

Growers Urged To Study '70 Wheat Program

Kent county farmers who will soon be planting their 1970 wheat crop should consider carefully the diversion features of the 1970 wheat program before they plant, according to J. Hayman Roosa, chairman of the Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

"Producers should take a good look at one of the program's key features—the provision that allows them to divert up to 50% of their wheat allotment to a conserving use and still earn diversion payments," the chairman emphasized.

This provision, which provides for a diversion payment based on 50% of the county loan rate times the farmer's projected yield, is aimed at avoiding production of 80 to 90 million bushels of unneeded wheat.

In view of mounting wheat surpluses in the world's major exporting nations because of large wheat crops in recent years, the U.S. cannot afford to continue producing excessive quantities of wheat, Mr. Roosa said.

"It seems to me this extra diversion provision again, in the 1970 program, is a good way for our farmers to make a contribution to improving the wheat situation and still maintain their income," the chairman said.

Signing up for the 1970 program will be announced later. However, some program information is now available at the Kent County ASCS office.

John Abbott Quits Wholesale Business

John F. Abbott Jr., said Saturday he was discontinuing his wholesale fruit and vegetable business as of that day.

Abbott, who started in the business with his father about 40 years ago, explained he was getting out of the business because of difficulty in hiring help. He added he had tried to sell the business but the deals had fallen thru.

He is an extensive landowner and a member of the State Public Service Commission.

Milford Dedicates New Hospital Wing

The new wing of the Milford Memorial Hospital will be officially dedicated Friday, October 10 in a ceremony to be held on the hospital grounds beginning at 4 p.m. It was announced today by Joseph B. Ahlschier, administrator, Governor Russell W. Peterson will be principal speaker at the occasion.

Entertainment will be supplied by the 21st Air Force Band, which will be bussed in from McGuire Field, N.J.

Among the invited guests will be leading government officials, hospital benefactors, staff and administrators, and the general public. A bandstand will be erected on the lawn opposite the new building and chairs will be provided for the public and invited guests. Immediately following the dedication, all visitors will be escorted on a tour of the hospital's new facilities.

The dedication of the new wing marks the completion of the first phase of a three-phase construction program designed to insure the hospital's capacity to maintain pace with the community's growth. The over-all program is expected to take twenty years.

Some of the world's most advanced and sophisticated medical equipment and techniques have been incorporated in the new wing. Expanded areas include the physical and inhalation therapy departments, laboratory, x-ray, central service and pharmacy divisions. By moving these hospital functions to the new quarters, the old building will be able to accommodate a larger, improved emergency room as well as a more spacious and efficient medical department, record room and library section. Ultimately, Milford Memorial Hospital is expected to expand into a facility with a 1885-bed capacity.

Millers Observe 60th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W. Cliff Miller of Paradise Road journeyed to New Brunswick, N.J., last weekend to celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary with their son. They were married at Blairsville, Pa. (Mr.

Miller's home town) Sept. 22, 1909, have three children, Clifford Jr. of New Jersey; Eileen Black of Philadelphia, and Betty Clarke of Paradise Alley Road; eight grandchildren and eleven great-grand.

Miller resided here on Delaware Ave. before retirement from the railroad after fifty years of service, then built his home on Paradise Pastures farm north of town.

Show What You Grow

Are your flowers the best ever this year? Want a chance to show the world—brag a little?

Here is your opportunity to bring home the ribbons. Enter the horticultural division at the Delaware Flower Show, it's scheduled for October 4, 5 and 6 at the University of Delaware fieldhouse on Route 896.

Before you decide on your entries, read the schedule of classes to know what's required. For instance, hybrid tea roses call for one bloom per class, while large merrillids required three blooms of one variety and cushion mums must have one spray of at least five blooms. It's frustrating to arrive at the show with only one gorgeous bloom and find it won't fit in any class.

Choose your exhibits carefully, says David Tatnall, extension ornamental horticulturist at the University of Delaware. Pick fresh, well-formed blossoms at the peak of perfection—not those beginning to fade slightly.

Lead Poisoning

During the summer, there have been several reports of lead poisoning in children in this state. In almost every case, the children in question had been pre-schoolers who bit or chewed wooden objects (windowsills or baby cribs) covered with lead based paint.

These children have somehow managed to come in contact with old or cheap paint as such lead containing material is and has been illegal for some time. Parents of children who habitually chew on painted objects should be alerted to the consequences and take steps to keep potentially dangerous non-food items out of their children's reach.

If any question arises as to suspected lead base paint, they may contact the local health unit of the Delaware State Board of Health. Board of Health personnel will make arrangements to test for lead content and advise further steps to eliminate this potential health problem.

Local Citizens Help Senior Citizens

At the last meeting of the Board of Directors of the Senior Center of Harrington, it was decided to hold a chicken and dumpling supper to help raise funds to reach the goal of the Senior Center building fund. The Center has purchased a dwelling on Fleming Street to be used as permanent headquarters. The building drive will be a means of paying for the house. To date many local organizations have generously contributed to this worthy cause. Donations of any size from organizations or individuals will be greatly appreciated.

At least by buying a ticket to the chicken and dumpling supper, an effort will be made to support this fund. A full menu of chicken, dumplings, potatoes, dressing, applesauce, cole slaw, etc., will be offered family style on Friday, Oct. 24, from 4 until 8 o'clock.

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Mr. Gleason at the Center—398-3908.

The dinner will be served at the Asbury United Methodist Church.

ASC County Committees Election Set

The county convention where farmer-chosen delegates will elect farmers to fill vacancies on the Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee will be held on Wednesday, October 1, beginning at 1 p.m., at the county ASCS office according to J. Heyman Roosa, chairman, county ASC committee.

The convention will be open to the public. Any person interested in observing the voting procedure may attend. However, only farmer-delegates to the convention may participate in the election process. The election will be by secret ballot.

County committeemen are elected for 3-year staggered terms, and the service of each county committeeman is limited to three consecutive terms, Chairman Roosa said. First and second alternate committeemen are also elected, each for a 1-year term.

Eligibility to vote or hold office as a committeeman is not restricted by reason of sex, race, color, religion or national origin, the chairman emphasized, and he added that other details as to qualifications of candidates are available at the county ASCS office.

Chairman Roosa urged all ASC farmer-delegates to be sure to attend the county convention. The delegates were automatically chosen as convention delegates when they were elected recently by their farmer-neighbors to serve as community ASC committeemen for the coming year.

"Be a Hero" - Give Your "Fair Share"

With this slogan, the Bi-County United Fund will kick-off their 1969 campaign on Monday, September 29th, according to the Harrington area chairman, Howard Wagner.

The goal this year is $18,750, which is a 10% increase over last year's dollars contributed. The "fair share" gift is set at $15 to support eleven member agencies.

Chairman Wagner reported his campaign committee is prepared and ready to go on Monday. The volunteers who are serving as division chairmen are: Ed Taylor, corporate division; Tom Peck, professional; Millard Cooper, professional; Sam Short, retired; Linda Walmsley, personal; Louise Burgess, school division; and Catherine Derrickson, government.

Wagner said it is important to remember the contributor is supporting the services of 11 United Fund member agencies and that this one campaign has replaced 11 separate campaigns of the past; so hopefully the contributor's gift will be 11 times that which he would have normally given one of these agencies.

Chairman Wagner also pointed out the benefits of contributing to the United Fund are manifold. By depending largely on local industry and businesses for their support in soliciting their employees and with the use of the payroll deduction plan, the United Fund does not solicit contributions from door-to-door. Another advantage the solicitor has, if he so desires, he can designate his contribution to the agency or agencies of his choice by simply marking his pledge card. And if a person lives in another United Fund area but is employed in Harrington, he may designate his gift to the United Fund he wishes. Another advantage, if the contributor wishes to pledge a gift, he may choose to be billed directly either monthly, quarterly or semi-annually during 1970.

Mr. Wagner is hopeful the campaign will be a success. Last year the Bi-County United Fund was the first to reach their goal in the entire state of Delaware. It is the aim of the campaign committee to do the same again this year. The Bi-County United Fund area covers Harrington, Greenwood, Houston, Ellendale, Lincoln, and Milford. The eleven member agencies are: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Children's Bureau, Mental Health Assn., Del. Assn. for Retarded Children, Del. Wheels for the Handicapped, Catholic Social Services, Del. Chapter of Red Cross, Salvation Army, U.S.O., and Harrington Senior Center.

Donald Derrickson was readmitted to the Kent General Hospital, Dover, Thursday where he was to undergo major surgery.

Lake Forest Board of Ed. Minutes

The minutes of the Board of Education of Lake Forest School District held in the W. T. Chipman Band Room, Monday evening, September 15, are as follows:

William Myers Jr., of Felton appeared before the board requesting junior firemen be excused to attend 2-alarm fires. After much discussion, the board approved junior volunteer firemen participating in fire fighting in the cases of dire necessity, pending administrative approval of the State Board and the Attorney General.

Mr. Sizemore reviewed the transportation situation in the district. The Board voted to give Mr. Sizemore a hearty vote of thanks for the good job he had done in spite of adversity. The administration was asked to appoint an overseer of transportation. It was regularly moved, seconded and approved that any use of the buildings or grounds by outside organizations should be referred and approved by the central office.

Financial statements were reviewed and accepted as presented. The All-Rite Garbage Company of Felton was hired to remove garbage for the district.

The Board accepted the bid of Audio-Video, Ltd. of Wilmington to install an inter-communication system at Lake Forest North Elementary School of $6,900, rejecting a lower bid of $6,471 from General Sound, Inc. of Philadelphia. The reason for this decision was to avoid having three different inter-communication systems in the district, and to reduce transportation costs and time by selecting the vendor closer to our school district, and able to service the Rauland Inter-communication System already installed in Lake Forest High School. All bids were rejected for blacktopping at Lake Forest High School because of the Traffic Increased On Memorial Bridge

Modification to one-way traffic on the original span of the Delaware Memorial Bridge is proceeding according to schedule, it was announced by William J. Miller Jr., director, at the regular meeting of the Authority on the 16th.

Concrete work is completed except at those locations adjacent to expansion joints in the vicinity of the anchors and towers, he said, and if delivery dates on steel are made according to contract, work will be completed by the original target date of February 1, 1970.

Commissioners also heard that new records in total traffic, total revenue and total weekend traffic were set in August by the Delaware Memorial Bridge. Traffic for the weekend of August 15, 16, and 17 was 206,440 compared to a previous high weekend of 203,872.

Traffic on the bridge increased 28,725 vehicles over August, 1968, 1,827,690 compared to 1,798,964, an increase of 1.6 per cent.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

An apple a day is not likely to keep the doctor away, but it is tasty and nutritious, comes in attractive fall colors, can be kept for long periods without refrigeration, doesn't need special packaging and will be in plentiful supply in October. Prices should be low.

Apples are one of the three fruits on the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture's list of October plentiful. The list also contains two vegetables, a grain, and a meat. The other two fruits are fresh pears and canned peaches. The vegetables are potatoes and dry split peas. Rice is the one grain. For the meat there is broiler fryers.

Each variety of the versatile apple—fragrant winesap, juicy Stayman, tart Northern Spy—has its own appeal. This makes a pleasant low calorie snack or dessert, and can lend flavor to the main course, salad, bread or dessert.

Here are a few pointers to bear in mind when buying apples. Select those that are firm, crisp, clean and well-colored for their variety. Good flavor is most desirable, yet flavor is a variable characteristic which is also greatly influenced by the stage of maturity at which the fruit is picked and the conditions under which it is kept.

Immature apples often lack color, are usually poor in flavor, and sometimes have a shriveled appearance after having been held in storage. Overripe apples yield to slight pressure, and the flesh is usually soft, mealy, and lacking in flavor. Larger apples are more likely to be overripe than small or medium-size fruits, particularly toward the end of the season for the variety.

One more tip about apples: warm temperatures hasten the ripening process and cause apples to lose their crispness and tangy flavor very rapidly. If you keep reserve supplies in the refrigerator or some equally cool spot they will be at their best when you are ready to use them.

Which apple should you buy? Among the many varieties favored as fresh fruit to eat out of hand, the most commonly available are Delicious, McIntosh, Stayman, Jonathan, Winesap, and Golden Delicious. Most dessert varieties are also satisfactory for cooking purposes. Tart or slightly acid varieties such as Yellow Transparent, Gravenstein, Lady and Albemarle Peppin are favored by many people for pies and other specific purposes. Rome Beauty, Rhode Island Greening and Northern Spy are all excellent for baking. For freezing choose Cortland, Golden Delicious, Rome Beauty or Winesap apples since all freeze very well and the flavor remains excellent when defrosted.

Board of Health News

A limited supply of the newly licensed rubella vaccine has been received by the Delaware State Board of Health.

Richard Gunn, a public health adviser with the Division of Health Maintenance and Immunization, said the new vaccine will be given to pre-school and primary grade children throughout the state. Children in these age groups are most susceptible to the German measles.

Parental permission is required for the vaccination, which is needed by all children. There is almost no natural immunity in children of this age.

Rubella, if caught by a pregnant woman, can cause serious birth defects in the baby. The primary purpose of the immunization campaign this year is to prevent children from bringing the disease home to pregnant mothers.

County health officers have begun the rubella vaccination program with children in Day Care Centers. When this phase is completed, the vaccine will be made available to Head Start and kindergarten children. If additional supplies of the vaccine are made available, the program will be expected to include children in the primary grades.

After years of research, the National Institute of Health granted a license on June 9 to the Merck, Sharpe & Dohne Company for production of the vaccine. It was the first such license granted in this country.

Approval of the vaccine came at a crucial time, because public health officials are predicting a possible epidemic of the disease in 1970.

Two other drug companies have requested production licenses. If the licenses are granted, health officials say, a more adequate supply will be available.

Veterans' News

A 22% gain in GI Bill enrollments is expected this fall, according to Leon Fields, the manager of the Veterans Administration Regional office at Wilmington.

A 1969 peak fall enrollment of 635,000 veterans was forecast by Mr. Fields, who noted that the total was 5520,5524 last fall and 330,037 in 1967.

1100 of the 635,000 veterans expected to take advantage of the education and training provisions of the GI Bill this fall were in Delaware.

In addition, some 50,000 men in service will be going to school this fall under the GI Bill. This compares to 26,283 in 1968 and 22,8847 in 1967.

Of the over-all estimate of 635,000 (635,000 veterans and 550,000 servicemen) for 1969 peak enrollment, 1400 are in Delaware.

This fall's enrollment will bring to 1,600,000 the number of veterans and servicemen who have enrolled since education provisions of the newest GI Bill went into effect June 1, 1966.

Of the 370,000 veterans expected to attend institutions of higher learning this fall (70,000 more than for a like period in 1968), 700 are in Delaware.

Another 205,000 (250 in Delaware) are expected to be enrolled in schools below college level and 60,000 (150 in Delaware) in on-the-job training —37,000 more than for last year.

While men in service do not take on-the-job training under the GI Bill, Mr. Fields said that 8,000 of them will enroll in colleges and another 442,000 in education programs below the college level.

To be eligible for VA educational assistance veterans must have had at least 181 days of continuous service, part of it after January 31, 1955, while a serviceman must have completed at least two consecutive years of active duty.

Mr. Fields urged veterans entering training for the first time or changing schools or programs this fall to apply immediately to the VA for a certificate of eligibility to avoid delays in payment of allowances.

Poems from Paradise Pastures
 By W. Cliff Miller

TO MY WIFE ON OUR 60th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

It isn't that we talk so much,
 Sometimes the evening through;
 You need not say a word to me,
 My thoughts go forth to you.

I sit beside the reading lamp,
 You like your easy chair;
 And it is joy enough for me,
 To know that you are there.

It isn't that we go so much,
 Sometimes we like to roam;
 To friends in Pennsylvania,
 But best of all is home.

I write a bit or read aloud,
 Something we want to share;
 And it is joy enough for me,
 To know that you are there.

It isn't that you tell to me,
 The things I've come to know;
 It goes too deep for words, I think,
 The fact you love me so.

You only have to touch my hand,
 To know how much I care;
 And it is joy enough for me,
 To know you're always there.

"A Dream Come True"
 As most of you know Walt and I were reared near Harrington, and even though in those years, we did not know one another we later found we shared a lot in common.

One thing being a desire to see Billings, Montana, and Cheyenne, Wyoming. Why? I'm sure most of you folks in our age group and many older remember a "Hobo" who spent his winters in Delaware, working in and around Masten's Corner and Hollandsville for farmers. His name was "Ray Mut" His summers were spent in Montana and Wyoming. There at age 41, he was struck by lightning and died as he lived, by nature.

Many nights we have heard him describe Montana and Wyoming. He always said that there was no excuse to be dirty, for water was free. He would wash his clothes in a river and hang them on a tree while he slept. Well, we saw those rivers which accompany the roads and run along the mountains, you cross them by a bridge, and then lose them and soon they appear again.

We recently returned from a trip across Montana, to Mt. Rushmore, South Dakota, and down to Cheyenne. We had one of those great steak dinners "Mut" talked about. It was delicious. Yes, "Mut" as people called him, description didn't do it justice for it truly is beautiful country side.

Was so much more beautiful than we expected. Lots of cattle grazing land, even saw many times, deer grazing in the same fields. Wish we could have spent more time there and just fished for a while.

So to our many friends and family in and around Harrington, we wonder how many of you have listened to "Mut" and had the desire to see the country he described, too.

Thanks, for letting us share part of our trip with you. Sincerely

Virginia and Walter Paskey P. S. Forget to mention that at a "Travelodge" motel in Missoula, Montana, we visited with a Mr. and Mrs. John Hammond from Bridgeville, Del. We still have the habit when we see a Delaware license plate to ask where they are from. Why do you suppose we do,

FENCE TALK

with George K. Vapaa

"Our house is not a luxury if you know how much sweat we put into it," said Joe Wild, who lives west of Wyoming. Your county agent was complimenting the Wilds for the luxurious craftsmanship they built into their new home.

It is a home started with cutting trees out of their farm woodlot, followed by planing, routing, matching and finishing each and every board used. Each room has a different kind of wood trim. There is cherry in the living room, bleached red oak in the kitchen. Some of the wood has been stained to match the furniture. There are ceiling moldings and wall moldings beside the floor level trim.

The fireplace is visible from the living room, den and the kitchen. "We should never leave a burning fireplace unattended," adds Joe.

The house is built as a gungalow on a sloping site and there are three floor levels. They are scarcely noticeable because the living room has a taller ceiling, an illusion due to the differing sizes of the rooms and to trim variations.

I first met Joe as a very successful potato grower, a stickler for detail and advance planning even then. He tells me he grew up on an 8 acre farm in Germany, emigrated to America, and for 14 years ran a garage business in New York City.

He is proudest of his children, who except for one still in high school, have all married well and are making good contributions to society. Joe is no slouch in this respect either. It takes real courage to serve on the local school board and to be a member of the county zoning board.

"Politics? 'Count me out,'" says Joe. "I'm too outspoken and too much of a realist. I don't subscribe to political pressures which are not what I feel are in the public interest."

Courage, vision, a man of purpose. This is my friend, Joe Wild.

Use a hive of honey bees per acre if you want to double the yield of cucumbers. This is the recommendation of Dr. Allen Steinhower of the University of Maryland. He came to this conclusion after field tests made in Wicomico county this year.

Cucumbers and many other crops must be cross-pollinated for good fruiting. Some beekeepers specialize in moving bees in and out of fields. Their fees are well worth the cost. The test date shows that many bees will visit the same bloom the same day if there are enough of them. The pollination is incidental as bees look for nectar going from one plant to another. It is a good example of the balance of nature in action.

Man can help keep this balance of nature by hauling the bees out of the way when pesticides must be used to protect the crop that he wants. More on pesticides next week. Properly used, they are the reason why you can have cleaner, healthier, cheaper food than much of the rest of the world.

Seed your new lawn now before October 1, if possible. Use our new lawn bulletin as a 1, 2, 3 step guide. You can have it free by calling our Extension Service Office, 736-1448.

Two things have happened recently which deserve comment at this time. Some people buy so called "top soil". It is often needed but may vary very widely in quality. I happened to get a very fine load recently, except in one respect. It was full of Johnson Grass roots that I suspect the trucker was not even aware of. This can be worse than crab grass, especially on sunny lawns.

Several people have called about getting rid of crab grass. It appears in the spring because of bare spots in a lawn which permit sprouting. The trick is to get a catch of desirable grasses before spring.

If you cannot plow and rework the ground before seeding, why not rent a thatching machine to knife into a sod? Crab grass is an animal which dies off each year. So topseeding and fertilizing will help kick off the new seed bed. Next spring you can put on a 10-6-4 fertilizer with dacthal or some other crab grass killer.

A good lawn is no accident. Check those of your neighbors and put two and two together. The good lawns get good care, much of which is to do each job at the proper time.

Here is one rule if you can only follow one. Mow at least one and a half inches high, and never cut off more than half the top growth at a time. Grasses tend to store plant food in the leaves.

It Seems To Me

By Janet C. Reed

Belt it! That's what fashion is saying. It doesn't seem to matter what you use—as long as you fasten something around you somewhere in the vicinity of the waistline.

If you get carried away with the unusual, just remember those wild belts do more for a slender figure. The shorter gal may wish to settle for something on the conservative side or continue to wear the beltless styles.

A look through any fall fashion magazine gives so many ideas you hardly know where to begin. Not that you must copy an idea, but one idea sparks another and you can adapt it to your own purpose.

Those jeweled and chain belts led me to my jewelry discards. A rope or chain necklace can be intertwined with cording of your dress fabric, or with grosgrain ribbon in matching or harmonizing shades.

A short chain necklace can be inserted in the belt ends, and the belt fastened in back with Velcro. The necklace when doubled might be the correct length for a belt. If it isn't quite long enough, extend it with a piece of ribbon inserted in each looped end and tied for the fastener.

If you have saved some of those beautiful old belt buckles that were fashionable some years ago, bring them out again; we're having a revival of huge and prominent buckles. Unfortunately, they don't do a thing for a prominent tummy or a thickened waistline.

If one belt isn't enough, try two, or three, or more. Narrow leather belts in the same or different colors are anchored by belt loops to hold them on the figure where you want. Crochet chains of matching thread for inconspicuous belt loops.

A soft tie belt of the dress fabric has been a popular choice; it ranges from narrow coring to several inches wide. Follow pattern suggestions for belt width to keep the belt in proportion to the dress designs.

Instead of stiff interfacing, a single thickness of the dress fabric adds sufficient body. To do this easily, cut the fabric three times the width of the finished belt. Seam it lengthwise leaving a seam one-half the desired belt width.

For example, for a one-inch belt, cut the fabric three inches wide and take a half-inch seam. Do not trim the seam. Press the seam open slightly with the point of the iron but do not crease the edges of the belt.

Turn the fabric and place the seam down the center back of the belt, allowing the raw edges to come to each fold. Be sure the fabric lies flat and press well. You now have a belt interfaced with a single layer of your fabric.

Many dresses are belted in the back only or the front only, and anchored with buttons or sewed into a seam. Whatever your choice, a belt will bring last year's dress into this year's fashion.

Pat Hatfield

We have had the pleasure of hearing once again from our own Greenwood missionary in Africa, namely Miss Rose Handloser, daughter of Mrs. William Handloser and the late Mr. Handloser. This time her report comes as an interesting bulletin in cooperation with her co-worker, Miss Juanita Pate. The bulletin is most attractive with a native hut and an iron pot over the fire, with "Greetings from Lorraine" across the top. The message starts out thusly: "Sunday night at Lorraine Nazarene Mission . . . services over for the day . . . blazing logs on the fireplace . . . munching homegrown popcorn . . . soft music on short-wave . . . reviewing . . . Rose went first to The Oaks today, where the mother of triplets has built a thorn long-fenced enclosure under a tree. There she welcomes the services of any Nazarene missionary or preacher who can find time to stop by. Her husband is not a Christian, but her testimony is so unquenchable that he long ago stopped troubling her. Sunday school opening exercises were led by a teenage daughter of the mother of triplets, the lesson taught by Rose. During church a choir of about 30 enthusiastic teenagers sang "Master, Speak, Thy Servant Heareth." Rose incorporated their first reading lesson into the sermon, leaving with them a study chart with "Kereke ye MoNazarene", (Church of the Nazarene); "Modimo" (God); "Jesus Kriste" (Jesus Christ); "Mopholosi" (Saviour); and the words of John 3:16. Then Rose went on to Lepelle to conduct another Sunday School. In this location the people are educated (one member has his B.A.), but door-to-door visitation reveals that a large majority of the population are untouched animists.

After seeing emergency patients at the clinic, Juanita set out for Calais, where a high school student conducts the Sunday School. Juanita gives the message there every Sunday.

Back home at Lorraine, she has started a children's church. Today was cold and cloudy and the attendance was way down to 78. The local church is growing at a good rate, much of it probably due to the excitement caused by children's church but we won't be satisfied until the revival sweeps through the membership. Pray especially for Joseph and Maria.

What really brings a tinge of sadness to our fireside chat is the realization of what we are not doing. Strassberg has no one—not even a layman—to lead them. The church building stands empty. Some locations have only a layman to lead them, others have no Nazarene witness. "Pray the Lord of the harvest to send forth workers . . ."

The weekdays and nights are already more than full for Juanita who sees about 50 to 70 patients a day, delivers about 15 babies a month, supervises the nurse aides and other workers, and operates a clinic in the mountains.

For both of us there are the small crew of mission workers to keep busy, the water pump and light engine to see to, the garden and grounds and even buildings to supervise occasionally.

For Rose, there are workshops, institutes, conferences, camps to conduct in various places, week-day visits to pastors to plan local church activities, preachers' meetings to attend, Bible program, VBS on a district level as well as zone, and from one to five different churches to attend every Sunday in the interest of youth and Sunday school.

Not the least of our shared activities is entertaining visitors. We have almost a constant stream of guests, some for just tea, some for one meal, others for a longer stay. We love it and have discussed calling our house "The Mary and Martha Rest Home"—but neither one of us wants to be called Martha!

For your correspondence and prayer support, we are truly grateful. The burden is great, the problems large, but "These Times . . . God is able!"

Alive unto God,
Juanita Pate
Rose Handloser

Inside this interesting bulletin, there are two pages of pictures, the first, showing Juanita with her nurse's aides. She says they have no training other than on-the-job experience, but they cheerfully carry a heavy load of caring for the sick.

The second picture shows Rose's Audio-Visual truck she uses as an ambulance to take a sick person to the hospital. She says that this truck is often used as a hearse.

The third picture shows Rose teaching her weekly Bible Class in English with the nurses and work girls and occasional visitors.

The last picture shows Rose again teaching with the Seeneo-felt pictures some little children.

Last Thursday evening John Lyons presented Irvin Aydelotte of Delmar, district chairman of the agricultural and conservation committee, as a guest speaker. With a series of slides and a running dialogue, Irvin brought the club an interesting and beneficial program. It brought to our attention many programs our club should be involved in to improve our community and its living conditions. Water pollution control and air pollution control, along with safety in the home and farm were highlighted in a program as being highly important.

President John Turner presided and again our club was well provided for by the ladies of the Tressler-Mennonite Church, Mrs. Mary Schrock, as chairman. The ham and homemade rolls met with much approval.

Ray Barrows was a welcome visitor from the Seaford Club.

President John Turner announced that there would be only a round table meeting next week, September 25. A number of officers and committee chairmen will visit the Rehoboth Club that night.

Monday evening, September 29, about one-half of the club will join the Bridgeville Club at Bridgeville in entertaining the new teachers of the Woodbridge School District.

RX For A White Wash

Great-grandma washed her clothes with homemade soap, a washboard and lots of elbow grease. You can choose between dozens of laundry products to put in your automatic washer.

Detergents, brighteners, enzymes, softeners, bleaches, all are available. But does your wash still look gray and dingy?

Clean soft water is one of the necessities for getting clean, white clothes, says Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware. Unfortunately unless you have a mechanical water softener/ or use water conditioners, you probably don't have soft water.

The results? Clothes washed in hard water, even with detergents, turn dull and gray. Also, they wear out faster.

To get clothes white again, get rid of the curd that hard water has deposited in your clothes. It's that simple, says Miss Morris. "Hard water put the deposit there—extra soft water will help get rid of it."

Wash the clothes in the washing machine with 1½ cups of non-precipitating water softener (Calgon, New Oakite, spring Rain, Miracle White, Noctil). No soap, no bleach—just water softener. You'll be surprised at how sudsy the water gets from film that's been left on clothes in previous washings.

If you have clothes with quite a curd buildup, repeat this treatment the next time you wash them.

If you must continue using hard water for washing and rinsing, wash with the softener alone every month or two, recommends Miss Morris. How often the treatment will be needed depends on the hardness of your water and how frequently you wash clothes.

To prevent the curd buildup in the first place, just make sure your wash—and rinse—water is soft. Detergents, for the most part, contain some water conditioners. But, if you neglect to soften the rinse water, some detergent will settle out on the clothes.

Perhaps your water isn't hard enough to justify a mechanical water conditioner. If can't always add the non-precipitating water softener when the rinse cycle begins, just remember to wash with a softener by itself every month or so.

Your wash will be as white as great-grandmother's. With one-tenth the work.

Lake Forest Loses to Indian River, 12-8

Graham Dill, coach of Indian River's defending Henlopen conference football champs says he always gets a tough game when he comes here.

This was the case Friday night. Ken Tribbett stunned the invading Indians by bursting straight through the first line of tacklers with the opening kickoff, hit the clear at the 50 and outran all pursuers for an 85-yard touchdown run.

Mike Davis tossed a two-point conversion pass and Lake Forest had a quick 8-0 lead. The Indians pushed across from the two-yard line on the fourth down, but a conversion attempt through the middle failed.

The Spartans 8-6 lead held up until Andy Cress returned a kick 75 yards for the winning tally.

Indian River could not breathe easily throughout as efforts for an insurance score were stymied by a scrappy Lake Forest defense and by penalties at inopportune moments. Lake Forest never threatened after Tribbett's score.

Indian River's second series of downs saw them put the ball in play at the Spartan 49. Cress reached the 39. Quarterback Cliff Parker drove to the 29. A series of short gains recorded a first down at the 16. Shell picked up 12 yards. The Spartans stiffened and held the Indians to a total of 2 yards on three tries. Parker plunged over on fourth down near the end of the first period.

In the second quarter, Spartan punter, Dan Demora averted danger by making a nice pickup on a low snap from center and booming a kick to the Indian 23. The Sussex Coumnaitns started a march but were halted by a 15-yard penalty.

Louis Kemp caught a Dale Motter pass for a gain of 21 yards and the Spartan's only first down of the first half.

Other good plays by Bill Muehleiser's boys saw Frankie Daniels steal the ball on the Indian River 46 and Curt Powell break through later to trap Cress for a five-yard loss.

The second half opened with the visitors picking up 20 yards only to have the play called back and 15 yards levied against them. A kick carried to midfield.

Lake Forest's Norman Baynard was moved to a starting position earlier this season, when Chester Scott broke an ankle. Baynard, at 139 lbs., started into the Indian River line only to be met by 260 pound Cornelius Blake. Fortunately for Baynard, Blake didn't bother tackling him. He merely swatted the little guy on the shoulders, stopping him in his tracks.

After Dale Motter gained 5 yards, Demora's punt was just too good. It went straight a Cress, who had plenty of time to handle it. The clever back's 75 yard scoring runback sealed the Spartan's fate.

On a run by Tribbett and a Motter to - Tribbett aerial picked up a few yards but Indian River forced a punt which came down at midfield. Cress weaved for 22 yards. Parker got 5 to the LF 22. Cress took a pitchout to the 18. Shell sped to the 13. Curt Powell again blasted through to trap a back for a loss of six yards. Cress got it back with a pitchout around the right side. Another pitchout reached the two yard line but Lake Forest took the ball on downs.

Louis Kemp got five yards on two tries but Indian River recovered a third down fumble, 10 yards from paydirt.

A pass was complete in the end zone but was nullified by a penalty. Another pass almost connected but was underthrown and snared by Ken Tribbett.

Motter racked up a first down on the Lake Forest 30 but one more yard was the limit of the final Spartan advance.

Indian River's beefy, ponderous squad appears to be overrated. We predict trouble ahead for last year's champs on the new Henlopen Conference race.

Louis Floyd Leading H'gton. Driver

Louis Floyd, who was driving harness horses all around the country at fairs and exhibitions before there was such a thing as pari-mutuel betting is leading driver at Harrington Raceway.

Floyd, now 57, from Exmore, Va., began his harness career with his daddy at the age of 13.

"My daddy and I traveled all over the country . . . to Illinois and the mid-west . . . the next season down south. We raced all the fairs, North and South Carolina, Reading and Allentown . . . all of 'em. Those were some of the happiest days of my life," Floyd recalls in a friendly southern accent.

He is now leading driver at the Kent County oval with 5 wins, 3 seconds in eleven trips giving him a percentage rating of .606.

When pari - mutuel betting came along, Floyd was right in there. He has raced at all the major and minor tracks including Yonkers.

At Harrington he holds the all-time track record for trotters with Hadley Hanover (2:02) back in the early '50's.

Lloyd's "main man" in the six horse stable here is Harvey Roan. Also working with Floyd and his stock are, Bonnie Haynes and Floyd's brother, Russell.

Horses in his stable include Sheena Wave, Chestnut N, Margaret N., She's A Dazzler, Ace Elkington and Honey's Ace, all familiar names to Delmarva fans.

Floyd and Frank Abbott of Federalsburg, Md., are tied for leading dash driver with five wins each after 10 nights of racing.

Charles Pitts, of Harrington, is second leading driver with two wins, three seconds and four thirds in 13 outings.

Norwood Truitt, of Whaleyville, Md., is third with three wins, two seconds and five thirds in 16 trips.

Chipman Runners Glean at Dover

Jim Blades' W. T. Chipman School cross-country team made an excellent showing at Dover on Tuesday afternoon. In a stiff workout over the 2.45 miles Dover High course, the youngsters posted better times than many of the varsity runners did in the Dover-Lake Forest setto. Eighth-grader Don Woods, a tiny 13-year-old, was clocked in a terrific 16 minutes flat. This would have beaten all but four of Dover's varsity men and was better than four Lake Forest boys did.

Chris Adams had a good 17.46, though slowed by a side stitch. Ron Harmon did 18.19, Jackie Shulties and Terry Jarrell had 21.17 each. Other good efforts were turned in by Kevin Wooters, Terry Ballard, Charles Benson and Kevin Lyons.

This writer picked up four elementary boys after school and transported them to Dover. We clocked those kids over the same 2.45 mile layout. Howard Parker, a 10-year-old sixth grader, chewed up the terrain at a fantastic rate and emerged with 15.58, better than Dover's No. 5 varsity man.

Mike Smith, 11, has competed in track, in distance up to 440 yards, but had not practiced at any longer. Nevertheless, he clocked a very good 17.16, barefooted and in hampering long trousers.

Donald Baynard and Ronald Woods did 18.56 and 19.21 respectively. Both are 11 and fine distance prospects.

Spartan Jayvees Edge Georgetown, 6-0

Lake Forest High's junior varsity football team, coached by Jim Hogsten and Elliott Workman, upended a big Georgetown eleven 6-0, in a contest played here this week.

The locals tallied early in the fray when Quarterback Sorden and Jim Dill hookedup on a 55-yard pass-and-run tally.

Georgetown threatened several times but were halted by the smaller but quicker Spartans, or by their own errors at crucial moments.

The game ended with the Georgetown team only a couple of feet away from the tying touchdown.

Standouts in the Spartan backfield were Neal Travis, Bob Smith and George Turner. Travis is a clever runner with good moves. Turner is a speedboy, Smith combines speed and power.

On the line Tom May, Frank O'Neal and Robin Callahan helped neutralize the Golden Knights' weight advantage.

Harriers Trip Dover For First Spartan Varsity Win

The honor of racking up the first varsity victory for the new Lake Forest High School fell to Coach Harold McDonald and his cross-country Spartans. The hill-and-dale specialists downed Dover High School at the Senator's 2.45 mile course, at the Silver Lake recreation area, on Tuesday afternoon.

Chris Wetherhold, a junior, hasn't lost a race in this area since the eighth grade and now has a win streak approaching thirty straight. He ripped off a course record of 12:33.4. This may easily stand until Christ goes to Dover next season.

Brad Morris had a swift 13:07 in second place. Danny Hitchens shadowed the Senators' Carney and nipped him at the tape to insure a Lake Forest victory. Carney, an import from New York City, has turned Dover into a strong team.

Sam Bostick, a junior from Felton, made an excellent showing as did sophomore Jerry Scott. These newcomers have greatly strengthened the Spartans. Sam was fifth, Jerry was seventh.

Jackie D. Parker was tied for tenth place on the squad in workouts at Killen's Pond State Park. But this time the chips were down and Parker is always dangerous in competition, especially when he's second. The slender freshman was the sixth Spartan to cross the line.

Dan Bell trailed Parker by 12 seconds, as he whipped Dover's crack quarter miler, Ralph Driggins in the stretch drive.

Filly Stubbs and Billy Walls were next followed by two Dover High harriers and Spartan exchange student, Gunnar Dale of Norway. Dale is bothered by the heat and humidity here but has good speed. Gunnar collared two Senators in the home stretch and would have passed both but lacked racing room.

The final score was Lake Forest 18, Dover 43. Low score wins in cross-country and golf.

Lake Forest	Fin. Pos.
Wetherhold	1
Morris	2
Hitchens	3
Bostick	5
Scott	7
	18
Dover	Fin. Pos.
Carney	4
Abbot	6
Driggins	10
Satterfield	11
Raubacher	12
	43

Satterfield and Raubacher actually finished 13th and 14th but were moved up to 11th and 12th, displacing the Spartans' 8th and 9th runners, since only the first seven men on each team can figure in the scoring.

Harrington Bowling League

By Leah S. Wheeler

The bowling this week has proved to be just the opposite of last week's showing, as several new records were set for the season. Bowling picked up considerably with many 200 plus games rolled as compared to last week's unusually low score games.

Donald McKnatt paced McKnatt Funeral Home as they crushed Gallo & Stevenson, bowling a grand 559 series, including a very fine 213 game Donald Garey also aided in the clean sweep over McKnatt's opponents with a very fine 542 series. Carmine Gallo rolled a fine 203 game for the construction boys in defeat. McKnatt's continues to set the pace in the 12-team league, moving two games out in front of the pack. Gallo & Stevenson must be content with the cellar spot again this week.

People's Restaurant is proving to be a tough foe this season, swamping Gerardi Bros. in Tuesday night's fray. Frank Collins led the way to a three game victory over annually tough Gerardi Bros. with a fine show of superb bowling. Collins has set a mark in the series category that is going to be very hard to overcome and has set himself up as the top keglor of the league with grand games of 211 and 246, amassing a 647 series. Alan Young also aided in the scoring punch with a grand 572 series. Gerardi Bros. did not give up easily in their defeat as Hank Wheeler rolled a fine 224 game, with a very good 537 series, and Stan Johnson rolled a very good 534 series with a grand 233 game included. The furniture boys as a whole put on a good team effort against People's Restaurant, who took over the second place in the team high three series column, and also moved up in second place in the standings. Gerardi Bros. dropped from second place, way down to the fifth place spot in the standings.

Taylor & Messick continues to keep up close to the pace setters with a three game win over Wally's Garage with Kenny Outten pacing the farm boys to victory with a 514 series and Tom Brown rolling well above his average to provide the strength needed to win. Wally's Garage, who is having trouble getting any momentum at the onset of the season remains in eleventh place at this writing.

Penn Central went into the fray Tuesday night with a four-man team and came out with three games to their credit against a Quillen's Market quintet. Paul Baker bowled superbly, with a fine 209 game included in a great 547 series, with Raymond Baker and Marion Brown contributing above average performance to help offset their handicap. Penn Central is close to the top teams, in fourth place, and is showing considerable strength this season thus far. John Winkler bowled very well for Quillen's, which aided in their winning one game from their competition.

Jarrell Fuel's Dallas Hayman was the pacesetter in an all-out team effort as he bowled very well, amassing a 566 series, with a 214 game included. The Spoilers countered the attack with Leonard Outten's very fine 545 series and John Schaffer's very good 213 game, but it was not sufficient to overcome a three-game loss to the fuel boys. Jarrell Fuel's fine team effort put themselves in third place in the team series department with a very fine 25541 team series.

Butler's Fuel clashed head on with Hamilton Funds and came out a three game winner against their opponents. Ronald Wright rolled a grand 203 game, for a 511 series for the victors, with Sammy Lyons aiding the attack with an above average performance. Clarence Jarrell and Bob Creadick bowled well in defeat for the finance boys. The three game win for Butler's Fuel moved them up into the seventh spot in the standings. Hamilton Funds on their loss dropped down to tenth place.
