

Thomas H. Draper To Manage Gov. Peterson's Re-election Campaign

Thomas H. Draper of Milford has been named to manage Governor Russell W. Peterson's campaign for re-election.

Draper's appointment was announced at a news conference held last Tuesday at 231 South State Street, Dover, which he said will serve as campaign headquarters.

In a written statement, Governor Peterson said that "while I will not start active campaigning until after the Republican State Convention, there is obviously much preparatory work to do. Tom will be heading up that effort as well as the post-convention campaign."

The governor's statement was read by his executive assistant, Jerry Sapientza.

"As you know," the governor said, "Tom has been working for me as a volunteer for a number of weeks. He is a former Republican committeeman and served as a campaign manager for Senator Frank Grier in 1966 and was Sussex County Coordinator for Pete duPont in 1970. I am very pleased that he has agreed to take on this assignment."

Draper said that "I have accepted this job because I think Russ Peterson has done a great job as governor. There's no question in my mind that he will be re-elected in November."

He said the campaign headquarters offices will be open "at least five days a week, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Our telephone number is 678-2202. We will, of course, eventually be opening other headquarters and will keep you informed."

Draper, a member and past president of the Greater Milford Chamber of Commerce, received its Man of the Year Award in 1970. He is the owner of WTHD Radio Station in Milford.

A graduate of Milford High School and Mount Hermon School in Massachusetts, Draper has an A.B. Degree in political Science from Brown University in Providence, R.I. He is a member of the Brown University Athletic Hall of Fame and was named to the All Ivy and All American Lacrosse Team in 1964.

He is married to the former Rachel Grier, and they live with their two children, Mariah and Molly, at 16 Clark Avenue, Milford.

Here I sit waiting for the Harrington Volunteer Firemen to save me. Sorry folks it was just a practice exercise for the firemen on the Franklin Hendricks property last week.

Ticks Active In Delaware

Ticks are now active in many parts of Delaware and will continue to be a problem until mid-summer, according to Frank Boys, extension entomologist at the University of Delaware.

These blood-sucking pests stay on shrubs, weeds and grasses until a suitable host, usually a dog or human, comes close to them. Ticks do not begin feeding immediately upon contacting a host. They wander over the body for one or two hours searching for a likely feeding site.

Since you usually can't feel ticks either crawling or feeding, you should check yourself and your clothing thoroughly after you return from an outing, advises Boys. And examine your pets carefully paying particular attention to the neck, ears and the area between the toes.

Two kinds of ticks are particularly common in Delaware — the American dog tick and the brown dog tick. The American dog tick is brown with a white shield on its back. This pest must feed (Continued on Page 5)

Biden Attacks Utility Rate Hikes

N. C. Co. Councilman Joseph R. Biden Jr., said it is time to stop what he called "inflation machine", and he thinks the place to start is with utility company rate increases.

Urging the citizens of New Castle County to put pressure on their councilmen and the county executive to stop utility rate hikes Biden said, "If there are rules that say water companies can increase rates 100 percent in one year and electrical companies 12 to 18 percent in one year — when salaries and pensions don't keep up and can't keep up — those rules must be changed. And they must be changed now."

"Referring to the Charlie Chaplin film 'Modern Times' in which the Chaplin character had to work faster and faster to run a machine that constantly increased its own speed, Biden said inflation is just such a machine. 'I'm tired of being Charlie,' Biden said, 'and I'm sick of my neighbors being turned into Charlies.'"

Biden said Delmarva Power and Light Company's recent 18 percent rate increase request "embarrassed" the Public Service Commission so much that it awarded the company only two-thirds of its request and warned the other third would be forthcoming next year only if company service and efficiency improve. But, Biden said, a company that just got a 12 percent increase really doesn't have to worry about another increase next year.

"If the Public Service Commission doesn't have the power to stop such piracy by the utilities," Biden declared, "the legislature and the governor must give it such power." Meanwhile, he said the county government should do what it can and promised to introduce any county legislation that might help protect the public against rate increases.

Butler's Fuel Romps To Bowling Championship

Butler's Fuel, sparked in the first round of the championship roll-off Mon., May 1, as they romped to an easy four point victory over the first third winners, Taylor & Messick. Paced by Sam Lyons, Butler's took the first game convincingly, winning by a wide margin. The second game proved to be a squeaker as the fuelers just squeezed by with a narrow margin, but the third and decisive game was won handily and gave Butler's big four point lead to head them into their next round of roll-off. All of the fuel teams' bowlers hit their averages or came very close in the first play-off for a full team effort. Taylor & Messick's Snooky Collins rolled a great 218 game as he amassed a

Police Chief Accepts Demotion Bradley Made Acting Chief

Richard Bradley

Harrington's police chief agreed to a demotion last Thursday night, with the City Council appointing an acting chief as replacement.

Patrolman Richard Bradley, who recently was graduated from the state police school with high honors, was appointed acting chief at $135 per month. Bradley, who will be on probation 90 days, formerly served on the police departments of Blades, Seaford and Rehoboth. He is 28, married has two children, both in school, and lives with his wife, Joan at 206 Simmons St., Harrington. Bradley replaces Chief

Robert Faulkner. Mayor Burton E. Satterfield told the Council he had discussed it with Faulkner and he was willing to resign as chief if we had a replacement.

Faulkner told the Council that at 22 he realized it (the chief's job) was a big responsibility.

Faulkner's salary was cut to $115 per week. However, he is scheduled to be the next member of the force to attend the state police school in September. Upon graduation, his salary will be $125. He was made acting chief last October after three members of the force, Chief Robert Martin, Cpl. Theodore Higby and Patrolman William Mintzer turned in letters of resignation saying they were not content with relations with the Council.

The Council usually meets the first Monday of the month but had postponed its meeting until Thursday because of the death of Councilman George William Vincent of the Second Ward. Incidentally, the Council will fill the post, but the three-year term will expire in January, 1973.

The Great Adventure, The Long Trek To Bowers Beach

"They'll never make it!" "They'll never reach the first checkpoint!" were some of the comments heard throughout the area, in reference to the planned 15 1/2 mile Walk-a-thon, from W. T. Chipman Junior School in Harrington to Bowers Beach.

It's amazing to this writer how some people can get so far out of touch with reality. Some 150 walkers and runners left Chipman School, from 8:30 a.m., on and only a scant half dozen failed to make the entire distance. Some of these were still headed for the finish line, but were picked up, since the checkers at Bowers had to leave.

Miss Jean Sloan of Australia, the AFS student at Lake Forest High school year, conceived the idea and with the help of the local AFS chapter, brought it to fruition.

Each participant had to obtain at least one sponsor, who would put up a minimum of ten cents, for each mile covered by the walker. Profits from the venture are to be used to help cover the expenses of the 1973 foreign exchange student at the high school.

Mrs. Leon Kukulka and Chipman principal, Francis Ryan, stamped the cards of each walker with the correct leaving time, after which that individual was free to go. Some of the first to leave were Chipman cross-country stars, Howard Parker, Jim Guyton, Harry Benson, accompanied by a non-athlete, Cliff Ayres. Shortly after nine o'clock this quartet was already in sight of the first checkpoint (4 miles), the Killen's Pond road. A few yards before the second checkpoint, at Law's Church, the junior high lads were passed by Jeff Blakey, a senior and one of Lake Forest's best trackmen.

At this point, six miles out two administrators from Lake Forest, Mike Mock and Gary Annett, had set up a free orange drink stand, to the delight of the thirsty trudgers.

Blakey, Ron Collison, another senior trackman and hurdler, Lee Dunbar, headed toward the eight mile checkpoint at International Latex, near Frederica, followed by the junior high four.

Eventually, Blakey and Collison arrived at Bowers Beach, at 11:15, having covered 15 1/2 miles in only two hours and 35 minutes. Dunbar was delayed, when he stopped to talk to some tomatoes, in Frederica, his home town.

Parker, Guyton, Benson and Ayres, arrived at 11:35, three hours, five minutes, elapsed time.

Harrington police escorted the caravan across, Route 13 at Delaware Avenue and Bowers Fire Company, provided similar service, as the (Continued on Page 9)

Arrest Disturbers, Solicitor Advises City Council

"Every move they make, lock them up," advised City Solicitor Roy S. Shiels Monday night, May 1, at a meeting of the City Council.

He was referring to charges of intimidation, rowdiness and attacks on other juveniles by juveniles in the 200 and 300 blocks of Weiner Ave.

Shiels' arrival at the meeting was delayed by previous business and a number of complainants, advocating eviction of tenants of the families of the defendants had departed. It was declared others would have complained but because of old age and fear of reprisals.

Shiels' solution was tenants could only be evicted by the landlords but he urged those charged with delinquency be curbed by strict police surveillance. This course, according to a city spokesman, was under way.

In other business, the Council acted as follows: Accepted a zoning and planning ordinance, agreed to read law enforcement ordinance formulated by the City solicitor, and Agreed to pay the City's three trash collectors an increase of 25c per hour, raising their wages from $80 per week to $90 per week.

Announced appointment of Mrs. Shirley Dillard, 104 Fleming St., as full-time clerk in the city hall to replace Miss Heba Baker who is retiring from a part-time job. A recommendation of Mrs. Dillard was she had bookkeeping experience. Salary will be $75 per week.

Heard Dudley Willis, city's consulting engineer, of Edward H. Richardson Associates, tell of preliminary work by the city, referring to street improvement and tilting, needed for the proposed Pen-Dol housing development on Peck Avenue. After the meeting, Willis told The Journal he believed the project would start in two weeks.

Willis was accompanied by Dr. Ralph Purcell, political science professor at George Washington University, Washington, D.C., who was studying local government.

Senate Okays Bill To Fund Lake Forest Repairs

The Senate yesterday voted unanimously to pass H.B. 678 (Quillen) to appropriate funds to replace the Lake Forest High School roof.

Rep. Robert Quillen, of Harrington, who introduced the bill, told The Journal he had assurance Gov. Peterson, would sign the bill providing an appropriation of $100,000. The roof has had unenumerable leaks and a lawsuit is under way to sue for damages those deemed responsible.

TOWN AND COUNTRY TOPICS

FRANCIS WEBB
KENT COUNTY AGENT

Students are not the only ones that utilize demonstrations; the University of Delaware does a good job of it in many instances!

The Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Delaware uses demonstrations throughout the state on both crops and livestock as a teaching tool. Located in Kent County alone, we have many crop demonstration areas to illustrate new cultural practices, variety testing, and new crops. Plots located on private farms during this growing season will consist of white potatoes, field corn and sunflowers.

East of Dover on Jack Tarburton's farm, we have planted many new potato varieties at different row spacings and with different irrigation treatments. The potatoes will be harvested periodically throughout the growing season to determine their exact maturity date, shipping quality, disease resistance and general appearance.

Presley Mooré in the Smyrna area will have a three acre no-till corn demonstration plot. This will consist of planting field corn in a rye cover with no-tillage along side corn planted in conventional tilled ground. Also included in this plot will be different weed control chemicals to measure their effectiveness under such conditions.

Sunflower seed production will be a new twist for Delaware agriculture if proven feasible by us at two locations in Kent County. Two varieties will be planted—one at Olin Gooden's at Woodside and the other at George Simpson's near Houston. Plot areas will consist of two acres each with regular planting and harvesting equipment used by the farm operators. The sale of sunflower seed for birds in the Northeast is astonishing. Figures have been released that in the area of 4,000 tons of sunflower seed are sold alone and in bird seed mixtures. Previous research by Dr. William Mitchell at the University have proven that commercial production of sunflowers has good possibilities for the Delaware area.

One other interesting demonstration we will have in the county will be located at the Winkler farm near Harrington. We have corn hybrids there for the past three years, and this year the area will also include date of planting studies with field corn. The corn hybrids will still be included in the test area as well. These plots are under a center pivot irrigation system which will supply part of the plant nutrients through the system.

We invite anyone interested in any of these plots to stop by at any time, or to call the Kent County Cooperative Extension Office of the University of Delaware for further information.

This goes to show you that the University, itself, does the share of demonstrating!

The Resource, Conservation and Development Proposal for the state of Delaware is making headway. The application for a State RC&D Plan was approved by the federal government in October, 1971. Since then the State Steering Committee has been working diligently in preparing a project plan which will be submitted to Washington for final approval.

Project plans will come from the state's many towns and communities needing various types of conservation improvements of land, water, and recreation. The project can also be submitted by groups of concerned citizens for improvement of areas as long as there is a community benefit.

Most of the towns and municipalities in the state have been contacted by either the county agent, county conservationist, or James (Bud) Gorman, RC&D project leader. Once these projects proposals have been received, they will be reviewed by the State Steering Committee and be included in a state project plan to be submitted to Washington for approval. Upon approval, the state will hopefully then have financial assistance available as well as technical assistance to work in improving the natural resources and conservation needs of our communities.

This is just a brief explanation of the State RC&D Project. If further information is needed by individuals or groups, call the Kent County Cooperative Extension Service at 736-1448.

4-H Club Talk

with Marion MacDonald

Thanks to the attitude of the Dover J. C.'s toward youth, Kent County 4-Hers assisted at the chicken festival.

Thirty 4-Hers donated their services to work with the J.C.'s on their chicken barbecue. 4-Hers served platters and worked at the pit.

This type of community service opportunity means much to 4-Hers.

4-H also provided the drivers for the VIP cars in the parade. The drivers were Judy & Cliff Hudson, Kent County Link members; Alex Gooden, Vicki Cahall, Cindy Melhunek, Charmayne Pierson, John Webb, Jim Harrison, Pat Harrison, Gene Gallo Jr.

Parade participants were Fox Tall, Country Grove, White Oaks, Double "T", and Smyrna Blue Jays all with floats.

The final group of 4-Hers involved worked with the ECO Action Team. 4-Hers covered the parade route to keep down the street litter.

Wearing arm bands printed by Cobel's, this group of younger members provided trash bags to help the city of Dover keep a bit cleaner. McDonald's provided refreshments for this group after their job was done.

ECO Action is the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts program for Earth Week. This cooperative effort came from the Youth Resource Committee. This committee of youth directors is working together to provide cooperative efforts and understanding for our Kent County youth.

4-Hers are ready to provide man power to service clubs whenever they plan programs to serve the community. Youth want action such as provided this past week by the Dover J.C.'s. They appreciate the opportunity.

4-H activities in the future are: 4-H Dress Revue, May 13; clothing judging contest, May 17; Westville club dance, June 16; dairy festival, June 17.

Beans Are A Good Crop For Home Gardens

Don't forget to include some beans in this year's vegetable garden. They are one of the easiest and quickest crops to produce, says Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Most garden beans require little space for maximum growth and are adapted to a wide range of soil conditions. Furthermore, it only takes 50 to 60 days to produce a good crop of snap beans.

Of course, there are many other types of garden beans besides the traditional green snap bean, Stevens points out. Dried beans, yellow waxed beans, Italian beans, fava beans, vegetable soybeans and navy beans offer a variety of flavors and sizes.

Beans are a warm season crop but can be planted from April to August. Many Gardeners like to plant a few rows of beans each week throughout the summer, thus assuring a continuous supply of fresh beans until fall.

There are also various practices used in growing these versatile vegetables, says Stevens. Beans have been grown on poles, on a fence, as a bush or even in window boxes.

So don't forget to include beans in your garden this summer. They are easy to grow, require little space and are available in various types sizes and flavors.

Prolong The Life Of Cut Flowers

When the family "says it with flowers" on Mother's Day, careful treatment will keep the message from wilting right away.

Here are some suggestions that will help prolong the life of cut flowers as long as possible. The procedures are about the same for the garden flowers you bring inside in the summer, according to Bob Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

If your flowers come from a florist, don't leave them in the box or wrapped in paper, even if they won't be arranged immediately. They need water, so put the stems in a plastic pail or other container and add water that is hot but not uncomfortable on the wrist. Warm water gets into the stems quickly.

If you buy flowers for Grandma, leave them in the package for traveling. But put something like a laundry bag over the package to protect it, then put a wet towel over that. Evaporative cooling will keep the flowers fresh for a few hours.

Arrange your flowers within two to four hours after placing them in warm water, says Stevens. Make sure your container and other tools such as knives and pin frogs are clean.

Most flowers should have the lower leaves and any rough parts of the stem removed to prevent rot. Then, a 45-degree cut should be made at the bottom of each stem with a knife. Don't use scissors or pruning shears unless necessary. They may bruise the stems and encourage the growth of a disease. Then return the flowers to water.

It may be wise to use a commercial additive in the water to help preserve the flowers. Stevens says recent studies have shown that flowers kept at room temperature (70-77°F.) in water with a preservative will have just as good quality after three days as the same flowers kept in water at 35-40°F. The flowers in the preservative also continue to grow as they take up sugar from the additive.

Keep the container filled with water to within half an inch of the top, adds Stevens. This is especially important for florists' arrangements in which the stems are often much closer to the top than they appear. Watch large arrangements closely as they "drink" water very rapidly.

Cut flowers don't last forever and the though behind them is what counts. But a little care can help one of the prettiest gifts stay around a little longer.

It Seems To Me

by Janet Reed

It's time to put away those winter woolens. Time, too, to store those woolen fabrics you bought at end of season sales to make up for next winter. Don't let moths or mildew take advantage of that fabric before you do.

New fabric is not as apt to be damaged by moths, because moths really like to feed on particles of soil left in stained clothing. That's why moths always seem to leave a hole right in the front of the garment — just where you spilled a bit of food without even knowing it.

It's also the reason why you should put clothes away absolutely clean. Dry cleaning kills moth life.

With coin-operated cleaning, you can clean a whole load of garments for a relatively small amount of money, especially if the garments are small or light weight. Then they can be stored clean and brought out for pressing next fall.

Many knit fabrics require very little pressing after dry cleaning. Your dry cleaner can store heavier, bulkier garments such as winter coats if your storage space is limited.

If you're storing clothes at home, seal them tightly in garment bags or sealed boxes. If you wish to use moth crystals or other preparations, follow directions on the label. Be sure to use enough for it takes vapor in high enough concentration to kill moths, not just the odor.

Store those unused fabrics in plastic bags and seal tightly. Moth crystals help prevent mildew damage which can cause more trouble than moths in our Delaware climate.

You may find fewer moth control sprays on the market this year because of limitations on use of DDT. However, our old friends — moth balls and crystals — are still with us plus "mothproof" aerosols.

Noise In Your Home

Noise, or ear pollution, is one of the greatest non-fatal health hazards today. A little noise may do no harm at all, but excessive noise is a leading cause of hearing loss, according to Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Your hearing is one of your most precious possessions. The cost of hearing losses is high - in physical and psychological discomfort, in job efficiency and money for medical bills. So take care of your hearing; it can't be replaced.

Recognize your sensitivity to noise, Miss Morris says. Some people are more sensitive to noise than others. But everyone is affected by excessive noise to some degree. Your sensitivity depends on the loudness and pitch of noise, the amount of time you're exposed and your distance from it. Your surroundings, position of the noise source, your age and any previous ear trouble will also influence your sensitivity.

Long periods of exposure to noise can result in permanent damage to the inner ear. Also, intermittent noise is easier on your ears than continuous noise.

When your kitchen is going at full speed, it's the noisiest room in the house. With many appliances going at once, the noise level may be in danger level for hearing, Miss Morris points out.

Think of all the devices in your kitchen that may be running at the same time. Do you have a range vent fan, garbage disposal, dishwasher, refrigerator, blender? Don't forget the water faucet and the sound the drain makes. Add sounds from other parts of your home - air conditioner, hair dryer, fans or furnace, washing machine and dryer, vacuum, maybe a typewriter. Then add family conversation and a radio or television.

To control noise in your home, determine what noises must be there. Get rid of the sources of noise that you can, and make changes in sources to lessen their ill-effects.

You can make your home a quiet, rejuvenating place, Miss Morris advocates. Use cushions under noisy appliances. When your dishwasher and washer are running, leave that area. Test out draperies and rugs for sound absorption before you buy them. Make rules for rock music. When no one is listening, turn off the radio and television. Make an effort to speak in quieter tones and have special "quiet times" in your home.

Be sure to include a hearing examination in your regular medical examination. In case of accident of infection, get professional medical attention. If you're exposed to job noise, wear the protective equipment required, and make sure it's in good shape, Miss Morris concludes.

Longwood - U. of D. Fellowships Granted

Five two-year fellowships have been granted in the Longwood Program in Ornamental Horticulture at the University of Delaware. The announcement was made by Dr. Richard W. Lighty, program coordinator.

Recipients of the grants are Leslie Joan Spraker, Cambridge, Mass., a graduate of Purdue University, presently a Mercer Fellow at the Arnold Arboretum, Harvard University; Alexander M. Pearl, Las Cruces, New Mexico, a senior at New Mexico State University; Edwin J. Toth, Newville, Pa., a graduate of Delaware Valley College; John C. Webster, Ithaca, N.Y., who holds a bachelor's degree from North Carolina State University and will earn a Masters degree at Cornell University this spring; and William P. Zmick, Columbus, Ohio, a senior at Ohio State University.

The Longwood program is designed to give scientifically oriented graduates a background of experience and education to prepare them for management positions with botanical gardens, parks and land beautification programs. The program is financed by a grant from the Longwood Foundation, Inc. It utilizes the staffs and facilities of the College of Agricultural Sciences at the University of Delaware and Longwood Gardens.

The graduate program provides a wide variety of courses in fields related to horticulture and landscaping. Longwood Gardens will serve as a summer workshop where students may develop a perspective of the range of activities of a public garden with experiences in the problems of management as well as in other phases of horticultural science.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marvel visited Clinton Marvel Sunday. He is a patient at the Memorial Hospital in Wilmington.

twigs and can be very destructive. In the spring, new growth may suddenly wilt and die. Affected parts of the plant turn black and look scorched - which gives the disease its name.

Twigs may be killed back a considerable length, Carroll says. Dead leaves hang on the killed twigs into the fall and winter.

Bacteria cause fire blight, he adds. They survive in cankers or wounds on the tree and spread to blossoms by bees, insects or even rain. The infection moves from the flower down to the twigs and leaves.

To prevent new infections, Carroll recommends spraying with Bordeaux mixture or streptomycin before and after full bloom. "However, avoid spraying during the peak of the bloom."

Pruning and destroying blighted twigs and cankers is essential if you want to control this disease. That's a job for late summer and fall, Carroll says. "Also, get rid of neglected trees that may be infected so they won't spread the disease to healthy trees."

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller
GRANDMOTHERS

Grandmother's a name
 That keeps growing more dear
 With each Mother's Day
 And with each passing year.

It stands for affection
 And interest in others,
 The warmth and the wisdom
 Of really grand mothers.

It means understanding
 And gentleness too,
 And there's no name more perfect
 For Mothers like You.

Greenwood Volunteer Fire Co. Holds May Meeting

The May meeting of the Greenwood Volunteer Fire Co., was held in the Fire Hall, Friday evening, May 5. Vice President Walter Warnick presiding and 24 members present.

Seven members were inducted into our newly organized Junior Fire Company, they are: Drew Bowman, David Cannon, Bill Draper, Lee Haymond, Ed Jory, Kirk Willey and Terry Willey. Harold Root, Jr., and Mark Prettyman were welcomed as new members to our organization. Bruce Bowman, Earl Obier and Garry Drummond will comprise the advisory committee to the Junior Company.

The members of the Junior Company, along with our new members: Art Laughery Jr., Michael Wiseman, Carlos Wiseman and Garry Drummond attended the Basic Firemanship School at Delaware State Fire School, the past two weekends. Jay Reynolds, one of the field instructors at the school is quite proud of our junior members performance at the school. We too are proud to have these fine young men dedicate themselves to public service such as this, and are sure they will be a great contribution to our fire fighting force.

Garry Drummond, chairman of our spring supper, wishes to extend sincere thanks to everyone that contributed in any way to this event, without this help, both from our community, and many others from a large surrounding area this supper could not have been accomplished. We are glad to report that it was one of the best attended, and successful suppers that we have ever held. The final profits have not been tallied yet, but we are sure that the results will be very satisfying, and can assure you that these profits will be well used. We have ordered ten new suits of gear (helmets coats boots and gloves) at over $125 per suit, and hope that our profits from the supper will cover this expense. Our special thanks go to Garry Drummond, supper chairman for a job well done.

 Dear Miss Baker,

Upon your leaving the employ of the City of Harrington I wish to take this opportunity to express my deep appreciation for your loyalty and devotion to the job while in the office of the City Manager of Harrington.

Information For Home Gardeners

If you have questions on ornamental plants, insect pests, soil testing—any aspect of gardening—Cooperative Extension Service experts at the University of Delaware probably have the answers. But there's a new procedure to follow to make certain you get quick, accurate information, says W.T. McAllister, assistant director of extension.

If you have a specimen of plant material or insects or want a soil test made, bring the material to Agricultural Hall, Route 896, south of Newark. Signs at the entrance of that building will direct you to the New Castle County Extension Office, room 119.

Personnel there will take your sample and record any information about it and they'll direct you to an available specialist who is an expert in your particular problem. If a specialist is not able to see you personally at the time of your visit, he will arrange to call you or send you the information you need, McAllister says.

The Cooperative Extension Service has also initiated a new procedure for telephone questions in the horticulture and entomology areas, McAllister says. If possible, contact David Tatnall, New Castle county extension garden specialist, at 738-2506, during the morning; the office opens at 8:30. Tatnall will provide the information if possible, or if necessary, route your call to a staff member who can help you. If a particular specialist is not available, you will be given his telephone number and asked to call him directly at a more specific time.

"The new system of handling information is designed to enable extension agents and specialists to serve you more efficiently without sacrificing quality of service," McAllister concludes.

French-Style Chicken Wins At Delmarva Chicken Festival

French-style "Chicken Pot-au-Feu" won first place in the Delaware division of the 25th annual Delmarva Chicken Festival for Mrs. Carol Pfeiffer, 62, Lewes.

She will represent Delaware in the National Chicken Cooking Contest in Birmingham, Ala., May 20. At the awards banquet, April 29, she received $300, an engraved pewter trophy, a set of cookware and spices.

Sixteen-year-old Jay Sullivan, Milford, took second place honors with his recipe for "Oven-Baked Coffee Chicken." He earned a $200 prize and a spice rack.

Third place honors and $100 plus a spice rack went to Mrs. Clarabel Walls, 50, Harrington, for "Chicken Liver Paradise Salad."

A former U.S. Navy nurse who served in the New Hebrides and New Zealand, Mrs. Pfeiffer developed her recipe from similar one using beef. It features cabbage, celery, carrots and peas. The nine contest judges said her dish was a most unusual use of chicken that was truly economical because it will serve a number of people.

The recently widowed first place winner combines her love of cooking, "since childhood," she says, with many hobbies including an unusual one — yoga. She's also interested in bird-watching, playing bridge, the Garden Club, knitting and sewing.

The only teenage winner, Jay Sullivan, has been cooking since he was three; he started with scrambled eggs. He's one of the "cooking Sullivans" who have won many previous cooking contests. Using coffee and French dressing, he brought out the chicken flavor in an unusual way, according to the judges. Although he likes to cook, he also pursues such hobbies as hunting and bicycling.

The third place winner had such a beautiful entry the judges couldn't resist it; Mrs. Walls' recipe includes fresh pineapples, oranges and avocados.

Chicken Pot-Au-Feu

- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, quartered
- 1 onion
- 2 stalks celery
- 1 carrot, sliced
- 3 sprigs parsley
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon Ac'cent
- 2 envelopes instant chicken flavored broth mix
- 1 small head cabbage, cut in eighths
- 8 small onions
- 4 carrots, sliced
- 2 stalks celery, sliced
- 1 cup frozen peas
- 1 tablespoon Mazola margarine

Place chicken in 4 quart aluminum cooking pot with giblets and barely cover with water. Add broth mix, celery, carrot, parsley, salt, and Ac'cent. Cover and simmer for 40 minutes. Remove chicken, cool and separate chicken meat from the bones and skin. Cut into bite sized pieces. Strain the broth and skim off all fat, preferably by chilling the broth. Reheat the clarified broth in the 4 quart pot. Add cabbage and onions; cover and cook 20 minutes. Add carrots and celery; cook an additional 10 minutes. Add peas, margarine and chicken pieces; heat thoroughly for 5 minutes. Serve in soups plates. Serves 4.

Oven-Baked Coffee Chicken

- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon Ac'cent
- 1 tablespoon Mazola margarine
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 cup French dressing
- 1 tablespoon wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon dry instant coffee

Combine flour, salt, pepper, and Ac'cent. Coat chicken pieces with flour mixture and place in greased pan. Drizzle with melted margarine. Bake 45 minutes in a 350° oven. Remove from oven. Make sauce of French dressing, wine vinegar, Worcestershire sauce and instant coffee. Mix well and coat each piece with pastry brush. Return chicken to oven and cook for 45 minutes longer or until fork tender. Serves 4.

Chicken Liver Paradise Salad

- 2 pounds chicken livers
- 2 teaspoons Ac'cent
- 1 pound thinly sliced bacon

- 2 tablespoons Mazola corn oil
- 2 fresh pineapples
- 4 oranges
- 2 avocados
- 1/3 cup lemon juice
- 2 cups French dressing

Sprinkle chicken livers with Ac'cent. Wrap thin strip of bacon around chicken liver (2 halves or 1 whole). Secure bacon with toothpicks or skewers. Place the Mazola corn oil in a fry pan. Place chicken livers in pan. Cook over medium heat until livers are tender. Drain excess oil on paper towel, and allow livers to cool. Cut pineapple in quarters lengthwise and remove core and meat, reserving shells for serving. Dice the pineapple meat. Peel and section oranges. Peel and slice avocados. Sprinkle with lemon juice to prevent discoloration. Combine pineapple, oranges, and avocado. Place one (1) cup fruit mixture into each pineapple shell. Arrange chicken livers on top of fruit mixture. Serve with French dressing. Serves 8.

Oyster Seed Beds To Be Toured

Governor Russell W. Peterson and officials of the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control will tour the state's natural oyster seed beds in the Delaware Bay last week. "Increased harvest estimates indicate that the oyster industry is making a dramatic comeback," Governor Peterson said. "Management techniques and the cooperation of nature promise to restore the oyster business as one of Delaware's major industries within a few years."

The state owns and manages the natural seed beds and leases other areas to the oystermen for use as "farms" where they raise the seed oysters until harvest time. The oystermen buy the seed oysters from the state and transport them to the leased areas.

The natural seed beds, located near Port Mahon, were opened to the oystermen for dredging on Monday. Thirteen boats are expected to harvest approximately 85,000 bushels of seed oysters this year. Under ideal conditions, these seed oysters will increase in size so that the expected market oyster harvest from the leased lands in the fall should be about 90,000 bushels. However, if these same oysters remain on the growing beds for two or three years, the fall market oyster harvest in 1974 and 1975 should exceed 170,000 bushels.

Before 1970, oyster seed harvest was at a standstill due to MSX, a disease which almost wiped out the oyster stocks. Research by the Department indicated seed oysters were available for the first time in a decade, and 18,000 bushels of seed oysters were produced that year. In 1971, the harvest was increased to 43,000 bushels, and this year, it is expected to nearly double, providing Delaware oystermen with about 85,000 bushels of seed oysters to transplant to their "farm."

The seed oyster crop is generally harvested two or three years after planting when marketable size and quality has been attained. The harvesting of oysters for market generally begins in the fall and ends during mid-winter. In the spring of 1970, 18,000 bushels of seed oysters were moved from the seed beds and planted on the leased grounds. The market oyster harvest for the 1970-71 season was 32,716 bushels which were valued at $4 per bushel for a total value of $130,864. The market oyster harvest for the 1971-72 period will be close to 50,000 bushels. The oystermen received $4.50 per bushel, making the total crop worth approximately $225,000.

In addition to the leased oyster grounds, the state also provides a public tonging area near Bowers, which is open from September 1 to April 30.

Veteran's Administration News

Q -- If I get a guaranteed mobile home loan through VA, can I later get a regular GI loan for a conventionally-constructed home?
A -- Yes, after the mobile home loan has been paid in full.
Q -- My husband, a veteran is in a nursing home for a condition not related to military service. Will VA pay for his nursing home care?
A -- Yes. However, VA is permitted to provide nursing home care only for a limited time for such veterans who have received maximum benefit from VA hospitalization. There is no time limit for veterans who were hospitalized primarily for service-connected conditions.
Q -- I'm going to school under the GI Bill, and my wife and I are expecting a child. Will I receive extra benefits for the child from the date of birth, or from the date I inform the VA?
A -- You will be paid from the date of birth, provided you submit a copy of the birth certificate within one year of the child's birth.
Q -- I am a 65-year-old World War II veteran. Am I eligible for a VA pension?
A -- Yes, if you are single and your income from all sources is below $2,600. If you have dependents, the income limitation is $3,800. Your net worth is also a factor. Suggest you contact VA for an application form so your eligibility can be determined.
Q -- Am I still eligible for educational benefits if I was separated from military service in January 1967?
A -- Yes. Veterans with more than 180 days of active duty who received an other than dishonorable discharge between Jan. 31, 1955 and June 1, 1966, have eligibility for eight years from date of discharge, or until May 31, 1974. Veterans separated for service-connected disabilities are eligible regardless of length of service.
Q -- I receive military retired pay for a disability that would entitle me to VA compensation if I waived my retired pay.
Q -- Am I eligible for education benefits under the vocational rehabilitation program?
A -- You may be eligible for this benefit, so suggest you contact VA. However, it is not necessary to waive your retired pay to qualify for VA vocational rehabilitation education benefits.
Q -- Is there a deadline for veterans to apply for VA hospital care?
A -- No. There is no deadline if a veteran is eligible, needs it, and a bed is available. Beds are always available at VA hospitals for veterans with service-connected disabilities.

Q -- I receive $25 monthly VA compensation for a 10 percent service-connected disability, while my brother receives $20 monthly for his 10 percent disability. Why?
A -- You receive the $25 monthly compensation because your disability was incurred during wartime. Apparently, your brother's compensation is for a peacetime disability, which is 80 percent of the wartime rate or, in his case, $20.
Q -- How long will I be covered by my Servicemen's Group Life Insurance if I was separated from service for total disability on Nov. 1, 1971?
A -- Your coverage under SGLI will continue while you remain totally disabled, but not beyond one year. Within a year of the date VA notifies you that your disability has been rated as service-connected, you can apply for a $10,000 low cost RH policy from the agency. Also within the year, you may convert your SGLI (maximum $15,000) to an individual policy at standard rates with any company participating in the SGLI program.

Mrs. Hayes Director Of Camp For Mentally Disabled Youngsters

Mrs. Presley L. Hayes, III (Elsie) of Dover has been appointed director of Camp Arrowhead's new camping period for mentally disabled youngsters, August 13-26.
The Rev. Alva G. Decker, executive director for the Episcopal Diocese of Delaware's Camps and Conferences has announced that 50 campers both boys and girls, age 7-21, may enroll regardless of race or religious affiliation. Although youngsters with a wide range of mental and physical capabilities will be accepted, all enrollees must be toilet-trained and ambulatory.

Mrs. Hayes said on her appointment, "I feel the prime focus of a Christian camping experience should be the brotherhood of man and the individual worth of every person."
The new director is a graduate of Bridgewater College in Virginia, a sociology major with a Master's degree in Special Education from the University of Virginia. She is now the teacher of Educable Mentally Retarded in the Caesar Rodney Junior High School. She has directed summer playground programs for the mentally retarded sponsored by the Recreation Department of Fairfax County, Va., and has done volunteer work with cerebral palsied persons as well as those who are blind. Her husband, Presley, is a professor at Wesley College in Dover. The Hayeses have a 21-month old son and have lived in the Dover area since 1970.
Mrs. Hayes will be working with Mrs. William Conrad, principal of the Kent County School for Trainables, who has volunteered to serve as consulting psychologist for the new project at Camp Arrowhead. The camp, operated by the Episcopal Diocese, is sponsoring this new work in an attempt to become part of a total community effort to minister to and support the mentally disabled. It is their hope that working relationships can be established by the camp and other community agencies.
Persons interested in working on the project or who want further information may contact Mrs. Hayes at 674-4063 or the Rev. Alva G. Decker at Camp Arrowhead, Lewes, 645-6511.
Members of the committee of the Camp Arrowhead board who interviewed the candidates for this position were: Mrs. Howard Green, Newark; Mrs. Gregory M. Howe, Dover; the Rev. John Massimilla, Stockley Hospital chaplain; William Brownlowe, recreation director at Stock-

KENT COUNTY CURRENTS

by JOSHUA M. TWILLEY
Levy Court President

Kent County is the only county in Delaware with a fully funded pension plan. This means that the elderly employees of the county will be guaranteed that the money to pay their pensions will be there when they reach the age of retirement. The failure of other governments to fund their pension plans over the years is one of the reasons why the City of Wilmington and the state of Delaware, for that matter, now have to raise tax money to make up for their neglect over the years.

Kent County has $200,000 set aside in a Pension Trust Fund as a result of action taken last Tuesday. Some time ago, the county had employed retirement experts to analyze our pension plans and tell us how much we should be putting aside and how much should be in the fund

now. The Levy Court has acted on their advice and in the future we will put in our current budget the amount of money which they said should be transferred each year.

The reason why most governments do not have pension trust funds is because of the temptation to pay pensions out of current operating expenses without regard to the fact that every other employer is accruing a pension right which some future legislator will have to face.

In Kent County our current pension payments amount to $13,000 per year. However, according to the actuaries, we should be putting aside $40,000 more each year. This additional sum represents the pension rights of the employees who have not yet retired. You can see how easy it is for a government to get hopelessly behind if it doesn't meet this annual accruing expense each year.

The Kent County Levy Court, however, has not only guaranteed the pension of all county employees, but has also by this action made certain that the taxpayers will not have to face an unreasonable and unfair burden in the future.

SURPRISES. PLEASANT...
Sure you're calling Mom for Mother's Day. But—not to cast a damper on a thoughtful thought—what will you do if she's out when you call?
Here's a helpful suggestion. Call a day early. On Saturday, rather than Sunday. You'll give Mom a nice surprise. You'll give yourself an extra chance to reach her. And you'll beat that well-known Mother's Day calling rush.
Low weekend rates are in effect from 8 A.M. Saturday to 5 P.M. Sunday for calls dialed direct station-to-station to anywhere in the continental U.S., except Alaska. These same dial-direct weekend rates also apply for communities where Direct Distance Dialing is not available.
A Mother's Day call on Saturday may just make the weekend for her... and save it for you.
*Dial-Direct rates do not apply to person-to-person, coin, credit card, collect and hotel/motel guest calls or to calls charged to another number.

AND UNPLEASANT.
Are you planning some spring digging? Don't dig up a surprise. Plan ahead with us. Call our Repair Service—the number's in your pink pages—to make sure there is no buried telephone cable where you'll be digging.
There's no charge for the information of course. And you avoid the risk of cutting a cable that carries phone service to a community.
Including police and fire calls.
Including, quite possibly, your own phone service.
Remember, call before you dig. So that you'll be sure you can call after you dig.

McBride, Turner Gleam In Dover Relays

The 14th annual Dover Relay Carnival was held Friday night, with 28 schools entered, this is a tougher test, than the upcoming state championship meet.

Lake Forest's ace pair of long jumpers, George Turner and Herm McBride combined for a total effort of 39 feet and 7 inches, to finish in third place. They earned four points, which put the Spartans in 12th place of the 28 schools.

Turner upped the Spartan school record to 19-9 only to see McBride do 19-10. They've been doing this all year.

Vernon Bowers, Jim Blade's hot freshman prospect, ran the 880 in 2.11 twice, in the half mile and medley relays, Bowers' previous best was 2.15.9.

Lake Forest's medley effort was a good, though non-scoring performance. Ron Mosely turned in a fine mile in that one and Jeff Blakey's 53.9 440 was a terrific effort for this brand-new quarter miler. After an estimated 20 minutes of rest Blakey turned in an exceptional 54.1 lap. Rick Hamm had a 55 and Jerry Johnson a 56. A month ago, Lake Forest had no one under 60 seconds. Coach Blades delivers the goods.

Probably Lake Forest best shuttle hurdle clocking was the 76.2 seconds done by Frank Daniels, Lee Dunbar, Grant Saulsbury and Charles Baynard. Baynards leg was done in a fine 17.8.

Spartans Take The Cape In Extra Innings

At this writing (May 7th) the Lake Forest High baseball team has been a most frustrating opponent, for lower Delaware rivals. In nine starts, only one foe has been able to outscore the Spartans. The locals continue to win in the most exasperating (to rivals) manner and seem to disdain finishing a contest in regulation time.

Cape Henlopen was the latest team to fall to the Spartan jinx. Mike Davis had the only Spartan safety and drove in a run to knot the count at 1-1, in a contest played at the Cape. In the first extra inning the Spartans tallied four times without a hit to win 5-1.

Jim Dill remained undefeated for the season, as he doled out only two bingles to the Vikings.

Trackmen Split Two Meets

Lake Forest was an easy 84-57 winner at Indian River's track, but bowed to a powerful Woodbridge squad by 95½ to 44½, here.

At Indian River, the Spartan 440 relay team composed of Don Bryant, Bob Smith, Neal Travis and Don Parker, defeated a crack, Indian foursome, in 45.5, a new Spartan record.

George Turner and Herm McBride continue their hot, long jump rivalry. Both broke the old school mark with Turner leaping 19 feet 7 inches and McBride going one-half mile inch further. Turner captured the triple jump with an excellent leap of 40 feet, 8 inches.

Phillip Thomas remained unbeaten in the shot. He tossed the 12-pound iron ball 41-10½, then added a win in the discus. Mike Kohut was second. Kohut now has earned enough points for his varsity letter.

Ron Mosely, the surprising sophomore miler, won his fourth mile in five meets this spring.

Eddie Thompson won the two mile in 11.11. Chris Adamo's 12.05 was a lifetime best, by 20 seconds.

Don Parker and Bob Smith went 1-2 in the 220 yard dash. Parker's 23 flat was his finest furlong ever. Smith and Jeff Blakey were first and second in the 440. Blakey continues to improve.

Neal Travis clocked a good 22.2 win in the low hurdles. Sven Osmundson reached a new high, 8 feet, 6 inches, for third in the pole vault.

The Spartans best 1972 mile relay was recorded by Blakey, Rick Hamm, Jerry Johnson and Mosley.

Church League Slo-Pitch Softball

The Harrington Recreation Association will sponsor an adult Church League softball program, starting the first week in June.

Dave Adams, director of the H.R.A., met with Bob Guyton, (representative of the Baptist Church) and Rev. William Miller, (representing the Calvary Wesleyan Church) to set up guide lines for the program.

It was decided that all churches in the Lake Forest School District will be invited to enter a team in the league. A men's league and a women's league will be established if there are enough entries.

The age limit for the men's program will be ages 13 and older, boys 13 to 17 must have written parental permission.

There will be no established age limit for the girls team, girls 17 years old and younger must have parental permission.

The equipment (bases, bats, and balls) will be provided by the H.R.A.

Any churches interested in entering a team or teams, try to have a representative at the next meeting to be held on Monday night, May 15, at the home of Dave Adams at 46 Commerce Street in Harrington. For more information you can call Dave Adams at 398-8216.

THE LONG TREK

walkers turned off Route 113, at Little Heaven.

Mock and Annett moved their orange juice stand from checkpoint to checkpoint, after most everyone passed. The fourth checking station, was at the home of Joseph Somy, near Barratt's Chapel, where Miss Sloan resides with her American family. Juice, cookies and restrooms were available here.

The 5th checkpoint was on the Bowers' Beach road. At the beach, a barbecue was held, where food vanished in record time. Small wonder.

Taylor & Messick of Harrington, provided a huge truck, which brought many people back Bruce Johnston transported others in a pick-up. Parents and friends also helped get the tired but happy marchers home.

One young lady, who disdained such aid, was a lass named Beverly, her first name is unknown, but it might be Teresa. She met Mrs. Kukulka, two miles from Bowers. When asked where she was going she replied, "I've finished the walk, now I'm going home." Home proved to be from three to five miles from Bowers. Her walk was to be between 18 1/2 and 20 1/2 miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Pearcey of Felton and Leon Kukulka of Harrington were among the people who drove back and forth in cars, supervising the operation, passing out water, etc.

Mr. Kukulka met one young girl with a sore foot near Law's Church. She refused to quit, wrapped a wet towel around her foot and was within two miles of the end, when she was picked up.

We feel there are 150 stories here, one for each marcher. We can't tell them all, but here are a few.

Donald McKnatt felt that his daughter, Kathleen, 12, would get further than Debbie, who is 16. Therefore, he sponsored the former at 50 cents a mile and the latter, at 75 cents a mile. Both went the distance with the older girl arriving first. Donald is out a pretty penny, but he doesn't mind a bit.

Hal Blades, a junior, sponsored Jeff Blakey, a senior. Blades didn't think Blakey would make it and thought that if he did complete the grind, it would not be by 11:30. Blakey started ten minutes late, at 8:40, but sprinted across the finish line at 11:15, to collect a small side bet. Spartan track coach, Jim Blades and his wife, Bonnie, jogged and walked together. Bonnie was the first female finisher.

Eighth grader and cross-country runner, Kevin Peck, walked and ran 15 miles, came home and mowed a lawn (didn't use a riding or self-propelled mower, either) played some basketball, table tennis, then went for a walk in Wheeler's Park.

Seventh grader, Kathy Ricker, finished the walk, then had enough energy left, to help serve the Alumni Banquet dinner, that night.

Dorothy Collins, no student, she is a wife, mother and a Journal employee. The writer's brother, the Journal editor sponsored her for a dollar a mile. He now owes AFS 15 bucks. It's no mean feat to get this much dough out of C.H. Dorothy had other sponsors, also.

There is a prize to the most heavily sponsored walker. A strong contender, could be Bonnie Kukulka, who will turn in more than 100 dollars. Dolores and Lee Kukulka, reportedly will add over 60 and 30 dollars, respectively, to the final total.

Mrs. Ruth Koble, a high-school teacher, accompanied her ten year old son, on the hike. He was the only official stroller, younger than 7th grade age.

We look for an even larger turnout next year, if the weather is good. In this age of mechanization, minibikes, cars, motorcycles, etc., the pedal extremities can still do a job.
