

HARRINGTON POST OFFICE TO BE MADE FIRST CLASS

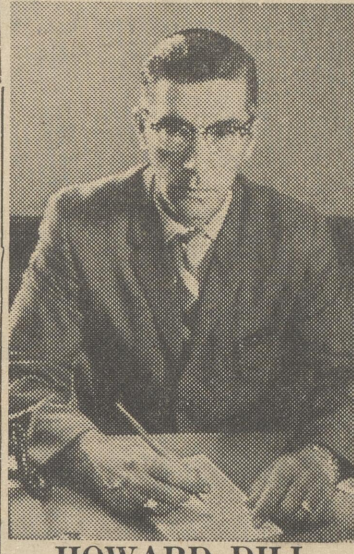

Howard Dill, postmaster at the Harrington Post Office, has been advised that our postal facility will be advanced from second class to first class effective July 1, 1970.

The Harrington Post Office has been second-class since Dill took office in 1953. Classes of offices are determined by revenue units derived from gross receipts. Receipts of the local Post Office have tripled in the last 17 years, he said. The thirteen office employees one more than in 1953. It operates on almost the same man-hours as in 1953. The only basic change to the patrons, is in the size of parcel post mailings. Parcel post weight limitations will usually reduce from 70 pounds to 40 pounds and may not exceed 78 inches in length and girth combined, when an office advances to first-class.

All other operational and postal function changes will become effective Jan. 1, 1970. John L. Lord has been advanced from assistant-to-the-postmaster to assistant postmaster. Other advancements and employee condition improvements are being worked out.

Dill said he had longed for the day his office would become first-class. "It proves that Harrington is a growing community", he said. Dill was awarded a quality-pay increase November 1968, for efficient operation of the Harrington Post Office. He is an orientation postmaster in the State of Delaware and trains new postmasters as they are appointed. He is also vice president of the Delaware Chapter of the National Association of Postmasters.

Chipman Harriers to Run In Wilmington

Jim Blades' W. T. Chipman School cross country team has a meet slated in Wilmington next week, with Tower Hill School. Claymont may be added to the race to create a double dual meet. The scene of the test is Rockford Park. Tentative date is November 7th. Most of the locals will be going to Rockford Park again on November 15th to compete in a 12- and under trophy race sponsored by the Delaware Track and Field Club.

Coach Blades is doing a good job with these kids. Several of the varsity Spartans have been overheard commenting on the youngster's progress.

In a recent workout at the Lake Forest course, Don Woods ran 2.4 miles in a swift 15:47. Chris Adams was next with a fine 16:04. Terry Jarrell, Ron Harmon, Robin Hevalow, Kevin Wooters, Tom Lyons and Kevin Lyons were others to cruise around the tough layout in fine style.

Eleven-year-olds Howard Parker and Ronald Woods, in training for 1970, were clocked in 15:28 and 17:14. They should be 1-2 for Blades next fall.

At Laurel, the locals tackled a course almost 2.9 miles long. Woods and Adams were right together in 18:15 and 18:17. That's mighty good time for eighth graders. Four boys in

DSTC Men Now Completing Cable Projects

Diamond State Telephone Co. construction men are now completing one of Kent County's largest cable projects, reports Harold Short, the company's district plant superintendent.

The project, which is costing over $239,000, requires the placing of more than 50,000 feet of underground cable.

"The new underground cable will replace some aerial cable which will be removed," Short added, "the underground cable will afford more protection from the elements, such as snow and ice storms."

But one problem with underground cable is the possibility of road crews and farmers digging into it and cutting off telephone service.

He cautioned highway construction crews and farmers to always be on the alert to this possibility and he also reminded them to call the telephone company repair service before they do any digging.

The underground cable goes north from the Dover central office in the State Street alley to Division Street, then east on Division Street to Forrest Avenue, east on Forrest Avenue to a point 500 feet east on Salisbury Road. The cable then goes east on Route 8 and Route 44 to Hartly.

Short said that during 1970, the company plans to spend an additional $478,000 in Dover-Hartly area for work on cables.

News Truck Destroyed By Fire

A truck loaded with 3,400 copies of the Evening Journal newspaper was destroyed by fire Tuesday on U.S. 13 about half a mile south of St. George's.

The driver, Robert Peck of Dover, was uninjured in the blaze, which destroyed the papers and held up traffic for at least half an hour until the fire was extinguished by the Odessa and Port Penn Fire Companies.

William Beck of Delaware City, county supervisor for the News-Journal Co., said the papers were being trucked to the Seaford-Harrington area when the fire occurred about 1:15 p.m. He said a second truck was dispatched to the area with other papers. He said the burned truck was owned by an independent contractor.

Peck said the first he knew of the fire was when a woman motorist pulled alongside the truck and pointed to the rear. When he stopped the truck and opened the back doors, flames shot out the opening.

A short time later the gas tank exploded, setting the load of papers afire. The flames, fanned by high winds, surrounded the truck, covered most of the highway around the truck and forced other motorists to stop.

Beck said the papers were valued from $200 to $300. The value of the truck was not learned.

Services will be Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the Rawlings-Boulais Funeral Home in Greensboro, where friends may call an hour before the service. Interment will be in Greensboro Cemetery.

The perennial threat of floods, at the northern end of Commerce Street, appears diminished now that larger storm sewers have been installed in the area.

Warren Brothers, of Mt. Pleasant, Monday excavated 6-inch cast-iron pipes and replaced them with 12-inch concrete ones. The line runs from a catch-basin at 1 Commerce St., across the street to the junction of Commerce Street and Railroad Avenue. Thence, it angles northeast across Railroad Avenue to another basin. From this receptacle, a storm sewer goes north, parallel with the Penn Central, to a basin this side of Liberty Street. Then it runs under the railroad to a ditch which will be tilled by the City.

Warren Brothers also built the catch-basins mentioned above. From these, said Mrs. Franklin Derrickson, city manager, the City will use its rotorooter to clean dirt and mud from the sewers.

The sewer work was done rapidly to permit Warren Brothers to blacktop and curb Fleming Street, Railroad Avenue, Commerce Street from Clark Street to Mechanic Street and Mechanic Street from Railroad Avenue to Dorman Street. Some side walks will be replaced.

In other activity, the City has hooked sewer and water connections to a lot on Vernon Road. A house will be moved to the lot owned by Walter Messick.

Services were held Sunday afternoon from the Berry Funeral Home, Felton. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington.

Student Council Officers Elected At Lake Forest High School

On October 7, Lake Forest High School held student council elections. The following officers were chosen: Chas. Hurd, president; Richard Degnats, vice-president; Bonnie Kulkulka, treasurer; and Donna Wetherhold, secretary.

The new president, Charles Hurd, is the son of Mrs. Gladys M. Hurd of Harrington. In the past three years Chuck has held the offices of student council treasurer, secretary and vice president.

When asked how strong should the student council be, the president replied, "I think it should be as strong as it possibly can be within breaking rules set by state or school officials."

Richard Degnats, vice-president, served as treasurer of both the Felton and Kent Co. Student Councils last year.

In the afternoon Richard attends the Kent Vocational Center where he takes the data processing course. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Degnats of Felton.

Bonnie Kulkulka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kulkulka of Harrington, was elected treasurer. She served last year as secretary of the Harrington Student Council.

This year Bonnie hopes the student council can sponsor more dances and operate the concession stand at different sports activities.

Bonnie is taking the academic course and plans to attend college after graduation.

The new secretary, Donna Wetherhold is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wetherhold of Harrington. Last year she was a class representative to the student council.

When asked if she thinks the job of secretary will be difficult, she replied, "I feel confident I can handle it."

At Lake Forest Donna is taking the academic course.

Dietary Fat and Development of the Brain

Robert B. Flinn, Research Chairman of the Delaware Heart Association announced today that scientists at the University of Arizona School of Medicine may have come up with one way of helping to unravel one of the most important puzzles in biology—how body membranes are built and function.

By removing essential fatty acids from the diet fed to pregnant experimental rats, a team led by Dr. Michael Wells was assistant professor of biochemistry and research grantee of the American Heart Association, said the changes were in the composition and structure of phospholipids, a major constituent of cell membrane. Fatty acids are a key part of phospholipids.

The diet trials with rats may have provided an experimental model to study the membrane mystery, Dr. Wells indicated.

And many other scientists believe that an answer to the riddle of membranes function might go a long way in clarifying how arteriosclerosis starts. In arteriosclerosis, a forerunner of heart attacks and strokes, fatty substances build up on blood vessel walls and eventually may grow large enough to shut off the flow of blood in an artery.

Next, Dr. Wells will work a staff research psychologist to determine whether the membrane alterations discovered in the preliminary study have an affect on learning capacity and behavior patterns.

The pregnant rats were fed a diet lacking one of the two essential fatty acids—linolenic—that are vital to normal metabolism, but which the body can get only through the diet. The special diet was begun through the pregnancy, which last 28 days, and kept up until 20 days after delivery when the off spring is weaned.

Dr. Wells noted that brain cell membrane structure changes very little after weaning, so that early dieting patterns may well play a vital role in laying the ground work for later development.

The suspicion that these basic structural alterations may affect brain function grows out on the fact that cell membranes are more than just passive bags to contain cellular material. Membranes actually play an important role in regulating cell function. It is across these gateways, for example, that the foodstuffs needed to fuel the cells get in and wastes get out. Presumably the architecture of the cell is intimately tied in with the manner of regulation. And a change in cell makeup may well produce functional changes.

Senior Center Dinner A Huge Success

The citizens of Harrington and vicinity banded together the week of October 24 and put on one of the most successful events of the year, a chicken and dumpling supper for the benefit of the building fund of its Senior Center. There was not a family, or an organization, or a church, or a race or a service club that was not represented in this effort in one way or another.

Members of the Center and volunteers sold tickets, others served as waitresses, a large group helped both Thursday and Friday to prepare food, and some were dishwashers.

Special thanks go to the Asbury Methodist Church for the use of its facilities, to the members of the Moose Lodge 534 who took complete charge of the dumpling making, the Jaycees who were responsible for setting up and taking down the tables, and to the local and state newspapers and radio stations that gave the event such wide publicity.

This event is positive proof that the citizens of our community can and do work together when called on for a worthwhile project.

A Letter to The Editor

Five months ago I had a pet dog die named Rudy. Yesterday (Tuesday) I had a pet dog, named Speedy, killed on the highway, Harrington to Whitelysburg. This dog Speedy was killed with collar, harness, dog tag, and identification tag who he belonged to. This person that ran my dog down at around 3 p. m., could see him as bright as the sun was at that time.

I was told by Townsend Masten, school bus driver, where I might find my dog dead on the road. I went out Whitelysburg Road and saw an object on the road. I was not sure it was my dog. I met a car and the person ran his car over my dog, front and rear left wheels across the body of my dog. I did not know at that time it was my dog. If I had, I would have stopped this car if I had to pull in front of the car and wreck my car and his even if I had killed the driver of the car.

I never in my life ran my wheels over anything that was dead on the highway. I hope everyone that ran over my pet dog (Speedy) with his harness on suffers in some way before you meet your death.

A Man in Sorrow,
Harry G. Farrow, Sr.

A Letter From Judy

JAB
654 Rke., College
Salem, Va., 24153
Dear Daddy:

I am really excited. My 5 tests and 1 quizz are over, so I can breathe easy for a while now. Also, there is a course offered in January here at Roanoke College. It's worth 6 credit hours.

I decided to take the course— (Watch out, W. C. Here comes the bomb; and boy! what a lulu!—a hydrogen bomb at that!) It's 3 weeks in Europe!—London, Paris, Madrid, Rome, Florence, and Athens.

I just can't believe that I'm actually going—guess I won't realize it until I am on the jet going over there. There are 50 kids going from school and the Fine Arts professor is taking us.

For every 1/2 day of four, we get 1 day to go and do what we want to do. It's a chance of a lifetime, and I'd always dreamed of seeing all the places that I've heard you speak!

Anybody you want me to look up? I'll tell you more about it when I come home at Thanksgiving!

Oh sure: Sadie McLane, Dunganon, North Ireland; and Josephine Smith—the coal miner's daughter, from Brecon, South Wales.

Bomb No. 2 coming up please!
Of course, I just know you'd love to give me a nice $50 bill for spending money, wouldn't you? It could be an early — Christmas, birthday, graduation present.

Family wise:
I hope everyone gives me money for Christmas instead of presents. I have saved most of the money for the trip by working the last couple of years, but I still have to save for spending money.

See ya for now!
Love,
Judy
It's a deal, baby cakes; 'cause you'll have to bury me, anyhow!

Poems from Paradise Pastures
By W. Cliff Miller

A FRIEND
I never care to borrow cash,
I never care to lend;
But the thing I always cherished,
Was to know I had a friend.
If I really had to borrow,
Should disaster come my way;
Then a friend is all that's needed,
If you need some extra pay.
I hate to air my troubles,
When all the world seems black;
But one thing that really helps you,
Is a friend to slap your back.
A friend don't seem to bother,
When everything is bright;
But when they're at their toughest,
He's balm to you in the fight.
So wealth and fame mean little,
To accomplish my end;
If you haven't got what's needed,
And what's needed is a friend.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES W. PORTER

Doris Spicer Wed to Charles Wayne Porter, Sept. 27

Doris Ann Spicer became the bride of Charles Wayne Porter on Saturday, Sept. 27 at 2 p.m. in the St. Stephens Episcopal Church in Harrington. The Rev. Quay D. Rice Sr. performed the double ring ceremony. A reception followed at the St. Stephens Parish Hall.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spicer of Harrington. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Porter of Harrington.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported chantilly lace trimmed with seed pearls, a fitted bodice with a high jewel neckline and long sleeves. The skirt was a bouffant style with floor-tiers of ruffles in chapel-length. Her elbow-length illusion veil was held by a head piece of organdy and lace petals. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Bonnie Matthews served as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Brenda Collins, Mrs. Shirley Ratledge and Mrs. Patricia Barnett from Richmond, Va.

Holly Collision, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Scott McKenzie of Harrington, was ring bearer. Jack Wyatt, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. The ushers were Ellis Myer, Jim Cain and Ricky Porter.

The bride's mother wore a pale green ensemble with dark green accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The mother of the bridegroom chose a light green brocade dress with matching accessories and wore yellow roses.

The bride is a graduate of Harrington High School and is employed at the Board of Assessment, Court House, Dover. The bridegroom is a graduate of Harrington High School and is employed at the Diamond State Telephone Co. in Dover.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside in Harrington.

New Century Club News

Last Tuesday afternoon the members of the Harrington Century Club enjoyed a most interesting program on Arts and Crafts, which was presented by Mrs. John Curtis and her committee. Mrs. Frank Derickson, Mrs. Theodore Harrington, Mrs. Norman Oliver Mrs. Wallace Hanson, Mrs. Howard Thistlewood. They had arranged decorations appropriate for Halloween which made a beautiful setting and invited Mrs. Betty Bradford of Dover to bring her collection of more than a thousand buttons and tell how she became interested in such a hobby. The buttons were all mounted on cards and displayed on tables and passed around the members as Mrs. Bradford described each set. The buttons of many sizes and designs date from 1851 to the present. One card bore election campaign buttons of William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson on down to the campaign of 1968. Another was of bird and flower designs; some of gold and of silver, etc. At the end of her display, the committee presented Mrs. Bradford with a gift in appreciation of her exhibition of her precious buttons.

Before the program, the president, Mrs. T. H. Storus, presided at a brief business session. She read a letter from the president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, informing all clubs of a proposed measure to come before the U.S. Congress to permit trucks and buses to be made a foot wider and 70 feet long. She urged all club members to help to defeat this measure if and when it is introduced, because of the increase in danger it would be on our highways.

Announcement was made of the two unusual programs in November. On November 11, Veterans Day, a trip is being arranged to visit the Community College at Georgetown. Members will be called to inform them of details of the trip.

Fri. Oct. 30, 1959
Harrington Hardware Store was entered Monday night, or early Tuesday morning, and a shotgun, toaster, and gloves taken. An unlocked safe, containing some change, was not looted because the burglars, figuring it was locked, had damaged the combination. The Peck Brothers Farm Supply was burglarized Friday and between $150 and $200 taken from a safe.

Roland Neeman, Felton, was installed president of the Kent County Firemen's Association at the regular monthly meeting at Leipsic Oct. 21. The Kent and Sussex Racing Association closed its 15th fall and most successful harness racing meet Saturday night before 3105 spectators who bet $107,231, pushing the total handle for the Harrington track's first 30-night meet past the $3,000,000 mark.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Brown Smith, all of Harrington, have returned from a pheasant-hunting trip to Clark, S.D. Mrs. Lawrence Laramore spent Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Trice, of Cambridge, Md. Mr. and Mrs. William Ely, of Wilmington, were Sunday evening guests of Mrs. O. C. Passmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lopes entertained at dinner Sunday, Mrs. E. Sue Smith, of Stanton, Mrs. Glysta Wilson, of Wilmington, and Mrs. O. C. Passmore. Shelly and Gail Harris, daughters of Mrs. Virginia Harris, were the weekend guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith, of Salisbury.

Miss Carol Ann Moore, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kline Moore, was a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Skinner, of Centreville, Md., a few days last week. The ladies of Harrington New Century Club visited the Seaford Nylon plant Tuesday.

The was planned by the committee of Mrs. A. C. Ford, Mrs. Harry L. Boyer, Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Mrs. Elmer Smith, and Mrs. Alfred Raughey. Mrs. George Swain entertained the following at an anniversary dinner Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swain, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Swain and two daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Swain and daughter, all of Dover; Mrs. Wesley Ryan and son, Herman; Barbara Wilcutts, of Frederica, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilcutts and Ronnie Swain.

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel and his secretary, Claude Prettyman, were among those entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Brington Holloway Thursday evening previous to a dinner at The Wonder Bar. The party then attended the harness races at the Kent & Sussex Raceway.

The sixth graders, who ride to the meets with this writer and are clocked unofficially, but accurately, ran strongly, as usual. Howard Parker had 18.13, better than four varsity competitors. Ron Woods "The Spider" did 21.01, ahead of two varsity runners.

FENCE TALK

Francis J. Webb, Asst.

How much money are you leaving in the field? It could pay you to take a few minutes and measure the corn and soybean loss from your machine. It is simple to do and will only take a few minutes.

The following procedure can be used for obtaining losses from corn being picked or if you wish to find the ear losses when shelling corn.

First, measure off 1/100th of an acre. This can be accomplished by using the following table:

Row width	Dist 1/100 acre
30	175 feet
36	145 feet
38	138 feet
40	131 feet
42	124 feet

For each large ear missed within the specified row length figure one bushel per acre of loss.

For determining shelled corn measure off a 10 sq. ft. area, preferably a 40x40 inch square. Count the number of kernels and divide by 20, because each 20 kernels means one bushel per acre.

For finding soybean losses measure off a 10 sq. ft. area as suggested above and count the number of beans and divide by 40. For each 40 soybeans lost means 1 bushel per acre.

Both the corn and soybean yield loss determinations should be repeated in several locations in the field to get a more accurate reading for your actual field losses.

Corn harvesting losses ought not exceed 5 bushel per acre and soybean losses should not exceed 1.5 bushels per acre. Take a few minutes and make a field check and if you are above the average, maybe one or more of the following is the reason.

1. Are you traveling at an excessive speed?
2. Is the crop ready to harvest?
3. Is the equipment in good operating condition?

Calibration of sprayers is always a problem, so professor Frank Boys and Dr. Frank Murphy of the University of Delaware, Department of Entomology and applied Ecology have simplified this task. They have compiled a booklet entitled "Pocket Pesticide Calibration Guide," which covers the calibration of many different types of sprayers, useful conversion factors, proper sprayer cleaning and many other pertinent subjects.

If you would like a free copy of this helpful guide please call or write the Kent County Extension office (738-1448, P.O. Box 340, Dover, 19901.

DDT may be used by the medical profession in the future to prevent cancer in human beings according to the article in the October American Vegetable Grower. It says that while ecologists call for a ban on DDT, the medical profession is studying its use as a deterrent for cancer. The workers at Montrose Chemical Company in California, which have worked in manufacturing DDT for over 20 years, is under study by Johns Hopkins researchers, because the incidence of cancer among these men who have been exposed to high levels of DDT is far below the normal. The article goes on to state that an isomer of DDT is the only known treatment for adrenal cancer, according to reports in the American Medical Journal. Doctors are also recommending injections of DDT in peanut oil to counteract overdoses of phenobarbital.

This really confuses the subject of chlorinated hydrocarbons. Are they actually killing our environment or in turn really helping us? It could be a little of both, but it doesn't make any of us experts by drawing conclusions from persuasive newspaper and magazine articles. Let us encourage further research to answer the questions and draw the final conclusions.

It Seems To Me

By Janet Reed

Do you consider mending a chore or an art? I expect most of us consider it a chore, but there is a satisfaction in being able to put a good garment back in service again. And, it may take all the creative ability and skill you possess.

Be sure the garment is worth your time and effort if you attempt a time-consuming mending job.

Small holes or tears can be successfully re woven course-ly woven wool fabrics. Ravel years out of the fabric for reweaving, using crosswise threads in the lengthwise direction. By using yarns of the fabric you duplicate color and yarn weight exactly.

Don't worry about getting long yarns. It's better to mend with short ravelings since long threads pulled across the hole can wear away the edges.

In reweaving the hole, try to duplicate the original weave of the fabric—whether a plain, twill or basket weave. Use a fine needle with a large eye, such as an embroidery needle. You may have to resort to the use of a needle threader to thread the coarser yarns.

Keep the reweaving stitches as even as possible and give your work a good steam pressing after completion. You'll be surprised at the invisible job you have done.

The reweaving job is much more difficult in a finely woven wool such as fine gabardine on men's wear suits. If the fabric is a plaid, match the colors exactly.

If the hole is a large one, a patch will be easier than trying to reweave the fabric, if you have enough fabric. Most home seamstresses save fabric scraps for just such an emergency. If you have bought the dress you may have to look at facings, pockets, pleats or some other unexposed parts, for possible patching material.

There are many tricks for invisible patches—stitching on a color line of plaids, exactly matching designs, inserting the patch so it has the same nap as the garment and reweaving the edges of the patch. Press-on materials also can be used in some cases for an inconspicuous job.

Directions for the re woven patch may be obtained by asking your county Extension Home Economist's office for the leaflet "Invisible Mending," or by writing to me at Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, Dela. 19711.

Wasps Control The Alfalfa Weevil

Small wasps, slightly larger than the head of a pin, may be the answer farmers have been waiting for as a means of controlling the alfalfa weevil.

Dr. William Day, entomologist at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Biological Control Laboratory, Moorestown, N.J., reports that six species of parasites have been established in the East in an effort to keep the weevil population in check.

During a recent speaking engagement at the University of Delaware, Dr. Day pointed out that the present work aimed at biological control of the alfalfa weevil was started during the late 1950's in France, where the wasps were found to be a natural weevil control. "The decision was then made to introduce all suitable species into the U.S. It appeared that a combination of at least three species would be impossible to predict which species would succeed and which would be adapted to various environments."

Next, live parasites were sent to Moorestown where scientists either released them in carefully selected alfalfa fields--if numbers were large enough--or reared them in the lab. "Some species cannot be reared efficiently in the lab, due to diapause or some other factor, so they had to be released immediately. If we received a stage of the parasite other than the adult, they were held in quarantine to prevent the escape of any hyperparasites present," explained the entomologist.

When released, the small parasites search out the alfalfa weevil larvae where they lay their eggs. After the eggs hatch, the wasp larvae feed on the weevil larvae, killing them and interrupting the life cycle. Although the wasps will not completely eliminate weevil populations, it is hoped they will reduce them to a tolerable level, according to Dr. Day.

The main benefit to farmers will be a tremendous savings from reduced spraying costs with this biological control program, he emphasized. "Over a 10-year period, a rough estimate of the total costs for the parasite-weevil program is around $1 million. But in the mid-Atlantic states in 1969 alone, the savings from less spraying and less crop damage was $1 3/4 million."

Soil Acidity Affects Plant Growth, Yields

When crops fail to respond to recommended applications of fertilizer, the problem may be acidity, notes Dr. William Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware.

Although several factors can affect plant uptake of soil nutrients, soil acidity is the most common one affecting the efficiency of fertilizer.

Before fertilizer nutrients can be absorbed by plants, the nutrients must be dissolved by soil water, explained Dr. Mitchell. The solution thus formed is resupplied by dissolving additional nutrients in a continuous cycle. Soil acidity, however, is largely responsible for controlling this supplying process. When certain elements formed by soil acidity mix with plant nutrients, a compound may result which does not dissolve in water. As a result of this reaction, fertilizer nutrients can't reach the plants.

Elements formed by soil acidity not only prevent plants from making the most efficient use of fertilizer nutrients, but they will also affect crop growth, points out Dr. Mitchell. Excess aluminum and iron in the soil will restrict root growth by preventing adequate absorption of water and nutrients. Too much manganese will result in white or dead spots in the leaf tissue, reducing the photosynthetic process.

The concentrations of these elements increases as the soil pH is lowered.

Soil acidity is a continuous process, stresses, Dr. Mitchell. Plant growth, fertilizers and rainfall are just a few of the processes contributing to its development. With proper liming, however, the conditions that would lead to a reduction in plant growth and lower yields can be eliminated.

Drapery Survey

Women want drapes and slipcovers that last a long look good. More than 325 time, are easy to care for and women in Pennsylvania, New York and Rhode Island gave these as the qualities they wanted most.

The homemakers were part of a study on consumer reactions to drapery, slipcover and upholstery fabrics by textile and clothing departments of several northeastern universities.

The College of Home Economics at the University of Delaware took part in laboratory studies on the fabrics done as part of the survey. The study showed consumers are asking for polyester fibers for these uses, according to Miss Susan Garner, clothing and textiles instructor at the University of Delaware. "This group of fibers seems to have been accepted wholeheartedly." Consumers are well aware of the generic terms for fibers and their most distinctive characteristics.

Consumers want easy care items, particularly easy stain removal and little or no ironing. "Many consumers want, and all need, permanently attached labels which will give fiber content and the type and degree of colorfastness which can be expected, plus recommended care," Miss Garner notes.

Are fabrics available that will give the consumer what she wants? Which is better—glass, acetate, rayon, cotton nylon or a mixture?

The laboratory study showed satisfactory fabrics are available at many price factory fabrics."

Of the fabrics studied, glass and acetate where the most colorful with cotton, linen and rayon-cotton mixtures most subject to color change. Light also affected the strength of the fabrics, especially that of nylon and linen.

An interesting implication for Delaware homemakers was that effects of sunlight was more serious in seacoast than inland, according to Miss Janet Reed, extension clothing and textiles specialist at the University. These effects were probably due to air pollution and high humidity directly. Linings are probably a good investment, particularly for those fibers most affected by the sun.

All the fabrics tested shrank when they were washed; glass fabrics shrank a barely measurable amount, but some cottons and rayons shrank excessively. Drycleaning worked better; fabrics shrank less and showed less fading.

However, Miss Carney warns, glass drapes must not be drycleaned; they lose all color and finish and are more susceptible to abrasion if drycleaned.

Soil release finishes are effective, Miss Garner points out. Laboratory tests showed they made water-borne stains easily removable and often prevented staining. However, the was less effective for oily stains.

Senior Center News

The way to a man's heart is through his stomach. After the dinner on October 24, women could be included also. The event was a big success from all angles. Although it is desired, it would be almost impossible to mention individually the names of all persons who aided with this benefit. The efforts of everyone are appreciated with special thanks to the Asbury Methodist Church, the Jaycees, and the members of Moose Lodge 534 who took complete charge of the dumpling making. These are the same ladies who prepare them so ably for the dinners at the Moose Home on the third Sunday of each month when the support of the public is invited.

Three new members have been added to our membership list. They are Madaleine Bennett, Matilda Kotlaba and Blanche McKnatt. Come join us. There is always room for one more.

Two of our members were born in November. They will be honored at a combination birthday party during the months of December. Francis Harrington was born on November 3 and Amy Price on November 4 as her day. A pleasant year ahead is wished for them both.

Important to all members is November 6 when a representative from the Social Security office in Dover will be at the Center, 102 Fleming St., at 1 o'clock to talk on social security benefits. This meeting is open to the public. There will be a question and answer period at the end of the discussion. Everyone is welcome.

Have you been wondering how rooms in the new Center are being utilized? On the first floor there is an office in which a gift shop has been set up. Articles include ceramics, aprons, handbags, pot holders, etc. This is a shop where small inexpensive handmade gifts may be purchased which have been made by the members. Then, there is an assembly room filled with comfortable easy chairs and looking very much like any living room. In back of this is a work room with tables, sewing machines and ceramic materials. And, most important, there is a large kitchen complete with stove, refrigerator, and sink. There is a bathroom both upstairs and down. A small enclosed porch houses the ceramic kiln. On the second floor one room has been set aside for a thrift shop. This will be officially opened during the days of the bazaar on Nov. 14 and 15. This shop will give all persons a chance to either purchase or sell new items or items in very good condition. Information concerning this new venture and the rules that will be followed in the operation will be given in next week's news letter. This type of shop has been highly successful in other communities. Another room has been designated game room, hoping to attract men who enjoy playing cards and chatting with friends.

A third room is the meeting room for the Jaycees. And last but not least Samuel Short is setting up a workshop for the men. The work bench is almost completed. He now needs donations of tools. So there is something for everyone.

Watch for more news on the bazaar and Thrift Shop.

Spartan Harriers Best 3 Foes; Win Streak Is Now 28

Harold McDonald's undefeated Lake Forest High cross country team almost requires an adding machine to keep track of its achievements. The Spartans defeated Caesar Rodney, Milford and Laurel since the last writing to extend their win streak to 28 straight victories. Captain Chris Wetherhold, a junior, has 38 straight triumphs.

Coach McDonald owns a career mark of 120 victories and only seven losses. This fall's log is 12-0. One more victory against Seaford, in the finale on November 10, would give McDonald seven unbeaten seasons in twelve years of coaching cross country.

At Caesar Rodney, on Oct. 22nd, Wetherhold broke Rider Jim Waldbusser's course record of 14:02 when he traversed 2.7 miles in a strong wind, in 13:47.6.

Sam Bostick, Brad Morris, and Jerry Scott were 3rd, 4th and 5th to give Lake Forest the verdict. Jackie D. Parker and Billy Stubbs ran well to give the Spartans six of the first ten finishes. Lake Forest 21, Caesar Rodney 37.

Donald Woods and Chris Adamo led Jim Blade's improving W. T. Chipman harriers in a time trial. Woods, Adamo and Ron Harrison (3rd) are eighth graders. Top seventh grade finisher was newcomer, Hobin Hevalow, who looks like a real find. Terry Jerrell, grade 7, was close behind. Others to do well were Kevin Wooters, Tommy Lyons, Kevin Lyons and Elwood Killen.

The Spartans returned to their home course near Lake Forest High School for the first time in ten days, after two straight away meets. Milford was easily beaten 16-41, as nine of twelve Spartans turned in new personal records.

Brad Morris had to finish ahead of Sas Bostick one more time in order to be sure to retain his No. 2 rank for the season. The rapidly improving Bostick had beaten Morris at C.R. and the veteran figured he'd better sew up the No. 2 spot quickly. Sam cut five seconds off his previous best and Brad lowered his mark by one with Morris getting the nod. It may have been just in time because Bostick finished in front of Morris at Laurel. These boys are good for each other.

Jerry Scott and Billy Stubbs set new personal bests at home and finished closer to the front running Wetherhold, than they have been all campaigns.

Jackie D. Parker, Dan Bell, Gunner Dale, Neal Parsons cut out a whopping one minute and thirteen seconds.

At Laurel, a titanic struggle developed between Wetherhold and Ty Griffin of the Bulldogs. The pair ran side-by-side on a narrow sidewalk for almost a mile. At this point they left old Route 13 and took a dirt road through an area that featured an ornery dog and a dead rat. Shortly after leaving the deceased rodent, Wetherhold started to leave Griffin. He eventually won by 21 seconds, as he lowered Griffin's course record of 15.04 for 2.8 plus miles, to 14.26. Sam Bostick was only 15 seconds off the old record. This is great work.

Brad Morris, in fifth, turned in his usual fine effort. Dan Hitchens, ailing for three meets, is starting to return to form. He finished as the No. 4 Spartan and can be expected to get closer to the front runners by state meet time, November 3rd.

Billy Stubbs and Jerry Scott ran well as did Rich Hamm. The Sandtown sophomore was very close to veterans Jackie D. Parker and Dan Bell.

Spartans Upset Laurel

Lake Forest High School's Spartan football team, coached by Bill Muehleisen, Albert Wood and Tom Muehleisen, upset Laurel High Bulldogs, at Laurel on Friday night, to record the first varsity victory in Lake Forest's Grid History.

Both teams went into the meet grinder with mayhem on their minds. The rugged struggle had to be periodically stopped in order to administer to the needs of the fallen and two gladiators were expelled from the contest for attempting to dismember each other. Feel free, fellows.

Chester Scott took the opening kickoff for Lake Forest and broke through a wall of Bulldogs into the open. A huge foe finally caught him from behind at the 14 yard line. The lingering effects of a broken ankle suffered by Chester, earlier in the season, may have slowed him just enough to prevent the score.

Frank Daniels soon got open and caught a pass to score on the game's fourth play.

Dan Demora intercepted a throw on Laurel's first scrimmage play. He returned the leather to the enemy 15 and Laurel was on the ropes.

Mike Davis, who had thrown the scoring pass, was caught for a loss of 7 yards, then was intercepted. Davis cut the big Bulldog down at the Lake Forest 43, despite being outweighed by plenty. Mike may have saved a T.D.

down, then Dale Motter trapped a passer for minus four yards. A pass-and-run reached the six yard line but Motter and Damora stopped two runs for losses, before Lake Forest grabbed a loose ball. This defensive stand may have keyed the victory.

The aroused Spartans pushed the favored Bulldogs all over the field for the rest of the first half. Chester Scott hit a nice hole for ten yards. Ken Tribbett carried five straight times, hurdled tacklers, dragged others with him, on the way to three more first downs.

Davis gained seven but the play was nullified. A pass to Roger Klapp and another to Daniels advanced the Spartans to the Laurel 25. Unnecessary roughness cost LF 15 yards. Two Spartans hit a punt receiver, who had plainly signaled a fair catch, seconds earlier. 15 more yards ago us.

Laurel couldn't move and couldn't get a fourth-down punt away. Ken Tribbett advanced from Laurel's 45 to the 34 on an option play. Another quick pass to Daniels near the left sideline carried to the one but was called back.

Laurel had the ball twice more but couldn't get out of trouble, as they incurred two penalties, were stopped by Tribbett on an end run and by Ken again when he pulled down a pass attempt. That six-yard Bulldog punt didn't help much either.

A penalty interspersed between four carries by Motter probably aided the home team as the Spartans were only 3 yards out a halftime.

Most of the Spartan scoring in 1969 has consisted of sudden scoring strikes or long gainers setting up a short burst into pay dirt.

Chester Scott's long run had set up the first tally as the game opened. On the second play after intermission, Daniels caught a pass and later-alled to Tribbett. The speed merchant met one Bulldog at the 20 but the latter merely pushed him. Tribbett caromed off and completed the 50-yard play for the game-winning T. D.

Laurel finally began to take charge and notched a 6 pointer but missed on a try for two extra points.

The Red-and-White threatened to tie and possible win the contest when an interception put them at the Spartan 35.

After a first down, a long throw didn't connect but the officials called pass interference, although the Spartan defender was hit from behind by the receiver as both ran into the end zone. Lake Forest dug in and caused deficits on two plays and finally stopped the drive.

The officials ruled against Lake Forest twice more in the waning seconds. One of these decisions was highly debatable, also. Motter, a standout all night, made a great play, later, a Bulldog caught an aerial and headed up the field with a convoy of three blockers. Dale got into the flow and brought the receiver down to end Laurel's faint hopes.

The night was cold and dust almost obscured the players at times. Things are looking up though since two of the remaining three contests are day time affairs.

Delmar comes here Friday night in the home finale. The Spartans play at Dover Air on Monday 15th at 2 p.m. and at Milford on Thanksgiving Day, November 28th at 11 a.m.

Currently sporting a record of one victory and five defeats, Lake Forest hopes to improve that mark. Delmar and Dover Air are probably the poorest teams in the Henlopen Conference. A three game win streak going into the Milford setto might inspire the Spartans to another upset and a respectable 4-5 final log.

Harrington Bowling League

Leah S. Wheeler

Taylor & Messick put together a winning combination to move up on top of the 12-team league after Tuesday night's clash. Kenny Outten led Taylor & Messick to the top with a grand 581 series with a very good 212 game, with George Collins contributing a great 549 series with a real good assist also coming from George Sapp. Hamilton Funds was the victim of the leaders, tho they did manage to get one game to their credit, as Wayne Creadick rolled a very good 525 series for a grand night's effort. Bob Creadick and Burton Case also rolled well in a losing cause.

People's Restaurant also shares a part of first place, altho they lost their two game margin advantage they had been holding for several weeks, by falling prey to Butler's Fuel in Tuesday night's setto. Robert Keller finished a good night's effort in grand style as he rolled a real fine 208 game to enable the restaurant boys to salvage one game to avoid a disaster. Norman Clough also chipped in with a real good effort to help balance the attack for the restaurateurs. An all out team effort by Butler's Fuel was responsible for the upset three game win, with Robert Wright and Charles Brown leading the way to victory.

Gerardi Bros. took advantage of a below par showing by McKnatt Funeral Home to win three games from a team which has had trouble getting started in the first third. The furniture boys win enabled them to stay a distant third in the standings. Hank Wheeler led Gerardi Bros. to their 3-game romp with a very fine 532 series, getting an assist by above average performances by the rest of the team including a real fine 517 series by John Forbes. Robert Garey gave a good performance by rolling a great 558 series, with Harold Brode also contributing a good series to enable McKnatt's to win one game in their contest.

Penn Central is holding its own this year and is proving to be a tough opponent as Jarrell Fuel found out as they met head on in a clash Tuesday night. The railroaders put on a good offensive effort and solidly trounced the fuel boys as William Lord paced them with a very fine 539 series, with Marion Brown rolling a fine series, and getting good assists from the rest of the team. Martin Jarrell tried to put the brakes on the rolling railroaders with a real good series effort for the fuelers, but proved to be a lost cause as they dropped all four games to fall way down the ladder in the standings.

The Spoilers were upset in their clash with Gallo & Stevenson as the construction boys hammered away at the Spoiler defenses, even though John Shaffer bowled a grand 226 game and amassed a great 551 series to enable the Spoilers to take one game. Ernest Gallo was the construction boy's answer to Shaffer as he rolled a grand 574 series, combined with very fine above averages performances by Jesse Gallo, George Hobbs and Ernest Gallo Jr.

Quillen's Market fell victim to Wally's Garage with Larry Breeding leading the garage boys to a three game win over the grocery boys with a very good series effort. Edmund Kemp, Earl Quillen and Donald Butler rolled above their averages to help Quillen's eke out a single game win. Wally's Garage, usually a very strong contender for the championship of a third, is way down the ladder in the standings in this third, but should not be considered a pushover by the top teams.
