The Diamond State Telephone Company will start a $55,000 addition to the dial apparatus in the Harrington exchange this month reports Jim Strickland, the company's Kent County manager.

"When the new equipment is placed in operation in August, it will provide faster dial tone service for Harrington telephone users," Strickland said.

Delaware Bay Bill Is Signed

Gov. Russell W. Peterson, expanding his one-year moratorium on developments affecting the Delaware Bay, signed a House bill Tuesday to halt construction on filling along the coastline.

H.B. 787, introduced in the General Assembly at Peterson's request, is aimed at "diking, filling, bulkheading, dumping and pier construction" between high and low water marks. It was prompted in part by the activities of the Penn Central Railroad, which has been filling in along the Delaware River in the Edgemoor area.

The state has been fighting in the courts for almost a decade to halt the railroad's activities.

The legislation which will take effect in 15 days, prohibits such actions unless the secretary of the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control determines there is a pressing and urgent need.

Any person or company violating the new law can be declared to be contributing to a "public nuisance" and fined up to $1,000 for each day the offense continues.

At a May press conference, Peterson announced he would seek such legislation because Delaware "needs this law to give us some breathing space until the state is in better position to regulate shoreline development."

The House measure's preamble notes that a comprehensive, multipurpose master plan on future bay development is being prepared. In January, Peterson hired an oceanography expert, Dr. James H. Wakelin Jr., as his special assistant on Marine Resources and coastal affairs.

Another House measure signed by Peterson Tuesday H. B. 730, is aimed at aiding first offenders arrested under the state's narcotic and dangerous drug laws.

The legislation enables the courts, without requiring a ruling of guilt, to defer pro-

The Harrington office, placed in dial operation in 1941, has had numerous apparatus additions including: in 1947-48 the dial addition amounted to more than $12,000, in 1955-56 it was for $15,800, in 1966 for $54,200, in 1967 for $39,890 and in 1968 the company invested more than $39,700 for additional dial switching equipment.

During 1970, Strickland said the company has earned earmarked $21,000,000 for state-wide telephone facilities to keep up with anticipated growth in Delaware.

Lake Forest Graduates 130 Seniors

Newark Nips Spartans, 1-0 For State Title

Lake Forest High narrowly missed winning a second state championship in its first year of existence, when the Spartans baseball team lost 1-0 to Newark, at the University of Delaware on Tuesday afternoon.

Righthander Dave Newnom, a junior, pitched a fine game for the Spartans, giving up only four singles in five innings. The winning run came in on a sacrifice fly ball in the third inning.

Tiny Jim Dill, a freshman, banded out a 380 foot triple to start the game, but was easily flagged out at the plate when he tried to score on a ground ball. Dill's a fine athlete but lack of height and weight limits his potential in most sports. However, his coordination enables him to do a good job in baseball. The second socker had a single, also, to get half of Lake Forest's four hits. Bob Wyatt and Chris Moore had the other two bingles. Wyatt shone in the field and almost tied the game in the seventh with a smash that just failed to clear the left field fence.

Lake Forest received a handsome trophy for its runnerup finish. The locals have an excellent group of awards and can be very proud of the tremendous performances turner in this school year. The Spartans could get another trophy with a win over Dover for the Henlopen title.

He has accepted a position as transportation research analyst with the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., in Chester, Pa. He and his wife, Sylvia and son, Stephen, will reside in Boothwyn, Pa.

Smith received his degree with honors, having maintained a 3.60 average based on a 4.00 scale. He also received the bachelor of science degree from the University of Maryland in June, 1969, and was a 1965 graduate of Harrington High School.

Smith Receives Master of Science Degree

Robert L. Smith, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Smith of Harrington, received a master of science degree from the University of Maryland Graduate School of Business Saturday. His areas of concentration were marketing research and transportation economics.

Felton To Hold Street Fair

The Felton Street Fair for the benefit of the Felton United Methodist Church will be held Saturday June 20 starting at 1 o'clock p.m. This is the 18th year for the event. The different organizations in the community will have various booths. Roland Neeman and Sherman Stevenson are the chairmen.

Terry Yoder has made the Dean's list at the University of Delaware for the second semester of this academic year. He had an index of 3.41.

17 GRADUATED FROM U. OF DELAWARE

There will be three candidates for the Democratic nomination for the House of Representatives, from the 33rd Representative District, in the primary election Saturday.

The aspirants are Leon C. Donovan, owner of a Felton hardware store, and a former member of the Kent County Department of Elections for ten years. He is a son of Leon Donovan, for state senator. H. Marvin Seeneey, long a familiar figure around Legislative Hall, is a second contender. A farmer, he lives near Whitelysburg.

The third challenger is Frank R. Whitley who lives near Chapeltown. He is a retired Air Force sergeant and once lived in Harrington for a short while.

Whoever wins Saturday will have to combat the incumbent, Rep. Robert Quillen (R.) who has held the post for two terms.

Other Democratic contests will see 32nd Representative District in a battle for the House.

The final distinctly Kent County contest, also for the House, will see Hudson E. Gruwell and Matthew Mitten tangle in the 30th Representative District.

The only county-wide contest will see John D. Daniello and Samuel L. Shipley, both of New Castle County, who are vying for U. S. Representative.

The Republicans apparently got their ducks in a row, with only one contest in Kent and that for a county row office—sheriff.

Samuel G. Mosley, of Frederica, deputy sheriff, will meet Willis Bunting Jr. The election will take place Tuesday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Polling places in the 33rd district are Bethesda Church, Marydel; Church of God, Willow Grove; Fire Hall, Felton; W. T. Chipman Junior School, Harrington; Fire Hall, Harrington; Fire Hall, Farmington; Fire Hall, Houston.

In the 32nd district polling places are Allen Frear School, Dover; Fire Hall, Frederica; North Elementary School, Milford, and American Legion Hall, Milford.

Yea, Mr. President

President Nixon announced to the world his decision to send American troops into Cambodia. Going on nationwide radio and television, he stated he felt it necessary to send troops into this war torn country in order to protect the lives of American troops and to maintain his pledge of bringing our soldiers home as quickly as possible.

The enemy had been using the supposedly neutral country as a retreat and staging area for attacks upon South Vietnam. Recently, these attacks have been increased and North Vietnam is trying to take over the entire country.

As expected, many people in this country object to this move. In this group have been militant students, college professors and several United States senators who have always favored giving in to the enemy and getting out of Vietnam.

Students are protesting everywhere. Some have been killed. At Stanford University, where anti-ROTC demonstrations clashed with police last week, three shots were fired into the home of the school's ROTC commander and faculty members condemned Nixon's actions.

It was a hard decision for Nixon to make. Unfortunately though it may be, he did make the right decision considering all circumstances, or so it seems.

Notes from Greenwood Kiwanis Club:

Austin Beall, a member of the Capitol Hill Kiwanis Club of Washington, D. C., going through town, joined the local club members in their meeting and the excellent roast beef dinners, provided and served by the ladies' auxiliary of the Greenwood Fire Company, last Thursday evening. The Washington, D. C. club member not only expressed his approval of the good food he was enjoying at his table companion, he told a waitress attending his table the same thing and he said he knew that there had to be some mighty good cooks in this community.

Prior to the director's meeting, Austin Beall made his departure, thanking the members for their friendly and hospitable fellowship, and said possibly he would be stopping again.

President Henry Peters conducted the director's meeting. Routine club business was transacted. A special committee was named to study a requested club activity.

The club was very pleased to find Debbie Willey at the piano this evening. They hope they will continue to see her there.

Program chairman for next Thursday, June 11, is Ralph Hynson. Ralph will bring to the club one of the Diamond State Telephone Company's fine programs.

The following are ideas of CHANGE from the Sixth Grade students in Mrs. Brobst's English classes.

If I could make some changes here at school I would like to have shorter school days, get to get out at recess, have air conditioning in each room. I would have no books, so that we could just about things. My school would get out May first.

HOWARD PARKER
If I could make some changes here at school, I would allow a fifteen minute ice cream break-free ice cream. We would have gym four days a week, and on Fridays we would have a party all day long. I would cut down on school taxes.

PAULA CLENDANIEL
If I could make some changes here at school, I would make soda fountains out of the water fountains. Every room would have air conditioning. We would have a four-day week because on Wednesdays there would be no school. We would have spongy carpeting to sit on instead of desks and chairs.

CHEERYL JOHNSON
If I could make some changes here at school, I would be the principal. We would have gym three days every week. Each room could have a party every Friday afternoon. We would have robot teachers.

DARNELL BURTON
If I could make some changes, I would have air conditioning in every room for hot days, and better heating system for the winter. When we get hungry we could go to a refrigerator that would be in each room. For math we would have our own adding machines and portable computers.

MARK KROUSE
If I could make some changes here at school, I would put a coke machine in every hall, more water fountains, and have pizza each day for lunch. We would have three recesses each day. We would have a big swimming pool on the playground. Instead of chairs and desks, we would have reclining chairs.

MICHAEL CLOUGH
If I could make some changes here at school, I would stop homework. After lunch, we could have a recess. We would have air conditioning. The classes would be shorter, and summer vacations would be longer.

STEVE DAYTON
If I could make some changes here at school, I would have hunting classes every day for three hours. Other classes would be shorter. I would have air conditioning. We could drink cokes in class. We would have a dance each week.

DANE HITCHENS
If I could make some changes here at school, I would have a swimming pool. We would have one-hour recesses. Teachers would not be allowed to give us homework. We would have a tennis court for our use. Instead of desks we would have soft chairs.

DONNA SHULTIES S
If I could make changes, I would have school more fun. I would have flowers painted on each desk. The blackboards would be colorful. The school buses would be pink and yellow striped. The lunches would be free. We would have only two months of school.

DORA BROWN
If I could make changes here at school, I would have it so that I could be lazy. We would have homework machines. The principal could be a computer. Instead of the teachers punishing us for doing something bad, we could punish them for being good. RONNIE WOODS

If I could make changes here at school, I would have better rooms. I would have air conditioning in every room. I would have better desks, lockers, and more closets for extra things — paper, books, and pictures. I would have more than one pencil sharpener. There would be an ice cream maker in each room. I would have a swimming pool as big as five rooms.

BECKY COLLINS
If I could make changes, I would have a dance every day. We would throw books out the window. Instead of correcting us for what we do that's wrong, the teacher would give us candy. There would be only boys in classes. We would have more dramatization. We could eat strawberries all day long.

NATHAN RUST
My changes would be to have new books and equipment to work with. Dogs would be allowed in school. There would be no such thing as homework. Sometimes the students would be allowed to be the teachers. We would play, and do not a little bit of work.

ARTHUR WILSON
If I could make changes, I would have little cars to ride to the classes. The cars would be heated in winter, and cooled in summer. In the cars would be computers to do our work, so we wouldn't ever get a headache. We would use the car to go back and forth from home to school.

CHEERYL SHORT
If I could make changes, we would not ever have any homework. We would go outside three times a day, eat lunch two times a day, and have ten-minute classes. In each class we would be allowed to get a drink and go to the bathroom.

DANNY PORTER
My changes would be to have recesses. Our gym classes would be in the afternoons. We would have air conditioning. I would put a soda machine in every room. We would have ten minutes between classes. There would be no homework.

DONALD DEPUTY
My way of running our school would be to have free swimming pools. One would be outside for summer and an indoor one for winter.

Each room would be air conditioned. We would have an animal shelter for people to learn to take care of the animals. We would come to school at ten o'clock and leave at two. BEVERLY VONGORRES
If I could make changes here at school I would begin by allowing us to take trips to Australia, Europe, California, Rome and other parts of Italy. Our lunch hour would be as long as we wanted.

KATHERINE PICKETT
Family Court Judge Kelsey, Presiding
Eight juveniles appeared before the Court charged with a total of ten motor vehicle violations and each was ordered to pay fines and costs concerning the offense with which he was charged. In addition, two juveniles had their licenses suspended for sixty days.

Three juveniles appeared before the Court charged with burglary in the fourth degree. After hearing the evidence presented, the Court ordered each to pay fines of $50 to make restitution to the victim within two months, and to be placed on probation for indefinite period of time.

After hearing recommendations from the respective probation officer, the Court released eight juveniles from probation to the Court. Ten juveniles appeared before the Court to determine whether or not they could be released from detention pending further hearings before the Court.

After hearing all statements from the parties, the Court ordered that one juvenile's custody be granted unto the State Department of Health and Social Services temporarily, that five juveniles be continued in detention and that four juveniles be released to the custody of their parents.

The cases of two juveniles charged with shoplifting were dismissed when the investigating officer failed to appear to prosecute the case. Custody of eight minor children was before the Court for determination as to the best placement of said children. After hearing testimony, the Court ordered that three be awarded unto their natural mother, three unto the Department of Health and Social Services, Division of Social Services for foster home placement, and two unto their maternal grandparents.

Two juveniles were before the Court charged with petit larceny. After hearing the evidence presented, the Court ordered one to pay costs and a fine of $15 and the other to pay costs and be continued on probation to the Court for a period of three months. One juvenile appeared before the Court on a charge of forgery. After hearing the testimony presented, the Court ordered that she pay the minimum fine of $500 suspended $475 of said fine and placed the juvenile on probation for an indefinite period of time.

One juvenile before the Court on a charge of incorrigibility was ordered to pay costs and was placed on probation for an indefinite period of time. Two juveniles appeared before the Court charged with disorderly conduct. After hearing the evidence presented, the Court ordered that each pay costs and fine of $25.

One juvenile before the Court on a charge of reckless driving was ordered to pay costs and a fine of $100, placed on probation to the Court for an indefinite period of time; in addition, the Court suspended his license for a period of six months.

One juvenile before the Court charged with committing an act of assault and battery was ordered to pay costs and a fine of $5. Three juveniles before the Court charged with shoplifting were ordered to pay costs and a fine of $20. One juvenile appeared before the Court on a charge of incorrigibility. The Court ordered that he be committed to Ferris School for Boys, suspended this sentence of commitment, and placed the juvenile on probation for an indefinite period of time.

The case of one juvenile charged with an alcoholic beverage violation was dismissed when the investigating officer failed to appear to prosecute the case. One juvenile before the Court concerning two motor vehicle violations was ordered to pay costs and fines totaling $85.

Eight defendant fathers appeared for review and adjustment of existing support orders of which Glyn Matthews was committed for one year; Paris Lavis Wall, six months; Ralph Evans, six months; Harvey Lee Lewis, seven months. Ten defendants appeared on new charges of non-support of wife and children; the Court placed five support orders and four defendants entered in voluntary agreements; and one defendant was found not guilty. Mrs. Sandy Miller

HAIL TO LAKE FOREST HIGH SCHOOL

We know of no high school in Delaware which has had the first-year success of this school; for this is the first year of the existence of the school drawing students from Frederica, Felton and Harrington.

The graduation program last Sunday listed 134 graduates 15 of whom made the National Honor Society for scholastic achievement.

Now the purpose of a school is to furnish an education. However, this includes sports and Lake Forest High School has also excelled in this department.

It was outstanding in football, basketball track and baseball. In fact, it reached the finals Tuesday in the last-named, but lost out to Newark, 1-0 in the state title contest.

The performance of the Lake Forest teams is exceptional, especially when one considers, as mentioned above, it was the school's first year.

Which brings us to the hope of a member of Milford High School's golf team. "You beat us in football, basketball and baseball. I was hoping you would have a golf team so we could beat you."

Lake Forest doesn't have a golf team, but why shouldn't it?

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

Back in my boyhood days there was a wooden hand-pump which stood in a well in the center of the town square that prompts:

— THE OLD TOWN PUMP —

Silent it stands at the end of the street,
 Fastly decaying, this ancient antique;
 It's old worn top, that once held a ball
 Now leans at an angle, just ready to fall.
 The handle droops down like an old broken limb,
 It had once been carved and a beautiful thing.
 The spout, out of plumb, had many a bump—
 That's all that is left of the old town pump.

The platform around it has gone to decay,
 Still showing the footprints of many a day:
 When neighbors drank deep of it's water so pure,
 And for gossip the spot was always a lure.

But now it's passed by, not a glance does it get,
 It has gone like the day of the staid minuet;
 But each time I pass by, in my throat there come a lump,
 As fond memories link to the Old Town Pump.

FENCE TALK

Now is the time to make your entries for the 51st Delaware State Fair to be held the last week in July. Don't delay your application if you want to try for a cash award with farm or garden products, or with a craft. Phone 398-3269 if you need a catalogue, or write to the Delaware State Fair at Harrington, 19952.

This marks the 51st year for the fair and everything points to a gala event. It is the best show case for local agriculture that you will find because it reflects the vast changes today in farming.

We can assume that agriculture will continue to grow in all of Delmarva even with these constant changes. The Delaware State Fair may be the best stage from which to see them coming.

If you are bothered by mosquitoes this summer there may be a few things that you can do to reduce the population. One of the most common mosquitoes is the common house species called sulex pipiens which can complete its development from egg to adult in a period of six days.

There are other types of mosquitoes such as the salt marsh mosquito and the fresh water swamp mosquito that are also quite disturbing around the home. You can help remove some of these insects by removing or emptying bird baths periodically also by cleaning roof gutters to allow the water to drain. There are many things you can do around the home to remove the breeding sites for mosquitoes.

If you would like to have these suggestions and chemical control recommendations call your nearest Extension Office. The Women's Auxiliary of the Kent Soil & Conservation District announces the following winners for the 1970 Soil Stewardship Week Poster Contest.

1st place - Terry Lynn Bowman, Greenwood; 2nd place - Cheryl Warren, Woodside; 3rd place - Lane Bradshaw, Maryland. Honorable mention - Becky Anderson, Ray Antal, Steven Gillespie, Clayton Jones, Tommy & Peggy Jones, Kathy Koble, Mark & Scott Kosco, Bruce Schepens, Tony Staite, Vicki Swain, Carol Waldbusser, Nancy Waldbusser, Gregory Warren, Marie Warren.

This year's contest had a much greater response than usual and the posters were of exceptionally fine quality. It Seems To Me By Janet C. Reed Have you fallen in love with a gorgeous fabric, struggled to create a garment of distinction, and finally faced the fact that the material looked far better on the bolt than it did on you? It's easy to get carried away with the beautiful colors, prints and textures in the stores today. But fabric on the bolt and fabric on you are two different things!

ing or does it make my coloring look faded? Is the fabric design bold or spotty? If so, do I have the figure and personality to carry it off? And do I have the designing skill to place the design so it does the most for my figure? Does the texture seem to add to my apparent size and can I take it? Before you rush to buy, think what you have in your wardrobe that you wear most often. What colors and fabrics make you feel well dressed? What colors bring you the most compliments? This may give you a clue to your best fabric choice — if you can get by all those bolts of beautiful fabrics in the store.

Care Prevents Farm Accidents Long hours spent on farm machinery during the summer months greatly increase the possibility of disabling accidents, according to Thomas H. Williams, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware. Most accidents are the result of small mistakes, says Williams. Small mistakes that turn to tragedy. These include too much speed; a slight error in judgment; a lost or broken shield; an improperly adjusted hitch.

When operating machinery in the field, watch for open ditch banks and hidden rocks and stumps, he advises. And avoid climbing steep banks. Always hitch loads to the drawbar, never to the tractor axle. Know what to expect from your equipment. A tractor pulling a heavy load may handle quite differently than the same tractor without a load.

About one-third of all fatal tractor accidents occur on highways. If you operate a tractor on the highway, keep as far right as safety permits. Use warning flags that are clearly visible during daylight hours and be sure that machinery is properly lit after dusk. For added safety, use slow moving vehicle emblems to warn traffic that you are operating a vehicle at less than 25 miles an hour, says Williams. And be sure to give proper signals and obey all traffic laws.

Never operate machinery when you are extremely tired, worried or in a hurry, he adds. This is when most accidents occur. Keep children away from farm machinery, and never allow extra riders. If you are working alone, arrange for someone to check with you frequently. Many of these accidents would be less serious if help were available immediately following the accident.

Tropical Studies Tour Planned Three graduates of the University of Delaware's Longwood Program in Ornamental Horticulture will participate in a three week tropical study tour this month, according to Dr. Richard Lighty, coordinator of the Longwood program.

Richard A. Brown, Seattle, Wash., DeArmand Hull, Mason City, Ill.; and Walter Bobb, Drexel Hill, Pa., will examine tropical agriculture in Florida, Costa Rica and Jamaica. Accompanying the students will be F. Joseph Longwood Gardens, and Dr. Carstens, floriculturist at C. Dunham, associate professor of plant science at the university. The two day Florida tour will include visits to the U.S. Department of Agriculture tropical plant introduction center, Fairchild Botanical Garden and several ornamental nurseries in the Miami area. The group will also visit botanical gardens, horticultural institutions and experiment stations in Jamaica.

On arrival in Costa Rica, the group will be met by representatives of the Organization offering formal and informal training for American institutions dealing in tropical agriculture. While in Costa Rica, the students will study at the OTS teaching center at Palomar Sur, visit a United Fruit Company plantation at Golfito and study at a U.S. Agency for International Development research and teaching center at Turrialba.

The tropical studies tour is sponsored by the Longwood Foundation.

4-H'ers To Attend W. Va. Camp

Two Delaware 4-H'ers will attend the West Virginia State 4-H Older Youth Camp at Jackson's Mill, June 29 - July 4. Miss Dana Gooden, Wyoming, and Jay Bennett, Milford, are the Delaware delegates, according to Jams O. Baker, state 4-H leader.

Miss Gooden, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gooden, has been active in 4-H work for eight years. She was a national winner in the 1969 awards program and has received county honors in dress review, horse, swine, horse judging and sporting animals demonstration. The 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cremer Bennett, Jr., has completed five years of 4-H work and was the state electric winner in last year's national awards program.

During the camp, 4-H'ers will take part in discussion groups, music and recreation leadership training courses and a creative arts workshop. Baker points out that the Delaware delegates will return better trained to act as junior leaders in local 4-H clubs, in community activities and county 4-H work.

Receives Dow Jones Achievement Award

A University of Delaware senior has received the Wall Street Journal Student Achievement Award from Dow Jones and Company, New York. George R. Lynam, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Lynam, Middletown, received an engraved medallion at the university's annual honors convocation. His name has also been added to the Dow Jones award plaque in the university's college of agricultural sciences.

The 22-year-old Lynam majored in animal science at Delaware and maintained a 3.41 cumulative grade index. In the fall, he will start a graduate degree program in agricultural economics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg.

All students in the College of Agricultural Sciences are eligible for the award, which is based largely on academic achievement. Lynam was nominated for the honor by the faculty and administration of the College of Agricultural Sciences.

Wins Tractor Driving Contest

Dave Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Robinson, Townsend, advanced to the 22 state regional event after winning the Delaware state 4-H tractor operators contest held recently at the Sussex County Vocational Technical Center, Georgetown.

Robinson, who has completed six years of 4-H work, was the state petroleum power winner in the 1969 National 4-H awards program. He has also won county and state awards in tractor and dairy judging, and in 1968 and 1969 he was county demonstration winner in automobile and tractor care.

The regional tractor operators contest will include a written examination on maintenance and safe operation and a practical maintenance examination. Driving competition includes handling a tractor and wagon on a course designed to represent a farm lot situation.

The Eastern United States 4-H Operators Contest is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of the participating states and is designed to give 4-H'ers an opportunity to demonstrate their tractor maintenance knowledge and their skill in operation.

Other winners in the Delaware contest include Raymond Baxter, Middletown, second; Bill McIlvain, Milton, third; Paul Feucht, Middletown, fourth; James Harrison, Goldsboro, fifth; and Joe Gibson, Wyoming, sixth.

Seashore Gardening Challenging, Rewarding

Delaware flower enthusiasts still have plenty of time to raise attractive summer blooms at their seashore homes and cottages, reports Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Poor growing conditions along the shore may be difficult to overcome, he explains, but a careful selection of varieties, soil improvement and proper plant care will produce a colorful flower display for many weeks.

For a quick splash of colors, annuals are an excellent choice. Among those annuals suited to seashore conditions are petunia, marigold, portulaca, cosmos and calandula. Many of the tougher perennials such as day lily, chrysanthemum, iris and gallardi will also thrive year after year with relatively little care.

Soil improvement is an all important factor in seashore plant culture, says Stevens. In many areas, seashore soils are almost pure sand which dries quickly and does not hold fertilizer materials.

To help overcome this difficulty, dig in as much organic matter as possible. Mix peat moss, leaf mold, well rotted manure or other vegetable material into the top six or eight inches of soil. Then spread two or three inches of organic material onto the soil and dig in. Applying five pounds of limestone and three pounds of 5-10-10 fertilizer per 100 square feet of soil area is also helpful.

When planting seashore flowers, it is best to transplant established annual or perennial plants when possible. However, there is still time to grow annuals from seed using large seeded, easy to grow types such as marigold.

Protecting seashore plants from wind is also an important consideration, says Stevens. Long term planning in selection and placement of trees and shrubs will provide the necessary wind shelter.

Japanese black pine is certainly the hardest — and probably the best — of the seashore evergreens. But other trees such as Russian Olive, Red Cedar, Tanarix, American holly and Black Locust are valuable additions to seashore property.

Bayberry, beach plum, rugosa rose, junipers and many other shrubs will also stand the rigors of seashore planting if provided with proper soils and frequent watering. Seashore gardening is rewarding if you simply heed the rules of success, he concludes. Choose adaptable plants, improve the soil and feed. A colorful garden will usually follow.

Detergents And Pollution

Another alarm on pollution has been sounded — the villain — heavy duty detergent.

Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware, says homemakers play an important role in this new problem since they decide on cleaning procedures. Heavy duty detergents are coming under fire because of their high phosphate composition. The phosphate seems to be one link in the water pollution chain.

It apparently causes a harmful decrease of oxygen in the natural waters. The phosphate encourages aquatic plant growth which uses the water's oxygen supply. This in turn deprives the fish of needed oxygen and the fish population decreases.

A logical solution would seem to be removing the villain — phosphate. However, removing phosphates from detergents reduces their cleaning ability. Detergent manufacturers emphasize the impossibility of this solution. Phosphates are required in cleaners not only to soften the stain but also to prevent the dirt from spreading during laundry process.

What does this mean to you and your laundry and house cleaning? The situation is frustrating, says Miss Morris, since the solutions thus far are impractical.

Phosphate percentage charts have been printed ranking detergents according to their composition and safety. However, these rankings may be far from accurate.

The form in which a detergent is sold accounts for great variations in the phosphate content findings. For example, dry powdered heavy duty detergents contain 30 to 40 percent phosphates. Liquid heavy duty detergents erroneously appear to offer consumers lower phosphate percentages. But, if all the water were removed from liquid detergents, the phosphate content of heavy duty liquid detergents would probably be about the same as heavy duty powered detergents.

Nonetheless, it is clear that enzyme detergents are particularly high in phosphates because they are required to help the enzyme do its job.

Substituting soap for detergent was one recommendation, but the shortage of animal fat limits this idea. Also, using soap brings back the problem of getting adequate suds in hard water.

Softening hard water soap could be effectively used presents a pollution problem since most water softeners contain phosphates. Washing soda, used as a softener, is free of phosphates but has other undesirable features.

When soap is added to soda-softened water, the result is a precipitate known as "soap curd." These lumpy particles are another homemaker headache since they must be filtered from the laundry water.

To use heavy duty detergents or not to use them seems to be the question. But can the homemaker make do without her faithful laundry aid?

Two opposing viewpoints are expressed, says Miss Morris. Some people feel that the detergents are irreplaceable and that the fish loss is not that great at present. Others are beginning to work for waste treatment centers which would remove phosphates from the disposal water.

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne Helberton

Come warm days, every backyard becomes a sidewalk cafe. Fun for all the family, outdoor eating is a pleasant pastime whether the food is prepared over a simple campfire or on the most elaborate motorized, electric roaster-grill.

One entree which lends itself to enjoyable outdoor dining, no matter what the equipment for cooking, is ground beef. Most of us call it hamburger. Whatever you call it, for flavor, nutritional values, economy and versatility, a pound of ground meat is a worthwhile investment.

There are many types of ground beef, so what should you buy? Before this question can be answered you need to know what the recommendations are for tender, juicy and flavorful "hamburgers." According to the USDA, between 15 and 30 percent fat is necessary in ground beef to provide you with a tender, juicy hamburger. Lower amounts of fat tend to produce dry, crumbly and tasteless meat.

Federal regulations, and in some cases state laws, set a limit on the maximum amount of fat that can be included in products labeled hamburger or ground beef and sold as Federal or state-inspected meat.

For instance: hamburger can contain up to 30 percent fat, which may include the addition of beef fat over and above that attached to the meat being ground. It cannot contain extenders such as non-fat dry milk, soybean products, cereals, water, etc., and still be labeled hamburger.

While regular ground beef can also contain up to 30 percent fat, retailers frequently limit it to 20 to 25 percent since only that fat which is normally on the meat can be used. Additional fat cannot be added nor can extenders be used.

The result is that hamburger may tend to shrink more in cooking than ground beef. This quality difference helps justify the slightly higher price per pound paid for ground beef.

Both hamburger and ground beef, however, are made from boneless chunks, of less tender beef with less popular cuts such as neck meat, stew cuts, the plate, brisket, flank, shank and trimming from boned roasts.

Ground chuck is meat from the shoulder or "chuck" of the animal. The chuck is more popular than those meats used for ground beef so it is higher priced. It is slightly leaner, 15 to 25 percent fat, and shrinks less in cooking. Because of this it is especially good for use in patties.

Ground round, ground sirloin, etc. are just what their names imply. However, if you want a juicy, tender hamburger, it is best to ask your butcher to add a little beef suet to such lean cuts of meat.

The important thing to remember is that the ground meat you use should contain between 15 and 30 percent fat to assure you of a tender, juicy, flavorful meat.

Methodist Men's Club News

Norman Toadvine of the Asbury Methodist Men of Asbury Church opened the meeting Sunday morning, June 7, at 8 a.m., with the Rev. Jones gracing the table with 21 members present.

In the absence of the secretary, no minutes were given of the last meeting. The treasurer's report was given by Earl Nelson.

New officers were installed by the Rev. Jones. They are: Norman Toadvine as president, George Tatman as vice president, Earl Nelson as treasurer and Nicky Morris as recording secretary for a one year period.

The new air conditioning and heating system being installed in the church will soon be ready for use according to reports.

Roland Melvin was the speaker for the morning taking the 4th chapter of John as his subject with love and concern in our community for our brother. Norman Toadvine committee served the breakfast of scrambled eggs and coffee with Ed Graef as chef.

Disappointed at Litter on Beach

Austin N. Heller, secretary of the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control announced last week his disappointment regarding the litter on the public beaches over the Memorial Day weekend.

The Cape Henlopen State Park Gordons Pond Area (Whiskey Beach) north of Rehoboth was strewn with litter requiring more than 70 hours or nine and one-half man-days of hand labor to clean. More than 12 tons of debris was removed from this area and very little effort was made by the public to utilize the 45 containers provided.

Stringent surveillance and control measures will be in effect, not only on the beach lands, but all state parks areas in an attempt to correct the visitor's disregard to this situation. Continued indiscriminate littering of public beaches and parks may force the department to restrict or prohibit further use of certain areas.

Veteran's Administration News

Q - I recently married a widow with an 18-year-old son who is now attending college. Since he is now my stepson is he eligible for educational assistance for 36 months, since I am 100 percent permanently disabled due to service?

A - No. In order to qualify for this benefit, your stepson must have acquired this relationship prior to the attainment of age 18.

Q - As a veteran, am I entitled to extra payment from the VA if I have been confined to a VA hospital more than 21 days?

A - That depends on two factors. If you were hospitalized for a nonservice condition, no. Yes, if your hospitalization was for an established service-connected condition.

Q - I served in the Army from June to December 1955, and suffered no injuries. Recently, my doctor advised me that I have a disability which will prevent me from following employment. Am I eligible for a nonservice pension?

A - In order to qualify for a nonservice pension, you must have served 90 days of continuous duty, any part of which was during wartime period. Since your service was not during wartime, you are not eligible for pension under existing laws.

Q - My husband died from a service-connected disability and I am receiving monthly payments from the VA. Will the VA assist me with my heavy and medical expenses?

A - No. The VA cannot legally provide medical care to anyone other than the veteran. However, if you are disabled enough to require the aid and attendance of another person, the VA can make an additional $50 monthly payment.

Q - is a woman who draws VA benefits as a widow of a veteran entitled to an extra $50 allowance if she becomes a patient in a nursing home?

A - Yes. Q - My husband was killed during the Korean Conflict, and I receive dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) from the VA. Does recent legislation increase payments for our children?

A - Legislation effective Jan. 1, provides an increase in payments to many widows with children, but the increase is payable only to widows whose husbands lost their lives in, or as a result of military service. You may request this increased benefit at the nearest VA office.

Q - Will my husband's insurance premiums be covered under the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act when he enters military service?

A - Yes, up to $10,000, provided he applies and the policy was in effect under premium - conditions for at least 180 days prior to his entrance into active service.

Q - I receive VA compensation for myself, wife and son. My son, who is handicapped and unable to care for himself, will reach 18 years of age soon. Will I continue to receive benefits for him?

A - The VA will continue to provide benefits for the child if it is determined that he became permanently incapable of self support prior to his 18th birthday, and if he remains unmarried. Send a medical report from your family physician describing your son's present condition to the nearest VA office.

Thanks to an Army organizer, a man from Vermont and a platoon of Army engineers, a chapel at Phu Bai, Vietnam, has a new bell tower and an American bell nearly 100 years old.

It all started when Sergeant First Class Lester Gibbs, an Army organizer in Vietnam, wrote to his mother in Hartford, Conn., about the need for a bell by the Phu Bai chapel. Mrs. Gibbs relayed the request to a local newspaper, which printed the story. A bell collector from White River Junction, Vt., James A. Huntley, read the story and offered a 50-pound bronze bell which has been cast 97 years ago. When the bell arrived in Vietnam, the Army engineers took over. They designed and erected a bell tower with an Oriental motif and then installed the bell. And now, the villagers of Phu Bai have a bell to summon them to religious services.

Baseball Instructions
Young children in Vietnam are getting some real big league baseball instruction. Private First Class Bob Kenny, a relief pitcher with the Atlanta Braves last year and now a radio - telephone operator with the 101st Airborne Division, is teaching the "great American pastime" to Vietnamese children in the hamlet of Uu Thoung. Prc. Kenny doesn't know if he'll find any potential major leaguers among the youngsters, but he reports that they are picking up the fundamentals of the game. Who knows? Maybe we'll see the Uu Thoung Braves take on the New York Mets in an International World Series some day.

Officer Candidate School
Recent college graduates, and those who expect to earn degrees this June, should consider joining the Army for Officer Candidate School. If you pass the necessary tests, we'll guarantee your attendance at one of the schools.

Upon commissioning, you'll be earning $386.40 a month, plus tax-free housing and food allowances. You'll also be responsible for a number of men and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of equipment. It's quite a way to start your business career. You'd probably never get as much responsibility or leadership experiences in your first job with a civilian firm.

Spartans Oust Favored McKean, 4-2

Tournament favorite McKean High was eliminated from the Delaware Interscholastic Baseball Tournament, by Bob Young's Lake Forest Spartans, on the University of Delaware's South Field, Monday afternoon.

A standout performance by John McCloskey, both at bat and in the field and Chris Moore's pitching gave Lake Forest a 4-2 victory, and a berth in the finals against Newark, the following day. Newark blanked Dover 5-0. McCloskey made two fine catches in a row, with two highlanders on base, to get the Spartans out of the fifth inning. Lake Forest had scored once in each of the first innings. McKean had tallied twice in the fourth and was in position to go ahead.

McCloskey, the Spartan left-fielder, had hit safely and scored early in the contest. In the final inning, he tripled in the locals' final run, with a booming drive over the centerfielder's head.

Larry Larimore and Jim Dill also hit safely for the winners.

Moore was in trouble in each of the last four innings but managed to come through each time. He fanned McKean's last two hitters, to end the contest.

Veteran's Administration News

Q. - I Can't find my G.I. insurance policy which was issued by the Veterans Administration. Does this jeopardize my protection in any manner?

A. - No. Direct loss of protection results from the loss of a policy. Generally, a policy, a rider, or a renewable certificate can be replaced if the insured sends the VA an acceptable statement about its loss, destruction, mutilation or non-receipt. He should include his insurance number if he has it available, and other identifying information.

Q. - As the widow of a World War II veteran, I receive service - connected dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC). I am severely disabled, and am required to live in a nursing home. How do I apply for the $50 additional aid and attendance benefits?

A. - Write to the regional office having jurisdiction of your claim. Enclose a statement from your doctor or the director of the nursing home, stating why you need this care.

Q. - Is it necessary that a veteran name a contingent beneficiary of his G.I. insurance policy in case the person he has named as beneficiary dies before he does?

A. - No, but it is a good idea to do so.

Q. - I hear that it is no longer necessary for servicemen to have two years of active duty to qualify under the G.I. Bill. Is that true?

A. Yes, but this applies only to servicemen who have not received secondary school diplomas or who need remedial or refresher courses required for, or preparatory to, enrollment in a program of education or training. These servicemen are eligible for G.I. Bill benefits after 180 days of active duty. Other servicemen must have had at least two years of active duty, 181 days of which must have been continuous active duty, to qualify for these benefits.

Doreen Chaffinch 3rd In Sprint

Doreen Chaffinch, 14, an eighth grader at W. T. Chipman Junior School, learned a valuable lesson, Saturday. Competing in the 14-15 division of the Junior Olympics, at Baynard Stadium, Wilmington, Doreen won the third place award, in the 100 yard dash. The blonde, pigtailed speedster emerged from the pack and appeared to have second place in the bag, with a chance to win all the marbles.

Late in the going, Doreen slowed suddenly, thinking the finish line had been passed. When she realized her mistake, she picked up speed again and just managed to get third place.

The lesson learned was to keep striving as long as the opposition does and a little longer.

This Saturday, at the same location, some 40 or 50 boys and girls, from this community will compete in the Junior Olympics. The Optimist Clubs of Delaware are furnishing the transportation.
