The newly appointed State Board of Agriculture Monday appointed G. Wallace (Pat) Caulk, a Kent County dairy farmer, as its $13,000-a-year executive secretary.

The action comes after weeks of fussing between Kent and Sussex County Republicans over which county should supply the secretary. Gov. Russell W. Peterson, who appointed two Republicans and one Democrat to the board two weeks ago, said then that he had received more calls on this matter than any other subject. But he said he would let the board, which by law includes one person from each county, choose the person.

Kent Zoning Unit Moves Budget Bid

The Kent County Zoning Commission Monday night approved a joint planning and zoning commission budget of $74,584 for next year and directed that it be submitted to the Kent County Levy Court for consideration.

The planning commission is expected to meet later this week to make its recommendations on the proposed budget. The Levy Court has requested all county agencies to submit budgets by March 15 for the 1969-70 fiscal year. Last year's planning and zoning budget was $72,670.

In the staff report, the commission's director, Robert W. O'Brien, noted that no building inspector had been hired and there were no prospects of hiring one in the near future.

"We're running into a problem here," he said. "We're already six weeks into our interim zoning administration and we have no one to go out in the field." The interim zoning ordinance went into effect Feb. 1.

Commenting on the staffing problem, commission Chairman Howard W. Papan said, "Let's stay away from the nomenclature of building inspector. Instead, let's hire a zoning officer with the assumption he will handle the building inspector job."

FENCE TALK
with George K. Vapaa

Accuracy, Brevity and Clarity are three points to keep in mind in writing up a news story. We have a small leaflet that spells out the ABC's of doing this. You can get a free copy by phoning our Extension office, 736-1448. We will mail it to you.

Some of us find ourselves in the position of talking to reporters on a regular basis. So here is one more rule. Make notes yourself of what you do say in case you must eat crow later on. You probably will be quoted. If it is a "hard news" story, it may even make the front page.

Reporters are human, may not hear precisely, may have to shorten your quote, may substitute a colorful phrase or phrases. He is always obliged to take ideas out of context. I have a beautiful illustration taped in front of my desk as an object lesson.

There is one kind of story I always love to do on the phone - "What is the effect of the weather on the farm situation?" It is the sign of a slow news day and the reporter has to dig for some hard facts. One of our county agents still takes a ribbing for his quote on "the million dollar rain" in his county. But who can prove he was wrong?

Someone has said that a reported sells factual emotions. The facts are the hard news. The emotions are the drama or the local angle. The best advertising today is emotional, which is another way of saying that it causes people to want to buy.

But another tip for amateurs preparing news. A newspaper survives on its advertising income. If your group expects to earn money and you want to write about it, expect to pay for the space.

The editor always has the last word. If the news makes you mad, just remember President Truman's advice: "Stay out of the kitchen if you can't take the heat."

Finally, a Farm Press Training Conference is scheduled for Dover on March 19. The time: 9:30 A.M. to 3:30 P.M. Call if you want to make a reservation.

ELFAC is the square name for electronic Farm Accounts. New as tomorrow with machines to keep records. Yet old-fashioned enough to fit in with any kind of farmer.

Next to poverty, ELFAC costs less than anything you can think of on the farm. Cost depends on the size of the farm and you can meet him in our county agents' office.

All you do as a farmer is to write down each week what you buy and sell. You mail it to ELFAC and he does all of the figuring to tell you how you are doing on a printed report. He is not gabby either - just you and ELFAC.

Best of all, you get a cost analysis of your business operation at regular intervals.

The golden nematode outbreak in New Castle County has given rise to many questions. First, be assured that everything possible is being done to control it at its source. All fields with a history of potato production were or are being checked by June of this year.

The pest does not affect the eating quality of potatoes. It affects root growth only, and the potato or "tuber" is an underground stem. Washing the potato of all soil residue should calm your fears.

Home gardeners can be assured that they will not have the trouble if they buy certified seed. No seed stock has been shipped from the Long Island, New York area where the pest was first introduced, probably from abroad. Delaware produces only table stock.

Call our Extension office, 736-1448 if you want more details in the Golden Nematode bulletin.

U. of D.'s College of Business To Open in 1970

The University of Delaware's new College of Business and Economics building will combine function with flexibility when it opens for classes in the Fall of 1970.

Designed by the architectural firm of Alexander Ewing & Associates of Philadelphia, the $2.8 million structure will contain demountable office wall partitions to meet any future rearrangements required in the faculty office wing, and three case-study rooms with swivel chairs for students, complete projection facilities and hookup with the university's television system.

Dr. Reuben V. Austin, dean of the college, called the case-study rooms "as important to a modern college of business as laboratories are to a chemistry department."

Other features of the 85,000 square-foot air-conditioned building include business machine labs and a computer-assisted instruction lab tied in to the university's computer center.

Also included is a hexagonal, 250-seat lecture hall which will be erected in the inside angle of the L-shaped brick building.

Layout of the building will place a teaching wing along Orchard Road and a faculty office wing along Amstel Avenue.

The teaching wing will contain a ground floor and three upper floors. Since the ground floor will be partially below grade, courts will be scooped out of the earth outside the classrooms at that level for large windows to admit abundant natural light.

A large court on the inside of the L will be available for use as an outdoor classroom. The faculty wing will contain a ground floor and four upper floors. The top floor will remain unfinished for future use. Faculty offices will ring an inside core of seminar rooms. Deeply recessed windows on the southern exposed Amstel Avenue side will reduce heat and glare from sunlight.

Special interiors include slate floors on the main level, brick walls in the teaching wing, and wood walls on the core of the faculty office wing. Corridors will have soft incandescent lighting while classrooms and offices will have fluorescent illumination.

Among exterior features are the exposed concrete defining the floor lines and lintels of the brick building and the slim, gray-painted steel-framed windows with matching gray tinted solar glass. Connection with the new Arts and Science building will be via a covered walkway and ramp.

Overall cost of the project, including design, planning, and project preparation was $3.3 million, Robert M. Lamison, university planning director said. Construction is by Ernest DiSabatino & Sons of Wilmington.

Raymond O. Eddy, formerly assistant dean of men for upperclassmen and fraternities at Bucknell University, has been appointed an associate dean in the Office of Student Affairs at the University of Delaware.

Announcement of the appointment, effective March 17, was made by Donald P. Hardy, acting vice president for student affairs at the University.

The position is a new one which grew out of recommendations of the ad hoc judicial committee, made up of students, faculty and administration staff; and the recommendations of the Office of Student Services.

Eddy will be responsible for working with student judicial programs, student conduct programs, and will also work with faculty and student groups in these areas.

Vice President Hardy in making the announcement said, "This was an exceptional opportunity to get a man with the kind of experience we need just when we are in the process of defining and preparing to implement a new judicial program. Coming here now will give Ray Eddy a chance to work with the new program from the beginning and give valuable help and counsel in its development and implementation."

"In two visits to the campus, Eddy was interviewed by faculty and students as well as the administrative staff and all found him highly qualified," Hardy said.

A graduate of Wayne State University with a B.S. in business administration, Eddy holds an M.S. in education with a specialty in guidance and counseling from Bucknell.

From 1956 to 1962 he served as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. He entered college personnel work in 1962 as director of student personnel services at Upsala College, East Orange, N. J. He left Upsala

Kent Soil, Water Supervisors Tour Farm Ponds

Supervisors of the Kent Soil & Water Conservation District toured the county last week to observe some of the major conservation work being carried out by over 1300 cooperating landowners. Commissioners of the Kent County Levy Court and Soil & Water Conservation Commission also attended.

Among the farm ponds they visited were those owned by George Pyott, Paul Sapp, and Cliff Miller. These ponds looked especially pretty even on a cold winter day. The farm pond of Joe Brinster, currently under construction, was also visited.

Hazelwood Tax Ditch, northeast of Dover, was on the agenda. This community drainage ditch was found doing its job well in keeping excess water away from some 50 home sites.

A mile of newly constructed drainage ditch on the farm of Elmer Tull was observed. This farm drainage empties into the 18 mile White Marsh Tax Ditch, which provided an outlet to the farm a few days ago.

In the afternoon the group inspected the Marshyhope Tax Ditch where the first quarter million dollar contract has just been completed on seven miles of the main channel. This drainage channel, 60' wide on the bottom, marks the beginning of a new era of drainage in Kent County. Total cost of the Marshyhope Watershed project will be over $7 million.

Fifty miles of well managed drainage channel was of special interest on the White Marsh and Beaverdam Tax Ditches. This community drainage system has been moved every year since construction several years ago. The entire system, with its maintenance roads, is considered the best maintained community drainage system in the state.

The tour concluded with the inspection of the construction of the 7 mile main channel on the Culbreth Marsh Tax Ditch in the western section of the county. This $70,000 contract - the first in the $5 million Upper Choptank Watershed project - is expected to be completed by early spring.

Isaac Thomas, chairman of the Kent Soil & Water Conservation District, says the District is always anxious to have groups tour the county to observe the conservation work being done.

Fire Company Auxiliary News

Delores Collins, Rec. Sec'y.
The last two months have been rather busy for us.

New listings were compiled by Jerrie Outten and Delores Collins for the deceased and honorary members. These lists are now displayed in a glass cabinet on the dining room wall at the fire house.

Irene Outten purchased new toweling for the kitchen and had new knobs installed on all the kitchen cupboards.

The ladies served a fire chief's dinner at the Dover Fire School, Sunday, Feb. 16. The menu was roast beef, mashed potatoes, coleslaw, peas and cherry pie.

A donation of $5 was given to the Delaware Heart Association during February.

February 23, approximately 14 ladies attended the fire company memorial services held at the Pilgrim Holiness Church at 7:30 p.m.

The auxiliary celebrated its 40th anniversary in February. Mrs. Angie Potter officiated by presenting a lovely bouquet of flowers, the lighting of candles and a prayer to honor our deceased and past presidents of our organization.

The annual Fire Company party was held March 1st at the Fairgrounds Restaurant. We have been very fortunate in our endeavors to raise funds this year. It was with great pride that Mrs. Irene Outten, President, presented a check for $500 to Robert Taylor, president of the Fire Company. The $500 will help toward the purchase of a new fire truck.

There were 16 members present at our March 10 meeting. A new member, Mrs. Floise Outten, was accepted into the Auxiliary.

The Kent County Ladies Auxiliary meeting will be held March 25 at Frederica.

Senior Center News

The snow played havoc with the Center's schedule last week. Thursday proved to be the only day the members were able to attend. This will necessitate some steady work from now until March 28 when it is hoped many articles will be ready for sale at the bazaar.

Mrs. Angela Johnston, our director, attended a meeting in Washington, D. C., on Thursday of this week, arranged by the National Commission for the Aging. Executive directors of senior centers and all persons interested in the problems faced by our senior citizens were urged to attend.

A two-sectioned ceramic dish made at the center was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Raughley on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Raughley is a member of the Center.

Our membership has increased by four so far this year. All senior citizens within a ten-mile radius of Harrington are invited to join us.

Monday was spent working on items for the spring bazaar; Thursday is ceramic day each week; current events and bingo are scheduled for Fridays. Monday, March 17, is set aside for arts and crafts such as knitting, sewing, embroidery, stuffing of toy animals, etc. On Monday, March 24, the monthly business meeting, preceded by a covered-dish luncheon at noon, will be held. All members are urged to be present as plans for the bazaar will be made. At least one item of baked goods from each member would be greatly appreciated. If you cannot be present at the bazaar on March 28, we will see that your donation is picked up. Nor do you have to be a member to contribute. We will be grateful for any help from interested citizens, young or young-at-heart.

It is a little early but the members are reminded that a bus trip to Washington, D. C. is planned for April 7. Hopefully the cherry blossoms will oblige us by being in full bloom.

Nationally Known Philosopher To Speak On Campus

Professor Lewis White Beck, Burbank Professor of Moral and Intellectual Philosophy at the University of Rochester and foremost American expert on the works of Immanuel Kant, will visit the University of Delaware March 18 and 19 as a guest of the philosophy department.

Dr. Beck's trip to Delaware will be somewhat of a homecoming as he was a member of the University's philosophy department from 1941 - 48.

Dr. Beck's first lecture will be at 2:30 p.m., March 18 in Ewing A & B of the Student Center. He will discuss Kant's ethics in a combined open meeting of the seminars on Kant and on Ethical Theory.

On Tuesday evening Dr. Beck will lecture on, "What Are Philosophers Supposed To Do?" at 8 p.m. in Room 007 of the Willard Hall Education Building.

His final appearance will be as a guest of the Philosophy Club at 4 p.m., March 19, in the Kirkwood Room of the Student Center. He will speak on the topic, "Components in Theories about Freedom".

This program is part of a series of lectures on problems associated with the exercise of individual rights which is being sponsored by the undergraduate philosophy students. The series will culminate in an issue of the philosophy journal, "Concept", devoted to aspects of this topic.

Dr. Beck's visit to the University of Delaware is made possible by a grant from the Council for Philosophic Studies and the University's Visiting Scholar Fund.

Local Residents Visit Louisiana

Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Messick were recent guests at Rosedown Plantation and Gardens in St. Francisville, La. Rosedown is a restored plantation empire in the Feliciana, the region where the artist-naturalist John James Audubon painted more than thirty of his famous birdlife studies more than a century ago. Their visit coincided with the winter bloom of ancient camellias, some of the first ever to be planted in the South.

International Ag Students Conf.

The University of Delaware and the Delaware chapter of Alpha Zeta, national agricultural honorary fraternity, will co-host the annual International Agricultural Students Conference September 2-5 on the Newark campus.

Theme for the conference will be "Agribusiness: Its Role in the World Food Problem". Tentative program for the event includes a welcome from University president, Dr. E. A. Trabant; speakers from major chemical, food, processing and integrated farm operations in the area; regional meetings; group and panel discussions; and trips to Longwood Gardens and the USDA research complex at Beltsville, Md.

The International Agricultural Students Conference originated in British Columbia, Canada in 1960. Since that time, the conference has expanded to include representatives from four continents.

Purpose of the annual meeting is to promote the science and business of agriculture, both nationally and internationally.

University of Delaware students won their bid to host this year's conference at the 1968 IASC at the University of Nebraska. The conference is being completely planned, developed and organized by students.

The International Agricultural Students Conference is expected to attract more than 200 delegates from the United States, Canada, Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Visiting students will be housed in University dormitories. Conference sessions will meet in the Student Center.

Sunshine 4-H Club Notes

Barbara Ryan, Reporter
The regular monthly meeting was held at Terri Gallo's home on March 10th. The meeting was called to order and the minutes of the previous meeting were read. Ideas on some type of money raising projects were discussed. Our club is going to make cookies for the nursing homes in Felton and Harrington for Easter favors. We shall make the cookies on April 4 at Mrs. Jarrell's home.

We plan to attend the County 4-H skating party on March 31st at the Capitol Arena.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, Gene Gallo gave a demonstration on his electric project and Lynn Stayton gave a demonstration on driving safety.

We then made favors for the nursing homes for St. Patrick's Day. Refreshments were then served.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Donna and Becky Chalmers on April 14th.

Large Print Books Popular With Sr. Citizens

Large print books are proving to be extremely popular was the conclusion reached by the directors of the State Senior Centers are conducted their monthly meeting at the Harrington Senior Center recently. Under an arrangement arrived at by Dr. Hector J. LeMaire of the Commission for the Aging and Dr. Frank Schneider of the State Library Commission, the library services leaves 50 books on a rotating basis, to each of the seven Senior Centers located throughout the state. Demand for the books has proved to be so great that the directors, at the insistence of the members, have requested that the monthly allotment of the large print books be increased from 50 to 100.

Plans were also made for the observance of May as Senior Citizens Month. One of the most attractive features to which all older people will be invited to attend is a concert to be rendered on May 20th at the Dover Armory featuring the United States Army Ceremonial Band with the help of deputy director, William Kramedas, and Congressman William V. Roth.

At the meeting were directors from Senior Centers located in Seaford, Newark, Rehoboth, Lewes, Harrington, Clayton-Smyrna and one prospective center to be started in Dover. All of the centers are funded partially by the use of the State and Federal Funds allocated to them by the Delaware Commission for the Aging.

Poems from Paradise Pastures
 By W. Cliff Miller

Last Tuesday evening Mr. Samuels, druggist at Clendingen drugstore, speaking to Rotarians at the Bridle-Bit Restaurant, explained some of the uses and abuses in the modern drug traffic.

It was interesting to note the rapid strides made in this field since my boyhood days which prompts the following—

THE DRUGGIST

I knew a quaint old druggist,
 In a quaint old smock and gown,
 That traveled o'er the seven seas,
 Yet never left the town.

The little square paned windows,
 And little slanting sills,
 Lured many to the kindly man,
 Who rolled the mystic pills.

At night from out the windows,
 Came a blue and amber glow,
 When the lamps behind the crystals,
 Showed the ailing where to go.

Behind the store, a little room,
 In which he mixed his wares,
 From bottles on his many shelves,
 That none but he e'er dares.

And as he mixed each grain or dram,
 His well trained sense of smell,
 Took him in fancy to the clime,
 Where once the drug did dwell.

To shores of many distant lands,
 The jungle spots he knew,
 The South Sea Isles and China,
 Or where the north winds blew.

He'd travel over desert sands,
 From the arctic circle down,
 As he mixed his mystic doses,
 Yet he never left the town.

Sixteen Years Ago

(Special to the Journal-Every Evening)

from J. Harvey Burgess
 HARRINGTON, DEL., Mar. 25 — The Rev. J. H. Wright tells Harrington Rotary Club how Erin's Saint Patrick routed paganism from Ireland. "Man of peace, still revered after 1500 years have passed." We have some facts about him—and much legend. It seems that he was born in what is now known as Scotland.

As a boy he was captured by pirates and taken to Ireland where he was held as a slave. He was a shepherd in charge of the pirate's herds. But after several years he escaped to France, where he entered a monastery. After 20 years of study there he decided to return to Ireland where he had been a slave. Ireland at that time was a pagan country, but after the missionary work of St. Patrick, not one pagan was left in the country.

"Broadly interpreted, a pagan is one who does as he pleases, any where, any time, with no regard for the rights of others, and I regret to say we have many pagans in the world today."

It Seams To Me

By Janet C. Reed

Many patterns suggest using a band of interfacing in the dress hem. It gives extra weight to the hem and helps the skirt hang evenly.

It does take extra time and careful workmanship for a smooth, flat hem. And, if you find yourself changing skirt lengths, it's one more operation to take your time.

You can get a soft effect by using a soft fabric such as cotton flannel or lambs' wool. For a rolled or unpressed hem, the interfacing should be wide enough to be turned up with the fold of the hem.

If you want a crisper effect and a hem with a sharp crease, use a stiffer fabric such as hair canvas and let the interfacing end at the fold of the hem. Organza is a satisfactory interfacing for soft, light weight silks.

Some patterns will give pattern pieces for the interfacing, or you can cut the strips on the bias. For a creased hem, cut the strips one-half inch narrower than the hem. If you prefer the unpressed hem, cut the interfacing one-quarter inch wider than the hem width. Joint interfacing seams by overlapping and stitching flat; trim away excess fabric.

Attach the interfacing to the dress rather than the hem. It must fit exactly. For the pressed hem, baste the interfacing in place with the edge coming just to the crease line. Attach by hand at all dress seams. Press hem up and attach to dress as usual with a tailor's hem.

For the unpressed hem, place the interfacing strip on the dress side with three-quarter-inch of the interfacing extending onto the hem. Stitch this extension by machine or hand onto the hem side about one-quarter-inch from the fold line. This will be a permanent stitching and will not show since it is sewed to the hem, but it will keep the interfacing in place.

Sew the hem to the dress and steam the hem lightly.

Hold the steam iron above the fabric and while the fabric is still damp, press and shape it with your hand.

Using interfacing in the hem is a high-fashion touch you find on expensive dresses. You'll have to decide if it's worth the extra time and work.

Use Care In Selecting Trees

Trees and shrubs for home and garden should be chosen with extreme care, according to David V. Tatnall, garden specialist at the University of Delaware.

Carefully chosen trees and shrubs will be a source of pleasure in coming years, says Tatnall. A poor choice will be a long-lived irritant.

Before buying, make a thorough examination of your grounds, he advises. Think thru the major roles of trees—shade or ornamentation. Which part of your lawn gets the most sun? Where do you want shade? Do you need a windbreak? More privacy? Where would an ornamental be advantageous?

Be realistic, he adds. You may love an oak tree. But if you plant a slow-growing baby oak, you may not be around to enjoy its shade. By contrast, Norway spruce is a handsome evergreen but will soon outgrow the average lawn area.

Fruit and nut-bearing trees may also seem attractive, but remember the lawn clearing problem these trees create. Sugar maples or Norway

Prospects are bright for another strong team at the new consolidated school near Killen's Pond, in 1970. Dave Hurd, Roger Moore and Mike Adams will not be back. Returnees will include Aubrey Brown (95 pounds), Spike Adams (103), Chuck Hurd (112), Norman Baynard (127), Jim Deputy, (133), Roger Klapp (138), Louis Kemp (165), Oscar Matthews (180) and Lenny Donovan (Unlimited).

In addition to these seasoned veterans, there is a group of reserves, who have been learning the intricacies of the mat game for one or more years. Add to these the number of candidates from the Felton and Frederica areas and it appears that coaches Tom Muehleisen and Elliott Workman may better 1969's fine record in 1970.

The Lions this winter won seven of ten dual meets, all against larger schools and also retained their Henlopen Conference championship.

Woodside United Methodist Church is having a St. Patrick's Day Bake, Sat., March 15th at 1 o'clock. It will take place in the Community Building. Proceeds will go to the church building fund.

B. & P. W. CLUB

This program has proven very satisfactory in the past and it is hoped that all can attend this ten week project.

Come out to the Harrington Field House Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Spencer Haywood, hailed as the main reason why America retained her Olympic basketball championship, after Elvin Hayes, Lou Alcindor and others refused to play, was recently named to this year's All-America basketball squad.

Haywood, at six feet, nine inches, was encouraged to come out for cross-country by his high school basketball coach in Detroit to build up his legs, strength and endurance for basketball.

The giant proved to be a fine harrier and later ran a swift 9.45 two miles in track.

Many wrestling and basketball coaches encourage prospects to run cross-country in the fall. That way the athletes are in fine fettle when the winter sports begin.

Remember Horace Kates? Horace grew up here. We knew him well enough to doubt that he would ever make anybody's sport page. The athletes in his family were his father, Henry "Hen" Kates and brother, Leon, both baseball players.

Horace, bowling in the Industrial League at First State Lanes in Wilmington, recently spun a terrific 663 series.

Vic Zwolak, the best track athlete in Delaware's history, was a spectator at the Frostbite Invitation track meet in Wilmington last week.

Zwolak was the cross-country champion, in the first high school title meet ever held in Delaware, back in the early 50's.

At Villanova, under famed coach, Jumbo Jim Elliott, Vic was fourth in the NCAA cross-country meet as a junior, then won this college championship of America test as a senior. He later represented this country in the Tokyo Olympics, in the 3000 meter steeplechase.

Zwolak was very impressed with Harrington High sophomore, Chris Wetherold, who won the two mile. He thinks Chris may have the goods to run for his alma mater, Villanova, which is the top distance-running school in America today.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q—Will I receive educational assistance allowance from the Veterans Administration for my wife and two children if I am enrolled for less than half-time in school?

A—No. You will be reimbursed for the cost of the course only, with monthly payments not exceeding $60 for less than half-time or $30 for quarter-time or less.

Q—I am under age 60 but old enough that my World War II G.I. term insurance is already very expensive. I know that I cannot afford the even higher premiums that will be due in the future. However, I still need this insurance protection. Can the Veterans Administration suggest a solution to my problem?

A—Happily, yes. The Modified Life Plan offers the lowest premium permanent plan protection. You must convert to this coverage before age 61. While the amount of insurance is halved at age 65, you will still have the option then of replacing the reduced half of your coverage with ordinary life insurance.

For additional information and assistance in this matter, check with your nearest VA regional office.

Q—In determining a veteran's entitlement to a non-service-connected pension, does the Veterans Administration consider the veterans gross income or his taxable income?

A—Entitlement to a VA pension is based on gross income from which certain exclusions are deducted by the VA. If you file a claim, list your gross income and its sources — all legal exclusions will be deducted.

Medical expenses do not reduce your gross income except where they are related to a condition for which you are receiving disability retirement benefits.

However, since the income maximum for a veteran with no dependents was increased from $1,800 to $2,000 a year on January 1, check with your nearest VA regional office.

Natography has the same meaning to swimming as choreography does to the dance. The Aquatic Club has planned its program around a space theme entitled, "Stellar Odyssey." The cast will include 34 women and three men.

This is the first year the annual Aquatic Club Show has been presented in the Carpenter Sports Building pool. All three shows are open to the public without charge.

The cast will perform 12 numbers traveling to each planet in the Solar System, visiting the moon and the Milky Way, and concluding their journey in a wistful sprinkling of Stardust.

Two solo routines will be performed by Fran Chelosky and Ruth Voshell. Miss Voshell, a senior from Wilmington, is president of the Aquatic Club; Miss Chelosky, a sophomore from Claymont, is vice-president.

Three members of the men's varsity swimming team, Dave Bent, Skip Hitchens and Donald Knox, will swim and dive in a selection titled "Mercury."

Many of the members of the Women's Aquatic Club have done both synchronized and competitive swimming. An example of a swimming stunt in the program which requires both lung control and artistic skill is the pinwheel. In this exercise three swimmers are joined together in a revolving wheel. The swimmer gulps a breath of fresh air as her part of the wheel comes briefly to the surface.

The Women's Aquatic Club at the University of Delaware is an extra-curricular organization sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association and supervised and operated by students. Mrs. K. G. (Jacqueline) Houck, instructor in women's physical education, is advisor to the club.

Members of the Aquatic Club are: from Wilmington - Ruth Voshell, Amy Ashwell, Kathy Berg, Nancy Dodd, Pat Gorman, Nancy Guth, Martha Hauser, Dede Hulka, Carol Tirrell and Carol Weikert; from Claymont - Fran Chelosky

and Ginny Fissmer; from Newark-Anita Mahnke; from Camden, Stephanie Tarburton. From Pennsylvania - Valerie Curtis, Nancy Hartman, Nancy Keim, Susan McMullen, Judy Rill, Brenda Shrum and Kay Paradis.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

Eating "high on the hog" is an expression denoting good living, originating probably because the always popular pork chops and loin roasts come from the upper part of the animal. But there's more to a hog than chops and roasts, and in these days of plentiful supplies of all pork cuts, do consider other cuts just as delicious and nutritious as those from "high on the hog". While you are buying, now would be an excellent time to stock the food freezer with pork too, as next summer prices will increase again to seasonal high levels.

When selecting pork you usually don't have to worry about tenderness, since most of our pork products are from relatively young animals. However, as you choose be sure to select pieces of fresh pork with light gray-pink colored lean. This is considered the most desirable in pork. The meat should be fine in texture, smooth and velvety, and intermingled with flecks of fat. The bones should have red, porous centers and soft cartilage tips. The outer fat is white and should be relatively firm. A high proportion of lean meat to fat and bone is desirable.

When cooking pork remember this: high temperatures have little, if any, place in meat cookery. Low cooking temperatures not only produce better tasting meat but also greatly reduce the shrinkage, thus yielding a greater number of servings. The low temperature now recommended is approximately 300 - 325 degrees F. Make sure, however, that you cook pork well done, but not beyond this point, for overcooking causes excessive dryness and greater shrinkage loss. It is best to use a thermometer and let the meat cook until it reaches 170 degrees F for loin roast and rib roast. For other pork cuts, the internal temperature should be 185 degrees F. If you do not have a thermometer, a small cut in the thickest part of the lean meat can serve as a guide. When the meat has cooked until grey-white, it is considered to be at the well-done stage.

If you are interested in making the very most of a pork loin, here is a way. Of course you have to have freezer space to keep the extra cuts. Buy a whole loin pork roast or a rib half, then ask your butcher to saw through the ribs high enough to leave an inch-thick layer of meat on the backbone. Ask him to please chop these "country style" backbones into serving size pieces. Cook as spareribs.

The next meal will consist of center-cut pork chops that you cut off the remaining piece of meat. This is now easy to do because the backbone has been removed—simply slice between the ribs. When you are finished, you will still have a piece left to cook as a pork roast, which is your third meal. This piece of meat has more bone and is not quite as attractive, but it is delicious.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church News

Calendar for March 14-20

SATURDAY—
4 p.m. Interviews for Day Care Center positions.

SUNDAY—
8 a.m. Holy Communion.
9:30 a.m. Church School.
10:45 a.m. Holy Communion and sermon.
12 noon Coffee hour.

MONDAY—
3:30 p.m. Brownies.

TUESDAY—
3:30 p.m. Girl Scouts.
6:30 p.m. Boy Scouts
7:30 p.m. Lenten discussions.

WEDNESDAY—
7:30 p.m. Healing service.
8:30 p.m. Choir rehearsal.

FRIDAY—
8 p.m. Order of St. Luke at St. Stephen's.

The Tuesday night Lenten Discussions continue to be interesting and inspiring. Those who take Lenten discipline seriously will surely be giving much more than lip-service to their religion. One of the high points of the past two sessions has been repeated emphasis on our Lord's teaching that those who would find themselves must in fact lose themselves in service to their fellow men.

Check Work-At-Home Schemes

Work-at-home schemes are very tempting for the homemaker who needs money but can't take an outside job. But all too often, the only one who makes any money is the promoter, warns Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware. The ads may promise huge profits or enormous part-time earnings, but probably there's a catch.

It may sometimes be difficult to tell the difference between fraudulent advertising and honest businesses. However, you should be suspicious if large profits are promised with no experience or training necessary.

The catch? You often have to buy kits, materials, instructions or equipment at a very high price. For instance, you might have to buy an expensive sewing or knitting machine with the promise that the promoter will provide work enough to more than cover the cost. Don't believe it! He's made his sale and is busily looking for another victim.

Home-work promoters may guarantee a market for their clients' work; usually they qualify the statement with "if the product is up to our standards." No matter how good a job you do, it won't be up to their "standards". And you're stuck with trying to sell the product yourself, which may prove almost impossible.

In other cases, you'll be asked to pay for instructions. The promoter implies he'll offer you a job, but the instructions will merely tell you how to hunt on your own for an at-home job.

The best way to avoid a work-at-home fraud? Check with the Better Business Bureau or write the state attorney general—before you invest any money. Legitimate firms that need at-home workers—and there are quite a few—will be reported as such.

Unfortunately, there is little you can do to get your money back if the work-at-home scheme doesn't meet your expectations, warns Miss Morris. But you can protect future victims; file a complaint with the Post Office Department, the Federal Trade Commission or the state attorney general.

Gives Tips On Fertilizer

As spring approaches, thousands of Delawareans will be taking to lawn and garden for another season, reports Dr. William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware.

To produce top quality shrubs, lawns, vegetables and flowers, natural plant nutrients in the soil must be restored and supplemented, he says. And the easiest way to replenish lost nutrients is to fertilize your lawn or garden in March or early April.

Fertilizer manufacturers are required by law to state the content of primary nutrients—nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium—on the package. A series of three numbers indicates the percentage of these nutrients. Thus a 55-10-10 fertilizer contains five per cent nitrogen, 10 per cent phosphorus and 10 per cent soluble potash.

There are several different types of fertilizer, says Mitchell. These include organics, such as activated sewage sludge and cottonseed meal; synthetic slow release organic nitrogen, referred to as urea-form, regular nitrogen-phosphorus-potash fertilizers; and fertilizer-pesticide combinations that mix insecticides or herbicides with fertilizer.

Most commercial fertilizers are suitable for lawn and garden use, though some forms are more convenient than others. Considerable care should be taken in using fertilizer-pesticide combinations, he warns. For these may prove ineffective or harmful if used improperly.

Fertilizer prices vary according to the percentage of available nutrients. The higher the percentage, the higher the price per bag. However, high analysis fertilizer is usually cheaper per pound of nutrient than are low percentage mixtures.

Before investing in fertilizers, however, Mitchell recommends a soil test to determine soil type and nutrient needs. For soil testing information, contact your county extension office in Newark, Dover or Georgetown or write to the college of Agricultural Sciences, University of Delaware, Newark.

U. of D., Univ. of Switzerland To Present Concert

The University of Delaware Concert Choir will present a joint concert with the choir of the University of Lausanne, Switzerland, at 8:15 p.m., March 20, in Mitchell Hall on the campus.

The Swiss choir is appearing at the University of Delaware as part of the Second International University Choral Festival sponsored by the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, Inc.

The 13 foreign groups participating in the festival provide their own transportation to and from New York. As a hosting college, the University of Delaware will provide accommodations and meals to the 40-member Swiss group.

The choir from the University of Lausanne was founded in 1965 by Michel Corboz, its present director. Membership includes students, assistants, and graduates of the university. As a cappella group, it presents a regular series of concerts throughout Switzerland.

An outstanding singer and composer, as well as a conductor, Michel Corboz has achieved recognition in this country through the recorded performances of his Ensemble Vocal de Lausanne, which he founded in 1964. With this group, he has won several Grand Prix du Disque for his performances of the works of Monteverdi.

The University of Delaware Concert Choir is the major choral organization at the University. Its sixty members are selected through competitive audition. The choir is well-known for its performances in Delaware and in neighboring states.

The choir is under the direction of Joseph B. Huszti, assistant professor of music. Before joining the University of Delaware faculty in 1966 he taught at Bakersfield College, Cal. His Bakersfield Choir toured Europe in 1965 and performed for President and Mrs. Johnson at a White House reception.

Following the joint concert in Newark, the Swiss Choir will join the other groups participating in the International Festival for a combined concert in Washington Cathedral, Washington, D. C. The festival concludes with several concerts in Lincoln Center's Philharmonic Hall.

The Lincoln Center initiated the International University Choral Festival in 1965.

According to Festival director, James R. Bjorge, "Whereas our United States University choirs have been touring abroad for years, there has been practically no comparable traffic in the opposite direction. Happily, our Festival helps to even this flow."

Country Lane Extension Club

By Charlotte Collison

Country Lane Home Economics Extension Club met at Jane Everline's home March 4 at 1:30.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Jane Everline.

All members repeated the creed, club prayer and flag salute. Secretary, Mary Collison, read the minutes, they were approved as read. Eight members were present. Treasurer Jeanette Holloway gave a report of balance.

Sunshine and birthday collections were made.

Mable Jean Donovan, chairman, of Citizenship, gave a very good talk on "Litter". It not only is making America ugly but is costing a lot of money to have it cleaned up. Litter is dangerous. Many fires are started as a result of litter being thrown in the wrong places.

Mrs. Leon Donovan suggested using Pam on pans to make them easier to clean. It is safe and tasteless.

Mable Jean Donovan showed the members how to make a wind bonnet from netting. It stays on your hair without ties.

There will be a council meeting March 19 from 10-12 a.m. at the Health Board in Dover.

All members are to have their forms sent to the county chairman by March 31.

Several films are available at the Extension Office for the Clubs' use.

The nominating committee presented these names to be elected for new officers: vice-president, Charlotte Collison; treasurer, Jeanette Holloway; secretary, Mabel Jean Donovan.

Since there was no other business, the meeting was adjourned.

Leader of the month, Charlotte Collison, gave a demonstration of padded pictures.

Refreshments of sherbert, homemade cookies, soda and coffee were served by the hostess.

Next month the Club will meet at Jeanette Holloway's.

Donkey Ball Game Hilarious Success

Donkey basketball came to the Harrington High School Field House last Thursday evening, much to the delight and pleasure of both the audiences and players of the two performances. The victorious teams were rather hard to pinpoint, but the real winner of the evening was the Harrington Chapter of the American Field Service, sponsor of the event. Proceeds, which amount to over $400 to date, will be used to sponsor a Foreign Exchange Student in Harrington next year.

In view of the success of this project, plans are being made to make this an annual money-raising program.

Many hours of work by members of the Chapter and the A.F.S. Club at school resulted in the success of the evening. Not to be overlooked of course were those gallant gentlemen who participated in the games, risking life and limb to stay on the un-cooperative donkeys. All of the antics which occurred were hilarious for the audience.

Tom Peck, president of the local chapter, has expressed his sincere thanks to those who helped make the show such a success, and to commend the riders for their perseverance. Members of the teams represented were Varsity Football Team, F.F.A., Faculty, Dark Room Boys, Harrington Lions Club, Callaway - Kemp - Raughley - Tee American Legion Post 7, Harrington Fire Company and Varsity Basketball Boys Team.

A total of 523 people attended the first show and 335 were present for the 9 o'clock performance.

Miss Luisa Quesada, the exchange student was present to greet the crowd. Master of Ceremonies was Francis Ryan, high school principal.

Stable Sells Two Trotters

Twenty-four standardbreds sold for $132,900 in a complete dispersal of the Middle-town stable of Purple & Red, Inc., Sunday in the paddock area of Dover Downs Race Track.

About 1000 buyers and spectators were on hand for the auction, run by auctioneer Frank Quillen. Purple & Red was owned by Atty. Gen. David P. Buckson, former Lt. Gov. John W. Rollins and Marvin Orleans, a Philadelphia businessman.

The stable dispersed so it can be used as an auxiliary stable for Dover Downs, the recently opened thoroughbred track of which Buckson is president.

Cindy's Night, a 6-year-old broodmare in foal to former pacing champion Bret Hanover, brought the auction's top price of $40,500. Hot Heel, a broodmare in foal to Race Time, went for $25,000. The buyers were not identified.

Miss Becky Pick, a 10-year-old trotting mare still in training, brought $15,000 from Melvin Joseph of Georgetown. Becky, Buckson's favorite horse, recently finished second by a nose at Pompano Park, Fla. Purple & Red originally bought her for $3,000 and earned $115,931 racing her.

Lady Iris and a foal by Speedy Scot also sold for $15,000. Jeff Eric Adios, a 5-year-old gelding racing at Pompano, brought $12,500. Seven yearlings, one 2-year-old, three 3-year-olds, three aged race horses and 10 broodmares were sold in all.

McKnat's Funeral Home is still going strong, rolling a very good 2610 team series, to steam roll over Quillen's Market in Tuesday night's fray. Every man on McKnat's rolled at least a 500 series, with D. McKnat pacing the way with a 203 game, and amassing a very grand 555 series. D. Garey also aided the team effort with a grand 217 game, with H. Brode contributing a real fine 534 series. Quillen's Market could not keep up the pace against a strong balanced attack and fell into a tie for eleventh place on their four game loss.

Butler's Fuel moved into second place by winning four games from a weak Gerardi Bros. team, who could only field a three man team this week. Gerardi Bros., in defeat, received a good assist from K. Layton, with a real fine 562 series. Layton has come on strong in the last third, bowling in the fine form he showed last year. Gerardi Bros. has been hampered most of the season with absenteeism, but at full strength, can make their presence felt. Butler's Fuel is really showing steady improvement, and poses a threat to the leaders. A new team, someone forgot to tell them that beginners aren't supposed to win a third the first season. At any rate, if they can keep Luther up their momentum, we may be seeing them on top of the

Milton's Girls Beat H.H.S. In Loop Title Tilt

Harrington High's girls' varsity basketball team was beaten 73-34 by Milton's undefeated team in the Henlopen Conference championship game at Dover Air High on Monday night.

Vi Testerman's Lionesses had won the Western Division pennant with a 11-4 record. Milton had racked up 15 straight wins in taking the Eastern Division crown.

Joyce Millman, the most prolific distaff scorer in Delaware's recorded history, entered the contest with a lifetime total of 1075 points and probably expected to end her career with more than 1100 points. However, Andy Walls led a defensive effort that limited the Sussex Countian to 15 points, while Andy paced H.H.S. with 11.

Donna Baker, a sophomore, may some day surpass her teammate as all-time leader. Baker poured in 33 points to lead Milton to the title.

Shirley Larrimore had nine points for Harrington. Bea White and Juanita Garey added 12 more between them.

Each team made more than half their free throw attempts. Some boys teams can't do this. We can remember when girls, at the foul line, would hurl the ball recklessly at the basket and any throws that went in did so by pure luck, not skill. Girls' play is improving in all departments.

Chris Wins Frostbite Two Mile Run

Harrington High's sophomore distance star, Chris Wetherhold, easily won the two mile run in the sixth annual Frostbite Invitational Track championships, at Tower Hill School's all-weather track.

Seventeen Delaware and Pennsylvania high schools came to Wilmington for this meet, despite a chilly, windy day.

Salesianum's senior distance ace, Vince McCorkle took a big lead early in the race. Wetherhold and Sanborn, of Devon Prep, Pa. ran together in second place and gradually closed ground on the lanky, six footer.

The local lad left Sanborn then caught and passed McCorkle to win by a good margin in 10:21.6. This is very good time for a 15-year-old runner on a cold March day, especially when one considers that Wetherhold had run only two high school two-mile races previously. He did 10:14.8 and 10:15.3 in these outings.

The latter clocking came in his freshman year. All three of these times are better than the state record in Harrington's section of the state championships. Chris plans to run in the spiked shoe meet at Philadelphia's Franklin Field on March 22nd.

Ken Tribbett, a junior dashman, finished third in the 60 yard dash, despite running in tennis shoes instead of regular track shoes. Tony Collock was fourth in a trial heat.

Tolbert Harris, a strong quarter miler, was third in his heat of the 300 yard dash with a good 34.8, one-tenth of a second behind the heat winner. Harris did not finish in the top five but did very well since he was only a fraction of a second behind the ultimate winner, Moss, of P. S. duPont High.

Other Lions to run well were sophomores Brad Morris (5:20 mile), Danny Hitchens (1000 yards in 2:54 with a full sweat suit on), and eighth grader Leonard Palmer (a fine 2:35 half mile). In addition to Wetherhold, Coach Harold McDonald has entered Brad Morris, Tolbert Harris and Ken Tribbett in the Philadelphia meet on March 22nd.

Dave Hurd Gets Second In State Mat Final

Harrington's Dave Hurd, unbeaten all season, wrestled his way into the finals of the 13th annual Delaware Interscholastic Wrestling Tournament before losing 5-2 to state champion Randy Batson of Brandywine High. In 1968, Batson was second and Hurd was third in the state title meet.

1800 fans were in attendance at the University of Delaware Fieldhouse in Newark for this mat extravaganza.

Dave Hurd, a senior 154-pounder, drew a bye in the first round, won by forfeit over Hanrahan of Salesianum in the quarter finals and beat Schrock of Mt. Pleasant 8-5 in the semifinals.

Chuck Hurd, a junior, 112-pounder, drew a bye in the opening round and pinned Ra-hain of Salesianum in 5:47, in the quarter-finals. Hurd then lost 6-2 to Sonny Hayes of Milford, who was a state champion at a lighter weight last winter. Hayes went on to win the 112 pound title, while Hurd lost to Anderson of Mt. Pleasant 4-0 in the consolation round.

Roger Klapp, lost his quarter final match at 138 pounds to Randy Mulhern of Mt. Pleasant 6-0. Klapp then came up against Fleming of Seaford in the consolation round.

Fleming had already beaten Whitland of Salesianum, and Knox of Tower Hill. The Lion beat the Seaford lad 10-2. Jones, of Newark, pinned Klapp in 3:58 in the consolation final. Jones was third in the tournament with Klapp getting fourth. The Newark lad was touted as the probable 138 pound state champ but was outpointed by Roy Rigby of Caesar Rodney, who won his second state title in the last three years.

Harrington's other wrestlers were unable to do much in this tournament of the state's best. Two who did well in defeat were Roger Moore and Lenny Donovan.

Moore (145) lost 4-2 to Swain of Conrad. Donovan, a 180 pounder who handles the heavyweight chores for H.H.S. was beaten 4-0 by Skip Potts of Mt. Pleasant. Potts later lost a close match in the finals to finish runnerup.

Opening Round—
95—Watson, Conrad pinned Brown, Harrington 3:14.
