Physician Locates in Harrington

A Milford physician has purchased the residence of Mayor Fulton J. Downing, Clark and Dickerson Streets, and has moved in.

Dr. Zosimos Buendia, a general practitioner, said he would construct an office. In the meanwhile, he will make house calls and commit patients to Milford Memorial Hospital where he will work part time as a house physician some nights.

Dr. Buendia received his medical degree from Manila Central University, in the Philippines. He served his internship in the islands. He also served internship and as resident physician in several hospitals in the United States. Included was a year as resident anesthesiologist at St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City.

Mrs. Buendia also has a degree in medicine but doesn't practice, her activities being confined to their son, 9.

Harrington's other medical doctors are Dr. Vincent Lobo, Dr. Carl P. Deyhle, and Dr. Hunter M. Addis. The last-named told The Journal he intended to move to Colorado in the spring.

Mrs. Davidson Found Guilty

Mrs. Eleanor Mary Davidson, 35, of Felton, was convicted of voluntary manslaughter last week, a crime punishable by up to 30 years in prison.

She was charged by the state with second-degree murder in the rifle slaying of A. L. Stephans Jr., 23, in a home they shared near Felton.

Superior Court Judge George C. Wright ordered a presentence investigation.

In his summation, the prosecutor, Deputy Atty. Gen. Merrill C. Trader, told the jury of nine women and three men that the state had proved malice, a necessary ingredient of murder.

Trader said, "The selection and use of a deadly weapon implies malice. The indignity to the corpse of the deceased shows malice."

"The burning of the body of the deceased shows a wicked mind, a heart fatally bent on mischief."

Public defender Harrison F. Turner argued, "You can either believe the prosecution... or believe the evidence." He said malice had not been inferred.

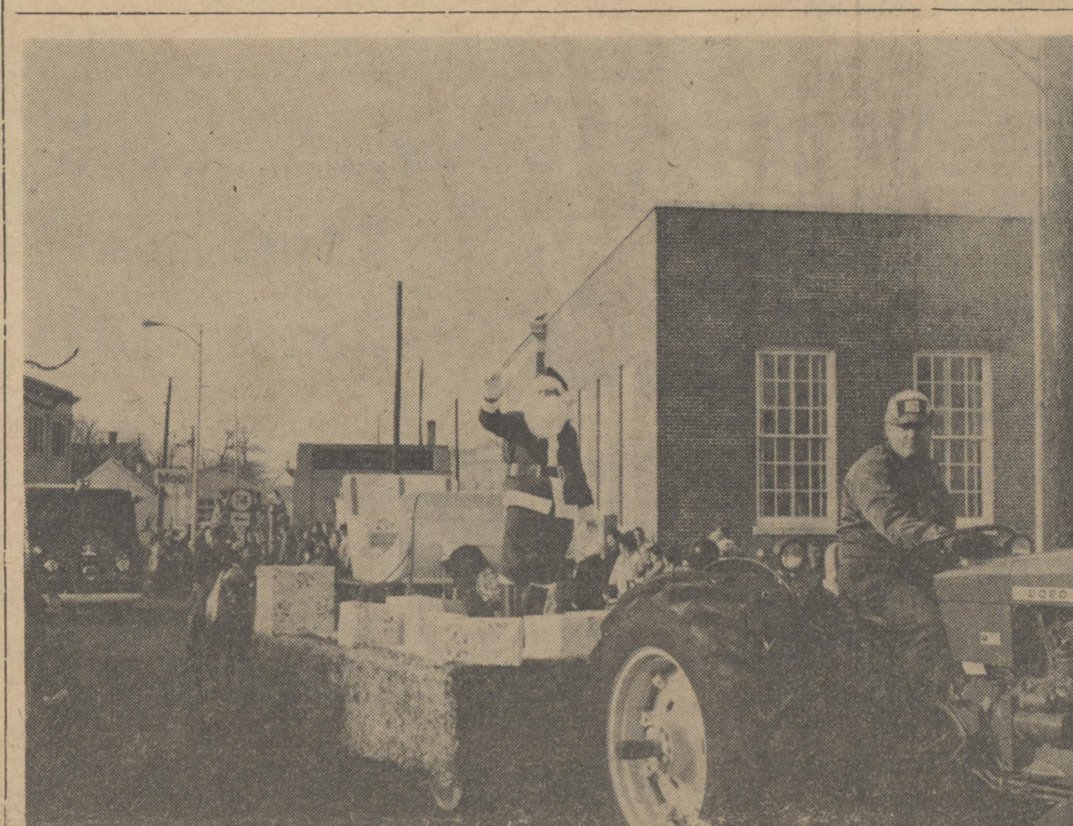

He asked, "What in reality did the defendant do?"

"She was in fear of physical abuse. She fired one shot to scare him. It was in connection with a warning to him."

"I say she committed a lawful act in so doing. She is guilty of nothing more than an unfortunate tragedy."

The state had contended that on June 1, Mrs. Davidson, after an argument over money, followed Stephans down a flight of steps and shot him.

'Robbery Victim' Named National 4-H Winners

Three Delaware 4-H members have achieved recognition at the 47th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, according to state 4-H leader James O. Baker.

Eighteen-year-old Lee Mesibov, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Mesibov, Houston, has been named one of six national winners in the 4-H poultry program.

Mesibov, who has also received county, state and regional awards in poultry, has been a 4-H member for three years. He has also received awards in strawberries, garden, electric and photography and served as Delaware delegate to the Maryland State 4-H Conference. He has also received state and county awards in poultry demonstration.

For his national effort, Mesibov will receive a $500 educational scholarship donated by Heisdorf and Nelson Farms, Inc.

Laura DeHoff, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George DeHoff, Hockessin, has been named alternate winner in the national Dress Revue Awards Program.

Miss DeHoff, who has been active in 4-H work for eight years, modeled a deep blue velvet full-length dress with contrasting ice blue satin sash.

Miss DeHoff is a freshman at the University of Delaware and has received state honors in clothing judging in 1966 and 1967. She also serves as a junior 4-H leader and is former secretary of the New Castle County 4-H Junior Council. Her trip to the National Congress is sponsored by the Simplicity Pattern Company.

Seventeen-year-old Elizabeth Allison Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith, Newark, has been named alternate safety winner.

Miss Smith is a six-year 4-H member and has carried projects in food, home beautification, food preservation, clothing, safety, health and leadership. She has also won

Vets' Pay Commission In Operation

The Veterans' Military Pay Commission began operation July 1, in accordance with the terms of House Bill 275 which authorized payment to Delaware veterans of $15 a month up to $225 for a person who has served on active duty within the United States since August 5, 1964, and up to $20 a month or a maximum of $300 for duties overseas. An additional $300 benefit is provided to the immediate next of kin of a veteran who died while in service.

The veteran must have served more than 90 days for purposes other than training and must have been born in or entered the service from Delaware, or have lived in the State at least a year before induction. Those with a 60 per cent disability are entitled to a $300 payment regardless of their length of service.

To date about 5,000 Delaware veterans have qualified for payment of the bonus. There has been a few weeks' delay in payments due to the fact that funds from the new bond issue were not readily available but payment of these authorized claims are expected to be resumed by about Dec. 16.

A number of claims have been disallowed because of the misunderstanding regarding residence requirements to qualify for this bonus to Delaware veterans. To meet these requirements, a veteran must qualify as follows:

- (1) Was born in and lived in the State of Delaware until entrance into the Armed Forces of the United States or was inducted into service from the State of Delaware; or
- (2) Was born elsewhere but has been a legal resident of the State of Delaware for at least twelve (12) months immediately prior to entrance into military service.

The headquarters office of the Veterans' Military Pay Commission is located at 1224

Del. Driver Sues Track

Harness driver Melvin Thompson of Hartly, has filed a $100,000 damage suit against Hinsdale Raceway, Concord, N. H., claiming that a 60-day suspension he received caused a loss of employment and reputation.

Thompson was one of six drivers suspended following an investigation of allegedly improper activities at Hinsdale on July 9, 1966.

The New Hampshire Racing Commission suspended the six under a rule allowing such action "if judges at the track believe that a horse is being driven with design to prevent his winning a heat or dash which he was evidently able to win or is being raced in an inconsistent manner, to perpetuate or to aid a fraud."

The case is being tried in a U.S. District Court.

Kent to Outline Zoning Rules

The Kent County Zoning Commission has set a series of four meetings to explain its interim zoning ordinance.

The meetings tentatively were scheduled for Cheswold on Jan. 14, Marydel, Jan. 16, Woodside, Jan. 21, and Hous-ton, Jan. 23. All the meetings will be held at 8 p.m.

Robert W. O'Brien, director of the zoning commission, said the small Kent County towns were chosen to stress the idea that the ordinance "will not really apply to incorporated towns."

C. MESSICK DOESN'T WANT TO BE IN TOWN LIMITS

Harrington's referendum for annexation, held Nov. 28, passed 1507 to 176, but a dissenter said he still didn't want to be in the town limits.

Chauncey Messick told the City Council Monday night he didn't want to be in the town limits and would consult an attorney. He resides between the northbound and southbound lanes of U.S. 13 south of Delaware 14 and adjacent to the spot where the state resumes ownership of the mall.

A question of Messick was if he could have a trailer on a tract he owns adjoining the northbound lane of U.S. 13. Dudley Willis, the city's consulting engineer, suggested Messick give a right-of-way for a sewer line in exchange for the right to maintain a trailer. This agreement had been worked out on the adjoining land of Max Corder. Council agreed to study the problem and Messick replied he would "make no definite answer tonight."

In other business, the Council acted as follows:

No objection was raised after Earl Quillen, of Quillen's Dairy Market, said he was considering self-service gasoline pumps at his store. He also said he was hoping to do some expanding in the near future but did not say what it was.

Raises of $7.50 per week were given to Patrolmen Robert Darling and Alexander Sharon, making their salaries $95. It was also revealed Patrolman Arthur Marsan had resigned to accept a position at Ft. Dix, N. J. No mention was made of a replacement. The salary raise will be retroactive to Nov. 1.

Appointed Mrs. Theodore Harrington as scrap assessor.

Recommended survey of fireplugs to see how many could be adapted to handle fire hose with standard thread. Some neighboring fire companies have this type of hose.

It was also learned Monday night Councilman Wilson Bradley had received a petitionary form to be filled for candidates for mayor.

Fire Damages Local Diner

A diner on U.S. 13 was damaged by fire early Saturday evening. Harrington firemen put out the blaze.

The diner, owned by Curtis Rash, was operated by Daniel Powell. Cause of the blaze was undetermined but firemen said most damage was done in the kitchen. The fire started while the operator had gone to get supplies.

City Takes Another Step In Solving Drainage Problem

The City Council took another step forward in solving its major drainage problem Monday night when it accepted the recommendations of its consultant engineer and the plans of the Soil Conservation Service and looked toward financing.

It motioned to ask Fred Mott, U. S. soil conservationist, to see if SCS could arrange for funds thru its legal financial structure.

The figure advanced by Dudley Willis, the engineer, of Edward H. Richardson Associates, was $17,000, but Willis hastened to say the cost could even be only half this amount. Furthermore, he thought there might be a possibility of a SCS grant for part of the money.

The city would have to pay for tiling. Other work would be done, without cost, by the SCS. Once the project was completed, maintenance costs would be paid by the City. Willis believed the SCS would begin work in April.

The Harrington project would be part of a proposed tax ditch for Brown's Branch and its tributaries. A ditch, starting west of town, would enter the city, cross the northern portion and enter a prong of Brown's Branch. This prong, running from Wheeler's Park, would be cleared to its confluence with Cemetery Ditch. The prong also drains an area northwest of town. Those property owners outside of Harrington, and in the area to be drained, would be assessed for maintenance, as would the City of Harrington.

The drainage project evolved out of flooding Aug. 2-3, 1967. Councilman John Satterfield, Fifth Ward, said most complaints he had heard had been about drainage. Councilman Benjamin Hughes, Second Ward, said Monday night: "Most people I have talked to favor the ditch."

Vice Mayor Burton Satterfield presided because of the absence of Mayor Fulton J. Downing who is in Honolulu.

promise will be reached by the two governing bodies through establishment of an independent board to run the system. Negotiation will eventually determine the board's powers.

At any rate, no bonds for the proposal can be sold until the state legislature enacts validating legislation. In effect, the legislation would indicate state concurrence with Levy Court actions. The move would make the bonds more saleable and insure a lower interest rate.

Republicans insured party control of the County Personnel Commission and Board of Adjustment. They also vowed to gain the County Arbitration Commission.

Commissioner Isaac Thomas, a Republican, moved for the appointment of Republicans U. L. Harmon and Robert Zook Sr. to the Board of Adjustment. Zook was appointed for a five-year term, Harmon for three.

William Manter was named to replace Henry J. Ridgely, Dover attorney, on the Personnel Commission. Ridgely resigned "due to the pressure" of his law practice.

Thomas selected Christian F. Grampp for a four-year term on the Arbitration Commission, which is the appeals board for county employees.

The appointments filled all vacant slots with the exception of two more members of the Arbitration Commission. Thomas promised to come up with those appointments next week.

He can name only one Republican, the other position must be filled by a Democrat.

SEWER BONDS OK'D IN KENT

Republican members of Kent County Levy Court asserted their earning power Tuesday, passing an $11-million bonding resolution and several appointments to county commissions.

Democratic Commissioner William C. Holden voted against the resolution, which signifies the county's intent to proceed with the proposed sewerage system, but Republican votes provided the necessary three-fifths majority to issue bonds.

The action may prove futile, however, since Democrats take control in January and the resolution is not binding.

Nothing stands in the way of the incoming Levy Court choosing a new tact to administer the proposed county-wide system.

As it now stands, the system would be controlled through a sewer district under Levy Court jurisdiction.

The most talked about alternative to this method is an authority. This would provide users, particularly Dover, with a voice in how the system would operate.

Control has been the biggest factor separating the city and the county on the project. The city maintains that in being the largest planned user, it should have representation concerning usage. The county claims the national trend is for county control.

Asked if Democrats are planning to bend to city desires, N. Maxson Terry Jr., incoming Democratic Levy Court attorney, said, "Not exactly. But, during the campaign this was considered as an alternative."

"The four Democrats (commissioners-elect) have not studied the situation enough to determine what they will do." Indications are that a com-

Local Workshop Starts Christmas Bag Project

The Golden Opportunity Center in Wyoming is seeking donations of items suitable for Christmas bags to be given to the Center's forty-five (45) handicapped employees. All contributions are very much appreciated and will be picked up if desired. Any item that you may be able to procure or contribute will be helpful.

Businesses as well as individuals are asked to help with this project. Contributions should be received no later than Mon., Dec. 23, 1968. Some appropriate items are apples, oranges, can goods and candies. "Special donations" will be used to defray expenses at the annual employees Christmas Banquet.

Student Paper Rated First Class

The Review, the University of Delaware student newspaper, has received a "First Class" rating by the Associated Collegiate Press in its bi-annual rating of college and university newspapers and magazines.

The Review was rated among the nation's collegiate papers published two and three times a week during the 1968 spring semester.

Guiding lights for the paper then were Raymond S. Goldbacher, of Osage Rd., Claymont, now at the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism; and Shaun D. Mullen, of 2810 Millcreek Rd., Wilmington. Goldbacher served as editor-in-chief and Mullen was last year's managing editor. Mullen, a senior, is now serving The Review as editorial director and is also a Wilmington News-Journal staffer.

The Review was rated "Second Class" for last year's first semester which was when the Christmas Ballet To Benefit Arts Council of Del.

The Academy of the Dance in Wilmington will present three performances of Tchaikovsky's immortal ballet, "The Nutcracker," as a special benefit for the Arts Council of Delaware.

Performances will be given at 8:30 p.m. on Fri., Dec. 20, at 2 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 21.

James Jamieson has done the choreography after the original of Petipa and Ivanov. Carol Ravich and Mark Hudson, solo dancers with the Boston Ballet, and Anna Marie Leo will be the featured dancers.

This year's performance will be done with full orchestra and the P. S. duPont Chorus. David Kozinecki will conduct the score and the chorus will be under the direction of Charles Reid.

The perennial holiday season favorite will be presented in the Playhouse Theatre in the duPont Hotel.

Dr. Thomas S. Watson, chairman of the Arts Council said that "this benefit will finally give the Arts Council its first financial base." Formed as a conscience organization following the demise of the State Arts Committee a year ago, the Council has been functioning mainly as a force for support of the arts in the state.

Tickets for the benefit are still available at the Playhouse box office. Price range from $1.50 to $5.00.

Coming Events

Harrington Lions Club Christmas dance will be Fri., Dec. 20, at the Harrington Moose Home. Lu Parris Orchestra.

Christmas Tree Safety Tips

Millions of Americans each year enjoy injury free holidays. To avoid Christmas tree fires that result in injury, death, and destruction of property, the Accident Control Program of the State Board of Health recommends:

- Selecting the Tree: 1. Pick a fresh looking tree. 2. Select a tree no larger than needed... Storage and Preparation: 1. Keep the base of the tree standing in water outdoors before time for use indoors.

Decorating: 1. Purchase and use only electrical decorative equipment which carry the Underwriters' Laboratory (UL) Label.

- 2. Discard any lamp wiring that is frayed or badly worn. 3. Never use lighted wax candles on or near a tree.

Enjoying the Tree: 1. Never allow smoking around the tree.

- 2. Turn off the tree lights when retiring or leaving the house. 3. Remove Christmas wrappings immediately after opening presents.

Bake and Give This Christmas

Give yourself away this Christmas. Give a gift you can really be proud of—one you made yourself.

Gifts from your kitchen will bring sighs of eating pleasure to friends and family—and they're easy on shrinking Christmas funds, says Miss Marguerite Krackhardt, extension foods and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

It's easy to be imaginative. For instance, dress up your homemade cookies or candy by putting them in a small sleigh with a miniature Santa Claus for an attractive centerpiece. Or, write your friends' name on snowmen or santa clause cookies; they can be hung on the tree or used for place cards.

An international basket brings the gourmet touch to homemade gifts. It might include such foods as Scotch shortbread, Polish kolach, Swedish nut crescents, German apple strudel and pecan bars from Greece. And fruits and nuts are ideal and nutritious garnishes in any language.

Show off your bread-making talents. Homemade yeast breads are always welcome; you can fix them ahead of gift-giving time and freeze them.

There are many delicious bread, coffee cake, tea ring and cinnamon bun recipes to choose from. Don't overload them with icing or candied fruit; these only add unneeded calories.

preserves or your special pickles are a taste treat, particularly if the fruit or vegetables come from your own garden. And, they can look very Christmassy in a special jar. Candies, spiced nuts, stuffed dates and figs, cranberry relish, seasoned cheese spreads or steamed puddings are all welcome ways to share the warmth of your kitchen at Christmas time.

Trinity United Methodist Church News

Church school at Trinity United Methodist Church, Harrington, will be held this Sunday at 10 a.m. There are classes for all age groups. The Aldersgate Class, a class for young adults, has been re-activated with Mr. Reese Phillips as leader. Former members and other interested young adults are invited to become a part of the class.

Morning worship will be conducted by the pastor, William J. Garrett, at 11 a.m. The sermon topic, as announced by Mr. Garrett, is "The Prophet Speaks". Melvin Brobst, Organist, will play "Bow ye Winds" as the prelude and "Jubilate" by No-dman as the postlude music. The Senior Choir will sing "Christ the Lord is Born" a Polish Carol. The Junior Choir will sing an Advent selection. The chancel flowers are to be provided by the O.U.R. Class.

This Saturday evening, December 14th, the O.U.R. Class will meet for the annual Christmas dinner and party in Fellowship Hall at 6:30 o'clock. Gifts will be exchanged by members and children of the class. The Junior Choir will rehearse on Wednesday, 6:45 p.m. Following the rehearsal, the group will enjoy a Christmas Party in Fellowship Hall.

The Senior Choir will rehearse on Thursday, 8 p.m. Next Sunday, Dec. 22, the Christmas treat will be distributed to members of the Church School during the Sunday School hour, at 10 o'clock. In the evening, at 7:15 p.m., a devotional Christmas program will be held in the church sanctuary.

The pastor will conduct morning devotions this coming week over Radio Station WTHD, from 11:15 to 11:30 a.m., Monday through Friday.

Two Buildings At U. of D. Are Named

The Trustees of the University of Delaware in their semi-annual meeting Sat., Dec. 7, on the Newark campus named two of the new buildings on campus. They agreed to continue with the construction of another residence complex, and confirmed a number of new degree programs approved by the faculty.

The new west campus dormitory complex, known as the 1968-69 Dorms, was named for John Dickinson, hero of the American Revolution, and the new education building was named for Judge Willard E. Hall, known as the father of the public school system in Delaware. Official names for the two structures will be the John Dickinson Residence Hall Complex and the Willard F. Hall Education Building. The education building also houses the College of Nursing.

Dickinson, a citizen of Delaware, was known as "The Penman of the Revolution." A delegate to the Constitutional Congress of 1778, his brilliant legal mind and eloquence were an outstanding contribution to the establishment of the American nation. After the Constitution was drawn up, he wrote letters and pamphlets campaigning adoption by the states.

Hall, a lawyer and Congressman and judge of the U.S. District Court for 48 years, was active for support of education in Delaware all of his adult life. He conducted county educational conventions, served as superintendent of schools in New Castle County, and headed the city board of education from 1852 to 1870.

The Trustees also authorized the University to proceed with the construction of the $11 million 170 residence hall complex on the north campus.

In the academic area, the Trustees approved programs leading to a bachelor of music degree, a bachelor of science degree in graphic and advertising design and doctor of philosophy degrees in plant science and animal science.

In the area of student affairs, the Trustees voted to permit students receiving financial aid through the university to reside in housing of university recognized social fraternities.

The trustees also accepted the annual report of the president covering the 1967-68 academic year.

Re-elected to membership on the Board of Trustees for six-year terms were Harold W. Horsey, J. Bruce Bredin, Elbert N. Carvel, Mrs. Albert W. James, Samuel Lenher, Warren C. Newton, and G. Burton Pearson, Jr.

Guest Speakers Highlight Driver Education Class

Harrington and Greenwood High Schools have been fortunate to hear guest speakers on the topic of law enforcement and motorcycle safety.

During the week of November 4, Sgt. Jackson Esham of the Delaware State Police stationed at Troop 5, Bridgeville, visited the driver education classes and presented various aspects of law enforcement. Sgt. Esham covered such points as radar, patrol duties, purposes of arrest, and the objectives of accident investigation. He will return next spring to review this material and introduce other phases of law enforcement.

During the week of December 2, Warren Price, of Diamond Cycle Sales in Camden, visited the classes. He brought various makes and styles of "two-wheel vehicles", demonstrated proper techniques of operation, and explained numerous safety procedures concerning the "two-wheel vehicles." Mr. Price is also scheduled for a return visit next spring for a demonstration program concerning motorcycle safety.

Both guest speakers were extremely interesting and informative. Gary Rogers, driver education instructor, and his students are very grateful to these professional people for their time and co-operation.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

I have always had a lot of admiration for the good housekeeping job around the Texaco Service Station on Route 13 with its associated hobby shop, from which I dedicated the following:

TO AN ARTIFICIAL ROSE

The sight of you bring memories,
 Of lovely days in June,
 When roses that you imitate,
 Were part of nature's tune.

Your shining petals glazed with wax,
 No fragrance ever knew,
 No morning sun has warmed your heart,
 Nor kissed away the dew.

No buzzing bee from out the hive,
 Has sipped your nectar sweet,
 No swaying breeze has swayed your stem,
 As if to make you sleep.

You never felt the soft caress,
 Of gentle falling rain,
 No knew the songbirds in the spring,
 Or heard their sweet refrain.

I know you're just a mockery,
 A manufactured flower,
 But yet you bring sweet memories,
 Of roses in the bower.

Helena, dam of the late Direct Express, famous pacer, was found dead early Monday morning in her stall at Helena Acres just south of town. Her owners were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Griffith. Direct Express had a mark of 1:59 1/4.

Pvt. Albert F. Killen, of Felton, is in a hospital in Japan after experiencing shrapnel wounds in Korea. On the plane to Japan he saw a nurse, Lt. Helen Ingram, a former Felton neighbor.

Harrington's Legionnaires took sole possession of first place in the close Eastern Shore League basketball race Monday evening by handing the Laurel Owls an 84-73 setback.

Bernie Siems moved to Altoona (Pa.) Tuesday and rented his nice new home to Joseph Callis, salesmanager for the George Cochran Company.

The Harrington Lions Club is soliciting food to put into baskets to go to needy persons at Christmas time. Jehu F. Camper, Francis McKee, and J. Reynolds Kates comprise the committee handling the project.

Clayton "Clutch" Killen was gored by a bull last Friday at the home of Ira Killen. The bull came at Killen from the rear, smashing him against a board fence, from which he managed to crawl out of the animal's reach.

Genie Lee Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Anderson, celebrated her fifth birthday Saturday.

Seaman Richard Shultie, of Bainbridge, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Shultie.

George Wyatt is in Milford Hospital where he underwent an operation.

At 75 K. Carter Does Her Own Thing

"When she's around, we act like gentlemen," say the 80 brothers of Kappa Alpha fraternity at the University of Delaware. "She" is Mrs. Kathleen Carter, mother of five, the first housemother ever for KA, and a remarkable woman who was 75 years young on Dec. 9.

Mrs. Carter became the lady in residence at 19 Amstel Avenue four years ago. The fraternity had just been enlarged to include a dining area and kitchen and Mrs. Carter stepped in as housemother to plan meals, supervise domestic help, and set up social events.

She makes her home at the Kastle in the first floor apartment which includes a living room, bedroom and bath. The brothers look to her for the ins and outs of table manners, emergency repairs with needle and thread, conversations on any number of topics, and plenty of warmth and affection.

Born and raised in Richmond, Va., Kathleen Carter married at age 18 and moved to Philadelphia. In the ensuing years she raised four sons and a daughter and accumulated 15 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Following the death of her husband she went to work for the nurses home of the Delaware Hospital in Wilmington. As a result of a collaboration between her son, Edward, and University of Delaware Assistant Director of Admissions, Bill Baldt, Mrs. Carter was persuaded to come to the University as housemother for KA. In one swift move, she inherited fifty new sons within Delaware's Beta Epsilon Chapter.

She arrived on campus to find the Kastle's remodeling program still underway. The first few months were, to say the least, challenging. The fraternity brothers adjusted to having a housemother. Mrs. Carter found a new and larger family to care for.

None expected her to be so dynamically active. During her tenure she has made several airplane flights with a brother who earned his pilot's license. She organized excursions to locations such as Washington, D. C. where she outwalked everybody. When the cook left and a replacement wasn't immediately available, she prepared meals for the entire fraternity.

Kathleen Carter has not neglected the social grace either. She teaches a one week course in etiquette to new pledges; the evening meal begins when she is properly seated in the dining room and, somehow, despite the traffic of some 50 busy undergraduate men, the Kastle's first floor remains properly in order as a reception area for guests of the house.

This year's fraternity president, Bill Fisher, describes Mrs. Carter as someone who "does a lot of guys a lot of good." Bill Baldt, the man who brought her to the University in the first place, says she is "cultured, refined, gracious and lovely-looking." Her son Edward, when asked how he thought his mother felt about supervising 50 boys said, "She loves it and she's extremely happy."

Kathleen Carter has been housemother to four classes of KA's, among them her grandson, Temple. She celebrated her birthday Monday. There were a few surprises in store for her at the University and at the place she now calls home.

For Kathleen Carter, who started a new family at 70; who attends football games in the rain; who rides in parades and flies in airplanes; there's too much to do to think about retiring.

U. of D. Frats To Define Responsibilities

The Interfraternity Council at the University of Delaware is calling in a board of experts on fraternity affairs from other campuses to help them and University officials define University-fraternity relationships.

The symposium, entitled "Goals '69: The University and The Fraternity," will be held Dec. 12 through 14. It is sponsored by the IFC President's Advisory Council and the Office of the Dean of Men.

Serving as resource people and evaluators of the University's fraternity system will be Eric Prystowski, IFC president, Penn State; Jim Truitt, IFC president, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Goodman Brynjolfsson, IFC president, Rutgers; William Zerman, national executive secretary, Phi Gamma Delta; Edward Pollock, vice president for student affairs, Monmouth College; and Fred Dobens, assistant dean of men for fraternity affairs, Colgate University.

Art Colbourn, president of Alpha Tau Omega and a member of the IFC President's Advisory Council said, "We are taking a responsible approach through proper channels to get a clear delineation of the privileges and responsibilities of fraternities as implied in the fraternity-university relationship."

The specific objectives of the symposium are:

1. To discuss the relationship between a university and its fraternities and to investigate what trends are occurring nationally;
2. To make suggestions for the improvement of the present University - fraternity situation;
3. To discuss the rights and responsibilities of the IFC and the individual fraternities in determining their own rules and regulations;
4. To discuss how alcoholic consumption at fraternity events is handled on other campuses and to arrive at a reasonable solution to this problem on our campus;
5. To specifically review and make recommendations on the "Statement of Fraternity Responsibilities."

Information gained from the symposium will serve as the foundation for future planning and decision-making within the fraternity system.

Course in Basic Engineering Review

A course for engineers who desire a renewed understanding and competence in basic engineering subjects will be offered by the University of Delaware beginning Jan. 8, 1969. The course is also designed to prepare candidates for the Engineer-in-Training examination.

There will be 14 weekly meetings from 7 to 9:45 p.m. on Wednesdays in Room 225, Wolf Hall on the campus. Subjects to be presented include: Mathematics, 2 weeks; Chemistry, 2 weeks; Electricity, 1 week; Thermodynamics, 1 week; Engineering Mechanics, 3 weeks; Fluid Mechanics, 1 week; Engineering Economy, 1 week.

Basic Engineering Review is offered in cooperation with the Division of Technical Services at the University of Delaware. The fee for the course is $60.

Veterans' News

More than 4,250,000 World War I and World War II veterans holding GI insurance policies will receive $236 million in dividends during 1969, Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Veterans Administration Regional Office, announced this week.

This is $13 million more than the 1968 dividend payment of $223 million.

The dividends will be paid throughout 1969 on the anniversary dates of the policies, Mr. Fields said.

He emphasized that veterans need not apply for the dividends since payments will be made automatically.

For nearly 4,100,000 World War II veterans, Nation Service Life Insurance (NSLI) 1969 dividends will total $218 million. The average payment will be about $53. NSLI dividends in 1968 were $208 million.

Some 185,000 World War I veterans with United States Government Life Insurance (USGLI) policies will receive a 1969 dividend of $18 million. The 1968 dividend amounted to $15 million. Average payment in 1969 will be approximately $97, up $18 over the 1968 average of $79.

Increased interest earnings on government life insurance funds made possible the higher 1969 dividends.

Of the estimated 70,000 Delaware veterans about 16,000 hold various types of government insurance, the overwhelming portion being National Service Life Insurance (NSLI), Mr. Fields said. Based upon the average of $53 per insured (WW II) for 1969, over $800,000 will be paid to 16,000 Delaware veterans in 1969.

These earnings will also enable VA to pay a modest, first-time dividend averaging $11 to approximately 193,000 veterans holding modified life insurance policies, Mr. Fields pointed out. These policies are issued at a low permanent plan premium rate and provide maximum insurance protection until the veteran reaches age 65. Then the face value of the policy is halved.

R.B.A. to Study Rate Increase

Commissioners of the Delaware River and Bay Authority Tuesday deferred action, until its next meeting, on the recommendation of its traffic consultants to increase the Commuter and Shopper toll schedules for the Delaware Memorial Bridge.

The report, prepared by Cloverdale and Colpitts, traffic consultants to the bi-state agency, stressed the fact that the special commuter and shopper toll rates in effect at the Delaware Memorial Bridge were far below the "normal percentage of 33 to 50 per cent of the single passenger vehicle rate used by other bridge facilities."

Donald A. Lochhead, representing the traffic consulting firm, told Authority members that following a thorough study and review of the bridge toll rate structure, it was recommended that the rate for commuters be revised from 10 cents to 20 cents per crossing, and the rate for shoppers be changed from 20 cents to 35 cents. The present 50-cent passenger car rate has been in effect since 1963, while the present commuter and shopper rate has been in effect since 1960.

In the prepared report given to each Authority member, the traffic consultants closed their study with the conclusion that "the need for funds for used in connection with the reconstruction of the First structure and the relatively low rates now charged commuters and shoppers, the authority put into effect the revised commuter and shopper rates as set forth."

The Authority will hold its next regular meeting at the Delaware Memorial Bridge Plaza Administration Office on Tues., Jan. 7.

Century Club News

Mrs. J. L. Monroe, Reporter The Harrington New Century Club met on Dec. 10 with Mrs. T. H. Storus presiding. A few matters of business were discussed and then went "On The Way to Christmas."

Mrs. Lester E. Smith, chairman and her committee, Mrs. W. H. Halliburton, Mrs. Theodore H. Harrington, Mrs. William E. Jester, Mrs. Joseph Konesey and Mrs. Vincent Lobo, Jr., presented the program. The club room was beautifully decorated and sparkled with handmade arrangements. The theme was practical and full of ideas to carry home. All joined in singing appropriate songs.

Mrs. Smith and her committee explained and demonstrated "The Twelve Days Before Christmas". The days were suggestive and original with very practical ideas. The refreshments were colorful, abundant and delicious. In closing, everyone was inspired with Christmas spirit.

The next meeting on Jan. 14, will be in charge of Mrs. Gayle B. Smith, chairman and her committee, Mrs. Daniel McSweeney, Mrs. Howard Thistlewood, Mrs. F. Brown Smith, and Miss Elva Reese. The theme will be "Pathways to Anywhere."

Mrs. H. Elmer Welch

Mrs. Mary Anna Welch, 79, died Sunday at her home on Cedar Lane after a long illness. She was a lifelong resident of Greensboro.

Mrs. Welch was a retired schoolteacher who had taught school for 32 years at seven schools in the vicinity. Her husband, H. Elmer Welch, died several years ago. She was a member of the Greensboro United Methodist Church.

She is survived by two sons by a former marriage, Louis L. Pleasanton, of Chester, Pa., and R. Leon Pleasanton, of Magnolia; a stepson, M. Raymond Welch, of Harrington; three step-daughters, Mrs. Matilda Evans of Greensboro, Mrs. Myrtle Kilen of Harrington, and Mrs. Johnson Stewart of Felton; a brother, George W. Luff of Magnolia; six grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Services were held at the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home, 110 Center St., Harrington, Wednesday afternoon. Interment was in the Hollywood Cemetery.

FENCE TALK

with George K. Vapaa
Statistical and narrative reports are the bane of a county agent at this time of year. Someone up there wants us to account for the way we use our time.

We are asked how well we lived with our written plan of work. It's a funny thing. They are not particularly interested in routine matters, unless unusual events were a part of the program. Oddly enough, about two-thirds of all the activities were never in the original plan of work. Some examples. A highly successful program on birds at the University of Delaware Farm and Home Week led us to wonder if the same interest exists in Kent County. Sure enough. We had 150 people out one evening at the Dover YMCA to learn about purple martins, Bombay Hook waterfowl and the nesting habits of all sorts of birds.

And then there was the day I found we have 187 beekeepers in Delaware. Further inquiry shows that these people—and others—want to see the Delaware Beekeepers Association reorganized. People like Norman Toadvine of Farmington, Jack Dukes of Townsend, and Bob Hickman of the State Board of Agriculture to mention just a few. So we have a program planned for Farm and Home Week this year for beginning beekeepers and will see a youth award program at the Delaware State Fair for the most and best quality of honey next year.

The new soil survey report of Kent County did not meet its completion date of October 1. We hope the work is finished by next spring, so that another land use planning tool can be put into operation. Soil interpretations are already available for a wide variety of urban as well as rural uses.

A few programs failed to develop as planned. The Garden of the Month program lagged because the mechanics of handling the details were too complex. We'll tinker with the idea again and see if it can be made to work. People often wonder why they rarely find me in the office. The reason is simple. I'm only there about 20 per cent of the time. So if you can't find me, please leave your name, phone number and some idea of what your problem may be with the secretary. I'll find you.

Where do I spend my time on the job? I average 30 to 35 meetings or events per month, make about 500 farm and home visits per year, and average perhaps 15 telephone calls per day. In general, you can probably find me in the office up until 9:30 a.m.

Top yields per acre may not mean top profits. By the same token, most of us do not farm as well as we know how. Ed Ralph, my counterpart in Sussex County, calls attention to the goal of many farmers - to top his neighbor in yields.

This has been a rough crop year because of the drought. The previous year was a good one. Only fools and strangers try to predict the weather. Yet it is rainfall which seems to be our limiting factor in production.

Farming is not a horse race. Or if it is, now is the time to get the horses ready for another year. This is the time to read, to attend meetings, to review records and to think through your program. Even the racing tout pores over his form sheets.

Soil test information is one place where you should be able to save money. If your crop did not perform because of the drought, there should still be some unused fertilizer for the next year. Some seed varieties yield better than others. Check to find out which suit your conditions. Order those scarce pesticides now. Some are in limited supply.

You are worth $1.65 per hour riding on the seat of your tractor. The time you spend in planning your farm program may be worth $100 per hour. Some men make a job look easy because they make their time count. Only fools call such a man "lucky".

Living Plants Make Beautiful Gift

Living plants are beautiful holiday gifts that can bring enjoyment for many months, says Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Select a plant that will grow in the house or apartment you are sending it to, he advises. Apartment dwellers have little choice about the amount of sunlight they can provide for a plant and apartment temperatures are usually high and humidity low.

Cyclamen and Christmas begonias will last only a few days or, at most, a few weeks under these conditions. However, many foliage plants, cacti, succulents, dish gardens and terrariums will last indefinitely, even under adverse conditions.

A sun porch, if available, is the best room for keeping Christmas plants. Florists' azaleas, for instance, will keep blooming until early spring, but only under proper conditions. They require direct sunlight, frequent watering and temperatures between 55 and 60 degrees for continued flowering. This temperature range is extremely difficult to maintain in most modern homes, says Stevens.

Poinsettia, the most popular Christmas plant, needs a cool room, full sunlight and moist soil. A poinsettia in good condition should keep its color for three weeks at a room temperature of 70 degrees. If the temperature is kept between 55 and 60 degrees, red poinsettias will hold their color for a month or more, white poinsettias for up to two months.

A new variety of poinsettia, the Paul Mikkelsen, is a little different from most poinsettias, says Stevens. It's not as sensitive to low temperatures as others and is a sturdier plant. The Paul Mikkelsen variety will retain its red color for several months.

Many Christmas plants are not ideal house plants, he adds. But their beauty can be preserved longer with careful attention. If the pot is covered with aluminum foil, remove it so that excess water will drain from the pot. Water the soil thoroughly whenever it feels dry to the touch. Finally, keep the plant in a draft-free environment where it will get plenty of light and where you can sit back and enjoy it.

It Seems To Me

By Janet C. Reed
What's your most becoming color? Actually it's not so much a question of color as it is color intensity and value. Most people can wear any color well—if they find the right quality of color to suit them.

Intensity refers to the brightness or dullness of a color. The very bright intense quality of any color is difficult for most people to wear well. People who wear their best are those with dark hair and fair skin, or those with both dark skin and hair, where the brightness of color forms a contrast to their dark coloring.

People with subdued coloring can be overpowered by strong, intense color. But their coloring can be heightened by wearing color slightly stronger than their own rather than duller, or by wearing a small touch of a vivid color.

Value means the lightness or darkness of a color. By contrast, a dark color can make a skin appear somewhat paler, and light colors can suggest a somewhat darker coloring. If your personal coloring is light and you choose to wear light colors, the effect can be soft and unified, where the darker colors on the same person are more forceful and dramatic.

A light color it not necessarily a dull color. It can vary in intensity from a bright to a dull pastel. The same is true of the darker shades. However, darkness naturally will make the color duller than at its true intensity.

Even though you may find you can wear every color, your best colors are apt to be those which repeat the coloring nature gave you or are closely related to it. Try to analyze hair, skin, eye and lip tones to really see your own coloring.

Makeup can change your personal coloring and help you to wear colors that might not otherwise be becoming. The sun, too, can change skin and hair tones so that some colors are more becoming in the summer time.

How you feel about a color is important. In these days of vivid colors, almost anything goes, but if you don't feel good in it, it probably doesn't suit you.

With the approach of the holiday season, Alaska King Crab has a variety of uses.

From the icy waters of Alaska comes the Alaska King Crab. This mammoth crab was discovered in 1935 off the coast of Kodiak Island and was first marketed in the late 40's.

The Alaska King Crab averages in size around 10 pounds but frequently is found twice that size. The claw expanse of the King Crab ranges from 4 to 6 feet.

King Crab is available both canned and frozen. It is sold in a variety of packages. One of the most popular is the 1 pound (twin 8-oz. pack) containing choice leg meat. Also popular is the convenient 6-oz. package and the 12-oz. package of legs in the shell. The most common can size of King Crab is the 7 1/2 ounce can.

Nutrition-wise, King Crab is high in protein, low in oil, and rich in minerals. Try the following recipes using King Crab to add variety to your entertaining menu.

King Crab - Holiday Log
1/2 pound frozen Alaska King Crab or 1 (7 1/2 oz.) can Alaska King Crab
2 teaspoons horseradish
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon onion salt
2 Tbsp. chopped celery
1 (3 oz.) package cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup Cheddar cheese spread
1 tablespoon white wine
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Pimiento for garnish.
Drain and finely slice crab. Add remaining ingredients except parsley. Shape mixture into log. Sprinkle with parsley. Garnish with pimiento pieces to represent poinsettia. Makes 1-1/2 cups. Serve with assorted crackers.

Hot Deviled Crab Dip
1 (7 1/2 oz.) can Alaska King Crab or 1/2 pound frozen Alaska King Crab
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon onion powder
1 cup milk (or 1/4 cup sherry and 3/4 cup milk)
2 tablespoons chopped green olives
Drain crab and slice. Melt butter; stir in flour and seasonings. Gradually stir in milk. Cook until thickened. Add olives and crab. Mix and heat thoroughly. Serve with assorted crackers for dipping. Makes about 2 cups.

Farm and Home Week Program Announced

The University of Delaware's College of Agricultural Sciences will host its annual Farm and Home Week January 28-30, according to Dr. Samuel M. Gwinn, director of the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service.

Farm and Home Week is designed to inform farmers of the latest agricultural research findings and to familiarize them with newly developed techniques and practices which will help them remain in competitive, he explains. Sessions of interest to urban and suburban dwellers are also scheduled.

Among the sessions slated for the 1969 Farm and Home Week program are beef, dairy, and horse meetings; a day-long water program; sessions on bee-keeping, aquaculture, gardening and home economics; and a special program for bird enthusiasts.

Topics of special interest to dairymen include a review of Delaware dairy laws and discussions of milk substitutes and the dairyman's place in the market. The Dairy Day program will also include presentation of the National Dairy Awards, the DHIA awards and the introduction of Delaware's 1969 Dairy Princesses.

The all-day horse program will include discussions of equine nutrition requirements; digestive problems; prevention and control of equine diseases; brood mare management and care; and lameness in the lower leg. Horse enthusiasts will also be invited to attend a question and answer session and the annual Horsemen's Get-Together. An evening horse session will deal with the breaking, schooling and training of light horses.

Economics of irrigation in corn, soybeans and vegetables; a discussion of automatic irrigation systems and a panel discussion of irrigation experiences on Delmarva will highlight a day-long session on water. Guest speakers will also discuss irrigation of corn, potatoes and vegetables on Wisconsin's sandy soils, similar to the sandy soils of Delmarva.

Other sessions will include discussions of home gardening, landscaping, lawn care, patio construction and house plant care.

Special sessions include a "Home Fashion Forum" and a program on creative cookery with spices and herbs sponsored by the home economics extension service and "Bird-watcher's Holiday", an illustrated lecture on birds by Cleveland Grant, a birdlife photographer for Walt Disney Productions.

A variety of displays and exhibits will also be featured throughout the Farm and Home Week program.

Hort. Society Awards Scholarships

The Peninsula Horticultural Society has awarded two scholarships of $200 each to students at the University of Delaware and the University of Maryland.

Theodore N. deJony, Newark, was awarded the scholarship at the University of Delaware. Henry W. Mason of Cecil County, Md., was the University of Maryland scholarship winner.

The scholarships, which have been awarded annually since 1953, are given to junior or senior students majoring in horticulture or a related field. Candidates are recommended by the dean of the College of Agriculture based on academic accomplishment and financial need.

Mason is a senior majoring in horticultural production; deJony, also a senior, is in horticultural marketing.

Panel members include Richard Reiter, supervisor of special education, Wilmington Public Schools; Clifford W. Olds, guidance counselor, Georgetown Central School; Mrs. Pearl H. Ake, school nurse, Dover Senior High School; Lee Herzog, guidance counselor, William Penn High School, New Castle; and Jacob Haber, continuing education program specialist, Division of University Extension University of Delaware.

The seminar is offered under the auspices of Title I of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

New Approach To Epilepsy Program

Dr. Lionel de Bernard, director of the Sussex County Mental Hygiene Clinic, will answer questions from a panel on the modern approach to epilepsy in a televised seminar at 3 p.m., Tues., Dec. 17 on the Delaware Educational Television Network.

The seminar is being presented by the Delaware Educational Television Network and the Sussex County Mental Hygiene Clinic in cooperation with the Division of University Extension. The purpose of the program is to acquaint school personnel, health officials, welfare workers and other interested persons with a deeper understanding of the problem of epilepsy and to describe the current methodology of dealing with it.

The presentation, which can be received in any school in the state, will have special showings at Salesianum High School in Wilmington, Dover Senior High School in Dover, and the Delaware Technical and Community College in Georgetown.

Dr. Bernard will respond to questions from the panel after the showing of a movie on the modern concept of epilepsy. Panel members include Richard Reiter, supervisor of special education, Wilmington Public Schools; Clifford W. Olds, guidance counselor, Georgetown Central School; Mrs. Pearl H. Ake, school nurse, Dover Senior High School; Lee Herzog, guidance counselor, William Penn High School, New Castle; and Jacob Haber, continuing education program specialist, Division of University Extension University of Delaware.

The seminar is offered under the auspices of Title I of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

4-H Club Talk

with Marion MacDonald

Announcement has been made recently that Lee Mesibov, Farmington Peach Blossom 4-H'er, was named a National Winner in Poultry, one of six 4-H'ers in the Nation. Lee has returned from a trip to National Club Congress with six other Kent County 4-H'ers. Mrs. Dan Gooden, volunteer local leader accompanied the group who were: Philip Mesibov, Terry Bowman and Becky Messick, Peach Blossom 4-H Club; Margaret Thomas, Westville; Joy Gooden, Fox Hall; Barbara Austin, Kent County Klubs.

Public speaking contest will be held January 11th at the Caesar Rodney High School Auditorium. This event is open to all Kent County 4-H members. A leaders committee - Mrs. Grace Tinley, Miss Lois Wiebel and Gooden Warren - revised the score sheet. All 4-H club should have copies. It is desired to aid members in preparation for the contest. The 1st Junior Boy and Girl and Senior Boy and Girl will each receive a plaque from the Kent County

4-H Links. Senior winners will then represent Kent County in the State Contest next year.

English Colloquium at U. of D. Dec. 19

Dr. William J. Bruehl, assistant professor of English and Drama at the University of Delaware, will lead the first in a series of intramural English Colloquia at 4 p.m., Thurs., Dec. 19 in the Kirkbride Room of the Student Center on the campus.

His topic will be the "Theatre in Japan". Dr. Bruehl spent last summer in Japan on a grant from the University. He will accompany his lecture with slides of the Japanese Kabuki Theatre. The colloquia, instituted by the English Department, provide an opportunity for the occasional exchange of scholarly ideas among members of the staff engaged in research. The meetings are open to faculty, graduate students and undergraduates.

Calendar for Dec. 13-19
SUNDAY—
8 a.m. Holy Communion.
9:30 a.m. Church school.
10:45 a.m. Holy Communion and sermon.
12 noon Coffee hour.
MONDAY—
3:30 p.m. Brownies
7 p.m. Altar Guild Work night.
TUESDAY—
3:30 p.m. Girl Scouts
6:30 p.m. Confirmation Class.
WEDNESDAY—
7:30 p.m. Healing service.
8:30 p.m. Choir rehearsal.
FRIDAY—
8 p.m. Order of St. Luke meeting.

It will be noticed that there is an Altar Guild work night scheduled for Monday at 7 p.m. The purpose is to clean and shine all articles pertaining to the altar in preparation for Christmas. This is the responsibility of all members of the Altar Guild. All will be expected unless otherwise heard from. As the vicar has a meeting in Smyrna on that same evening, he will not be able to be present but will expect the women of the Altar Guild to go ahead with this work.

As Christmas is only a week and a half away, everyone should be making note on his and her calendar of the religious and other church events which will take place. Since the season of Advent last right up until Christmas Eve, we shall not have any festivities at St. Stephen's prior to the Christmas Choral Eucharist which begins at 11 p.m. Christmas Eve and lasts through the beginning of Christmas Day. Then at 11 a.m. on Christmas Day there is a low celebration of the Holy Communion for those who could not be present at the Christmas Eve Service. The St. Stephen's celebration of Holy Communion will be postponed until a future date as, coming immediately after Christmas, which comes as a source of anti-climax. On Sun., Dec. 29, the first Sunday after Christmas, at the time of Coffee Hour the children of the church school will enjoy their Christmas tree and special refreshments. There will be the traditional candy boxes for the very small children of preschool age through the third grade, rather than to receive more gifts when most children are so abundantly showered with gifts at home, we are asking that each church school pupil bring a special offering on that day, to go to the needy children of Biafra. Church school teachers are asked to promote this offering.

At its meeting this past week the vestry set the second Thursday of each month as its meeting night for the coming year.

CLAUS-TROPHOBIA

What is Claus-trophobia? It's the special weary feeling that affects dedicated gift-buyers (Santa Clauses) . . . right in the middle of their Christmas shopping. Symptoms: very, very tired feet—the result of overburdening. Suggested remedy: do some of your shopping by phone. Take a load off those feet.

AND SPEAKING OF SANTA... here's a Santa-type suggestion: an extension phone, in color, to please some nice person in your family. A step-saver, a time-saver... a sure-fire hit-maker. Try it, Kris Kringle. Just call our Business Office or ask any telephone man.

LITTLE MISTAKES . . . A little mistake can connect you with Los Angeles instead of New York. The area code to New York is 212, while the area code to L.A. is 213. If you make a mistake like this, or for any reason get a wrong number while calling Long Distance, please call your operator right away. She'll see that the charge doesn't appear on your bill. Incidentally, before you make an out-of-town call, it's a good idea to check the Pink Pages of your telephone book. You'll find helpful information on how to reach any place you wish to call.

FAMILY SPECIAL... now you have bonus rates for Long Distance calls every weekend, so he who has yen for a Christmas telephone visit with family or friends can save yen...without getting caught in a last minute rush. (Old telephone proverb.)

O'Neal, Motter, Cagle, Make All-Henlopen Eleven

Seniors Steve O'Neal and Jerry Cagle and sophomore Dale Motter were first-team picks on the 1968 All-Henlopen Conference football team. Their selection was announced by the conference secretary, H.H.S. superintendent, Albert W. Adams.

Cagle, a cornerback on defense, made the team for the third straight year.

O'Neal was picked at guard on the offensive unit.

Motter, a defensive line-backer, was also named to the Del-Mar Coaches and Football Officials All-Star Team.

Danny Demora, of Felton High won a first-unit line-backer spot, quite a plum for an inexperienced griddler to capture.

Honorable mention went to Mike Adams, Oscar Matthews, Ken Tribbitt, Bob Thompson and David Hurd, of Harrington. Ron Voshell and Gene Palmer, of Felton, also made this list.

All Henlopen Conference Football Team

For the third straight year Jerry Cagle of Harrington and Richard Jefferson of Bridgeville were selected by the Conference coaches as members of the All Henlopen Conference Team. Hollis Smack of Bridgeville was selected in the defensive tackle position for the second year. Those selected were:

Jim Hogsten Is New Jayvee Cage Mentor

Jim Hogsten, former Wesley College and Delaware State College athlete, is the new junior varsity basketball coach at Harrington High. Hogsten was athletic director at Holy Cross High in Dover last year.

He has his work cut out for him in his new post since his junior varsity team is in reality a junior high team with only one sophomore. The rest are eighth and ninth graders. Meanwhile, the opposition will be jayvee quintets, which will probably be using sophomores and juniors.

Candidates are Bob Smith, Norman Short, Bill Walls, Robin Callahan, Mike Trotta, Durand Dennis, Don Parker, Darius Burton, Mitchell Travis, Neal Travis, John Shulties and Mike Davis.

Varsity Girls Open With Alumnae, Dec. 19

Vi Testerman's Harrington High girls varsity basketball team opens its season with a contest against an Alumnae quintet on Dec. 19.

Last season the locals won seven games and lost eight and finished second in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference.

Candidates are: Faye Austin, Dianne Carroll, Debby Chaffinch, Judy Davis, Virginia Dean, Jackie Deputy, Terry Dixon, Juanita Garey, Shirley Larimore, Judy Manerchia, Sue Ellen O'Neal, Hope Torbert, Andy Walls, Susan Welch, Bea White.

Managers — Terry Carroll, Patty Tucker.

Robbins Hardware got a fine assist from J. Cubbage, who rolled a very nice 534 series, and from J. Forbes, who contributed a fine 201 game, to help them trounce The Spoilers in Tuesday night's competition. A very good four game win put the hardware boys up on top, along with two other teams. The Spoilers are tied for the tenth spot this week.

Hamilton Fund also came through unscathed, winning four games from Penn Central, to share a part of first place. Their fine effort moved them up a notch from last week. H. Melvin led the way with great games of 210 and 205, to amass a grand 565 series, with J. Bogden chipping in with a 207 game, and B. Wilson adding a 200 game for a fine all-out team effort. Penn Central found themselves all alone in the eighth spot.

Quillen's Market could not capitalize on their league lead of last week, as they drew a split with McKnatt Funeral Home Tuesday night. This split forced the grocery boys to carve their lead into three shares for this week. D. Garey rolled a very good 544 series for McKnatt's, as they dropped into a tie for fourth place. M. Jarrell led Jarrell Fuel to a three game win over Taylor & Messick, bowling a very fine 550 series, though the fuel boys remain in a tie for fourth place. F. Collins aided Taylor & Messick with a fine 205 game, though his team was unable to move from ninth place.

Butler's Fuel poured on the pressure as they steamrolled over Gerardi Bros., taking all four games from the furniture boys, in propelling themselves into a tie for fourth place. S. Lyons provided the boost needed for the fuel boys' win with a very nice 525 series. H. Wheeler rolled a nice 203 game for Gerardi Bros. in defeat. Butler's Fuel has come on strong in this third and are not to be taken lightly. Though the fuel boys do not boast of having real high scorers, they are able to maintain consistency in their bowling, which has proven to be a deciding factor in their wins of late. Gerardi Bros. finds themselves in a three way tie for tenth place in this week's standings.

Wally's Garage is all alone in the seventh spot, after splitting with People's Restaurant Tuesday night. E. Gallo, with a fine 548 series, including a 203 game, and C. Gallo, with a very grand 211 game, kept Wally's Garage in balance, as R. Gray provided a grand 223 game, amassing a superb 601 series and C. Bushey added a nice 541 series for People's. The Restaurant boys are sharing the tenth place spot this week with two other teams.

through a door he had just closed. The state maintained that she then dragged his body out of the house, burned it and buried the remains behind the house.

Mrs. Davidson took the witness stand Thursday and testified that the argument started when Stephens "wanted unnatural sex" and she refused. She said they were both under the influence of alcohol. He reached for a rifle under the bed, she said, but she managed to shove it back under the bed.

He then struck her with a bedroom chair, grabbed her purse and went downstairs. After an unknown lapse in time, she fired the rifle down the staircase to "try to scare him. I thought he was in the kitchen."

She said she did not know he was hit until she later found his body behind the door. She thought he had passed out.

"I went over and shook him." She said she saw blood and ran back upstairs.

"I don't remember much after that," she said.

"Mom" Has Lots Of Responsibility At Christmas

A houseful of decorations, wrapped packages and merry guests means fun—and, a lot of preparation and added responsibility on Mom's part.

"And, part of her responsibility is planning decorations that are not only attractive, but safe so that accidents, especially fires, won't spoil the Christmas time fun" says Mrs. William N. Cann vice president of the Delaware Safety Council.

Every year the number of home fires in December is higher than the average for most other months, according to Council statistics.

So, when planning holiday decoration, the family decorator should keep in mind some potential causes of home fires, Mrs. Cann says. Sparks from the fireplace can ignite evergreen boughs or strings of Christmas cards strewn about the mantel, or the Christmas tree itself, if it is placed too close to the fireplace.

Or a forgotten candle that burns to near its base of ribbons and styrofoam, is all it takes to start a fire that quickly envelopes other surroundings.

"Look around your house and use your imagination to find replacements for flammable materials you used last year for table centerpieces, mantel decorations and tree ornaments," Mrs. Cann suggests. "Perhaps you will have to go not further than that cluttered kitchen drawer, your gardening supplies in the garage, or your basement workshop."

Instead of using evergreen boughs to frame the mantel, why not string several small clay flowerpots of different sizes into a chain of bells to hang along the mantel edge. "The Little flowerpots can be hand-painted with Christmas motifs to make a unique, but safe decoration," she said.

Ornaments or cut-outs of angels, reindeer and Santa Claus can be made easily from non-flammable materi-
