

Senators Turn Down Gov's Welfare Hearing

None of the seven senators who made up the Senate Welfare Investigation Committee plan to attend the hearing Gov. Russell W. Peterson has called regarding their committee's report of last September.

"Our committee's over," Sen. Calvin R. McCullough (D-Holloway Terrace) said Monday.

"Those people (welfare department employees) all had a chance to testify during our hearings. We had post office boxes, detective agencies, and numbers they could call. Only one person from the Welfare Department came to us."

"All they wanted to do was get a couple high-class, left-wing lawyers and then make their complaints."

"I'm surprised the governor would try to call such a meeting this late date."

"We're lawmakers. If the law needs changing, let them make their complaints to the governor and we'll change them."

McCullough was one of five senators who signed a letter to the governor declining his invitation to the hearing on the grounds that the committee's work is completed.

The committee was invited to the Aug. 18 hearing which was requested by welfare department personnel. The workers wanted to air their views on charges made by the committee in its report and in an ensuing letter this year which was highly critical of the department's administration and efficiency.

Others on the committee who signed the letter to the governor were Lt. Gov. Eugene D. Bookhammer of Lewes, a senator last year; Sen. J. Donald Isaacs (R-Townsend); Sen. George A. Robbins (D-Milford), chairman of the committee; and Sen. George F. Schlor (D-Wilmington).

Sen. Schlor said that unlike the other committee members, the welfare department had "no quarrel" with him because he did not sign the statement made this year criticizing the department's efficiency.

"I didn't agree with their accusations," he said.

A sixth member of the committee, Senate President Pro Tem Reynolds DuPont (R-Greenville), said he declined to attend the meeting because he will be out of town, although if the meeting were taking place another time he would look for another reason not to attend.

The other committee member, Anthony Moore, is no longer in the Senate. He was defeated in last fall's election.

The meeting is scheduled for 3 p.m. Aug. 18 in the City Council chambers of the Public Building in Wilmington.

In addition to the committee, Peterson invited Welfare Department Director Ronald E. Miller and Margaret E. McGee, president of the Delaware Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers.

He also asked Miller to invite board members and department employees who signed the petition. They number about 100.

SEAFORD YOUTH NOMINATED FOR BRAVERY MEDAL

An 18-year-old Seaford area youth has been nominated by Governor Russell W. Peterson to receive a Young American Medal for Bravery in 1968.

He is Dennis Wayne Friedel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Friedel. On March 12, 1968, at night, young Friedel plunged into the near-freezing water of the Nanticoke River and rescued 53-year-old Harlan Johnson, of Seaford after a car in which Johnson was a passenger ran into the river. The driver drowned.

Friedel, who weighed 140 pounds, swam about 30 feet out to Johnson and brought the much heavier man into shore. The youngster then applied artificial respiration and revived the victim.

Del. Tech. Graduates 92 In Commencement

Dr. Roland H. Nelson, president of Marshall University, Huntington, W. Va., told a class of 92 graduates this past Sunday to "commit yourself to continued education... and be prepared to face change, evaluate it, and control it, lest it controls you." Among the graduates was his mother, Mrs. Marian A. Marvel, 59, who received an Associate Degree in Business Administration.

Dr. Nelson also warned graduates that "if we fail to exhibit the courage, the will to act to bring social change apace with technological change, our age may witness what I call the dinosauran societal epoch: exceptional physical capability to survive, but insufficient reason to survive. And like the dinosaur, we too may become extinct."

Special recognition was given to William C. Carter, Millsboro, and E. Hall Downes, Dover, former members of the Board of Trustees for their contribution to the development of Delaware Technical and Community College. Dr. Hiram C. Lasher, Millsboro, and former Gov. Charles L. Terry were honored with sou-

The Young American Medals are awarded each year, under an Act of Congress, to recognize outstanding accomplishments by boys and girls under the age of 19.

Nominations are made by the Governors of the states, territories and possessions of the United States. Winners are selected by the Young American Medals Committee, chaired by FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, for final approval by Attorney General John W. Mitchell.

The Delaware Commission on Children and Youth received and processed nominations for the award from April to June 30.

Governor Peterson, in a letter notifying Friedel of his nomination, said that "regardless of whether you are finally selected to receive a medal, I want you to know that Delaware is proud of you."

"Your actions on that day reflect great credit, not only upon you and your parents, but upon the State of Delaware."

Garden Party Saturday to Benefit Mansion

One fine 18th Century Georgian house-Mordington will be the site of a garden party to be held on Saturday to raise funds to continue the restoration of another fine house of the same era - the Parson Thorne Mansion on Silver Hill.

Harry Lundy, Mordington's owner, graciously offered his home to the Milford Historical Society for this occasion. The house will be open to visitors from 4 to 6 p.m., and hostesses in Colonial costume will serve as guides. The Dover Baroque Ensemble will play Renaissance and Baroque music in the parlor for one hour beginning at 4 p.m.

After seeing the house, visitors will be directed to the lovely, spacious garden where cocktails, punch, and tea sandwiches will be served. This occasion will not be the first time these two houses

11 Appointed To State Units; Two Renamed

William M. Davis of Millsboro has been named to the Delaware State College board of trustees, one of 11 appointments to be announced Monday by Gov. Russell W. Peterson.

Davis, 46, a teacher and a Republican, will succeed Harold H. Keller, a Laurel Democrat.

None of the 11 appointments required Senate confirmation. Two are re-appointments.

Clifton E. Morris of Alapocas, a Democrat, will receive another six-year term on the Delaware Racing Commission. He is president of the Peoples Bank and Trust Co.

Dr. Lewis B. Flinn of Wilmington, a Republican, will receive another four-year term on the Board of Trustees at the State Home at Smyrna.

The Sussex County Republican chairman, Paul C. Stokes, Jr., of Rehoboth Beach, was one of four persons named to the expanded Delaware Real Estate Commission.

The legislature recently enlarged the commission from three members to five, with a requirement that each county and Wilmington have one member, with the fifth named at-large.

Stokes succeeds Mrs. May Hall McCabe of Rehoboth as the Sussex member.

Robert S. Moore, of Dover, a decline, succeeds W. Lloyd Seunce of Camden as the Kent County member.

Added to the board are I. J. Harkins III of Robscoff Manor, Newark, and Calvin J. Harris Jr. of Greenville, both declines.

The other appointments: Paul Mayfield, of 4602 Beechwood Ave., Shipley Heights, a retired Hercules, Inc., executive and a Republican to succeed Robert Smoot on the Greater Wilmington Transportation Authority.

John A. Bowman, of Magnolia, a Republican, to succeed Ralph H. Boyer, of the State Fire Prevention Commission.

L. Gardner Kersey of Viola, a Republican, to succeed Alfred M. Bilbrough and Robert E. Dukes of Laurel, a Democrat, to succeed Donald T. Ralph of the Delaware Soil and Water Conservation Commission.

Local Senior Center Building Fund Continues

The building fund drive for the local Senior Center is slowly progressing towards its goal. Proceeds of this fund, will be used to retire the bank borrowings made necessary by the purchase of a house to be used as a permanent headquarters for the energetic, interested senior citizens. Though slightly aided by the federal government, this organization is mostly self supporting and is in need of any financial assistance it may receive. Your contribution, regardless of size, will be most appreciated.

You are most welcomed to drop in at the Century Club, the present headquarters, any Monday, Tuesday or Thursday, to see our senior citizens "in action." Contributions could be left there or sent to the "Harrington Senior Center Building Fund, Box 93, Harrington, Del."

Harrington To Get Taxi; Bus For Beach OK'd

The Public Service Commission last week awarded a taxi franchise in Harrington, and extended a bus franchise in Rehoboth Beach.

David Hands, operator of Peoples Service Station and the Trailways Bus Terminal in Harrington, was given a five mile radius in which he may pick up passengers "in and around the town."

There was one other taxi franchise in Harrington, but it was lifted by the PSC for inactivity.

At the same time, Preston Hitchens, who operates Seashore Transit Co., was given the okay to pick up and discharge passengers from Rehoboth Beach to Ocean City, Md. Hitchens will now make stops at Indian River Inlet, Bethany Beach, and Fenwick Island, then meet the Ocean City Transit Co. buses at the Maryland line. He has been operating from Rehoboth to Lewes, and will continue to make that run.

The ten per cent penalty written on the city's bill is just a one time charge, said city manager Francis P. Neylan.

USDA Lifts Fed. Hog Quarantine

The United States Department of Agriculture has removed the federal quarantine on the movement of Delaware hogs effective immediately, reports Dr. Richard Fowler, extension livestock specialist at the University of Delaware.

However, to provide continued control of hog cholera on Delmarva Peninsula particularly in Delaware - the State Board of Agriculture has adopted a series of hog movement regulations.

Slaughter hogs - those animals going to slaughter directly or through dealers or auction sales - may move freely within the state of Delaware.

Slaughter hogs going to Pennsylvania or New Jersey may also move without restriction. Slaughter hogs being moved to Maryland, however, must be accompanied by a certificate of ownership or a bill of sale unless transported by the owner himself. These animals must also have a yellow paint mark at least three inches square displayed on the back.

The movement of feeder and breeder hogs from farm to farm remains restricted, says Fowler. All feeder and breeder pigs must be inspected by the State Board of Agriculture within five days before they are moved from the farm. These animals may not be moved without a certificate issued by a State Board of Agriculture livestock inspector.

In addition, inspected feeder and breeder pigs may not be transported in trucks containing slaughter hogs. These animals will also be separated from slaughter hogs at all dealer and auction sales.

For further information on the movement of Delaware hogs or for state inspection of feeder and breeder pigs, contact the State Board of Agriculture at 734-5711, extension 452; the University of Delaware's Georgetown Agricultural Substation at 856-2553; or call the state livestock inspector at 934-7564 between 7 and 8 a.m. or 5 and 6 p.m.

Dover, Kent Exempt From Lending Law

The interest that Dover and Kent County charge on overdue taxes doesn't have to be spelled out, according to the new federal truth-in-lending law.

Government - whether city, county, state, or federal - are not covered by the lending statute that went into effect July 1. Therefore that ten percent penalty the city says it will charge you after 90 days if you don't pay your sewer and water bill, and the one percent the county says it will add to your unpaid taxes after Sept. 30 doesn't need to be explained.

The truth-in-lending statute is one of the titles of the Federal Consumer Credit Protection Act, the purpose of which is to assure that every customer who has a need for credit is given meaningful information with respect to the cost of that credit, which must be expressed in the dollar amount of the finance charge. He must also be told that the annual percentage rate to be on the unpaid balance of his credit, so that he can make comparisons of various credit arrangements that may be available.

The act covers a person wanting to make a personal loan, or a loan for agricultural purposes. It also covers credit given one for household purchases.

But there is nothing in the act covering bills sent by cities, counties, or state.

In fact, the law specifically states that public utility bills, regulated by a state, or a "political subdivision thereof" are exempt.

On the county tax bill is printed "After Sept. 30 Penalty of one per cent a month." "We've always had this printed on our tax bills for as long as I can remember," said Receiver of Taxes G. Dorsey Torbert. "We've had very few complaints."

Torbert readily explained the penalty's meaning. "We add one per cent each 30 days to the total tax bill if it remains unpaid. At the end of six months, the bill would be six per cent higher than it was originally."

The ten per cent penalty written on the city's bill is just a one time charge, said city manager Francis P. Neylan.

"It's a quarterly bill, so the ten per cent is added to the next bill that goes out. Each new bill carries the ten per cent charge on the total bill," he said.

4-H Scholarships Earned at Fair

More than 40 Delaware youngsters have been awarded 4-H camp-conference scholarships in state visual presentation competition at the Delaware State Fair.

Individual scholarship winners in the conservation and horticulture demonstrations are Kathy and Andrea Baird, Hockessin. Team horticulture winners are Becky Messick, Greenwood, and Juane Jerread, Harrington.

David Koble, Woodside, swept top honors in individual automotive and tractor presentations. Team winners were Doug Higdon and Norman Voss, both of Townsend.

Individual winners in dairy and livestock demonstrations were Ida Chaffinch, Bridgeville, and Paulette Naumovich, Bear. Nancy and Chris Webb, Goldsboro, Md. and Susan Passmore and Judi Robinson, both of Townsend, were team scholarship winners. Top individual in the sporting animal presentations was Sharon Ryler, Newark. Diane and Marie Alfree, Townsend, were team winners.

Bruce Schepens, Marydel, and Steve Mesibov, Houston, were top individuals in the electricity and safety demonstrations. Entomology individual winner was Jimmy Moore, Milton; Greg Warren, Woodside and Joseph Gibson, Wyoming, were team winners.

Scholarship winners in the home beautification and health presentations were Jane Carnell, New Castle, and Randy Spence, Wilmington. Team winners were Janet Crum and Karen Fuhrmeister, Wilmington, and Rita Messick (Continued on Page 8)

Raceway Opens 62 Night Meeting Here Sept. 5

Stable applications are bulging the files as Harrington Raceway heads for its 24th year of harness racing. The 62 night meeting will feature the "Big E", starting Fri., Sept. 5th.

Director of racing, William "Pete" Shaw, reports that more than 700 stall applications have been received to date.

New this year at the Kent County oval on Route 13 is the "Big E"; an exciting combination of two exactas which can return whopping rewards at the mutual windows.

Nine races are carded for Monday through Thursday. There will be ten races on Friday and Saturday. Six nights of harness racing between September 5 and November 15. The Daily Double, two exactas and the big E will be featured every night with a tenth race bonus exacta on the weekends. Post time is 7:30 p.m.

According to Shaw, the track is in "beautiful condition" as attested by the performance of a two year old colt named Adover Rainbow, in the Delaware State Fair races earlier this month. The Stanley Dancer pacer cut a new Harrington track record for two year old colts in a breezy 2:04 2/5.

Heading into the clubhouse turn, once again, the new all-weather, glass enclosed clubhouse and dining room will feature delicious cuisine and beverages catered by the Harry M. Stevens Co. Special emphasis will be placed on providing an exciting dinner-meeting atmosphere for clubs, organizations and business groups. Party plans, either buffet or regular menu will be available.

In the mutual department, a new (tote) ticket issuing system will allow selling of all three tickets at one window.

The new admissions policy set by the board of directors drops the price to .50 cents for both grandstand and clubhouse. A no pass policy has also been set for the 1969 meeting. All parking fees remain the same; .50 general and .50 preferred.

"Based on the general trend of harness racing in this half of the country we're looking forward to our best year yet," Shaw noted.

Bridgeville Boy Wins Tractor Driving Contest

A 17-year-old Bridgeville youth will represent Delaware in regional 4-H tractor driving competition at the Virginia State Fair in Richmond next month.

Daniel Vanderwende, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Vanderwende, advanced to the 22 state regional event after winning the Delaware state 4-H tractor operators contest at the 50th annual Delaware State Fair.

Vanderwende, who has completed eight years of 4-H work, is a member of the Dublin Hill Yellowjackets 4-H club, has earned two county tractor awards and placed third in the 1968 tractor operators contest. He has also earned county honors in dairying.

Accompanying Vanderwende to Richmond will be a University of Delaware staff "coach." Both will arrive in Richmond on September 22 to participate in a get-acquainted banquet and tour Jamestown, Yorktown and colonial Wil-

U. of D. Receives $3200 Scholarship Grant

The University of Delaware received a $3200 scholarship grant from the Getty Oil Company.

Accepting the gift for the university was Dr. George M. Worriow, vice president for university relations. The presentation was made by Walter J. Harrison, manufacturer's representative at Getty's Delaware City facility. Getty Oil has presented the university a scholarship gift each year since 1960.

The grants are unrestricted except that the company requests that some of the funds be used to aid students in geology.

Wins Contest

The regional tractor operators contest will include a written examination on maintenance and safe operation and a practical maintenance examination. Driving competition includes handling a tractor and wagon on a course designed to represent a farm lot situation.

The Eastern United States 4-H Tractor Operators Contest is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of the participating states and is designed to give 4-H'ers an opportunity to demonstrate their tractor maintenance knowledge and their skill in operation.

Other winners in the Delaware contest include Paul Feucht, Middletown, second; Raymond Baxter, Middletown, third; Dick Wooleyhan, Middletown, fourth; James Harrison, Goldsboro, Md., fifth; David Robinson, Townsend, sixth; Howie Mills, Milford, seventh; Roy Schepens, Maryland, eighth, and Michael Shea, Hartly, ninth.

Spec. Simpler Home On Leave

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Kohn II entertained at a surprise lawn party for Thomas I. Simpler, who is home on leave from the Army at the present time.

Spec. Simpler is presently under orders to go to the Rhine land of Europe. He is due to be discharged from the service next March.

Tommy is a graduate of Harrington High School, class of 1966. He has been a radar technician the last two years. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kohn, John, Rick and David, of Milford; Don and Kathy Neal, of Easton; Mrs. Hester Johnson, Harrington, and Mrs. Maude Halpin, of Milford.

PETERSON NAMED DIRECTOR OF POSTAL REFORM COM.

Gov. Russell W. Peterson has been named a director of the Citizens Committee for Postal Reform.

The Committee is a nationwide, non-partisan organization seeking a complete overhaul of the Post Office Department in the interests of saving tax dollars and streamlining postal service.

Governor Peterson's appointment was announced by former Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien and former Senator Thurston B. Morton, co-chairmen of the Citizens Committee and former national chairmen of the Democratic and Republican parties, respectively.

The postal reform plan advocated by the Citizens Committee would put the Post Office Department on a self-sustaining basis, thus eliminating the $1.2 billion deficit that is now piling up on the taxpayers every year. The Post Office would be set up as a private corporation along the lines of the TVA.

Peterson pointed out that the postal reform plan was proposed by O'Brien when he was Postmaster General in 1967 and has been endorsed by former President Johnson and President Nixon. The Nixon legislation (HR 11750) has bipartisan support and is backed by the Citizens Committee.

"I urge all Delawareans to support complete postal reform as proposed in this legislation and to make their wishes known to their congressmen in Washington," Governor Peterson said.

Specialist Gives Mildew Prevention Facts

A rainy summer is good for greys—and mildew. The grey, musty-smelling mold is especially prevalent this summer even in air conditioned homes, according to Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Mildew attacks fabrics, leather, paper and wood. Molds that cause mildew flourish wherever it's damp, poorly aired and poorly lighted—in cellars, crawl spaces, clothes closets, basement recreation rooms and on damp clothes rolled up for ironing. Fabrics of man-made fibers, such as acetate, nylon and polyester, are normally resistant to molds. But they may become mildewed if they are soiled or stained with food. Clean clothes—of any fiber—are less likely to mildew.

You can help prevent or control mildew by keeping your house well ventilated and dry as possible. A mechanical dehumidifier may be useful, particularly in the

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

As food prices continue to change day by day, week by week, it is most difficult to see them in a long range perspective.

Here briefly is what has been happening elsewhere in our economy.

True, all of the major food groups have higher prices now than they had in 1957-59. That is, all but poultry and eggs; they have been cheaper than in past years. The total prices paid by consumers for a market basket of U.S. farm foods was up about 14 per cent last year from 1957-59 levels. Most of that 14 per cent increase came between 1964 and 68.

What happens to retail food prices depends largely on what happens to prices of goods and services used by the marketing industry. Why? Simply because marketing costs eat up such a large share of the retail food dollar.

Between 1957-59 and 1968, marketing costs rose about 15 per cent—only slightly more than farm prices. But marketing costs accounted for about 2/3 of the increase in the retail cost of a market basket of food.

Labor, particularly, has gotten more and more expensive for the total industry. By 1967, labor costs-per hour—wages, salaries, and fringe benefits of persons engaged in marketing farm food—were 47 per cent higher than in 1950-1957.

Prices of services purchased by marketing firms—such as rent and property insurance—averaged 30 per cent higher in 1967 than a decade earlier.

Prices of new plants and equipment rose 13 per cent.

These costs are continuing to rise. In contrast, however, the price of marketing goods such as packaging materials and electricity remained fairly stable during the 1960's, while railroad freight rates for farm products declined from 1957-59 levels.

Now let's look at food prices as compared to other prices we have to pay. The Consumer Price Index (CPI) measures changes in the price of goods and services bought by consumers. It covers the prices of everything people buy—food, clothing, medical care, and so forth. Between 1957-59 and 1968 according to CPI food prices increased about 14 per cent, and prices paid for restaurant meals increased 35 per cent. Price indexes of consumer services (rent, medical care, transportation fares) have gone up 33 per cent since 1957-59 or about twice as much as retail food prices.

Although food prices have gone up, the real cost of food must be measured against income.

As incomes steadily increase, it takes less working hours to buy more food. The people who are really hurt by this inflation are those who are on a set income—not those who are demanding and getting higher pay.

More Government Control

No one dislikes TV and radio anymore than yours truly. Our reason for the dislike stems from the fact that we are both fighting for the same advertising dollar.

However, the dollar does not seem quite so important when we read with dismay the proposed FCC ruling curtailing the advertising of cigarettes on the above mentioned media.

We know for a fact that advertising does pay and these is no doubt in our mind that the media mentioned must be doing a fair job or the companies wouldn't be spending millions of dollars strictly for tax deductions. We also know that cigarettes are harmful to the body and as medical authorities indicate is probably one of the major causes of lung cancer. With these two statements we are in accord.

However, we cannot believe that the approach to the subject is the one that is justifiable. We are not being far fetched when we make a comparison with the Sunday morning church service. Just what do you think the preacher is doing when he preaches from the pulpit. He is advertising for God. Are we going to allow a commission to rule on just what he can say and when he can say it?

As far as we are concerned, the FCC might be in the right church but they are certainly sitting in the wrong pew.—The Neigh (Neb.) News and Leader

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church News

Calendar for Aug. 15-24

SUNDAY—
9 a.m. Morning prayer with sermon.

TUESDAY—
6:30 p.m. Boy Scouts.

WEDNESDAY—
7:30 p.m. Healing service.

This coming Sunday St. Stephen's is fortunate to have her old friend S. Thomas Pippin to read the office of morning prayer and to deliver the sermon. Mr. Pippin was made an honorary member of St. Stephen's several years ago when he was on the Board of Missions for the Diocese. This honor was conferred on him in recognition for his very active part in helping the new building of St. Stephen's become a reality. Mr. Pippin is at present the head lay reader for the diocese. As such he sees to the supplying of pulpits in the diocese at vacation times and churches where there are vacancies.

Sunday, Aug. 24, it will be the pleasure of the St. Stephen's church family to have C. Albert Whaley, of All Saints' in Delmar. Mr. Whaley has served as a licensed lay reader in the diocese for many years. He will have a vital message for those who come to hear him.

4-H's Join Man's 'Battle Of The Bugs'

Mosquitoes, flies and ants can ruin summer fun with devastating swiftness as many a picnicker, vacationer and housewife knows. An onslaught of insects has destroyed or damaged crops, trees, flowers, livestock and ever homes.

Insects have inhabited the planet Earth for some 500 billion years, and man's battle to control them is still going on. But the 20th century has supplied some very effective weapons: mainly scientific know-how.

Even grade school children through their national science studies now boost insect control. Among them are the 4-H youth engaged in entomology projects. They collect and study insects and pests around their home area. They learn how to control or eradicate them, and how to keep pets or livestock insect free. Safe use of insecticides and pesticides is a common practice.

The 4-H entomology program is nationwide, and has some 70,000 participants according to the Cooperative Extension Service. The program has been sponsored by Hercules Incorporated since 1952, when first launched by the Extension Service.

Incentive awards are offered annually to the young 4-H scientists. They are given at three levels of project evaluation: county, state and national.

A review of some of the best 4-H Entomology projects reported last year, revealed that interests among the teenage bug experts ranged from collecting and classifying lepidoptera (butterflies) to helping local authorities with mosquito control.

As one young man stated: "There's always something new to learn." And for those who never stop learning, Hercules offers some fine rewards in the form of scholarships, educational trips and honor medals.

The 1969 award recipients will consist of an estimated 4,000 county medal winners; 50 delegates to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago with the trip expenses paid; six national champions who will each receive a $600 scholarship. In Chicago, the state and national winners will be guests of Hercules.

To be eligible for either the state or national award, the 4-H member must be over 14 years of age, have completed at least three years of club membership, and specialized in entomology. All award winners are named by the extension service.

On Sun., Aug. 10, a first place trophy was given to Mike Wilson with a score of 152 and second place to Richard Wilson, with a score of 114. Certificates were given to all.

Veterans' News

The GI roll call passed the 27,000,000 mark on Aug. 5.

In announcing the new total of enrollees, the Veterans Administration said that Vietnam veterans discharged to August 4, raised the ledger count to the highest peak in history.

In reviewing the veteran population, Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington VA Regional Office, noted that the average age of all 27 million veterans has increased to 44.3 years.

Broken down by wars, the average age of veterans on the active rolls are: Spanish-American War (6,000 veterans) 90.3 years; World War I (1,647,000 veterans) 74.7 years; World War II (14,592,000 veterans) 49.7 years; Korean Conflict (5,847,000 veterans) 40 years; and Vietnam era (3,169,000 veterans) 26.2 years.

Also on the VA rolls are 3,134,000 who served in the Armed Forces between the Korean Conflict and Vietnam. Their average age is 30.7 years.

The totals above tops 27 million since some veterans served in more than one period.

It is estimated that Delaware veteran population has now reached a peak of almost 72,000:

World War I, 3,000; World War II, 39,000; Korean Conflict, 13,000; Cold War, 9,000. (Those that served between January 31, 1955 and August 4, 1964). Vietnam Era, 8,000.

While most of the nation's veteran population have taken advantage of some rights during the 25 year history of the GI Bill, Mr. Fields pointed out, major participation was four million in education and another 7.5 million for on-the-job training.

Millions, including many of those who received education and training benefits, also have received other benefits such as loan guarantees for purchases of home, businesses and farms, and compensation or pensions.

Mr. Fields also pointed out that Vietnam veterans who did not complete high school have an opportunity veterans of other wars did not, in that the VA will pay them a monthly subsistence while they earn their high school diploma. This does not reduce their entitlement for other educational or training benefits.

Complete information on GI Bill benefits is available at any VA office locations of which are in the white pages of telephone directories.

4-H's Spruce Up Homes, Eye Scholarships

Six teenagers who have improved their home surroundings through their own initiative and efforts will wind up the year richer by a $600 scholarship. They will receive their reward early in December during the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

These young people are 4-H members who will be named 1969 national winners in the 4-H Home Improvement program supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, and supported by the S&H Foundation, Inc. They are fixing up their own homes, or decorating and remodeling to add utility and beauty to the family dwelling.

Last year nearly 188,000 rural and urban 4-H'ers participated from coast to coast. The youngsters generally are between 9 and 19 years old.

They belong to a club or group having a volunteer adult leader competent to advise and teach them the why's and how's of home improvement. The extension service does the overall program planning and project evaluation.

"How-to-do-it" skills taught 4-H'ers should be practical and yet help add beauty to home surroundings which the entire family can appreciate and enjoy," said a 4-H leader. Creativity is encouraged.

Girls put their sewing skills to good use in making curtains, draperies, spreads and wall hangings. Among boys carrying a home improvement project can be found amateur carpenters, painters, and electricians.

Getting the most for the least money, or with no cash outlay at all, are shortcuts to home improvements, the 4-H youths soon learn. Restoring old or discarded items is a favorite hobby that adds value and variety to room furnishings.

Besides county honor medals, the S&H Foundation, Inc. sponsors an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress for one winner per state. From the state champions, six national winners will be selected to receive $600 S & H scholarships. The scholarships may be used at a junior college, vocational school, or 4-year college or university.

1970 College-Bound Students

Vice Admiral Charles K. Duncan, chief of Naval personnel, has announced that the 24th annual national competitive examination for the regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) will be given on December 13.

The regular NROTC program prepares a young man for a Navy or Marine Corps commission while he is studying at one of the many civilian colleges and universities where NROTC United are established. All tuition, fees, uniforms, and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives $50 per month subsistence allowance for not more than four years. During the summer between academic years, the student participates in interesting at-sea training periods as a midshipman. After successfully completing a baccalaureate level college course and all military requirements, he is commissioned in the regular Navy or Marine Corps.

Eligible high school seniors and graduates should submit their applications before Nov. 14. Application forms are available from high school counselors, Chief Petty Officer Edward Sanders, Navy Recruiter, Second Floor, Blue Hen Mall, Dover, or from the Chief of Naval Personnel (Pers-B6411), Department of the Navy Washington, D. C. 20370.

He received an associate degree in business administration technology after successfully completing two years of study at the institution. There were 92 members of the college's first graduating class. Also among the graduates was Donald Martin Duker of Rehoboth Beach, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Kohel, who was awarded the same degree as Michael.

Kohel Awarded Degree

Michael Charles Kohel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kohel, 115 Grant St., Harrington, and husband of the former Miss Phyllis Robinson, graduated from Delaware Technical and Community College, Georgetown, Aug. 10.

Donald is married to the former Miss Cynthia Kohel, of Harrington.

Parents will be notified, prior to opening day, of their child's homeroom number and bus number, if available in time. Felton and Frederica residents, in particular, are welcomed to visit the Chipman Junior School during August if they wish to familiarize themselves and their children with the building.

U. of D. To Add Nine To Faculty In The Fall

The department of languages and literature at the University of Delaware will add nine faculty members to its staff in the fall.

Included in the group are two former Delaware faculty members.

The new faculty are: James C. Davidheiser, assistant professor, German; Mary P. Donaldson - Evans, instructor, French; Betty R. Hursh, instructor, French; Michael A. Keane, assistant professor, French; William McNabb, instructor, German; James M. Sharkey, assistant professor, French; and Daniel Sheerin, assistant professor, classics.

Returning faculty members are Bennett Cole, instructor, Spanish and Anne Williams, instructor, French.

Professor Davidheiser is a graduate of LaSalle College. He received an M.A. from the University of Pittsburgh where he is presently a Ph.D. candidate.

He attended the University of Vienna in Austria for a year and taught English for a year at the University of Mainz in Germany. He was an instructor in German at the University of Pittsburgh last year.

Mrs. Donaldson-Evans received an A.B. in French from Marquette University. In 1968 she received a certificate and a diploma from the Catholic Institute in Paris, France. In 1968 she was awarded an M.A. from the University of Wisconsin where she held a teaching fellowship.

Mrs. Donaldson-Evans studied at the Sorbonne in Paris last summer. Prior to that she had been a bilingual typist for the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, Washington, D. C.

Last year she attended graduate school at the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Hursh is a graduate of Ohio State University where she earned her master's degree in 1966. She studied in France and Switzerland in the summers of 1963 and 1965 and had been a teaching fellow at the University of Pennsylvania before coming to Delaware.

Professor Keane received his B.A. from Saint Peter's College in 1965. He has been attending graduate school at Duke University since then and expects to complete his Ph.D. this summer.

At Duke Keane is an assistant instructor of French. He holds a National Defense Education Act fellowship and a Duke University Scholarship.

McNabb returns to his alma mater where he earned a B.A. in 1965. He did graduate work at the University of Arizona, receiving an M.A. He remained at Arizona for two years as a teaching assistant in German before joining the staff of the University of California at Davis as an associate in German.

U. of D. Names Four New Professors

The University of Delaware has announced four new faculty members in the department of psychology.

New staff members all associate professors, are: Dr. Fred L. Damarin, Jr., Dr. Joseph M. Jaspars, Dr. Saul M. Levin and Dr. Marvin Zuckerman.

Dr. Damarin received an A.B. with honors and a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. As a graduate student he held the Ida Noyes Scholarship for two years and research and teaching assistantships for three years.

In 1953 he served as an intern in clinical psychology at Washington University Medical School in St. Louis, Mo., and in 1955 he was an assistant medical psychologist at the Anderson Hospital in Houston, Tex.

Dr. Damarin spent two years as a research associate and assistant professor at the University of Illinois in Urbana. He has been a research psychologist for the Educational Testing Service since 1960.

A member of numerous professional societies, he is a founding member of the Society of Multivariate Experimental Psychology.

Dr. Jaspars is a native of Holland. He completed his undergraduate studies at the Hendrick van Veldeke College in 1953. He received his Ph.D. in 1961 from the University of Leiden.

He remained at the University of Leiden as a staff member in the Psychologic Institute of Teaching Research. In 1962 he was a visiting fellow at Ohio State University and the University of Illinois.

He returned to the Netherlands in 1963 where he has been a lecturer in social psychology at Leiden. Last year he was a visiting expert in a social science project for the Cape Coast in Ghana.

Dr. Jaspars is a member and past officer in the Netherlands Institute for Psychologists and a member of the Dutch Sociological Organization and the European Association for Experimental Social Psychology.

Dr. Levin holds a B.A. from Swarthmore College and received his Ph.D. in clinical psychology from Duke University in 1959. He received an award from the American Board of Examiners in Professional Psychology in 1968.

Dr. Levin was a postdoctoral fellow in clinical psychology for the U. S. Public Health Service at the University of Minnesota Hospital for a year before joining the staff of the Lafayette Clinic in 1960. He has been chief psychologist there since 1962.

A member of the American Psychological Association, he serves as an associate editor of its journal, The Clinical Psychologist, published by the division of clinical psychology. He is also a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Zuckerman did his undergraduate work at the University of Kentucky and New York University where he received a B.A. from the Washington Square College of Arts and Sciences in 1949. He completed his doctoral requirements at NYU's Graduate School of Arts and Science in 1954.

Dr. Zuckerman was a clinical psychologist at the Norwich (Conn.) Hospital for a year and for two years conducted research and therapy in Indianapolis, Ind. He became a research associate and assistant professor at Indiana University's Medical Center in 1956. After a year as an assistant professor at Brooklyn College he spent a year as an associate professor at Adelphi University.

He comes to Delaware from the Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia where he has been an associate member since 1963. He held a National Institute of Mental Health research grant from 1960 to 1968.

Dr. Zuckerman was recently commissioned by the Congressional Committee for Study of Obscenity and Pornography to review the field of physiological indices of sexual arousal. He is a fellow of the American Psychological Association and a member of the Society for Psychophysiological Research, the American Psychosomatic Society and the Eastern Psychological Association.

Delaware Farm Labor News

State Summary
 Rains curtailed harvest activities to latter part of week. Potato harvesting resumed as workers able to get into fields, but individual or family groups needed to supplement some crews. Harvesting of tomatoes and cucumbers other major activities of seasonal labor at present time. Crop damage caused by heavy rains during July and August cannot be estimated at this time, but 20 to 30% loss to some tomato fields has been reported.

Wilmington Area
 Rains and wet ground prevented potato harvest until the latter part of the week. Some potato crews were picking tomatoes and cucumbers until their own jobs started. Some sweet corn has been lost as fields were wet to let machinery in to cut it. Resumption of the potato harvest put an end to most of the under-employment among crews. Dover Area

Continued rains through the early part of the week greatly reduced, but did not completely stop harvesting of sweet corn, tomatoes, cucumbers, peaches and cabbage. Extent of losses caused by rains is not known at this time. Potato harvesting resumed the last of the week, putting most of the idle crews back to work. Individual workers or family groups are needed to join crews.

Georgetown Area
 Continued heavy showers over the county have caused crop damage and some under-employment in crews for vegetable harvest. Harvest hands picking cucumbers, apples, tomatoes, sweet corn, peaches, watermelons and cantaloupes. Processing plants are processing tomatoes, snap beans and lima beans. Laurel Auction Block reports watermelons have not been seriously affected by heavy rainfall, but quality of cantaloupes has been slightly affected. A few days of sunny dry weather all traces of water will disappear from our sandy fields. 60,000 to 70,000 cantaloupes and 50,000 to 70,000 watermelons expected to be offered daily at the block this week.

We are asked in many ways to get something in the newspaper.

There is the humble approach: "I wonder if this just might possibly be of any news interest to you? If not, just throw it away and we'll try again."

There is the smoothie: "I've watched your paper develop over the years and I know what a keen news sense you have and that is why I know you'll recognize that what I've got for you here is top of the column, black type stuff."

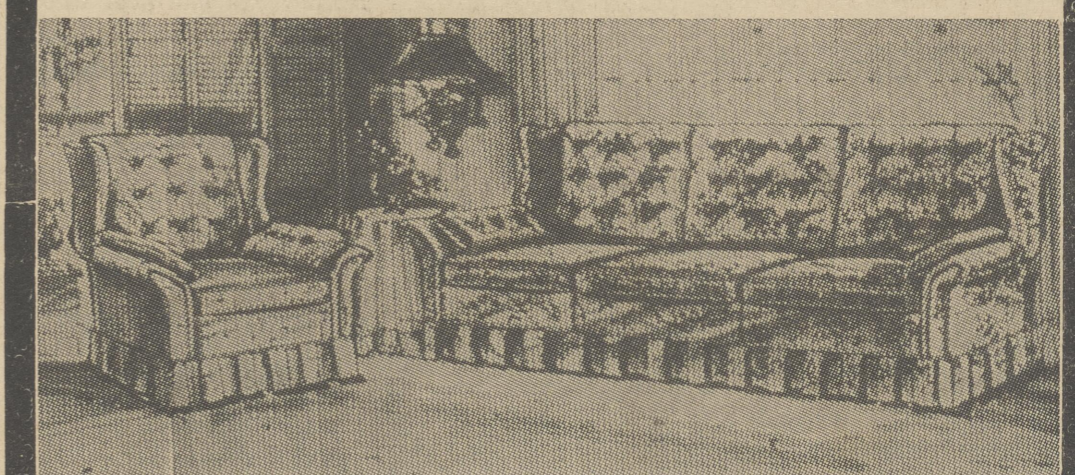

There is public relations uncton at its ooziest: "Consolidated Fobwatch realizes that if it is to be the recipient of the fullest public understanding, it must take the public unreservedly into its confidence. An informed public is a tolerant public. They must be told both the good and the bad, the bitter and the sweet. Therefore, we are sending to you, exclusive in your city, this four page biographical sketch and eight by ten glossy print of our new district manager for the Galapagos Islands."

Then there are the more brusque types: "Print this—and on your lousy front page. And for Charley's sake see if you can't sell at least 50 per cent of the words right for a change."

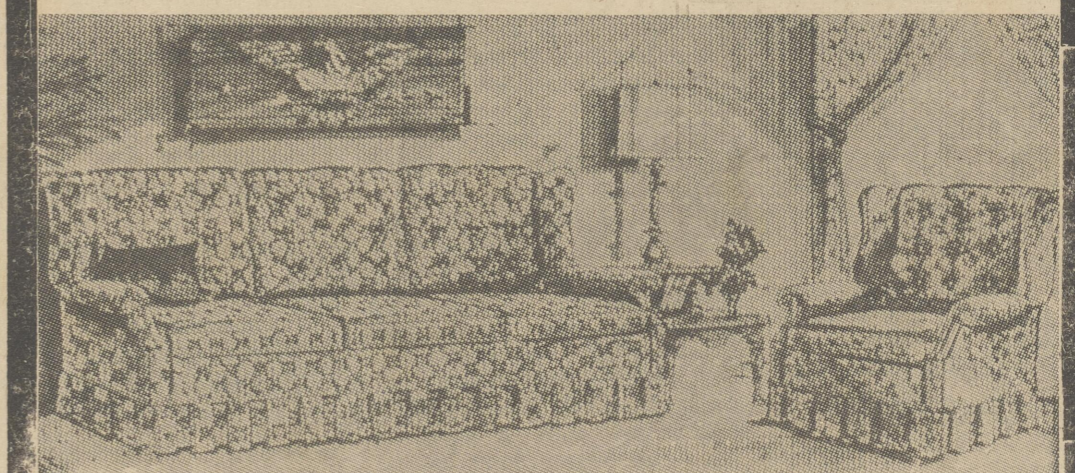

We could list more. But something rather different came on Thursday — not drastically new — just a fresh twist that caught our fancy: "We would appreciate it very much if you would be so kind as to place the attached news release in your paper in order that it may be viewed on the weekend of January 18 and 19."

It left us heady with the vision of thousands of our readers just sitting there looking, looking, looking at The Oak Ridger—satisfied smiles and nods, occasionally. — Oak Ridge (Tenn.) Oak Ridger

with George K. Vapaa

Your county agent may be labeled a traitor for commending Wesley College I owe allegiance to my employer the University of Delaware. But as a dues paying Methodist, there are also ties to our local junior college.

The commendation is for the fine manner by which the Northeast area meeting of Soil Conservation District Supervisors was hosted in Dover. We had over 300 people gathered together for an annual meeting that rotates among the states.

Dean Charles Johnson and his staff provided fine air-conditioned facilities. All meals and events ran off on schedule in spite of continuous showers.

Our visitors learned much about Delaware and our soil and water conservation activities. It was an ideal time to show how effectively our land drainage systems perform.

One tour guide, who mercifully shall be kept nameless, stretched the conservation story a bit by describing one of our distinguished, local businesses on the dual highway as a "vital meat packaging plant." One word of explanation was all that was needed for the visitors - Playtex.

We had a grand demonstration of how well Delawareans work together at this meeting. Our visitors commented that we seem to have active programs rather than mere talk. Some of use pointed out that in a little state like ours there is no time to worry about who gets the credit and there is so much work that we all must pitch in.

We taught them a lesson by example. It seems that the college kitchen staff would have had to work long over-time after the banquet. So we asked our visitors to pitch in and stack dishes on trays after the meal. Not only did they do that, but they helped serve coffee and carried the trays to the dish washing equipment. That made it possible to start the banquet program 15 minutes earlier than planned.

It was a wet Delaware State Fair all the way, but one of the best. I can't remember a more rainy week in the last 30 years for any event in Kent County.

The covered portable stage saved our grandstand shows for the most part. Visitors realized that the acrobatic and animal acts could become too dangerous to attempt. But our name stars drew large audiences and this policy will be continued in future years.

We hope you saw the Extension Service and 4-H exhibits as you came in the main gate. The small fry had a field day in the baby animal tent. Future Farmers helped tots pet and otherwise play with the animals.

The Fair board of directors is especially grateful to WHY-TV or Channel 12 for five days of videotaping. They brought 15 people to Harrington who worked under extremely wet conditions with their electronic equipment. Sid Shaw, the narrator, and Sam Schroeder, the producer, provided the best film coverage of Fair event we have ever had.

Bruce Ferguson, public relations manager for ILC Industries, should also be singled out for recognition. Twenty two plant employees volunteered to man the air supported structure which housed the space suit model. I heard several of them tell the space suit story and they fielded questions with genuine interest and knowledge.

There are all sorts of national security problems, so the exhibit also needed continuous guards. Something happened on the final Saturday night at the Fair and Bruce had to mount guard himself. Then he saw to it that our soil conservation visitors in Dover had a chance to see the space suit by bringing it to that meeting on Sunday. Then on Monday he took it to New York City for a scheduled showing there. Now that is dedication to your job!

Coming Events

The John P. and Lelia A. Wilson descendants will hold a reunion at Wheeler's Park, Harrington Ave. Ext., Sun., Aug. 31, 12:30 to 6.

It Seems To Me

By Janet C. Reed

Hems should be one of the easiest sewing techniques, but after several days of judging garments at the Delaware State Fair, it seems that this technique needs much attention. Possibly when we reach this final step we are too eager to compete the garment.

A good hem should be inconspicuous from the right side of the garment. If the hem is noticeable, consider the method for your fabric. Different fabrics and skirt styles call of different techniques.

As skirt styles change to styles with more flare, a narrower hem is necessary. The more bias or more flared the skirt, the narrower the hem. Some full circle skirts may have only a narrow "Shirt-tail" hem.

The trend is away from using hem tape to cover the raw edge. If the fabric does not ravel, a tape is not necessary. On knits, the tape restricts the natural stretch of the knit. On flared skirts fullness shrinks in easier without the use of tape.

If you have a zig-zag machine, run a zig-zag around the raw edge, shrink out excess fullness and hem with a tailors hemming stitch. A line of straight stitching with the raw edge of fabric pinked also makes a satisfactory finish.

The tailors hem is made by running a loose stitch between the under side of the hem and wrong side of the skirt. Pick up only a thread of the skirt fabric. A small needle will enable you to take a smaller stitch, and the single thread will be less conspicuous than double thread.

If you prefer to use a tape to cover the raw edge, try a bias tape - cotton tape for heavy cottons and rayon for other fabrics. Bias is tricky to handle but gives a neater finish, especially on a flared skirt style.

Shrink the hem fullness to the shape of the skirt, then apply the tape. Place right side of tape to right side of fabric with raw edges together and stitch through the fold nearest the raw edge. Fold the tape up over the raw edge, press lightly and catch the other fold to the skirt with a loose hemming stitch.

A common hemming mistake is to pull the stitches too tight. Even with careful tiny stitches, indentations are visible on the right side. This is especially noticeable on heavy fabrics.

Skirt seam lines in the hem should be lined up with seam lines on the skirt. To avoid this bulky spot, grade or trim the seam to half its width in the hem only.

Distribute hem fullness so that grain lines in the hem correspond to grain lines of skirt. Hem fullness should never be darted in, but a line of machine gathering at the raw edge will enable you to pull up the fullness evenly and then shrink out some of the excess.

Press the hem lightly. A sharp crease at hemline is not in fashion at the moment. A hard press also is likely to show the imprint of hem tape or the raw edge.

Careful attention to hemming technique assumes the hem hangs evenly on you and is an even with all around.

Veterans' News

Leon Fields, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Wilmington, said this week that more than half of the 15,000 Delaware veterans who hold $115,828,000 worth of government life insurance have not yet converted these policies from term to a permanent plan.

In 1968, he pointed out, Delaware veterans paid $1,793,000 in premiums to keep both term and permanent government policies in force.

World War II and Korean Conflict veterans hold most of the term policies, Fields said. Now at an average age of 49.7 years, World War II veterans in Delaware who have not converted their insurance will soon find their National Service Life Insurance premiums going up as a result of advancing age.

Permanent insurance costs more to begin with, but the premium rates for permanent insurance never go up. Permanent policies also have loan, cash-surrender, paid-up and extended insurance values, whereas term policies do not.

Veterans can obtain detailed information about the various government life insurance permanent plans from their nearest VA office, Mr. Fields said.

Rains Encourage Ornamental and Lawn Diseases

Extensive rains combined with hot, humid weather may create an unusually large number of ornamental, vegetable and lawn diseases in Delaware this summer, reports University of Delaware plant pathologist John W. Heuberg.

Among the more common ornamental diseases that may occur in the area are leaf spot and flower blight, he explains. Leaf spot appears as a circular or irregularly shaped dead area within ornamental leaves while flower blight causes annual flowers to droop and die well ahead of schedule.

Proper gardening practice may aid in reducing ornamental disease injury, adds Heuberg. Weeding ornamentals regularly and thinning plants to allow rapid drying after rain is particularly helpful.

To further reduce leaf spot and flower blight problems, spray with Maneb or Zineb fungicides at seven to 10 day intervals, taking care to follow manufacturer's instructions.

A variety of garden vegetable diseases, such as early blight and anthracnose may also appear under current weather conditions. Early blight appears as a leaf spot surrounded by a narrow white area while anthracnose may be recognized as small watery depressions in fruit which later darken and become enlarged.

Again, these diseases may be minimized by observing a regular spray schedule of Maneb at seven day intervals.

Fusarium wilt of tomatoes, potatoes and egg plant is becoming quite prevalent in Delaware this summer, adds Heuberg. The disease manifests itself first as a yellowing and dying of lower leaves. As fusarium wilt progresses, it effects the younger upper leaves. Although some vegetable varieties are more resistant to the disease than others, there is no chemical control for fusarium wilt.

In lawns, conditions are excellent for slime molds, mushrooms, toadstools and dollar spot.

Again, proper cultural practices may reduce these problems. Mow grass frequently at one and a half to two inches taking care not to remove more than one-third of the leaf area. Remove all lawn clippings immediately.

To further reduce lawn diseases, spray with Dyrene, Triazine, or Kemate at 10 to 14 day intervals.

Kent County Family Court

Judge Kelsey presiding

August 1 through August 8 11 juveniles appeared before the court on a total of 13 motor vehicle violations. They were ordered to pay fines and costs on 11 of the charges and two were dismissed for failure of the arresting officer to appear and prosecute the respective cases before the court.

One juvenile appeared before the court charged with reckless driving and failing to stop on the command of a police officer. After hearing the evidence presented, the court dismissed the charge of reckless driving inasmuch as the elements of reckless driving were combined in the charge of failing to stop on the command of a police officer. In regard to the second charge, the court did find him to be guilty as charged and ordered that he pay the court costs and a fine of $200 and that his license be suspended for a period of one year.

One juvenile from Clayton who has been in the custody of the State Department of Public Welfare appeared before the court charged with petit larceny after her had gone to the home of a resident of the town of Clayton asking for donations for his church and stolen the woman's purse. After hearing the evidence and considering the very lengthy prior record of said juvenile, the court ordered that he be re-committed to Ferris School for Boys with the possibility that he be soon admitted to Governor Bacon Health Center, Delaware City.

Five men appeared before the court charged with failing to support their families. The court entered orders of support against three of said men, one was continued for a hearing at a later date, and the other was dismissed when the wife requested to withdraw the complaint in that she and her husband had reconciled and he had been voluntarily supporting the family.

One juvenile appeared charged with being incorrigible in his home in that he had left his home and had been away for a total of approximately three weeks. After hearing the evidence from the father of the juvenile and the juvenile, the court ordered that he be placed on probation to the court for a period of at least six months.

Two juveniles appeared before the court charged with petit larceny after having been caught trying to steal gasoline from an area under construction. After hearing the evidence, the court ordered that each pay the court costs and a fine of $25.

One juvenile appeared before the court charged with being a runaway and after reviewing her prior record before the court, it was ordered that she be committed to Woodshaven-Kruse School for Girls, suspended this sentence of detention, and she was placed on probation to this court for an indefinite period of time.

Petitions were before the court concerning custody of 15 minor children. After each respective hearing, custody of nine was awarded unto the mother and custody of six was awarded unto the State Department of Public Welfare.

Jesse Justis and Gertrude Murray appeared in court charged with inflicting unjustifiable pain and suffering upon Mrs. Murray's minor daughter, 17 years of age. After hearing considerable testimony, the court found Mr. Justis not guilty as charged but did find Mrs. Murray to be guilty and ordered that she pay the cost of prosecution and a fine of $100 and be committed to the State Board of Corrections for 30 days, the sentence of incarceration being suspended.

Louise Wyatt, Harrington, was before the court charged with neglect of her four minor children. After hearing evidence presented by the State Department of Public Welfare and the Harrington Police Department, and after hearing evidence presented by Mrs. Wyatt and her witnesses, the court did find her guilty as charged and ordered that she pay the court costs and be committed to the State Board of Corrections for thirty days, the sentence of incarceration suspended.

Delegates Attend AIC Conference

Six Delaware 4-H members and a young farm couple have been selected as delegates to the American Institute of Cooperation, the national educational organization for farmers cooperatives.

Seventeen - year-old Joy Gooden, Wyoming; John Comesys, 18, Hartly; Portia Chaffinch, 15, Bridgeville; 17-year-old Susan Comesys, Hartly; Robert Horsey, 17, Laurel; and 16-year-old Nancy Webb, Goldsboro, Md., are representing Delaware youth at the conference.

A young farm couple, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Abbott, Bridgeville, are also serving as delegates.

Accompanying the group is Robert Lawson, vocational agriculture instructor at Milford High School. The group is being sponsored by the Delaware Council of Farm Cooperatives.

Delegates to the conference are participating in a series of leadership training meetings and discussion sessions, meeting a variety of agribusiness, cooperative and government leaders and studying the decision making process.

These meetings offer young people a unique opportunity to learn more about farm business organizations and recent farm cooperative developments, observes Delaware Council of Farm Cooperatives youth committee chairman Ray Lloyd.

In preparation for the conference, delegates toured six Delaware farm cooperatives offering a variety of marketing, production and credit services.

Delaware delegates are among the more than 1,000 rural youngsters and young farmers attending the three-day meeting at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana.

Guard Won't Stand by Waiting For Disorders

The Peterson administration will not keep National Guard members on duty in armories or schools waiting for a civil disturbance to occur, air guardsmen attending a refresher course were told Sunday.

Herman C. Brown of Dover, one of Gov. Russell W. Peterson's military attaches, told the guard members in the old William Penn School, New Castle, that they would be activated immediately if needed in a disturbance but would not stand by and wait for one. The guard is primarily an auxiliary of the U.S. Army, not to local law enforcement agencies, he said.

The speech, delivered for Peterson, was an elaboration on the policies the governor set down at the outset of his administration when he needed National Guard patrols in Wilmington.

The patrols had been continued by former Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr. after disturbances in Wilmington in April 1968.

Senior Center News

Apologies are due Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kemp, who aided at the Centers' display at the fair, but whose names were unintentionally omitted from the list of helpers published last week.

The center will open next week, August 18 with Mrs. Catherine Errigo, assistant director, in charge of the activities. Come, bring sewing, knitting, embroidery, and ideas for new projects.

As a reminder, those members going to Rehoboth will leave the Center by bus on Sun., Aug. 24, at 1:45 p.m. Transportation to the center will be provided.

New Film Available At Film Library

"Tell Me Where to Turn" is the title of a new Public Affairs Committee, Inc. film which is available at the Film Library, State Board of Health, Dover. (Phone 734-5711, ext. 436)

It is a 26 1/2 minute, 16mm film in color, giving information on the value of information and referral services - and is of particular interest to health and social welfare staff, volunteers and boards. Other suggested audiences are: physicians, nurses, psychologists, civic and community organizations, church and service groups, business and labor leaders.

This motivational film seeks to create interest in setting up an information and referral service in a community, and in promoting effective use of an existing service. Because it is dramatic and emotionally appealing, it can stimulate public support for such a service. At the same time, its depiction of the role of a social worker in an Information and Referral Service also makes the film effective with audiences of professional health and welfare workers.

The film shows vignettes of seven people who need help but who are afraid of asking, or who fail to ask for the right thing at the right place.

John McCloskey, Big League Batting King

John McCloskey, former Felton High athlete, won the batting title of the District I Big League with a gaudy .500 average.

John was out for part of the season because of an appendectomy, but returned in time to get 14 basehits. Only four Big Leaguers, most of whom played all season, got more.

Farmington's Robin Breeding was runnerup with .489 and led in hits with 22, for Woodbridge.

Harrington's Mike Fisher hit a fine .346. Gene Palmer did a good job with .286.

Mike Breeding of Woodbridge, the second half of the 1-2 punch laced the horsehide at a .333 clip.

Bob Wyatt, of Harrington was tough at the dish with .283, a home run and 7 RBI's.

Wyatt was the top moundsman for the locals with a 3-1 mark. He averaged a strikeout per inning.

Harold Jump had a 2-2 mark and fanned 30 rivals in 22 innings.

Mike Fisher had a 2-3 record but pitched better than that. Fisher gave up only 22 hits in 36 innings and fanned 38 batters.

Scott Baker, of Woodbridge led in innings pitched (53) and strikeouts (66).

Harrington Beats Milford In Sr. League Play

Harrington's Senior League pennant winner Hi-Ki edged Milford 5-4 in the District I Senior Little League Tournament of Champions but forfeited to Middletown, later.

Mike Trotta struck out ten and gave up four hits in picking up the victory. Loser Dennis Silicato yielded three safeties.

Felton's Little Leaguers Trip Harrington, 5-1

Felton's entry in the Little League Tournament of Champions eliminated Harrington by a score of 5-1.

Harrington, represented by the Moose nine, did well at the plate getting five hits off Rusty Dill, a pitcher who held the Dover Little League All-Stars to two hits, one of which was questionable.

Rick Mosley held the winners to four hits.

Bryan Pearson Shatters Throw Mark In Wilmington

Two weeks ago, Mike Price, of Harrington, set a new mark in the softball throw for boys aged nine or younger, in a track meet held at Wilmington's Baynard Stadium. Mike's mark was 122 feet, 2 1/4 inches. He is now ten years old and ineligible for any more competition in the softball event.

Bryan Pearson was nine years old only last month, but is a husky lad somewhat larger than Price. He entered the softball throw last Thursday night and was told by the Wilmington lad who came in second to Mike Price, two weeks earlier "You have no chance. I have first place cinched." Pearson then hurled the softball 143 feet, 11 inches to shatter the old record and effectively silence the upstart.

In the Delaware Junior Olympics Championship meet, the winning throw in the 11-year-old age group was only 7 1/4 feet further than Pearson's toss last Thursday night. Bryan can compete in this 9-and-under group for half of next summer's competition and may put that record out of reach for a long time.

Billy Leonard, a recent sprint neophyte, is a fine prospect. In practice, this youngster ran a fine 7.3 50 yard dash and an excellent 36 second 220 yard dash.

Because his tenth birthday is in August, he was able to compete just once in the 9-and-under group in Wilmington. A slight muscle strain slowed him to 7.7 seconds and a third place finish in the 50 yard dash. The winner did 7.5, slower than Leonard's practice clocking. Bryan Pearson was fourth.

Leonard was third in the softball throw, so came home from his first track meet with two nice trophies. We predict that Pearson and Leonard will both have a good collection of awards, someday.

In Harrington, "Lower Delaware's Running Town" it has become commonplace for parents to buy or build trophy cases, to house the rewards of offspring, talented in track and field.

Mike Smith is 11 years old and is fast with feet and lip.

At Newark, earlier this year, he finished second to his fleet older brother, Tony, in a 50 yard dash. Mike was told he would get his award "when they come in." He didn't get it at all.

At De La Warr High, he was second again but the judges didn't see him. No award.

At Baynard Stadium, three weeks ago, he was neck-and-neck with two Wilmington boys for second place. He didn't get second or even third. Again, no award.

Last Thursday, Mike won his trial heat in 7.3, then blazed the final in 7.1, to nip a New Jersey runner for all the marbles. Now he has the start of his collection, a handsome engraved plaque, at long last. And win or lose he's still talking.

Mike later won his trial heat in the 440 yard run in a good 76 seconds flat, followed by Harringtonians, Don Baynard and Levin Scott in second and third.

Baynard does a good job in short races (fourth in the 50 in 7.3) but is an outstanding prospect as a long distance runner. At ten years of age last fall, he had a practice run over a 2.3 miles cross-country course, that was faster than several of the high school harrier's times.

Minor League All-Stars Beats Little League

Wednesday night at the Moose diamond saw a large crowd on hand for the Minor League All-Stars versus the remnants of the Little League squads tilt. Out in full force were the managers and coaches of the Little League teams, who were mentally scouting next year's prospects in the Little League.

Representing the Little League were boys from the two new entries into the league this year, coached by Bob Price, with Leslie Wix assisting.

Eugene Porter headed the coaching staff for the All-Stars as they handled their older counterparts, very effectively, winning a closely contested battle by a score of 16-14.

The hitting power of the All-Stars was enough to make any baseball scout drool, as they had an 11-3 edge over their opponents.

Heading the list of many fine baseball prospects, was Jimmy Carroll, who, not only was the winning pitcher, but won his own ball game by smashing a triple into right center field to drive in the winning runs. Carroll went three-for-four at the plate, with 2 triples and a single. T. Christopher, who was the starting pitcher, also looked very well on the mound, had two singles in three-at-bats. Jones came through with a triple, with D. Vincent getting a nice double and M. Benson, G. Vincent, J. McGinty, and P. Miller, rounding out the hitting attack with a hit apiece. Carroll and Benson scored three runs, with Christopher, Miller and J. McGinty each accounted for two runs.

B. Pearson and D. Baynard shared the mound duties for the Little League, with Baynard being tagged for the loss. Wix, Wheeler and Motter had a single hit apiece off the stingy All-Stars hurlers, to pace the hitting attack for the Little League. Fine base running by the boys enabled them to keep up the pace with the winners.

In the second contest of the night, the coaches and managers of all teams in the Little League Association here, played the Senior League All-Stars and showed the youngsters what the game was all about.

The elder players put on a fine exhibition of ball playing that showed the youngsters that they knew what they were talking about all season, by downing the All-Stars Wednesday night.

Taking the fearsome responsibility for base-umpiring were two members of the fairer sex, who showed they could hold their own against any kind of pressure.

Little League Open Meeting

On Wed., Aug. 27, there will be an open meeting of the Little League organization at the local fire hall at 7:30 p.m. All interested persons are urged to attend. There will be an election of officers and a board of directors will be named.

es have had ties. In the early 19th Century the Parson Thorne Mansion was the home of the James Clayton family. His son, John M. Clayton, is perhaps the most internationally well-known Delawarean ever. He was a United States Senator at the age of 32, Chief Justice of Delaware, and is one of the two Delawareans represented in Statuary Hall in Congress. While Secretary of State under President Zachary Taylor, he negotiated the Clayton-Bulver Treaty which brought an end to hostilities between Great Britain and the United States over the neutrality of a canal to be built in Central America.

John's sister, Hariett, married Walter Douglass, the owner of Mordington. Legend says that John frequently would walk from Dover (where he practiced law) to Mordington to visit with the Douglass family, and then continue on foot to Milford to see his widowed mother. The Clayton parents are buried in the family graveyard at Silver Hill.

Among the gifts to the Milford Historical Society are a piano (circa 1820) and a china tea service which were used at Mordington by Charles Kimmey when he owned the house in 1830. They were given to the Society by Mrs. Allison Kimmey, and are currently on display in the Parson Thorne Mansion.

Mordington is generally acknowledged to be lower Delaware's most elegant private historic home. It sits high on a tree-shaded knoll facing McCauley's Pond on Canterbury Road near Milford. It is furnished with many fine antiques including a desk attributed to Duncan Phyffe.

Tickets for this event are $2 per person and are available in Harrington from Mrs. Vincent Lobo or Clendening's Pharmacy.

If there is heavy rainfall, the garden party will be postponed until 4 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 23. Light showers or rain early in the day will not be sufficient to postpone this event.

Since alcoholic beverages will be served, persons under 21 will not be admitted.

venir class rings for their assistance in the initiation and development of the college.

About 750 guests witnessed the commencement exercises held in the Student Center of the Delaware Technical and Community College at Georgetown. The 92 graduates wore green and gold hoods, the college colors. Dr. William C. Kay, chairman of the Board of Trustees, conferred degrees and gave the special awards. Paul K. Weatherly, executive director of Delaware Tech gave special greetings.

The college, opened in September, 1967, has been operating for two years with twelve two-year technology programs, a general and related studies division, and a "parallel program" or the first two years of the Baccalaureate degree offered in conjunction with the University of Delaware.
