Mark VII is buying the entire plant at Houston along with 1,200 acres of asparagus beds. Also in the purchase is all the machinery of the Libby plant in Wyoming, but not the building or the acreage according to Prudent.

Prudent emphasized that the purchase doesn't affect plans to build a modern seafood and catfish processing plant on ground purchased north of Cheswold. But ground won't be broken on the Cheswold facilities until sometime next year while the Libby plant purchase will put Mark VII in business early in the spring.

"We intend to hire the usual seasonal harvesters, but also about 200 year-round personnel," said Prudent. "We will begin recruiting in February or March."

While no purchase price was announced, Libby officials said today they were moving out, after 56 years, "because we have not been maintaining a sufficient profit."

Libby has been "modernizing its supply sources" and intends maintaining only those plants making a profit the company expects," said a spokesman.

The company is also diversifying and intends to build plants in South America, according to reports.

Farmland owners in many urbanizing states run the risk of extremely high assessments for land taxes if they are based solely on land market value. A nearby major highway, housing development or industry may make the market value of farmland shoot up, but its capacity for farm production does not change.

The 1968 Delaware Farmland Assessment Act allows farmland owners to choose

Firemen Answer Six Alarms

The Harrington Volunteer Fire Company answered six alarms from Friday to Monday, inclusive.

They were as follows: Friday, 9:55 a.m.—dryer at residence of Harold Moffett, Commerce Street, out on arrival.

Learned James Schoch, principal of the high school, had discussed the location of the Junior Prom with members of the class, representatives of which are studying locations. It was revealed, at the October meeting of the Board of Education, such affairs, in other schools, were being held away from the school. The Harrington event had been held in the Field House.

On another Schoch recommendation, the board agreed to award a certificate and pin to the top 5 percent, in scholastic standing, of the 170 members of the graduating class, the recipients to be recognized as the Lake Forest Board of Education Scholars.

After Board Member James Pizzadili had suggested it, agreed to say Lake Forest Board of Education would approve an increase, in principal, at least, of the dues of the Delaware School Board Association.

After it had been investigated by Mike Mock, athletic director and vice principal of the high school, board authorized use, by nonprofit organizations of school facilities if there is no conflict with school activities.

Diamond State Telephone Company had wanted use of the gymnasium of Lake Forest North Elementary School, Felton, from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m., on Mondays; ICL wanted use of the same place the following night, and unidentified woman wanted the use of the W.T. Chipman Jr., gymnasium Wed. nights.

The board and supt. Albert W. Adams, the group's secretary, thought use of school facilities would be good public relations.

In further business, Nyle Callaway, Jr., board member, said he might be able to secure a 40-pound, brass, Baltimore & Ohio railroad bell, for less than $200. The board moved to buy it, if the Milford Board of Education would pay half. The bell would be awarded as a trophy to the winner of the annual Lake Forest-Milford football game on Thanksgiving.

The Board of Education agreed to make another final inspection of the new Lake Forest High School, scheduled for yesterday at 2 p.m. A final inspection had been made before but there were problems. Virgil Jarrell, Chairman of the Building Commission, said he realized the contractor, J. Roland Dashiell & Sons, had been under pressure. He added bleachers and boys lockers had been assembled and all outside lights installed.

Delaware Food Maret Report

by Anne Halberton

If Ben Franklin had his way back in the colonial days, a turkey and not a bald eagle would now appear on the Great Seal of the United States. America gave turkey to the world, but the scrawny, wiry, wild creatures of colonial days were very little like today's meaty and flavorful bird.

Since the first scientific breeding of turkeys in 1930, a chief concern of the industry has been development of a meatier bird. The result is now a turkey too bulky to fly, but with 50 percent more meat in proportion to bone than its wild predecessor.

With Thanksgiving Day just around the corner, now's the time to buy your Thanksgiving turkey. If you want enough turkey for dinner plus some leftovers for the week-end sandwiches, casseroles or snacks, standard guides suggest allowing 1 1/2 lbs. of turkey per person. 1 1/2 or 2 lbs. per person will give you generous servings for the main meal with enough left over for encores, if you are considering buying an already stuffed turkey. Another rule of thumb that's easy to follow is that small turkey's weighing 4-8 lbs will yield somewhere between 4-10 servings. A medium-size bird weighing 8-16 lbs. will provide around 10-20 servings, while the larger turkey weighing 16-24 lbs. provides from 20-30 servings.

Because most turkeys sold in November and December are frozen, getting the meat ready for the oven (stuffing and all) can be a job. The thing to remember to make this a simple task is to follow MORE MORE MORE thawing directions. The frozen, unstuffed turkey may be thawed in its original moisture proof wrapping in the refrigerator. However, this does take a long time (11-24 lb. turkey requires 2-3 days in the refrigerator. This procedure may be modified by removing the wrap, in which case 18 hours to 2 days are required. For faster thawing the watertight wrapped turkey key can be placed in a pan of cold water, or under running cold water. This will require 3-4 hours or the small birds to thaw and 7 hours for larger birds.

When Thanksgiving Day arrives, remember that the big birds, 16 to 20 lbs., require about 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 hours cooking time at 325 degrees Fahrenheit. Smaller ones—8 to 12 lbs. take about 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 hours at the same temperature.

A sure way to tell when the bird is done is to use a meat thermometer. Insert it in the center of the inner thigh muscle, where it will not touch a bone. A turkey is done when the thermometer registers 180 to 185 degrees Fahrenheit.

Place the turkey, breast up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not add water and do not cover pan. Basting is not usually necessary, but you can baste with pan drippings if you like. If the turkey browns early in the roasting period, cover breast and drumsticks lightly, either with aluminum foil or a thin cloth moistened with fat. This prevents overbrowning.

Up-To-Date Turkey

Turkey is as American as Thanksgiving. Or vice versa. But the bird has gone modern, according to Miss Marguerite Krackhardt, extension foods and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware. A far cry from the ratty, tough wild turkey of pioneer times is today's well-fleshed, tender bird. And, the modern inspected and graded turkey is available frozen throughout the year, whole or cut-up, as large or as small as you need it—even prestuffed, self-basting or rolled and boneless.

The federal inspection seal is your assurance that the turkey was healthy and was carefully watched throughout the packing operation. But the inspection mark only goes as far as the packing plant, says Miss Krackhardt. So be sure the package isn't torn or damaged and that the turkey is hard-frozen when you buy it.

Then, take it home and refrigerate it quickly. Keep frozen turkey hard-frozen until it's time to thaw; then cook promptly after thawing. Turkeys frozen with the neck and giblets inside must be thawed before cooking. Remove the neck and giblets as soon as possible, cook them promptly and refrigerate. The broth and cut-up meat can be used in many stuffing recipes.

You can thaw turkey in the refrigerator, in cold water or at room temperature, depending on how much time you have. In all cases, keep the turkey wrapped. Cold water thawing is the quickest; it takes from three to ten hours, depending on the size. It may take three days to thaw a large turkey in the refrigerator.

Slow cooking is best whether you are preparing a whole turkey or a boneless roast. Roasting is the traditional method, but turkey parts or pieces can be fried or broiled, also.

The length of time it takes to get done depends on many different things, so check your cookbook. To help you tell when it's finally done, there is no substitute for a meat thermometer. Put it in the thick, inside thigh muscle. "But be careful that the bulb doesn't touch the bone," says Miss Krackhardt.

When the thermometer reaches 180-185 degrees F., the turkey is done. If it's stuffed, the thermometer should reach 165 degrees F. when the bulb is placed in the center of the stuffing.

Of course, stuffing is almost as traditional as the Thanksgiving bird itself; every cook has a favorite recipe. More and more homemakers are saving labor and cooking time—and taking a cue from professional chefs. They don't stuff the turkey, particularly if it's a large turkey.

Instead, the dressing is baked in a loaf pan during the last hour the turkey is roasting. You can baste this stuffing with turkey pan drippings.

Leftover turkey needs proper care, too, says Miss Krackhardt. As soon as you can after serving, remove every bit of stuffing from the turkey and take the meat from the bones. Cool the stuffing, meat and any gravy promptly and don't wrap until cooled.

separate containers. Use the gravy and stuffing within three or four days; heat thoroughly before you serve. Refrigerated turkey meat should be served within two or three days. However, small packages of meat can be frozen and held up to a month. Cooked poultry slices or pieces covered with gravy will be good six months.

A Report On Veterans' Day Mem. Services

A report of the Veterans' Day Memorial Services at the Delaware Memorial Bridge Plaza was given by Mrs. Harold Fry at the regular meeting of the C.K.R.T. American Legion Auxiliary on Tuesday evening, Mrs. Fry with Mrs. Dale Roth, Mrs. William Humes, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison Stunt and Mr. Fry attended the services on Sunday, Nov. 9th.

Mrs. Roth is currently attending the Area B. Child Welfare and Rehabilitation Conference in Charleston, W. Va. Both Mrs. Roth and Mrs. Fry attended the Child Welfare meeting in Smyrna last Saturday. Mrs. Fry gave a complete report of that conference citing the excellent speakers who gave many interesting comments on the subject.

Membership in the Unit is now at 116 with 13 more members needed to complete the quota for this year. Any former members of C.K.R.T. who wish to rejoin, or any wife, mother, sister or daughter of any Legion member is invited to become associated with the C.K.R.T. Unit.

Mrs. Don Dell, Unit Child Welfare chairman announced that she has several bags filled to send to the "Save the Children Foundation".

The Junior Auxiliary members under the direction of Miss Nancy Callaway are planning for several activities during the Holiday Season. Last Saturday they made over 100 gift enclosure cards to be used at the Christmas Gift Shops. They are expecting to make tray favors for Christmas for the guests at several nursing homes in the area. A party for needy children is always an activity of the group and will be continued this year also. A caroling for patients in the nursing home is being planned too.

Mrs. William Outten received names of 16 veterans serving overseas to whom gift packages will be sent by the Auxiliary.

The Christmas Gift Shops for veterans at Brack-Ex and Perry Point are scheduled for Dec. 13 and Dec. 6. Gifts from C.K.R.T. Unit will be sent for the Brack-Ex date.

The Community Service and Child Welfare Chairmen, Mrs. Madalyn Dyer and Mrs. Dell will arrange for the Thanksgiving basket and the gifts at Christmas time.

The next meeting will be held on Dec. 9th. This is a week earlier than usually scheduled.

Senior Center News

For the second time in less than a month the citizens of Harrington and surrounding communities have given their support to the efforts of the members of the Senior Center. It is good to report that financially the bazaar of Nov. 14 and 15 was a success. As soon as a final accounting has been made, the results of the sale will be publicized. The members of the Center sponsored this event, and they are indeed grateful to the individuals of their membership and to the volunteers who worked so untiringly during this project. The drawing for the ceramic Christmas tree will be held at the Center on Dec. 15.

Our director, Mrs. Angela Johnston, spent several days in Pittsburgh this week attending the Regional Training Institute sponsored by the Commission on Aging.

Rev. John Edward Jones, president of the Board of Directors, attended a meeting of the Methodist Country House near Wilmington. The speakers dealt primarily with the problems of the aging.

The members of the Center are interested in sponsoring projects to help others. Therefore, on Tuesday, Nov. 25, they will go to Felton and give a birthday party at the Fletcher Nursing Home for those guests who were born in Nov. Also, from now until Christmas, articles will be collected which can be sent to the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded at Stockley.

A reminder, there will be a covered dish luncheon for the members on Monday, Nov. 24. Come, give thanks with us.

We want those members who are or have recently been on the sick list to know they have our best wishes. These are Elsie O'Neal, Helen Collins, Oralla Wilson, Helen Graisbery, Elsie Barlow, and Blanche Bell.

A sure sign of age? When one stops learning and stops growing! We at the Center are doing neither!

The Veterans Administration issued a reminder today to veterans and widows who receive pensions, and to parents receiving compensation, to be sure to fill out and return the income questionnaire enclosed with checks dated Nov. 1.

Leon Fields, Manager of the Wilmington VA Office said that VA benefits are paid to war veterans with limited income who are totally disabled for reasons not related to military service and to their widows, and to certain other dependents of veterans who meet income limitations.

Where benefits are based on income, the VA, by law, cannot make payments unless it receives the questionnaire containing the estimated income for next year.

Some 2,000,000 received questionnaires, Mr. Fields said. Veterans and dependents who have questions are invited their local VA Office.

HOPE YOU MISS US

It's hunting season time again. A happy time for the hounds and the hunters, if not for the hares.

We wish you all good sport. Beautiful Delaware is, no question about it, a happy hunting ground. But we do hope you'll plant this cautionary note in the back of your mind:

FALL

It's a busy time, old friend fall. Not just with raking a perpetual yard-full of leaves. But also getting back together with friends . . . shopping for holidays . . . setting up school dances . . . planning meetings . . . so much more.

It's a time when your telephone can cut hours off a hectic schedule. This autumn, rediscover how your telephone is one of the biggest bargains in your family budget. Plan with it. Visit with it. Let people know you're thinking about them with it. It's a TELEBARGAIN. And the more you use it, the more it's worth!

The result could be that a call might not get through. A call to the police. To a fire company. To a doctor or a hospital.

So, please, aim with care. The emergency call you save could be your own, or that of someone near you.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

THANKSGIVING
 — 1969

George Herbert, 17th century poet, put in a single sentence something that should be on the lips of all men at this season of the year:—"Oh Lord! Thou hast given so much to me, give me one thing more — a grateful heart."

It has been 349 years since some 102 brave seekers of freedom landed from their frail 92-ft. boat and began hacking away at the American wilderness. They were thankful for a land where they were free to practice their religious beliefs.

Plymouth Rock — the symbol of Thanksgiving — may have diminished in some minds over the years, but the ideals which the Pilgrims brought with them remain untarnished as part of our American heritage.

Let us, therefore, with grateful hearts, make Thanksgiving one of our most significant holidays, linking our prosperity with God, glad that divine providence plays a part in all good fortune, a day of prayer, and an occasion for enjoying all the good things of life.

— Thankful —

To be alive in such an age,
 With every year a lightning page;
 Turned in the world's great wonder book,
 Whereon the leaning nations look,
 Throbs a tremendous prophecy
 Of greater marvels yet to be.

Protect Roses Against Winter Injury

Home gardeners should winterize their roses, now, according to Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Roses should be winterized after several freezes of 28 degrees Fahrenheit or lower. But the protection should be in place by early December to prevent winter injury. When temperatures fall below 20 degrees Fahrenheit some roses can be destroyed, and below 10 degrees many are killed, he warns.

Since roses continue to absorb moisture through the roots and lose it through the canes during the winter, injury is usually caused by the actual freezing of the plants or excessive loss of moisture by evaporation.

The first step to winterizing these plants is to cut the canes back to reduce wind whipping. Excessive wind whipping can loosen and damage the crown.

This cutting back should not be a complete pruning job, however, says Stevens. Pruning is left to early spring. And you should not fertilize roses at this time of year. Fertilizer stimulates new growth that can be easily damaged.

Many gardeners place soil around the base of their roses for protection against winter injury. Rose cones are also very popular, points out Stevens.

When using the soil method, don't scrape soil from between the plants. This exposes roots to freezing. Obtain dry soil from other areas in the garden.

A homemade collar can help keep this soil in place. They can be constructed of hardware cloth, fiberglass or building paper. The collar should be 8 to 12 inches high and 12 inches in diameter. When the collar is in place, cover it with film plastic to keep out the rain. But don't place it so tight as to seal out air.

For additional protection, leaves, hay or straw can be added later, notes Stevens. If this is done too early, however, mice will nest in the material and chew on the branches.

Time To Store Garden Tools

You still need the lawn rake, but for most garden tools it's storage time. They'll last longer and do a better job next spring if you clean and store them now, according to Tom Williams, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware.

Sprayers need special attention because liquid sprays may clog and corrode metal parts. Dismantle the sprayer and rinse well with hot, clean water or with a mild ammonia solution. Hang upside down until thoroughly dry, put the parts together loosely and store in a dry place. Before storing, blow out empty dusters used for herbicides or pesticides.

Clean garden stakes, poles and cords and put them away in a dry place for the winter. Clean off garden tools such as spades, rakes and hoes so they are free of dirt and dust; store them in a dry place, too. Sharpen the tools so they will be ready for action next spring. Wax rubbed on metal parts will prevent rusting this winter, Williams points out.

Don't leave the garden hose where it can freeze; it may spring a leak, especially if there's water left inside. Drain the hose, roll it up and store it in the basement or shed, he advises.

For a running start next spring, take care of your power lawn mower this fall. Wash it thoroughly to remove oil, grease stains and clippings. Run the engine for a few minutes; then let it stand until dry. Drain the fuel tank by removing the fuel line from the carburetor connections. It will completely drain if you run the engine again until it's out of gas.

Disconnect the wire from the spark plug. Clean and refill the air filter with fresh oil, remove the spark plug and then pour a teaspoon of clean oil into the opening. Cover the hole with a rag to avoid splashing while you pull the starter rope slowly once or twice before replacing the spark plug. If the oil needs changing, do it now—not next spring.

Be sure to lubricate wheel bearings and any other moving parts. Wipe all the metal parts with a rag dipped in a mixture of kerosene and light oil.

Tom recommended wrapping the mower in canvas or an old blanket and storing in a dry place.

Bugs Moving In?

It's cold outside and the bugs don't like it any better than you do. Many pests will try to come inside your house to share the warmth.

Millipedes are one of the warmth-lovers, notes, Dr. Paul Catts, associate professor in the department of entomology and applied ecology at the University of Delaware. They won't hurt anything in the house, but they're not attractive guests.

Wormlike, they have a hard body about an inch long with 30 or more pairs of legs. During the summer they are found in damp places—under leaves, in moss, under boards or stones in rotting wood or in the soil. They feed on vegetable matter, small roots and bean, corn and pea seeds.

A heavy frost usually eliminates this pest, but if you are still having problems with them, Catts recommends dusting around the foundation of the house with five percent carbaryl (Sevin).

Pantry pests don't necessarily enter the house just in the fall. Given enough time year-round, almost any kind of stored food may become infested with such insects as the confused flour beetle, saw-toothed grain beetle, drug store beetle, cigarette beetle or Indian meal moth. The foods most commonly infested are cereals, flour, raisins, dry dog food, powdered milk, corn meal, cake mixes and nuts. The drug store and cigarette beetle will even invade spices such as chili powder and paprika.

These insects readily move from one container to another in the cupboard, so it's a good idea to check periodically and get rid of infestations before they spread. Insecticides are of little value in protection against them, according to Catts; simply discard any foods that seem to be infested. Since adult insects may be present outside the food boxes, store foods in tightly sealed jars or containers until all danger of re-infestation is gone.

Fact sheets on millipedes and food pests are available from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, Del. 19711.

FENCE TALK

By Francis J. Webb, Asst.

HOUSE PLANTS, when properly cared for, can make your home more attractive and bring some of the freshness of outdoors into your home. Plants have a way of perk up your home and seemingly makes it more liveable.

With the proper selection of plants and following a few steps on indoor culture you can have a beautiful display of both green foliage plants and flowering plants. One of the most important of these indoor cultures is watering. Overwatering is the commonest cause of trouble in growing house plants.

No other general rule applies to the watering of house plants. Some plants do best if the soil is kept moist; others do best if the soil is allowed to dry moderately between waterings.

Along with watering it is usually convenient to fertilize plants at the same time. Fertilizer solutions that are mixed with water are usually the simplest to use. Normally plants only need fertilizing about once every two to three weeks, depending on the potting medium. When soil is used in the potting mixture, less frequent fertilizing is required than if a non-nutritive medium is used such as vermiculite, peat moss, or orchids.

Most house plants require a high relative humidity for best growth. Optimum humidity is around 65 and above but this would make it uncomfortable for you. Here are several ways in which you can raise the humidity for those plants. Keep suitable plants in the kitchen. In other rooms group plants together and that will raise the humidity in the air surrounding the plants. Also you can set plants above a tray of gravel, sand or peat moss that is kept wet. One other suggestion would be to install humidifiers in your heating or air-conditioning system.

Insects are another problem which usually occurs on most plants in homes. For more information regarding recognition and control of insect attacks, and growing house plants, call or write Kent Extension Office for free bulletins entitled "Insects and Related Pests of House Plants", "Selecting and Growing Plants", and "Indoor Gardens for Decorative Plants".

PROPER CLEANING OF SPRAYERS before winter storage is an essential practice if you want to keep your repairs at a minimum and your machine relatively trouble free.

Hose down the inside of the tank completely, filling it half full of water. Then flush out the cleaning water through the nozzles by operating the sprayer.

It would be encouraging to do this a couple of times. Then remove nozzle tips and screens and clean them in kerosene or detergent solution, using a soft brush. Refill the tank about half full of water and add about 1 pound of detergent for every 50 gallons of water. Operate the pump to circulate the detergent solution through the sprayer for about 1/2 hour, then flush it out through the bottom. If 2, 4, D or organophosphorous chemicals have been used in the sprayer, fill the tank and add 1 pint of ammonia to every 25 gallons of water and allow to stand overnight. Then flush through the nozzles and screens.

Flush the sprayer a final time with clean water then remove screens and other small metal parts and store in light oil. Make sure all water is out of the pump and lines before storing.

HERE ARE SOME DATES that you should reserve on your calendar. December 9 & 10, Peninsula Horticultural Meeting at Elk's Hall, Salisbury Md. January 2, Delaware Dairy Princess Contest starting at 11 a.m. Holiday Inn, Dover, Del. January 12, Fourth annual Soybean Meeting Civic Center, Salisbury, Md. January 27, 28, 29, Farm Week, University of Delaware Newark, Del.

It Seems To Me

By Janet C. Keed

Sports shirts for men and boys are surprisingly easy to make. And there's still time to make them for Christmas gifts. A long sleeve version in fine wool flannel or plaid, or in corduroy is a special gift for the outdoor man.

Look in pattern books for suggestions of shirt size. Sport shirt patterns usually come in small, medium and large. Measure the pattern pieces with a good-fitting shirt, making any necessary adjustments.

A tailored professional appearance is important, so work with accuracy and press as you sew. There will be a lot of top stitching, so keep the length of machine stitches uniform and use matching thread. Test the machine stitch beforehand so that tensions are adjusted evenly. You'll use flat fell seams throughout the construction for a tailored appearance. This seam is made by placing the two wrong sides of the fabric together and stitching on the seam line. This brings the seam to the right of the shirt.

Trim away one side of the seam allowance to about one-quarter inch or less. The other side of the seam allowance is trimmed off slightly, the raw edge turned under and folded over the shorter side. Top stitch along this fold.

The finished seam should be about one-quarter inch wide, or slightly wider on a heavy fabric. Two rows of stitching will show on the right side of the shirt. Check with a ready made shirt to find which side of the seam is lapped over the other.

collar will need an interfacing for a neat appearance. Use the interfacing also under buttons and buttonholes and in cuffs of a long sleeve version. If you are using a cotton fabric, a layer of the shirt fabric makes a satisfactory interfacing. Use a layer of pre-shrunk muslin for a heavier fabric. The yoke is made from a double layer of fabric. For wool or heavier materials, use a layer of twill lining for under yoke.

Follow then construction method which is outlined on the pattern instruction sheet, and you'll be surprised at how easily the shirt goes together.

If you're working with plaids, match them at major seam lines. The yoke of a plaid shirt may be cut on the bias or on the lengthwise grain so it can be matched. A yoke cut on crosswise grain is usually impossible to match, but it may give an effect you'd like.

The placket and cuff of a long sleeve must be marked and stitched accurately for a professional job. The seamstress who feels less confident of her ability probably will start with a short sleeved cotton version and progress to the more difficult style.

Once the man of the house finds what a good fitting, handsome shirt you can make, you'll be asked for a repeat performance.

Howard Parker Wins Wilmington Run

Howard Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Parker of Mechanic Street, Harrington was an easy winner in the 12 and under cross-country run, held at Rockford Park in Wilmington, on Saturday. Howard was eleven on Oct. 25, so was giving away almost two years to some of his rivals. The sixth grader at W.T. Chipman school in Harrington, led all the way and upset the pre-race favorite, Gordon Thompson of Newark.

Thompson comes from a track family. His sister, Carol, is one of America's best female hurdlers and long jumpers and has competed all over the country, including the 1968 Olympic Trials in California.

Gorden has won several important races, including a cross-country event in New Jersey, in which runners from four states competed.

Parker ran several extra yards at one point, as a adult official was lax in his duty. But the little, 64 pound-bundle of energy, was clocked in a great six minutes and forty-two seconds for a hilly, one mile and a greater endurance test. Thompson stayed close for a mile, but fell rapidly behind thereafter.

According to our calculations, Howard was cruising along at a 5.20 per mile clip. He has to be one of the most outstanding 11-year-old athletes in the country.

Ron Woods, another local sixth grader, was running in fourth place and was gaining rapidly on the third place harrier, when the latter ran off the course. Woods lost a half minute, when he had to retrace his steps. He clearly was the third best performer in the race.

Others from here to do a bang-up job were Terry Jarrell (seventh) and Kevin Wooters, who was ninth.

In the 13-15 race, Lake Forest's Sam Bostick finished ninth in a field of fifty runners, despite being under the weather and falling down twice. His time of 12:25 for 2.3 miles is very good considering his misfortunes. Jackie D. Parker, 14, was 15th in 12:42 and will still be eligible for this event in 1970. The winning time of 11:47.8 was well off the Delaware Junior record of 11:24, set by Lake Forest's Chris Wetherhold in 1968.

Don Woods, 13, ran a fine race and can be expected to do even better in 1970 and 1971, in this 15-and-under grind. Chris Adamo, 13, lowered his Rockford time 15.55 to an excellent 14:29. Jay Wyatt and Ron Harmon were other locals to compete.

2nd Field Champ For The Edward Browns

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Brown of Route 2, Harrington, have a second field champion beagle, HUNTOWN LALA, after their Rangewood Pat achieved that honor previously.

In order to become a Field Champion, a dog must win three American Kennel Club Licensed Trials and must amass 120 or more points. Sometimes a beagle will fail to get that needed third victory, although piling up hundreds of points with lower placings.

Competition is so tough that long waits between wins are common. Yet, Huntown LALA got that win in Oct. 18th and in Nov. got that coveted Field Champion rating by winning at Chesapeake Beagle Club, Elkton Md. over a field of 43 dogs from several states. She has a total of 233 points.

The 4-year-old beagle competed in the 15-inch class and was handled by O.T. Bailey of Durham, N.C.

Judges were Ferd Wetyel and Carl Niblett.

Spartans Beat Dover Air For 3rd Straight Win

Track star Ken Tribbett has been the breakway threat for Coach Bill Muehleisen's Lake Forest High football team, all season.

The Spartans recorded their third straight victory at Dover Air, on Saturday afternoon and Tribbett was again the sparkplug.

The Lake Forest defense blocked a Falcon field goal try, which would have set the aimen off winging. Tribbett then spent 68 yards to break the scoring ice.

Tribbett, the Henlopen Conference 100 yard dash champion, then set up the game-clinching score in the third period. Sophomore Mike Davis, then sneaked across the double stripe, from one yard out. It is our opinion that this team jelled when Mike took over the quarterback reins, thus freezing Dale Motter for running back duties. The opposition now has to watch Tribbett, Davis, Chester Scott and Motter.

The Falcons scouted the Spartans when Delmar played here last week. They undoubtedly saw that the Lake Forest pass defense, is vulnerable at time.

Dover Air's Marv Allen tossed a 40 yard scoring aerial to Randy Via. The Extra point kick was good and Dover Air trailed by 12-7. Later the Falcons lost a chance to take the lead, when Allen almost connected with Via for another touchdown.

The Spartan's current record is three victories and five defeats. One game is left, with Milford, on Thanksgiving morning, at the Milford High Stadium. Plans are underway to provide some sort of rotating trophy, which will be retained by the winning school for one year and will be put up for grabs each Turkey Day.

Some weeks back we predicted, that the Spartans might well come into the Milford fray with a three game winning streak. This has come to pass. But we are not going to predict a victory against Milford which, at times has exploded offensively. In fact, we feel that the Buccoanneers will be handing the ball often to Bruce Watson, the state scoring leader in an effort to bring the scoring title to Milford.

Indian River shut out Watson and defeated the Bucs but the law of averages would seem to indicate, that Watson is about due to break loose.

Its your last chance, Spartans. Take your best hold.

Seaford Wins Henlopen Title Meet

Joe Nielson's Seaford High cross-country team won the Henlopen Conference Championship meet, held at Lake Forest's Killen's Pond State Park course, on Thursday afternoon.

Nielson's Blue Jays upset the Pre-race favorites, Coach Harold McDonald's state champion Lake Forest Spartans. McDonald had captured every previous Henlopen title meet. When he was coaching at Harrington High.

This was easily the most talented field to complete in downstate cross-country race with several lads running, whose own records of under ten minutes for two miles and excellent mile marks in the low 4.30's.

State champion Don Rincon of Dover Air Base, clocked 12.01 for 2.4 miles, just missing Chris Wetherholds course record of 12 minutes flat. Laurel's Ty Griffin, Seaford's Karl Shul-er and Lake Forest's Wetherhold were only three seconds apart in second, third and fourth.

The upset was triggered by the great performance of Seaford's freshman prospect Phil Shuler. This 14-year-old was beaten by all seven Spartans, earlier this season, but has worked hard since and came ahead of four of seven Spartans with a fine 13th place finish. Coach McDonald told his Spartans to stay close to Phil, but he moved away early.

The runnerup Lake Forest combine didn't run poorly in fact, several Spartans turned in new personal course marks. But it became apparent early, that Seaford wanted the title more than Lake Forest did. Some of the Spartans hung back in the first mile, while the harriers they had previously trounced, moved out to unsurmountable leads. In order to win you must stay in contention. Many a race is lost in the early stages.

Sam Bostick, tht most promising newcomer of 1969, ran a terrific race to break thirteen minutes for the first time (12:55). Brad Morris had a 13.03, to finish 12th two notches behind Sam.

Seaford's winning score was 60 points. Lake Forest was close with 66. First-year Laurel did very well with a third-place 91 points. Caesar Rodney had 119, Milford 125, Dover Air 126, Cape Henlopen 134 and Dover 155.

Seaford loses three of its top five runners this season, while Lake Forest has every-one back.

Harrington Bowling League
Leah S. Wheeler

Gerardi Brothers Tuesday Gallo and Stevenson swapped night to grab a share of the top spot in the beginning of the second third on Hank Wheeler's superb bowling effort, as he amassed a grand 620 series, including games of 215 and 248. George Wyatt also aided in the furniture boys' victory by making his debut with the team a good one. Gallo and Stevenson, on their four game loss again must hold the cellar spot, a position they weren't able to vacate in the first third.

Dallas Hayman set the pace for Jarrell Fuel's four game sweep over Butler's Fuel as he scorched the lanes for a superb 619 series, with games of 201 and 224 included. Also aiding in the fuel boys' effort was Howard Tibbitt and Martin Jarrell who rolled above average performances. Sam Lyons tried to aid the Butler's team with a good effort for the night, but it was not enough to keep Jarrell Fuel from winning a share of the top position.

McKnat Funeral Home, who could not get started in the first, lost no time at the onset of a new third, by thrashing Wally's Garage for a three game victory for McKnat's with a good 221 game performance, getting Ryan rolled well for the good assists from Robert Garey and Harry Jack. David garage boys in defeat.

Peoples Restaurant took three games from Taylor & Messick to stay high up in the standings, though they could do nothing against this same team last week which defeated them for the first third championship.

Frank Collins rolled a great 541 series with a good 203 game included, with Cloyd Bushey and Shanley Smith contributing fine efforts in People's win. Kenny Outten and Tom Brown turned in above average performances for the farm boys, with George Collins chipping in with a fine 206 game to enable them to eke out a single game to their credit.

Penn Central swamped the Spoilers in their battle as Marion Brown led the railroad boys to the game victory with grand 554 series effort including a fine 210 game, getting a fine assist from the other team members for a real team effort. Ray Wright and Billy Morris bowled very well for the Spoilers to enable them to take one game from the victors.

Quillen's Market put on the most balanced attack of the night as all members of the team rolled well above the averages as they crushed Hamilton Funds in three games to start out the new third in very good position.

Jim Cabbage was the pacesetter for the grocery boys with a real fine 535 series. H. Daufendbach bowled the first time this season in the Harrington League and made his debut a good one for Hamilton Funds with a good 204 game, amassing a real fine 531 series. Clarence Jarrell continues to roll well for the finance boys as he again contributed an above average performance.
