

HANGING PRONOUNCED IN TEEN-AGE SLAYING

The convicted slayer of a teen-age mother of two children was sentenced to death by hanging last Thursday.

Clifford Dean Seenev, 28, of Felton, heard the sentence pronounced by Superior Court Judge John J. McNeilly shortly after Harrison F. Turner, defense lawyer, branded capital punishment unconstitutional.

Seenev had been convicted by a jury last June 19 of first-degree murder in the May 16, 1969 shooting death of Miss Mary Jane Thomas, 18, also of Felton.

The jury made no recommendation of mercy; thus the judge was bound to order the death sentence for Jan. 11 "in some convenient place of private execution."

The defense attorney said he would appeal the case to the state's Supreme Court.

Seenev is now the third man in Delaware facing execution. Norman Benjamin Parson was convicted of slaying a 14-year-old Lewes girl in 1964 and Herbert F. Steigler of killing his wife's parents and his daughter by burning his home in 1969.

Parson and Steigler are at New Castle Correctional Institution while the State Supreme Court decides on appeals.

Gov. Peterson Announces New Policy

Governor Russell W. Peterson announced a new policy under which he will set aside specific blocks of time — "Citizens' Hours" — when any citizen can talk to him in his office without needing a formal appointment.

The governor said he will designate a three-hour period on the second Tuesday of each month when any citizen can get in to see him.

The first one was on Tuesday, Oct. 13, from 9 a.m. to noon at the governor's office in Dover. Subsequent ones will be held in Wilmington and in Georgetown to extend the service throughout the state.

"I am sure that many people often have suggestions or complaints they'd like to make to me but are discouraged by the need for a formal appointment," the governor said. "These citizens' hours will provide them the opportunity."

The governor, in announcing the new policy at the Cabinet meeting Oct. 7, also requested each Cabinet secretary to set up similar citizens' hours for the convenience of the public. He suggested those might be an hour of 90 minutes in length and that they should be held at different times to avoid conflicts with these held by the governor or other secretaries.

"We in state government must stay in touch with the people to get their ideas and know their concerns," the governor said.

"This will help us to do a better job of serving the people."

He pointed out that the citizens' hour will be in addition to the governor's Town Hall meetings that are held each month for the same basic purpose — to provide communication between citizens and state government.

Fall Housecleaning Begun In This Area

Fall housecleaning has begun in this area and many people are asking the Harrington Senior Center if they need any of the useful discs.

Some suggestions were given to us by some of the senior citizens who work in the kitchen at the center for salt and pepper shakers for table use, soup and teaspoons, stainless steel pots and pans (both large and small), toaster, soup ladle, jar filler, meat slicer.

Many projects are planned at the center that will utilize these articles. ## William Thomas Ferguson

William Thomas Ferguson, 67, of Burrsville, died Monday at Easton Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

He was a retired mechanic for the former Stafford Implement Co., in Burrsville.

Services were last Thursday afternoon at the Rawlings - Boulais Funeral Home in Greensboro. Interment was in Wesley Cemetery, Burrsville.

The ticket, already in use on our turnpikes and freeway systems, has the sole purpose of public service.

Upon observing a parked vehicle our troopers will first determine if there is an occupant suffering from illness, and when satisfied that this is not the case, they will check the vehicle to determine if it is stolen, abandoned or temporarily disabled.

If not stolen or abandoned, the vehicle will be tagged with a courtesy ticket which reflects a nighttime, both so that the owner upon returning will know that the police observed and checked it, and that other troopers on patrol will not waste valuable time by stopping to re-check the vehicle.

Jacob Zimmerman, opposing Bill Roth for United States senator, said unemployment in the state was 6.4 per cent and it was the first time in his memory it was higher than the national average.

The cure, he emphasized, was to end the policies of Gov. Peterson and President Nixon by electing Democrats in Dover and Washington. He claimed this outcome would also end inflation.

Veterans' News

Some 6839 veterans of the 3,180,457 veterans receiving disability compensation or pension from the Veterans Administration are from Delaware.

Of these 4863 veterans for reasons not related to military service, according to Leon Fields, director of the Wilmington VA office, who cited statistics made available were based on August 1970 reports.

Nationally, 2,091,466 veterans receive payments for injuries or illnesses relating to their military service.

Of the 198,772 Vietnam era veterans receiving compensation or pension, 509 are from Delaware, and 659 and 264,850 Korean Conflict veterans are from this state.

Most veterans receiving compensation and pension are from World War II—1,786,638 nationally of which 3986 are from Delaware.

Because World War I veterans are now reaching an average age of 76, most who receive payments do so because they performed military service and are now disabled, rather than for service-connected disabilities — 685,889 to 84,595 nationally and 1110 to 84 in Delaware.

An additional 185,363 veterans who served in other periods including 491 from Delaware, receive VA compensation because of service-related illnesses or injuries.

War-time veterans with a limited income who can no longer work because of disability, whether or not related to their service, should contact their nearest VA office.

Here's George Vapaa

There is something sad about a dairy herd sale especially a herd that was built up over a long period of years. Such was the case last week when Charles Blendt of Smyrna gave up trying to fight the farm labor problem. His herdsman had quit, so it did not seem worthwhile to continue to milk cows, even though he had a fine money making herd.

This is a decision that a lot of farmers face these days. There is just no point in trying to hang on and do the work of two men say most of them.

I've never known Charles to be away from his farm overnight. For milking cows is a job that must be done twice a day, about 12 hours apart. A long day, most of us will agree.

Of course he has missed a milking or so. For I remember when he was gored by a bull on the farm. Two different times I believe, even with adequate safeguards built in.

Most dairy farmers have licked this problem with the use of artificial insemination or breeding. Perhaps three fourths of all cows in Delaware are so bred today.

Few people keep bulls on dairy farms. A bull is a dead expense, except for his possible value as a cow breeder. The artificial breeding associations select the best of the sires and prove their value in service. One bull used artificially can breed thousands of cows. This has been proved several times in this region of the country. We will see much more of it.

Of one thing I'll bet, Charles will keep raising calves or herd replacements. He was married to that herd too long not to keep some animals.

It is just possible that some of you may not know that Mrs. Blendt keeps a swarm of white cats. Most everyone in the Smyrna area seem to be aware of it. The last person who dropped a cat at their farm also left some food for it.

An average size home lawn, kept healthy and vigorous, can replenish the air with enough oxygen for eight people. This report is passed on to your county agent by C. Francis Lay, extension agent at Arlington, Va.

This seems to say we can all help to reduce air pollution by taking good care of our lawns.

Discussion by Francis Webb

Here comes the leaves. The coming of fall always brings the inevitable job of raking leaves. No one looks forward to this task so therefore, it is postponed until all the leaves have fallen. This may save on a little work, but many times is detrimental to your lawn grasses. You should keep the leaves raked up to prevent them from smothering the grass.

There is very little nutritional value in fallen leaves, so it is a mistake to think that they will nourish the grass. However, they do make good compost, so if you have plenty of leaves think seriously about making a compost pile. There is really no need to buy peat moss and other organic mulch materials when you have one of the best materials available, once put through the compost process. Leaves must be partially decomposed before they are valuable as humus and mulch materials.

If you would like to have instructions for constructing a compost pile write or call the Kent County Extension Office, P. O. Box 340, Dover, 19901. Phone 736-1448.

Remember the corn leaf blight meeting to be held November 11, 8:00 p.m., at the University of Delaware Substation near Georgetown. Results from our corn hybrid plots will be available along with the leafblight ratings for each hybrid.

There will be an extensive discussion on the facts involving corn leaf blight here on Delmarva, and what seed companies are doing to have resistant varieties available for next year.

You should move house plants back in again, before a killing frost. It is best to spray these plants before you take them in, use either sevin or malathion. Those plants that are overgrown should be pruned.

These plants should be fertilized at least once a month to keep them healthy throughout the winter. Water soluble fertilizers are the best for house plants.

ELECTION OUTCOME COULD HAVE A BEARING ON REAPPORTIONMENT

A legislative bulletin from the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce, while pointing out Oct. 17 is the last day to register for the November general election, says the state House of representatives races hold the key to political power in Delaware for the next ten years.

The 126th General Assembly will be required to once again reapportion the representative and senatorial districts, as they will do every 10 years. The only chance the Democrats have for a voice in reapportionment will be to take over control of the House in November.

If they fail, the GOP will have the power to enact reapportionment without opposition. Very little has been publicized on this very important aspect of the election.

The Republicans, if they have the opportunity, will reapportion the voting districts to their advantage. The Democrats, if they had the opportunity, would probably do likewise. Meanwhile, how about the voter? We believe reapportionment should be achieved by representatives of all official parties.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

— OCTOBER —

One night in late October
 When I was far from sober
 Returning with my load
 With fondly pride—

My feet began to stutter,
 I lay down in the gutter,
 A pig came along
 And lay down by my side—

Then a lady passing by
 Was heard to say—
 You can tell a man that boozes
 By the company that he chooses—

Whereupon the pig got up
 And slowly walked away.

A lot of other interesting things happen in this all-important month. World Series, Yom Kippur, Hallowe'en, and most important of all: Columbus Day. This latter event becomes more important each year as portrayed by research scientist Dr. LeRoy Edwin Froom. Columbus was a voluminous writer and kept daily records of his voyages. His diary for date of landing in San Salvador reads: "Oh Lord, Eternal and Almighty God, by thy sacred word thou hast created the heavens, the earth, and the sea; blessed and glorified by thy name, and praised by thy majesty, who hath designed to use thy humble servant to make thy sacred name known and proclaimed in this other part of the world."

Delaware Food Market Report

Again this week it is fairly easy to pick your meat, for "Specials" are scattered among pork, beef and broiler fryeys. In a few stores lamb is featured also. The fresh pork cuts to look for include loin roasts, chops and spareribs. Bacon prices have dropped at the wholesale level and money-saving values are beginning to appear. Hams continue in good supply and special prices are also available on the butt and shank parts of the cook-before-eating hams. When buying hams be sure to read the labels both on the ham wrappings and on the price tag. First, on the tag, you will be able to tell at a glance if the center slices of the ham have been removed, by the use of the word portion. If the label reads "shank portion" or "butt portion", the center cuts have been cut in half - no slices removed. The wording on the wrapping tells how to cook the ham and what type of ham it is. "Western cured" hams will have the words water added. "Country hams" are dry cured hams and may have to be soaked before cooking. There's much more to be learned when you carefully read the information given on the products you buy.

There has been no drastic change in retail beef prices. Cooler weather is perking up the demand for beef roast from the forequarter-chuck roast and there are more frequent specials now on values and pushed up the cost of food production. Johnsongrass is a perennial that spreads rapidly from seed and by extending the rhizomes or roots. Birds can scatter seeds over a wide area; they're probably to blame for the weed's wide distribution over the state. Also, rhizomes can spread one plant as much as 200 feet in a single season. A new plant can begin at every joint or node in the rhizome. Seeds can live for many years in the soil. Then, when conditions are just right—up comes a new plant.

Effective control measures must be long-range and must be state-wide, Mitchell emphasizes. No one farmer can keep his land clear without cooperation from all other landowners — farm and non-farm. And, the fight must go on year after year.

Mitchell adds that no single control method can be called the best. The control you select will depend on the size of the infested area, the type of crop and the kind of equipment you have available.

Basically, control measures are aimed at weakening the plants making them more susceptible to toxic chemicals and cultural practices. You cannot allow Johnsongrass to reach its mature height of six to eight feet because it then has the reserve energy to spread.

The first step in any control program in keeping the weed at a height of no more than eight inches by grazing, cutting, frequent tillage or by use of a smother crop. Start your control program now before fall frosts, recommends Mitchell. Kill the grass with a chemical defoliant such as Dalapon or Glytac. Actually, this will weaken the plant rather than kill it, but it can be further weakened by low winter temperatures.

If you fall plow, kill the grass back now with a spray program before frost, then

Johnsongrass Now Illegal

Letting Johnsongrass go to seed knowingly is now illegal in Delaware. This law is the first step in controlling a pest that's long been a problem in Delaware, according to Dr. William Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware. For years, Johnsongrass has reduced crop yields greatly, cut land plow and leave the roots exposed over the winter. Next spring go ahead with a chemical control program and clean tillage. For further information on Johnsongrass control, ask for copies of a Johnsongrass fact-sheet. It's available from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, 19711.

Harriers Beat, North Carolina, Easton, Dover

Harold McDonald's Lake Forest High cross-country team racked up easy victories over North Carolina and Easton, Md., High Schools, then added another waltz over Dover's Spartans.

The Spartans are 6-0 for 1970. Coach McDonald's career record is 126-8, one of the best anywhere.

Chris Wetherhold, the Spartan senior, is closing out a fabulous career. Chris is working on a string of 45 straight dual meet triumphs at this writing.

At North Carolina on Thursday, Wetherhold ran 2 1/4 miles in 11:5, breaking a five-year-old mark held by Harrington High's Jerry Garvey, now a cross-country runner for Towson State College.

Tyrone Adams of North Carolina was second with Brad Morris and Allan Parker of Lake Forest finishing in the next two spots. Sam Bostick (sixth) and Jackie D. Parker (eighth) sewed up the double victory for the Spartans, who had five runners in the top eight. North Carolina had two, Easton had one. Bill Stubbs missed the meet because of a tooth extraction.

Jim Dill, a slender speedster from Viola, finished 11th of 36 harriers. The young sophomore, has finished in the top seven Spartans, six straight times, this season. It takes a natural runner to break into the starting lineup of a state champion team, when that runner is in his first season.

Lake Forest outpointed North Carolina 21-40 and Easton by a near-perfect 16-45.

At Dover, Chris Wetherhold missed a turn and ran extra yards, but won comfortably in 12:42 over an involved course. Dover's Rick Carney was second ahead of Spartans Brad Morris, Allan Parker and Sam Bostick. Jackie D. Parker finished seventh to seal Dover's hopes of an upset. Final tally was Lake Forest 20, Dover 37.

Jim Dill had another high finish for this promising first-year harrier. He ran 2 1/2 miles in a fine 14:18; Rick Hamm was 12th, followed by Danny Hitchens. Freshmen Dennis Wright and Chris Adamo are doing very well. Both should be first string in 1971. Wright is only 13 years old and is a first-year runner, also.

Riders Best Spartans 24-6, In Rough Grid Clash

Caesar Rodney's Riders won a hard-hitting contest with Lake Forest's Spartans, at Camden - Wyoming on Friday night.

The game was much closer than the 24-6 final score indicators. Down 12-0 at half-time the Spartans battled back with a third period score and threatened to tie or go ahead in the fourth period, before the Riders tallied an insurance T.D. Caesar Rodney, added a final score, seconds before the gun.

Lake Forest took the opening kickoff back to their 41 yard line. Quarterback Lawrence Sorden ran for five yards. Sorden then handed off to Hern McBride, but fooled the defenders into thinking he still had the pigskin. McBride gained good yardage. An off-tackle run reached the Rider 29.

C.R. dug in and held at the 23. A long bomb found a receiver behind all defender but the ball was dropped. Caesar Rodney marched 67 yards to score with quarterback Cornell carrying the last two yards.

A Sorden throw ricocheted off a couple of players before Brown of C.R. caught it and zig-zagged back and forth in an incredible run until Dale Motter caught him just as Brown found running room.

A 22 yard pass put the winner's ahead 12-0.

Motter and Norman Baynard left the game in the local ambulance at the half-way point. Both had leg injuries and may be sidelined for awhile. Richard Deputy has a neck injury. Sorden also took a battering but is expected to play at Smyrna, Friday night.

The Spartans' scoring surge saw Frankie Daniels pick up a lot of ground on a quick pass over the center. After another completion, Sorden carried twice for six yards and a touchdown.

Lake Forest's record shows two victories and three defeats at the season's halfway point. Strong rivals Smyrna and Laurel are next on the slate, followed by doormats, Delmar and Dover Air, before the Thanksgiving day "Battle for the Bell" with Milford.

Wetherhold and Lake Forest Win At Dover Air

Two of the most dedicated athletes to be found anywhere hooked up in another titanic struggle at Dover AFB High last Monday afternoon.

Chris Wetherhold recorded his 42nd straight dual meet victory in a string that started with the first meet of his freshman year in 1967. He had won one varsity race and set a course record, as an eighth grader.

Dan Rincon, like Wetherhold a senior, was state champion in cross-country in 1969 and also won the two-mile title in track. Wetherhold was second to Rincon in cross-country and had annexed the state mile crown on the track.

Wetherhold stayed on Rincon's heels for almost two miles of the rugged 2.6 miles test, then pulled steadily away to win by 16 seconds. Ironically, Rincon beat Chris by 16 seconds when he won the state championship last fall and also over a 2.6 miles course. The third place finisher in that race was 38 seconds back.

Wetherhold and Rincon are all even in cross-country with two victories each. Monday's win was important to the Spartan since he now has a good chance to go undefeated in dual meet competition for his entire four-year, high school career, since his only regular season defeats came as an eighth grader, in junior high.

Brad Morris, one of the squad's slowest men in 1966, started to improve as a freshman in 1967 and hasn't stopped improving since. No. 2 man on a state title squad last season, he's hot as a firecracker this time out. Brad trailed the Falcon's excellent, Ken Rodgers by 20 yards or more in the home-stretch and appeared out of it, but suddenly closed rapidly to get third by inches in 14:48, 62 seconds behind Wetherhold's 13:46, which is an automatic course record.

Sam Bostick, Bill Stubbs,

Allan Parker, Jackie D. Parker, Jim Dill, Danny Hitchens, Rick Hamm, "The Long Blue Line" came over the finish line before the Falcon's third finisher.

Lake Forest now is 3-0 for 1970 after the 22-39 win.

Chipman Runners Shine at Easton And Dover

Jim Blades' Chipman School cross-country team continues to impress varsity coaches all over the peninsula. This inspired bunch of seventh and eight graders ran North Carolina's course after Lake Forest's varsity had handled Easton and North Carolina.

Without competition, except from each other, Vernon Bowers, grade eight and Howard Parker, grade seven logged 14:09 and 14:10. Only three Easton and three North Carolina varsity performers could run better than this pair of outstanding young prospects. The Marylanders were sophomores, junior and seniors and undoubtedly ran better than normal because they were in a three-team race. Charles Scott, David Moore, Eddie Thompson, Rudy Bordley were other strong performers. Moore is only a seventh grader, like Parker. With five more years before graduation, he's got time to be a great one. Terry Pettyjohn, a tiny Frederician, like the others broke 16 minutes for 2 1/4 miles. Add Viola's Russell Dill and Chipman has eight youngsters who could do well against several of Delmarva's varsity units.

At Dover, Howard Parker

sped 2 1/2 miles in 15:16 Charles Scott, David Moore and Eddie Thompson finished in a near-triple-dead-heat. Each lad got a fine 15:53 clocking. Terry Pettyjohn had 16:28 in fifth. Others to do well were Dave Williamson, Kim O'Toole, Terry Jarrell, John Pickett, Wayne Voshell, Lester Blades, Bob Abbott, Bob Mullane, Ron Jarrell, Greg Hobbs.

Eric Hamsher, John Moffitt and Ken "Bullet" Cerklefskie are elementary pupils with hopes of being varsity cross-country runners someday. These youngsters travel with this writer and get clocked on the various courses in this area. As of 1970, these kids are miles ahead of most boys their ages.

Eric, the oldest at 11 and 16:49 at Dover. Moffitt, 11 last week, had 16:15 and 16:58. Both are faster already than some of the varsity runners in the area, despite being as much as seven years younger.

Bullet is all of eight years old. He negotiated 2 1/4 miles in 18:10 at North Carolina and covered 2 1/2 at Dover in 18:50. He already holds the American record for 440 yards in the age 8 group. Cerklefskie is scheduled to take a crack at other age 8 records, world and American, at Washington College and later to run in a 9-and-under national championship race at Van Cortlandt Park, New York City, next month.

Chipman Harriers Run Well At Dover Air

In a practice meet at Dover Air, Jim Blades' W. T. Chipman School harriers had the first two finishers, Vernon Bowers and Howard Parker and had eight of the first ten runners.

Bowers' fine 16:57 clocking was equal to the 12th place finisher's in the varsity race. The 11-year-old Parker was only a few yards back.

Charles Scott, Rudy Bordley and Dave Moore were so close together, they could have been covered by a blanket. Eddie Thompson and Terry Pettyjohn came across six and twelve seconds later. Twenty-seven Chipman runners competed. Most of them completed the grind in fine style.

O God and Father of us all, from our world its dark'ning pall;
Forgive our madness, sin, and strife, turn our goals from death to life.
Create in us a zeal for right, Help us to share our candle light
Impel our hearts to seek Thy way, Guide us to peace, O God, we pray.
