

LAKE FOREST GETS FEDERAL GRANT OF $63,350

Lake Forest School District has received a federal appropriation of $63,350 under a Title One program.

This exercise, said Solomon Markowitz, the Title One, director, is one intended to improve certain skills among educationally deprived pupils. Allocated on a monthly basis, the greatest portion is employed for teachers aides.

Started in 1966, Markowitz added the funds are used, for the most part, in kindergarten and 1st and 2nd grades, with an exception at Lake Forest North Elementary School, Felton, where it is used for ungraded classes.

The greatest need for Title One program is in reading and oral skills, Markowitz concluded.

SCHOOL BOARD EYES DRESS CODE

There will be a dress code in the Lake Forest School District this was revealed Monday evening at a spirited meeting of the Board of Education, parents, pupils, and administrators in the library of the high school.

Karen Bessellieu, a senior student started the ball rolling. Referring to complaints about a hirsute member of the senior class she said: "He is a good student but is harassed." She asked students be entitled to act on a dress code. Miss Bessellieu, said the senior had been "called to the office to explain his long hair. Office said he was distracting the other students."

The senior, Leslie Vesco, commented Miss Bessellieu had expressed his feelings. He didn't think he had done anything wrong and he was merely expressing his individuality. He added he would go along with a decision of the Student Council and then said he had been asked to cut his hair by James Schoch, high-school principal.

Schoch, referring to the lack of a dress code, said it seemed to him a student might come to school as he sees fit, even in a bathing suit. He thought the other administrators agreed with him. He then recalled a teacher who came to Lake Forest because he liked the appearance of the school and its pupils. The new teacher had turned down a better offer from another school where the "students went barefoot thru the halls."

"We feel we ought to have a policy but you gentlemen will have to make it," he concluded.

Referring to a memo on dress code, Albert W. Adams, superintendent of schools, stated dress and behavior have a direct bearing on student learning.

Shigeto Kurihara, Exchange Student

The Senior Class of Lake Forest High School has a new member this year, Shigeto Kurihara, from Japan. The James Pizzadili family of Felton is the host for this year's exchange student.

Shigeto's own family lives in Izuko City, Japan, where his father is engaged in the real estate business. Shigeto has two older brothers studying at a university and a younger sister still in high school. When questioned about his own plans for a career, he said he will go on to college, but has not decided yet what his field will be.

After the first of the year, Shigeto will be ready to appear before groups and organizations interested in hearing about his country and his experience. He will be present at the first AFS Chapter meeting on Monday evening, September 21, and will welcome any members of the community who are interested in the program.

State BPW Pres. Honored Guest of Hgton. Club

Mrs. Mary Durrill, state BPW president, accompanied by her corresponding secretary, Lois Jones, was the honored guest at Harrington's first fall dinner meeting held at the Bridle Bit on Monday evening. Mrs. Durrill was attired in the traditional Hawaiian mau mau in black and white silk with white sandals and a white feathered lei. She presented slides and narrated her trip to the national convention in Honolulu. The flowers were exotic, the fashion show on the past and present costumes of Hawaii were beautiful and the scenery was a peek into paradise.

Fourteen members were on hand to welcome Mrs. Durrill and thoroughly enjoyed being back together again after a care-free summer. All those who could not attend missed an evening of fun. Be sure to join us next month and get the latest information on legislative matters and the coming election. The following month we plan to take a trip around the world with Carolyn Dill via arm chair.

Monthly System Of Motor Vehicle Inspections

With the change last January to a monthly system of mandatory motor vehicle safety inspections, it appears that the long lines at vehicle inspection lanes at the end of each quarter of the year, previously a way of life, may now have disappeared.

To further improve service to the people of our state, the motor vehicle offices and lanes throughout the state will now be open for all transactions (inspection, driver examinations and licensing) every Wednesday from noon until 8:30 p.m., beginning Wed., Sept. 23. Hours for Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday will continue to be 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The new hours are designed to better accommodate those people who work Monday through Friday, and find it difficult to get to an inspection lane or to arrange time for a driving test during the week.

DP&L Files To Increase Rates

Re-sale customers are those municipalities, co-operatives and other utilities in Maryland, Delaware and Virginia which buy large blocks of power to sell to their customers.

Delmarva Power & Light Company has already filed for increases of its retail rates for all classes of customers in Delaware and Maryland and will soon file in Virginia.

Kent Republicans To Sponsor Republican Fair

Kent Republicans will sponsor a free Great Republican Fair of 1970 on Oct. 3.

Some 5,000 persons are expected to attend the fair on the sprawling, 135-acre Paradise Alley farm of former Kent GOP chairman Herman C. Brown south of Felton and west of U.S. 13.

Portions of the farm will be set aside for free pony rides, sky diving exhibitions, games of skill and other attractions from 1:30 to 7 p.m.

Admittance to the farm will be to cars with Delaware license tags only in order to limit the huge throng expected. Minors must be accompanied by an adult.

Bar-B-Q beef and other food will be served while it lasts, and a variety of beverages will be served.

All Kent County Republican candidates and their statewide mates will be represented by a booth, according to Brook Fox, chairman of the committee planning the fair.

There will be no formal speeches, but an area will be set aside and equipped with "soap boxes" for use by any candidate to get something off his chest, according to Fox.

Prizes will be given away every half hour during the afternoon. The Paradise Alley turn off U.S. 13 will be plainly marked with four barrage balloons announcing the fair. will not cost a cent, and will give everyone the opportunity to meet all of the Republican candidates and discuss issues and gripes.

Further details will be announced at a later date, Fox said.

$298,000 Cable Planted in Hgton. Milford Area

Diamond State Telephone Company construction men have just placed the cable and associated hardware on a $298,000 cable improvement project in the Harrington-Milford area, it was announced by Jim Strickland, the company's Kent County manager.

The project, which got underway in March, required burying 10 miles of existing aerial cable, the manager said.

The new underground cable leaves the Milford central office and goes to S.W. Front Street, then west to Washington Street, then north to N.W. Front Street, then west to Mill Street. At this point the cable is buried, except across the Dual (Route #113) to Road #447. It then goes south on Road #447 to Road #445, then west on Road #445 to the intersection of Road #37 in Houston.

In the Harrington central office area the cable is buried on Route #14 from Route #13 to Road #384. Also a cable is buried on Road #429 from a point north of Road #432 to Road #116.

The telephone company plans to invest $70,000 more for outside cable growth in the Harrington - Milford areas during 1970. And in 1971 the company will spend about $90,000 for cable expansion in the same area, he said.

"This expansion project is required to keep pace with future demands in the area," the manager added.

She was committed to Sussex Correctional Institution in default of $1,000 bond for action in the Court of Common Pleas.

Her husband, Frank, 45, was in fair condition in Milford Memorial Hospital with gunshot wounds of the chest.

Police said the couple was arguing about the use of their vehicles when Mrs. Ross loaded a .410-gauge shotgun and shot him in the chest.

Weekend Auto Accidents See One Dead, Six Injured in Harrington Area

A Man was killed near Harrington and six injured in four automobile accidents over the weekend. The Harrington Volunteer Fire Company ambulance and rescue trucks were kept busy.

Gerald J. Bowman, 38, of Greenwood, was dead on arrival in Milford Memorial Hospital shortly after 11 Friday night. His car ran off the left side of Delaware 14 about five miles west of Harrington and struck an abutment and utility pole. He was

As state police were returning to the Bridgeville barracks from the Harrington accident, they came upon another on Delaware 14 a mile west of Harrington. Donald Wright, 18, of Harrington failed to negotiate a left-hand curve and went into an open field. His convertible overturned and he was pinned inside until police rescued him. He was treated and released at Milford Memorial Hospital.

State police are investigating the finding of a wrecked car near Vernon, on Delaware 14, at 4:50 a.m. Sunday. Police at the Bridgeville station had no information, but local sources said the car belonged to a Denton man who reported it stolen.

Four persons were injured early Sunday afternoon when two cars collided at U.S. 13 and County Road 287 (Paradise Alley Road) three miles north of town.

The injured, all taken to Kent General Hospital, Dover, in the fire company ambulance, were as follows:

Linda Shelzler, 17, back abrasions.

John Shelzler, 19, side lacerations.

Sidney Budd, 17, face lacerations.

Fred Street, 21, driver of the car, head lacerations.

Police of the Bridgeville barracks said the Street vehicle was going south on U.S. 13 when it was struck by a car driven by Lewis Williamson, 60, of Milford. The Williamson car was going west on County Road 287.

Williamson will be tried Oct. 2, in Magistrate's Court No. 6 here on a charge of failing to yield right of way.

SCHOOL DISTRICT HAS BUS TROUBLES

Lake Forest School District has some problems with bus routes, one in particular, but the bus supervisor told the School Board Monday night, it would be straightened out.

The supervisor, Ray Stoops, mentioned the usual difficulties at the start of a school year — establishing routes, equalizing loads, behavior of pupils in transit, and size of buses.

Stoops' explanation came after Donald Pommell, an Air Force sergeant, presented a petition to the Board. Pommell, referring to a route belonging to Mrs. M. Black, said he was concerned with the safety of children, conduct of students, and asked for action within 72 hours or he would submit another petition to the State Department of Public Instruction.

He added he had exhausted every personal effort to solve the problems which he had first acted on four years ago. Continuing, he emphasized the bus was crowded, with 56 children for a capacity of 54, on the trip to school, and 62 on the way home.

Stoops said the driving record of Mrs. Black was good. He added when school starts, surveys are made of bus needs. These have not been returned yet but will involve shifting of three routes after permission is secured from the state. Stoops said a bus had been added. Capacity of the buses is supposed to be 60 elementary school pupils or 50 high school pupils.

As for behavior on the Black bus, Stoops said Mrs. Black had seen some of the parents of the passengers and things are going fine now.

W. T. Chipman Junior School News

The W. T. Chipman Junior High School opened its doors this September to seventh and eighth grade pupils for its second year of operation.

The junior high school schedule reflects a new look in school organizations in the Lake Forest district. The teachers are scheduled as groups of instructors in each grade sharing the same classes. Each grade is divided into "Little Schools" with the even-numbered classes being shared by a team of four major subject teachers and the odd-numbered classes shared by another team. The seventh grade classes, for the most part, are on the first floor and the eighth grade on the second floor.

The nucleus of the "Little School Organization" is the daily mutual planning period of the group of teachers. During these planning periods teachers have the opportunity to schedule programs for their "Little School" pupils, to share instructional ideas, to confer about individual pupils, and to meet with the guidance counselor or special subject teachers.

The teachers' mutual planning benefits the student and can give him a greater sense of security, especially among the seventh graders who are experiencing a more flexible schedule.

The French program has been expanded to include four eighth grade sections. A goal of the language department this year is the full utilization of the language laboratory.

The industrial arts department has added a leather-working unit for further crafts development.

The English department has moved toward a wide selection of paperback reading materials geared for the junior high pupil in order to stimulate a greater interest in reading. Further plans are for the development of a reading improvement program in addition to English.

The "parent night open house" is scheduled for Wednesday, October 21. Francis Ryan has planned a slide presentation of school activities further explaining the "Little School" concept. This brief presentation will be followed by class visits and refreshments.

Del. River And Bay Authority News

The Delaware Memorial Bridge would not be a suitable location for the installation of the proposed 500,000 volt transmission line between the states of Delaware and New Jersey said William J. Miller Jr., director of the Delaware River and Bay Authority.

He made the comment as the result of a public hearing held in August in New Castle, at which time the Delmarva Power and Light Company was asked to check the feasibility of using the twin spans instead of constructing separate towers at another site.

Miller cited both safety and maintenance problems of the Delaware Memorial Bridge were to be used. "Neither twin span was constructed with design conditions which would satisfy the additional loading requirements inherent in the construction of the transmission line," he explained.

Miller added that there are no commercially available covered cables or conduits which could be utilized in a transmission line of this type. "In addition," concluded Miller, "the maintenance requirement for a transmission line of this type would create conditions which would be unsatisfactory to both the authority as well as to the motoring public."

The commissioners unanimously endorsed Director Miller's views on the subject and has notified the U. S. Army's Corps of Engineers about the matter.

In other matters, the authority was told that the full cost of repairing the twin spans as the result of the oil tanker crash in July, 1969, were just short of $1 million.

"Reconstruction of the damaged fender and tower piers was completed August 18, and final inspection of the work was made by the bridge staff and consulting engineers three days later," Miller reported.

The total cost of the work was $946,190.49. An expanded hospitalization program was adopted for personnel of the Delaware River and Bay Authority. Under the new program, members of an employee's immediate family as well as the employee himself will be covered under the new Blue Cross-Blue Shield "Comprehensive 100 Plan." The additional coverage will become effective as quickly as the program can be inaugurated, "either December 1, or January 1," says Miller.

The balance of the meeting was taken up with the acceptance of routine maintenance reports.

The October meeting of the authority will be held in conjunction with the annual gathering of the International Bridge, Tunnel and Turnpike Association in Montreal, Canada, October 12-15. This is a practice started last year when the October meeting was also held under similar circumstances.

Cub Scout News

Pack 76, sponsored by the Harrington Lion's Club is just one of the many packs in this area. They started their fall activities off with a family style barbecue at Wheeler's Park Sunday, Sept. 13th. Monday, Sept. 14th the planning committee met with cubmaster Ray Blanchette and made plans that will keep these little fellows busy.

Cubscouting does more than give 8-9- and 10 year old sons time away from mom and dad each week. It offers them a way of life built around the ideals of the scout oath and law. It helps keep them off the streets. It helps them to grow physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight, therefore making for better citizens tomorrow.

Den meetings will be held Tuesday evenings, 7 o'clock in the St. Bernadette's parish hall. Den mothers are Mrs. Barbara Tibbitt; Mrs. Marilyn Vincent and Mrs. Janice Steward. Mrs. Jeannette Legates will be assistant den mother.

Webelos' meeting under leadership of Louis "Jake" Wilson will be held Wednesday evening, 7 p.m., at the parish hall.

September pack meeting, Thursday, Sept. 24th 7:30 in the parish hall. There will be a movie strip shown called "The Chocolate Story." Parents and friends are urged to attend.

Parent night (we prefer to call it fall round-up night) is Tuesday, September 29, at 7 o'clock in the W. T. Chipman School cafeteria, Dorman Street, Harrington. All boys interested in any phase of scouting are strongly urged to attend with their parents.

Agriculture Must Face Pollution Problems

The quality of the environment is one of the most pressing problems receiving attention today. And as the agricultural sector of the economy strives for more efficient farm production, pollution must be kept to a level that man can and will endure, according to Dr. Samuel M. Gwinn, director of the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service.

Speaking at a conference on "Agricultural Waste In An Urban Environment" held recently in Atlantic City, N.J., Gwinn said the U.S. has developed the most efficient and productive agricultural machine ever devised by mankind. "Not only are we the best fed nation in the world, but we in agriculture are expected to help feed much of the world's population."

It has become popular to point out the detrimental effects of agriculture and forget there are positive effects to the production efficiencies, he added. But regardless of the viewpoints of critics, there is one basic fact; air, water, sunshine, soil minerals, forests and all forms of wildlife create a complex around which the quality of life is centered.

Agriculture has a waste management problem and admits it has made some pollution mistakes. We must find solutions to waste management and pollution problems, not look for scapegoats.

At the same time, agriculture must emphasize its beneficial contributions. For example, farmers own or control most of the land in the U.S. Yet, only a small portion of this total acreage is used for production; the remainder is in trees, grasslands or open space.

Gwinn said the problem of pollution did not occur overnight, and the solution will not be discovered quickly. Programs to correct the problems will have to be of a concentrated nature, carried out over a long period.

He added that agricultural leaders must give individual farm families practical help in developing and using the natural resources directly under their control. The goal is to develop expertise and responsibility in individual resource management.

Agricultural leaders must also take the initiative in community and regional programs to support group efforts at resource management, according to Gwinn. All citizens must be encouraged to accept a feeling of responsibility and concern for resource conservation, development and wise use of natural resources.

Dr. Karl W. Boer, professor of physics at the University of Delaware, will continue his research on the Photo voltaic effects in cadmium sulfide as a result of a $40,030 grant from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

U. of D. Professor Receives NASA Grant

The NASA grant is a continuation of a contract Dr. Boer received last year from the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., a major aerospace contractor.

Cadmium sulfide is a crystal used in light-sensitive conductor cells similar to the familiar photoelectric eyes used to help control elevator doors, to set shutter speeds in automatic cameras, and to turn street lights off and on.

The NASA grant to the university will be applied to research underway to convert sunlight to electrical energy by using panels coated with cadmium sulfide to power equipment in satellites for space flights and to make these solar batteries much less expensive than the present silicone-coated panels in satellites.

Earlier, Dr. Boer had developed a tiny cadmium sulfide photocell which is used as a navigational aid in space flights wherein the cell serves as the eyes of a satellite, guiding it to a predetermined destination. Looking ahead to man's use of cadmium sulfide on Earth, Dr. Boer said a carpet of cadmium sulfide could be used to collect and convert sunlight to electric power in areas such as deserts where no electric power is readily available.

According to Dr. Boer, the conversion of energy from the sun to electric power by means of the cadmium sulfide carpet would please ecologists inasmuch as there is with the use of a carpet no danger of pollution to the environment.

A member of the faculty at the University of Delaware since 1962, Dr. Boer has been conducting research with cadmium sulfide for more than 20 years. He received his education in his native Germany at Humboldt University where he was a student, assistant, professor, and department head from 1944 to 1961. Dr. Boer was a research professor at New York University for a year before joining the physics department at Delaware.

In addition to his teaching and research, Dr. Boer is a consultant to several industries and has contributed to several books on solid state physics and written some 150 articles in his field.

1971. You've changed. We've changed. Chevrolet
Worth seeing. Worth owning. Worth waiting for.

Vega. Not just another little car, but one little car that does everything well. You get more room, more weight and more power than most little cars give you, yet the gas mileage is right in the same neighborhood with the best of them. Vegas come dressed up, too, not stripped to the bone so you have to add a lot to make them liveable. Drive one. You'll see.

Caprice. There's a double layer of steel in the roof, a steel guard beam in each door, power disc brakes up front, a new power ventilation system inside, a wheelbase two and one-half inches longer. You get the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, but at Chevrolet prices. And that's the kind of change during these tight-money times that all of us can appreciate.

Vanishing tailgate. A big change in our big wagon. The window goes up into the roof, the Gfiace-Away tailgate vanishes beneath the floor. Out of sight. Out of your way for easy loading even in a closed garage or when you have a trailer hooked on.

See what we mean by putting you first? September 29 at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Spiders In Your Home?

Each fall many Delawareans become alarmed by the large number of spiders invading their home. Actually, there's little reason to fear these insects.

According to Frank E. Boys, extension entomologist at the University of Delaware, nearly all spiders found in the state are harmless. They are also beneficial to man since they eat insects, small animals and other spiders.

The poisonous brown recluse spider is not yet a problem in Delaware as it has never been identified in this particular area. Black widow spiders can be found in Delaware homes all year, so they are not a problem only in the fall.

Most of the spiders being reported to the entomologists at the University are wolf or ground spiders, orb-weavers, jumping spiders and daddy-longlegs. A few crab spiders, grass spiders and fishing spiders have also been observed.

These spiders seldom bite or become aggressive unless they are trapped or injured. Bites of small spiders usually cause no greater injury than scratches. According to Boys, only the bites of the larger spiders can break the tough skin of man.

If you want to rid your home of spiders, you should know whether they are indoor or outdoor spiders. Indoor spiders usually build cobwebs and like dark, moist places.

Look for them in cracks, crevices, basements or other dark areas.

Most outdoor spiders never adapt to indoor living and come inside accidentally. They're usually found under stones and leaves and on trees and bushes.

Eliminate excessive moisture around water pipes, floor drains, air conditioners and washing machines to get rid of indoor spiders. A strong vacuum cleaner will get rid of both types of spiders and webs, but be sure to burn the contents of the sweeper bag.

Boys suggests using dichlorvos or pyrethrin aerosol sprays to knock down the spiders. The effect, however, is not long-lasting, and stunned spiders will soon become active if they aren't collected.

Vapona strips can give good spider control for several months in rooms that have little ventilation. But be sure to follow the directions on the label and do not use them in kitchens or in dining areas.

Residual sprays of two percent chlordane or one-half percent lindane will give good control if they are applied around windows, baseboards and other open spaces. Use chlordane or lindane only in areas inaccessible to children and pets, cautions Boys.

Spray around the house foundation to reduce the number of spiders that come inside. Use two percent chlordane, one percent diazinon or one-half percent lindane. Again, be careful not to apply dust where children or pets may come in contact with it.

MAIN STREET'S DILAPIDATED BUILDINGS ON THE WAY OUT

Two tired and worn-out buildings are on their way out on Commerce Street, according to activity of the past two weeks.

This week the debris was being removed from the late Harrington Hardware building, while razing was under way, by Peoples Bank, of a centenarian at 14 Commerce Street. This building once had Harrington's first telephone exchange and the millinery store of Delema Quillen. An adjacent store, the late habitat of Bennie Bronstein, was torn down several years ago, a venerable building which once housed bakery shops, restaurants, shoeshops and meat markets, was torn down on Commerce Street.

There are a few other dilapidated buildings, in the downtown area, which need leveling, but time will take care of them.

The City of Harrington and the owners of the razed structures are to be congratulated.

This brings up a question—How are the lots to be used? For the present, we think it might be a good project for some civic club to landscape them.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

Woodman, spare that tree!
 Touch not a single bough;
 In youth it sheltered me,
 And I'll protect it now!

These famous words from poet Geo Perkins Morris might well be applied to a situation created in our midst recently concerning the status of our railroad station building, now serving as headquarters for all maintenance forces between the Delaware Canal and Seaford as well as train and engine crews operating on the D. M. & V.

Penn Central officials have assured us there is no intention of eliminating the building in their proposed curtailment plans which are still in the negotiating stage.

Old Red Depot

Old red depot brooding there,
 Remote in the after glow,
 Perhaps the march of time has dimmed
 The glamor you used to know.

But paved roads, hitch-hiked planes and such,
 As travel the sky's arched ways;
 Can never bedim the glory of
 The good old railroad days.

Accidents can be prevented! But, most of the 116,000 Americans who were killed and the 10.8 million disabled by accidents in 1969 failed to realize this simple fact. Farm people shared in these depressing statistics, too — more than 7,000 lives were lost and 600,000 were injured.

Know what the "guarantee" promises and who stands behind it. Last but not least, insist on getting the quality you paid for. Take a sub-standard item back if you must and make sure you get the right product.

Army guarantees training as avionics mechanic

Modern technology has brought many new words into our language at a pace almost too rapid for dictionaries to keep up to date. One of these words is "avionics". The United States Army will not only guarantee to teach the meaning of this word, but will also guarantee training as an avionics mechanic before enlistment.

In an 18-week course at the Southeastern Signal School, Ft. Gordon, Ga., those who enlist for this training will learn to fix aircraft communication, navigation radar stabilization and associated ground equipment. They will learn about the avionic equipment in all types of aircraft, from the largest to the smallest, as well as the ground equipment that keeps them flying.

In the field of avionics sounds interesting, contact Sergeant James L. Gallagher, Army recruiter in Dover at the Blue Hen Mall, or call him at 736-6937.

Army needs weather observers to carry on tradition.

In 1870, 24 Army sergeants from the Signal Corps became the first organized weather service in the United States. In 1891, this service was transferred to the Department of Agriculture, but even today, the Army gathers and interprets weather data for its own purposes.

Sergeant James L. Gallagher, Army recruiter in the Blue Hen Mall in Dover points out that training in weather forecasting can be guaranteed before enlistment in the United States Army. A 19-week course at the Army Signal School, Ft. Monmouth, N. J., will provide the training necessary for observation, analysis, and recording of weather conditions.

Students learn how to use weather instruments and the skills for both short and long range forecasting.

Those young men and women interested in the field of weather forecasting, or any of the other guaranteed training offered by the Army, may contact Sergeant Gallagher.

Army trains veterinary specialists

Sergeant Gallagher, Army recruiter in Dover is looking for young men and women who like animals and would enjoy working with them as veterinary specialist. This training can be guaranteed before enlistment and the 8-week course at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington will provide basic principles of animal care and treatment.

Those who enlist for this training will have ample opportunity to put their knowledge to use. Even though the Army no longer has horse-mounted cavalry, there are still horses in post stables, smaller animals owned by servicemen and their families, various laboratory animals used by the Army, and the Army's sentry and tracker dog.

For more information on guaranteed training as a veterinary specialist, or any of the more than 300 job training opportunities offered by the Army contact Sergeant Gallagher.

Set Careers Day Nov. 14

The annual Careers Day at the University of Delaware's College of Agricultural Sciences is set for Saturday, November 14, at Agricultural Hall, Newark. Dr. Ralph P. Barwick, assistant dean of the college made the announcement.

Designed to familiarize high school students with the wide range of career opportunities available in agribusiness, the morning program will enable visitors to discuss admission, curriculum, financial aid and career and employment opportunities with University staff members.

You don't have to live on a farm, or even near one, to have a rewarding career in agribusiness, Barwick says. "The business of agriculture is the largest single industrial complex in America today, and agriculturally-oriented graduates are in demand."

Courses offered at the College of Agricultural Sciences are designed to give the training needed to take advantage of this demand. You can concentrate on agricultural engineering, plant and animal science, entomology, soils, economics, communications or education.

Careers Day is aimed especially at high school juniors and seniors. Barwick adds. But all high school students are welcome to attend. School administrators, counselors, science teachers, agricultural instructors and parent are also invited.

Deadline for Careers Day registration is November 9. Send all inquiries to Dr. Ralph P. Barwick, College of Agricultural Sciences, University of Delaware, Newark, 19711.

Eaves Troughs Require Proper Care

Have you had an eaves trough rust out after only four to six years of use?

This problem can be prevented with proper maintenance, according to Ernest W. Walpole, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware. Early fall is an ideal time to start.

The first step in properly maintaining your eaves troughs is to make sure they are clean. Walpole suggests using a wick broom to remove small stones and other debris.

If your troughs are over three years old or show signs of rusting on the inside, paint them to prevent the rust from going all the way through. Make sure the interior surface is dry before painting and then use either an asphalt roof coating or an asphalt base aluminum paint. For the exterior surface, use a regular exterior house paint, says Walpole. Use a suitable primer first if the manufacturer recommends it, but with many of the newer paints this is no longer necessary.

New eaves troughs should not be painted until they have weathered at least three months, points out the agricultural engineer. It is difficult to get paint to adhere to the surface of new troughs until certain oils created in the manufacturing process are removed.

In late fall, clean out the troughs again and remove the leaves that have collected. Leaves may bridge the troughs or clog the spouts causing water to collect and problems with ice later.

By following these practices and inspecting the troughs regularly, you can extend the life of your eaves troughs indefinitely, says Walpole.

Tom Lewis Drives Million to One Triple Before Capacity Crowd

Harrington, in the heart of Delmarva has long been the capital of harness racing in the east, but Tom Lewis, Ralph Holloway and Lil York paced the Peninsula into national recognition this weekend.

Lewis, 61 year old veteran teamster, already well known for his winning ways with the Eastern Shore's Miss Conna Adios, scored a driving triple with three pacers all foaled by the same broodmare. Lil York and all owned and trained by Ralph and Eunice Holloway, of Frankford. The chances of this ever happening, as seasoned fans will agree, is more than a million to one.

Lewis, leading driver of the Harrington meeting wheeled York Byrd, Stephen York and Lil's Ace to the charmed circle on Saturday night, before 3,881 fans, the largest crowd of the meet.

In his win with Stephen York he also captured the HI-Grade Dairy Feature Pace. In other action this week, Rotybus, four year son of Scotch Abbe paced to a new season fast time of 2:05 flat and won the rich $5,931 Delaware Sire Stakes for four years olds. The pacer is owned, trained and driven by Robert Anderson of Wilmington.

Delaware's Attorney General David Buckson and nationally known clergyman-horseman Father Francis Tierney finished in one-two fashion to reward fans with a $203.80 Exacta pay-off.

Flamingo Mac and Bill Frost, steered respectively by Guy Banks of Salisbury and Don Robertson of Georgetown finished in the meets first Dead Heat win; a feather in the cap of race secretary Fred Greenly.

Track president Herman C. Brown announced this week that Harrington would switch from Conditioned racing to ABC Classified racing this week.

Spartans Lose, 6-0 At Indian River

Lake Forest High's football record is all even, with a victory and a loss after the Spartans lost a tough 6-0 fray to Indian River High's Indians.

The game was played at Dagsboro - Frankford on Saturday night. Three busloads of fans, players and band members made the trip on Friday night only to be frustrated by a sudden electrical storm, necessitating a return trip on Saturday. All that traveling should have been rewarded with a victory. There just ain't no justice!

Indian River took the opening kickoff and marched 65 yards for its score. Most of the yardage came on a 47-yard pass from do-everything quarterback, Andy Gress to Henlopen Conference high jump champ Norman Empty, who didn't come up empty this time.

AT HARRINGTON RACEWAY, Tom Lewis, of Frankford is leading the field of harness drivers with a very high .563 percentage. Lewis, the driver who brought Miss Connie Adios to victory many times now has seven winning drives, one second and one third in 14 starts. Jim Wilson is second with nine wins, seven seconds and three thirds in 30 outings. Wilson is from Harrington.

Lake Forest threatened several times but were foiled on each try. Cress came up with three pass interceptions to be one of the chief Spartan tormentors.

The Spartans travel to Dover High stadium to meet the Senators, who are led by Chris Stokes. The later lived in Harrington under the name of Chris Neilson and used to get lost at times, when he was younger and slimmer and was running cross-country for Harrington High. Now 6 feet tall and 190 pounds he will be striving, for his second straight victory over Bill Muehleisen and the Lake Forest Spartans.

Harriers' Loop Slate Opens October 1

After Lake Forest's state title win in 1969, it appeared that 1970's cross-country aggregation would be even stronger since the top nine runners would be back this fall. In addition to these nine veterans, two other experienced hands, Allan Parker and Bob Smith fine runners of 1966 and 1968 respectively, decided to give the hill-and-dale sport another try. Jim Dill and Dennis Wright, new-comers to cross-country, turned in good early-season clockings, as did Don "The Fly" Woods and Chris Adamo, Chipman School graduates, who show good future potential. Lake Forest has more than doubled the number of candidates, who turned out last fall. The raw material is there for another fine team. Not every rookie or every veteran is working hard however, so the jury is still out, as to how far the 1970 Spartans will go. The next week or two will give a much clearer picture since Seaford, the only team to beat the Spartans last season (28-29) will be met on October 1st, here.

The top four locals, Chris Wetherhold, Brad Moris, Sam Bostick and Bill Stubbs will be ready. Second-year prospect Rick Hamm is next closely followed by Allan Parker and Jackie D. Parker. Some of 1969's starters could be back in the top seven soon, or they may fold their tents like the Arabs and silently steal away. Make that slink away.

1970 ranking (Sept. 22)
1. Chris Wetherhold; 2. Brad Morris, 13.15; 3. Sam Bostick, 13.54; 4. Bill Stubbs 14.04; 5. Rick Hamm, 14.41; 6. Allan Parker, 14.55; 7. Jackie D. Parker 15.; 8. Bob Smith, 15.16; 9. Danny Hitchens 15.21; 10. Jim Dill, 15.48; 11. Bill Walls, 16.06; 12. Donald Woods, 16.11; 13. Chris Adamo, 16.12; 14. Dennis Wright 16.29; 15. Bill Erne, 16.55.
Squad total is 22 Spartans.

Harrington Bowling League

Leah S. Wheeler
Harold Brods, Robert Garey and Donald Garey paved the way for McKnatt's Funeral Home as they moved up another notch, two games out on top of the heap in the local bowling league, by crushing Quillen's Market in all four games. Quillen's dropped into the unenviable cellar position on this loss.
Hank Wheeler paced the furniture boys in the first game of their duel with Butler's Fuel by searing the boards for a 234 game. Charles Hayes came on strong in the second game for Gerardi Bros., rolling a fine 200 game to enable them to capture the second game also. It was another story on the third game, however, as Butler's Fuel battled back to take the third game on a fine team effort. Gerardi Bros., Wheeler and Hayes also amassed a great 595 series respectively to enable the team to move up into second place.

People's Restaurant is really trying hard this year to get to the top of the pack and if Tuesday night's performance is any indication of what they'll be doing, they won't have too much trouble succeeding. Alan Young continues to bowl very well as he led the restaurant boy's attack with a very good 581 series, with a fine 204 game included. That fine effort, when combined with Frank Collin's 561 series, including a fine 207 game, and Cloyd Bushey's grand 545 series, with a 200 game included, put People's in the thick of things at third place on their solid thumping of Wally's Garage. Wally's Garage, which seems to be having its share of trouble lately is one game out of the cellar spot.

Harrington Package, the new team in the league this year, made their presence felt, by stunning Taylor & Messick in Tuesday night fray. In a very impressive four game win over the Taylor & Messick quintet, Harrington Package moved up into a very good fourth place position on a full team effort. What made the defeat so hard to take was the fact that farm boys dropped all four games to a four-man team, the George Collins did bowl very well in defeat with a fine 202 game, amassing a grand 581 series, and the rest of the team contributed average performances.

Martin Jarrell blasted the pins, rolling a superb 235 game while collecting a grand 580 series, and Howard Tibbitt contributed a great 213 game amassing a grand 571 series to aid the Jarrell Fuel team to split even with Penn Central in a closely fought contest. Harold Melvin also contributed heavily for the fuel boys with a fine night's effort. Penn Central's Bob Murphy, Paul Baker and Marion Brown bowled very well enabling the team to take the first game and total pins to move way up the ladder into eighth place.

Ed Hobbs and Ernest Gallo were key men in Gallo & Stevenson's three game win over the Spoilers, as they vacated the cellar spot, moving up into a more respectable seventh place in th standings. Leonard Outten's fine 215 game helped the Spoilers to take the first game of the match, with Billy Morris chipping in with a fine above average performance. Having to go into the fray with only four men proved to be a handicap for the Spoilers in their loss.

POCOMOKE CITY'S KEN RANTZ won the FORRESTER Memorial Purses this week at Harrington Raceway with Marlu Gus. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cooper of Felton Delaware presented the trophy. Forrester, a 14 year old pacer who had won more than $100,000 in his career, passed on this summer.

Handle Up 6 Percent, Harrington Announces Increase in Purses

Harrington Raceway wound up its fourteenth night of the silver anniversary season with a six percent increase in its mutual handle, an increased per capita figure and the announcement by president Herman C. Brown that the overall purse structure this week would be increased by two percent.

With the largest crowd of the season on hand wagering of the all time high handles of $166,428 Tom Lewis, veteran harness driver, of Frankford, performed what have must been one of the record breaking feats of the decade, if they keep such records.

Lewis, before 3,883 fans, brought home three winners, all trained and owned by Ralph and Eunice Holloway and all foals of the same broodmare, Lil York. He scored with York Byrd, Stephan York and Lil's Ace.

Brown reports that after 14 nights of the meeting the mutual handle is averaging $104,279 as compared with the same 14 nights last year when the average was $98,789. Harrington this year is averaging $42.80 per capita compared to $38.70 in 1969. Total attendance after 14 nights is 34,123 compared with 36,570 for 1969.

A surprise announcement came Saturday night when Brown announced that purse structure at the Kent County oval would be increased by two percent for the coming week.

The president and general manager George Simpson were delighted with the upswing of the Delmarva racing plant.

credit, is battling with 13-year-old, Vernon Bowers for the No. 1 ranking. Bower's brother Curt was a fine harrier at Felton High in 1966 but Vernon could be a
