

CLIFF MILLER FEATURED IN PENN CENTRAL POST

"W. Cliff Miller's gone to pasture," starts off an article in the May issue of Penn Central Post.

Tain't so, Megee: the 81-year-old Miller is just as busy, as ever. However, to continue with the article.

But that's not as bad as it sounds. He's running a hotel for horses.

Cliff Miller was supervisor of communications and signals for the Delmarva District, operating out of Harrington. He retired in 1957 after 50 years of service.

He and his wife, Molly, built a new home on their son-in-law's farm. They started working the farm, growing melons and soybeans. Then, because their son-in-law kept a number of horses, the Millers learned to take care of them.

"Now we have a full-fledged boarding farm for nearby race tracks," Mr. Miller says. "We're located in the middle of Harrington Track, Dover Downs and the Georgetown Track.

"We get all the horses we can handle in our 16 stalls." Mr. Miller helped build the stable and fence off the pasture. At 81, he's now building a shed for hay and straw. Molly works right beside him.

When not wielding a hammer or saw, Mr. Miller wields a pen.

"I was always inclined to write," Mr. Miller explains, "but I never had enough time when I was working."

"Since I retired, I've been writing a weekly column published in the Harrington Journal. I Call it 'Poems From Paradise Pastures.' That's the name of our farm. I write about everything that pertains to my life and experiences. Naturally, that includes poems and stories about the railroad and about

Legislative Weekend In Dover Scheduled

A double-barreled program of activities will keep members of the Delaware General Assembly and their guests and friends busy next weekend.

The highlight event on Saturday, May 23, at 2 p.m., will be the formal dedication ceremonies of the additions to Legislative Hall housing the new offices of the Senate and House of Representatives. This event is open to the public at large.

Featured speaker at the dedication will be Wilmington columnist and radio commentator, William P. "Bill" Frank who will give a brief and "breezy" history of Legislative Hall. In addition to Mr. Frank, Governor Russell W. Peterson will speak and, along with Senate president pro tempore Reynolds DuPont and House speaker George C. Hering, III, will be presented with a key to the State House. The Dover High School band will provide music before and during the ceremonies beginning at 1:30 p.m.

State Representative, W. Harrison Phillips of Laurel and former Representative T. Lees Bartleson of Lindemere are co-chairmen for the dedication program, while George L. Frick Legislative council director, is in charge of arrangements.

After the program, the public will be invited to join the legislators in touring the new wings. Refreshments will be served by members of the staff of the General Assembly.

The leadoff event of the weekend, the first annual Legislative Golf Tournament and dinner, will be held Friday, May 22, at Dover's new Maple Dale Country Club. Net, gross and special prizes will be awarded to legislators and their guests. Co-chairmen for the tournament are Representatives Jacob W. Zimmerman of Little Creek and George Jarvis of Newark. Governor Peterson and Lt. Governor Eugene D. Bookhammer of Lewes have been accorded the honor of teeing up the first balls of the tournament commencing at 12 noon on the 22 of May.

horses." In between the horses, the construction work, and the weekly column, Mr. Miller manages to do a weekly bulletin for the Rotary Club. His wife Molly proofreads all his writings.

"I think our activities keep us feeling young and in good health. I recommend it to everyone who's let out to pasture."

But Mr. Miller's pasture isn't too far from his first love, the railroad. The farm is only a half mile from Penn Central tracks along which he once worked.

"That makes it real nice," he says.

Torbert Declares His Stand On Taxes

I have decided to file for Democratic candidate for reelection as receiver of taxes for Kent County. Running the office of receiver of taxes has been my full-time job.

I have supervised the office and been present every working day during the hours when the office was open. Because I believe that this office requires the personal attention of the receiver of taxes at all times. If I am re-elected I will continue to manage this responsibility as a full-time obligation and I will continue to be present to handle inquiries and questions by taxpayers who come to the office personally.

It has always been my belief and conviction that a taxpayer is entitled to courteous treatment and as much consideration as the law permits in regard to understanding his taxes and in the payment of them. I, myself, am a taxpayer and I am in full sympathy with the other taxpayers of Kent County who want to be sure that their taxes are correct and fair and that their tax money is handled efficiently. I pledge to strive continually to improve the operation of the receiver of taxes office to keep pace with the rapid increase of population and the large increase in volume of work that passes through this office.

On Mondays thru Thursdays Georgetown Raceway will provide eight races, the Daily Double, and three Exactas, an offering of 12 wagering opportunities for its patrons. On Friday and Saturday evenings, in addition to the Daily Double, four Exactas will be provided.

Firemen Granted $1 Million

State Insurance Commissioner Robert A. Short says $1,046,726 will be distributed to fire companies in the state from a special tax on fire insurance premiums collected during the last fiscal year.

This special tax is levied on all insurance companies writing fire insurance coverage in the state.

The disbursement is made according to the number of fire companies in the state and the amount of insurance premiums paid in the county where the fire company or department is located.

The allocations will be: City of Wilmington, $354,482; New Castle County, $336,381; Kent County, $139,167; Sussex County, $186,696.

House OK's Budget For Fiscal '71

The fiscal 1971 budget, delayed last week by legislators' irritation with the University of Delaware, passed the House Tuesday.

12 Representatives all Republicans, changed their votes to "yes" to give the bill one more than the 20 votes it needed to pass and go to the Senate.

Last week and Tuesday, Democrats voted solidly against the measure.

The budget calls for the state to spend $238.5 in the fiscal year beginning July 1. Last week, the budget bill got nine votes after House members raised questions about a moratorium and student discipline at the university. School officials visited Dover Thursday and seemed to nullify the legislators.

While the main budget bill, H.B. 630, was clearing its House hurdle, drums were being beaten for additions to state spending via subsequent legislation.

Outside the House chamber stood two television sets, each bearing a sticker reading "Don't let ETV fade out of the picture."

Dr. Kenneth C. Madden, superintendent of public instruction; Charles R. Harris, executive secretary of the Delaware State Education Association; William B. Keene, president of the DSEA and others were campaigning for H.B. 803, which would restore the educational-television fund from the budget by the Joint Finance Committee.

The bill calls for an appropriation of $967,140. The state's ETV program survived a similar challenge last year, but was placed in the main budget before it passed.

Madden said Tuesday that he feels both houses will pass H.B. 803 if it reaches their floors.

Other proposals Tuesday, all sponsored by Democrats and all amendments to omnibus amendments waiting action in the House, would add almost $600,000 for the water and air resources control, $200,000 for aides to

2 Men Charged In Wire Theft

City police arrested two hospital employees Tuesday on charges of grand larceny in connection with the theft of $1,000 worth of copper wire from a construction site at Milford Memorial Hospital.

Police said Willie Lee Harris, 30, of Lincoln and Larry Reginald Hinton, 24, of Milford are free under $2,000 bail each pending an appearance in Superior Court.

The wire was removed May 11, police said, and sold to a Wilmington salvage firm for $179 May 14. It weighed 385 pounds.

Police said the two men were picked up in Milford on warrants signed by Robert Tudor of Tudor Electric, Dover. Bonds were set in Magistrate Court 3, Georgetown.

Kent To Parley With Trashmen

The Kent County Levy Court decided Tuesday to meet next Tuesday at 7 p.m. to attempt to iron out landfill operations.

This meeting will supplement next Tuesday's daytime meeting, which will deal with other county matters.

The court will meet with members of the new Kent County Trash Collectors Association to set up guidelines to put county-wide trash collection out on bid.

Countywide pickup has been one standard of William C. Torbert's Levy Court president, since he was elected in 1968. The issue has been sparked recently due to the interest of Gov. Russell W. Peterson in the possibility of a state subsidy for a county-wide pickup.

The trash association, which includes the major operators, met Monday night and resolved to incorporate according to Delaware law.

One of its first orders of business was to convey to the Levy Court its desire to cooperate fully with any plan for countywide trash collection adopted by the court.

The president, Frank B. Clough Jr., said the association was ready to submit a bid, upon request, to the county for refuse pickup from the county at large.

Torbert, who vacated his president's chair to make a motion to put the countywide trash collection out on bid, said, "I think it's time this Levy Court took action on this."

His motion to meet the trash collectors carried unanimously. However, several commissioners are opposed to the county taking over trash collection operations now.

The idea of countywide pickup would include a proposal for one county landfill and subsequent closing of the other two.

Tuesday the commissioners bogged down again over opening a fourth sanitary landfill at the Sandtown dump as a temporary measure until the county problem is resolved.

Walter L. Fritz, county engineer, reported that it would cost about $2,400 a month to operate the dump as a landfill meeting all state requirements.

The Sandtown question, too, was referred to next Tuesday night's special meeting.

The court voted in favor of hiring off-duty policemen to patrol the county's roads to enforce the antilitter laws.

James E. Turner, a commissioner and former law enforcement officer, suggested that hiring off-duty policemen would be a way to fight littering of roadways.

McKenna suggested that the court attorney, N. Maxson Terry Jr., look into the law to see if money collected from enforcing the litter laws could be turned over to the county.

In other matters the court approved three rezoning requests and denied a fourth.

Approved were: A request from Harold K. Schults to rezone 8.36 acres (Continued on Page 8)

Memorial Day Parade Set

The annual Memorial Day parade will take place on Saturday, May 30, immediately following the services at the Hollywood Cemetery and forming at the Quillen Shopping Center on Clark Street at approximately 10:30 a.m.

All organizations are invited to send their units at that time and will include the South Elementary School Band, the W.T. Chipman Junior School Band, and the Lake Forest High School Band.

The parade will proceed as in former years west on Clark Street to Delaware Avenue, north to Center Street, east to Dorman Street, south to Clark Street, north to City Hall where it will disband.

It is urged that all citizens display their flags on this day especially on the route of the parade.

AFS To Hold Wrestling Meet

Four magnificent midget matmen have been signed as a special attraction on promoter Phil Zacko's wrestling show to be sponsored by the Lake Forest Chapter of the American Field Service at the Lake Forest High School gym on Saturday night, May 23rd, starting at 8:30 p.m. The school is located 2 miles south of Felton just off of Route 13.

In this best-two-of-three fall tag team attraction the miniature combination of Little Brutus and Sky Low Low is to battle that of Joey Russell and The Jamaica Kid in support of the one fall finish feature match headlining Kripleer Karl Kovacs against the Puerto Rican giantkiller, Victor Rivera.

Additional solo bouts completing this card will pair off Professor Taru Tanaka vs Gorilla Monsoon, Mike Conrad vs Johnny Rodz and Frank Rickey vs Arnold Skaaland.

The Jamaica Kid is an internationally famed midget matman who is in world wide demand as a box office attraction and these little men combine speed and agility with a brand of no-stop action that has earned them millions of followers both in live matches and on television.

This five event card is rated with the finest of the spring season anywhere.

Nonpublic School Aid Bill In House

Bills to set up a multi-million dollar fund to aid private schools and to increase state legislator's salaries were among the torrent of 61 proposals flowing into the House of Representatives Tuesday — the last day new House bills will be considered.

This makes the total for this session 857 bills.

The Senate, impressed by informal House warning that Senate bills introduced later than Tuesday will not be considered, also began to grind out proposals.

Rep. Joseph R. Murphy, R-Newark, introduced H.B. 824 which would set up a "non-public elementary and secondary education fund" from which the state will buy secular education from private and parochial schools.

The bill, effective July 1, 1971, would appropriate $2.5 million for the first year and the same amount for the second.

Although the measure has the money coming from the "divestiture fund," Murphy said he hopes that another source could be substituted.

He views the measure as an economy move for public schools, which are increasingly forced to absorb students who can no longer afford to attend private and parochial schools.

"If the parochial schools don't get some kind of help in education," Murphy said, "I think the taxpayers will feel it, very, very hard."

He said the $2.5 million (Continued on Page 8)

Kent G.O.P. And Democrats Have Files For Most Posts

As of Last Friday's primary filing deadline, Kent County Democrats were faced with four candidacy contests over House seats and the Republicans had to settle one over a row office.

None of the Democrat primaries were new, since those involved had announced some time ago they intended to vie for a chance to run for the House in the general election. However, the Republicans, who were able only to muster up one candidate for a county office, found themselves with an unexpected two-way battle over the sheriff's post.

ing Jr., a farmer, decided to oppose him in a primary.

Democrats were left with three vacancies on the ticket, including a candidate in the 31st Representative District. The Republicans found themselves without a candidate for the 33d District seat on the Levy Court. Both parties have until September to come up with candidates.

The Republicans had volunteered not to seek a candidate for coroner — if the Democrats agreed not to field one — since the office is on its way to abolishment by the General Assembly. But the Democratic incumbent, William A. Berry Jr. of Milford, filed for re-election.

On the Democratic ticket, the names added Last Friday to the gradually evolving candidate list, some expected and others chosen as the last moment were:

Sen. Allen J. Cook of Kenton; Sen. George A. Robbins of Milford; two Levy Court incumbents, James B. McIlvaine of Magnolia and William J. Paskey Jr. of Felton; and a new at-large candidate for the Levy Court, Robert A. Reed of Dover.

The Democrats were left with no announced candidates for the offices of sheriff and recorder of deeds with incumbents announcing for the remaining row offices with one exception.

Thomas P. Cullen, president of the Delaware Young Democrats, filed for clerk of the peace. Cullen had declared that he would become involved in an already existing primary in the 30th Representative District, between Matthew E. Mitten and Hudson E. Gruwell, but apparently changed his mind.

As for the Senate seat of Allen J. Cook, there had been considerable speculation that Ernest E. Killen, former state auditor from Harrington, would file in Cook's 14th District. However, last week county Democrats in that area allegedly endorsed Cook over Killen.

As for the Republicans, who have been pouring all of their energies more recently into lining up candidates for the state-wide ticket, they spent much of last Thursday night attempting to line up a county slate.

Aside from three House incumbents who had already announced previously — Reps. Robert W. Riddagh, W. Neal Moerschel and George Robert Quillen — the Kent GOP came up with the following candidates:

Arthur W. Dobberstein of Dover for the 29th District; Hugh Delaney, a Dover radio announcer, for the 30th District; and Mrs. Marilyn B. Calhoun, a Milford Committeewoman for the 32d District.

In the Senate, the Republicans came up with Gary Klaus of Hartly, a Caesar Rodney school teacher, for the 14th District seat, and Glenn A. Richter of Dover, former Levy Court president, for the 16th District.

For the Levy Court, the Republicans produced John G. Davis of Dover, county committee treasurer, for the 31st District seat, and Herschel N. Poore of Milford, Kent Sheriff, for the 32d District spot. The 33d District slot was left vacant and at-large incumbent Isaac Thomas of Maryland filed for re-election.

County Aide Proposed For Kent

The Kent County Levy Court Tuesday put in motion a proposal to hire a county administrator to handle day-to-day operation of county government. Details must be worked out.

The move was one of the recommendations in a review of the county's government released two weeks ago. That report was authored by G. Arno Loessner, management counselor with the University of Delaware division of urban affairs.

The motion to hire an administrator was made by John T. McKenna and passed unanimously.

McKenna said he would like to see the job set up as non-elected and covered by the county merit system. "I would not like to see it become a political plum," he said.

McKenna had proposed the hiring of a county executive last summer. The Levy Court took no action then.

As outlined in the review, the administrator would represent the Levy Court daily, and act as the chief advisor (Continued on Page 8)

Summer Jobs

Help your child's summer vacation pay off — in more than money. There's no better way to learn to manage money and be responsible than a regular job.

Summer is the season when young people from 8 to 18 take over the recreation areas with time on their hands and energy to spare. Job responsibility — whether in the home or outside — is perhaps a better channel for this energy.

Some of the jobs in the home should simply be a part of the child's responsibility as a family member and not done for pay, according to Mrs. Bonnie Paisley, extension home economist at the University of Delaware. "These should be understood and agreed upon."

But, there will be other jobs that you prefer to hire done such as lawn work, baby sitting and car washing. If your child can do these, why not give him the chance to work for the family with fair pay?

Earning money through a part-time job outside the home is also a summer possibility even though competition for these jobs is the fiercest it's been in many years. A job permits a child to add to his allowance but, even more important, helps him develop a responsible and positive attitude toward working. A job may make him realize — for the first time — that money is not free and self-discipline is necessary and valuable.

Since so many students are trying to get jobs this summer, your help may be needed. You can direct your youngster to the proper agencies or bring job opportunities to light that he might not hear about. You can also teach him the best way to apply for a job.

And, for people without children, this is an excellent chance to help someone receive training that will serve him throughout his life. In other words, offer a teenager a job.

Studies have shown that there is a positive relationship between childhood experience with money and later adult ability to manage money, says Mrs. Paisley. Family should be trained to take their places with ease and intelligence in an economy where they not only earn but also spend money.

The sergeant was honored at Dover AFB, where he now serves with a unit of the Military Airlift Command which provides global airlift for U. S. military forces.

He was a member of the expeditionary force to the Congo and served during the Korean War and the Cuban crisis.

Senior Center News

The month of May is Senior Citizen's Month. What a nice way to spend thirty days — honoring those of our community to whom we owe so much.

Our Center has chosen this month to honor the mothers of its membership. A luncheon was held on Thursday, May 14, at the Century Club with forty-seven members, friends, and members of the board of directors attending.

Mrs. Betty Lord of the BPW, Mrs. John Edward Jones, Mrs. Ruth Sipple and Mrs. Ella Harrington were among the invited guests. The latter two ladies were prospective members. Mrs. Emma Denny received a corsage for the eldest mother present and Mrs. Matilda Kotlaba was thrilled with her corsage for the youngest mother in attendance. Each member also received a tiny ceramic vase, made at the Center, and filled with small seasonal flowers.

There was no generation gap when it came to entertainment. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the play, Hanzel and Gretel, presented by all the second grade students of Mrs. Mara Stearns and some students of the second grade from the homerooms of Mrs. Grace Howard, Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. Blockson. They were assisted by the third grade choir and recorder players under the direction of Mrs. Marie Giltenboth.

The first selections of this group were: The Flag Salute and "If You're Happy" and "You Know It." Mrs. Bader's third grade group did a song story, Raggletaggetown Singers. The recorder group followed this by singing three selections: "Hot Cross Buns," "Mary Had A Little Lamb," and "Every Quarter Gets A Beat." The third grade choir very ably brought the entertainment to a close by rendering five selections, three of which were delightful tunes from the musical, "Mary Poppins." Mrs. Stearns and Mrs. Giltenboth were each presented with a gift, made at the Center, in appreciation of their kindness and efforts.

On Tuesday, May 20, a group of twenty members traveled to Wilmington at the invitation of the Wilmington Senior Center. There they listened to a program designed to promote better health for the mature citizen.

Senior Citizen's Day for the State of Delaware will be held in Dover, at the Armory, on Friday, May 22. This has become an annual affair. A military band will supply part of the entertainment. Those attending are asked to take a box lunch. Other refreshments will be supplied. Members of our Center are asked to call 398-3908 on Thursday if they are interested in attending this affair.

Mrs. Catherine Errigo is improving slowly at her home in Dover. She has been missed and the members are looking forward to her return.

Mrs. Connie Kerwin who so ably helped the Center has accepted a job in Dover.

As a reminder: Monday, May 25, a covered dish luncheon at 12:30 and an important business meeting after the luncheon.

Veteran's Administration News

Q - I was discharged from the Army because of a leg injury and accepted severance pay in a lump sum. Since then, I have been awarded disability compensation by the VA, but am not being paid. Why?

A - Disability compensation for your leg injury will be withheld and applied against the amount of severance pay until the full amount is liquidated. At that time, compensation checks will start coming if the disability is still rated 10 percent or more by VA standards.

Q - Following discharge from the Armed Forces, I received dental treatment from the VA. Later I needed further treatment, but was denied. Why?

A - A veteran is entitled to one-time dental treatment if he applies within one year of discharge. If he applies within six months, it is presumed that certain of his dental conditions are service-connected and may be treated without a review of service records.

The following categories of veterans are entitled to repeat dental treatment: those whose service-connected non-compensable dental conditions or disabilities resulted from combat wounds or service injuries; former prisoners of war with service-connected non-compensable dental conditions may have repeat treatment for the service-connected dental condition; veterans receiving compensation for a service-connected condition or disability may receive treatment for those dental conditions which the VA finds directly related to aggravating the service-connected condition or disability; disabled veterans receiving training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act who need dental treatment to prevent interruption of their training.

Q - I have just been separated from service after two years of active duty. I did not, however, serve in Vietnam. Am I eligible for G.I. Bill benefits?

A - Yes. Any honorably discharged veteran is eligible for these benefits irrespective of where he might have served if he had continuous active duty of 181 days or more, any part of which was after Jan. 31, 1955.

Q - If I name my father as beneficiary of my National Service Life or U.S. Government Life Insurance policy and later marry, is my wife automatically my beneficiary?

A - No. Written notice of any beneficiary change, signed by the insured, must be given to the Veteran's Administration.

Q - When I married my husband, a World War II veteran, I had two children who became his stepchildren. We were married only five months before his death. Would I be eligible for a VA pension, and if not, would the children be eligible?

A - You, as a widow would not be eligible for a pension. But if the stepchildren were living with you and your husband, they would be eligible to receive VA benefits. We suggest you contact your nearest VA office.

Q - I frequently see VA repossessed home advertised for sale. Are these sales limited to veterans?

A - No. Anyone who qualifies may purchase these homes — veterans or non-veterans.

Q - Must the designation of the beneficiary for a veteran's G.I. insurance policy be witnessed?

A - Not usually, but it is a good idea. The witness should not be the beneficiary. If the veteran is blind or signs by mark (x), two disinterested persons should witness.

Q - Is the Veterans Administration issuing any type of insurance now?

A - Yes. If a veteran separated from service after April 25, 1951, has a service-connected disability, the VA will issue "RH" insurance, which must be applied for within one year of notice of the disability rating.

Q - If a veteran sells his home obtained under a G.I. loan and obtains a release of liability from the VA will he be eligible for another G.I. loan at his new location?

A - No. The granting of a release of liability by the VA does not make the veteran eligible for restoration of his loan entitlement. This can be done only by having the lender release the VA as guarantor of the loan. This is usually accomplished by requiring the new buyer to obtain his own financing on the home, thereby paying off the existing G.I. loan.

Q - I am a veteran of wartime service and need a physical checkup. Will VA doctors give me one?

A - No. The VA provides free medical or physical examinations, as necessary only; to determine whether a condition is service-connected when needed for Government life insurance purposes; or when application is made for hospital or domiciliary care.

BASEBALL AND BETTER BOYS

Little League baseball got underway in a big way Saturday on both diamonds at the rebuilt Moose Recreation Center where Louis Kemp, the new president has made elaborate arrangements for seeing that our boys are taken care of.

In his planning for bigger and better things he has not forgotten us parents, oldtimers and relatives of the boys who go to make up the cheering section and we are not going to let him down.

Right now we need a few Katie Vaseys and we are going to find or develop them as time goes on!

Katey Kasey was baseball mad
 Had the fever and had it bad,
 Jus to root for the home-town crew.
 All of whom Katey knew.

When the score was two to two,
 Katey Kasey knew what to do
 Just to cheer up the boys she knew,
 She had them sing this song;

Take me out to the ball game
 If you're not there it's a shame,
 One, two, three strikes you'll be out,
 At the old ball game.

—That the first Medal of Honor was awarded to a soldier in 1861 for heroism against the Indians in what is now Arizona?
—That today's typical member of the Women's Army Corps is a high school graduate from a small town, single, close to 20 years old, and she joined for educational training?
Vietnam Record
While many men stationed in Vietnam count the days left till they will leave for home, there's one soldier who does a reverse count. He's keeping track of the day and minutes he's spending in Vietnam, and if he gets his way, he will remain in the Southeast Asian country another two years.
Sgt. Robert Sherer of the 11th Brigade, 23d Infantry Division, has spent a total of 32 months in Vietnam since June 1966. "That's near 1,400 minutes," according to Sgt. Sherer. The record held by another member of the Brigade is 2,073,600 minutes. With 1,440 minutes in a day, Sgt. Sherer figures he has less than 500 days to go to break the record, and he's determined to stay on until he does.

FENCE TALK

The annual Delaware wool pool is set for Saturday, June 13 at the Delaware State Fairgrounds in Harrington, says Mrs. Vera Rambo, secretary-treasurer of the Delaware Sheep and Wool Association. It is almost always held on the Second Saturday in June.

The purpose of the pool is to have sheep growers collect, grade and market their wool as a group. Over a period of years these sheep producers enjoy top prices for their graded wool.

The wool is sold on bids and a grower knows what he will be paid ahead of time because the wool pool likely delivery will be similar to the previous year. In recent years, a great deal of wool has come in from Maryland farms.

If you want more details call or write Mrs. Vera Rambo, Williamsville, R.D., Houston, telephone 422-5137.

"If I had enough money to own everything I need for farming, I wouldn't need to farm."

How many of you have heard farmers say just this? More farmers wonder if it is even good to own all the assets needed to farm. Instead, many successful farmers rent some of their inputs, custom hire some needed services, and make full use of credit sources. Some enter into contract farming deals. Others may incorporate to bring in outside capital.

Properly used, these tactics can give a young man a start in farming. They put big farm skills, equipment and savings within reach of the small farm operator.

But there are drawbacks. The farmer who now depends on others may worry if they are to be available over a long period of time. Such a farmer also needs a higher cash level. So top notch management is crucial to success.

The gain in resource values can be considerable. The farmer who rents instead of owning his own land stands to lose if land values go up. But he avoids loss if land values go down. He can hedge this loss by taking title to land for investment purposes and not a part of his farming operation.

So each farmer must decide if the possible gains to full ownership outweigh the drawbacks of renting. Every Monday now until late in the growing season your county agricultural agents and pest control specialists will be making surveys of plant insects and disease problems within the state.

Along about noon, we all meet together for a Dutch treat luncheon at the Bridle Bit restaurant in Harrington and compare notes. We invite fieldman, salespeople, farmers and others to join us for these noon day sessions. Nothing formal and we will be in work clothes too.

Bring along your plant specimens so that the experts can identify your problems and tell you how to treat it. If you cannot get to Harrington, perhaps one of us can stop by and pick up your sample. Phone 736-1448 in Dover or 856-2553 at Georgetown.

We must have fresh plant specimens to be able to make an accurate diagnosis which is needed to make recommendations. Put plants or plant parts in a plastic bag. Do not add water, but seal the bag so the plant will not dry out. Try to get a plant sample that is infected, but not completely dead.

Social insects are very beneficial to man, but sometimes they become too social. Many homeowners are now encountering bees, wasps, and yellow jackets around the home and other structures. These insects are usually un-mindful of mans activities as long as man makes it a point not to bother them.

At times, however, they build their nests too close, which makes it uncomfortable for both man and insect. In such a case, control measures is the last alternative. In controlling such insects you should wear protective clothing; a hat, veil, gloves, tuck your trousers inside your socks, and wear a long-sleeved shirt. Remember these are social insects living in a hive with many others.

The best and safest chemical control material is sevin. Vapona and chlorodane may also be used for controlling stinging insects. But remember that many of these insects are beneficial to man and should only be eradicated when necessary.

Get set for a return to the "separate" story for fall. Why? The midi skirt.

Skirt and blouse manufacturers are predicting a sales boom in separates. Their reasoning — women who are attracted to the new lengths are more likely to invest first in skirts instead of expensive dresses. And women who hesitate to accept the longer length, or reject it altogether, will stock their wardrobes with more pants.

Either way, women will need shirts or blouses. So manufacturers are expecting their biggest season in years.

Blouse styles will be more imaginative and interesting, too. Although the tailored shirt will be important, newer trends are toward soft styles which need soft fabrics. Long full sleeves, sleeves puffed at the shoulder, ruffles, ties softly rolled collars, lace jabots are details you'll see.

Many of the blouses are longer and are squared at the hem for wearing over pants. Blouses with peplums or the tunic with tie belt are proportioned for longer lengths.

Fabrics? Anything you want, from calico to satin. But if you're going in for puffed sleeves, ruffles, gathers or ties, choose a soft fabric. Voile, crepe, chiffon, challis are ideal for many of the styles. Prints have an old-fashioned, quaint look, but the men's wear stripe is also predicted as a fashion favorite.

If you expect to adopt this blouse and skirt look for fall, don't discard your mini dress. You might be able to restyle the dress and wear it as a blouse or tunic.

So, why not try one longer skirt for fall — and top it with a new "top."

Protect Peonies Against Blight

If your peony plants are looking wilted, and the young buds are turning black, the plants are probably infected with Botrytis blight, according to Dr. J. W. Heuberger, extension plant pathologist at the University of Delaware.

Symptoms of the fungus disease are easily observed, explains Heuberger. Your stalks suddenly wilt and fall over; buds turn black and dry up. Larger buds turn brown before becoming covered with a brown mass of fungus, and flowers are often destroyed by the disease as soon as they open.

The stalk below infected buds usually rots for a short distance below the necks, he adds. Irregular, dark brown areas might also appear on the leaves. And in severe cases, the crowns and roots of the plant will rot.

To control this disease, maintain good sanitary practices, stresses Heuberger.

Infected leaves and stems should be removed and destroyed as soon as they appear. Then in the fall, cut the remaining stalks as far below ground as possible without damaging the root bud.

The plant pathologist also recommends a protective spray of fungicide. Use either maneb, Fore or zineb, mixed at the rate of two tablespoons per gallon of water. Applications should be started now and continued at seven-day intervals until the flowers bloom.

Home gardeners are reminded that now is the time to start spraying roses to control blackspot if you have not already begun, according to David V. Tatnall, extension home garden specialist at the University of Delaware.

Small Increase In '70 Soybean Production

Soybeans, the magic crop with a thousand uses, will probably show another production increase in 1970, according to W. T. McAllister, extension agricultural economist at the University of Delaware. However, the increase will be small compared with the long-run trend.

He points out that the U.S. Department of Agriculture survey of farmers' planting intentions shows an expected acreage increase of only two to three percent or a total crop of 43.1 million acres. This would be the eleventh consecutive year in which soybeans acreage has expanded.

Movement of the 1969 soybean crop has been very good because of a strong export market for beans and soybean oil and meal, notes McAllister. The domestic demand has also been strong as livestock numbers continue to increase and more soybeans and soybean products are being used in feeds.

If export and domestic sales of soybeans continue at current levels, growers can expect to receive prices similar to those received last fall and winter during the 1970-71 soybean crop year.

The export market, however, is sensitive to world supplies of other high protein crops. McAllister points out. A sharp reduction in sunflower from eastern Europe or a reduction in fish meal supplies could bolster the demand for soybeans.

It is impossible to predict yields and total supplies of a crop not yet planted, but McAllister says current projections indicate that Delaware farmers can make production plans with reasonable profit expectations.

Control Blackspot On Roses

Home gardeners are reminded that now is the time to start spraying roses to control blackspot if you have not already begun, according to David V. Tatnall, extension home garden specialist at the University of Delaware.

Control of the disease is more effective if a protective fungicide is applied before the problem appears or becomes established, he says.

Blackspot is caused by a fungus which lives from year to year in the fallen leaves and stems of roses. In the spring the spores from the fungus spread to new foliage on the plant creating small, circular black spots with fringed edges.

Tatnall explains that the spots on infected foliage may vary from the size of a pinhead up to half an inch in diameter. With severe infestations, the spots often emerge forming large, irregular black blotches on the leaves.

Wet weather aids the spread of this disease, says Tatnall. Water carries the spores from one part of the plant to another area. Improper watering can also spread blackspot; always water the base of the rose plant, never the foliage.

Good sanitation helps control this disease, stresses Tatnall. Rake and burn fallen leaves and prune dead and diseased stems.

The fungicides recommended for control of blackspot during the growing season includes Phaltan, maneb and zineb. Spraying at 7 to 10 day intervals is recommended for good control, and complete coverage of the canes and both sides of the leaves is important, says Tatnall.

The Women's Army Corps offers college women a glimpse of the exciting life of an officer through the WAC college junior program. Each summer, a limited number of college women spend four weeks at Ft. McClellan, Ala., with travel, food, lodging and uniforms furnished by the Army. They also receive a salary. If they feel this is the opportunity for their future, a commission awaits them when they receive their degree.

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne Holberton

Recently the cattle market has been remarkably stable, despite information indicating larger supplies coming up. As it looks now, do not look for a price peak in June as was seen a year ago. In fact, due to some bunching in marketings, prices during May and June are quite likely to average two percent below the same period of 1969.

Right now the forequarter cuts are the best buy in beef. This quarter of beef while containing the delectable rib roast, has more of the less-tender cuts. The chuck or shoulder makes up about one half of the forequarter. Some of the retail cuts coming from this section of beef are briskets, plate beef, Corned beef brisket, petite steaks, arm pot roast, Delmonico (rib eye) steaks, rib steaks, English (Boston) cut, blade pot roast, and skirt steak fillets. When you check these cuts, be sure to look for the Federal U.S. Inspected and Passed stamp; then check for the backer's brand name or USDA grade stamp. Top quality beef usually comes from young animals. The lean is a rich bright red with liberal amounts of marbling in it. The fat is just barely off-white and is firm. In lower quality beef the color of the lean is much darker, as is the fat a deeper yellow white.

As far as pork is concerned, a repeat of the year ago June and July price rise is not expected. The sudden price reduction in hogs in April seems to reflect a surprising demand slow for pork. This may simply be a case of "recession fever," as the lower demand is hard to explain. Supplies aren't abundant but they are a bit larger than at this time last year. However, prices have started their seasonal inching up.

Supplies of broilers are up, but the strong demand for meat has kept broiler prices steady despite the increases in production. Turkey prices are expected to edge down a bit and this can be seen at local markets already.

A number of fresh vegetables decreased in price this week. Be sure to check these vegetables for good buys: asparagus, cucumbers, yellow onions, radishes and scalloped squash. Prices are down a bit on loose tomatoes; however, they remain fairly high even with price decreases.

California, Louisiana and Arkansas are shipping in excellent quality strawberries. Look for some good buys on this fruit. Local berries have been slowed up due to the overcast skies and heavy rains. Volume harvesting should start in Virginia next week. Delaware berries will arrive at about the same time.

Army Service Clubs

Where do most soldiers go during off-duty hours? To the nearest Army Service club. These clubs, which are located at all installations, are a sort of community center for the soldier, his family and friends. Service club activities, which are free of charge, include dances, parties, informal discussion and hobby groups, game tournaments, etc. There are 285 Army service clubs located throughout the world. Staffing them are more than 750 young civilian women who are affectionately known as "ladies in blue" because of their blue uniforms. They are all college graduates and experienced in group work with recreation and social agencies.

Why Infantry?

I was talking with someone the other day who couldn't believe that many people join the Army and ask for an infantry assignment. Why infantry, he asked? It was simple to answer. Many jobs in the Army require a great deal of technological skill. But very few offer the infantry's challenges of leadership and responsibility and its sense of pride and comradeship. The infantryman is truly a man. He must combine brains and brawn with the stamina to keep going when the going is tough. That's why many young men who visit us each week specifically request assignment to the infantry. They want a job that offers that extra sense of accomplishment.

Question

Are there any minimum or maximum ages for joining the Army?

Yes. Men must be between the ages of 17 and 35, and women must be between the ages of 18 and 35. Men under 18 and women under 21 will need written consent of a parent or guardian.

Need a Speaker

If your organization or club would be interested in having me or some other representative of the Army speak to it, please let me know. We would be delighted to tell your organization about Army opportunities, our experiences in the service, were we have been, etc. Let us know if you would like a speaker by dropping a post card to me at U.S. Army Recruiting Station, Blue Hen Mall Dover. Or, call me at 736-6937. Thank you.

Veterans' News

The Veterans Administration today reminded the more than 1000 Delaware College veterans they must return their certification of attendance cards during the last full month of every enrollment period.

The current semester for most college and university students will end in May or June.

Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Regional Office, said VA computers are programmed to prepare the final check this spring for the 1969-70 school year only after VA receives the certification of attendance card.

What's more, Mr. Fields pointed out, if the card is not returned at the end of the current semester, the student cannot be automatically enrolled under the GI Bill next semester.

College registrars must promptly return to the veterans re-enrollment certification to the VA if the veteran is to begin receiving his checks on schedule the next semester he is in school. Veteran trainees attending school below college level must return their attendance certification cards every month to insure uninterrupted payment of their educational allowance checks.

Mr. Fields said failure to complete and return the certification card will automatically stop all future payments to the veteran, service-man or dependent.

Everyone attending school under a VA program has the responsibility of keeping the VA informed as to whether there has been a change in the number of dependents, or in his enrollment program.

Mr. Fields urged those interested in entering training, or desiring further information, to contact their nearest VA office.

Chris Breaks Own Conference Mile Mark

Junior, Chris Wetherhold annexed his fourth Henlopen Conference track title in three years, when he finished first in the mile run, in a fine, 4:30.5. This cut four full seconds off the conference mark, established last season by the Spartan. It was virtually a solo effort since he led wire-to-wire. If he'd had a little competition, a 4:29 or 4:28 would have been possible in the event, held on Caesar Rodney's oval, on Saturday.

Lake Forest Ricky Hamm won the first heat of the mile in 5:09.3. This was the young Spartan's first chance to break the finish tape and he did it up brown, plucking an imaginary spider off the string, with both hands, yet.

Ken Tribbett appeared to get second place in the 100 final but the judge ruled in favor of Milford's Charley Russ.

Wetherhold came back, after the mile, to finish third in the half mile, won by a rested Emory Howell of Cape Henlopen, who didn't run in the mile. Chris logged 2:02.7, a personal and Lake Forest record.

Lenny Donovan shattered his Lake Forest shot put standard of 44-8 1/2, when he tossed the 12-pound iron ball, 46 feet 3 inches. Donovan has worked hard and deserves much credit. This 190 pounder looks like a dwarf, as he stands his rivals. The shot put winner, Elbert "Tiny" Williams of Seaford goes three hundred and sixty-five (365) pounds. Others had huge advantages over the fifth-placing Spartan.

Roger Jarrell was fifth in the pole vault to complete the Spartan scoring. The mile relay started auspiciously for Lake Forest. Fred White spun the 440 in 52.5 to get the Spartans off winging (though it is hard to run that rusty armor). Bill Walls fought off a much taller rival ran the Dover Senator into the ground and handed the baton to Sam Bostick, after clocking a fine 55. Bostick, a distance runner, shaded 56 seconds, enabling the locals to trail front-running Milford by only a yard going into the anchor leg. But the local deck was out of ace since two veteran Lake Forest relaymen had inexplicably failed to show for the Henlopen Conference champion meet. Both had been clocked in the 55's, one meet earlier. With either in the lineup, a 3:37 record effort for the mile relay would have been possible, instead of 3:44.

Trackmen Lose To Seaford and Dover

Lake Forest's trackmen had no choice against a Seaford squad, that could be state champion this year, but did very well before dropping a close verdict to Dover.

Ken Tribbett and Chris Wetherhold, Spartan captains, led the locals with a first and a second place each. Tribbett's 23 seconds flat, 220 yard dash, is a new Lake Forest record. Wetherhold ran a good 4:34.2 mile. Bruce Isaacs, the second-best miler in lower Delaware, was held out of that event and rested for the half mile. The Blue Jay then ran a track record 2:02.2.

Fred White set a Spartan mark of 53.8 in placing second in the quarter mile. George Turner was third in the long jump and logged a Spartan best of 18 feet, 3 inches. The sophomore owns the local triple jump mark, also.

In the high jump, 5 feet, 4 inches Norman Baynard leaped two inches over his own height to break Dan DeMora's Lake Forest mark of 5-5. DeMora, competing in only his third meet ever, responded with clearances of 5-6 and 5-8, to get a third place against Seaford and a first place against Dover. If DeMora had a couple of years experience, instead of the same number of weeks, he would probably be the state champ this year. The basket-

Trackmen Beat Indian River, Lose to Sussex

Lake Forest's track team ended its dual meet season with a 4-7 record, which was respectable considering all the adversities that beset the Spartans this campaign. The last outing, at Dagsboro-Frankford, was typical of the whole season.

Lake Forest defeated Indian River and was nosed out by Sussex Central, but, Billy Walls couldn't compete because of injuries, Leslie Berry (high hurdles record-holder) was home with a strep throat. Norman Baynard, high jumper had a muscle pull and was out of action. Shot putters Curt Powell and Dale Motter didn't compete.

Actually, the 1970 Spartan thinned team ranks with any Henlopen team, except Seaford, Milford and Caesar Rodney. Ken Tribbett was a double victor. He took the 100 in 10.4 and the 220 in 23 flat. Both times are good. The 220 ties his school record.

Chris Wetherhold won a good, 4:34 mile and added a second place in the 800. Lenny Donovan upset the pre-meet dope and captured the 12-pound shot with a throw of 44 feet, 4 inches. Brad Morris won the two mile in 11:12, with freshman, Jackie D. Parker, wearing down the opposition, one by one, to grab second in a personal-record 11:34.

Fred White's third place 53.7 set a new Lake Forest 440 mark. Dan Demora was second to Indian River's conference champion, Norm Empty, in the high jump and first in the confrontation with Sussex Central. Frankie Daniels clinched his varsity letter by tallying eight points, with a first and a second in the high hurdles. Neal Travis was third in the low hurdles, Mickey Chaffinch had the same spot in the discus.

Caesar Rodney's Riders edged Lake Forest's Spartans, 2-1, as Bob Hungerford pitched to all but one batter, in recording a no-hit game. Chris Moore, previously unbeaten, pitched very well in defeat, giving up only three safeties.

Newnom Pitches Spartans To Tie-Cinching Win

Dave Newnom cooled off a hot, Milford team on a several-game win streak, by scattering five hits over ten innings and nipping the Bucs 2-1. Bob Young's Lake Forest team thus clinched at least a tie for the Henlopen Conference Southern Division basketball title.

The 8-3 Spartans got two hits apiece from Jim Dill, Bob Wyatt, John McCloskey and Mike Fisher. Larry Larimore doubled, stole third and scored in a fly ball by John McCloskey, to knot the count in the fourth. Newnom walked in the tenth and later scored the winning run on Bob Wyatt's hit.

A Lake Forest victory in the finale at Woodbridge on May 21, or a Delmar loss of either of the Wildcats two remaining contests would give Lake Forest the divisional crown and a berth in the first state baseball tournament in almost 40 years.

year is little compared with what is might cost the state if parochial and private schools closed, necessitating massive new school building programs. The bill states that "the continuance of non-public education in Delaware is indispensable in resolving that crisis, and that non-public schools in which the requirements of the compulsory attendance law may be met perform secular educational functions and fulfill a public purpose."

Private and parochial schools, under the bill, could charge the state for all costs involved in providing "secular educational service" which is defined as teaching most subjects but not those that "include or consist of devotional religious exercises or subject matter which teaches religion or which promote or prefer any religious denomination."

Murphy also fulfilled an earlier pledge by introducing a bill asking for constitutional referendum to decide if the state should allow licensed gambling.

An earlier Murphy bill that would have opened the door for state-licensed gambling was defeated in the House weeks ago with Murphy vowing to take the issue to the people.

His new measure, H.B. 848, calls for the vote this November. The bill requires approval by two-thirds of both houses.

The pay-raise bill, H.B. 856, is sponsored by Rep. Robert M. Dodge, R-Rehoboth Beach, who, like all of the Bill's cosponsors, is not a candidate for re-election.

The measure would raise the salary for senators and representatives from $6,000 to $9,000 annually, give the Senate president protem and the House speaker an extra $3,000 annually and add $1,500 a year to the salaries of the minority and majority leaders in the house and senate and to the chairman of the Joint Finance Committee.

Dodge said the fact that he and the other sponsors are not running for re-election was a "striking coincidence."

In other bills introduced in the House Tuesday, H.B. 822, sponsored by representatives Robert J. Berndt, R-Hillcrest, and R. Glen Mears, Sr., D-Seaford, members of the governor's task force on solid waste disposal, would appropriate $1 million for the planning and design of a pilot solid waste reclamation plant.

House Hears New Court Plan

A Family Court reorganization plan which originated with a retired judge of the court was introduced in the House Tuesday. Former judge, Elwood F. Melson Sr.'s proposal, studied and revised by several groups was brought to the General Assembly in the form of an amendment to S.B. 500.

The new plan was introduced by Reps. Herbert A. Lesher, R-Claymont, and Sidney Balick, D-Wilmington. S.B. 500 is the controversial bill which would make the Family Court a statewide court, send some juveniles to Superior Court, and increase the number of Family Court judges. It passed the Senate several weeks ago, but has not been considered by the House.

Balick said Tuesday that Melson's plan, H.A. 1 to the Senate bill, would correct errors and "represents a better job of draftsmanship." It also stipulates that every juvenile under 18 go through the Family Court process of screening and study.

As would be the case under S.B. 500 as passed by the Senate, the amended version would send 16 and 17 year-olds to the Superior Court for certain major felonies. They would go to the Superior Court directly, though, only if they already had gone through the Family Court process once.

Balick said the new legislation has been reviewed by all of the present Family Court lawyers and that it has their unanimous backing. One of the current judges is Elwood F. Melson Jr., is the son of the originator of this version.
