MRS. BLANCHE BOOTH BELL CELEBRATES 97TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Blanche Booth Bell celebrated her 97th birthday Tuesday at a reception given by her daughters, Mrs. Bessie Boozer and Mrs. Blanche Cahall.

Mrs. Bell, born on a plantation, Oct. 13, 1872, near Buena Vista, Tex., and came from a large family being the 13th of 15 children. Her husband was a cotton broker and died in

Score a Goal For A Healthy Heart

From now until the snow piles up, football will be one of the main outdoors activities across the land. Youngsters will be out with their school teams, or playing a sandlot-league version of the game. And many fathers, trying to prove there's still life in the old boy, may be tempted to show the youngsters how they did it in the long ago.

Unfortunately, many middle-aged men are not as young as they look, and some may be even older, medically speaking, than they feel, says the Delaware Heart Association. Among them are those men who have been eating too much rich food, smoking too many cigarettes, and not exercising regularly, all risk factors associated with coronary heart disease.

Unaccustomed strenuous exercise can trigger a heart attack in susceptible individuals. So, the Delaware Heart Association advises those fathers to toss the football back to the youngsters and make their first goal a medical checkup. A medical evaluation is in order for all individuals who have been gambling with the risk factors in their personal habits.

After this important first step, the Delaware Heart Association recommends that they adopt, and follow faithfully thereafter, a program designed to reduce their risk of heart attack. This includes:

1. Changes in eating habits. The aim is to furnish adequate nutrition, keep weight at desirable levels and regulate the intake of cholesterol and saturated fats. Scientists assert there now is strong evidence this may prevent or delay heart disease.
2. An end to cigarette smoking. The heavy smoker may be 15 years older than his chronological age, according to the Framingham (Mass.) Heart Study conducted by the U.S. Public Health Service.
3. A program of moderate regular exercise. Habitual lack of physical activity increases the risk of having a fatal heart attack.
4. Regular medical checkup. Even before they become manifest to the patient, the physician will be able to detect the development of, and take steps to control, other diseases such as high blood pressure and diabetes, which contribute to the progress of coronary heart disease.

The Delaware Heart Association has publications based on the latest scientific evidence covering the relationship of heart disease and the six risk factors. They are the Way to a Man's Heart, Recipes for Fat Controlled, Low Cholesterol Meals; Smoking

Dinner to Be Held By Senior Citizens

The Chicken and Dumpling dinner sponsored by the Board of Directors of the Harrington Senior Center will soon be here. All the cooperation possible is necessary to make the affair a success. Proceeds will go to the S. C. Building Fund to help pay for the house on Fleming St. that the Senior Citizens can now call their own.

The William Outten Insurance Agency has donated the tickets for this dinner. Other help in the way of personal service or foods, such as potatoes, cabbage, etc., will be greatly appreciated. Anyone able to offer some assistance may contact Mrs. Millard Cooper, Mrs. James Moore or Miss Jennie Morris.

The dinner is being served at the Asbury United Methodist Church. Tickets are available at the Senior Center, 108 Fleming St., or call 398-3908. Only 500 tickets will be sold, so get your ticket early and help support our Senior Citizens.

Odd Fellows-Rebekah's To Hold Meeting

On Saturday evening, Oct. 18, the regular monthly meeting of the general service committee of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Delaware will be held in the rooms of Morning Star Lodge No. 6, in Smyrna, with the chairman, Mrs. Mary Keogh calling the meeting to order at 8 p.m.

Why Christmas In October?

At Mooseheart there are thousands of children whose parents have belonged to the Moose and are no longer here to care for their children. At Mooseheart they are provided homes and education and grow into good citizens. In order to assure them a Merry Christmas, Moose lodges all over the world put up their Christmas trees and collect money to send to Mooseheart to make sure these children wake up on Christmas morning believing in the goodness of the human race and in the same Santa Claus our children accept.

Mrs. Florence Cooke, Mooseheart chairman, is standing by the Christmas tree on display at the Moose Lodge 534 at Harrington during the month of October in order to have it filled in time to send for Christmas at Mooseheart.

D.S.E.A. Reviews Senate Bill

The Board of Directors, Delaware State Education Association, has reviewed the provisions of the professional negotiations bill (Senate Substitute No. 1 for Senate Bill 228 as amended with Senate amendments No's 2, 6, 8 and 9) now in the House Education Committee and has agreed to oppose the measure.

Mrs. Viola Thomas, president, DSEA, said, "The Legislative Committee, DSEA, has voted to oppose the bill now in the General Assembly. Events of the last few months have proved the need for a better bill and we are preparing one now for immediate introduction. It is our hope that the legislature will not act upon SS No. 1 for SS 228 or other bills pending until a new one is prepared."

The decision to oppose SS No. 1 for 228 as amended comes after the Board of Directors approved a similar bill in April, 1969.

Major opposition stems from major provisions not included in SS 1 for SB 228 which the DSEA feels are absolutely essential. These essential features are:

1. The right to binding arbitration of grievances. (This provision is necessary to insure prompt impartial interpretation and resolutions of grievances. Grievances usually arise over disagreement between parties in the interpretation of school policy. Binding arbitration is needed to give the aggrieved person the ultimate right of appealing his case to an impartial third party. Often a board of education is at a disadvantage in ruling on a grievance because it feels a need to support decisions made by its school administration. The binding arbitration provision applies only to the interpretation of policy at dispute in the grievance and does not apply to the actual policy making process. Therefore, it does not usurp the policy making prerogative of a board of education.)
2. The right to withhold services under certain conditions. (The automatic penalties in SS 1 for SB 228 imposed against teacher associations if a strike occurs is a violation of a teacher's rights according to DSEA and NEA philosophy. This bill is punitive against the local association and precludes the possibility that a board of education might be at fault.)
3. Makeup of the representation unit should be determined by the membership of the local association. (SS 1 for SB 228 automatically gives this right to the board of education.)
4. Subjects for negotiations must be broadly defined. (SS 1 for SB 228 is too narrow in its definitions of negotiable subjects. Experience shows that the most burning issues affecting teacher morale is in the area of personnel-administrative relationship. The present bill prohibits negotiations in this field of professional relations. Only discussions are permitted.

"After careful analysis of the professional negotiations statutes currently in effect across the country it seems extremely unwise to support a bill which has proved unsuccessful in other states," Viola

Man Hurt In U. S. 13 Crash

Hugh Harrell, 45, of Easton, Md., was injured Monday night when his car ran off U. S. 13 about 3 miles south of Harrington, went into a ditch, overturned and caught afire.

Harrell was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital and treated for face and scalp cuts and held for observation. His condition Tuesday morning was listed as fair.

Delaware State Police said Harrell was traveling south on 13 when his car ran off the road, continued 117 feet and then went down a 4-foot drainage ditch. Police said he got out of the car and the flames were extinguished by the Farmington Fire Company.

K.C. Rep. Club To Stage Fashion Show

An "Astronomical Fashion Show" will be staged Saturday, October 25 at 1 p.m. at Dover Downs Diamond Lounge sponsored by the building committee of Kent County Republican Women's Club.

"Celestial Styles" will be shown and narrated by the Purple Door, and modeled by local talent. Awards will be presented from the Treasure Chest. Dessert will be catered.

The committee includes: Mrs. Martin Moffitt, general chairman; Mrs. J. Paul Slaybaugh, coordinator; Mrs. Don Concilio, tickets; Mrs. Donald Pyatt, models; Mrs. Robert W. Riddaugh, hostesses; and Mrs. George D. C. Parker, publicity.

Tickets include dessert and Treasure Chest awards, are available from members of the committee, Mrs. Concilio, the ticket chairman, phone 697-7434, or Kent County Republican Headquarters, phone 734-9790.

A hearing on the Brown's Branch drainage project may be held this winter. Fred Mott, district conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, said Wednesday he was "shooting for this winter" for the meeting. He explained surveys were complete and believed the hearing and referendum would be held in close proximity.

AFS Makes Plans For Coming Year

The Harrington Chapter of the American Field Service is beginning to make plans for their activities of the year. Gunnar Dale of Sweden has been the guest of his American family, the Raymond Brown's, since late August, and will soon begin his speaking engagements and visits within the community.

President Thomas Peck, at a meeting of the officers and committee chairman last week, outlined the coming year. He has appointed James Schoch, principal of the Lake Forest High School as co-chairman with Francis E. Ryan of the Student/Family Liaison committee Miss Carol Schreiner will be the Student AFS Advisor also at Lake Forest High School.

Mrs. Harry John Dill, Jr., will serve as public relations chairman and Mrs. James Carroll has agreed to serve as coordinator of dates and engagements for Gunnar.

Gunnar was presented to the parents and faculty who attended the Parent's Night in W. T. Chipman Junior School last Wednesday evening. It was an opportunity for the citizens of Felton and Frederica as well as Harrington to meet him. It is hoped that all interested persons in the Lake Forest School District will find a time to meet and get acquainted with him.

A schedule of regular meetings of the committee was arranged. The date will be on the 3rd Monday of the months of November, January, March and May. Location of the meeting will be announced prior to the meeting. The November meeting will be held in the Lake Forest High School at 8 p.m. All students, parents and other interested citizens are cordially invited to attend to learn more of the program of the American Field Service.

The American Field Service is a non-profit, non-sectarian organization which, through its international scholarship programs, endeavors to bring about understanding among people of many nations. This is done by providing a new dimension in the living and learning experiences of teenage students.

Harrington has participated in one of the AFS programs for the past four years. This is the program which annually brings some 3,000 students from 61 countries to the United States. In the past 22 years, a total of over 47,000 students from 79 countries have participated in the scholarship programs of AFS.

Thursday Ladies' Night At Raceway

As Harrington Raceway reaches the halfway point in its 1969 harness race meet, several new things are in the making for trotting fans. First, the new Ladies Night; free admission to all ladies to either the clubhouse or grandstand each and every Thursday evening. Second; also, every Thursday a delicious complete smorgasbord will be served in the beautiful clubhouse dining room. The complete meal will be $4.50 and is open to the public.

In the planning stage is a fashion show each Thursday along with several surprises, prizes.

Nine exciting races are on tap Monday through Thursday evening with 10 scheduled for Friday and Saturday. Post time, rain or shine at this all weather track is 7:30 p.m.

If the referendum is favorable, he continued, the procedure would be as follows:

Organization of a tax ditch, election of three managers from involved landowners who will determine how and when to construct the tax ditch.

The landowners would pay half the cost, with the state and county each paying 25 per cent of the cost.

The Brown's Branch project will drain area north, east and west of Harrington, and the City of Harrington, and will among other benefits, cause an abatement of flooding in Harrington which has plagued the area.

The drainage work will encompass the following area: From Cemetery Ditch along a prong of Brown's Branch westward through Wheeler's Park to northwest of Harrington; a ditch originating west of Harrington goes through northern part of the community through Harrington Manor to Brown's Branch near U.S. 13.

U. of D. Classes Present Mosaic Panel

The official presentation of a mosaic panel designed for the Willard Hall Education Building at the University of Delaware by Newark artist Leo Laskaris has been scheduled Sunday afternoon, Oct. 19.

Coinciding with the presentation of an exhibition of Laskaris' paintings, entitled "Variations on a Theme," in the foyer of the building. The mosaic and paintings will be on display from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday and the exhibition will continue through Oct. 31.

The mosaic, four by seven feet in size, was commissioned by the Women's Classes of 1928 and 1929, whose members also are providing several benches and a planter to improve the appearance and utility of the foyer. The project has been coordinated by Mrs. Joseph Patnovic, a past president of the Alumni Association.

A 1939 graduate of the university, Laskaris received his art training at the Art Institute of Chicago and the Ozenfant School of Fine Arts in

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

Is it a yam or is it a sweet potato?
That delicious and nutritionally valuable tuber is sometimes called a sweet potato and sometimes called a "yam" in this country. Regardless of what you call it this vegetable is now in good supply, and prices are generally low.

As far as the name is concerned, technically a yam is the root of an African plant. It is more moist and sweet than any sweet potato we know and it grows a great deal larger. The sweet potato is, as far as has been established, a native of tropical America and is no botanical kin of the yam. Neither is it a relative of the white or so-called Irish potato. Actually, the white potato got its name by mistake from the Spanish word "batatas," which the early explorers used to refer to sweet potatoes. However, a sweet potato by any name is a delicious vegetable, as well as a versatile one.

Most sweet potatoes harvested now are coming to the fresh market, but later many of them will be going into storage. The crop for storage is usually washed and kiln dried, and when these potatoes come out of storage they are more mature and better for baking. However, prices are higher.

Whether you like them mealy or moist, light yellow or deep orange, look for sweet potatoes that are smooth, well-shaped and plump to avoid waste. Make sure each potato is fresh, bright looking, dry and clean; thus avoiding any decay. To make sure you have uniform cooking time, select similar shapes. For the type of potato, check the skin. Those having light colored skin will be yellow inside and will have a relatively dry flesh. Those having a copper tone to their skins will be more moist as far as the flesh is concerned and the color will be salmon to orange.

Sweet potatoes need a cool, dry storage space away from bright lights. About 55-60 degrees is about the right temperature. They will chill at 48 degrees and the flavor will change. Handle with care, as they do bruise easily. And buy only what you will use in a few days. One last thing—do not store uncooked sweet potatoes in the refrigerator—it's just too cold.

When buying, remember, one pound of sweet potatoes (usually two or three of medium size) will yield three servings. This will help you get the quantity you need and not waste this delicious vegetable.

Meat prices remain much as they were last week, with store specials being your only way to make real savings. More fall vegetables are arriving each day and prices are edging down on such things as broccoli, rutabagas, turnips and Brussels sprouts.

W. T. Chipman Junior School Dedicated

The official dedication of the junior school of the Lake Forest School District was held Wed., Oct. 8. The name approved earlier in the year was in honor of the late Dr. William Thomas Chipman, the well-known local physician who served this community for many years.

Members of the family were unable to attend due to the illness of Mrs. Chipman, who died two days after the dedication.

Approximately 150 parents followed their children's class schedules after the dedication. They spent ten minutes in each room and hustled off to the next one. Humorous comments were heard about the need for "an elevator," "track shoes," or "an escalator" as the parents changed classes.

LFHS Elects Officers

Seniors at Lake Forest High School have elected the following students to lead the class of 1970: Aubrey Brown, Sandy Moffett, Janet Hutchison, Cheryl Lekites and John Brown.

Aubrey Brown is the new president. He served as historian in the FFA Club last year and was also the Student Council representative for his homeroom. He plans a career in agricultural business, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown of Harrington.

Sandy Moffett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Moffett of Felton, was elected vice president. This will be her third year as vice president of her class. When asked what she plans to do to change the image of this office as a do-nothing job, she replied "Participating in meetings and helping the class the best I can is the only way possible."

Janet Hutchison, treasurer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hutchison Jr. of Canterbury. Last year Janet was homeroom treasurer. When asked why she wanted the office this year she answered, "Because I really want to do something for the senior class. I want to help make this first Lake Forest senior class the best." Janet plans to attend the University of Delaware next year.

Cheryl Lekites the newly elected secretary, held this same position for her sophomore and junior classes and also for the local 4-H Club. After graduation Cheryl plans to attend either Wesley College or the Delaware Technical and Community College at Georgetown. Cheryl's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lekites of Harrington.

John Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Brown of Harrington, was appointed parliamentarian. John received his training in parliamentary procedure in the Future Farmers of America Club, where he was student advisor in the 10th grade. He placed second in the state for the last two years in the FFA public speaking contest. John's comment on his specific duty was "My job is to see that the meeting is run properly."

Apollo Chief to Speak at U. of D.

The chief project engineer for the Apollo space suit will give a lecture and demonstration on space suits for the Apollo project at 7 p.m. Oct. 16, in Wolf Hall auditorium on the University of Delaware campus.

Homer D. Heilm, who directed the engineering design and development program for the Apollo space suit that permitted man to walk on the moon, will be the featured speaker for the annual meeting of the Delaware Academy of Science.

A graduate of the University of Delaware in electrical engineering, Heilm began with ILC Industries, Dover based makers of the space suit, in 1960 shortly after his graduation.

He began his career as an engineering analyst and since then has coordinated all thermal and environmental tests as coordinator with Republic Aviation on test planning and evaluation for thermal and solar wind simulation and prepared the original design technical proposal for the NASA-AMES integrated restraint support harness-full pressure suit. He also has headed design and development teams working on a single sideband transceiver and lightweight expendable protective clothing for combat soldiers. He also designed and tested a helmet impactor that incorporated an electronic device for measuring the helmet's effectiveness.

The meeting is free and open to the public.

Farmland Tax Meetings Set

Meetings explaining actions farmers must take to have their land assessed for taxes under a new assessment method are scheduled for each county, according to Dr. William E. McDaniel, dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences at the University of Delaware.

McDaniel is also chairman of the new State Farmland Evaluation Advisory Committee. The other two members of the committee are O. Joseph Peniel and Ernest J. Zimmerman.

The Sussex county meeting is set for November 3 at the University of Delaware Georgetown Substation. The Kent county meeting will be held November 6 at the Capitol Ground Hall in Dover, with the New Castle county meeting on November 13 at Crothers Brothers store, Mt. Pleasant. The same information will be presented at all three meetings which begin at 8 p.m.

A 1968 Delaware law allows a change in the method of assessing farmland provided the landowner requests it. Farmland may be assessed for the 1970-71 tax year for the first time on the basis of its capacity to earn income.

The law created a state evaluation advisory committee to establish "ranges of fair value of farmland based on its productive capacity when devoted to agriculture, horticulture or forest use."

The three meetings will explain the development of the land values which have been supplied to the county assessors and how they may affect taxes on a particular farm. Delaware farmers need to become familiar with this new type of evaluation, McDaniel says. The landowner, rather than the assessor, decides if the new method will be used for his farm. Some farmers may benefit by being assessed under the new method, while others may not.

If the owner of farmland wants to be assessed for tax purposes under the new method, he must file an application with the county tax office before February 1, 1970. If he doesn't file the application the same assessment method that has been used in the past will be followed again.

Set Careers Day, Nov. 8

The annual careers day at the University of Delaware's College of Agricultural Sciences is set for Saturday, November 8, at Agricultural Hall, Newark. Dr. Ralph P. Barwick, assistant dean of the College made the announcement.

The program, which begins at 9:15 a.m., is designed to familiarize high school students with the wide range of career opportunities available in agribusiness. The theme of the program, "Problem Solving Through Science," will be illustrated with a variety of department demonstrations and exhibits.

You don't have to live on a farm, or even near one, to have a rewarding career in agribusiness, Barwick says. "The business of agriculture is the largest single industrial complex in America today, and agriculturally-oriented graduates are in demand."

Courses offered at the College of Agricultural Sciences are designed to give the training needed to take advantage of this demand. You can concentrate on agricultural engineering, plant and animal science, entomology, ecology, soils, economics, communications or education.

Careers day is aimed especially at high school juniors and seniors, Barwick adds. But all high school students are welcome to attend. High school administrators, counselors, science teachers, agriculture teachers and parents are also invited.

Visitors will have a chance to tour college facilities and to discuss admission, curriculum, financial aid and career and employment opportunities with university staff members at an informal luncheon.

Deadline for careers day registration is November 3. Send inquiries to Dr. Ralph P. Barwick, College of Agricultural Sciences, University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware 199711.

U. of D. to Install Debate Chapter

Dr. John W. Shirley, provost and vice president for academic affairs, will accept the charter for the University of Delaware when its first chapter of Delta Sigma Rho - Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary debate society, is installed on campus at 7 p.m. Oct. 16, in 131 Sharp Laboratory.

Charter members of the new organization who will be initiated are three seniors - Robert J. Halstead, Newark; Paul J. Hopstock, of Emmaus, Pa.; Samuel C. Shepherd, Alexandria, Va.; and three juniors - Micaela Nolan, Yardley, Pa.; Robert R. Rossi, Wilmington, and Barbara Wetherly, Newark. Initiates must have a 3.0 grade average and two years of debate experience.

Making the charter presentation will be Prof. George F. Henigan, director of forensics at George Washington University and regional governor of DSR-TKA. Although Delaware has had a debating team since 1904, this is the first time it has had a DSR-TKA chapter on campus.

DSR was founded in Chicago in 1906 by a group of university debating coaches who wanted to honor debaters equally with football varsity lettermen. TKA was born in the Indiana State House in 1908 after a Butler University student presented the idea to the then lieutenant governor, a former distinguished professor of Greek. The two honoraries joined in August of 1963 to form the largest, most distinguished organization of its kind in the United States.

As part of the initiation program, the University of Delaware debaters will host the debaters from George Washington University in a debating contest on "Resolved that civil disobedience is a valid expression of public discontent." Paul Hopstock and Robert Halstead will argue the negative for Delaware; the George Washington debaters will uphold the affirmative. Dr. Ray E. Keese, associate dean of the College of Arts and Science will chair the debate.

The initiation ceremony and the debate are free and open to the public.

PHOTOGRAPHERS

Our work on a genealogy and the publication of numerous historical pictures has revealed some glaring oversights as to identification.

Consequently, we have had to take as long as a year and a half in ascertaining when and where a photograph was taken, and who was in the picture.

One may not be aware when snapping a photograph today, it will be of historical value. Nevertheless, following these instructions may make the picture more interesting and informative to the possessor:

- 1. Give date of picture. 2. Tell where it was taken. 3. Why, if it is enlightening, it was taken. 4. Line up the persons in the picture in rows so they can be more easily identified. 5. Identify the persons in the picture by their complete, full names. Who took the photograph.

Make Hallowe'en Safe For Your Children

Witching season is here again, but don't let an exciting Hallowe'en turn into a disaster for your child. A saw-toothed jack-o-lantern grinning into the dark is a Hallowe'en tradition. Unfortunately, that tradition can be a fire hazard, according to Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Don't use a real lighted candle with plastic or cardboard pumpkins; substitute a small flashlight fastened so the hot bulb is well away from the pumpkin side. In a real pumpkin, fasten candles securely in an upright position.

Of course, never leave a lighted jack-o-lantern unattended. And, don't let your trick-or-treater carry a lighted candle in any holder as part of their costume.

What's a Hallowe'en costume without a mask? Yet, that mask can be dangerous if it blocks your child's vision, reminds Miss Morris. Use your imagination to create a safer disguise. With water-soluble poster paint, your goblin, ghost or pirate will look genuinely ferocious—safely. And it washes off easily.

Costumes can be hazardous, too. Many costumes bought at the store are not fireproof; most are extremely flimsy. Shorten costumes that trail on the ground. It's too easy to trip and fall while dashing back and forth in the dark.

Ghosts are safer than witches—at least on dark streets; motorists can see light costumes much more clearly. If your trick-or-treater insists on being Batman or a witch, sew strips of light-reflecting tape on the costume. A responsible adult should accompany any preschoolers at least.

Hallowe'en hazards can be internal, too, Miss Morris points out. Children who eat a six month's supply of candy in one night will probably be miserable the next day. Put some of the wrapped treats away and dole them out for several weeks. They may even last until Christmas.

Think about the goodies you're handing out; avoid suckers with hard sticks—a fall could spell real trouble. Individually wrapped homemade treats are most popular if you can take the time and trouble. Or, why not give fruit, cookies, popcorn balls or small packages of raisins this year?

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

A KIND WORD DAILY

It would be very nice to say a kind word, For someone you knew, every day; A sort of "build-up" they never would know, I think it would help them some way.

It's so easy to think of something that's good, Of a friend who once came your way; You may never know the good that it does, Both to you and the one that's away.

You always feel better for having said well, Instead of some scandal so small; For the scandal will grow to double it's size, When it shouldn't be mentioned at all.

So let's speak well of some friend every day, And I'm sure when they're speaking of you; They'd forget all the sins and mistakes that you made, And say only the good that is true.

The annual fund drive of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company is now in progress with 1600 letters being mailed to all residents of the area protected by the company.

Millsboro downed Harrington, 25-12, in a grid contest.

Greenda Eden paced a mile in 2:04.1, the best time of the current Kent & Sussex Raceway meet here Tuesday night.

The Harrington faculty entertained the members of the Kent County Education Association at a coffee on the evening of October 5. The president of the association, Alan Rutledge, welcomed approximately 100 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith are touring the western states.

Andrew Kukulka, of Philadelphia, is spending sometime with his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kukulka.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carpenter and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jump went to Philadelphia on Monday to meet Mrs. Richard Pitlick who flew from Germany. Mrs. Pitlick, the former Mary Lord, has been living in Germany several months with her husband who is in the Army.

Miss Nellie Hopkins, Mrs. Mildred Wyatt, and Mrs. Margaret Saunders spent Sunday afternoon at Rehoboth.

Miss Eloise Hill, of Williamsport, Pa., was a weekend guest of Miss Leona Dickraeger.

Mr. and Mrs. N.T.P. Sparkman, of Wilmette, Ill., spent part of last week with the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. George Long, of Marcus Hook, Pa., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dyer this week.

Twenty Years Ago

F. C. O'Neal, Sr., of Harrington, was appointed magistrate and notary public Tuesday by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel.

Mrs. Ethelyn Hardesty Cleaver, a prominent New York clubwoman and daughter of a Delaware legislator, was buried Tuesday afternoon at Barratt's Chapel. A native of Harrington, she died Saturday at her home in Kew Gardens, N. Y., at 69. She was the widow of Dr. C. Grant Cleaver, of Ginn and Company, educational publishers. Mrs. Cleaver was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Hardesty. The former had an undertaking parlor on the site of The Journal office.

Those attending the Kent & Sussex Fair this year remember the beautiful music rendered by the Joe Basile Band. One number was "You Gave Me a Rose," by Samuel A. Short, Jr., of Harrington.

Mrs. Fred Challis, of Chattanooga, Tenn., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peck, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, of Edgewater, N.J., are spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Harold McDonald.

A 665-acre site, comprising Deemer's Beach near New Castle, has been purchased as a prospective track for harness racing. Application for a license to conduct racing there in 1950 has been filed with the Delaware Harness Racing Commission.

James Harmstead, of Rehoboth, visited Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wheeler.

Jack Delaney, of New York, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brobst during the daces. The Harrington ball team defeated Henderson Sunday at Felton, 10-9.

Veterans' News

Q — I am a veteran of the Vietnam conflict with two years service and is not complete high school before entering the service. Would I be able to finish high school at government expense?

A — Yes, in fact, there is a special program set up for Vietnam veterans who have not completed high school. The financial assistance you receive to get a high school diploma will not use up the entitlement you have earned for education beyond high school.

Q — If the wife of a totally disabled veteran wants to take advantage of the new educational opportunity, must she go to school full time? She often has children, as well as her husband to care for.

A — Part-time training is authorized for widows and wives of disabled veterans with $95 the monthly allowance for three-fourths time and $60 for half-time training.

Q — What is the time limit of the guaranteed home loan a veteran may obtain from a lending institution, and what is the maximum time allowed to repay such a loan?

A — The VA has no limit on the amount borrowed, but has a limitation on the amount of the guaranty to the lender. The guaranty may not be more than 60 per cent of the loan and in no event exceed $12,500. These loan mortgages may run up to 30 years.

Q — Can I train for a commercial pilot's license under the G.I. Bill?

A — Yes, if you have sufficient entitlement and meet the necessary qualifications, first of which is that you possess a private license or its equivalent. Also you must meet the medical standards established for a commercial pilot and your training must be approved by the approving agency of your state.

Newark Resident Wins Graduate Fellowship

Mrs. Sylvia Zsoldos, of 22 North Wynwyd Drive, Newark, has been awarded a Danforth Graduate Fellowship for women. It was announced today.

Mrs. Zsoldos, who received her master's degree in history at the University of Delaware, also has chosen to do her doctoral work in American history here.

The Danforth Fellowship for Women is awarded after nationwide competitive examinations. Less than 10 percent of those examined receive fellowships and Mrs. Zsoldos is the only winner who is a resident of the State of Delaware.

A Chicago native, Mrs. Zsoldos spent her childhood in Finland. She is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and did advanced work at the University of Cincinnati and the University of Kentucky.

The fellowships are designed for those women whose educations have been interrupted for at least three years. Applicants must be planning to use their fellowships to prepare for a teaching career.

Mrs. Zsoldos is the wife of Dr. Laszlo Zsoldos, chairman of the department of economics at the University of Delaware. The Zsoldos have three children, aged two, six and eleven.

World Hunger

Dr. George Borgstrom, professor of food science and economic geography at Michigan State University, will speak on "World Hunger" at 8 p.m. Oct. 20, in the Willard Hall Education Building on the University of Delaware campus.

A recognized authority on world food resources and their utilization, food freezing, and frozen food bacteriology, Dr. Borgstrom visits the campus as part of a series at the university on population problems.

Dr. Borgstrom received his doctorate in science from the University of Lund, at Lund, Sweden, in 1939. He was active as a professor and organizer and headed two major food research institutes in Sweden prior to coming to Michigan State University in 1959. He became a U. S. citizen in 1961.

For two decades Dr. Borgstrom has devoted himself to intense research in world food problems, especially in regard to world utilization of protein. His major research interest has been directed toward fish and fruits and vegetables.

His studies in the geographical field cover various aspects of the balance between population and resources, with particular emphasis on key evaluation of population densities and the role of trade and fisheries in world feeding.

Dr. Borgstrom has traveled widely in North America, South America and western Europe, and has also paid extensive visits to Japan, the Soviet Union, Poland, Mexico and Central America.

He has been called upon frequently to address international microbiology (food science, nutrition and geography) conferences and national congresses of professional organizations. He is also known as a popular lecturer on world food problems and as a radio commentator.

A fellow in several scientific academies and a member of a great many scientific professional societies, Dr. Borgstrom was elected to the 300-member World Academy of Arts and Science in 1966.

The Swedish Education awarded him the international Socrates Prize in 1968. In 1969 he was the recipient of The Distinguished Faculty Award, the highest distinction given by Michigan State University.

Dr. Borgstrom is the editor of Atlantic Ocean Fisheries and a 4-volume treatise, Fish as Food. In both works he authored several major chapters on fish and shellfish proteins, the role of fish in world feeding, and technical developments in fish processing.

In 1964 he published Japan's Success in World Fishing followed in 1969 by a volume on the spectacular thrust into marine fishing by the USSR, The Soviet Fishing Revolution. One of his most important contributions is a 2-volume textbook, Principles of Food Science, used in university courses on food technology, food microbiology and biochemistry.

Dr. Borgstrom's writings have included a review of the field of frozen food microbiology. In 1953 he published a comprehensive treatise on the world food situation.

His study of the modern world on the verge of famine, The Hungry Planet (1965), was listed by the American Library Association as one of the 50 most important books published in 1965. A study of the earth's biological limitations, Too Many, has just been published.

In addition to three major works, Dr. Borgstrom has published extensively in his chief fields of research and related areas in leading scientific and popular magazines and journals in many countries.

The lecture on world hunger is free and open to the public. The series on population problems is sponsored by the College of Education and the Division of University Extension through Title I of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

Sod - Instant Lawn

Sod is instant lawn. More and more homeowners are taking this easy—but more expensive—way to a good lawn.

And, you will get a good lawn if you have good sod, says Dr. William Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware. But the question is, "How do you know you are getting good sod?"

"The only way is to develop a set of specifications for the supplier and installer of sod." Specifications would include the class of sod, such as Certified, State Approved and Pasture, with Certified being the top class.

The lawn owner would also specify the grass variety. The composition of sod would depend on your soil, the degree of shade and the amount of traffic on your particular lawn. You might specify bluegrass or fescue, or a combination for instance.

Of course, you should be sure you're specifying the correct grass mixture, Mitchell emphasizes. "I recently saw sod specifications that called for 30 percent redtop. This was a certain invitation to failure since the redtop would crowd out all the more permanent, desirable grasses in a year."

The specifications would also state the thickness of cut—whether you'd get one-half or one inch of soil.

You should set a time limit too; sod should be harvested, delivered and installed within 36 hours.

Sod specifications protect both the buyer and supplier. They're your best guarantee of satisfaction, Mitchell points out.

In fact, your instant lawn will only be as good as your specifications. A model set of specifications is available to help you develop your own; for a copy, write Dr. William Mitchell, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark 19711.

FENCE TALK

with George X. Vapaa
By Francis C. Webb, Asst.

Since Mr. Vapaa has had this most unfortunate illness, for a period of time he will not be able to write his "Fence Talk" news. Until his recovery I will be filling in to bring you news and information on local extension events as well as interesting and informative subjects for everyone.

Now is the most important time of the year to keep farm safety in mind.

You may be a little behind in your harvesting, so you tend to take a short cut by not stopping the machine to service it or getting the machine unplugged. I realize it's a little easier sometimes to perform these jobs with the machine running, but saving a few minutes or making it a little easier for yourself can never replace your eye sight or arms and legs, or even your life. So keep safety in mind when operating or working around any kinds of equipment.

Insect stings can be fatal to hypersensitive people. If you think that you or any member of your family may be hypersensitive to bee, wasp, hornet or yellow jacket stings, ask your physician to administer a simple allergy test. If the test gives negative results the doctor will begin an immunization program and prescribe inexpensive emergency medication.

Particularly with cooler weather arriving, many of these stinging insects will be more noticeable around the home because they are attracted to warm locations. Do not take a chance, particularly if you or any of your family have allergic tendencies, see your physician, the most you can spend is a small amount of time and money.

Now is a good time to landscape around your home with trees and shrubs. The planting of such ornaments is only part of the landscaping process. Probably the one most important aspect is the planning that should go on before a single shrub is placed in the ground. A little constructive thinking and planning now may save you from having to move some of the plants a few years from now after they have grown and crowded themselves, also making the landscaping unattractive.

Fall is a good time to work on your home landscaping. Broadleaf evergreens should be planted early in the fall so they have time to become established before winter. Most needed evergreens and deciduous shrubs and trees can be planted in late fall. Container grown plants or balled plants usually give the best results because the plants have been conditioned for transplanting.

This brings up the point of wanting to move established trees or shrubs already in the landscape. This can be done by root pruning the plant with a spade or another sharp tool about 3 to 4 months before wanting to move the plant. This will condition the tree or shrub to concentrate a new root system closer to the main stem. Always remember that the larger the plant the more difficult it is to move and obtain satisfactory results.

Be sure plants are properly spaced and planted in favorable locations. Do not skip on soil preparation prior to planting. If you need information on landscaping to improve the appearance of your home, contact your local county extension office. Another excellent source of ideas can be obtained from your favorite nursery or garden center.

It Seems To Me

By Janet Reed

Top stitching is an important fashion detail that also serves a useful purpose. Crease resistant fabrics which do not press easily may need this stitching to keep seams and edges in place. The stitching also adds a bit of firmness to the fabric.

But that stitching must be straight, especially if you use a contrasting color for trim. Newer sewing machines make straight stitching easy because of the guide built into the throat plate. But it's still easier with the gauge foot, an attachment you can buy at your sewing machine shop.

The gauge foot is a small foot attached in place of the presser foot with a set of gauges that guide the edge of the fabric an even distance from the needle. The gauges differ in the height of their side walls so that you can stitch different thicknesses of fabric. You can stitch close to the edge or as far as an inch. A shallow wall guide enable you to top stitch using the seam line as a guide. Complete directions come with this useful attachment.

You may need to lessen the pressure on the presser foot so the top layer of fabric is not pushed out of place as you stitch. Use only enough pressure for the fabric to feed under the presser foot as you sew.

To emphasize the stitching detail, use a heavy thread such as buttonhole twist, and lengthen the stitch to about 8 to 10 stitches per inch.

It's possible to use the buttonhole twist on the bobbin and stitch with the wrong side of the fabric up, but you'll get better results by using the buttonhole twist on both upper and lower threads.

You may need a larger machine needle for this heavier thread. Try to use a long enough piece of thread so you won't have to stop and re-thread in the middle of the stitching. Two or three rows of stitching side by side will further emphasize the lines of the garment.

Test stitch on a sample of your fabric before applying the stitching to the garment. Professional results are easier if you take advantage of the tools available for the job.

Harrington New Century Club News

The first fall meeting of the Harrington New Century Club on Tuesday was a gala affair and enjoyed by approximately fifty members and guests. The president, Mrs. T. H. Storus, led in reading the Club Collect in unison before a covered dish luncheon at 12:30 o'clock and after the delicious meal she introduced Mrs. Charles L. Peck, Jr., the chairman of the program for the day. Mrs. Peck introduced Okey McCourt of Georgetown who gave a most thrilling and instructive lecture on bird life in Delaware. He showed many colored pictures of birds in his own yard and nearby woodlands. He told many interesting things of the habits and nature of our little feathered friends which will long be remembered.

Mrs. Storus conducted a brief business session and announced a rummage sale to be this Friday at Spence's Bazaar.

The next meeting will be on October 28 when a program on Arts and Crafts will be presented by Mrs. John Curtis and her committee: Mrs. F. Derickson, Mrs. Wallace Hanson, Mrs. Theodore Harrington, Mrs. Norman Oliver and Mrs. Howard Thistlewood.

Senior Center News

If you have heard about the Center before, be polite and read again, anyway.

The birthday party for the members born in the month of October was held on Tuesday, with twenty-six persons present to wish the "young at heart" a pleasant year ahead. The celebrants attending were Anna Mae Short, Leah Coleman and one of our youngest members, Emma Passmore, who is an active 88. It is to be regretted that her name was omitted in the news last week. Her birthday occurs on October 24. Our two directors, Angela Johnston and Catherine Errigo, were co-chairmen of the party, furnishing the refreshments for the group.

One of the members, Gladys Hill, spent Monday, Oct. 13, with a group on a bus tour to Flemington, N.J. Another member, Christine Clymer, is visiting her sister in New York.

Coming events of importance on Mondays the assistant director, Catherine Errigo, will have a sewing class. Any hems to turn, zippers to put in, dresses or aprons to make? Bring them along and receive the help you need from one who knows. Of course, on Friday, Oct. 24, is the chicken and dumpling supper from 4 to 8. Tickets are available from any of the board of directors, from Ernest Gleason, or from the Senior Center (398-1908). Marian Moore and Anne McWilliams are making plans for a truly delectable meal. On Monday, Oct. 27, the membership meeting will be held preceded by a covered dish luncheon.

Why not mark your calendar now and plan to drop in on us on one of the above dates? Falling leaves are only a sign of autumn not a sign for staying home.

Two From U. of D. Participate in "Energy 21"

Two faculty members from the University of Delaware will participate in "Energy 21," the Second Middle Atlantic Conference on Engineering Education to be held Oct. 23-24 at the Inn and Gold Club, Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

Dr. Edward W. Comings, dean and professor of the College of Engineering is a member of the committee advising the conference planning committee.

Lloyd E. Stiffler, director of the Division of Technical Services and associate professor of civil engineering, will speak at the conference on college facilities and continuing education programs designed to keep engineers abreast of the latest advances in technology. The conference represents a joint effort by electric utility companies in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia to join with engineering college faculty members in exploring the industry's needs and the help available to it from the technical schools in the area.

The planning committee for the conference includes E. R. Streed and O. L. Shorter, Delmarva Power and Light Company.

Open Barn Event Set

Two Delaware dairymen will be hosts at the annual open barn meeting, 10 a.m., on Wednesday, November 5. The dairy operations of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Blendt, Taylors Bridge Road, Townsend, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stites, Little Creek, will be featured, according to Dr. W. R. Hesselstine, extension dairy specialist at the University of Delaware.

The event is sponsored by the University's Cooperative Extension Service.

The Stites, chosen as Delaware's 1969 Master Farm Family by Progressive Farmer magazine, have a 70-cow herd with an average production of 155,000 pounds of milk per cow. Their modern milking facilities, chain type silage feeder and feed grinder will be on display.

Blendt has an 85-cow herd with a 14,000 pound average production per cow. His remodeled milking parlor and silo will be featured at the meeting.

Several agricultural firms and organizations, including Bennett Machine Co., Agway, Inc., Atlantic Breeders' Cooperative and the Delaware Holstein Association will also have equipment and services displays, Hesselstine states.

U. D. Announces Drug Education Program

Dr. E. A. Trabant, president of the University of Delaware, this week announced a wide-ranging program on drug education.

The recommendation for such a program was drawn up by an ad hoc committee of students, faculty and administrators.

Most of the recommendations

Mrs. Isaac Noble has returned to her home after convalescing for nearly two weeks at the home of her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Nagel of Federalsburg.

Mrs. Harry Towers and Mrs. Arthur Dolby of Bethlehem were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Breeding.

Miss Joyce Faye Porter underwent major surgery at the Wilmington General Hospital Thursday.

Rev. and Mrs. Ira Crum of Fruitland were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Porter. Other afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Decker of Preston.

Mr. and Mrs. Cletus May of Philadelphia and Mrs. Eva O'Day of Greenwood, were Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. Isaac Noble.

Mrs. Mary Collison is a patient for observation and treatment in the Milford Memorial Hospital, room 2335.

Recommendations made by the ad hoc committee include confining the program to the problems associated with the use and abuse of marijuana, LSD, other hallucinogens, amphetamines and barbiturates; holding an annual workshop for student leaders, university personnel, and students in key communication positions; setting up a panel of speakers conversant with the use and abuse of drugs; providing an inventory of books, articles, films, and other educational materials to be made easily available to student groups and individuals; keeping the student body informed of the availability of counseling and referral help for students with personal drug problems; and inclusion in the academic program of materials on the hazards of drug use.

The university is deferring action on providing service to the state's public schools until its program is well established and "we have some measure of how effective it is. When we have gained experience in this area, it then would be appropriate for university personnel to consult with public school administrators who may seek the university's assistance."

The ad hoc committee which drew up the drug education program plan was chaired by Dr. Howard Harlan, professor of sociology. Other panel members included Dr. Herbert L. Walter, a physician and associate director of the Student Health Services; Dean Mary Carl, of the College of Nursing; Dr. Albert Branca, professor of psychology; Dr. Wm. Kerr, director of the Student Counseling Service; Donald P. Hardy, former dean of men and now vice president for student affairs at Rhode Island College; and students Peggy Bedingfield and Frederick A. Muller.

ABOUT YOUR ELECTRIC BILL

Most customers received estimate bills in August and September when meters were not read because of a work stoppage. The estimates were made on July bills.

After meters were read again, the estimated amounts each customer had paid were deducted before his new bill was prepared.

In some cases the estimated bills were low, so the amount due now seems high. We're sorry about this, but promise you that you are billed only for electricity actually used.

For comparison, we suggest that you check the total of your electric bills for August, September and October of last year, and see if it isn't close to the total of August, September and October this year. Of course, you'll need to take into consideration any extra air conditioner or other new appliance you added this summer.

Delmarva Power & Light Company assures you that you are billed only for electricity you have actually used. If an error has been made, the company is more than anxious to correct the situation.

Spartan Harriers Beat Caesar Rodney, Cape Henlopen

Lake Forest High School's cross country Spartans are continuing to dominate the hill-and-dale sport in this area.

The Spartans defeated Caesar Rodney 19-42 on Friday afternoon and Cape Henlopen 23-35 on Tuesday. Both meets were contested over Lake Forest's 2.4 mile course at Killen's Pond State Park.

The Spartan Captain, Chris Wetherhold, won both tests to record his 33rd and 34th straight victories. Coach Harold McDonald's teams have won 24 in a row and 116 out of 123, since 1958. This has to be one of America's most outstanding records, in the field of scholastic sports.

Against Caesar Rodney, two talented juniors, Lake Forest's Wetherhold and the Rider's Jim Waldbusser, hooked up in a duel of unbeaten.

With six-tenths of a mile to go, Wetherhold finally shook the dogged pursuer and moved out to his winning margin of 23 seconds.

Brad Morris, Sam Bostick, Danny Hitchens, Jerry Scott and Billy Stubbs "The Long Blue Line" gave Lake Forest the team triumph, by finishing in the next five spots. Bostick, Scott and Stubbs set new personal marks. The spread between Bostick in fourth place and Stubbs in seventh was only 12 seconds. This is the depth that makes this team a winner.

Jackie D. Parker was languishing at 15.16 for the 2.4 miles hill-and-dale course, when his 10-year-old brother, Howard, ripped off a sparkling 14.55 time trial. Howard is training for 1970. Jackie D. in his next outing, determinedly got his family championship back, with a 14.24 against the Riders.

Billy Walls was the fifth Spartan to set a new personal course mark.

Seven men score for each team. Wooters and Austin thus were moved up one place each. Wetherhold was only one second slower in the Cape Henlopen test, despite a stiff wind. He had two, tough rivals, this time in former Milton High stars Aaron Price and Emory Howell. Both won Henlopen Conference track titles in May, Price in the two mile and Howell in the half mile. Price was only five yards back with a half mile to go, but the Spartan steadily moved off to win convincingly.

Brad Morris, Sam Bostick, Danny Hitchens, Jerry Scott and Billy Stubbs again displayed winning pack running form. Bostick has apparently sewed up the No. 3 spot. His excellent 13.44 clocking gave him a new personal course record for the ninth time this season. He leads the team in this category, Rick Hamm is next with six, new marks.

Eleven more finished Lake Forest

Donald Woods led Jim Blade's W. T. Chipman harriers through a good time trial with a fine 15.54 clocking. Chris Adamo's 16.13 was his fastest yet.

Tommy Lyon cut 8 seconds off his previous best. Robin Hevelow, a seventh grader, lives 50 yards from the course. Without any previous experience, this doughty redhead ran 2.4 miles in 18.20. This is great time for a first workout by one so young. Living so close to the course, he can run it year round, now that he's got his feet wet. Remember the name. He's a terrific prospect.

Howard Parker, Mike Smith and Ron Woods had good workouts. Smith's 16.30 represents an improvement of 20 seconds.

The Spartans' new sweat-suits arrived in time for the Cape Henlopen meet and were properly christened with their first victory.

"Woody" Truitt Booming at H'gton. Raceway

Norwood "Woody" Truitt is second leading driver and a winner across the board at Harrington Raceway. He has scored 12 winning finishes, 5 seconds and 9 thirds in 37 starts. "Woody" makes his home at Berlin, Md., and is a regular on the Delmarva racing circuit.

"Woody" works a six horse stable mainly for the Blue Springs Farm of Fayetteville, N.C. His best horse is Flaming Message with a mark of 2:08.2 this year. Woody's driving ability earns him 12 catch drivers a week at Harrington. Woody's wife, Rhoda, stays home in Berlin, while their two sons, Bryce and Randy attend school. Bryce and Randy are both racing enthusiasts and have their fun on Sunday by racing trotting ponies, which Woody admits, he enjoys also.

In 1967 Norwood was leading driver at Harrington with a total of 23 wins, including 3 in one night. 1968's driving challenge never got under way due to a broken collar bone received in an accident, during one of Woody's "ever popular" stretch drives at Ocean Downs. The stable, however, did race well under Woody's guiding hand. No complications this year and in 1969 Norwood "Woody" Truitt is thrilling the fans once again.

This top driver's career began in the fall about 10 years ago; Woody and a friend, Dale Massey, of Ocean City, went to the Harrington Horse sale and together bought a two-year-old filly named Drafton Eloise. His first horse brought many things to his life, the most important money. Drafton Eloise paced in 2:05.4 at Laurel. Now retired to brood mare, her best foal Adios Frost who sold for $20,000 is racing at Liberty Bell.

Norwood Truitt small in stature but big in driving ability as witnessed by his record at Harrington Raceway.

Harrington Raceway Salutes Legislators

On Thursday night, Oct. 23, Harrington Raceway will welcome the Delaware Legislators and the states young Republicans.

It's strictly all horse talk and not politics. Besides the 9 thrilling races the fans will enjoy the buffet ($4.50) and the new Early Bird and Late Exacta drawings. After the first race there is a drawing for $50 and after the Late Exacta another drawing for the second $50. Plus it's Ladies Night, all ladies admitted free on Thursday. Post time 7:30 p.m.

Lake Forest Hockey News

Thursday, October 9, the varsity hockey team battled to a 2-1 score going down in defeat to Indian River. The Spartan's only threat was that of Juanita Garey who scored the only goal for the home team. The J.V. defeated Indian River with a 2-1 score. Debbie Steel and Debbie Wyatt racked up the Spartan's score. This is the only goal that has been scored against the J.V.

Monday of this week, Woodbridge visited the Spartan field and was defeated in both games. The Varsity girls tallying the score for Lake Forest were Bea White with 4, Beth Graham with 2, and Juanita Garey and Sue O'Neal each with one. The final score was 8-0. A 5-0 score was the cause of the J.V. win. Debbie Steel and Peggy Tibbett each contributed 2 goals and Joan Mason had 1 goal.

The only other home game, at Lake Forest, is with Dover Air Base on October 23, at 4 p.m. This is the last game of the season for the Spartans, so come out and support them.

Harrington Bowling League Leah Wheeler

Gallo & Stevenson put up a gallant effort to halt the steamrolling People's Restaurant quintet, but wasn't able to put much of a dent in their opponents defense. The restaurant boys remain two games out in front of the 12-team league on another three-game victory Tuesday night.

Shanley Smith was the big gun in People's victory with a grand 542 series effort, including a fine 201 game. Frank Collins also aided the leaders with a good 533 series and a grand 216 game included, with Cloyd Bushey again rolling well this week with a real fine 522 series. Robert Keller also chipped in a good above average performance to aid in People's scoring punch.

Jesse Gallo, Edward Hobbs, Ernest Gallo and Geo. Hobbs rolled very well for the construction boys in defeat. People's Restaurant has, so far, eliminated the other top teams in the league and will face the teams on the lower end of the standings in the final four weeks of this first third. To remain on top they are not going to be able to drop their guard, as their upcoming opponents will prove to be just as tough as their former victims.

Taylor & Messick and Gerardi Bros. met head on in a battle for good position in the standings with Taylor & Messick coming out a four game winner against the former second place quintet. Gerardi Bros. ran into a stone wall Tuesday night as they had all they could do by just struggling to roll their averages. On the other hand, Taylor & Messick took the furniture boys' bad night and turned it into their advantage. By sweeping all four games from their opponents, the farm boys were able to move up into second place in the standings, replacing Gerardi Bros. and sending them down into fourth place.

Tom Brown rolled well for Taylor & Messick, with Bobby Collins providing the big scoring punch by rolling a very fine 531 series. McKnatt Funeral Home and Jarrell Fuel battled to a two-two stalemate although McKnatt's rolled a superb team single game of 948 to take over the league lead in that department. Harold Brode rolled a very good 223 game at the onset of the contest to help set up the fine league leading score, and amassed a very good 540 series for a fine night's performance, with Harry Jack and Robert Garey contributing fine above average performances for McKnatt's. Howard Tibbett rolled a good 200 game, and amassed a fine 538 series, combined with great above average performances by Martin Jarrell and Preston Carmean to balance the attack for the fuel boys. McKnatt's is usually a slow team to get started, but are known to be late season bowlers according to past performances. Jarrell Fuel also comes on stronger after the first third, tho their standings right now fail to prove that fact. They are consistent winners in one department or another before the season ends and have been known to field a very strong team, which gets tougher each week.

Ralph Butler pulled out all his reserve strength in the final game of Butler Fuel's match with Wally's Garage and rolled a fantastic 243 game for the fuel boys. This real fine effort not only put him in second place of the league single game category, but also earned him a patch for rolling over 100 pins over his average. Charles Brown rolled well above his average, coupled with Butler's fine performance to aid the fuel boys to win three games from Wally's Garage in Tuesday night's clash. Norman Woodall, David Ryan and Larry Breeding all rolled fine defensive efforts for the garage boys to enable them to take one of their four games.

Marion Brown rolled a very grand 559 series, including a good 201 game, coupled with a real fine debut by William Lord, who rolled a grand 555 series with a 200 game included to pace Penn Central in a three game win over Hamilton Funds, Bernard Coffman and Raymond Baker also aided in the scoring punch for the railroaders. Hamilton Fund put on a fine defensive effort as four of the men rolled above average performances for the night, with Burton Case leading the way followed by Jon Chapman and Bob Creadick. Penn Central is bowling very well this year and are at this writing only five games out of first place. A couple more good weeks should put them well up the ladder.

The Spoilers have bowled very well the past two weeks but cannot seem to advance on the league ladder. Quillen's Market was handed a three game loss on fine bowling by the Spoilers' Billy Morris, Richard Wilson and Leonard Outten, although John Winkler rolled a grand 563 series with a great 207 game included for the losers. Donald Wilson also chipped in a good above average performance in a losing cause. Just because the Spoilers are well down the ladder, they should not be taken lightly. This team is very well noted for taking the starch out of the top team.
