

Parents Want Notice of Pupils Early Dismissal

About a dozen parents appeared before the Lake Forest Board of Education Wednesday night, June 10, to object to the dismissal of the schools in the district for a championship baseball game.

Lake Forest's baseball team lost 1 to 0 to Newark High School in the state championship game held Tuesday afternoon.

Due to complicated busing schedules the entire school district was dismissed at about noon for the game.

The parents objected because many were not at home when the elementary children arrived because they were given no advance warning.

The game was originally scheduled for 5 p.m. but due to graduation exercises at Newark was changed to 2 p.m. The final decision to dismiss the schools was made at about 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday.

School officials then placed an announcement of the early dismissal on local radio, stations but apparently many of the parents didn't hear it.

Albert A. Adams, superintendent of the Lake Forest District said the school policy for early dismissal was followed in this instance.

"The entire policy handbook for the district is under review and this is one section that will be carefully studied," Adams said.

"I think the whole thing is resolved," Adams said. "We are working on a better policy for the notification of parents. I don't imagine this situation will happen again."

In other school business, the school board acted as follows:

Named William Cline, principal of Lake Forest East to fill the principalship at Lake Forest South for the coming school year.

Appointed William Griffin principal of Lake Forest East Elementary School for the coming school year.

Named Earl Griffin as vice-principal at W.T. Chipman Junior School on a 10-months' basis for the coming school year.

Named William Muehlesien as athletic director for next 1970-71.

Albert W. Adams, chief administrator, announced the appointment of Robert Sherwood, of Felton, as supervisor of buildings and grounds as of July 1.

Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Rachel Griffin, teacher at Lake Forest East.

Decided the birthday of Martin Luther King will not be a school holiday.

Appointed a committee of two board members, two administrators and two members of the Lake Forest Education Association, with Adams as chairman, to revise the school policy handbook. Adams then appointed the following: Marvin Brown, Joseph Hughes, S. Markowitz and James Schoch.

Decided Lake Forest School District will pay tuition to Caesar Rodney School District for Lake Forest pupils attending Caesar Rodney High School who will be enrolled in Grades 10, 11, and 12, during the 1970-71 school year.

Granted permission to the Delaware Track and Field Club to use the track at W.T. Chipman Junior School to hold a clinic each Monday from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Urged a resolution be sent to the General Assembly urging passage of Senate Bill 446 stipulating the duty-free lunch program and the continuation of educational television.

The next meeting of the board will be a reorganizational one Thursday evening, July 2, in the Lake Forest High School Library.

JOHN C. DARBY DIES AT FREDERICA

John C. Darby, a former state banking commissioner, died unexpectedly at his home at Frederica Wednesday morning, June 10. His family did not disclose his age.

Mr. Darby served as the state banking commissioner from 1943 to 1951. He had been appointed to the position by the late Gov. Walter W. Bacon.

Mr. Darby spent most of his early life as a farmer in the Frederica area where he was a lifelong resident.

In 1919 he joined the staff of the First National Bank, Frederica, which merged with the Delaware Trust Company the following year. He left the firm to serve as banking commissioner, returning in 1951.

At the time of his death he was still serving as a director of the Delaware Trust Co., president of the Board of Trustees of Barratt's Chapel, a member of the Frederica Town Board, Frederica Fire Company, Frederica Methodist Church and Temple, Lodge 9, Milford, AF&AM, Delaware Consistory and Nu Temple.

In addition to his widow, Mrs. Lula J. Darby, also of Frederica, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, College Park, Md., and Mrs. Grace Corkendale, Baltimore.

Private services were held at Roger's Funeral Home, Milton Saturday morning with interment in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery.

Lake Forest Wins Loop Baseball Crown

Where is Lake Forest High School? That question was being asked in September, in some parts of Delaware. The Spartans of 1969-70 have emphatically answered that question with a terrific winning average, with a state championship in cross country, a state track champion in miler Chris Wetherhold, a Henlopen titlist team in basketball with all-stars, Chris Moore and Ken Copper, and finally a baseball team, that finished runnerup in the state tournament and then added the Henlopen crown, by shading Dover 2-1.

The title contest was played at neutral Caesar Rodney and was righthander Chris Moore, reportedly pitching despite a sore arm, restrict the Senators to four hits, two by losing hurler, Sid Engle. Moore allowed base-runners in only two innings, as he finished 1970 with a 9-1 log.

The Spartans' Chester Scott banged a long drive to center field in the final inning, which the outfielder couldn't handle. Two balks moved Scott home with the winning run. Ironically, it was a balk call against Lake Forest that gave Dover a one-run regular-season victory.

Championship jackets went to Lake Forest's state champion cross-country squad and to the Henlopen Conference basketball titleholders. We wouldn't be surprised to hear that the Spartan baseballers will be wearing similar jackets by this autumn.

Seniors, who played in the Dover game were Bob Wyatt, Larry Larimore, John McCloskey, Mike Fisher, Chester Scott and Chris Moore.

Satterfield & Ryan Awarded Construction Contract

A local electrical contracting firm was awarded a substantial contract by the City of Milford last week.

Contracts totaling $110,779 were awarded to Satterfield & Ryan Electrical Contractors Inc., of Harrington, the lone bidder.

The two contracts are to complete encirclement of the city with a 24,000-volt line and to relocate electric equipment east of the city to make way for the Milford bypass.

George G. Russell Jr., the Milford manager, said estimates for the two projects were $52,000. He said the city will be reimbursed by the state for work to relocate equipment, which will progress as the bypass is constructed to the northeast of the city.

Md. Duo Arrested on Pot Charge

Two Maryland young people were arrested on drug charges late Saturday night after they were stopped for driving the wrong way on U. S. 13 near Harrington.

State Police at Troop 5 Bridgeville, said Randall Howard Bray, 20, Rockville, and Shirley Ann Wood, 18, of Silver Spring, were each charged with possession of a dangerous drug - marijuana. It was while the arrest was being made on the traffic violation, according to police, that an officer noticed cigarettes on the floor of the car, which they allege contain marijuana. Further investigation revealed more of the material in the vehicle, police said.

The two were taken to Magistrate Court 4, Seaford, and released under $500 bail each for later trial on the drug charges in Kent County Superior Court. Bray pleaded guilty to driving the wrong way on the dual highway and was fined $10.

W. T. Chipman Operators Board School Promotes 225 Pupils

The W. T. Chipman Junior School promoted 225 pupils to the Lake Forest High School on Wednesday, June 10.

The introduction of an "Optional Grading System" for pupils with limited ability in some or all subjects has helped reduce the number of failures. The system gives the teachers the option to evaluate an individual's progress as "satisfactory or unsatisfactory" rather than just by the standard grading system. Pupils are usually recommended for the "optional grading system" by teachers if they feel the individual is incapable of handling the subject matter at the particular grade level. These pupils then are tested individually by the guidance counselor or school psychologist. If it is found that the pupil has limited ability, the recommendation is verified. Thus these boys and girls who continue to make an earnest effort to learn to the best of their ability are spared the frustration of continuous failure and retention.

In the first year of reorganization the junior high pupils established a very good academic record, a student council, an annual yearbook, i.e. a mini-yearbook and some fine athletic teams. This exploratory phase of their education also gives youngsters an opportunity to gain experience in courses such as industrial arts, home economics, and foreign language, in addition to the major subjects. These courses open new areas of study to pupils as the curriculum is expanded.

The student body, representing the three consolidated areas, gradually congealed as the year progressed and took pride in their academic opportunities as "Junior Spartans." At the awards assembly last Friday, approximately one-third of the pupils received certificates for participation in extra-curricular activities. This excellent performance is a credit to the boys and girls who took the interest and time in their school.

Scholastic honor awards were also announced for the seventh and eighth grades. To qualify, students must have made "honors or high honors" for the four marking periods. The winners in the eighth grade were: Kristine Aenis, Doreen Chaffinch, Rose Kenton, Dottie Stubbs, and Judy Tatman. Seventh grade winners were: Valery Blackman, Diane Emory, Edward Hallock, Harry Hallock, Susan Kenton, Nancy Starke, and Robbie Wyatt.

In closing the awards Francis Ryan, the principal, commended the honor students for their achievement and urged all pupils to maintain their positive attitude toward learning which at this point in their lives represents their occupation, that of a student.

Ed's Birthday

Ed was glazing a base for a Christmas tree (his twenty-third one). Lottie, his better half, was busy as a bee on an owl.

Others were working on butterflies - owes - pitchers - crazy mixed up cats - mermaids and other ornaments when in walked two lovely girls bearing a luscious banana cake - ice tea - punch and jello nad singing Happy Birthday to Mr. Collins (Mr. Ed to many - Ed to many more).

He is the of Harringtons one in a life time preacher - Edward Collins. The Bonnells presented him with a player piano (ceramic of course), it was cute - had the roll music and all - the tune - Yellow Rose.

Ed looked really fetching in his white shirt (never see him in any other) and blue denim apron. Bud took his picture for prosperity. He says he is 72. I don't believe him, he looks younger. His day had started at 5:30 - went fishing - with two other men and caught among them 72. Left the Busy Bee's about 11:00. We did have fun!

FENCE TALK

This is the middle of June - dairy month. Milk cows account for almost a fourth of the cash farm income in Kent County.

Each year the Houston Cardinals presents its Dairy Festival at the local firehouse. By the time you read this, the event will have ended. For it was held last Saturday evening.

We must report it this way because "Fence Talk" is written for the weekly papers as well as the dailies. They need lead time to set their type, since we try to appear as a column every week.

The 4-H'ers stage a cow milking contest by hand with young girls, the girls later appear in a party dress which most of them have made as a project and give a five minute talk on some assigned 4-H topic.

There is an intermission where George Simpson auctions off homemade cakes and strawberries. Good clean fun you bet! It seems like everyone in Houston and most of our dairy farmers manage to be on hand for the action. We should have told you about it before now. Perhaps someone may beat me to the new county dairy princess. The club members usually see to it that the winners are quickly publicized.

The Holstein heifer raising project is a new money making activity for Delaware boys and girls. It is designed to help young people earn and learn something about raising a pure bred calf which will likely move into a Delaware dairy herd after a growing period of two years.

A farmer prefers to buy his replacement stock if he can find well grown heifers. An average cost for a person to do this is about $300 per heifer. The dairy farmer would rather milk an extra cow which gives a ready cash return in the same period of time. A boy or girl choosing this project need not live on a dairy farm. But he must agree to sell the heifer at the time of the Holstein Cattle Sale at the Delaware State Fair when grown out.

Your county agricultural agent, youth club agent, or extension dairyman has more details. Phone 736-1448. Let's repeat a notice given several weeks ago. Each week about noon on Mondays our county agents, crop specialists, commercial fieldmen and occasionally some farmers meet together at the Bridle Bit Restaurant in Harrington for lunch and an exchange of ideas on crop conditions.

There is heavy stress on the insect and disease situation. Most of us bring in plant specimens or insects. People, such as Dr. Dale Bray, Frank Boys, John McDaniel, all entomologists, and Dr. John Heuberger, plant disease specialist, identify the problem and suggest controls.

The facts are then reported in the "Late News on Insects and Diseases" mailed to farmers throughout the state each week. We invite anyone to come for informal sessions, but we warn you, lunch is Dutch treat.

Discussion by Francis J. Webb If you have evergreens around your home that had bagworms that overwintered on them, the young larvae are emerging now to feed on the plants. Now is the time to spray to control the young insects. The recommended chemicals are Sevin at 1 and 1/4 tablespoons plus malathion at 2 tablespoons of 57% per gal. water. Most insects are easier to control when they are young, so take control measures when you have a good chance for success. While we're on this subject, now is the time to spray your mimosa webworm. You should spray again around the first week of August to control the second brood. I believe extension has the tallest corn in Kent County. I am really not bragging, but we have a nice looking field of corn over at the maximum yield study located on a real sandy field near Sandtown.

This is a demonstration area to study the profitability of irrigating field corn, soybeans, and barley rotation on light sandy soil. Being the second year for this work we have gained experience and a better understanding of the fertility needs of these soils to keep the corn rapidly growing. Last year we ran short on nitrogen and potash through the growing season, but still harvested 111 bu.

yield. Since the soil is so porous we are applying the N and K through the irrigation system this year. We call it spoon feeding the corn to get maximum yields. Another name that has been given to this procedure is fertigation.

If any of you would like to stop out and see this demonstration area, you are more than welcome. It is located on the south end of route 208 just off route 10 before you get to Sandtown. There is a waterwinch irrigation system in the field. We will have the data from this experiment available this fall, if any of you would like to have it.

Our yield goals this year are 175 bu. corn per acre and 40 bu. soybeans per acre after barley. This is a real challenge on a light loamy sand soil.

Delaware Agriculture: Healthy, Prosperous And Growing

According to some critics, agriculture in Delaware is dead. But just the reverse is true, points out W. T. McAllister, extension economist at the University of Delaware. Agriculture in the Diamond State is healthy, prosperous and growing!

"This may surprise some people who believe our farmland is rapidly being depleted by roadways, industrial parks and suburban developments," he says. "True, an increasing amount of Delaware's land is being used this way, but it still only amounts to nine percent of our total land area."

Although more land is being used for urban and suburban expansion each year, Delaware farmers continue harvesting more acres.

McAllister notes that the value of agricultural production plays a major role in the state's economy. Gross farm income from Delaware agriculture in 1969 exceeded $150 million — a new record. The average gross income per acre was more than $40,000.

The value of Delaware's agriculture is increased further by processing and marketing services. More than 5,000 people are employed in vegetable, poultry and other food processing firms, feed mills, hatcheries and transportation companies. The annual payroll for processing and wholesale marketing Delaware food products exceeds $22 million.

Nearly all of the major farm enterprises have shared in this growth, says McAllister. In 1950, the gross sales value of corn and soybeans produced in Delaware was $7.8 million. Today, over 70 percent of the cultivated land is being planted to corn and soybeans and the gross income from the crops exceeds $25 million.

Sale value of processed vegetables has increased from $4.3 million per year in 1950 to $6.5 million last year. The dairy industry added $8.5 million to the Delaware economy in 1969, while over 50 percent of the gross farm income — or $86.4 million — was derived from the sales of broilers.

Delaware farmers also receive around $2 million per year in government payments. But farmers can't live off a federal subsidy alone, points out the economist. "Government payments average less than $500 per farm or $5 per harvested acre."

Only a small share of the federal budget for agriculture is actually returned to farmers, he adds. "Many people might be surprised to learn that $1.2 billion is charged against the agricultural budget but is used for school feeding programs and welfare and food stamp plans; $1 billion goes to foreign food programs; and another $1 billion is used for consumer services such as meat inspection. Less than half of the $6 billion appropriation actually goes to farmers."

Veterans' News

While many students have long since completed their final college exams, students studying under the GI Bill have an additional concern.

According to Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Veterans Administration Regional Office, all veterans attending schools of higher learning under the GI Bill, must return their certificate of attendance cards during the last full month of the semester to receive their check, and, in addition, to be automatically reenrolled under the GI Bill next semester.

Mr. Fields explained that VA payments are computerized and the computers are programmed to prepare the final checks only after the attendance cards are received. Since final checks do not arrive until most students have left the campus, Mr. Fields reminded veterans to be sure to make arrangements to have the post office forward their final check.

Also, Mr. Fields asked college veterans to report promptly any change in dependents or change in course load that would affect the amount of their checks.

Veteran's Administration News

Q - My husband receives a VA pension, and has to have someone with him constantly. Can his pension be increased to pay this assistance?

A - Veterans who receive pension, and who become so helpless as to need regular aid and attendance of another person, may be eligible for an additional allowance. Apply at your nearest VA office.

Facts About The Army

Did You Know: —That 5000 aliens serving in the Armed Forces became United States citizens during 1969? Legislation enables foreign-born servicemen to become citizens if they serve during the Vietnam War.

—That general of the Army Omar Bradley is the only five-star general in the Army? General Bradley still maintains an office in the Pentagon.

Question Of The Week

What's the delayed entry program? Under the delayed entry program, a man can enlist in the Army but put off the entry date into service by as long as 120 days. The day your enlistment is accepted, incidentally, is the day your time is computed for promotion and pay purposes. It's ideal for the man who wants to schedule his military service and still take some vacation time after graduation.

A New Record A few weeks ago we reported about the sergeant who has spent 32 months in Vietnam and is going after the record. Today, we have news about the record holder. He's Sergeant First Class Leland R. Arend of Findley, Ohio, who just doesn't want to leave Vietnam. He's been in the Southeast Asian nation since September 10, 1965. He is with the First Cavalry Division (Airmobile) as maintenance supervisor, responsible for the upkeep of 15 Chinook helicopters.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

—More Of My Friends—

Come meet my friends, the ones who never fail me,
 The ones that give and also not in return,
 The friends who beckoned me in early springtime
 And greet me with a smile at every turn.
 I meet them in the woods and country hillside
 I see them in the fields and through the dell,
 They talk to me, and mute like tell their story
 In ways that nature lovers all can tell.
 The dew-drop on the leaf of full-blown-clover
 The honey bee that's resting on the flowers,
 The furrowed path the plow points left behind them,
 All speak, as does the gentle summer showers.
 The woodlands where the robin meets the bluebird
 The little stream that dazzles in the sun,
 The falling leaf that's whisked from midst the others
 All tell to me their story, one by one.
 Just friends, I say that greet me in my rambles
 The ones that make the world seem ever new,
 The ones that help us all forget our troubles
 Come, meet my friends I say, just me and you.
 They talk to me, and mute tell their story

PHONE COMPANY ON BIG CABLE JOB HERE

The Diamond State Telephone Company construction men are now at work on a $298,000 cable improvement project in the Harrington-Milford area, it was announced Monday, June 8, by Jim Strickland, the company's Kent County manager.

The project, scheduled for completion in July, will require burying 10 miles of existing aerial cable, Strickland said.

The new underground cable will leave the Milford central office and go to S. W. Front Street, then west to Washington Street, then north to N. W. Front Street, then west on N. W. Front Street to west of Mill Street. At this point the cable will be buried, except across the Dual (Route 113), to Road 447, then south on Road 447 to Road 445, then west on Road 445 to the intersection of Road 37 in Houston.

In the Harrington central office the cable will be buried on Route 14 from Route 13 to Road 384. Also a cable will be buried on Road 429 from a point north of Road 432 to Road 116.

The Telephone Company plans to invest $70,000 more for outside cable growth in the Harrington-Milford areas during 1970 and in 1971 the company will spend about $90,000 for cable expansion.

"This expansion project is required to keep pace with future demands in the area," Strickland added.

Kent Won't Help Dover's Summer Show

If Dover's summer theater is to get off the ground, it will have to do so without the financial help of Kent County, at least for the time being.

The Kent County Levy Court was willing to donate $2750 to the youth drama group Tuesday but attorney N. Maxson Terry Jr., after checking the status, told the commissioners it was illegal.

"We can't do it until the parks and recreation bill is passed," he said.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. W. Neal Moerschel (R-Dover), providing a parks and recreation commission for the county, (which could presumably finance theater projects) has passed the House but is awaiting Senate action.

But, John McKenna, Levy Court commissioner, warned that a vote in favor of granting the money was "opening the door for a senior center, a Little League or a rock festival. Be prepared," he said, "to open the door for all requests."

Ed Poling, a Dover High School student, and a spokesman for the group told the commissioners they wanted to put on their first play June 30 in space provided at the Blue Hen Mall.

Commissioner John McKenna told Poling the group should not have waited until the last minute to make the request.

Poling said there would be plays throughout the summer even if the money doesn't come from the city or county.

The play group was turned down by the Dover Council last week in their request for funds.

The county can run the projects through its planned commission, but in light of possible state funding for the project, and McKenna's comments, the commission postponed the decision.

Pete To Visit Governors Meet

Governor Russell W. Peterson will attend the first meeting of the New Middle Atlantic Governor's Conference to be held Wednesday, June 24, at Annapolis, Md.

All six governors involved in the new compact have agreed to limit conference meetings to concentrated, one-day work sessions. The Annapolis meeting will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, conference chairman, will preside. Maryland Governor Marvin Mandel will be the host.

Governor Peterson said the agenda will include discussion of how the states can work together and exchange ideas on problems or organized crime, drug abuse, mass transit and campus unrest.

Attendance at the work session will be limited to Governors and staff, but a news conference will be held afterwards.

Other Governors scheduled to attend the conference are Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, William T. Cahill of New Jersey and Arch A. Moore, Jr. of West Virginia.

Governor Peterson was instrumental in formation of the conference. Although the idea had been discussed for years, it did not materialize until last year when Peterson personally sounded out the other governors. He subsequently initiated a planning meeting of the governor's staffs last December. Earlier this year, Governor Rockefeller was elected chairman.

Legion To Convene At Laurel

The American Legion, Department of Delaware, will convene at the American Legion Home in Laurel, Saturday and Sunday, June 27, and 28. The auxiliary will also meet in convention on the same dates with all sessions being held in the Laurel Fire Hall.

Registration will begin Saturday morning at 8 and the call to order will be at 9, with Commander Raymond Trabbold presiding.

The convention banquet will be held Saturday evening at the Legion Home with National Vice Commander Gilberto Font of Puerto Rico as honored guest.

Warren H. McDonald, special assistant to the administrator of veterans affairs, Washington, D. C., will be the featured speaker at the banquet.

The annual joint memorial service, will be held at 9:30 a.m., Sunday, at old Christ Church near Chipmans Pond, east of Laurel. Dr. Park W. Huntington, past national chaplain and Mrs. Park W. Huntington, auxiliary chaplain, will conduct the service.

Awards will be presented Sunday afternoon to outstanding Legionnaires and citizens who have made valuable contributions to the programs of the legion during the past year.

The final business of the convention will be the nomination and election of officers for the ensuing year. Donald R. Herbert of Seaford, is expected to be nominated for department commander for 1970-71.

Governor Peterson, Lt. Governor Bookhammer, U. S. Rep. William V. Roth, Jr., Clifford F. Lee, mayor of Laurel, and other ranking government and legion officials will be guests at the convention.

Jobs For Teens

It is generally believed that teenagers get into mischief because they have too much time on their hands, largely due to our work laws and high minimum wage which has been set above their worth.

Steps should be taken to correct this, and a move in that direction may be forthcoming.

A government survey reveals that a separate minimum wage for teenagers (substantially lower than the adult rate) would bring more jobs for youth. Teenage unemployment in the past 20 years has ranged from 7.6 percent, while the adult rate ran 2.3 to 5.6 percent.

Employers now reluctant to hire 16 and 17-year-olds, particularly those located outside the large urban centers, indicated they would seek young workers if there was a sizeable differential in the minimum rate.

Information from abroad points to the conclusion that low wages for youth are an inducement to employers to hire them. Youths start work at about one-third the adult rate in the United Kingdom, the Netherlands and Japan.

And, strangely enough, the varying wage levels generally rare set by union contracts rather than by law. Also, in Western Europe especially, there are extensive apprenticeship programs bringing children into the labor force earlier than is customary in the U. S.

We are looking for ways to cut down on crime; this one should not be overlooked.—The Wellington Enterprise, Wellington, Ohio.

Clending Attends Seminar

Thomas Clending, local pharmacist was a member of a panel of community pharmacists at a seminar at Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, in Philadelphia on Tuesday. The meeting was held by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for medicated pharmaceutical consultants from the 50 states and District of Columbia.

The panel was moderated by Dr. Kratz of the college and consisted of four community pharmacists from four states. The discussion concerned the problems of providing the best possible service to Medicaid recipients at the least possible cost.

Following this meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clending,

Lee Dean, Faye Austin and Eddie Subashi attended the annual banquet of the Delaware Pharmaceutical Society at the Commander Hotel, in Ocean City, Md. Mr. Clending was elected president of the Delaware State Board of Pharmacy.

Necessary Gamble

This editor hails the action of the President in sending our troops into Cambodia to wipe out the Viet Cong "Privileged Concentration Areas."
 We respect the President's decision that we cannot withdraw and accept a humiliating defeat. This would only lead to a further degrading of America around the world.
 It's time we used the "Big Stick" and beat out these vest military and economic might. As the President stated, for years America's commanders have pleaded to follow the Viet Cong into Cambodia and wipe out these "Hot Spots" of the enemy.
 The President explained that we have tried every method of peaceful negotiations and have only met scorn and disrespect.
 At long last decisive military action-if the war escalates, so be it. The gamble is great but much like the bombing of Japan it could lead to the ending of what could be this nation's longest military confrontation.
 We are proud of President Nixon and hail his decision to do something other than drift and shift and placate the enemy. We say "full speed ahead," and give the enemy a belly full of lead that might make them sick enough to negotiate sincerely at the peace table.

Fifty-Five Year Old Farm Wife Wins DPI Contest

A 55-year-old farm housewife from Middlebury, Ind., took top honors in the adult division of the National Chicken Cooking Contest at Princess Anne, Md., Sunday. Mrs. Milton (Arletta) Lovejoy won the champion's crown and $5000 in competition with 3 men and 47 other women from all 50 states and the District of Columbia during the closing day of the 23rd Annual Delmarva Chicken Festival this year on the campus of the University of Maryland, Eastern Shore.

One of the three male contestants won second place; Albert S. Warren, Charlotte, N. C., received a $2500 award for his recipe "Chicken Napoli." Mrs. Charles Hill, Milwaukee, Wis., took third, place with an oyster and chicken combination called "Chicken Ala Sea," she received a $1500 prize.

Mrs. Lovejoy's winning recipe, "Buttermilk Pecan Chicken" combined liberal amounts of pecans, buttermilk and sesame seeds for a judge-pleasing result. She is the mother of two daughters, both of whom visited the Chicken Festival with her. She and her husband farm 340 acres as a vacation farm and were once named the local "Farm Family of the Year." She says her most famous guests at the farm were members of the London Symphony Orchestra.

Fourth place winner were Mrs. Dale W. Conrad, Pulaski, Va., with her recipe for "Liver Stuffed Chicken Breasts with Sauce." It featured chicken breasts stuffed with a mixture of chicken livers, spices, bread crumbs and Swiss cheese. She won $1000.

Fifth through tenth place winners received valuable merchandise prizes. They were Mrs. Donald Earwood, Montgomery, Ala.; Mrs. Lewis Holt, Italy, Tex.; Mrs. Archie Franton, Philadelphia; Mrs. Duncan Goodale, Albuquerque, N. M.; Mrs. Lowell Ghent, Searcy, Ark. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Kick, Jr., Sterling Heights, Mich.

The panel of seven judges, headed by Eleanor Ney, Women's Editor Westchester Rockland Newspapers, Inc., commented that the recipes featured a great many convenience foods; they said almost all the recipes were extremely easy to prepare. James Beard, famed cookbook author and food consultant, who was one of the judges, said, "some of the recipes were very original, but a few also were very good variations on old, established ways of using chicken."

Mrs. Lovejoy's winning recipe is prepared as follows: 2 broiler-fryer chickens, cut in servings pieces.

1/2 cup Mazola margarine
1 cup buttermilk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup flour
1 cup ground pecans
1 tablespoon paprika
1 tablespoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup sesame seeds
1/4 cup pecan halves

Melt margarine in large shallow baking dish (about 13 x 2 inches). Mix buttermilk with egg in one shallow dish, and flour, ground pecans, paprika, salt, pepper and sesame seeds in another. Dip chicken in buttermilk mixture, then in flour mixture. Place skin down in melted margarine in baking dish, then turn chicken pieces to coat with margarine and place skin side up. Place pecan halves on each piece of chicken and bake in 350 degrees Fahrenheit (moderate) oven 1 1/4 hours, or until tender and golden brown. Garnish with parsley and cherry tomatoes. Makes 8 servings.

Check For Bagworms

Tiny bags attached to the leaves and needles of shrubs and trees are the first signs of potential damage from bagworms, reports Frank E. Boys, extension entomologist at the University of Delaware.

Bagworms, the larval stage of a moth, will damage many types of plants, he explains, but evergreens such as arbor vitae, southern white cedar, red cedar, juniper, spruce and pine suffer the most. These trees cannot recover from severe defoliation.

Living in a cocoon-like case approximately two inches long and half an inch wide, young bagworms are only 1/25-inch long at egg hatch. When full grown, male bagworms develop into small, black, hairy - bodied moths which soon emerge from the bags. Females have no wings and remain in the bags.

Bagworms overwinter in the egg stage inside the old cases or bags, says Boys. When the eggs hatch in late spring, the young larvae crawl about the bush or tree spinning long threads of silk, on which they drop to other parts of the plant. As they hang suspended on the threads, wind action spreads the pests to other trees.

To control bagworms, Boys suggests picking off and destroying all of the bags before the eggs hatch. Once the eggs start to hatch, spray the trees and shrubs with Sevin (50 percent wettable powder) at the rate of two tablespoons per gallon water or a combination of one tablespoon of Sevin plus two tablespoons of malathion per gallon of water. Apply the sprays when the young bagworms are first noticed, but no later than the end of June, thoroughly covering both the upper and lower surfaces of foliage.

Sheila Yoder Is 1970 Little Miss Poultry Princess

A tiny blue-eyed blonde from Greenwood, Sheila Kay Yoder, is the 1970 Little Miss Delmarva Poultry Princess. Four-year-old Sheila was chosen by the judges Thursday, June 11 at the Princess Pageant on the first day of the 23rd annual Delmarva Chicken Festival on the Maryland State College campus, at Princess Anne.

Runner-up was Miss Preston, Miss Jennifer Lynn Craig. Also a blue-eyed blonde, four-year-old, Jennifer is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. William R. Craig, Preston, Md. Capt. Craig couldn't be here to congratulate her on the award because he is currently serving in Vietnam.

The new Little Princess is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Yoder, R.D. 1, Greenwood. She was sponsored by the Greenwood Lions Club. The sparkling, bubbly blonde decided "Everybody Says" as her nursery rhyme. Dressed in pale green that set off her blue eyes, she won in competition with 13 other preschoolers representing that many towns and cities on the Delmarva Peninsula. Sheila has one brother, age two and a half.

The runner-up, Jennifer Craig, was sponsored by the Preston Lions Club. Excited by the spotlight, she recited, not one, but two nursery rhymes. They were "Little Bo Peep" and "Good Morning Mrs. Hen." Like Princess Sheila she also has one younger brother.

Judges for the Little Miss Delmarva Princess contest were Mrs. Pat Mathias, Extension textile and clothing specialist at the University of Maryland, College Park; Mrs. Jo Anne C. Shaw, home economist in homemaking, Newark; and William L. LaForce Jr., director of photography, Sun Papers, Baltimore.

Contestants were judged on their personality and poise, their appearance and on the originality of the baby chick costume which they wore during part of the pageant.

Little Princess Sheila won a $100 U. S. Savings Bond and a trophy. Runner-up Jennifer won a $50 bond and a trophy.

Greenwood Kiwanis Club News: The Ladies Auxilliary of the Fire Company served the Kiwanis Club last Thursday, a dinner which included ham, peas and dumplings, macaroni and cheese, fruit salad and pumpkin pie, but the icing on the cake was the homemade biscuits made by Mrs. Geneva Spence. The invocation was given by Laird Kratz, and in the absence of Henry Peters, the meeting was presided over by immediate past president John Turner. It was announced that Gordon Eskridge won the Kiwanis Club award for Aggressive Citizenship. Program chairman, Ralph Hynson, introduced Charles Peterson, an employee of the Diamond State Telephone Company who, with others, had volunteered to go to Mississippi last August when Hurricane Camille devastated a portion of the Gulf Coast. Mr. Peterson spent three weeks down there helping to restore the telephone communications, and, while there, had taken many pictures of the disaster. Seeing them on the screen caused his audience to have a far better understanding of the damage, that the people of that area sustained, and the terrible force of wind and water at hurricane velocity. Mr. Peterson had only praise for the people who had lost as much and for their fortitude to stay and rebuild which was amazing. Next Thursday the 18, Corp. Warrington of the Delaware State Police will visit the club, show the film Drug Alert and talk on the topic, "Drug Abuse." The public is invited to come to this program at 7:15. Everyone should know about this very distressing problem. So, come to see and hear about it. You will be welcome. Delaware Food Market Report by Anne Holberton It's a fact — food is a good buy! You may want to argue the point, but it's true. In terms of working time, and in terms of other countries, food here in America is a good buy. Did you know we are now paying a smaller share of our income for food than we ever have? It is used to be 25 percent and that wasn't so long ago; today about 16 1/2 percent of our income goes for food — the best food money can buy. No other country pays as little. For instance, in Canada, the figure is about 20 percent of their income. In western Europe and Japan it is about 37 percent and it goes on up to 50 percent in Russia and 60 percent or more in developing countries. Ever so often it is good to stop and realize that even as food prices continue to rise, food is still a bargain. True, the food bill can become astronomical but have you bought a car, gone to the hospital, or tried to buy a house lately? Everything has gone up and in most cases wages have kept up to the increase in the cost of living. This week as you make out your shopping list be sure to consider beef. Fathers' Day as well as increased warm-weather demand for sirloin and porterhouse steaks should make the featured values more attractive. Rib Roasts and round steaks are more reasonable also. Have you ever used a rolled rib roast on the rotisserie — it delicious! If you want a lot of steak all the same size, why not have a rib roast cut into steaks for grilling. Don't overlook some of the less tender cuts of beef for the grill, they are excellent. The trick is to be sure you buy USDA Choice and tenderize before cooking. You may use a commercial tenderizer or make your own, whichever you prefer. Broiler fryers continue to be a popular meat, much in demand because of their versatility as well as their attractive prices. Remember that these young tender chickens are excellent for a Fathers' Day barbecue, particularly if you are watching father's waistline, since poultry is fairly low in calories. The Maryland and Delaware strawberry season has just passed its peak and we are getting berries again from other states. Blueberries are coming from North Carolina and prices will decline as the volume increases. The fresh apricot season has started and peaches from Georgia are available also — prices are high on both of these items. More western cantaloupes are coming market. Local melons won't be ready until the second week in July. The watermelon season in Florida is now as its peak. Holstein Project Young Delaware 4-Her's and FFA members can now learn first hand about raising cattle as part of the Delaware Holstein Heifer Project. According to Dr. W. R. Hesseltine, extension dairy specialist at the University of Delaware, the Project will begin August 19. Then contestants will be able to buy Holstein calves at a round-up at the fairgrounds in Harrington. At this time, they will sign an agreement with the Delaware Holstein - Friesian Association to pay a price between $100 and $130 for an approved calf. An additional $10 reserve fee will be charged to cover the loss of a youngster's animal. These animals will be owned and raised by the young people for two years. Then they will be resold at the annual state Holstein sale at the Delaware State Fair, Harrington. The heifers should be bred with calving shortly after final sale time. This will normally return the highest possible price for the animal and thus give club members more profit. Holstein breeders are asked to make well-bred healthy calves available for this program. Calves must be born after July 1, registered or eligible for registry and be out of production-tested cows. All consignments must be in by August 1. Parents are also requested to aid young growers by providing good quarters and following good feeding procedures for animals. Monthly reports of feeding, growth, and breeding are requested. These reports will be an accurate record to be used in future projects. Livestock specialists from the University of Delaware and vocational agriculture teachers will also provide needed information through educational meetings. They will also help get other professional assistance if necessary. The dairy heifer raising project is to assist and encourage youth to raise heifers for a profit. It is also aimed at developing knowledge and ability in successfully raising dairy animals, Hesseltine says. The dairy heifer raising project is sponsored by the Delaware Holstein Association in cooperation with the University of Delaware Agriculture Extension and the FFA.

It Seams To Me

Do you want a new sewing adventure? Those lingerie fabrics and supplies are now available in Delaware and you can have the satisfaction of making your own undergarments — even girdles. I never though I would see the day when I would make my own girdle, but it's unbelievable. I made a party girdle in a matter of minutes from power net elastic. However, unless you a zig-zag machine, I wouldn't try it. Patterns are available or you can cut your own from your favorite style. You will need a half yard of power net elastic, about four yards of "felt back" girdle elastic for waistline and legs, and a piece of nylon tricot for the crotch section. If you decide to make a nylon tricot slip, you'll have plenty of fabric for the crotch pattern or you can buy about eight inches of tricot. The greatest stretch of the fabric should be around the body. This means cutting the length of the girdle on the crosswise of the power net. Sew the seams with a small zig-zag stitch. Then, open the seam and top stitch with a large zig-zag. You'll get the most stretch by setting your machine for a small length stitch and a wide width. If you want extra support across the stomach, hips or thighs, use a double layer of power net and zig-zag it in place. Finish the waistline and leg edges with the soft-black elastic. Place the elastic on the right side of the girdle. Zig-zag it in place, stretching as you sew. Turn the elastic to the inside of the garment and top stitch on the bottom edge with a large zig-zag stitch. The waist of the girdle should be at least four inches smaller than your waist. The elastic for the legs should be one inch smaller than your leg measurement but the same size as the girdle leg. A "ball point" machine needle will give you best results. You can use nylon thread, but you'll find the polyester thread much easier to handle. The nylon thread has a tendency to slide off the spool and tangle as you sew. When you have finished the girdle, try making a slip, or panties or a peignoir. Patterns and supplies are available, and you'll find enough laces and trimmings to give your creative urge full swing. Marek's Vaccine Effective In Broilers Losses due to Marek's disease were reduced significantly in broiler chickens vaccinated with a herpes virus of turkeys during a recent study at the University of Delaware, according to Dr. William C. Krauss, associate professor of animal science and agricultural biochemistry. In a report presented at the Northeastern Conference on Avian Diseases at Blacksburg, Va., June 16, Krauss said broilers vaccinated with the vaccine had a ten-fold reduction in leukosis condemnations compared to broilers that weren't vaccinated. Marek's disease is responsible for condemnation losses to the poultry industry estimated at $200 million annually. The vaccine used in the Delaware study was prepared by Sterwin Laboratories, Inc., Millsboro, from a virus discovered at the Regional Research Laboratory in East Lansing, Mich. In the controlled research project at the University's Georgetown Substation, the vaccine was administered by injection to 2,100 day-old chicks. An equal number of unvaccinated chicks were maintained in the same house as controls. During the growout period, no mortality from Leukosis occurred in the vaccinated birds. When the broilers were processed at eight weeks of age, the vaccinated birds had 90 percent less condemned for leukosis than the unvaccinated broilers, said Krauss. Five percent of the control flock were condemned for leukosis while only 0.5 percent of the vaccinated birds were condemned. According to Dr. William J. Benton, chairman at the university this is the first report of the successful use of a vaccine of this type in broilers. Although the vaccine is still in an experimental stage and not available commercially, the results of this experiment indicate that an effective vaccine to fight Marek's disease in broilers can be developed. Additional studies using this vaccine are planned for the future.

Big Little League Has Tough Start

Harrington's Big League team was up against stiff competition in its first game on Sunday at the Harrington Moose Home field. Dover nipped our boys 3-2 in a very exciting game. Shortstop Bobby Wyatt drew first blood with a solo homerun over the centerfield fence. Dover then exploded in the sixth inning with three runs. Leftfielder Johnny McCloskey drove in Larry Larimore, the local's second run, with a rousing ground rule double.

Mike Fisher pitched an excellent game, striking out ten batters and walking none. The southpaw was also 2 for 3 in the batter's box. Wayne Coulbourne got the only other hit off Dover.

Pitcher - manager Earl Everline has a lot to work with this summer, along with the coaches Drexel Chaffinch and Bill Newnom. Nine of the 16 boys who signed up for the team played on the championship Lake Forest Varsity squad. The boys on the team are Sam Bostick, Brinley Brode, Gene Cain, Robin Callahan, Mickey Chaffinch, Wayne Coulbourne, Bobby Everline, Mike Fisher, Danny Hitchens, Larry Larimore, Dennis Layton, Johnny McCloskey, Dave Newnom, Rick Porter, Norman Short, and Bobby Wyatt.

There are two leagues of teams, the National League, consisting of Suburban (New Castle), Smyrna - Clayton, Dover, Camden - Wyoming, and Milford and the American League teams: Harrington, Woodbridge, Seaford, Laurel and Georgetown. A three-game series between the winners of both leagues will be held in August to determine the state champion. That team will play the New Jersey champion in a three-game series, also. This will continue with other state champions.

Locals Win 23 Medals in Junior Olympic Track

Girls and boys from this community reaped a harvest of twenty-three medals in the Delaware Junior Olympic track meet held at Wilmington's Baynard Stadium, on Saturday.

Charlotte Coverdale, Doreen Chaffinch, George Turner and Timmy Christopher won events and as Delaware champions will compete in the Middle Atlantic Junior Olympics at Baynard Stadium this Saturday, against regional winners from Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Coverdale attracted much attention from the officials and competitors of the Delaware Track and Field Girls team. The DT and F girls compete all over the United States and they know class, when they see it. Charlotte's winning time of 12 seconds flat in the 100 yard dash, in the 13 and under competition, was more than half a second faster, than the winning time in both the 14-15 and 16-17 divisions.

Chaffinch, another of Coach Jim Hogsten's star distaff runners, was third in the 100 yard dash, one week earlier. She returned in the 220 and outpaced all opposition to win in 29.4. Doreen is 14 and can compete in the 14-15 (Intermediate) class in 1971. The winner of the Senior (16-17) girls' 220 clocked 29.9.

George Turner, 15, is Lake Forest High's long jump recordholder at 18 feet, 3 inches. Saturday, George leaped 19 feet, 7 inches to break one of the oldest Junior Olympic marks on the books, a 19-5 effort by Larry Nolly in 1964.

Timmy Christopher, a nine-year-old from Milby St. hurled the softball 122 feet, 6 inches to break the Bantam (9 and under) record by 27 feet.

Lake Forest's Intermediate girls 440 relay team consisting of one 15 year old, two 14 years olds and one girl of 13, surprised by finishing a close second in 54.9. Considering that the record of 53.9 was set by Delaware Track and Field Club in 1968, this performance takes on much more significance, because, DTFC girls run year around and are a very polished bunch of performers. Sandi Warren the leadoff runner for Lake Forest will be too old for the Intermediates next year, but Coverdale, Chaffinch and Kathy Young (2nd in the 220) could all someone else and run a 53.5 in 1971.

Ken Thorpe Jr., a chunky 9-year-old, is the son of a sprinter, who was a junior varsity 100 yard dash, state champion in a swift 10.2. The younger Thorpe has been clocked in 6.9 for the 50 yard dash and has done 7.1 several times. In the bedlam that was Baynard Stadium, Saturday, we didn't hear the call for the Bantam Boys 50 and he didn't get to run. Ernest Smith, Jr., is only 8 and has been clocked below 7.6, the world record for his age. These boys could possibly have been first and second or first and third, but for our error. When moved to an unfamiliar event, the 220, Thorpe ran a good 32.6 for second. Harry Turner was third, Smith and Daryl Porter finished together just behind Turner. Porter, a hard worker, has improved from 44 flat to 36.8 in a few weeks time.

In the Bantam 440 relay, Harrington may have lost because of an official error. Christopher, Smith and d Turner ran the first three legs. Turner handed the baton to a runner, who had been wrongly placed in Harrington's lane. This runner, from St. Matthews, reached into next lane and handed to Thorpe, the Harrington anchorman, causing the locals boys to perpetrate the first-known double pass in track history. The Wolverines with correctly placed runners won in time probably three seconds slower, than Thorpe, and Co. had done in practice.

Howard Parker was third in the Midget 880 in a good 2.43. Ron "The Spider" Woods hit 2.50, his best yet. Wade Brown, a highly promising newcomer, had 2.51. Bill Leonard was third in the 220. Harrington lost a good chance to win the 440 relay, when its opening runner and fastest boy, decided not to compete. He left his teammates high and dry. Billy Wright filled in capably and helped salvage third place awards. Wade Brown ran a fine anchor leg with a great lean at the finish.

Parker and Leonard completed the group. Brown's first first long jump effort was a fine 12-4, good for fourth place.

Brad Morris clocked a 4.55 mile in fourth place. Norman Baynard ran on the second place 440 team in the Senior Division.

Debbie Duerr was fourth in the mile run in her best effort yet. She ran in the 12-

Track Clinics And Meets Slated Here

Most of the 23 medals won by Harrington area youths in Saturday's Junior Olympic meet, in Wilmington, were won by boys and girls, new to the sport of track. An opportunity for interested youths of this area to learn track and field skills, will be afforded, free of charge, this summer.

Every Monday morning from 9 to 12, a track clinic will be held at the W. T. Chipman School track, in Harrington. Boys and girls from 8 through 17 may take part. Charles Bill, a former college track performer and now a coach at Dover Air High, will be in charge.

Those taking part will be the techniques of track and field at these clinics.

On Monday and Thursday evenings, at 6 p.m., age-group meets will be held at various locations in the area. The first meet will be held at Dover Air High on Thursday, June 18.

Starting on Wednesday, June 24, a bus will pick up boys and girls at the Chipman school and take them to Baynard Stadium, Wilmington for track meets. It's planned to give ribbons for first, second and third places in the Kent County meets, and plaques, medals or trophies, for the Wilmington events. Other meets will be held at Harrington, Dover and Caesar Rodney tracks.

Competitors will furnish their own transportation to the Kent County events. Remember, a clinic every Monday morning, 9-12, in Harrington, at various Kent County locations and a meet every Wednesday night, in Wilmington.

If you have children who might be interested bring them to Dover Air High, Thursday June 18 at 6 p.m. or Chipman School, Harrington, 9 a.m., any Monday morning. Notice of other meet locations will follow.

Wilson-Veteran East Coast Driver At Georgetown

By Jack Renault

Maybe he was nicknamed for a horse he'd raced or, maybe, it was because of his disposition, nevertheless, some time ago the late racing secretary and race caller "Cy" Perkins tagged Jim Wilson "Sonny" or "Sunny" both spellings appear correct, and that's how he's best known in harness racing circles today.

"Sonny" Jim Wilson, at fifty-five, is regarded by his colleagues in the game as one of the "best pair of hands" racing today. Over the years, he has chaffered at most every oval along the Atlantic Seaboard. Now a days he stays pretty close to home (Harrington) and is content to cut the winning miles at Georgetown and Harrington Raceway. Ocean Downs (where he'll be headed in July after another successful meet at . Georgetown) Dover Downs and Brandywine.

Jim, leathered and weathered, by the sun and the elements, decked out in his green gold grey colors and helmet, would be the ideal "rugged individual" for one of those commercials for cigarettes, which he fires up frequently.

His strong appearance and skill carry right through to the winners circle, where, after twenty years, he is always right on or near the top in dash drives at almost every meet he competes in.

Jim Wilson's pre-harness days read like a page from Carl Sandburg's biography. Since 1934, when he worked for the Atlantic Refining Company in Chester, Pa., (and did some amateur boxing), until 1958 when he went full time with the horses Jim has: hauled produce back to Delaware from Florida; worked in the Harrington Milling Company; was a bookkeeper in the Hubert Baking Company; hauled piling to New York for the Quillen Brothers ("I was making $10 a week when Belle and I got married. Later they gave a dollar raise); spent three years farming; drove the school bus; owned and operated a restaurant, and did some carpentry.

Tom Walters purchased Jim's first standardbred horse at a sale in Gorham, Maine, one of the pioneer harness areas in New England. Jim owned the horse and Tom drove Guy McElwain to his first win at Harrington back in 1948.

Wilson, is one of the most respected "catch" drivers in the business. He can hop up behind a pacer or trotter he's never seen or worked before and win. That's just the way it was at Dover Downs last year when he "catch" drove Kenmar Kate to the track trotting mark of 2:04 4/5. How does he do it?

"You're a writer," he says, "and you read a story, you know if it's right. Same thing with horses; if you're a horseman, most of the time you can study a horse and know if he's right."

Jim trains 16 head on his 51 acre farm outside of Harrington. His wife pitches right in on the chores in addition to holding down publicity assignments at Georgetown Raceway and more recently heading the distaff side of publicity and public relations at Dover Downs. His son, Robert is a foreman at the Dupont Company in Seaford and also Chief of the Harrington Fire Department.

"Jim got into racing full time with his public stable in 1958 after Bobby graduated from high school," Belle reports.

In the early days he matineded at Chestertown and Georgetown. One of his first winning parti-mutuel drives was at Harrington Raceway with Ohio Boy, back in 1954.

Jim considers, Afton Mid-nite, one of his best horses he's ever owned. The free-legged pacer, owned by his wife, now stands stud at their farm. His sire was Fitchett's Majesty, out of Vernon Law (who is the mother of the good Vernon Oregon now racing the circuit).

As expected Sonny Jim Wilson is one of the leading drivers at the current Georgetown meeting where the action continues every Thursday, Friday and Saturday through June 27th.

to serve as a protection against loss by fire, theft, or other causes" has been recommended for Kent in a recent study of county government operations by the Urban Affairs Division of the University of Delaware.

According to the report, the cost of the series would be about $3.75 to microfilm a 500-page book.

"Five years is a long time," said DeValinger. "We have nothing from Kent in that period. The County has been keeping them all."

Jarrell, citing the fact that much smaller ledgers are now being used in his office to conserve space, pointed out that he had received no complaints, and "everything seems to be all right."

Mental Health Official Hired

Mrs. Jane V. Wingard, a former psychology instructor and assistant dean at Pennsylvania State University, has been appointed director of Education and community projects of the Mental Health Association of Delaware, Inc.

She replaces Mrs. Marjorie C. Hatchard, Associate director for education who ended her service with the association April 21 after more than four years of service.

Mrs. Wingard, in addition to her duties as education director, has staff responsibility for direct and indirect volunteer service to psychiatric patients and former patients. As with other MHA professional staff, her job will be to provide information, coordination and other assistance to volunteer committees holding responsibility in these areas.

Educational services included mental health films and literature; organization of forums, seminars and television presentations; and consultative service to schools and other organizations.

Volunteer patient services include group work and other assistance at psychiatric clinics; visits to homebound patients; socialization programs for the formerly hospitalized; and the association's annual Christmas present drive for psychiatric patients.

Mrs. Wingard was raised in Ridgewood, N. J. She attended the University of Rochester, receiving her degree in psychology. She then taught school in New Jersey while working toward a MA in student personnel administration at Columbia Teachers' College.

After receiving her degree she was married to Wallace G. Wingard, and taught high school in Hightstown, N. J., while he attended the Princeton Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Wingard then held pastorate in New York State, Ohio and DuBois, Pa. In 1967, Mrs. Wingard began as instructor in psychology and educational psychology, and assist to the Dean of Student Affairs, at the Penn State DuBois campus.

The Wineyards came to the Wilmington area last August, when Rev. Winegard was appointed senior minister of the Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Winegard has been active in the League of Women voters, and in DuBois was president of the Ministerial Wives' Association and the local PTA. She has been active in the AAUW both in DuBois and in Wilmington.

The Rev. and Mrs. Winegard are the parents of three daughters aged twelve, ten and seven.

Kent Urged To Use Microfilm

Kent County could lose all its records for the last five years because of failure to have them microfilmed.

"If anything hits that courthouse it could be a disaster," said Leon deValinger Jr. Monday when asked about Kent's method of record-keeping.

deValinger, State Archivist, feels the master negatives of the various county records should come to the public archives for safety and posterity.

Maurice Jarrell, one of the row office's vital recordkeepers as Kent's recorder of deeds, agrees that all records stored in his office "may not be good." But he feels the county's present photocopying techniques are adequate — at least for the time being.

deValinger called attention to the fact that among the duties of the Public Archives Commission, according to state law, is the "operation of a centralized microfilm program at the cost of the materials, for the agencies of this state, or any political subdivision thereof. . . ."

"Sussex County has it done continually," he said. "New Castle County does its own microfilming under our jurisdiction, and must turn the master negative over to us."

The microfilming and stor-ters, Mrs. Marie Horton of Pennington, N. J., Mrs. Arthur Griffith of Milford and Mrs. Edith Eckman of Philadelphia; three grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton. Interment was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery, Frederica.

Mrs. Clarence W. Lofland

Mrs. Mary F. Lofland, 56, of Milton, died Wednesday, June 10 at Milton Memorial Hospital after a short illness.

Born in Massachusetts, she had lived in the Sussex County area for most of her life. Mrs. Lofland was a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church.

Her husband, Clarence W. Lofland died in 1968.

She is survived by a son, Clarence J. of West Chester, Pa.; a brother, Charles Zvolnek of Harrington; a sister, Mrs. Frances Bennes of Phoenix, Ariz.; and four grandchildren.

Requiem Mass was offered Saturday morning in St. Michael's Catholic Church. Burial was in Odd Fellows Cemetery.
