

City Taxes to Be Raised 20c Per $100 in April

The City Council Monday night voted to raise taxes due in April.

The property tax will be raised from 80c per $100, to $1 per $100, with the usual assessment of 60 per cent. Though property taxes were one time reduced, there has really been no advance in nearly 20 years. The capitation tax, however, has been raised. Monday night the Council also raised it from $8.50 to $10.

The raise on both taxes was based on the recommendation of the City's auditors, William Howe & Company, of Philadelphia.

The Council passed the motion unanimously to raise taxes after it learned it had been going nearly $13,000 a year in the red. The tax raises are estimated to make up the annual deficit and allow a cushion.

City taxes, according to the Charter, are supposed to be sufficient to pay routine expenses, pay interest on notes, and allow a sinking fund.

The City government, at least in recent years, has been using part of the water receipts for routine expenses and, at times, has used a portion of the municipal aid funds from the state on light and police bills as it is legally enabled to do. One cause of the current tax increase was attributed to a referendum, some three years ago, whereby persons more than 65 years of age and having an income of less than $3000 annually, would not have to pay capitation taxes.

One councilman estimated Monday night the City would lose $2500 per year in taxes because of this legislation.

In other business, it was revealed the scrap assessment would be posted in the Post Office Building and at Taylor's Hardware, and that appeal night would be held Tues., March 18, at 7:30 p.m., at the City Hall.

Agreed city manager should dispense sending copy of minutes of meetings to councilmen. Councilmen could read the minutes at the City Hall, it was explained. Agreed to look at the City's land, across from Hollywood Cemetery, to see if space was available for ball diamonds for the Senior and Little Leagues. Dave Welch, a league spokesman, said some 5.5 acres would be needed. The land is now leased by Franklin Hendricks who has a portion in barley. He said, according to a spokesman, he would have to get his barley off first. This would be in July.

Applications for these positions may be obtained Monday through Thursday, between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. at St. Stephen's Church. Welfare recipients will be given first preference, but all interested persons are

A RARE PICTURE — Of Harrington when peaches were a prominent crop. This scene faces towards the south and is Clark Street at what is now the Penn Central Railroad crossing. At the right, are two grain warehouses owned by the Delaware Division of the P. B. & W. Railroad, a parent of the Penn Central. Notice the grain chutes. Another picture published by The Harrington Journal, a birds-eye view of the community in 1885, shows a railroad siding to the west of the warehouses. One warehouse was moved to Short Street and used by the late John Bullock to store carriages. After 1917, it was cut in two and made into dwellings now occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Vincent Lobo, 13 Short St., and Mr. Robert A. Saulsbury, 15 Short St. The building, shaded by trees, still stands and is the former grocery store of Woodrow Welch. The picture was taken in 1891, probably in late July or early August. Among other uses, peaches were used for brandy and for evaporators. The Journal received a copy of the picture from Harold Welch, who obtained it from The Village Barbershop, Dover. The engraving was made by Leon Kukulka, of The Journal staff, on a Photo-Lathe.

Brig. Gen. Albert W. Adams of Harrington has been named assistant adjutant-general for the Delaware Army National Guard.

He was scheduled to meet yesterday with Army Guard staff officers and major commanders to review pending Guard plans and activities, including this summer's field training.

His appointment was announced Wednesday by Brig. Gen. Clarence E. Atkinson, the adjutant-general of Delaware. In his new post, Gen. Adams will assist Gen. Atkinson in administering the training and operations of the Delaware Army National Guard for both its federal and state missions.

He received his reserve officer commission in 1936 upon completing the ROTC program at Delaware, but continued to serve as an enlisted Guardsman while awaiting an opening for an officer in the Guard.

March Snowstorm Roars Like Lion; Fall Up to 10 Inches

March opened with a storm depositing up to 10 inches of snow in this area over the weekend. In other parts of the country, and in Sussex County, the precipitation was said to have reached 12 inches. New Castle County encountered less snow.

The storm started Saturday and continued until Monday morning when a warm sun came out turning the snow to slush. Meanwhile, the State Highway Department, working around the clock, kept the primary roads open. Monday afternoon saw secondary roads open, with final work being done on the few dirt roads.

Modern times not being too capable of traveling in the snow, Harrington schools were closed Monday but opened Tuesday.

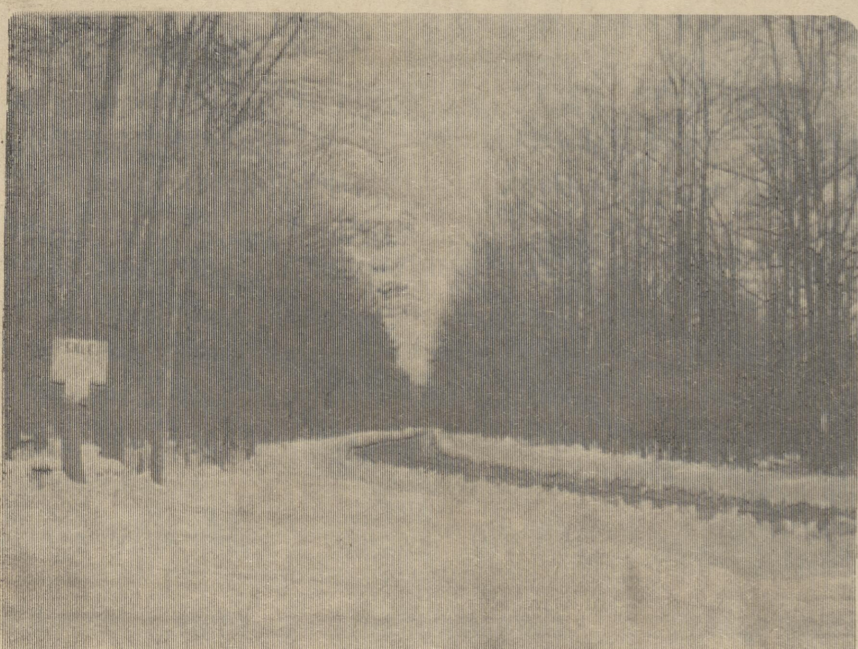

Some meetings and athletic events were canceled over the weekend in the area.

Though the snow was wet, the Delmarva Power & Light Company's district office here reported no damage in this area. The Diamond State Telephone Company reported no trouble.

In Harrington, the state highway snowplows kept state-maintained roads open, while the City of Harrington operated on other streets with a blade pushed by a truck.

Parking was still a problem Monday, but, in the downtown area, it was eased by the clearing of the huge parking lot of Peoples Bank.

MASS IN THE HOME — For the first time since the founding of St. Bernadette's R. C. Church in 1952, a Mass in the Home was held Thursday evening, Feb. 27. ## OUR INDIVIDUAL WORLD

Each of us has a world to own,
Though never on a map it's shown.
It has no boundaries defined,
It's governed by the heart and mind.
Though lacking an impressive dome,
It's capitol is known as home.

This personal world begins and ends,
Where dwell our loved ones and our friends.
Our various interests and affairs,
Consist of these, their joys and cares.
Though over them no flag's unfurled,
They are the people of our world.

Once welcomed in a stranger way,
Become a citizen to stay.
Our cares for him or her will show,
What harms or pleasures we shall know.
And with a wider boundary,
Our world by one increased will be.

When in our capitol we are,
We'll remember all, near and far.
And because we know them we'll discuss,
How much their welfare means to us.
Our program this; our world to be,
A peaceful one, from hatred free.

Editorial—By James Harvey Burgess — We like the way Governor Carvel is continuing the investigation of conditions at Delaware State College. For a long time, there has been considerable turmoil at that institution, and rumors have been flying thick and fast. Instead of appointing the usual legislative committee to investigate, Governor Carvel appointed a number of qualified men and sat in with them at the investigations. Many startling irregularities were discovered. We have no confidence in the "inspections" or "investigations" of the state's institutions as conducted by members of the legislature every session—and this is no criticism of the members of the legislatures. Many of them have no particular training for that specific job, and they are not allotted time for an investigation.

HENRY PALLADINO

Henry Palladino, Mr. Personality At Sussex Oval

Henry Palladino has competed in just about every sport there is. He's good in some, and, by his own admission, terrible in others, but he's always right in there.

Henry was first introduced to harness racing in 1948. Right now he is the biggest driver-trainer-owner on the grounds at Georgetown Raceway, not the "winningest" but definitely the biggest.

All 275 lbs. of him goes a long way to prove this. Crushing a package of helpless saltine crackers between his huge thumb and forefinger and then popping the crumbs into his mouth like peanuts Henry rolls out a table shaking laugh, "It's rough to be the nation's leading driver, Jack!"

Henry is not the nation's leading reinsman, nor is he the Georgetown leading pilot, but he is a leading personality at Delaware tracks who manages to live things up wherever he goes.

Palladino has done lots of things and done them well. He has a natural feel for the comic and has the ability to laugh at himself.

At the age of four he won a Charleston contest in the Adams theater in Newark. At 11 he was the youngest ball-player ever to play for the American Legion. He's boxed, played pro-football and been a policeman.

The question was, "Did you ever try your hand at night club entertaining?"

"Yes, Jack, I had a short career in Burlesque", "How short?" "Two weeks. Yes, my partner ran away with the stripper - Sally O'Day. That was 1946 . . . at the Shubert in Newark, New Jersey. Too bad."

Henry was born in Verna, N. J. 51 years ago. He played all-state quality baseball and soccer and attended Panzer College in East Orange, where he quarterbacked the football team. He was signed by the baseball Giants in 1938, bought by the Yankees in 1939 and "sat on the bench" for the Boston Bee's in 1940.

In 1941 he joined the U.S. Army, 29th Infantry Division and served in the European Theatre, from England to Bremerhaven, through 1946. He fought and was undefeated in 59 straight bouts in the light-heavyweight division. "Got 'em all in the second round," but I really didn't have the heart for boxing." He doesn't enjoy hunting either, though he does like fishing. "Ocean City's the best fishing," he says.

Before the war in 1938 he took third place for speed skating in the Silver Skates contest. By his own word, he's a "duffer" at golf and "can't shoot pool."

I'm the world's worst skier. Why I could do tricks the experts couldn't do . . . but that wasn't because I wanted to do them."

What about harness racing? "I played baseball in the Eastern Shore league. That's when I first came to Delaware, and first saw the pacers. I liked it very much. It was nice getting away from the city." He first bought land in Farmington and later purchased a farm in Felton which he tilled for 10 years. He bought his first harness horse in 1948 and now trains a stable of three horses at Georgetown; Henry's Pride, Ted Jester and Sue Lyn.

Henry and his wife, Carolyn, have one son, Donald, who has just returned from two years duty with the U.S. Army in Vietnam. Says Henry, "Don trained two horses for Olin Davis at Harrington when he was 15. They were stake horses. 'Actually, Don is a better horseman than I am.'"

Henry's one professional wrestling match was enough, "got the stuffing knocked out of me."

He also played one season of pro-football with the Wilmington Rocks.

In a cloud of cigar smoke . . . "I happen to hold the record at Hinsdale Raceway for the highest spill. That was in 1965. I went 15 to 20 feet straight up after the horse jumped." No joke. He spent three months recovering in the hospital.

"We thought he'd never come down," Joe Henry, Hinsdale Starting Judge said.

From 1957 to 1962 Palladino served on the Dover Police force.

"There was trouble one night at the bus depot. I arrived just in time to see two policemen flying out the front door . . . Right away I knew there would be trouble. I walked in the door and came face to chest with a big fellow (Henry is well over six feet tall), I told him that he better pay heed because I was 'Big Daddy'. That did not seem to impress him. He swung. I ducked and sent him a round-house. If I had missed it would have been all over. I found out later that my adversary was none other than the Black Panther - the Philadelphia wrestler!"

At Georgetown Raceway, Henry not only trains and drivers, but he pulls guard for Confidential Services and enjoys the duties of Paddock Judge for the qualifying races.

He hopefully looks forward to the day when he will be a Paddock Judge and there is little doubt that he will be eventually.

His philosophy is simple. "There's nothing you can't do if you try."

Henry Palladino is a big man.

DOVER DOWNS

auto racing. The combination clubhouse - grandstand - paddock wraps up this combination of facilities into a beautiful sports building about as well as has been done to date.

The whole idea came from a dream of David P. Buckson of Dover, the state Attorney General and one of its leading politico - sports figures for some years now. Aware that for a state capital, even for such a small state as Delaware, Dover was lacking in facilities for conventions, meetings, and sports events. Buckson went to his friends for financial aid, and Dover Downs is the result. Naturally, as has always been the case, there were "labor pains" attendant to the birth of this complex and involved the postponing of its opening from 1968 until 1969. However, everything is on schedule for the March 8th opener.

Buckson is president of the establishment and he has gathered around him a staff very knowledgeable in the areas of their responsibilities. For instance, the racing department consists of Buckson himself, who has been at various times a driver in harness racing and an exercise boy in thoroughbred racing while going to college; his assistant, Tom Shehan, general manager of Georgetown Raceway, a harness track owned by Buckson's group, who has had previous experience around the country as a horsemen's representative in both thoroughbred racing and harness racing, and as a racing official in his native New England; and Eddie Farrell, of Baltimore, Md., general manager of Marlboro Race Track in Maryland, with previous managerial experience at Bowie in Maryland and Ascot Park in Ohio.

Eddie Smith of Arlington, Va., who served his apprenticeship at the Maryland tracks after a brilliant career as a jockey, has been named to the post of racing secretary. Smith and Farrell have screened applications for more than 800 horses and will have a base of approximately 600 from which to put together their racing programs.

Stewards for the meeting will be George Palmer, who will represent the Delaware State Racing Commission, John P. Turner, Jr., and James Stout. Palmer has worked at many tracks and will come to Delaware from his assignment at Hialeah.

Stout, who rode for the late Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons during his horsebacking career, has come up through the ranks via patrol judge, entry clerk, etc. and more recently represented the State of Ohio in the stands at several tracks in that state. John Turner, Jr. is the son of a well-known racing official now passed on and was teetotal on racing and has worked in just about every capacity in the racing department of various tracks at one time or another.

The mutual department assignment has been handed to Dick Hairgrove of Camden, a product of the Maryland-Delaware circuit. Hairgrove has been the first assistant to Laurence Molloy, mutual manager for Brandywine, Harrington, and Georgetown, for several years, and has also been employed at Delaware Park during that time.

The business department will be under the supervision of Leonard Grossman, of Wilmington, who is serving as treasurer of the corporation after a career with the nationally known accounting firm of Price Waterhouse, Inc. He will have the capable assistance of William Sells, executive vice-president of Rollins Associates, who holds the same position on the Dover Downs board of directors.

Construction has been under the joint supervision of Philip Andreanitis of Philadelphia and Robert Nace of Dover Dwns. Andreanitis is associated with the Orleans Construction Co., Marvin Orleans of that city being a partner of Buckson's in both his racing stable and the track. Nace came to Dover Downs upon retirement from General Foods, Inc. This group has also had the advice and assistance of Melvin Joseph of Georgetown, who is in the construction business, and who is scheduled to head up the automobile racing end of the Dover sports complex.

Security will be under the supervision of Richard Howell and James Horn of Milton and Lewes, respectively. The same duo have been responsible for that assignment at Georgetown Raceway for the past two meetings as the operators of Confidential Services, Inc. of Georgetown.

Harrington Bowling League

McKnett Funeral Home is still going strong, winning four games from Butler's Fuel Tuesday night. The only blight on their otherwise perfect record this third is a half game loss handed them last week. A balanced attack against their opponents, is responsible for their high standing. H. Jack led McKnett's with a real fine 221 game, with D. Garey contributing a fine 533 series, and R. Garey added a 200 game for a fine team effort. S. Lyons, who is steadily improving, rolled a real fine 210 game for Butler's Fuel. Butler's Fuel is just one of six teams tied for third place, as this week saw the league tighten up in the standings.

Robbins Hardware is close behind the leaders, and could overtake the top spot if McKnett's should falter. Tuesday night saw them crush Quillen's Market for four games, rolling a nice 538 series, including a fine 208 game, with H. Brown rolling a nice 535 series to add balance to the offense. Quillen's dropped to ninth place on its four game loss.

Taylor & Messick swamped Gerardi Bros in what proved to be a battle of champs, as both have a third to their credit this season. G. Collins smashed all records in taking over the lead in the high individual series with a fabulous 661 series to pave the way for Taylor & Messick. He also made another first by rolling all three games over 200 with games of 245, 209, and 207. S. Collins also aided Taylor & Messick with a fine 207 game. Gerardi Bros. was handicapped, going into the fray with only four bowlers, though K. Layton tried unsuccessfully to salvage a game or two, making a grand effort for his team, amassing a 585 series, including a 207 game. Layton has come on strong in the final third, and won February's Bowler of the Month at the Milford Lanes, on a grand 645 series effort last month. Both teams are in the scramble for third place in this week's standings.

Jarrell Fuel received a grand assist from D. Hayman who bowled a very fine 565 series, including a real grand 223 game, although they were only able to win one game against a strong Wally's Garage quintet. E. Gallo offset Hayman's fine showing, rolling a grand 590 series with games of 228 and 209 included, to provide the scoring punch for Wally's Garage. Jarrell Fuel is also in third place with Wally's Garage down in tenth place.

Penn Central and The Spoilers are also deadlocked in third place, with the railroad boys winning three games from The Spoilers Tuesday night. Penn Central won their first game in grand style, beating all odds, going into competition with only three bowlers for the first game, and eking out a four pin advantage over their opponents.

Hamilton Fund and People's Restaurant battled themselves into a tie for eleventh place with People's Restaurant coming out on the better end of the fray, winning three games. A. Young gave People's the support they needed with a fine 542 series effort, with a 200 game included, and R. Gray bolstered the attack, adding a very fine 223 game. Hamilton Fund, going into the contest with four bowlers, was able to take one game, on a nice assist from H. Melvin with a 202 game effort.

It Seams To Me

By Janet C. Reed

Most new patterns suggest the use of underlinings. Do you really need to add this extra expense and work when making a garment?

The style of your dress in relation to the fabric is one determining factor. A soft fabric will appear too limp in some of our tailored styles unless it is backed with a fabric with slight "body." A heavier, stiffer fabric for the same dress might not need an underlining.

The underlining makes facings and hems less noticeable on the right side of the garment. Also, there's a layer of fabric to which you can tack facings and hems with no hand stitching showing. This contributes to a smooth outer appearance—the mark of a professional looking garment.

And underlining also gives some support to the dress fabric and will help it retain shape. You may not want this on heavier knit fabrics where the stretch is valued for its comfort. The polyester knits which keep shape so beautifully and are easily washed have no need of an underlining or lining.

If underlinings are used, be sure their care is compatible with the outer fabric. Using an underlining usually means dry cleaning rather than washing. Dresses of wash fabrics can be underlined provided the underlining fabric washes in the same way, and neither fabric shrinks.

Some underlining fabrics shrink more than others. It will be worth your time to steam-press any underlining fabric thoroughly before cutting.

So many underlining fabrics are available that selecting the best weight can be a puzzle. Take some of your dress fabric with you and hold both layers together to determine if the underlining gives your fabric the drape and "hand" you want. Varying degrees of soft and crisp underlining fabrics are available.

A lining differs from an underlining since all pieces of the lining are sewed together as for a separate garment then attached to the dress. Seams of both are enclosed. This gives a neat inner appearance and extra comfort, since there are no exposed seams to irritate the skin.

The trend today is to add lining in addition to underlining. It adds a quality touch but takes extra expense and work. Unless the lining is for a coat or jacket where it's frequently exposed, you might question its value.

Don't confuse underlining with interfacing. Interfacing is used to add firmness and support to garment edges such as neckline and the buttoned area. In some cases the underlining can be used as the interfacing, but this depends on your fabric, the garment style and the effect you want.

FENCE TALK

with George K. Vapaa

"Horsemen are the most particular poor people when it comes to buying quality hay." This is a direct quote I heard the other day while Dr. Wm. Mitchell, W. T. McAllister, and I were making a survey of alfalfa as a local crop.

We were talking with a small group of farmers and dealers who probably would just as soon not be identified, tho our Cooperative Extension Service is deeply grateful for their help.

How about alfalfa as a crop? Well, it costs about $100.00 per acre to prepare and seed the ground properly. But you expect the seedling to last at least 6 years, so your per acre cost on a yearly basis would be something like $16.00. This is cheap for a hay crop that should produce 5 tons of hay per year for an average sale value of perhaps $40 per ton or $200 per year.

But it's not all that simple. We figured the annual growing costs per acre: Fertilizer at $15, lime at $3.50, alfalfa weevil and other insect controls at $10, weed controls at $5, land rent (or charge for land use) at $20, that initial seeding cost of $16 and a $3 charge for interest on investment. But that's only getting the crop grown, and the figures add up to $72.50 per acre.

It still must be harvested, stored and sold. That means mow, cure, bale, load onto wagons, and off into a storage shed. We came up with a figure of $75.00 per acre or total annual costs of $147.50 per acre.

Now the question is do you want a labor income of $52.50 per acre? None of the above costs included labor as a charge - and labor income means self-labor plus your net.

Making hay has been hot, heavy, dirty work. It looks and smells pretty where you actually feed it to animals. Quality alfalfa in particular takes top management.

Want to know more? Phone 736-1448 for our bulletin: "Horse Sense About Hay". Proportionally to our human population in Kent County, I'm quite sure our horse population is growing at a faster rate.

St. Stephen's is beginning the last week of her year of using the Trial Liturgy. It will be remembered that the use of this Liturgy was begun immediately after Easter last year. In order to refamiliarize ourselves with the Prayer Book Service for Easter this year, we shall return to the Prayer Book Liturgy on Sunday, March 16.

The people of St. Stephen's are reminded that the Lenten discussions which take place on Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. are one of the most inspirational functions that St. Stephen's has been able to offer in a long time. Canon Kusik's subject, "Faith in God Today," is expertly handled and last week provoked a great deal of interest.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I have just completed three years of Army service and plan to enter college under the G.I. Bill this coming fall. If I work while attending college, will the amount of money I earn be deducted from my G. I. Bill allowance?

A—No. The amount of G.I. Bill education allowance paid by the Veterans Administration is determined only by the amount of schooling you receive (i.e. full-time, half-time or quarter-time training), plus the number of your dependents. Whether you work or have other income does not affect your VA allowance.

However, an outside job could affect your school schedule—that is whether or not you will be allowed to carry a full-time course.

Q—My pension from the Veterans Administration was increased the first of the year. Was this an automatic cost-of-living increase and will the pension be raised again next year if living costs continue to rise?

A—The increase in your VA pension was not automatic. It resulted from a law passed by Congress last year restructuring the VA pension program and providing for increases depending upon the amount of the recipient's income. Since it is not automatic, any future increases in pension amount must be legislated by Congress.

Q—When I was discharged from the Army a couple of months ago, I converted by $10,000 Servicemen's Group

Life Insurance policy to a permanent policy. I have recently been advised by the Veterans Administration that I can apply for up to $10,000 government life insurance since I have a service-connected disability. Can I obtain this insurance and keep by converted SGLI policy also?

A—Yes. SGLI is not issued by VA but by private insurance companies. National Service Life Insurance is issued and administered by the VA and is also available to veterans with a service-connected disability who were separated from service on or after April 25, 1951.

You must apply within one year from the date VA determines your disability to be service-connected.

$50,000 is the maximum amount of Government life insurance any veteran may have, but this is in addition to the SGLI.

Learn Meaning Of Legal Terms In Buying Home

Whether you're buying or selling a house, learn the meaning of certain legal terms to help you avoid serious errors. Knowing these terms will also help you better understand the buyer or seller.

Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware, says these terms are the important ones to know in any transaction that involves buying or selling a home:

A contract is a legal written agreement that is binding when signed. So understand everything that contract promises.

An abstract of title is a legal form giving a condensed history of the property. Ask to see it before you buy property. Previous owners, prices paid and any encumbrances against the property are listed.

If you amortize your loan, you pay it off by regular installments.

An appraisal is an estimate — often conservative — of the worth of the property based on market value.

The certificate of title signifies ownership; it's registered in the county courthouse. The deed conveys the title from one owner to another.

Closing costs are sometimes called settlement costs. These are in addition to the cost of the house.

Earnest money is a deposit paid by the buyer to indicate that he is serious about wanting to buy. The amount may vary.

Easement rights are given by an owner to a person or company to use the property in a specified way. For example, a neighbor may be given the right to use a driveway.

Escrow money is given a third party to be held in escrow for payment of conditions to be met in the future, for example to complete work on the house or yard. Money for taxes may also be held in escrow.

The mortgage is a written agreement pledging property to a creditor for a loan. The mortgagor is the person who makes the pledge and is receiving the money. The mortgagee is the person to whom the property is mortgaged and who has loaned the money.

Title insurance is special insurance against loss due to a flaw in the title.

Sipple's 46 Points Lion Mark Breaks 31-yr.-old

Back in 1938, only a couple of years after the center jump after every basket was eliminated, Bob Smith, now Harrington's genial dentist (our next appointment is March 27) poured in 35 points against Greenwood High to set a new state record. Gilbert Conant, of Rehoboth tallied 38 points in 1939, but Smith's 35 remained Harrington High's best individual effort until the very last game in the school's history, last Thursday night.

With consolidation coming in July, the Delmar-Harrington contest ended competition under the Harrington name. Buddy Sipple, a talented cager, came here from Felton High this fall. He is a fine, versatile player, who averaged 18 points a game all year and ranked about tenth in the state in this department.

Harrington High had bowed to Delmar earlier this year but showed signs lately of maturing, of yelling as a team. The Lions jumped out in front of the Wildcats 24-12 in the first period. Sipple had ten points.

H.H.S. outscored the visitors 17-11 in the second period. Sipple got nine more tallies. The gap widened in the third frame. H.H.S. scored 21 and Delmar 12. Sipple netted 7.

The last quarter in Harrington High history had to be the most prolific ever for a local varsity unit. As the fourth period opened with the score Harrington 62-Delmar 35, the conspiracy was on, feed Sipple. With John Swain battling like a tiger, - oops, make that Lion, and stealing the ball repeatedly, Jack Warrington rebounding, freshman Mike Davis and junior John Christopher harassing Wildcats and picking off passes, Sipple starting firing. He began to hit from well outside. When Delmar finally went out to meet him, he'd fake his man out and drive to the basket. Delmar was completely demoralized as the bomber hit ten field goals, in that fourth quarter, and the team seared the nets with 39 points.

Coch Dave Adams removed Sipple, who received a thunderous ovation from victory-starved local fans. But the action wasn't finished yet. Ninth grader, Mike Davis, a future star, who started the year on the junior varsity, caged two free throws to bring the count to 99. With seconds left, Davis pilfered the ball and put the Lions over the century mark, at the buzzer. We can't remember the last time an H.H.S. team tallied 100 points.

Despite Sipple's torrid evening, there were other Lion standouts, aplenty. John Christopher (12 points), Jack Warrington (10 points), Mike Davis (9 points), John Swain, Larry Larimore (8 points each), David Newnom, Bob Thompson, Steve O'Neal, Roger Jarrell, etc. contributed to a memorable night. It will be remembered for many a moon.

Sipple's 46 points gave him 309 points for 15 games. His average was 20.6 per contest, sixth best in Delaware and only one-tenth of a point behind the fifth man, 46 points was also three points better than any other high schooler in Delaware could score this season.

Lions Repeat As Henlopen Mat Champs

Harrington High's wrestling Lions defended their Henlopen Conference championship at Millsboro, on Saturday, had four loop champions and qualified wrestlers in all 12 weight classes for the state championship meet this weekend at the University of Delaware.

The Lions, coached by Tom Muehleisen and Elliott Workman, racked up 115 points to Delmar tallied 65, Dover A 98 for runnerup Millsboro, Delmar tallied 65, Dover Air was last with 21.

Harrington's grapplers won all 12 preliminary bouts, an unprecedented feat in the league. Going into the evening's finals, it appeared that H.H.S. might have as many as six individual champions. However, two locals were upset by rivals they had beaten earlier in the campaign and Millsboro nosed the locals 5-4 in the number of titlists.

Harrington's Chuck Hurd (112) again outclassed Dover Air's tough Jeff Schneider, this time by 10-2 and was named the tournaments most outstanding wrestler.

Roger Klapp (138) and Roger Moore (145) pinned their opponents in the finals. David Hurd (154) remained undefeated for the season by outpointing Justice of Millsboro 9-1.

Harrington's Norman Baynard (127) had to default when a non-wrestling injury, suffered recently, put him out of action.

Harrington High's wrestling Lions, under the leadership of Tom Muehleisen and Elliott Workman, ended a fine season by defeating Millsboro 26-21 last Wednesday night. The victory at Millsboro, was the seventh for Harrington in ten starts.

Chuck Hurd hasn't tasted defeat since the second match of the schedule. Chuck racked up Harrington's first win of the night with a quick pin in one minute, two seconds, at 112 pounds.

Mike Adams (120) pinned his opponent in 55 seconds to give his team a 10-8 lead.

Millsboro took the next two settos, after which Roger Klapp (138) and Roger Moore (145) put the Lions back in contention with decision victories.

Moore's 29 Points Leads Felton Past Bridgeville

The Felton-at-Bridgeville season's windup was as close as it is possible to be. In every aspect of the game, it was neck-and-neck.

Chris Moore sank two free throws with 14 seconds left to give his team the nod. Felton finished another great year with 14 victories in 17 starts. The Green Devils finished in second place in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference with a loop mark of 12-3.

Two points was the largest edge either team could command at the end of each period. Field goals were even at 26 apiece. Felton had 14 points on free throws. Bridgeville had 13. Bridgeville tried 24 foul shots, Felton attempted 22. At the quarter posts, the Green Devils led by two, then by one, then even at the three quarter mark. This was a real barn-burner in every respect.

It was fitting that Moore should get the last two Green Devil points. This enabled him to nose Bridgeville's Steve Prettyman 29-28 for game honors.

Meanwhile, Roger Bradley, of Felton, was edging Emmett Burbage of Bridgeville, 20-19.

All these hairline decisions added up to the narrowest of victories in the final basketball game in Felton High athletic history.

Chris Moore is now in position to become the No. 1 scorer in Delaware scholastic annuals. His 428 points, this past campaign, was the second-best effort in the state and boosted him comfortably past the 1000 point career mark. He can move past Bunny Blaney's mid-fifties mark of 1415 points by averaging approximately 21 markers per contest next season. Since he scored 25 per outing this season, it's easy to see he's got a great chance to bring some quick sports publicity to the new, un-named consolidated high school near Killen's Pond, which opens its doors in September.

Dover Air, 100; Greenwood, 44

Dover Air needed a victory over Greenwood to wrap up a division title. The Falcons took no chances and raced to a 100-44 victory over the out-manned losers. Next year Greenwood will be competing under the name of Woodbridge along with Bridgeville, under the consolidation procedure which is closing out so many small Delaware schools.

Bob Perdue was top scorer for Greenwood with 14 points.
