FENCE TALK

with George K. Vapa

Automobiles are bullets, or more properly, rockets. Last year we killed more young Delawareans on our highways than were killed in Vietnam. It is time we began to look at our ecosystems.

An editorial dialogue is taking place in one of our Dover daily papers. It deals with ecology, or the relationships of man with his surroundings. An ecosystem is one aspect of the pattern. Let's talk about man and his automobile, as related to the proposed West Dover By Pass.

It is true that every change made by man affects our lives in one way or another. The thing that is wrong is that we may consider only one aspect of a problem, to the neglect of others. It is not enough to solve a problem this way, such as move traffic quickly around Dover.

Highway planners and other physical planners can design and build roads or other structures. It is when they deal with people, or our local social institutions, and try to bulldoze through a program that they fall short. People and other needs are a part of the problem. Hence the haggling we are experiencing.

The farmers needs are specific and they relate to people in towns, especially today. The issue is prime crop land, and who should manage it. Each farmer creates at least three jobs in town to support the total economy today.

An alternative is available for the highway. Move it a mile or so farther west of Dover and stay west of the railroad to meet U.S. 301 at Middletown. Years ago Senator Coleman DuPont showed them insight with the first dual highway through the state.

The build up of traffic indicates we need a limited access second road to follow more or less the crown of our Peninsula watershed. What is happening with Representative Zimmerman's feasibility study for a toll road to tie in with the Delaware Turnpike?

Prime crop land should remain in open space uses as long as possible. It should be the last, rather than the first to be used for intensive development in Delaware.

Do we want to live in a Marcus Hook? Even along a Kirkwood (Kamikazi) highway? If we continue to louse up our landscape, to neglect our needs related to all forms of pollution, lack of safety, unconcern for total people interests, then only heaven can help us.

Do we have civic responsibilities? Do we have a concern for public issues? Say no and you can kiss democracy off as a lost cause.

Farm and Home week programs are available from our County Extension Service office in Dover. Just call 736-1448 if you want a free copy. The program runs 3 days from Tuesday January 28 to Thursday, Jan. 30. You all plan to come, hear?

How about a University extension course? Registration for evening courses in Dover will be January 29, with classes to start on February 3. Again, we have free copies of the bulletin listing the subjects to be offered at Newark, Dover, Georgetown and Wilmington.

It Seems To Me

By Janet C. Reed

Have you tried you hand at a fabric with a diagonal weave or stripe? Most wool fabrics are woven with a twill weave which shows a diagonal line.

The diagonal may not be very noticeable if only one color is used in weaving the cloth, but if one color is used in the lengthwise threads and another crosswise, a diagonal stripe of the two colors is formed. This diagonal stripe can present some designing problems and the garment style must be chosen with these problems in mind.

Occasionally, the information on some pattern envelopes tells you "not suitable for diagonal fabrics." You'll have fewer problems with simpler styles and straighter lines. Avoid a style with lapels or you will find the stripes lying in different directions on each lapel.

Set in sleeves are best. The diagonal seam for a raglan sleeve or the shoulder seam of the kimona sleeve will have the diagonal stripes meeting at odd angles. The same is true for the bias seams of an A-line skirt. Skirt styles with straight lines are more satisfactory.

Twill weaves may run in either right or left directions. The left twill is more common; on the right side of the fabric the left twill will run from the upper left shoulder to lower right skirt on the body. If you should use the wrong side of the fabric you'll notice that the diagonal runs from the upper right shoulder to the lower left of the garment.

If there is no other apparent difference in right or wrong sides of the fabric, you can reverse the fabric for matching effects. Careful planning of the pattern layout is a necessity when using this fabric.

If the diagonal happens to follow the true bias of the fabric, you have a natural trim for garment edges. When the fabric is cut on the bias, it gives the effect of a straight stripe. The bias can be shaped to fit curved edges such as neckline, collar or pockets without distorting the stripe. Don't overdo on this trimming, though. Let the trim be subtle rather than overpowering.

As you work with diagonal weaves, you will discover ways to create your own original design. Be sure it's planned that way for the most satisfactory effect.

For hearty eating, count on pastas. These are a good source of food energy at relatively low cost.

Pasta, includes all members of the spaghetti, macaroni and noodles family. The bland flavor of pasta teams well with a variety of foods, from a mild cheese to a highly seasoned tomato sauce. Pasta helps stretch the food dollar by making meat and other protein foods go farther.

Home and Garden Bulletin number 150, "Cereals and Pasta in Family Meals" is a guide to buying, storing, and cooking cereals and pasta. There are menu suggestions and a choice of recipes that feature cereals and pasta in appetizers, main dishes, meat accompaniments, salads, soups, breads, and desserts.

Perhaps you would like to try this recipe.

LASAGNA
 3/4 lb. Ground beef, regular or lean
 2 Garlic cloves, finely chopped
 1/2 cup Onion, chopped
 1 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. Red pepper, crushed, dried
 1/2 tsp. Basil
 3/4 tsp. Oregano
 1 tsp. Parsley, dried
 6-oz. can Tomato paste
 8-oz. can Tomato sauce, Spanish style
 3/4 cup Hot water
 4-oz. can Mushroom stems and pieces, undrained
 6 Lasagna noodles
 1 Egg, beaten
 1 lb. Ricotta cheese
 1/4 or 1/2 lb. (as desired) Mozzarella Cheese, thinly sliced
 1/4 or 3/4 cup (as desired) Parmesan cheese, grated.

Crumble ground beef into large frypan. Cook over moderate heat, stirring as needed until beef is lightly browned. Add garlic and onion; cook until onion becomes tender. Stir in seasonings, tomato paste, tomato sauce, water, and mushrooms. Simmer 5 minutes.

Cook lasagna noodles until tender using directions on package.

Blend egg with Ricotta cheese.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. (moderate).

In a 7-by 12-by 2-inch baking dish, spread layers of one-fourth of tomato-meat sauce, then three noodles, and another one-fourth of the tomato-meat sauce.

Top with half of each kind of cheese.

Add another one-fourth of the tomato-meat sauce; then the remaining Ricotta mixture and Mozzarella cheese.

Spread with remaining noodles and sauce. Top with remaining Parmesan cheese.

Bake, uncovered, 30 minutes.

Cool 10 minutes before serving, 9 servings, 1 cup each.

NOTE: Lasagna freezes well either before or after baking. Thaw in refrigerator. Leftover lasagna can also be stored in the refrigerator for a day or two, and tastes just as good reheated as when freshly baked.

Calories per serving: About 355 with regular ground beef, and the higher amounts of Mozzarella and Parmesan cheese about 270 with lean ground beef, and the lower amounts of these cheeses.

Menu Suggestion: Serve with a tossed green salad, garlic bread, and a fruit dessert.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

CONSOLATION

Sometimes comes amid our pleasures,
 Clouds that darken and dismay;
 Sickness comes when least expected,
 Health and gladness fade away;

All our joys seem turned to sorrow,
 Gloomy thoughts our mind holds sway;
 Future paths seem dark and dreary,
 Naught but sadness fills the day.

Then beneath this gloom and sorrow,
 Comes a whisper soft and low;
 "Patience, just a little longer,
 Sorrow cannot last you know."

Think of Him who bore all sorrow,
 With a patience none can know,
 Let us suffer all our sorrows,
 For the sins that hurt Him so.

Fire Company News

By Barry Fry

If any of the citizens of Harrington passed by the Harrington Fire House the weekend of Jan. 10 and 11, they saw that Harrington truck 1 was not there. This can be attributed to the fact that Ira Huffman, the newly appointed chief engineer and his two assistant engineers—George VonGoeres and Melvin Wyatt pulled a complete maintenance check on the fire company's work horse.

Harrington Truck 1 was placed in Chief Engineers Huffman's shop for two days for the general maintenance check.

Engineer Huffman and his assistants have started a new program of maintenance and repairs to the apparatus in the Harrington Station. This is to ensure that the apparatus will be ready to respond at any time to the needs of the community.

Also assisting the chief engineer were Joe Green, Robert Wilson, Neil Russell, Alan Draper and Barry Fry.
