WEST WINS IN FREDERICA DISPUTED SCHOOL RACE

A committee of election officials Monday night voted Charles H. West the winner in the disputed Frederica school board election.

Marvin E. Brown, the loser, said Tuesday morning he will seek a legal opinion to see if he has grounds for protest. He said he believes both Saturday's election and Monday night's decision were illegal.

The results of Saturday's election were announced as 188 votes for West, the incumbent school board president, and 188 for Brown. There were 28 ballots voided.

William E. Cline, Frederica's supervising principal, explained Tuesday morning that of the voided ballots, 13 had check marks for each candidate, one had a box shaded in for Brown, and one was illegible. That would have made Brown the winner by one vote.

The ballots were recounted, however, to eliminate all those which did not contain an X. An X is required under current school board election law, but will not be when the Educational Advancement Act goes into effect July 1.

Brown said Tuesday morning the latter law was used during the election because it was the only one available to the officials.

There also is a difference in the two laws in the method of breaking ties. A choice by election officials is stipulated under current law, but a new election is required under the Educational Advancement Act.

Cline said he and the school board originally thought there would have to be a new election, but that Monday he obtained an interpretation from the attorney general's office outlining the procedure for decision by the election officials.

"My contention is that if they used this book (the Educational Advancement Act), they've held an illegal election," said Brown. He also said the current law is unconstitutional because it allows the election officials to vote twice — once Saturday in the election, once Monday night.

The election officials, who announced their choice of West as unanimous after meeting Monday night, were Lister V. Hall Jr., a member of the Frederica board; Mrs. Charles M. Marine, and Mrs. Jane Brown.

Delaware Is Honored and Gives Honor

Delaware was honored Fri., May 9, by the visit of Mrs. Arthur B. Hanell, of Culver City, Calif., who, as National President of the American Legion Auxiliary represents nearly one million women in the United States, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. In turn, Delaware honored Mrs. Hanell. At the dinner in her honor at the Hub Restaurant in Dover, Mrs. Hanell was presented with a certificate of honorary citizenship of the City of Dover, by Mayor Crawford Carroll.

Governor Russell Peterson was unable to attend but was represented by Lt. Gov. Eugene Bookhammer, who presented Mrs. Hanell with a certificate of honorary citizenship in the State of Delaware. Mrs. Bookhammer was also present at the dinner.

Other distinguished guests included Mrs. Park W. Huntington, of Wilmington, Delaware's Mother of the Year; Mrs. Jennie Wilgus, of Selbyville, Department President of the V.F.W. Auxiliary; Mrs. Donald E. Webster, of Wilmington, national executive committee woman of the American Legion Auxiliary; Wallace Elterich, of Newark, State Commander of the American Legion; Thomas Murooney, of Wilmington, alternate national executive committee man of the American Legion and Braden Shupe, Grand Chef de Gare of the 40 & 8. Mrs. Margaret Lloyd, of Bethel, department president, presided, assisted by Mrs. William R. Humes, of Harrington, the department distinguished guests chairman.

In closing an interesting talk, Mrs. Hanell said: "A bell is not a bell until you ring it, A song is not a song until you sing it, The love in your heart is not love until you give it away."

So ring the Golden Bell of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary and proclaim to the world the ideals and principles of our great organization; Sing a song of service in every community and give the love that is in your hearts away to others.

Music for group singing was furnished by Mrs. William N. Cann, of Wilmington, at the piano, led by Mrs. Ruth B. Egan, also of Wilmington, the music vice chairman.

Two Brothers Seized In Tavern Case

State police have arrested two brothers and charged them with fourth-degree burglary in connection with a break-in at the Oak's Tavern on U.S. 13 north of here.

The brothers, William Corke, 32, of Railroad Avenue, Felton, and Carville Corke, 38, of near Marydel, according to state police at Troop 5, Bridgeville, were arrested Sunday on warrants obtained at Magistrate Court 6, Harrington.

Police said the two were committed to the Kent Correctional Institution in default of $2,500 bail each until preliminary hearing is held May 26.

Entry was made into the tavern, police said, when a pane of glass was broken out of the window located on the west side of the building. Police said a rear storage room was ransacked and $214 was taken from that area.

The area behind the bar also was ransacked, according to police, who said $30 in assorted change was taken from a cigar box in a cabinet under the cash register, $10.25 was removed from the cash register and a tear-gas gun and night stick were taken from under the register.

Spring Mosquitos Chewing Away In Delaware

The Mosquito Control Division of the Highway Department has begun receiving complaints that the first population explosion of spring mosquitoes are chewing away. They explain that due to peculiar weather conditions this spring, this first batch are not only plentiful, but also abnormally large. The only abnormals offered are that they are an early single brood woodland pool variety, they will not last very long, and they only bite in the early evening. The Mosquito Control Division also explains that because they are the fresh water and not the salt water variety, they are so widely spread that spraying would not be effective.

The peculiar weather condition that led to the development of the currently annoying variety is explained in this manner. We had a long rainy period which created warm pools of stagnant water ideal for the development of the mosquito larvae. This was followed by a cool period which kept the mosquito in the larval stage for an extended period of time. The more recent warm period then brought out the larger than average adult mosquito that is now biting. Normally, the larvae stage lasts from 7 to 10 days, while this particular brood stayed in the larval

Callaway Wins Easily In Hazy School Board Election

Nyle Callaway Jr., won in the Harrington school election Saturday afternoon, easily defeating the incumbent, Roland D. Hitchens, 348 to 197.

The local election was a little cloudy, but the issue may be resolved by the loser's declaration Monday he would step aside. The school board, however, may still seek clarification from the State Board of Education on the winner's eligibility.

Prior to Saturday's election, the local board contended Callaway actually resided in the Milford School District, even though his children attended the local school and he paid taxes to that district. Dr. Kenneth C. Madden, state superintendent of public instruction, declined to make any official attempt to resolve the issue, suggesting they await the outcome of the election.

Monday, F. Neil Postlethwaite, Madden's assistant, said the state board had checked into the matter and found it revolved around boundary decisions, one in 1928 and the other in 1955. However, he said it appeared Callaway, by both the 1928 action and an error discovered in a boundary description transferring property in 1955 to Milford, did actually reside within Harrington district's boundaries.

While Hitchens said he would not contest the election in the interest of harmony, Robert A. Holloway, board vice president, said, "I still feel someone has to force the state board or whoever has the authority to make a decision whether this fellow is in the district or out."

Holloway explained he feared the possibility, if the matter was left undecided, someone could contest subsequent board actions in the future on the contention Callaway's voting membership was illegal. "There's got to be a decision made somewhere," Holloway said, "and if it takes the Harrington board to contest it, it's just going to have to be that way until somebody gives us an official answer."

In Felton, Joseph H. Hughes, 31, a farmer and seasonal research associate for the state archeologist, received 326 votes to 212 for I. Kenneth Richter, 34.

In Houston — Mark A. Dufendach, 33, General Foods employe, ran unopposed.

The Harrington, Felton, and Frederica victors will take office July 1 on a school board for the combined district, tentatively known as the Lake Forest District. The acceptance of this name, and other actions of an interim board, will be considered by the board of the new district. The members will also include the incumbents of the present school boards.

Wasp Released On Delaware Campus Elms

A tiny wasp, named Dendrosota or "Savior of the Trees," may indeed save University of Delaware elm trees from Dutch elm disease and possible destruction.

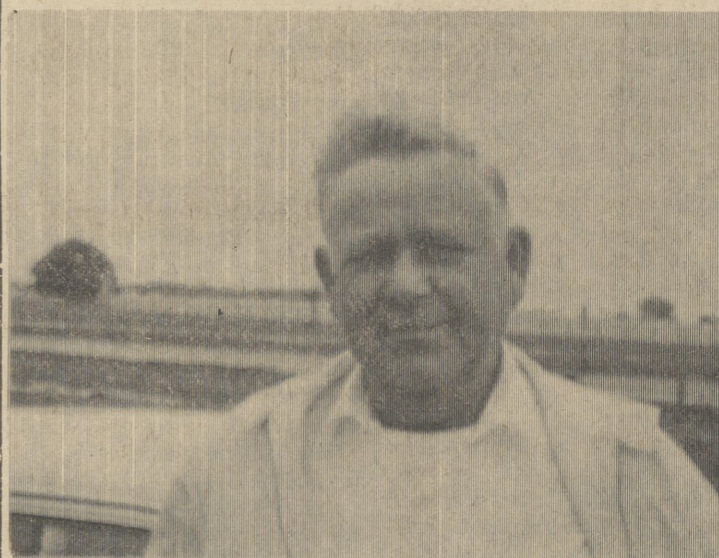

Dr. Paul P. Burbulis, associate professor in the department of entomology and applied ecology at the University, released the imported wasps on campus elms last week. The wasps are supposed to control the smaller European elm bark beetle which carries the disease fungus.

Dutch elm disease has caused the complete destruction of many elms, particularly in the Midwest. For instance, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., lost all their campus elms. Many other towns have had to remove sick or infested elms to try to prevent the spread of this serious disease. "Delaware's campus elms are our pride and joy; we're trying many methods to save them," Burbulis explains. "Strict sanitation is followed and a helicopter sprays the trees each spring when the adult bark beetles appear." Now they're trying the wasps.

Imported from France, the small wasp is thought to be an effective natural beetle control in that country. With the cooperation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the wasps were imported and kept in quarantine and reared in Delaware, Ohio, before coming to Newark through a local

What Is Your Child Going to Do This Summer?

If you recall from previous years — after a couple of weeks home from school your children have lost interest in staying in their own yards — so, they start going from one neighbor's yard to another, causing frustration, both on parents and friends. Not to mention the merchants, who have to be "baby sitters".

After much thought on the subject, it is felt that the community needs planned recreation. Interested persons have worked out the following plan:

Spring, Summer Tick Months In Delaware

The spring and summer months are the tick months in Delaware, and the State Board of Health urges the public to exercise special care in avoiding these pests. Delaware and other Middle Atlantic States make up one of the high incidence areas of tick-borne disease in the United States.

The greatest health danger which can come from ticks is Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever — a tick-borne disease which can be very serious. This disease is transmitted from pets and wild rodents by tick bite. This disease is a common occurrence in the Rocky Mountains, where it gets its name, and in the Middle Atlantic States. On the

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

"Can I save money by buying a side of beef for my freezer?" This is a question that is often asked and one to which there is no clear-cut "yes" or "no" answer.

To get the answer, you have to sharpen your pencil and do some figuring. Before you start, however, you have to know how much meat you will get from a side, the quality of the meat, charges for cutting, packaging, freezing, and costs of comparable retail cuts.

If you're considering buying a side of beef, you should know that weights quoted are usually "changing" weights—that is, the weight before cutting, trimming, and boning. The cutting loss—the excess bone and fat that's thrown away—can vary from 20 to 30 per cent, or even more. Here's how this works: if you buy a 300 pound side of beef and the cutting loss is 25 per cent (which is not unusual), then you will end up with only 225 pounds of usable meat cuts. (This is still not servings, since there is the usual retail amount of bone, suet, and grease left.)

Of course you realize a side of beef gives you a variety of cuts, both high and low-cost. Some of these you may not buy at a store, such as brisket, flank steak, short ribs, etc. Also do not be surprised at the quantity of ground meat you will end up with.

A rule of thumb for yield of a beef carcass is 25 per cent steaks, 25 per cent roasts, 25 per cent ground beef and stew meat and 25 per cent waste. Here again, don't be fooled by numbers when stated such as 40 steaks, because this is determined by the thickness of the steak; remember, too, a considerable part of the yield of roasts will be chuck roast. Out of a typical 300 pound roast, you will get 72 pounds of roast of which 44 pounds will be chuck, 18 pounds rib roast, and about ten pounds rump roast. You also get about 73 pounds of ground beef and stew meat and about 73 pounds of steak, of which 33 pounds will be round steaks and 40 pounds will be loin steak.

It is extremely important to check quality and yield grades. Quality, of course, determines tenderness and yield grades assure you of the yield of the carcass. For example, a Yield Grade 1 carcass will yield 79.8 per cent or more in retail cuts, while a Yield Grade 5 carcass will yield 65.9 per cent or less. Obviously, you can afford to pay more for a higher-yielding carcass.

Finally, before buying a carcass of beef, make sure you are dealing with an establishment with a reputation for honesty and fairness. If you are not sure, check with the local Better Business Bureau or the Chamber of Commerce. Also be sure to take time and read all the small print in the contract before signing. Check for such things as thickness of cuts, type of packaging, pounds of bone, and the like. When all of this has been considered, consider whether you will use all of these cuts in a year or less.

It may end up that simply buying the retail cuts you like most when your local store has them on sale is the most practical and economical way

Members of the congregation wish to thank Robert Nelson and all those who helped make Rogation Sunday a success, especially the women who prepared the delightful food. Students Study Driver Education

The driver education program at Harrington High School will soon come to a close for the school year. The novice drivers are completing their roadwork portion of the course and are anxiously awaiting the final exam. Needless to say, the drivers on the distaff side seem to be giving Gary Rogers more gray hair each week.

Meanwhile, back at the school, guest speakers have highlighted the classroom portion of the course.

Warren Price, manager of a Camden cycle firm, returned for his second visit of the year for an outdoor demonstration of two-wheel vehicle safety. Richard Price, Warren's brother, rode the two-wheel vehicle, while the latter explained the skills involved and answered numerous questions. William Outten, local insurance agent, visited the classes April 21, presented the topic of car insurance, and answered questions the students had prepared for his program. Outten explained the types of car insurance and stressed the relationship of a good driving record and traffic safety habits to reasonable car insurance rates.

Sgt. Esham, of the Delaware State Police, at Bridgeville, visited with the classes May 5, reviewed the material covered in a first semester visit, and introduced other aspects of the law enforcement program of the Delaware State Police.

Hedges Make Home More Enjoyable

Hedges are living fences that add greatly to the livability of any home, according to David V. Tatnall, extension garden specialist at the University of Delaware. They can be used for protection, screening, background, windbreak or beauty.

Hedges vary in height from one to 30 or 40 feet, he says. They may be evergreen or deciduous, have flowers or fruit or both and produce striking foliage colors. Formal hedges are usually clipped; informal hedges are allowed to grow naturally. If you have plenty of room, you can often have a more beautiful hedge if it's left unclipped with only occasional pruning.

Early spring is usually the best time to plant a hedge, says Tatnall. Especially if the plants have bare roots. However, balled and burlapped hedges may be planted at any time of year. Evergreen hedges planted in late September or early October usually get off to a good start.

In theory, any shrub or tree could be grown as a hedge, he adds. Although certain plants work better than others, there are hundreds of good hedging plants to choose from.

When selecting a plant for your hedge, choose one that will grow to the desired height and width and has the foliage or flower color you seek. Make sure that the hedge will thrive in the type of soil in your yard and in the selected location.

How dense a hedge do you need? Do you prefer it clipped or unclipped? How much care do the plants require? Are the plants available at a price you can afford?

For further information on hedge plants, ask for the University of Delaware bulletin "Hedges" at county extension offices in Newark, Dover and Georgetown or write to the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark 19711.

Pesticides For Home Gardener

Garden pesticides are expected to produce effective control of weeds, insects and diseases at an economical cost and with reasonable safety, according to John S. McDaniel, agricultural chemicals specialist at the University of Delaware.

Before you invest in a pesticide, observe the type of injury, insect habits and degree of infestation, he says. A thorough understanding of the problem will help you gain more effective control.

Total insect kill is difficult to accomplish, adds McDaniel. But a reduction of 100 per cent is not always necessary to achieve effective plant protection.

First pesticide applications should be made when the trouble is first noticed and when weather conditions are favorable for spraying. Repeat applications at regular intervals until control is achieved.

Plants should be thoroughly covered with the pesticide, says McDaniel. Direct spray upward to cover the underside of leaves and stems. If a rain of more than half an inch occurs within three hours after spraying, repeat the application.

Use of insecticides on fruit and vegetables is much more restricted than on ornamentals, he adds. No chemical should be used on food producing plants unless its use is specifically recommended on the pesticide label. Be sure to follow all directions, including those for time lapse between application and harvest.

Insect injuries mainly result from egg laying and feeding activities, explains McDaniel. Some insects pierce and suck plant sap; others chew and bore into the plant; a few insects may cause plants to produce abnormal growths called galls.

Control piercing and sucking insects with contact poisons such as malathion, lindane or diazinon. Apply these as leaf sprays or dusts.

Control boring, chewing and biting insects with malathion, methoxychlor, lindane or Sevin. A residual coating of these insecticides on plant surfaces will act as insect feed.

THE CALL OF THE LILACS

Just a breath of lilacs
 Wafted from some cool, dell,
 Caught on the breeze of summer,
 That o'er me threw its spell.

It carried my thoughts back yonder,
 Back to the small country town,
 To the lilac bush in the orchard,
 And flower beds clustered 'round.

Again as a barefoot youngster,
 I waded the grass knee high;
 The birds and the bees made music,
 And life didn't hold one sigh.

I could hear the ripple of water,
 As the mill stream chased on its way,
 And a care didn't dare to linger
 In the heart of a youth, such a day.

The whole world seemed one blaze of glory,
 For youth and the summer held sway;
 So each spring the sweet scent of lilacs,
 Sends my thoughts back o'er yesterday's way.

LINE LOGIC

Frequent naps will keep you from growing old, especially if you take them while driving.

The following poem, submitted by Mrs. Reuben M. Outten, of Felton, who is the daughter of John A. Kelley, 100 years-old last December, who quoted some poetry to her recently. The one called "The Boston Burglar", which Mr. Kelley memorized from the year 1888, was learned, along with other poems, from a blind man.

THE BOSTON BURLGAR

As I was born in Boston
 That city you all know well
 Brought up by honest parents
 The truth to you I'll tell.

Brought up by honest parents
 And raised most tenderly
 Until I became a sporting young man
 At the age of twenty-three.

My character was takened
 And I was sent to jail
 No one there to pity me
 No one to go my bail.

The jury read by sentence
 The clerk he wrote it down
 The judge then fined me guilty
 And sent me to Charlestown.

It was on a cold December morning
 We took the Eastern train
 Every station we passed by
 We would hear those people saying.

There goes that Boston Burglar
 In strong arms he'll be bound
 For some high crime or another
 He is off to Charlestown.

There stood my aged father
 Standing at the bar
 Likewise my aged mother
 Tearing off her hair.

Tearing off her old gray locks
 While the tears came rolling down
 Saying Son, dear Son, what have you done
 That you are off to Charlestown.

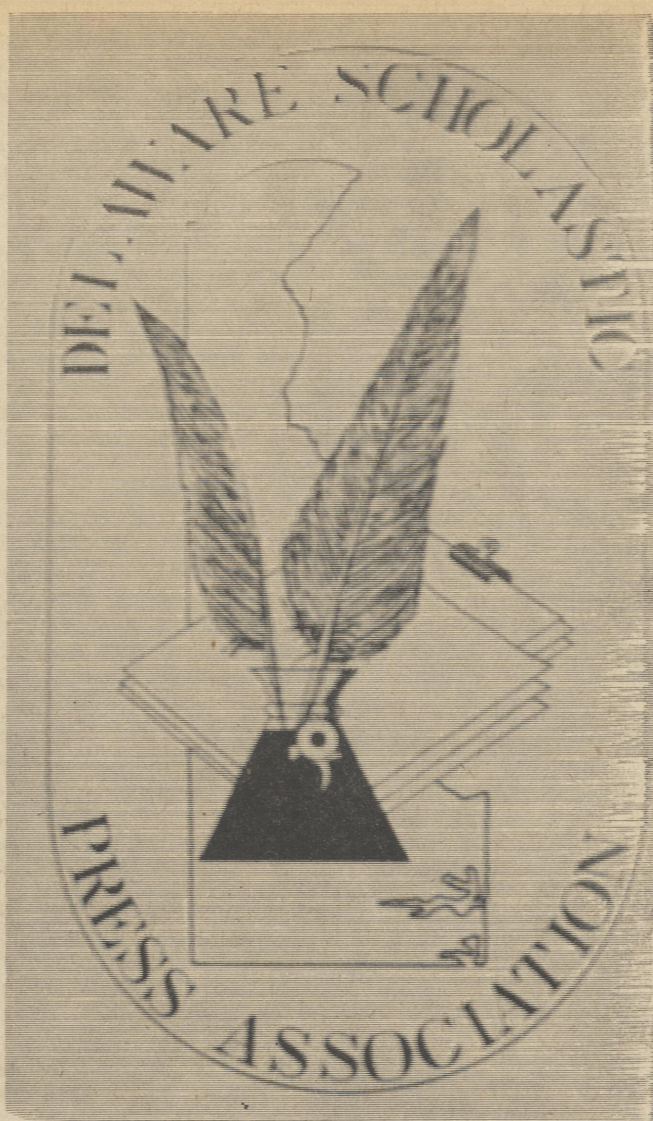

There is a girl in Boston
 A girl that I loved well
 If ever I gain my liberty
 Along with her I'll dwell.

If ever I gain my liberty
 Bad company I will shun
 Its also by night walking
 And also drinking rum.

All ye who hath your liberty
 Pray keep it if you can
 Don't go out on the street by night
 To break the laws of man.

If you do you surely
 Will become like me
 Who serving out your 21 years
 In Penitentiary.

Letter to Editor

Rio de Janeiro
 Monday, May 5, 1969
 Mr. Carrington Burgess
 Harrington Journal
 Harrington, Del. 19952
 Dear Carrington,

We arrived in Rio Friday. Our hotel is the "California" on Copacabana Beach, a long (5 miles) curving beach. Our room is on the 12th floor overlooking the beach. From our front balcony we have a beautiful view of the ocean and up and down the beach with "Sugar Loaf" in the background.

We went up "Sugar Loaf" yesterday via cable car. The day was clear. From this pinnacle the view is breath taking, looking out over Rio, the harbor and Copacabana as well as the mountains in the background. Today we go up the mountain to the huge statue of Christ the Redeemer.

We went swimming, the water was excellent, with a very wide surf and beach. The temperature here is in the 70's, mostly sunny and clear. This is their autumn season with mid-winter in July, when the temperature never gets below 50.

We are told that Copacabana is second only to Hong Kong in being the most densely populated area in the world. We will be taking a trip inland seeing the mountains.

Yours truly
 Fulton & Anna Downing

Senior Center News

Everyone talks budget! The Senior Center is no exception. It is in the process of making a new budget and of presenting it to the Commission for the Aging as a request for funds on which to operate from June 1969 to June 1970. The figures which will be given here are from last year's grant June '68 to June '69. The budget consists of two parts: one part being the actual money supplied by the government, and the second part being supplied by the citizens of Harrington and vicinity thru their services and donations known as "in kind".

In the beginning it was estimated that the total cost of operating the Harrington Center would be approximately $13,000. Of this, in 1967-1968 the U.S. Government furnished 75 per cent and our community was responsible for furnishing 25 per cent. The second year it was 60 per cent government and 40 per cent local; this coming year it will be 50 per cent for each. This 25, 40 and 50 per cent furnished by the community does not have to be in money but rather can be in donations of services, time, articles, food, etc., known as "in kind". A definite rate for measuring these donations has been fixed by the government. For example, anyone who gives their time as an aide automatically gives our budget a helping hand at the rate of $1.50 credit for each hour spent; or 8 cents a mile is credited when an individual transports members to or from the Center or on trips. Food and article donations are credited at their actual value. The citizens of our community have been so generous these two years that the total amount of "in kind" required has been made as early as January of each year.

Now, looking at the actual grant, the Center received this year from the federal government $7,614 or 60 per cent of the total operating costs and an extra amount from the state government of $867, making a grand total of $8,481 in money. To match this amount with 40 per cent of the operating costs, our community was required to earn "in kind" approximately $5,200. Next year it will be $500 with the government furnishing $6500 and the center $6500.

The budget is divided into 8 categories: personnel, travel, rent, communications, utilities, supplies, equipment, and other costs such as insurance, legal fees, and taxes. It is in the first, third, and seventh categories that the local citizens play the largest part. Volunteer aides contribute at the rate of $1.50 an hour toward meeting the $1,170 which is required as our share of "in kind" in category. The Century Club building and its contents supplies another credit of $3,053 in the 3rd and 7th divisions of the budget. The rest of "in kind" comes from donations of supplies and travel. The government's grant is spent for personnel, travel of members, telephone, heat, electricity, gas, and program expenses.

In June each year a certified public accountant is hired and the books are audited to determine whether the funds and the "in kind" have been handled as authorized.

Despite heavy rain last Friday, the Mother's luncheon was a success. The Century Club room was beautifully decorated with spring flowers and pink geraniums. The guests were the Rev. Moyer of Felton; William Kramedas, acting director of the Commission for the Aging; Rep. Robert Quillen, and members of the board of directors of whom 8 were present. Also several mothers were accompanied by their daughters. A corsage was presented to Mrs. Emma Passmore, the oldest mother present, and to Mrs. Gladys Hill, the youngest member mother attending. Samuel Short presented Representative Quillen with a beautiful ceramic plaque, painted by Mrs. Angela Johnston, which contained the map of Delaware showing the location of the seven senior centers in the State, flanked by a branch of the state flower.

The guest speaker was William Kramedas. He was also presented with a plaque containing the Centers' locations including a remarkable replica of the Blue Hen, and also painted by Mrs. Johnston.

The Harrington High School Chorus, directed by Melvin Brobst, rendered a half hour of beautiful music. They were followed by a group of young people, who call themselves "The Young Ideas". The listeners were delighted with their selections of songs and spirituals.

The dinner was ably catered by Mrs. James Moore. Mrs. Lelia Hopkins is still on the sick list. She is to be admitted to the hospital as soon as a room is available.

Mrs. Mary Cooper is improving but is still unable to attend the regular sessions. Members of the Senior Center were saddened by the death of one of their friends. Before taking ill Mrs. Reba Smith had attended faithfully. Our sincere sympathy is extended to the members of her family.

A trip to Winterthur is being planned for Mon., May 19. If you are a member of the Center and are interested, you should contact the director before the center closes on Thursday.

Tuesday, May 20, a bus will leave the Center at 10:30 a.m. to take the members to the Dover Armory. Elaborate plans have been made by the State Commission for the Aging to celebrate Senior Citizens' Day from 1 to 3:30. Plan to go and hear the Army Band.

A group of twelve attended the program prepared for Senior Citizens at the Methodist Manor House in Seaford on Mon., May 12.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I am a veteran of World War II and will soon reach my 65th birthday. Will I be entitled to a VA pension?

A—You may be eligible for a pension from the Veterans Administration at age 65 if your income from all sources does not exceed $2,000 a year if you are single, or $3,200 a year if you have one or more dependents. A wife's income, and the size of your estate are factors which must also be considered.

For further information and assistance, check with your nearest VA office.

Q—My son will soon be discharged from the Army after two years of service. He received his college education under the War Orphans Education Assistance program. Will he be entitled to any additional education assistance under the G.I. Bill?

A—Yes, a recent law increased the aggregate amount of Veterans Administration educational assistance which a veteran may receive under two or more programs from 36 to 48 months.

Assuming your son received 36 months of VA benefits under the War Orphans program, he will be entitled to 12 months of additional aid under the G.I. Bill.

He should make application for a Certificate of Eligibility from the VA regional office where his veteran records will be on file.

TROOP 686

On Saturday the Girl Scout Troop 686 went to Wheeler's Park on a cook-out. The troop hiked from the Asbury Church to the park where they cooked spaghetti with the help of Mrs. Joan Knaub, Miss Linda Rogers and Joanne Thompson. Azalea Leaf Galls

Azalea leaf gall is a minor but persistent problem in Delaware. The pinkster gall appears in late spring or summer on camellias and rhododendrons as well as azaleas, according to R. Walker Miller, Jr., plant pathologist at the University of Delaware.

This gall is caused by a fungus which infects the leaves and makes them grow abnormally. Once these galls appear, about the only thing you can do is hand pick and destroy them, Miller points out. Plants that have been heavily infected in previous years should be sprayed with a fungicide. Spray before the leaves unfurl and again after flowering. Of course, it's too late for the first spray this year, but keep it in mind for next year if your azaleas are infected.

Zineb and ferbam are the fungicides which give the most effective control of this azalea gall, Miller reports.

Veterans' News

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q—Recently I received information on the new pension law and a card to fill out and return to the Veterans Administration. Must I fill out this card and return it to the VA? Must I elect to accept the new law pension?

A—You are not required to complete the card and return it to the VA or to accept the new law pension. However, it could be to your advantage to fill out the card, being certain to report all of your income, and return it to the VA. The information you submit will be examined very carefully.

If you elect to accept a pension under the new law, but the VA determines that it will not be to your advantage, you will not be changed to the new law.

However, once you cash a pension check payable under the new law, you cannot thereafter change your election and revert back to the old law.

Q—I am a World War II veteran who financed my home with a G.I. loan. I am being transferred to another city by my employer. May I have my G.I. loan entitlement restored?

A—Yes, the sale of your G.I. home due to such transfer entitles you to restoration of entitlement provided the loan is paid off.

However, as a World War II veteran, you have until July 25, 1970, to use your restored entitlement.

Check with your VA regional office where your records are now on file for further information and assistance.

Q—I pay premiums on my G.I. insurance quarterly and am concerned because I have not received my premium due notice. Should I wait until I receive this notice before paying my premium? I certainly don't want to take a chance on my policy lapsing.

A—By all means pay your premium when it becomes due even though you may not have received a premium due notice. Be certain to include your policy number with your payment.

Q—My husband has a heart condition which developed in service. He was able to work until three months ago when he had a heart attack and the Veterans Administration awarded him 100 per cent disability.

The doctor says that he will never be able to go back to work. With two children in college, I will have to work to help support us but I don't have any training. Can the VA help me?

Kent County Family Court

Judge Kelsey presiding

April 29 thru May 5

Seven juveniles appeared before the Court charged with truancy from their respective school districts. Each paid fines and costs and were placed on probation to the court.

One juvenile was before the Court charged with shoplifting. Upon his entry of a plea of guilty to said charge, the court imposed a fine and court costs, and placed him on probation for an indefinite period of time.

Six men were before the court charged with failing to support their families adequately. An order of support was placed against each defendant.

One juvenile was before the court charged with assault with the intent to do harm to the person and property of another. After hearing all the evidence, the court found him not guilty as charged.

One juvenile appeared before the court charged with being incorrigible in her home. After hearing the evidence, the charge was dismissed.

One petition was before the court for temporary custody of four minor children by the State Department of Public Welfare. After hearing the testimony and considering the circumstances the Court granted said petition for temporary custody.

One female juvenile appeared before the court charged with violation of probation. After hearing all the evidence, the court granted permanent care and custody of said minor child unto her parents.

Three juveniles appeared before the court for possible release from detention pending a hearing in this court later. After hearing testimony, the court released two and ordered that one remain detained.

Two juveniles appeared charged with disorderly conduct. Upon their entry of a plea of guilty to the charge, each paid fines and costs.

Ellis Banes appeared on a rule to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for failing to keep his support order up to date. After hearing the evidence and after certain credits were granted whereupon his arrearage then reflected a balance of $2200, the court ordered that he pay the court costs, and be committed to the State Board of Corrections for one year.

Be Prepared For Moth Invasion

Springtime brings a change in temperature and a change in clothing! At last you can wear your lightweight, bright colored summer clothes and put away all the winter woollens.

But, putting away those winter clothes involves more than just pushing them to the back of the closet, says Miss Janet Reed, extension clothing and textile specialist at the University of Delaware. The infamous moth will soon be on the prowl.

As soon as moths hatch, they begin feeding on wool, mohair, bristles, fur and feathers. They attack a variety of household furnishings as well as your clothes, but your winter clothes need extra care if they're going to be in condition to wear next fall.

Start that extra care by making sure that garments are clean before you put them away. Moths are especially attracted to soiled woollens. In fact, clothing, regardless of its fiber content, should be absolutely clean before storing.

In addition, woollens that are not permanently moth-proof need seasonal protection. Use enough moth preventive — either mothballs, moth cakes or flakes. How much is enough? Miss Reed warns that a handful of moth crystals tossed into the storage area are not sufficient to discourage a hungry moth.

Use enough preventive to create an unpleasantly strong odor. This means an ounce of pure paradichlorobenzene (para) or naphthalene in a tightly sealed garment bag, box or drawer. For a chest, use one pound and then seal the storage area completely. Of course, read the label and follow the directions on any moth preventives, suggests Miss Reed.

Not every home is plagued by moth infestations — but why take a chance? One petition was before the court for temporary custody of four minor children by the State Department of Public Welfare. After hearing all the evidence, the court granted permanent care and custody of said minor child unto her parents.

Three juveniles appeared before the court for possible release from detention pending a hearing in this court later. After hearing testimony, the court released two and ordered that one remain detained.

Two juveniles appeared charged with disorderly conduct. Upon their entry of a plea of guilty to the charge, each paid fines and costs.

FENCE TALK

with George K. Vapaa

Get things done - thru groups. It's the title of a little leaflet we have put together on how to work with people. You can have a free copy by phoning our Kent County Extension Service Office 736-1448.

It seems that Elbert Chance of our University of Delaware heard a professional talk on the subject and wrote about it in "The Alumni News". This leaflet simply puts the ideas down in outline form - do's and don't's.

Farm field day visitors can jump in and out of the shady grove at the Georgetown Substation come August 13 - and still see much of the crops research in mini-mini form. Bob Stevens, our extension horticulturist, has set up a demonstration garden with rows only 50 feet long.

You will be able to see new varieties of flowers, vegetables, and what I call "odd ball" practices. The use of wax, for example, to reduce the demands of the plant for water, dwarfing for the same reason. We will also check the under and over feeding of various plant food elements on corn and soybeans.

Of course you don't have to wait for the field day. The plots will be long the main road next the Jay Windor's brick house. Visitors are always welcome, and unless I'm badly fooled, someone should be busy nearby and can take some time to tell you what is being tried.

Sleeping sickness or horses, (dare I mention the Latin name Equine Encephalomyelitis) is a serious virus disease that can also infect man or other mammals. It causes brain damage and there is no specific treatment as yet.

But you can prevent the disease by having your horses vaccinated prior to the mosquito season. Check with your veterinarian soon. And call us at 736-1448 for a copy of the Equine Digest which spells out the facts in greater detail.

Growing plants in the shade. Shade is often a limiting factor when it comes to growing garden flowers. But it can be an asset when correct selections are made. Very few plants will survive in extremely dense shade or in areas of poor air circulation.

Bedding plants that will grow well in shaded areas include wax begonia, coleus, forget-me-not, impatiens, viola, annual salvia, sweet-alyssum. Bulbs that do well include Caladium, tuberous begonia, achimenes, cella, lycoris, cyclamen, and colchicum. Perennials for shaded gardens include astilbe, bleeding heart, brunnera, Christmas rose, dame's rocket, day-lily, foxglove, lungwort, plantain-lily, primrose, violets, and ferns. Credit Nassar County, New York Agents for these hints.

Tent caterpillars are on the crawl! They feed on the foliage of many trees and shrubs, and form silken nests or tents in the crotches of branches. To control this pest spray with Sevin. If only a few tents are noticed destroy these by wiping them out with gloved hands. This should be done during the latest part of the day when most of the caterpillars are in the nest. Do not burn these nests out with flammable fluids; this method will damage the plants. Ouch! And I suggested burning on the phone to someone who asked about wild cherry. A messy kind of shade, but that is all he had.

Some of our budding beekeepers are non-pleased. First, a truck strike delayed shipment of their package bees. Now, six of the twelve broods arrived dead - probably smothered in transit. Hopefully the reorder will arrive in good condition and the junior beekeeper can get going.

We're missing a lot of good fruit tree pollination, but the clovers and other crops will produce a good crop of honey.

It Seams To Me

Fabrics for home decoration can also be used for unique fashions. Many seamstresses have discovered that the simple shift or A-line dress is effective made from a wild drapery print.

Some of these drapery fabrics have more body than many dress materials and make up well into simple styles that call for a slightly still fabric rather than softness. They can be effective in coats which also need a heavier fabric.

The wider drapery fabrics can usually be cut to good advantage and less yardage is needed. Excellent remnant buys are available because the lengths too short for a window may be enough for a dress.

The printed design in most drapery fabric runs in only one direction so that the dress must be planned so all tops of pattern pieces lie in the same direction.

Designs should be matched and placement on the body planned for the most beautiful effect. A large design should be centered on the body, both back and front. If the dress design has a center front seam, the design should be matched. In general, fewer pattern pieces show off the fabric more effectively.

If you plan to wash the dress, it's wise to pre-shrink the fabric. If there is odor from a crease resistant finish, washing will remove the odor. Color fastness to washing as well as sunlight will be important to you if you are making a washable garment.

If the drapery fabric is a stiff or heavy one, use the same sewing techniques as you would for any heavy fabric. Leave flat pinked or zig-zag stitched edges on facings and hems rather than turning under the raw edge.

So—next time you shop for fabrics for your home try to visualize clothing you can make from these same fabrics. Don't overlook the possibilities of the curtain sheers—printed or plain for evening gowns and party dresses.

Light, frequent fertilizer applications are better than "one shot", heavy applications. Dissolve one-third cup low analysis fertilizer in five gallons of water and water with this solution about once a month or oftener if the leaves show fertilizer deficiency. Or, use a starter solution. But don't forget, too much fertilizer pro-

Many flowers, including zinnias, snapdragons and chrysanthemums, will benefit from pinching out a terminal part of the plant. This will give you more compact, wind-resistant plants. Make the first pinch when the plants are about three inches high, recommends Tatnall. However, most dwarf varieties do not need pinching.

Let the soil surface dry between waterings — once the plants are well established. Use a layer of mulch to reduce soil crusting, water evaporation and weed competition. Peat moss, leaves or chopped straw can save you a great deal of work. You can add more mulch as the flowers grow.

Ticks Problem In Delaware

Ticks are now active in all areas of Delaware. They'll continue to be a problem until mid-summer, according to Frank E. Boys, extension entomologist at the University of Delaware.

The two most common ticks found in Delaware are the American dog tick and the brown dog tick. The brown dog tick is uniformly brown, while the American dog tick has a mottled white shield on its back.

The American dog tick breeds outdoors, bites people readily, and may be carried on pets and people.

The brown dog tick breeds in kennels, homes and other buildings where dogs are kept but may be found outdoors in summer. It's a serious pest to dogs but seldom bites humans. The brown dog tick cannot survive Delaware winters outdoors, but the American dog tick can.

American dog ticks must feed on mice or rabbits during their early life. They move to dogs or people only when they become full grown. However, the brown dog tick requires only dogs as hosts. Ticks do not feed immediately upon contact a host; they wander over the body from one to two hours in search of a proper feeding site.

Paralysis, occasionally fatal, may result if a tick is allowed to feed for several days at the base of the skull of either a dog or a human. Since ticks also transmit diseases, such as spotted fever, tick paralysis and tularemia, they should be removed immediately.

If the attached tick does not release easily, touch its body with a hot match tip or a swab dipped in alcohol or turpentine. If a bit of skin is pulled off with the tick, treat such spots with an antiseptic such as iodine or mercurochrome.

During the tick season, examine body and clothing frequently. Ticks are most often found along the hairline of the neck, in back of the ears and in the armpit and groin regions. Use a repellent such as delphene (Off) when you or your children walk where ticks are abundant.

tive ingredient Sevin are good and also safe. Use only as directed on the label. Products containing pyrethrins as the principle active ingredient are very safe and useful for quick removal but provide protection for only a few hours. Frequent shampoos with products designed to kill ticks are also helpful.

Around the home, ticks are found in uncut grass, weeds and roadsides. Keeping grass and weeds mowed in these areas will help.

Infested areas can be treated with the following insecticides: Chlordane (one-half pound, 40 per cent wettable powder) or Chlordane (six tablespoons, 74 per cent) or Lindane (four ounces, 25 per cent w p) or Sevin (four ounces, 80 per cent w p) or Sevin (2 1/4 lbs., five per cent dust). Treatments are for 5000 square feet.

When you treat, concentrate the spray near trails, roads and along the edges of woods. Boys recommends a 15 to 20 foot barrier can be sprayed to prevent tick migration from adjoining brushy areas to lawns.

Nearly 56,000 Delawareans were receiving $4.9 million a month in social security benefits at the end of December 1968. Just over 7100 Kent County residents shared $6 million of this total. Nationally the monthly amount paid to near 25 million persons was $2.1 billion, about $350 million more than in 1967.

Most of the increase resulted from higher benefit rates under the 1967 amendments. The balance was due to a greater number of beneficiaries.

Nearly one-fourth, or 13,000 Delaware beneficiaries were under 60 years of age. Of this total 7,550 were under 18, and another 1,125 were in the 18-21 age group.

These figures point up the importance of the survivor and disability protection under social security. At the same time, ninety per cent of those over 65 are eligible for cash benefits.

With respect to medicare, almost everyone over 65 is eligible for hospital insurance benefits. Likewise, 95 per cent of these have signed up for the voluntary medical insurance which pays physicians' fees.

Viet Combat Artist to Speak At U. of D.

A University of Delaware alumnus who spent 18 months in Vietnam as a combat artist will speak Wednesday evening in a campus residence hall.

Robert W. Arnold, a free lance artist now residing in New York City, will show slides and play recordings he taped of actual battle actions. The combination of audio-visual techniques lends an unusually realistic quality to his presentation.

A member of the Class of 1945, Arnold has been invited to appear before a number of groups in the New York area and in other states. He spoke at the university's North Jersey Alumni Chapter meeting last month.

Wednesday's showing in Gilbert D & E Residence Halls is sponsored by the dormitory residents and the Student Center Council. The program will begin at 8 p.m. This is free and open to the public.

Wetherhold Shatters Milford Invitational Mark

Chris Wetherhold, Harrington High's sophomore distance ace, for the second straight week was a record-breaker. After winning the Seaford Invitational two-mile in 10.04, the young Lion raced around Milford's dirt oval eight times in a swift 9:55.8 and cut half a minute from the old meet record. Chris now owns the three fastest two mile clockings by a Delaware scholastic runner this year.

Harrington's mile relay foursome won this event in 1968 but were not regarded as a threat this time. Aided by a 55.6 opening stint by 14-year-old freshman, John Shulties and a terrific 53 yard third leg by the always-tough Tolbert Harris, the Lions led the favored Dover quartet until the last 200 yards of the race. The second-place finish gave H.H.S. a boost from 11th place to 7th place of the 19 teams competing.

Ken Tribbett was fifth in the 100 yard dash for the locals' final tally.

The Henlopen Conference, of which Harrington is a member does not compete in the javelin, high hurdles, triple or low hurdles. With no chance to score points in these four events, Harrington's good finish assumes even greater significance.

Coach Harold McDonald's other team, the Lion junior high unit, finished second in their meet trailing only big-school James M. Bennett, of Salisbury, Md.

Bob Smith, who has been clocked in 24.7 for the 220 this season, was an easy winner in 25.4.

Frank Daniels and Phillip Thomas were credited with 4th and 5th in the eight-pound shot put.

George Turner leaped 17 feet, 5 inches for second in the broad jump, was fourth in the 100 yard dash and ran with Don Parker, Neal Travis and Norman Baynard on the second-place 440 relay unit. Baynard cleared 5 feet, 1 inch to get third in the high jump. Freshman Mike Davis spun a very fine 2.20 half mile for 5th place.

Lions Beat Rebels; Lose to Indians Despite Newnom's Heroics

Harrington High's Lions retained third place in the Henlopen Conference with a 5-3 record after defeating Selbyville 6-4 and losing to Indian River 3-1.

At Selbyville, the Lions were behind 2-0 after two innings but scored five times in the next two chukkers to salt it away.

Larry Larrimore had a circuit clout for H.H.S. Dale Motter had two hits, one a triple. Buddy Sipple connected for a brace of bingles and Chester Scott extended his hitting streak to seven games.

Sophomore Dave Newnom held the Rebels to five hits.

Dave Newnom went home with mixed emotions after the Indian River loss. The slender righthander was just about perfect in every respect. He entered the game with his team behind 3-0, then pitched no-hit, shutout ball the rest of the way and hit safely in his two, official times at bat. In order to do any more, he would have had to clout a couple of four baggers and either tie or win the contest for the locals.

Phil Thomas Is Shot Put Future Hope

Phil Thomas threw the eight-pound shot so far recently that the judge of the event, who forgot to watch the throw, refused to believe it and wouldn't allow it. The chunky Lion freshman hurled the iron ball 48 feet, 9 1/2 inches but didn't get credit for it. No Lion junior high weightman, in our memory, ever came close to that mark. Phil may eventually own the local varsity shot put mark.

Greenwood High's baseball team bested Indian River 6-3 and were beaten 4-1 by Selbyville.

Indian River tallied three runs in the first inning, then yielded to Greenwood bursts of 2 runs in the next frame and four more in the fourth stanza.

Root, Chambers and Joe Zerolles hit safely for Greenwood while Scott Baker held the visitors to four hits.

Delaware Park Raceway News

Walter Kitchen's Hail to Patsy, impressive winner of the $59,850 Kentucky Oaks on May 2, has been nominated to all three of Delaware Park's stakes for fillies and mares.

Trainer Loyd Gentry made his stretch-running charge eligible to the Delaware Oaks, the New Castle Stakes and the Delaware Handicap immediately after her five-length conquest of heavily favored Double Delta on the eve of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

Hail to Patsy, a daughter of Hail to Reason from the Olympia mare Elysium, was bred by Forest Retreat Farms of Kentucky and was purchased by Kitchen for $62,000 as a yearling.

The $50,000-added Delaware Oaks, limited to 3 year-old fillies, will be run on Saturday, July 26. The $30,000-added New Castle and the $100,000-added Delaware Handicap, open to fillies and mares, 3 years old and older, are scheduled for Sat., July 19, and Sat., Aug. 2, respectively.

Nominations to all three events will be closed on Thurs., May 15. Delaware Park's 61-day thoroughbred season will open Memorial Day, May 30, and will feature the renewal of 17 stakes, including four for steeplechasers and hurdlers.

Hail to Patsy's Kentucky Oaks success, her first in stakes company, was scored at one mile and one sixteenth, the distance of the New Castle. The Delaware Oaks is at one mile and one eighth. The Delaware Handicap, one of the nation's premier events for fillies and mares, is at one mile and one quarter.

WASP RELEASED

biological control laboratory in Moorestown, N. J. The wasp has been released in Michigan with some apparent success in beetle control, Burbutis says.

The small parasite searches out the bark beetle larva where it lays eggs. When the eggs hatch, the wasp larva feeds on the beetle larva, killing them and interrupting the beetle life cycle. "The wasp may not completely get rid of the beetles, but it should help regulate their numbers," Burbutis hopes.

"We won't be sure for several years whether or not the wasps are a successful method of beetle control in Delaware," he adds. Beetles will have to be collected and checked for signs of the wasp parasite. "We'll have to check the number of wasps that survive Delaware's winters and see how far they've spread. We're hoping they'll build up and control the beetle year after year."

In case you're wondering, these wasps don't sting people — just elm bark beetles.

The Mosquito Control Division has reprinted a folder originally published by the University of Delaware in which the story of mosquitoes is fully explained. This folder is available by dropping a post card to: Mosquito Control Division, Delaware State Highway Department, Box 224, Milford, Delaware. The folder explains what the property owner can do to contribute to the overall control of mosquitoes in Delaware.
