out accumulated pesticide residues. Oil plunger leathers to prevent drying and brush off rust and corrosion. Store dusters in a dry place.

For hand sprayers, disassemble and clean the nozzle and inspect O-rings for wear. Store sprayers by allowing the tank to hang upside down and open with the pump hanging beside it. Be sure that the discharge hose and nozzle are completely free of water.

You should wear rubber gloves and boots when cleaning and flushing pesticide equipment, McDaniel advises. And never allow cleaning water to puddle or to flow into streams, ponds or ditches.

facturers include storage suggestions in operating and maintenance manuals, says Williams. But if the manual has been lost or misplaced, there are several key steps to head off storage deterioration.

Drain all gasoline from the tank, start the engine and run until fuel lines and carburetor are empty. Now remove the carburetor bowl, clean it thoroughly and replace.

Next remove the spark plug and clean or replace it if necessary. Before replacing the plug, however, pour a teaspoon of SAE 10 weight motor oil into the opening and crank the engine several times. This helps to distribute the oil and forms a protective coating over pistons and cylinder walls. Do not reconnect the spark plug lead before storage.

Finally, clean the engine exterior with an old toothbrush or wire brush paying particular attention to the cooling fins on the cylinder and head. Remember to drain the crankcase and air cleaner and to coat all unpainted metal parts with grease or oil.

Store the engine in a dry place if at all possible, adds Williams. And leave the cap off the gas tank to prevent moisture collection. If the engine must be left in the open, cover it with waterproof fabric or plastic for protection from the weather.

Most major engine manufacturers include storage suggestions in operating and maintenance manuals, says Williams. But if the manual has been lost or misplaced, there are several key steps to head off storage deterioration.

First Memorial Bridge Span to be Modified

The Delaware River and Bay Authority meeting in Rehoboth Beach Tuesday, approved a joint venture contract for 4.5 million dollars for modification of the center span of the First Delaware Memorial Bridge.

Authority and staff members were guests of Commissioner Benjamin F. Shaw, II, at the Rehoboth Beach County Club.

Director William J. Miller, Jr., pointed out that by approving the combined contract the entire first ridge modification would be completed in 15 months. In order to pace the work, Whiting - Turner Contracting Company, Baltimore, the firm doing the west approach for $3,782,284 and the firm of Tully and DiNapoli, Inc., Flushing, N. Y., the east approach contractors at a cost of $3,294,929, will join forces to complete the center span conversion as simultaneous projects.

The Authority will hold its next regular meeting at the Delaware Memorial Bridge Plaza Administration Offices on Tues., Nov. 12.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

Though consumer prices continue to rise, there may be a slower pace set due to seasonal increases of supplies for beef, pork and lamb.

The outlook for meats this week once again ranks pork as one of the better buys. Fall marketing of hogs is easing the supply of this meat on the market; thus prices are edging down on all cuts.

Halfquarter cuts of beef still continue to be the most economical buy. Chuck cuts of all varieties are heavily featured. Other cuts which are reasonable are the featured items, so be sure to check rib roast, round steak and a few steaks are also featuring the more tender steaks.

Now is the time to enjoy lamb since many stores are and will be featuring this meat. When bought on sale it is reasonable, so check your favorite market when you shop.

Egg prices have eased a bit and are a penny or so cheaper than they were two weeks ago. Broiler fryers continue to be excellent buys, especially when bought on sale.

Better fall vegetables are arriving daily at most local markets and prices on many are a little cheaper. Cauliflower quality has improved greatly, as has broccoli.

good supplies are anticipated in a few weeks.

Q—Are widows of World War II servicemen who died on active duty or from service-connected disabilities still eligible to file applications for G.I. home loans?

A—Yes. Entitlement for these widows will not expire until July 25, 1970.

Q—I was recently discharged from military service and want to enter the state university this fall. Should I inform the Veterans Administration now or merely tell the university registrar of my veteran status when I enroll?

A—Inform the VA regional office where your records are on file as soon as possible of your intention to enroll in school this fall. By applying early for the VA Certificate of Eligibility which you must have you will be assured of no delay in receiving your monthly educational assistance allowance check from the VA once school starts.

Q—I have designated my wife as principal beneficiary of my National Service Life Insurance policy, and selected the lump sum mode of settlement. Suppose that each of us was fatally injured in an accident and she survived me by a few hours. What would happen to the proceeds of the policy in this kind of situation?

A—Since your wife survived you, even for a short time, she becomes the beneficiary under the policy. Since she did not live long enough to be paid these proceeds, the VA must pay the proceeds to her estate, and not to the designated contingent beneficiaries. Paying the proceeds to the estate subjects these funds to the delays and expenses incident to probate proceedings. This can be avoided through the use of a "common disaster clause." An example of such a clause is: "I designate my wife, Helen, as the principal beneficiary if living 30 days after the death of the insured; otherwise the proceeds should be paid to the named contingent beneficiaries."

Thus, in the event such beneficiary fails to survive the specified period, payment of the proceeds of your NSLI policy will be made as if the beneficiary had died before the insured.

BURN 'N SERVE

CONGRATULATIONS! To Zadoc (Bill) Poole and Wildcat Landfill on plans for a County-size incinerator. Here's a man with initiative to act on the latest technology in refuse disposal.

You and other Kent Countians can act to change all that. Vote Democratic.

LIGHTS OUT? Kent's GOP Senator promises a lot — including action against night sessions at Legislative Hall. Maybe he changed his mind; but the GOP-controlled Legislature burned more midnight oil than before... without results to show for their late hours.

FAIRY-TALES: Kent Sewer plans change with every new breath from Herman Brown. Now, with 32nd District Democrats Joe Rawlins and James McIlvaine teaching them the facts of life, Herman's Boys concede dumping sewage effluent — even 100% fresh water — in the Murderkill would kill the oyster seedlings in the stream.

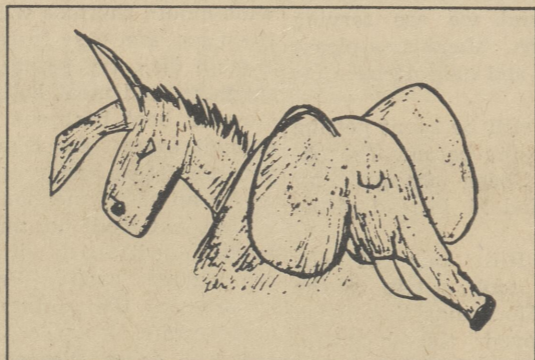

So what are they going to do? They're going to salt the water! It'll take more Democrats on Levy Court to get some honest planning.

THE BLUE-BOYS: Buster Brown's brood — as much alike in dress as in following the Boss — would be more honest to trade their identical blue blazers in for brown!

Is their follow-the-leader governing what you want? Or are you looking for REAL representation? Look to the Democrats; and get out to vote November 5th.

Coughin' Too Often? Time To See Doctor

Habitual throat-clearing and coughing are so common among dwellers in today's air-polluted environment, they're apt to pass unnoticed. That might not be so bad if it weren't for the fact that the habitual cougher frequently fails to notice it himself. Or if he is aware of it, he yields to the temptation to shrug it off.

Actually, it's a little late in the day to pretend that persistent coughing is just a harmless little idiosyncrasy. The days when a cough was just a cough and what of it are as obsolete as the mustache cup.

Years of research and medical history have confirmed the fact that a chronic cough may be a symptom of respiratory disease which may seriously threaten health or even life. This fact has been emphasized to the general public repeatedly by official and voluntary health agencies since the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association mounted its first nationwide RD educational campaign in 1963 with the slogan, "Short of breath? Cough too much? See your doctor—you may have a respiratory disease."

A cough is considered chronic if it persists beyond three or four weeks, or if it clears up but keeps coming back. Such a cough can be symptomatic of a chronic respiratory-disease such as emphysema, chronic bronchitis, asthma, TB, or lung cancer. The earlier such an ailment is diagnosed, the better the chance of its being treated effectively. If you have a cough you can't shake off, two immediate courses of action are advisable: stop smoking, and see your doctor. The Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society has an informative leaflet, "Chronic Cough, The Facts." Ask for it - it's free.

Del. Memorial Bridge Traffic On Increase

September traffic across the Delaware Memorial Bridge increased nearly 1,000 vehicles a day compared with last year.

Statistics compiled by Theodore C. Bright, general manager of the span, disclosed that 1,380,429 vehicles used it during September, compared with 1,349,667 in September 1967. This is an increase of 30,762 or 2.3 per cent.

Revenues increased from $819,877.10 to $840,945.15, a rise of $21,068.05, or 2.6 per cent.

In his report to the commissioners of the Delaware River and Bay Authority Mr. Bright said that for the 12 months ended Sept. 30 some 15,686,424 vehicles used the bridge, compared with 14,983,792 for the previous year.

This is a gain of 702,632 units, or 4.7 per cent.

Social Security Notes

Beginning in January, an older person who goes to the hospital under Medicare will be responsible for the first $44 of his hospital bill - now running about $600 for the average hospital stay by a Medicare beneficiary.

The $4 increase (from the present $40 deductible results from a provision in the law requiring an annual review of the deductible amount. The first such review the law provided, was to be made in 1968. The law specifies that if this annual review shows that hospital costs have changed significantly, the hospital deductible amount must be adjusted for the following year.

Necessary increases in the deductible amount are to be made in $4 steps to avoid small annual changes. Following the formula in the law, and figuring the ratio of inpatient hospital costs under Medicare in 1966 with those in 1967, the deductible amount for 1969 worked out to $45.36. Rounded to the nearest multiple of $4, this will make the deductible $44.00 for 1969.

The results of the annual review of the inpatient hospital deductible also apply to the dollar amounts a Medicare beneficiary pays toward a hospital stay of more than 60 days, or a posthospital extended care stay of more than 20 days. These amounts therefore will also increase by 10 percent, effective January 1, to $11 a day for the 61st through the 90th day of a hospital stay; to $5.50 for the 20th to the 100th day of a stay in a posthospital extended care facility; and to $22 a day for each day of the (lifetime reserve) of 60 days, the reserve account a beneficiary can draw upon if he ever needs more than 90 days of hospital care in the same benefit period.

The changes in these amounts apply only to the hospital insurance part of Medicare and do not affect the financing of the supplementary medical insurance—the voluntary program which covers doctors bills and a wide variety of other medical services.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q—I am a service-connected disabled veteran rated 50 percent disabled. My son is 22 years of age, is a Post-Korean veteran, and is enrolled in school under the new G.I. Bill. Am I still eligible for additional compensation?

A—Yes, you may be eligible for additional compensation (until your son reaches age 23) although he is receiving educational benefits as a veteran.

Q—My husband, who served in the Army just before World War II, is now very ill. If he dies, is he eligible for the VA burial allowance and the flag for his casket?

A—Since he is not a war-time veteran, he would not qualify for the $350 burial allowance unless he receives compensation for a service-connected injury or was discharged for disabilities received in line of duty. However, if he served at least one enlistment and was honorably discharged during peacetime he is eligible for a burial flag to drape his casket.

Lion Harriers Add Three More Victims

Lewes, North Carolina of Denton, Md., and Chestertown, Md., were added to the list of teams beaten by Coach Harold McDonald's Harrington High cross-country team.

The Lions have a sixth unbeaten season in eleven years virtually in the bag. Only Middletown, Lewes and Millsboro remain on the schedule. All three were handled easily by H.H.S. in earlier encounters. Middletown will be met at Killen's Pond State Park, next to the high school construction site, at 4 p.m. on Oct. 17.

Harrington has won over nine teams this fall. In eleven years H.H.S. has finished ahead of 103 schools. Only seven times were the Lions losers.

Chris Wetherhold, the Lion's sensational sophomore, is unbeaten in dual and triangular competition in two years. He owns a string of course records and captured two more this week. In a 20-41 dual meet victory at Lewes last Thursday, he lowered his 1967 mark of 12:05 to 11:48 for a 2.3 miles run. On Tuesday he traversed a hilly 2½ miles layout at Washington College, Chestertown, Md., in 13:02. This distance is part of the 4.2 miles college course there. H.H.S. scored 36 points, Chestertown had 39, North Carolina had 47. Low score wins in cross-country.

Another sophomore, Danny Hitchens, became the first runner to get within half a minute of Wetherhold, when he clocked a swift 12:10 at Lewes. Danny missed the old course record by only 5 seconds, as he trailed Chris by 22 seconds.

Sophomore Brad Morris turned in another excellent performance and solidified his hold on the No. 3 rank on the team. Brad edged Parker of Lewes and almost caught another Pirate, Wilson, who ran the third. He couldn't get near these boys last autumn.

Co-captains Roger Jarrell and Ron Morris came in sixth and seventh to complete the Lion scoring.

Leonard Palmer, an eighth grader and freshman Billy Stubbs, continued to do a fine job. Bob Rash and Jackie D. Parker beat all but two of the Pirate squad.

Dan Bell, Johnny Jackson and Tommy Clarke ran well on the scenic Henlopen State Park course. Tony Kibler finished fast to record a dead heat with Wardell Davis for 20th place in a field of 35 finishers.

At Chestertown the Lions faced their only serious threat this season. The Red-and-White of Chestertown High proved unexpectedly strong. The Marylanders don't play football and thus were able to field an array of older runners from 16 to 19 years of age. They also had the home course advantage and caught the Lions on an off day. Yet, the young Harringtonians paced by the hard running 15-year-old sophomore, Chris Wetherhold, Danny Hitchens and Brad Morris came through in the clutch.

The Dragons surprised by getting five men in the top

H.H.S. Felton Grid Clash Is A One-Shot Deal

Since Felton and Harrington High Schools will be consolidated next year, the first meeting of the two in varsity football tonight (Friday) will also be the last. Consequently, it is expected that each eleven wants very much to win this one.

Felton, in it's first year of football, surprised a lot of fans by winning its opener against Dover Air's Falcons. The Green Devils have scored only one touchdown since, however, in losing by big margins to three of the Henlopen Conference's stronger clubs.

Meanwhile, H.H.S. was picked by many to be the runner-up team in the league but has won only once, over Selbyville.

Felton has to be the underdog but could be dangerous. The Green Devils looked well passing against Dover Air. In turn, Harrington has been weak at times against an aerial attack. The Lions have a couple of boys on crutches and one or two more are out for the year as injuries continue to take their toll. But this can be expected in a rough, contact sport.

Game time is 8 p.m. at Harrington High Stadium. Felton plays all its home games here and is the home team in this one.

Parker, Baynard May Be Future Star Harriers

This writer regularly transports two fifth graders out to Killen's Pond State Park for workouts on Harrington High's rugged 2½ mile cross-country course. This is probably the most grueling layout of any high school on the peninsula.

Some high school students at H.H.S., lean of body but big of mouth, proclaim loudly

Harrington Bowling League

Gerardi Bros. cleaned house Tuesday night, making a clean sweep of all four games from last week's fifth place team, Robbins Hardware, to move into the first place berth. Their fine show of strength displaced Peoples Restaurant, last week's holder of first place. H. Wheeler led the way Tuesday night for Gerardi Bros. with a superb 609 series. Also rolling grand games of 225 and 222. Wheeler's 609 series was the first 600 plus series rolled by any league member thus far this season, as he took the lead in the individual series department. J. Forbes made a good effort for Robbins Hardware, rolling a fine 204 game, but could not keep his team from falling down to ninth place.

Wally's Garage were prepared for The Spoilers and were determined not to fall victim to them as other teams had previously and managed to turn the tables on this adequately named team in Tuesday night's fray. A fine all out effort enabled Wally's Garage to take all four games from The Spoilers and set themselves up within striking distance of Gerardi Bros., by trailing by just one game. The Spoilers weren't so fortunate as they dropped from seventh to tenth place.

Peoples Restaurant was stunned by losing four games to Penn Central, and tumbled

"Cross-country isn't for me, it's too far." It is too far unless you have an ample supply of intestinal fortitude.

Howard Parker is 9 years old. Donald Baynard is a few months older. Parker is in his second year of training. Baynard started this year.

Although Harrington High is undefeated and has almost thirty boys competing, only a dozen boys can regularly beat Parker's practice time. Baynard is only about 25 seconds behind Parker. Both lads could someday be great runners if they keep their desire. Athletic scholarships might well see both through college.

Meanwhile back at the high school some slothful teenagers chant "Cross-country requires one to run too far".

It's not too far for these two courageous elementary school pupils.

H.H.S. Hockey News

By Faye Austin - Sue O'Neal
The Harrington High Lionsesses played a close game with Rehoboth, but were beaten with a 1-0 score. There were many attempts made by the girls, but it just wouldn't go in.

The J. V. Lionsesses also lost to Rehoboth with a 2-1 score. Harrington's only goal was made by Beth Graham.

The Lionsesses next game is with Indian River and it is away. That game is Oct. 17.

On Oct. 23 the Lionsesses have a game with Millsboro at Millsboro.

from the top spot to third place. P. Baker rolled a very fine 219 game and K. Baker rolled a nice 201 game to pull Penn Central up about four notches into fifth place.

B. Johnson amassed a very fine 565 series, including a 203 game to help Quillen's Market win a game from Hamilton Fund in Tuesday night's competition. H. Daufendach led the way for Hamilton Fund with a fine 297 game, although their fine effort proved to no avail as far as the standings were concerned, and they must be content with the same eighth place position as last week.

Taylor & Messick remained in the same position also, even though they took three games from Butler's Fuel. G. Collins made a grand effort for Taylor & Messick, by rolling a very grand 551 series, including a grand 226 game. Butler's Fuel again remains in the cellar position.

B. Collison really turned on Tuesday night, by rolling a record 253 game to lead in the individual high game department in the twelve-team league. He also amassed a very fine 581 series total to near that magic 600 mark. F. Farrow, in his first appearance in the league this season, also had a very good 559 series, including a nice 204 game to join Collison in aiding Jarrell's Fuel to overwhelm McKnatt's Funeral Home, and moved themselves up the ladder a couple notches to seventh place. McKnatt's is just one game out of the cellar after being handed a four game loss by the fuel boys.

After seven weeks of bowling, Jarrell's Fuel holds first places in the league's high team series and high team single game. They are also represented in the individual series department by B. Collison, who is in third place in that category. Collison also holds the first place position in the individual high game department, with D. Hayman, also of Jarrell's Fuel, in second place.

Taylor & Messick, to-date, is in second place in high team three-game department, and is represented by G. Collins, third in the high individual game category.

McKnatt's Funeral Home is third in the high team series department and second in the high team single game category.

Gerardi Bros. holds the third place in the high team game column, with H. Wheeler leading in the high individual series department.

Robbins Hardware is represented by H. Chadwick, who is in second place in the high individual series category.
