

QUILLEN HAS EYE ON SEAT IN U. S. HOUSE

State Rep. George R. Quillen, of Harrington, early Sunday said he was a Republican candidate for U.S. representative.

Thus, he becomes the first local aspirant for the marble halls of the Capitol, in the memory of recent man.

Quillen, 41, made his announcement at a party at his home where supporters hoisted a placard touting, Not Pierre the fourth, But George the fifth.

The card referred also to State Rep. Pierre S. DuPont IV, R-Rockland, who has also announced for the post. Quillen added he was "very serious" about the congressional candidacy.

He explained by saying he was interested in the post, now held by William V. Roth Jr., who had said he planned to seek the nomination for U.S. senator after Sen. John J. Williams had announced he would retire.

Advancing another reason for his candidacy, Quillen commented he thought someone from Kent County could be just as eligible as someone from New Castle County.

He had evinced an interest in the posts of state insurance commissioner, held by Robert Short, and state auditor, held by George W. Cripps, but abandoned the hope when he heard the incumbents planned to run for re-election.

Quillen twice won his post in the General Assembly by etching the opposition in the heavily Democratic 33rd Representative District.

He is a member of the House Highway and Public Safety Committee and chairman of its Natural Resources Committee.

Overheated Stoves Cause Trouble

Harrington firemen answered two alarms Monday involving overheated stoves.

They went to the home of Betty Jarrett, at 7 p.m., where an oil-stove fire resulted in soot in a chimney, but fire was out when they arrived.

At 11:15 p.m., they went to the home of Rosalee Jackson, Mispillion Street, where there was an overheated stove. No damage was listed on the fire recorder's report.

The City will retain its present car.

2 Injured in Auto Wreck

Two persons were injured early Monday morning when a car in which they were riding ran off a road and struck a tree.

Driver Thomas Derrickson and Mrs. Frances Derrickson were taken in the Harrington Fire Company ambulance to Milford Hospital and treated for head lacerations.

The accident took place at County Road 384.

Many Children Need Dental Care

Many children who need dental care are not getting it, but the Division of Dental Health Services of the State Board of Health is attempting to bring help to those who need it most.

Dr. Donald Cowan, head of the division, quotes National Children's Bureau statistics which indicate that half of this country's children have never seen a dentist. He stresses the importance of proper dental care during the early, developmental years of a child's life.

To help fill the gap, the dental health division operates dental health clinics. These clinics are primarily for children who would not receive this care otherwise.

Dental Clinics are held at the Health Units in Georgetown, Milford, Dover, and Middletown, and at the Rose Hill School for DeLaWarr District in Wilmington. The DeLaWarr District is served by a pedodontist (specialist in children's teeth) while the other clinics are staffed by interns. Arrangements are made with the school systems to bus children to each of the clinic sites.

Elementary school children are treated in the clinics, by group appointment, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. From 2 to 4:30 p.m. other children are treated.

Dr. Cowan said the program for older children is aimed at high school-age children who can keep appointments and arrive under their power. "We're working with those kids who are showing an interest in doing something for themselves, regardless of their family situation," he said. Emphasis in this phase is placed on the disadvantaged groups in the population.

Overall emphasis of the dental health program is on incremental care for children in kindergarten through third grade. Follow-up work is done where needed whenever possible.

Students are chosen by the school nurse in their respective schools for participation in the program.

The Delaware program involves both screening children to find dental problems and treatment of those problems. Dr. Cowan said many health departments engage only in screening, but he feels screening must be followed by treatment.

Farm-City Week Nov. 21-27

President Nixon has designated the week of November 21 to 27 as Farm-City Week. Theme for the 1969 observance is "Tomorrow's Food and Fibre—Everybody's Business."

Farm-City Week is 15 years old. One of its prime objectives is to provide a better understanding of the interdependence between urban and rural America.

The president points out that as our society becomes more complex it also becomes more interdependent. For example, agriculture is a $50 billion customer in our economy. And the marketing and processing of farm production creates around five million non-farm jobs and $25 billion in wages annually.

Technological changes however, have so increased farm efficiency that higher production has been achieved with fewer workers. It has been estimated that 800,000 leave the farm each year for jobs in the city.

Observance of Farm-City Week is directed by the National Farm-City Committee which is composed of representatives from more than 150 businesses, industries, farm, professional, trade, church and service groups, educational institutions, governmental agencies, publishers and broadcasters. This year's theme is also intended to draw attention to what the committee considers to be obsolete tax laws, air and water pollution, population growth and the lack of understanding between urban and rural people.

Land Judging Winners

Donna Racik, a New Castle county 4-H'er, won first place honors in the sixth annual Delaware state land judging contest, November 8, at the Francis Bergold Farm, Dover. The contest was co-sponsored by the Delaware Extension Service, Future Farmers of America and the Delaware State Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

Steve Mesibov, a Kent county 4-H'er, and Kent Aist, a New Castle county 4-H member, placed second and third in individual competition.

Top individuals in the FFA land judging division were Debbie Nelson and Richard Wilson of Caesar Rodney and Sharon Bullen, Middletown. In team competition, the New Castle county team ran up 599 points to capture first place in the 4-H division, while Kent county 4-H'ers had a total of 553 points and Sussex county youngsters compiled 472 points. In the FFA division, the Caesar Rodney and Middletown teams tied with 405 points, and Newark had 349 points.

Thirty-six 4-H'ers and FFA members took part in this year's land judging contest, which was planned to provide learning experience for young people interested in soil and water conservation. Contestants judged land on (Continued on Page 4)

Yuletide Party For Democrats

The Ninth District Democrat Club will hold its annual Christmas party at 6:30 p.m., in the New Century Club building on Dorman Street. Women are requested to bring a covered dish.

C. Brown, the City's solicitor. However, according to City Manager Kathryn Derrickson, some months ago the charge was $5 per load. She said the City normally collects six loads of trash per week but guessed it might run more than that before long.

WEST BYPASS BACKED BY DOVER COUNCIL

City Council Monday night unanimously supported the westerly Dover bypass.

Richard S. McCann, city planner, said his second choice would be the far west bypass, as opposed to the county planning staff's concept of a beltway.

Council backed the westerly route in front of eight downstate legislators. Present for Monday night's session were State Sents Andy Foltz, R-Dover; Allen J. Cook, D-Kenton; George A. Robbins, D-Milford; Reps. Jacob W. Zimmerman, D-Dover; George R. Quillen, R-Harrington; Lorin B. Sebrell, R-Dover; Joe L. Rawlins, D-Fredricka, and W. Neal Moerschel, R-Dover.

The city government also ruled that the resolution of support be presented at Tuesday night public hearing on the bypass, presented by the State Highway Department.

In backing the westerly bypass, council agreed with its planning unit which supported the proposal early last week.

WOODBIDGE DISTRICT GRANTED LAND FUNDS

The State Budget Commission last Friday granted the Woodbridge School District $72,000 in land-acquisition funds for a school site midway between Bridgeville and Greenwood.

The district, a consolidation of the old Greenwood and Bridgeville School Districts, will now set a date for a vote on construction of a new high school on the tract of about 136 acres at Sussex Roads 585 and 583 west of U.S. 13.

Dr. Foster J. Flint, chief school officer of the Woodbridge district said last Friday that the Board of Education will probably set the date at its next meeting.

He said the district has a contract to buy the site, known as the McVain property, for $70,000 from Mrs. Loretta Nichols of Denton, Md. The other $2,000 approved by the budget commission will be used for survey costs and legal costs in acquiring the property.

Because of the opposition to the first site, the budget commission refused to grant the district $62,000 in July 1968 to buy that property.

2 Arrested In Scuffle, Biting

Two persons are awaiting trial in Court of Common Pleas following a disturbance early Sunday night in a Fredricka restaurant.

Also arrested was her brother, Joseph Hutchinson, 30, of Dover, who was charged with breach of the peace and resisting arrest. He is in Kent Correctional Institute in default of $1,000 bail.

City Dump To Close by Dec. 1 On Order of State Bodies

On the order of two state agencies, the City of Harrington will close its dump by Dec. 1, it was learned at a special meeting of the City Council Monday evening.

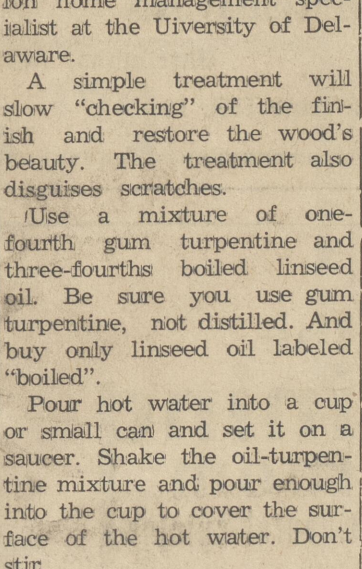

The action was taken after the City had received letters from the State Board of Health and the Water and Air Resources Commission ordering the closing. Furthermore, the state ordered extermination of rodents at the dump and covering the debris with two feet of dirt.

Monday night's Council motion also moved the dump be fenced and signs forbidding trespassing and stating dump is closed. It is on County Road 279 west of town. The City plans to use the Sill landfill on County Road 384 near Brown's Branch. The Kent County Levy Court maintains this newly opened dump and charges municipalities for its use. Exact cost is to be ascertained by Grover

C. Brown, the City's solicitor. However, according to City Manager Kathryn Derrickson, some months ago the charge was $5 per load. She said the City normally collects six loads of trash per week but guessed it might run more than that before long.

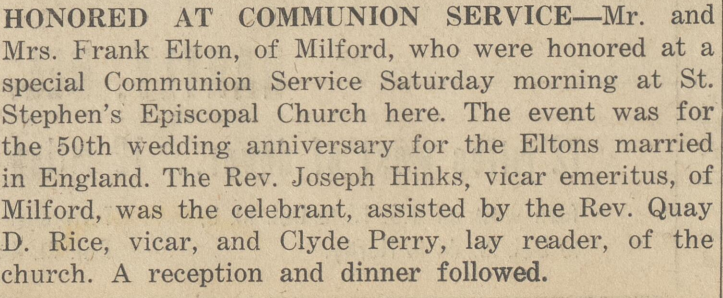

Outside, a chill's in the air, but inside, most homes are kept hot and dry. Your wood furniture may need a beauty treatment to withstand this dry atmosphere, according to Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

A simple treatment will slow "checking" of the finish and restore the wood's beauty. The treatment also disguises scratches.

Use a mixture of one-fourth gum turpentine and three-fourths boiled linseed oil. Be sure you use gum turpentine, not distilled. And buy only linseed oil labeled "boiled".

Pour hot water into a cup or small can and set it on a saucer. Shake the oil-turpentine mixture and pour enough into the cup to cover the surface of the hot water. Don't stir.

Delaware Food Market Report

The Holiday Season is here and with it comes gay parties that feature delightful foods of all kinds. From now until we usher in the New Year we will be planning, preparing and eating many different and interesting foods. The plentiful foods for December are so varied and attractive that the job of planning throughout the season will be easy, and maybe the expense will be a bit less too.

In feature place on the list of abundant foods are fresh pears and broiler-fryers, says the United States Department of Agriculture. There will be plenty of chicken for the last month of 1969 because marketings are expected to run a tenth above a year ago. These young, tender chickens are ideal for roasting as well as broiling, frying, served in casseroles, soups, stews, salads and sandwiches. For an economical yet luxurious meal, roast two or three of these young chickens, each stuffed with a different dressing. Serve them on your prettiest platter all together and listen to your guests rave. Boil five or six broiler-fryers and use the cubed meat in casseroles, hot sandwiches, salads and any other way you can think of. By preparing a large quantity and freezing the cubed meat on cookie sheets, then separating and storing in heavy plastic bags or boxes in your freezer, you can prepare quickly many delicious dishes.

This year's winter pear crop is big-40 percent more than last year, with all favorite varieties in bountiful supply. Anjou, Bosc, and Comice. In a fruit bowl, their shapes, colors and flavors form an autumn harmony. In desserts or garnishes, they add elegance.

To accompany pears, there are fresh apples. They add to any meal whether they are in a salad, baked for dessert, added to stuffing for your poultry, or stewed for applesauce. It's been a fine year for apples of almost every variety so do put apples on your shopping list today and in the weeks to come.

More potatoes and sweet-potatoes will be at the produce counter than a year ago and good buys should be readily available. When buying white potatoes consider what you will use them for if you are baking them buy the elongated potato-if you want a potato for a salad, then the rounder more moist potato is your better selection. For all purpose use, select the elongated varieties for they will mash, scallop and bake and do a good job for all three.

Other foods expected to be in plentiful supply in December are canned peaches, canned peas, canned tomatoes and other tomato products, dry beans, dry split peas, lentils and canned pears.

D.A.R.C. Will Hear Dr. White

The December meeting of the Sussex Chapter of the Delaware Association for Retarded Children will be held on Monday, Dec. 1.

All parents and friends of the retarded are urged to attend and learn what help is available.

The meeting will be held in the Christ Lutheran Church Shipley, Street, Seaford, and will begin at 8 p.m.

It Seems To Me
By Janet C. Reed

Fur trims are in fashion now, so small animal pelts are being sold in fabric stores. Rabbit fur is inexpensive and can be used for collars or other trim. If you've never sewed on fur before, a few suggestions may help.

One skin probably will be enough for a small collar. Cut the entire collar pattern from stiff paper, adding one-quarter inch on all sides beyond the actual collar size. This will later be turned under for finishing.

Trace around the collar pattern on the skin side with a soft pencil. The pattern should be positioned so the fur flow or direction is downward. Cut out the collar with a single-edged razor blade. Lift the fur up from the table when cutting so the hairs are not cut.

Finish the cut edges with three-quarter-inch wide preshrunk cotton twill tape. Lay the tape on the fur side. With small overhand stitches, closely spaced, sew the edge of the tape to the edge of the fur. Use a small needle and mercerized thread. Try not to sew any of the fur in the seam. Miter any square corners and shape the tape around curved edges.

Cut a layer of cotton sheet wadding or cotton flannel the shape and size of the finished collar; also, cut a collar of thin muslin. Place the sheet wadding next to the skin and the muslin on top of this. With a long basting stitch catch these layers lightly to the pelt.

Turn the tape to the wrong side bending the fur back one-quarter inch all around the edge. The tape should fold over the interlining. Catch-stitch the edge of the tape to the interlining, mitering corners and easing the tape to lie smooth.

The under side of the collar can be finished with the same lining used for the coat if the collar is to be detachable. If not, sew the fur collar directly on top of the coat collar. Start at center back and match fur collar to the wool collar. Stitch with a slip stitch at all edges.

If you have an old fur coat, use it instead of new fur, provided the skin has not dried out and is still supple.

Watch Out For Gyp Artists

With the Christmas Season fast approaching, shoppers were warned today by the Better Business Bureau of Delaware to be watchful of the gyp artists who flourish during this period of hectic buying. John E. Babiarz, President of the BBB, said there are a number of fairly constant schemes that crop up every year.

They are, according to BBB: Unordered merchandise often sent in the name of an unknown charity or as an outright commercial venture.

"Bargain" offers for perfume, cologne or toilet water falsely sold under established brand names of which are said to be a famous brand under a different label.

Telephones appeals from unknown charitable organizations for funds, clothing, food or fuel.

Sidewalk sales of cheap watches, ties, perfume, toys, gadgets and other shoddy merchandise.

Attempts to collect or C.O.D. packages for a neighbor who the deliverer says is not home.

Phony pricing.

Phony pricing is a scheme often used to sell cheap perfume or toilet water that are pre-ticketed at prices as high as $20. Sometimes a one-shot national advertisement is used to give credibility to the inflated prices, and it is displayed prominently where the merchandise is sold.

The frequency of unordered merchandise increases during the Christmas season, according to Babiarz. Recipients are under no obligation to accept merchandise, acknowledge its receipt, pay for it, or return it unless the sender calls for it within a reasonable period of time. In some states, unordered merchandise is considered an unconditional gift.

At Christmastime, sometimes delays occur in the delivery of goods ordered by mail from reputable businesses. The BBB advises allowing four to six weeks for delivery when ordering by mail.

To avoid Christmas buying problems, BBB offers the following suggestions:

Deal with reliable sellers. Check unknown businesses with your Delaware BBB. Examine all purchases.

Remember that itinerant vendors will not be around after the holiday to hear complaints.

Before buying, investigate whether the item can be exchanged. If a guarantee is involved, get it in writing.

When solicited by a charity, check its reputation with BBB first.

Beware of bargains that seem too good to be true. They usually are!

Veterans' News

Bigger checks for approximately 168,000 widows are due in January, Leon Fields, Manager of the Wilmington Veterans Administration Regional Office, announced today.

Signed by the president on October 27, a new law (PL 91-96) authorizes increases for most widows of servicemen and veterans who are eligible for dependency and indemnity compensation.

DIC payments, Mr. Fields, explained, are authorized for widows of servicemen and veterans who died on or after January 1, 1957, of service-connected causes.

Approximately 400 widows in Delaware will receive increased benefits under the new law.

The new legislation does not affect payments to survivors receiving compensation under laws that preceded the DIC program.

New DIC rates provide $167 monthly for the widow of the lowest ranking enlisted man compared to a minimum of $134 at present. Similar increases are provided for eligible widows of other enlisted men and officers.

Effective December 1, the increase will show up first in checks received in January. This increase is automatic and no application is needed.

Widows with minor children will get an extra $20 per month per child under the legislation. With few exceptions, they get nothing extra now.

DIC payments have been tied to military pay through a complex formula. In raising DIC rates, Congress discarded the complex formula and provided a table of payments based on pay grade.

DIC recipients who are patients in nursing homes, or who are helpless or blind to the point that they need regular aid and attendance of another person, may receive an extra $50 per month under the law.

Your Telephone Manager in Dover

THANKSGIVING

Like most of us, I take a couple of minutes at this time just to count my blessings. And, if you'll bear with me, I'd like to count a few of them out loud. Many of them, you'll not be surprised to hear, have to do with one of my favorite subjects—the telephone.

I'm thankful, first and most obviously, to be living in America, that unique and non-stop experiment in democracy. I'm happy, too, that not the least of our blessings is instant electronic communication between people. For communication is the first step toward mutual understanding.

I'm glad, as well, that I happen to be a telephone manager in a community such as this. Where people say, "I'll do it," rather than "Let George do it." Whether it is knocking on doors for the community charity drive . . . or volunteering to serve on the fire company . . . or just picking up a paper on the street and dropping it in the trash, this is a community of people who are involved.

That's one thing I'm particularly thankful about—that so many of those involved people are telephone people.

Finally, I want to say thanks to our customers for just being so darn nice when—as happens from time to time—our service slips up. If I haven't said it before, I want to say it now: Thanks for your understanding. We'll try to continue earning it.

To all of you, the happiest of holidays. Let's all give thanks on this day we've set aside for it. Then . . . let's roll up our sleeves and get back to work. Making the world a place for which our children can really be thankful.

A THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

I urge all citizens to make this Thanksgiving not merely a holiday from their labors, but rather a day of contemplation. I ask the head of each family to recount to his children the story of the first New England Thanksgiving, thus to impress upon future generations the heritage of this nation born in toil, in danger, in purpose, and in the conviction that right and justice and freedom can through man's efforts persevere and come to fruition with the blessing of God.

Let us observe this day with reverence and with prayer that will rekindle in us the will and show us the way not only to preserve our blessings, but also to extend them to the four corners of the earth.

A THANKSGIVING DEVOTION

We thank Thee, our Father in heaven, for this sacred moment when our hearts may be united in prayer.

Let not the beauty of this day, or the glow of good health, or the present prosperity of our undertakings deceive us into a false reliance upon our own strength.

Thou hast given us every good thing. Thou hast given us life itself with whatever talents we possess and the time and the opportunity to use them. May we use them wisely, lest they be curtailed or taken away.

We ask in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

to four commodities—potatoes, chickens, tractors and fertilizers. His studies indicate that the rate of technological improvement has peaked and leveled off during the last 10 years.

"I am not saying that we are going to starve," he says. "We are doing very well with our food supply. But who is to say if the population continues to rise and food production doesn't that we one day may starve."

"Our real concern should be the problem with food production in the undeveloped countries. In these countries, the population curve is outracing food technology at an even faster rate than in the U.S.," he adds.

Continuing, Horsfall notes that agricultural policies established by the government have been based on the assumption that technological advances will occur at the same rate as they have during the past 40 years. "But according to my studies, this is a fallacy," he says.

"Agricultural policies often reflect a Midwest syndrome of being embarrassed for overproduction. The theory here is to plow-under rather than overproduce."

New Century Club News

An open meeting was held in the Harrington New Century Club house on the evening of Nov. 25th. We were interested and happy to see the number of adults and youth who attended.

Mrs. Theodore Storus presided, giving all a greeting of welcome.

Mrs. Harry John Dill served as chairman for the evening, with her committee, Mrs. Oscar Dickerson, Mrs. Arthur Hoffman, Mrs. Harold Johnson, Mrs. Daniel McSweeney, Mrs. Quay Rice and Mrs. Everett B. Warrington.

He is well qualified in all phases of the source, use and effects of drugs and narcotics. His territory is Sussex County, though related problems often take him out of the county.

We were amazed to hear of the amount of the sale and use of drugs and narcotics in Delaware, especially in our schools and with the very Hutson was very well prepared and gave us ideas to carry home and think about. We were grateful for the evening he gave us.

FENCE TALK

Francis J. Webb, Asst.

Why burn or haul away all those leaves, then turn around and purchase organic material such as peat moss or others for your vegetable and flower gardens? There is nothing that still work any better than decomposed leaves to add the humus to your soil. But before leaves can be used they must be partially decomposed.

This is accomplished by constructing a compost pile. They are easy to make and will make up only a small space in your back yard or garden.

Compost may be made in a surface pile or a pit. Choose an obscure and, if possible, shaded corner of the back-yard or garden. It is usually best to dig a shallow pit if the soil is well drained. A pit 3'x6'x18" is suggested for the average garden. Line the pit with boards or blocks to prevent the sides from caving in. For a poorly drained area where the pit will fill with water in rainy season, it is better to make a surface pile with boards or blocks around the area to confine the compost.

The pile is then built in layers in the following manner. First put in a 6" layer of leaves and/or other plant material such as weeds and grass cutting and most any other type of plant material. Then apply a 1" layer of soil and top that with a few handfuls of commercial fertilizer. Apply another 1" layer of soil and start another layer on top, the same as the first one. You can build this compost pile as tall as you like, but 3 to 4 feet is the usual height.

It is best when adding these layers if you would leave the center of the pile lower than the outer edge so the rain water is held and will speed up decomposition.

The decomposition process will take about one year, but after the first year you would have continuous materials for use in flower beds and gardens. The compost should be used when the leaves and other plant materials are about 1/2 to 3/4 rotted to get full benefit from the organic matter.

If you would like a free one page guide on constructing a compost pile, call the Kent County Extension Office. (Phone: 736-1448; P.O. Box 340, Dover, Del. 19901.)

Christmas tree shopping season is not far away and when you visit a Christmas tree lot you will, no doubt, want to purchase a good tree. One that is fresh and appealing to the eye. Of course, size, shape, and kind of tree will also be important to you.

To help you become more familiar on how to select a good Christmas tree, the Kent County Extension Office will send you, upon request, a free booklet entitled Buying Your Christmas Tree, which was published by the USDA Forest Service in Pennsylvania. This booklet will give you some tips for choosing a tree that will stay fresh and green throughout the holiday season. The booklet also tells how to select a good tree if cutting it yourself, also caring for your tree at home, and finally disposing of your tree. There is one section that illustrates and gives a brief description of most all types of trees used for the holiday season. If you would like a copy please call or write the Kent County Extension office.

Tax management is an essential part of profit planning as most farmers know. The Federal income tax laws provide the taxpayers with some freedom to manage his income and expenses in such a way to minimize the tax due.

To help the farmer make some of these decisions W.T. McAllister, Extension Economist at the University of Delaware, has compiled an excellent guide entitled Year End Tax Management. For a free copy call or write the Kent County Extension Office. As you know, it is up to the individual to make these tax management opportunities pay off.

There may be a new concept in cattle finish feed with the use of polyethylene pellets. It is being tested as an artificial roughage, to be eaten by cattle at the start of the feeding period, and therefore, eliminates the need for normal roughage for the entire feeding period. This is because once consumed the pellets remain in the rumen.

Farmland Industries researchers found that the performance of cattle on plastic artificial roughage was a good or better than the performance of cattle on natural materials. They listed the advantages of the artificial roughage as cattle finishing 5 to 10 days earlier, reduction in manure handling, reduction in total feed handled, more efficient cattle gains can be expected, and others. Maybe plastic feeding will prove to be a desirable and practical solution to the roughage problem. If so, this will throw a new twist in beef cattle finishing.

There was a mistake made on the date of the Fourth Annual Soybean Meeting in last weeks Fence Talk. Instead of being Jan. 12, it is to be held Feb. 12, at the location given: (Civic Center, Salisbury, Md.)

The Things You Eat Can Affect Your Heart

The things you eat can have an effect on your heart, The Delaware Heart Association says. Reducing the intake of cholesterol and saturated fat can be a step on the road to protecting your heart.

A diet to reduce the risk of heart disease should include more meals of chicken, turkey, veal, and fish, which are low in saturated fats, and no more than five meals a week of beef, lamb, pork, or ham, says the Delaware Heart Association.

The housewife can help protect the family's heart health by preparing fat-controlled, low-cholesterol meals. The Delaware Heart Association can provide educational materials to help achieve this.

Youngsters stand to gain from heart-helping diets. The earlier in life that correct dietary habits are formed, the better the chance of reducing the risk of heart disease, says the Delaware Heart Association.

Heart attacks claim more than 570,000 lives a year. Diet is one risk factor in heart disease that can be controlled, says the Delaware Heart Association.

A diet that may reduce the family's risk of heart disease can be achieved with moderate changes in eating habits, says the Delaware Heart Association.

Fed. Programs Help Prevent Over Production

Farmers participating in three major farm programs in 1970 will keep some million acres of farmland in soil-protection uses and out of surplus crops. No government payments will be made for this.

William H. Brady, executive director of the Delaware Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, says taxpayers may not realize the extent of these contributions farmers themselves make toward easing the problem of surplus farm crops. He points out that a "conserving base is set for each farm signed up in the wheat, cotton and feed programs.

"The conserving base is the number of acres a farmer must have in conserving uses on his farm. That is, the acres must be used in ways that protect the soil. No crops may be grown that would add to those already in surplus. It is one of the conditions the farmer accepts when he participates in one or more of the voluntary adjustment programs," he said.

The 100 million acres designated for soil-protection purposes are about 20 percent of all cropland in the United States. Total conserving base acreage on Delaware farms is about 46,859 acres, the ASCS Director reveals.

A farm's conserving base is set by the County ASC Committee just as the cotton and wheat allotments and feed grain base are set by the county committee. All are determined on the basis of a farm's crop and conserving use history.

"When Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin appeared before the House Committee on Agriculture, he stated that the most persistent characteristic of American agriculture during these past years has been the ability of farmers to produce in excess of markets, both foreign and domestic," says Brady.

"The provision for conserving bases is one tool used to help prevent excess production. At the same time, the requirement for conserving use of the land helps save our natural resources in which all Americans have a vested interest," he adds.

LITTLE LEAGUERS HEAR ORIOLE'S EDDIE WATT

The annual Little League Baseball banquet was held Saturday evening at the W. T. Chipman Jr. School cafeteria with approximately 275 persons in attendance.

Jack Dill presented the Rev. William H. Miller, pastor of Calvary Wesleyan Church, who opened the program by leading the singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee", followed by the invocation. Following the invocation, a buffet style covered dish dinner was served to all present.

After partaking of the delicacies prepared by mothers of the little league players, the winning teams were presented their awards.

Gary Harrington, manager of the Little League champions, the Moose team, coached by Buck Thompson, presented his players to the audience as the honored guest, Eddie Watt, relief pitcher of the Baltimore Orioles, presented them with trophies.

Hi-Ki, the Senior League champs, managed by Bill Schaffner and coached by Jesse Trotta, were presented with Mr. Watt also presenting them with their awards.

The various other teams and their respective coaches and managers were then introduced, after which the newly elected officers were presented as follows: Louis Kemp, president; Cyrus Wheatley, vice-president; Emma Carroll, secretary, and Jeanette Harrington, treasurer.

Eugene Porter, this year's vice-president and manager of the minor league was introduced and given a vote of thanks for a job well done.

Miss Sue O'Neal presented a delightful program as she narrated the tale of "Pinderella."

Mr. Dill then introduced the special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Berryman and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Knight. Mr. Berryman is Seaford Postmaster and Mr. Knight is the District Administrator of the Little League Association, and each reflected on the highlights of their work together in the past years in the organization. They stated they used Harrington as an example when telling other cities about the little league program and what can be accomplished by a town if enough people are willing to help. They also commented on the fine job Dave Welch, the out-going president, had done the past three years at the helm of the local organization and thanked him for his full cooperation.

Mayor Burton Satterfield gave a brief account of his knowledge of the work that this organization is doing and also commented on the spirit that was shown by the children involved. He expressed the hope for a continued growth of the Little League program in Harrington.

In addressing the youngsters in attendance, Eddie Watt, the honored guest, related some details of his childhood, and how he came to play professional baseball. He went on to explain how, and how not to pitch ball, to become a good ball player. Many questions were directed to him, after his initial speech, by the youngsters and a few adults. One question asked was, "why Baltimore let the Mets beat them?" Mr. Watt's answer was "The Mets were better," but went on to say "just wait until next year."

Other guests introduced were sponsors of the various teams present and members of civic organizations participating in the program of Little League baseball.

Norman Wix Sr. was given a vote of thanks for his superb job of keeping the baseball diamond in top shape throughout the season. Also receiving a rising vote of thanks were Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Wheatley, operators of the concession stand at the diamond, which was responsible for the raising of funds so necessary in the operation of the league.

Mrs. Jean Trotta was this year's chairman and with her committee did a grand job in arranging for the banquet. Mrs. Nancy Thompson served as the decorating chairman, with Miss Hazel Johnson very graciously assisting in the kitchen.

The Rev. Miller gave the benediction after which the youngsters were invited to meet Mr. Watt personally when they received his autograph.

Locals Run Well On Atlantic City Boardwalk

Three Harrington lads, who were members of Lake Forest's state champion cross-country team, this autumn, went to Atlantic City on Saturday and competed in a four mile run on the boardwalk.

Pennsylvania Military College of Chester, Pa. sponsored the event, which was supposed to be limited to high school seniors. Former Harrington High football coach, Frank Glazier, now an assistant coach at P.M.C., phoned this writer and suggested we bring a few Spartans up to New Jersey for the race. P.M.C. cross-country coach Harry Durney, got on the horn and invited Lake Forest's top seven runners, when he found that the Spartans were state champions, though having no seniors.

Running against top senior hurriers of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, Junior Chris Wetherhold and Brad Morris turned in excellent clockings of 22.42 and 22.59, respectively, to finish fifth and seventh. Wetherhold received a beautiful trophy to add to his extensive collection, which numbers around fifty such awards.

Jackie D. Parker, at 14, was from three to five years younger than the Pennsylvania and New Jersey runners but did very well with 25.59 for the four miles.

The competitors started at Convention Hall and ran north past the Million Dollar Pier and the Steel Pier. When they reached a point two miles from the start, the athletes turned and retraced their steps, bucking a stiff wind all the way back.

At the finest Carmen Volpe of Bishop Neumann High of Philadelphia, the city champ, was the winner in 21.42. The second place finisher was from St. Thomas Moore High also of Philadelphia.

Coach Durney surprised the boys by giving each a ticket worth $5 for the P.M.C.-Lebanon Valley Football game, which was played in Convention Hall after the race.

It was quite a thrill to hear the name of Chris Wetherhold of Lake Forest High in Delaware announced to the 5,000 fans, as one of the trophy winners, in the first annual P.M.C. Boardwalk Run. Early this fall sports fans were questioning "Lake Forest? Where is that?" But Coach Harold McDonald's cross-country Spartans settled that question in the minds of many, by running 11 of 12 starts, winning the Lake Forest Invitational and annexing the state championship, at the University of Delaware in Newark.

Later, during the football game, it seemed like old times, to see the familiar figure of Frank Glazier, pacing up and down in front of the P.M.C. bench and to hear that penetrating, raspy voice, as he castigated a luckless Cadet Griddler.

At halftime, Company Q 15's drill team, nine times national champion were perfection personified, as they amazed the crowd with their faultless precision routines.

Competitors in the running sports here range much farther than do those who participate in wrestling, basketball, baseball and football. For this reason, a good runner will be known to more people, as he will not have a mainly local reputation. This does not apply to people like Chris Moore, who were attracting College Bird Dogs early in the past, competed in Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Wilmington, Woodbury, Penns Grove, Pennsylvania, Bridgeton, all in New Jersey; West Chester and Reading in Pennsylvania.

In Maryland, the locals have vied at Washington College in Chestertown and at South Dorchester, which is 15 miles south of Cambridge. White Plains, N.Y. is the longest distance traveled, to date. Five H.H.S. Lions ran in the Loucks Memorial Games, there. Fifty thousand people were at the Penn Relays in Philly, five years ago when Harrington High's mile relay team competed. The future should see even longer trips, as more running talent is developed, in this area.

Del. Track Club To Host 2 Races Here

The Delaware Track and Field Club will hold two distance races at Killen's Pond State Park, on Sunday afternoon.

Experienced cross-country runners will compete over a distance of four to five miles. Some of these hurriers will be college or ex-college performers. Others will be some of the best area high school runners.

A novice race over the 2.4 miles Lake Forest course will feature runners over 40, plus younger lads in the general area of 15 years of age and younger.

Starting time is 1:30 p.m. It is not expected that anyone from here will be picking up any awards because of the qualifying setup. This would require membership in the Delaware Track and Field Club, plus high placings in the four races, at Killen's State Park on Nov. 30, Newark on December 7, Middletown

A former Harringtonian, Jo Ann Calloway of Delmar, got the nod at center forward.

Look out, boys, McKnatt Funeral Home are on their way. Tuesday night's fray saw McKnatt's move out on top by crushing Quillen's Market for a four game victory. Harry Jack with a real fine 511 series effort and Robert Garey with a fine 201 game and a good series also, getting a good assist from Bob Taylor, was responsible for McKnatt's winning effort.

Penn Central is showing good strength at the start of the second third by winning three games from Gallo & Stevenson to hold down the second place spot in the standings. Marion Brown and Bernard Coffman were responsible for providing the extra scoring punch for the railroaders. Ernest Gallo rolled a real fine 535 series with a 203 game included, with Ernest Gallo Jr. and Bob Stevenson rolling well to enable the construction boys to salvage a game, tho, they are again in the cellar spot.

Gerardi Bros. and Jarrell Fuel have the same won and loss record after each team was handed a three game loss by their opponents. Butler's Fuel laced the furniture boys with their setback, as they received an all out team effort from their members, Daniel Pearson and Don Jester bowled well for Gerardi's to enable them to salvage one game to remain up in the standings.

In the Jarrell Fuel, Wally's Garage contest, the garage boys put on a strong effort to easily swamp the Fuelers. Another team effort was responsible for Wally's fine showing, in allowing them to come out on top of a three game victory. Alvin Jarrell rolled a real fine 233 game as he amassed a superb 551 series, which combined with Howard Tibbitt's fine 530 series, enabled Jarrell's to eke out on a single game.

Taylor & Messick haven't relaxed much, tho they have nothing to lose, having won the first third title. It could be, Now that the pressure is off, the farm boys may rack up some pretty good pace-

People's Restaurant hasn't recovered from their dismal finish at the end of the first third, as they were handed a three game loss Tuesday night by Hamilton Funds. Robert Keller rolled well for the restaurant boys enabling them to squeeze out a single game. A real fine team effort on the part of the finance boys was responsible for a very strong effort. Leading the way to victory was Bob Creadick and Wayne Creadick who rolled great 519 and 509 series, respectively.
