

SUSPECTED SLAYER IS DENIED BAIL

Judge James B. Messick has denied bail to a 32-year-old Harrington man charged with first-degree murder in the death of a Pennsylvania man whose body was found in a burned wooden shack in Hammonds town woods last December.

Charles Robert Derrickson was arrested in September after an intensive investigation by State Police.

Derrickson was charged with the slaying of Carl Wayne McNeal of Tyrone, Pa., whose body went unidentified for months after his death.

Police discovered McNeal was possibly murdered when the state medical examiner found a bullet hole in his skull.

The fire in the shack had just about burned itself out when a passerby spotted the charred remains of the victim, according to J. Ben Roy of the state fire marshal's office.

Detectives and fire marshals spent months tracking down missing persons in an effort to identify the body, but did not succeed until an informant told them of the man's identity.

Roy commended the State Police. "They really had to do a lot of work to come up with the answers to this one."

There wasn't hardly anything to work with. All we had was a burned body, belt buckle and watch."

Derrickson had been in the Delaware Correctional Center since September and will remain there pending a trial in Superior Court.

Journal to Raise Price of Paper

The Harrington Journal will raise its price effective as of Jan. 1, of its subscriptions and newsstand sales.

This price revision was made necessary by an increase in cost of newsprint and production prices.

Newsstand price will be 15c in line with similar prices of other area weeklies. Subscription prices will go up 50c per year, with in-state rates at $5 and out-of-state rates at $6.

Senior Center News

Say those who never win—"such is our luck—if we had all the money in the world, they would change the currency standard to doughnuts!"

Not so for Emma Denny! She was the proud recipient of a decorated, ceramic, turkey platter at a drawing held Thursday, Nov. 18, at the Harrington Senior Center.

Miss Leona Dickrager, a member of the board of directors of the Center drew the lucky member. The platter had been made and donated by Angela Johnston, director of the Center. Over 50 dollars was realized in donations which will be used to defray expenses of some of the activities carried out in the program.

Tuesday before Thanksgiving about forty members gathered for their annual turkey dinner. A meal was served at noon with each one present donating a covered dish. What a variety of food! The turkey, white potatoes, rolls coffee and pie were furnished by the Center.

Because of economic conditions the members are not waiting for the last minute to do their Christmas shopping. They will just wait for the last minute to pay their bills. They left the Center at 10 a.m. Tuesday and travelled to Laurel and Seaford in search of bargains. The rest of their Christmas shopping will, hopefully, be done at their bazaar which is to be held on Thursday, Dec. 9, at the Center. The public is invited to come in, visit and buy articles that have been made at the Center.

The rummage sale held at Spence's Bazaar n Dover Nov. 19 rendered revenue of approximately $110. This will be used for some much needed repair work and will help with renovating the garage for a mens workshop which is sorely needed.

Our members are still very much enthused about bowling. Samuel Short still had the highest average score, Emo Tee was second, with Gladys Hill having third highest score. Thursday, Dec. 2, the group will again meet at the Milford Bowling Lanes at 10 a.m.

Our bookkeeper, Ernest Gleason, has been greatly missed this past week having been admitted to the Milford Hospital Sunday, Nov. 21. He is progressing satisfactorily and has been moved from the intensive care unit to Room 358. He has everyone's best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Emo Tee has also been in Milford Hospital for tests and is now back enjoying the activities of the Center.

Annabelle Morrow, another regular, has been a patient the past two weeks at the Delaware Division of the Wilmington Medical Center at 14th and Washington st. She has undergone several minor operations and is still under observation.

Only 22 more days until Christmas. Plan to spend part of them with your friends at the Center.

Days Of Our Years Ten Years Ago Twenty Years Ago

Fri., Dec. 1, 1961 A Delaware millpond owner Monday challenged the Senate majority leader to a duel after a one-punch incident in Legislative Hall. John S. Thatcher, of near Harrington, said Sen. Curtis W. Steen, D-Dagsboro, punched him in the mouth and then took cover behind a locked door. Thatcher asked that legislation be introduced to repeal the state's anti-dueling law so he and Steen could fight it out on the field of honor.

Arnold Breeding Butler

Arnold Breeding Butler, 54, died in a Richmond, Va. hospital Wed., Nov. 24, after a three-year battle against a kidney ailment.

Mr. Butler underwent a kidney transplant operation Sept. 9 in Medical College of Virginia Hospital — one of a series of operations to which he submitted after contracting glomerular nephritis.

Family members said the transplant was unsuccessful and the transplanted kidney was removed Oct. 16.

Mr. Butler was a former commander of Nanticoke Post 6, American Legion, Seaford. He was a former chairman of Delaware Boys State, a youth activity sponsored by the Legion. He also was a member of the Virgil Wilson Post, VFW, in Seaford.

He was a senior technical assistant in the control equipment section of the DuPont Co. nylon plant, Seaford. His home was at 135 Shipley St., Seaford.

In 1963, the two veterans posts and other Seaford area civic associations sponsored a fund drive for the purchase of a kidney machine that enabled Mr. Butler to return home from Crozer-Chester Medical Center, Chester, Pa. The drive raised $7,600.

Mr. Butler was a native of Burrowsville, Md. He lived in Seaford since he joined the DuPont Co. 32 years ago.

He was a member of St. John's United Methodist Church, Seaford, and was an Army veteran of World War II.

The money will be used to help offset next year's campaign expenses in Kent County.

City to Construct Sewer For U.S. 13 Businesses

The City of Harrington will construct a sanitary sewer for three businesses, a trailer site, and a site owned by a trailer park operator on the eastern side of U.S. 13 south of Delaware 14.

At a special meeting Wednesday night, Nov. 24, the City Council agreed to install a 10-inch sewer from Porter Street south thru the following properties: a lot owned by Max Corder, operator of a trailer park at Little Heaven; a lot with trailer owned by Chauncey Messick; Callis-Thompson Inc., Ace Manufacturing Company and Gundrops, Inc., manufacturer of children's clothing.

A 10-inch sewer will be installed by Teal Construction Company, Dover, in the near future, weather permitting. Teal will do the job for $20,000, explained City Manager Kathryn Derrickson Friday.

The work to be done was part of a sewer extension program on which Teal was the successful bidder in 1969 and construction cost was what it would have been at that time.

The 1969 program was not carried out because of a technicality in a referendum authorizing a $100,000 bond issue. The referendum passed on a tally of one vote for each $100 of property owned and failed on another tally of one vote for each individual. Bonding attorneys advised getting a court ruling on the votes, because of a decision of 'one-man, one-vote' by the U.S. Supreme Court, but the City had been unable to get it.

Meanwhile, the U.S. 13 businesses have complained on lack of the sewer which they were promised for support in annexation of their land by the city in 1968.

The matter of a sewer came to a head at a Council meeting Mon., Nov. 1, when complainants appeared: They were Mitchell Mark, manager of Gundrops, Mrs. Lillian Pearson, manager of Ace, and Claude Neeman representing Callis-Thompson.

Mark, who did most of the talking for the group, said his firm wanted to expand and could possibly use another 100 employees. The onus was, however, the state would not permit additional cesspools. Representatives of the other firms complained of having to have cesspools cleaned out too frequently.

Mayor Burton E. Satterfield pointed out the sanitary sewer had been promised by the city but complained of a shortage of funds. He promised, however, to see what could be done.

Of the plans studied, the one agreed to by Peoples Bank and First National Bank was adopted. It stipulated sewer usage fees from the users of the new line would be earmarked by the city for the express purpose of paying the lending institutions.

Mitchell Mark Tuesday thanked the city for the sewer and commented his business was in need of operators of sewing machines. He explained Gundrop was in its rush season and expansion would be eyed when the season was over.

Kimberly L. Anderson, two month old daughter, of James E. and Wardella Anderson, was dead on arrival at Milford Memorial Hospital early Saturday morning.

Besides her parents, she is survived by her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ward L. Russ, of Harrington. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the McKnatt Funeral Home. Interment will be at Williamsview Cemetery, Houston.

Lake Forest Bests Milford In "Battle of the Bell"

Lake Forest football coach Al Wood, a Harrington resident, could have been elected mayor, if the election had been held on Saturday. On Friday night, Wood's Spartans defeated Milford's High's football Buccaneers, 20-12, in a contest rained out the previous day.

The Thanksgiving Day battle of the bell, after three years, has seen the team lose each time.

Early in the second period, Milford scored on a pihout, followed by a halfback pass, on fourth down. A two-point try failed.

One of the game's key plays followed. The Buc kickoff was taken by Herman McBride at the 12. The Spartan headed upfield, then veered to the left sideline. Skipper O'Neal's great block took down at least two and possibly three defenders. Neal Travis cut down the last would-be tackler and the Spartan dashman sped 88 yards to pay dirt.

Frank "Mr. Automatic" Daniels added the extra point from placement and Lake Forest led 7-6.

Felton's Charles Hoff, a former principal at both Felton and Harrington High schools remarked after Milford's tally, that Lake Forest needed to score quickly. McBride had made only three or four steps when Hoff said "Hey, this looks good." He proved to be quite a prognosticator but he does know this game, having had an early hand in the development of a couple of Philadelphia Eagle all-time greats. If memory is correct, their names were Mike Jarmoluk and Frank "Bucko" Kilroy.

The winning points were on the board soon after, when Lake Forest recovered a fumble and converted it into seven more points. Lawrence Sorden, the junior quarterback, squeezed out a first down to Milford's 35, then passed to Jim Dill, who had found an open spot along the left sideline. The classy receiver raced to the five-yard-line. He had Milford's last defender beaten but didn't realize it, so tried to fake him out and go inside. The Buc wasn't fooled so the Viola redhead ran over him into the end zone. Daniels then booted the extra point, which proved to be the final tally of his scholastic career. The senior missed only one kick from the regulation distance all campaign, converting after 21 touchdowns. Daniels was the top scorer on this team, scoring more than forty points.

Milford raced the halftime clock but appeared to be doomed to fail. Lake Forest assisted by drawing two 3 five yard penalties, then a fifteen-yarder for unsportsmanlike conduct. Someone probably questioned an official's ancestry, no doubt. All Spartans polished their noses and professed innocence, but Milford scored from the one-yard-line after the gift of 25 yards.

The two-point try seemed to be good, but the referee overruled his partners, leaving Lake Forest ahead 14-12.

On the second half kickoff, a Spartan tackled the ball and it was recovered on Milford's 40. Daniels received an aerial over the middle for a first down. Sorden went back to throw, was trapped, got away momentarily and headed for the distance line of scrimmage. A Buccaneer chasing him from behind reached for the quarterback but was wiped out by a murderous, crack-back block delivered by Dave DeMora, who was also at full speed, but was going west, while the Buc was going east. Twas the "Hit of the Game" and enabled Sorden to gain three yards, instead of losing twenty. Kipling was wrong. The twain did meet, when DeMora crashed in that Buc.

Another fine play followed. Sorden passed to Dill, who leaped, speared the leather, but appeared to be coming down with both feet out of bounds. With a graceful, ballet dancer type movement, Dill thrust both feet backward onto the playing field, before contact.

The deft move made the reception legal at the twenty. Pushed back to the 25, Sorden handed off to Mike Davis. The latter faked a handoff to a halfback coming by, then tossed the pigskin back across the field to Sorden. The quarterback then tossed to Dill in the end zone. The razzle-dazzle touchdown strike delighted Spartan rooters, to say the least. The point-after try failed when a pass fell incomplete.

Milford had the Spartans in a fourth-quarter bind, back on the locals' two yard line. Rick Porter eased the pressure considerably as he burst through for ten yards then did it again for fifteen. McBride gained ten yards on a pass reception. The Bucs held for three downs, then hit the punter, to put the Spartans back in business. Jim Dill made a leaping catch at Milford's 35, then Herman McBride recorded a first down at the 23. The losers finally got the ball back but couldn't mount much of a threat in the waning movements of the fray.

Jim Dill was picked as "Offensive player of the Week" with Don Parker getting the defensive recognition. Parker made tackles all over the field, after covering up for teammates, who missed.

Playing their last football games for Lake Forest were: Mike Davis, Frank Daniels, Dave DeMora, Richard Deputy, Norman Baynard, Jim Hughes, Herman McBride, Rick Porter, John Shulties, Bob Smith and George Turner.

Al Wood and Jim Hogsten have moldered an eleven, which compiled a fine 8-2 log. We believe this is the second best record, for a local football team, since the pigskin sport was inaugurated here, in 1957.

The Spartans finished second in the Henlopen Conference's Southern Division, trailing only Laurel (9-1).

After a year's absence "The Bell" is now resting in the Spartan's trophy case. This replica of a railroad-engine bell, symbolizes the old steam engines, which used to run on the "Branch Road" between Harrington and Milford.

W. T. Chipman School Begins Wrestling Practice

The W. T. Chipman wrestling team began practice Nov. 16, with 44 candidates reporting. The wrestlers will try to improve on last year's 8-3 mark. This will be difficult as several outstanding wrestlers moved up to Lake Forest High School, but will certainly be of great help to the varsity and junior varsity teams, coached by Tom Muehleisen and Elliott Workman.

At present, the Chipman wrestlers, coached by Gary Rogers, are preparing for a scrimmage at Sussex Central Dec. 16, followed by the regular season opener in the Chipman gym Jan. 6 with Laurel.

Eighth grade candidates are as follows: Terry Stew-

The public is invited to attend the Chipman wrestling matches. These young Spartans deserve your support.

The schedule is as follows: Thursday, Dec. 16 - Sussex Central (scrimmage) away 3:30

Thursday, Jan. 6 - Laurel, home 3:45

Tuesday, Jan. 11 - Selbyville, away 1:30

Thursday, Jan. 13 - Smyrna, home 3:30

Dan Rincon Wins Killen's Pond 5 Miler

Dan Rincon, former Dover Air athlete, was one of the University of Maryland's top three varsity runners as a freshman. Rincon finished 19th in the tough, Atlantic Coast Conference championship race.

At Killen's Pond State Park, Sunday afternoon, Rincon easily defeated a field of over 30 rivals, in a 5 1/4 miles race. His time of 26:33, bettered, the 26:58 he recorded in winning this event in 1970.

Jim Waldbusser of Camden, a former Caesar Rodney star, was second. Waldbusser was one of Delaware State's best barriers, this fall, as the Hornets had an undefeated campaign. Other former Henlopen Conference runners at Delaware State were: Ken Rodgers, formerly of Dover Air and ex-Cape Henlopen runners, Emory Howell and Aaron Price.

A few of Sunday's competition were joggers, out to lose weight or to have a fun run. But the majority of the field including some men as old as 55, were sailing along in fine style.

Brad Morris, a local runner, finished near the front of the field.

Archers Close Season Here

Sunday 21 archers braved the cold and windy weather to close out another season at the Mid-Del archery range.

A Field and hunter round was the annual Mid-Del turkey shoot which is becoming well known because of the shoot of 16 turkeys won by area residents. Winners were:

Kelly Ludden, Wayne Timmons, B. Lampert, Marge Mason, John Lawson, Karen Ambrose, Mr. Bedford, Emiley White, Shirley Dennis, Jeanie Dutz, Ronnie Ward, George McClain, Peggy Doherty, Jerry King, Janice Shockley, Betty Betts

Lower Delaware was well represented by members from Nanticoke Bowmen of Seaford, Dover Bowhunters of Dover, and from as far as Queponco Bowmen of Newark, Md.; as well as the host club Mid-Del archers of Harrington.

Turkeys were presented to the winners of the days shooting in lieu of trophies.

High scratch went to Joe Chyba of Queponco Bowmen with a 423 just barely edging Stan Shaeffer of Mid-Del with a 422.

High handicap was captured by Vince Puglia of Mid-Del with 537. Puglia is also the 1971 club champion.

Second handicap was won by a youth archer, Pat Libby of Dover, who tallied 518.

Henry Wingo, of Queponco, Md., hauled down the third handicap with 514.

George Ludden of Mid-Del challenged the competition with a 512 for the fourth handicap.

Wed., Dec. 1, marks the next meeting of the Mid-Del Archers when elections will be held for club officers.

Next shoot at the range of Mid-Del archers is Jan. 9.

Congratulations to the Taylor & Messick team as they waited to the first third championship title with a fantastic won and loss record. Bobby Collins paved the way for the T & M quintet with a grand 224 game as he amassed a fine 552 series and Tom Brown rolled a great 210 game as they squashed any opposition Wally's Garage could muster. Kenny P. Outten also rolled well for the farm boys and Dave Ryan contributed a good effort for Wally's in a losing cause.

McKinnat Funeral Home moved up in the first spot in high team series category as they rolled a grand 2604 series Tuesday night. Harold Brode started the team to its great showing with a great 565 series and Donald McKinnat matched that feat with a 565 set, including a fine 208 game, with Robert Garey almost making it a threesome with a great 561 series, including a great 214 game. Robbin's Hardware who was up for their match with McKinnat's got a great assistance from Harry Brown who rolled a fine 554 and Frank Robbins, Wallace Wooten and Jeff Robbins added good efforts to enable them to capture one game for their efforts.

The Spoilers went into Tuesday nights fray with just three men and came out on top, winning four games against a five man Quillen's Market team. Leonard Outten who rolled a great 539 series and 202 game, and Bruce Harrington hit a fine 221 game with Jack Sapp adding a fine effort for the Spoilers to accomplish this unusual feat. Earl Quillen rolled well for Quillen's.

Jarrell Fuel and Honey Dippers battled to a two-two stalemate as Harold Melvin hit a fine 550 series for the fuelers and George, Elliott rolled a great 203 game, with Donald Draper adding a good effort for the Honey Dippers to equal the output of their opposition.

Norman Clough and Frank Collins (525) rolled 211 games and Cloyd Bushy added a good 520 series, effort to aid People's Restaurant in winning three games. Ron Wright and Larry Larimore rolled well for Butler's Fuel though they were only able to capture one game from Peoples.

Fry's American dropped the first game of their contest with Gallo & Stevenson, but came on strong to take the remaining three games. Jerry Hayman and Don Jester bowled very well for Fry's and Snooky Gallo rolled well for the construction boys.

Ken Layton rolled a fine 203 game and 549 series and Paul Baker added a 525 effort with Bill Willoughby adding a good effort as Penn Central split four games down the middle with T & M Rejects. Bill Shockley, Ray Wright and Leroy Betts bowled well for the Rejects.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

From my Growing Grandson
TOM

When I go to Grandma's house
 My appetite goes too—
 She always has so many things
 On which I like to chew.

There's Hershey chocolates in a jar
 And cookies on a shelf —
 The nicest thing about Grandma is;
 She let's me help myself.

Leah S. Wheeler

Joe Green paced McKnatt Funeral Home to a clean sweep over Quillen's Market with a great series including a fine 204 game, and Donald McKnatt added a fine 201 game as all the team members put out above average efforts. Quillen's Market could not get started as they failed to hit the win column in the first week of the second third.

Sharing the spotlight at the top of the heap is People's Restaurant after their trouncing of the T & M Rejects in Tuesday night's fray. Cloyd Bushey amassed a grand 569 series and Bill Manship rolled a fine 202 game along with a full team effort to put People's up in front with a clean slate. The Rejects, who ended the first third in the cellar, must now work out of that same spit in this third. Bob Wilson, Ray Wright and Oscar Bishop rolled well for the Rejects in defeat.

Jack Sapp bowled superbly well for the Spoilers as they won three games from Taylor & Messick. Jack's great 539 series with games of 201 and 219 combined with a good effort from Billy Morris spearheaded the Spoilers attack. Helping to offset complete defeat for Taylor & Messick was a superb showing by George Collins as he amassed a 590 series and a great 215 game.

Putting together a complete team effort, Robbins Hardware bested Gallo & Stevenson in three games to start off in fine position in this second third. Wallace Wooten provided the Hardware team with a lot of extra power, and John McCloskey and Ken Garey rolled very well for the construction team, enabling them to salvage one game.

The Honey Dippers, who had been bowling very strong got off to a dismal start on a three game shellacking by Wally's Garage. Pacing the garage quintet was James Shultie who hit a great 200 game and a real fine series and Larry Breeding added a very fine 209 game and 522 set along with a real good effort from Norman Woodall. Bob Annette and Don Draper rolled very well for the Honey Dippers, enabling them to salvage one game.

Miss Becky Messick is attending the 4-H congress in Chicago this week.

Penn Central came on strong Tuesday night to set back a usually very strong Jarrell Fuel quintet as the Railroaders put together a complete team effort to win three games from their opponents. Ray Baker added the extra scoring power Penn Central needed for victory. Dallas Hayman bowled a great 552 series effort, enabling the fuelers to get one game to their credit.

Larry Larimore, Robert Wright and Dick Collins gave Butler's Fuel the added incentive they needed to turn back any challenge Fry's African offered to take three games from their adversary. John Forbes helped considerably in enabling Fry's to pull out one game to keep from total defeat.

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne Halberton

Let's all be jolly this December when holidays will call for feasting and festivities. Many good foods will be plentiful, including a well-rounded assortment of those that are appropriate for the seasonal needs.

Poultry will continue to be one of the more economical protein choices. Broiler marketing during the month will be abundant so that these tender birds will be inexpensive. Turkeys will also be a thrifty meat selection with the number of large flocks more numerous than last year. Egg receipts, too, should top last December by a small margin. Prices on the medium sized egg will continue to be very reasonable. This is welcome news for those of you who do a lot of holiday baking.

Even though the supplies of pork are now very plentiful and prices somewhat lower than a month ago this ease in prices is only temporary. The longer outlook is for less pork to be marketed and prices will, of course, go up. Signs of this strengthening are now beginning to show up at wholesale levels and will soon reach us. After the first of the year prices will go up even faster as it looks now.

Beef supplies continue to be ample with prices firm and this is the way it is expected to remain during this last month of 1971. Veal is scarce and high in price. Marketings of lamb and mutton have been larger than expected, but this will not continue. The lamb crop is down from last year so this meat will be higher in prices as availability decreases.

The new citrus season is here and during the month plenty of oranges, grapefruit and tangerines will arrive at local stores. The crop is expected to be smaller than last year's but large enough (unless the weather turns bad) for all of us to have plenty of each fruit. Apples, bananas, avocados, cranberries and pears are other good choices. The Bartlett pear is over, but excellent winter pears are filling the gap. About 40 percent more Pacific Coast winter pears have been harvested than last year and that should make favorable prices.

Among the vegetables for December, potatoes will be the lower cost staple as the large crop continues to move to market. Cabbage, onions, winter squash, sweet potatoes, mushroom, turnips and rutabagas round off the list of good choices for the month.

Veteran's Administration News

Q—My husband, a World War II veteran, passed away recently. Is he eligible for a headstone?

A—Yes. Any deceased veteran of wartime or peacetime service whose last period of service was terminated honorably is eligible for this benefit.

Q—I draw VA compensation, and would like to know whether I can have payments on my VA insurance loan deducted from this compensation?

A—Yes. If you wish to use this method of repaying your insurance loan, get VA Form 29-388 from your nearest VA office, complete it, and forward it to the VA office to which you pay your insurance premiums.

Q—I am a Vietnam veteran interested in training under the G.I. Bill, but am not sure what courses I should take. Can VA assist me?

A—Yes. If you are eligible for training under the G.I. Bill, you may receive vocational counseling, without cost, at your nearest VA office. A counselor will help you to better understand your interests, aptitudes, and abilities, and provide information on occupations you might want to consider.

Mrs. Maude Strickland Kelso, 99, formerly of Wilmington, died Saturday at the Country Rest Home, Greenwood, where she has been a guest for several years.

Mrs. Kelso was born in Lyme Regis, England. She came to the United States with her family in 1880.

She was preceded in death by her husband the Rev. Hugh B. Kelso, in 1950.

Mrs. Kelso remained active in St. Paul's United Methodist Church until she was 90.

Surviving are two sons, Hugh Strickland Kelson, Lincoln and Robert Paul Kelso, Wilmington; two daughters, Miss Mary Kelso and Mrs. Louis Dennis both of Wilmington; a sister, Mrs. Bertha S. Birch, Lincoln; a brother, Percy E. Strickland, Richardson Park; six grandchildren, and 18 great-grandchildren.

Services were held Tuesday afternoon at St. Paul's Methodist Church, 1314 Foulk Road, Wilmington. Interment followed at Chester Bethel Cemetery, 2615 Foulk Road. Friends called Monday night at the McCrery Memorial Funeral Home, 3924 Concord Pike, Talleyville.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests contributions to the Leprosy Mission, Wilmington Auxiliary, P. O. Box 52, Wilmington.

Veterans News

Q—What is the largest loan the Veterans Administration will guarantee for a mobile home?

A—For purchase of a mobile home only, $10,000 to be repaid over 12 years and 32 days.

Q—I am a World War II veteran who filed for VA pension and was told to submit a medical report of my disabilities. I don't have a doctor and can't afford to pay for a physical examination. What should I do?

A—Notify the VA office handling your claim of your circumstances. Describe your disabilities as best you can, making it clear that you are unable to pay for an examination. It may be possible to arrange for a VA clinic to examine you for your pension claim.

Q—Is it true that pensioners over 72 years old can no longer have to file annual income questionnaires with VA?

A—Yes. A recent law exempts 72 year old and older pensioners and dependent parents drawing dependency and indemnity compensation during two consecutive years from filing these questionnaires. However, they still must report changes in income.

Q—Will the recent Social Security increase affect VA pension and dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) payments to dependent parents?

A—For these on VA rolls on the date of approval of the Social Security increases, pension or DIC will not be reduced or discontinued, until Jan. 1.

Q—I am a Vietnam veteran interested in training under the G.I. Bill, but am not sure what courses to take.

KENT COUNTY COMMENTS

by JOSHUA M. TWILLEY
Levy Court President

One of the important decisions now before the Levy Court is the adoption of a permanent zoning ordinance. The Interim Zoning Code expires on Feb. 1, and the new code will replace it.

The Levy Court is holding a public hearing on the proposed ordinance Dec. 14 at the William Henry Middle School. After that date the ordinance will be on the Levy Court agenda for debate and decision.

In the meantime the County Planning Director has conducted two lengthy workshop sessions with the Levy Court commissioners to explain the ordinance and answer questions.

The basic difference between the interim ordinance and the new ordinance is in details. The new ordinance will divide the county into more zoning categories, for example, at the present time there is only one category of residential. Under the new ordinance there will be single family residential, mobile home park residential and rural residential. Part of the county is identified as a conservation agricultural district, in this area residential development will be discouraged. Generally speaking residential development on 1/2 acre lots will be permitted without zoning changes in the western part of the county, larger lots will be required in the eastern part.

At the conclusion of the last workshop the Levy Court commissioners requested the Zoning Commission to change the proposed zoning ordinance by reducing the minimum size of rural residential in the Eastern section of the county from two acres to one acre and to make special provisions to protect the coastal zone and the flight approach pattern of the Dover Air Force Base. Interested public citizens are invited to study the proposed ordinance and make further recommendations.

Del. Turf Conference Set

Dr. James Nixon, physician for the Philadelphia Eagles football team, will be a featured speaker at the annual Delaware turfgrass conference held Dec. 7.

Nixon, who is also head of the orthopedic section at the Philadelphia Veteran's Hospital, will discuss safety on the football field. He will include types of injuries that can occur and possible ways to reduce accident frequency. Nixon will comment on synthetic turf as well as natural grass for use on playing fields.

The turfgrass conference will be held in agricultural hall at the University of Delaware. Registration begins at 8:30 the morning of Dec. 7; the program is open to the public.

Dr. Joseph Duich, turfgrass researcher at Penn State University, will talk to conference participants about the development and use of new bluegrass varieties. He was involved in the development of such turf grasses as Merion, Kentucky bluegrass, pennine and pennstar Kentucky bluegrass.

The day-long program will include a tour of turf and ornamental research projects at the University of Delaware. An evening banquet closes the day at the Cavalier's Country Club. Banquet speaker will be Everitt Miller, assistant director at Longwood Gardens.

The conference is sponsored by the Delaware Turfgrass Association and the Cooperative Extension Service at the University of Delaware. Dr. William Mitchell, university turf specialist, is in charge of arrangements.

Advent was welcomed Sunday with special services at Woodside United Methodist Church, also Whatcoat-Camden Church. There was a service of carols and the Hanging of the Greens at 7 p.m. Terry Gallo, UMYF president and Wayne Grier, student minister of Woodside were the readers.

Surprise! That's what happened to Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Jester when they pulled in with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Dill Saturday night to Billy and Marsha's home. There was a surprise party for approximately 30 friends and neighbors and a good time was had by all. Looking back, Elwood and Mary were married at the Felton parsonage Nov. 27, 1931. The Rev. Henry Caldwell officiated.

Sunday's Child, with guitars and harmonizing voices attended the youth meeting at Asbury Church Saturday night and Sunday they sang at Wesley Church in Georgetown in the evening.

The traditional turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served at Manship United Methodist Church hall on Thanksgiving Day. More than 700 persons were served. The people cooking and serving may have been a little tired at the end of the day, but it's a satisfying experience to have the day of Thanksgiving celebrated in this manner.

Rev. Robert Appling will sing at the Sunday service of the Felton charge. He is bringing with him some others comprising a gospel singing group.

Viola WSCS will have its Christmas meeting Dec. 7 with exchange of gifts at the home of Mrs. Gardner Kersey.

The Willing Workers are attempting a progressive dinner this year to start their Christmas celebration. They start with an appetizer at the Dale Hammonds, then proceed to the Dills for a salad. The entree will be at the Reed Hughes, with dessert at the Sherwood and exchange of gifts.

Early Christmas Scheduling

Christmas comes but once a year — and those once-a-year chores come with it.

Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware, suggests preparing your home and yourself for the holidays at a leisurely pace. Don't be caught up in a last-minute crash program that will leave you limp and unable to enjoy the festivities.

Why not start your early organization with a list? It needn't be too detailed. Put down everything you'll need to do, along with the date it should be completed. Be realistic though, Miss Morris warns. And allow yourself enough time to do the job well.

Do any special jobs early. Polish the silverware; get out your pretty holiday dishes and platters, wine glasses and crystal goblets and give them a good sudsing. Even in the best of households, they've probably collected some dust since last year's festivities.

Don't forget your linen closet. Check the holiday towel supply. Your holly-sprigged guest towels and dish towels are probably a little dull and dusty after a year's storage. Toss them into the washer to freshen them up. Terry cloth items need only to be folded when dry; however, allow time to iron your linen towels while they're still damp.

You may be having overnight guests during the holidays — possibly even unexpected guests—so be ready! Make sure the sheet and pillowcase situation is well in hand. Weed out torn, frayed linens. Those that have seen better days make fine dusting and polishing cloths, so save them for that purpose.

Now look over tablecloths and napkins. They were probably laundered before being put away last year, but another quick sudsing will bring out their beauty. It's not a bad idea to stock up on extra napkins in red or green to harmonize with holiday prints.

Remember, your home itself will be the background for all the holiday sparkle. If it isn't immaculate, the tinsely glitter is dulled. Look your house over with a critical eye. Check those little things you've been neglecting unintentionally.

The key word to a successful season is "early," says Miss Morris. Cook early, clean early, decorate early, and by all means, shop early.

This not only means early in the season, but also early in the day, she adds. The stores are less crowded, you'll be less tired, and you won't be too hurried to make the special effort to be sure you're getting what you want.

Leave the children at home when you have a heavy shopping schedule. If they want to shop or look at Christmas decorations in stores, make a few special trips just for them.

Credit shopping has become increasingly easy, Miss Morris comments, and it is also more expensive. Even with credit, plan your spending. Remember that 1972 follows the holidays, so don't let extra payments and bills make it an unhappy new year.

You'll especially want to shop early if you're counting on mail order houses to play Santa Claus this year, Miss Morris advises. The disappointments of substitutions, out-of-stock notices and delays from back orders can be avoided if you send your order early.

Besides, ordering several weeks in advance of Christmas gives you time to return any unsatisfactory merchandise and make another gift selection. The earlier you order, the more likely you are to miss the delay caused by heavy Christmas mail.

Don't forget your Christmas letters — write early this year. Then you can take time to write a meaningful note, instead of the hurried account of your activities so typical of Christmas letters.

Take care of these things before those last few hectic days; then you'll be able to enjoy Christmas with the serene spirit this holiday deserves.

PARENTS FACE ARREST FOR BIKE VIOLATIONS

Delaware's two top law enforcement officials last Thursday announced that beginning Dec. 1, they'll arrest parents of youths violating the state's bicycle laws.

Public Safety Secretary Fred Vetter Jr. and Col. George Bundek, superintendent of State Police, announced the new policy as part of a plan to try to cut down on bicycle accidents which this year have claimed six lives.

At a joint press conference Vetter and Bundek announced that between now and Dec. 1, State Police will continue the present policy of giving reprimands to all children riding bikes in violation of the law.

After that day, State Police will arrest violators from 16-18 years old. Riders under age will be warned and their parents arrested.

Under Delaware law, the parents are liable for a fine from $10 to $100 or a jail term of 10 to 30 days for a first offense. Subsequent offenses carry stiffer penalties.

Mrs. Gillis Brittingham

Mrs. Anna Brittingham, 83, of Felton, died Saturday in the State Home at Smyrna after a long illness.

She was a member of the Felton United Methodist Church. Her husband, Gillis Brittingham died in 1966.

She is survived by three sons, Clayton of Wilmington and Clark and William, both of Felton; four daughters, Mrs. Ruth Harper of Greensboro, Md.; Mrs. Pearl Woodruff of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Mrs. Thelma Brodey of Miami Lakes, Fla., and Mrs. Doris Degnats of Felton; 18 grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren.

Services were held yesterday afternoon at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton. Interment was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery, Frederica.

Vetter said a "senseless accident" on U.S. 13 near Farmington Nov. 11 which claimed the life of two teenage boys "tragically brought home to us that something has to be done, and done immediately, to stop this needless slaughter of youths on bikes."

In cooperation with the State Department of Public Instruction, Vetter said, teachers throughout the state will take time, as part of the regular curriculum, to teach bicycle traffic safety.

Bundek urged all parents to assure that their children's bikes are properly equipped with rear reflectors, headlights, operable brakes and a horn or bell.

He also urged that parents learn and teach the proper use of hand signals and the rules of the road to help protect their children.

Tax Management Can Save Money

Tax management, like soil management and credit management, is an essential part of profit planning for farmers.

Federal income tax laws provide taxpayers with some freedom to manage their income and expenses in such a way as will minimize the tax burden. But it is up to the individual farmer to make these tax management opportunities pay off.

Start early with a preliminary check of taxable income to be reported, recommends W. T. McAllister, University of Delaware agricultural extension economist. He says he is sure to include capital gains or loss, income from off-farm employment and projected income and expenses for the remainder of the year. Out of net income, subtract all deductions and exemptions and compare taxable income with that of recent years. If it is substantially different from past years, you may want to take some action before the end of the year to adjust it—up or down.

One way farmers can affect taxable income is to shift income or expenses from one year to the next. For example, if you want to reduce taxable income, buy some of next year's supplies in 1971 or wait until 1972 to sell a crop. On the other hand, if you want to increase income, delay paying some of this year's expenses until January, sell a crop in storage, or take a capital gain before the end of the year.

Before adjusting this year's tax, consider what effect such action will have on 1972 taxes, cautions McAllister. Always be sure tax savings are greater than the added costs. Tax management is only one part of total farm business management. The costs involved in adjusting income can easily outweigh the tax benefits. Interest, storage, cost of extra handling, price risks and loss of a good market that may result from attempts to even out income for tax purposes should be considered.

McAllister reminds farmers that good records of income, expenses, social security, capital expenditures, sales and a depreciation schedule are essential if an accurate tax report is to be filed.

If you do not have the time or the knowledge about tax matters to fill out an accurate report, get the assistance of a person trained in tax reporting. The services of a tax expert are essential if you have had major capital gains or windfall profits during the tax year.

Rev. Kunz, Jr., Assumes Position With Episcopal Diocese Of Del.

The Rev. Carl N. Kunz, Jr., will assume the position of executive officer of the Episcopal Diocese of Delaware Jan. 3. The news was made Fri., Nov. 19 by the Rt. Rev. William H. Mead, Bishop of Delaware.

According to Bishop Mead, Mr. Kunz in assuming many of the administrative duties and responsibilities formerly carried by the bishop, will, in fact, become the chief executive officer of the Episcopal Diocese of Delaware.

Mr. Kunz has been rector of St. Anne's, Middletown, since August 1, 1967. Before coming to Delaware Mr. Kunz was associate rector of St. Paul's Newburyport, Mass., from 1963-67 and curate of Old St. David's Radnor, in Wayne, Pa., from 1961-63. Kunz is a graduate of Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge Mass. He was ordained in the Diocese of Pennsylvania to the Diaconate in 1961 at Old St. Peter's Philadelphia and to the priesthood in 1962 at Old St. David's.

He attended St. Peter's Choir School, William Penn Charter School, Germantown and Haverford College. Kunz and his wife, the former Carol Hegingthom of Philadelphia and their two children, Katherine Gretchen, 8, and Carl N., III, 4 1/2 will live in Brookside.

Edwin F. Cassons

Edwin F. Cassons, 74, of Viola, died Sunday in Kent General Hospital, Dover, after a short illness.

A retired electrician, Mr. Cassons was a member of the Church of God, Dover.

His wife, Mrs. Edna S. Cassons, died in 1969. He is survived by a son, Robert L. Cassons, of Dover, and four grandchildren.

Services were held yesterday morning at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton. Interment was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery, Frederica.

James E. Peterson

James E. (Tody) Peterson, 81, of 318 Carlisle Lane, Milford, died Sunday at Messick Nursing Home, Harrington after a long illness.

A lifelong resident of Milford, Mr. Peterson was a retired waterman. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lillie M. Peterson, Milford; one son, James E. Peterson Jr., of Marcus Hook, Pa.; four daughters, Mrs. Florence Vernotico of Middletown, and Mrs. Pearl Fisher, Mrs. Salley Stratton and Mrs. Lillie Helmick, all of Milford; a brother, George of Denton, Md.; 14 grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Services were held yesterday afternoon at Berry Funeral Home, Milford. Interment was in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford.

A mercury vapor lamp produces about three times as much light as in incandescent lamp of the same wattage, and it can operate without replacement for about four years.

A 175-watt mercury lamp generally doesn't cost over $1 a month for electricity. The cheap operation of this lamp makes it practical to light outdoor areas, especially on farmsteads where there are no other lights around. It serves as a deterrent against thieves and prowling animals who usually avoid well-lit areas.

The lamp should be placed in the center of the area you wish to light. According to Fred Crawford, University of Missouri Engineer, a 175-watt lamp should be placed twenty feet above the ground and a 400-watt lamp should be placed at twenty-five feet.

Most lamps are mounted on poles. If you decide to mount one on a building, avoid putting it against a dark-colored surface, as dark backgrounds absorb the light.

Here are some ways to avoid winter injury to your alfalfa crop. The most important step at this time is to stop cutting or grazing your alfalfa any more this year. In some areas where heaving is not a problem, you might risk an after-dormancy cut in an emergency, but you are taking a chance of decreasing the stand.

By leaving some growth in the field through the winter, it helps to insulate the soil and reduces the frequency of freezing and thawing that takes place in late winter and early spring. It is this freezing and thawing that causes soil to heave and either up-

If you're asking Santa for a sewing machine, be sure he knows exactly what you want. A bewildering number of models are available.

A sewing machine should pay for itself by family clothing savings in two or three years. If simple garments and mending may be your only use of the machine why buy the most expensive model?

A straight stitch machine is amazingly versatile. If you really learn to use the attachments including the buttonhole maker, it will do almost everything most seamstresses want.

The zig-zag machine is available in many styles. Before you select the most expensive model, ask yourself how much you will really use all of these fancy stitches. Many experienced seamstresses find that the zig-zag stitch is the one most frequently used. You can buy machines with only this feature.

Some portables are light enough for easy handling. However, some machines that are called portables are actually the same models that come with cabinets. They can be heavy if you need to move them around.

If you buy a cabinet model, you are buying a piece of furniture as well as a machine. How much extra is the cabinet costing? Is it worth this much to you? Maybe you can build a special sewing cabinet for less money—or have one built for you.

Regardless of the model you like best, buy a good brand from a reputable dealer. A clear statement of warranty and service available should be obtained.

A free home trial is helpful. You can test the machine at your own speed, with your own needs in mind. Check the performance of the machine plus the comfort and ease with which it sews and changes operations.

Ask for demonstrations of several models. Then, take time for your decision—consider cost, your needs and machine performance. Be sure to check on light position, ease of threading, bobbin accessibility, ease of changing tensions, ease of stitching different types of fabrics with minimum guidance, amount of noise when stitching and the ease of using attachments.

roots the plants or snaps off the roots in the soil.

This mulch will also protect the plant crowns from cold drying winds if the fields should lack snow cover. The length of time water remains on poorly drained soils is of great importance when trying to reduce heaving. Wet soils are more subject to heaving because of the excessibility of water. Alfalfa plants that have been covered by water for a few days will weaken and be more easily heaved than strong plants.

We have had many questions concerning the feeding of moldy grain to livestock. There is really no useful test for determining if a moldy feed is safe to use.

The great majority of molds appear to be harmless to animals, but there is always the chance that some could cause serious problems if fed to livestock.

Mold in hay sometimes makes it unpalatable, causing animals to eat less and fall behind in production. Feeding grain with hay can help prevent this drop in production.

Several of the Harrington Sunshine 4-H Club members attended the Kent County Achievement Banquet held at Caesar Rodney High School Oct. 30 at which time our club received second place in the Silver Cup Award.

Sunshine 4-H members receiving county medals at the banquet are as follows: Roddy Donovan, archaeology and woodworking; Jerrie Draper, bicycle; Gene Gallo, gardening, electric and poultry; Susan Holloway, breads; Donna Shultie, dress revue and health; Billy Winkler, beef; Terry Gallo, citizenship, clothing, achievement, foods and nutrition, leadership, safety and dress revue. Terry Gallo was also named as a state winner and will be attending National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

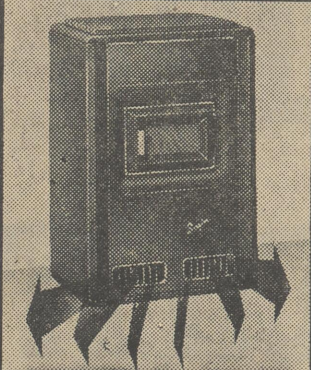

We had four outstanding first year members, two receiving ribbons and two receiving trophies. Karen Butler and Randy Sullivan received trophies. Debbie Winebrenner and Linda Morgan received ribbons.

Irrigation—Does It Pay With Corn?

With the growing interest among many Delaware farmers in irrigation systems, the question arises, "Will irrigating corn pay?"

In many instances, corn growers can obtain higher yields and profits with irrigation, reveal University of Delaware extension specialists.

Delaware cornfields have reached a "hilly plateau," says Dr. William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist. Yields continue to fluctuate widely but show evidence of leveling off at around 75 bushels per acre.

The basic problem is lack of water-holding capacity in the sandy soils, he explains. Although total rainfall is often adequate in Delaware for good corn yields, timing of this rainfall is critical, since lighter soils retain only a small amount of available moisture.

Tests conducted in Kent and Sussex counties have shown that on light, sandy soils with a low moisture-holding capacity, corn yields can be increased more than 80 bushels per acre by irrigating at critical periods.

Farmers should put together a complete production program geared to a high level of production before irrigation into their operation, however.

Yields would have to be increased 30-35 bushels per acre to cover the added costs of irrigation, explains W. T. McAllister, agricultural economist.

But without the devastating effects of drought, he says farmers can use more fertilizers, more plants and seed and increased labor, power and other production inputs for maximum yields. Irrigation can be viewed as a method for increasing the size of a farm operation — using more inputs and getting extra production per unit from fixed resources of labor, land and machinery.

Sphagnum Moss Gardeners Friend

Sphagnum moss. Indians and Russian peasants used it to heal sores; modern gardeners use it to protect seedlings plants from disease.

But what makes it work? The Indians thought the moss "drew out" or absorbed the bad blood; until recently, plant experts believed the moss was simply a sterile soil substitute.

The true story is far more interesting, according to Dr. Myron Sasser, plant pathologist, and Loo Polites, graduate student, both in the College of Agricultural Sciences at the University of Delaware.

Actually, sphagnum moss contains bacteria that produce a very powerful antibiotic, according to Polites. In nature, the moss, which grows in wetlands or bogs, is protected from plant disease by the bacterial action.

As far as is now known, mosses are the only plants which live in such close union with bacteria. And, the university pathologists say sphagnum moss is the only reported case of a plant living in close association with bacteria which produce an antibiotic.

Of course, this antibiotic is responsible for any curative powers or plant protection. Apparently it's effective against many fungus and bacteria that cause plant diseases.

The bacteria are present in large numbers. Polites says. Approximately one tablespoon of moss would contain one-half million bacteria.

The bacteria remain alive even if the moss is dried out. Add a little water and they start building up. Only extreme heat or sterilization will kill them.

The antibiotic may not heal plants already infected, but it prevents diseases from spreading to other plants.

Nurserymen have long used sphagnum moss as a soil substitute when they plant seeds or transplant young plants. Home gardeners could also use it effectively, Polites believes. "Nothing else prevents damping off diseases better."

To use for planting, Polites suggests a half-inch layer of wet moss on top of the soil mixture. Put seed on the moss layer and cover with more sphagnum moss.

Also, you can substitute the sphagnum for peat moss in potting soil mixtures for house plants. The sphagnum is particularly valuable if you use garden soil for part of the mixture since the dirt often contains disease organisms.

Another use — wrap cuttings in wet sphagnum moss if you want to keep cuttings for awhile before you plant. Keep them cold. The cuttings won't grow — won't dry out — and won't rot.

Sphagnum moss can protect plants in many ways in today's gardens. Now that university researchers know how it works, they'll be able to find new uses and improve its efficiency.

Getting Machinery Replacements Parts

When your corn picker or combine — or any farm machine — breaks down, you want it fixed immediately. If not sooner.

For sure, you don't need a delay in getting replacement parts. And, you can help prevent such delays, according to Thomas H. Williams, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware.

Make sure the dealer knows you face an emergency, he says. Then he will order parts he doesn't stock by phone rather than by mail.

In most cases, the required parts are at the depot or can be ordered by Telex from another depot and shipped by air. Since air express takes priority over air freight, a real emergency can make it worthwhile to pay the extra charges.

Also tell him you're prepared to pay for a telephone call and premium transportation charges. The more the dealer knows about the problem, the better the service he can give you. Also, he'll be able to get better service for you at the parts depot. For fast delivery, obviously the dealer must have the correct model and part number. One wrong figure in the number means a different part. So, be certain you've copied numbers correctly and be sure he understands you correctly.

Some parts depots note that 30 to 35 percent of their parts orders during the production season fall in the emergency bracket. All companies now have telecommunication branches and parent company. If an order is not in stock at one parts depot, your dealer can find out if it is available in other centers. He can then determine which location has the fastest and/or cheapest way of shipping it.

In an emergency, don't take it for granted that the dealer understands the details, says Williams. Instead, give him the necessary information and be prepared to pay the extra charges. He can then give you better service.

George W. Graham

George W. Graham, 71, of Milford, died Wed., Nov. 24, at Milford Memorial Hospital after a short illness.

A native of Delaware, Mr. Graham was a state forestry division warden at the Ellendale Fire Tower, Ellendale.

He was a member of the Slaughter Beach Volunteer Fire Company.

Surviving are his wife, Anna M., at home; two sons, George B. of Lincoln and Kenneth R. of Seaford; four daughters, Mrs. Helen Mae Gehrmann of Williamsport, Pa., Mrs. Mary E. Zimmer of Fargo, N.D., Mrs. Shirley Ann Grant and Mrs. Alice C. McBroom, both of Milford.

Also surviving are two brothers, Edward F. of Dover and Elmer of Stuart, Fla., a sister, Mrs. Alice Thompson of Dover; 11 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Services were held Sunday afternoon at the Berry Funeral Home, Milford. Interment was in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Camden.

Holiday Fruitcakes

If you'd like to add homemade fruitcake to your Christmas tradition, remember "early baking" is the key to delicious fruitcake. Miss Marguerite Krackhardt, extension foods and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware, suggests that you make your fruitcake well ahead of the holidays so it will have time to develop its fullest and succulent flavor. You may want to soak the fruitcake in brandy or wine—and you'll need time for soaking and mellowing.

Today, most candied fruits are available already chopped, eliminating much of the tiresome work of making a fruitcake. Miss Krackhardt says, "For fruits which still require cutting—dates for instance—have a cup of warm water handy. Use kitchen shears to cut dates, dipping the blades in warm water occasionally to prevent sticking. If you're baking a number of cakes, try combining fruit, spices and liquid a day ahead and refrigerating. That can take pressure off baking day and also help fruit flavors mingle and mellow.

Grease baking pans well, then line with heavy paper such as brown wrapping paper or waxed paper. Grease and flour well. The paper should extend up along the sides to protect cake edges from overbaking. You may want to cover the cake with brown paper or aluminum foil when it begins to brown.

Long baking at low temperature is the secret of preventing burning and cracking. Bake fruitcake at 275-300 degrees F. A one-pound cake should bake 2 to 2 1/2 hours; 2 pounds, 3 1/2 hours; and 3 pounds about 4 hours. To keep cakes moist while baking, place a shallow pan of water on the lowest rack of the oven, Miss Krackhardt adds.

Experiment with containers in different shapes and sizes for individual fruitcakes, she says. Try muffin pans, metal juice cans or petite loaf pans. If you bake the fruitcake in a tube pan, you can surround it with evergreens for a table centerpiece.

Let your cake cool 24 hours before storing. Wrap in waxed paper or aluminum foil and place in an air-tight container in a cool, dark place.

Glazing does not improve with age, and nuts and fruits used for decoration tend to discolor. Hold these individual touches until just before serving or giving. Nuts with glazing, dip decorations with glazing, dip decorations in egg white and press onto the cake.

For perfect slicing, always refrigerate fruit cake. Use a sharp, straight-edged, thin-bladed knife. Dip the knife into hot water before each cut and slice thinly with a slow sawing motion. Use a light touch for crumble-free slices.

If you freeze your fruitcake, be sure it's completely thawed before you unwrap it. If it's wrapped properly, it will keep in the freezer for a year.

Aluminum foil serves the double purpose of protecting food as well as making an attractive gift wrapping, so wrap your finished product or giving it gay colored foil and—for that extra touch—tie it with a festive ribbon and a sprig of holly or pine.

Del. 4-H'er Wins National Honor

An 18-year-old Rehoboth girl, who sees her future in the field of animal science, has earned a $700 national educational scholarship for her 4-H horse project. J. Robin Burton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Burton, Bay Road, has been named one of six national recipients of scholarships donated by Merek & Co., Inc., during the 50th national 4-H congress Nov. 28-Dec. 2, in Chicago.

Three other Delaware 4-Hers were named alternate winners of scholarships in the national awards program. Priscilla Sweitzer, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Sweitzer, New Castle, was named the first alternate winner in the home improvement awards program.

Terry Gallo, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Gallo, Harrington, was named the second alternate winner in the clothing awards program; and Beverly Jarmon, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kline Jarmon, Hartly, was named the fourth alternate winner in the bread awards program.

Miss Burton was selected from a field of 50 state winners by the Cooperative Extension Service in the annual awards program arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee.

The Delaware 4-H'er has spent four years caring for, training her horses, especially a colt named Khaled, which she bought in 1968.

The winner gelded Khaled, taught him voice commands, manners and respect and worked him with the lunge line until 1970, when she was the first to ride him.

Each horse, she says, has a unique personality or "spirit" adding: "You must adjust to your horse's moods without getting emotional yourself. Horses can sense your attitude or mood just as you can foretell theirs."

Riding both in western and English styles, Miss Burton has entered numerous horse shows and won a host of ribbons. She has made her own English bridle and an Arabian costume with flowing robes for shows. Judging, demonstrations and research into Arabian horses have rounded out her 4-H project.

A freshman at the University of Delaware majoring in animal science, Miss Burton still finds time to maintain her avid interest in horses. "I have always leaned toward horses," she says, "but 4-H tipped my hat."

The winner has completed 4-H projects in veterinary science, home economics and junior leadership. She also has served her club as president and has taken an active role in church and schaal activities.

Miss Burton notes that she is the only member of the Arabian Horse Association under 21 years of age.

Christmas Plants For The Home

A beautiful flowering plant is both a joy to give and a delight to receive at Christmas. If you're considering a house plant gift, consider such plants as philodendron, African violet, Christmas cactus or even a potted azalea or camellia, suggests David Tatnall, New Castle county extension garden specialist at the University of Delaware.

Other plants popular for indoor landscaping particularly during the holiday season, are poinsettia, Jerusalem cherry, Christmas pepper and chrysanthemum.

You can easily make an attractive package from a house plant or tree. Just wrap the base of the plant with Christmas paper and tie with a bright colored bow.

The plant should be healthy, well-shaped and suitable sized. Flowers should be plentiful, but just beginning to open. Look for foliage that is clean, has good color and is free of pests.

Choose the type or variety of plant that you feel will flower most dependably in its future home, Tatnall suggests. A location that has suitable temperature, humidity and light and proper care will greatly lengthen the blooming period.

Your choice may depend on whether the plant is to be discarded after flowering or kept indefinitely. However, few Christmas plants make satisfactory house or garden plants after they have flowered.

Christmas plants, of course, have been grown under ideal conditions in greenhouses. Although you can't provide these growing conditions in an average home, Tatnall says, you can supply certain basic needs to the plant. If you meet these needs, you will be able to enjoy your plant for a longer time.

If you buy a gift plant that you'll take with you, be sure to protect the plant from rough handling and possible chilling on the way home.

Tatnall has prepared a publication giving guidelines for care of Christmas plants. For your copy, write to the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark 19711.

Greenwood Wesleyan Church: Would you like to take a trip to Palestine on our Bible jet? Each Sunday evening in our 7 o'clock youth service, we are visiting the different Bible cities and points of interest, discussing the events that occurred in each place and showing pictures that make them "come alive." These places are traced on the map and we even learn to draw a map of Palestine blindfolded.

Some day when you are privileged to take that long-coveted trip, you will feel you are well prepared and already well acquainted with the land of the Bible.

Mrs. Lena Barwick entertained to Thanksgiving dinner Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barwick and family of Newark and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Allen.

Mrs. Lena Barwick visited with three of her retired teachers, Mrs. Harriet Graves of Georgetown, Mrs. Mae Kelley of Millsboro and Sarah Baker of Millsboro when they met for luncheon in Dover.

The Rev. and Mrs. Floyd Banker of Brookville, Fla., have been house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Speicher for the past week. The Rev. and Mrs. Banker will be going on a world tour after the first of the year.
