

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

Sunday afternoon, 12 November 72, the Choir Mothers Auxiliary sponsored a reception at Asbury Methodist Church honoring Melvin Brobst on his retirement from a twenty-six year tour of duty with the Chancel Choir of Asbury. Through his talents he has enriched the lives of many young people, and most of them, with their families, were in the audience which packed the Church to capacity. A tastefully prepared bulletin gave a resume of Mr. Brobst's Pennsylvania background and his teaching career in Harrington. The excellent drawing of Mel found on the cover of the pamphlet was done by Lucille Adamo. You see, Mel brings out the best in all of us!

The Chancel Choir has an age group span of the span of the five years covering eighth through twelfth grades. Imagine, if you will, a one-hour rehearsal every Thursday night for twenty-six years! This lively choir becomes a lovely one each Sunday night as they grace the worship service at Asbury. On all occasions, Mel had his music well planned and beautifully executed. He is a well-disciplined gentleman who imparts the same self-discipline along with gentleness to all the young people who come in contact with him.

An example of this discipline was explained to us when, as one of the speakers of Sunday afternoon's gala, Colonel Billy Wix told us of a time when, as a young man in the high school band, he and a friend went to an event that, to them, was more interesting than a parade march. The following Monday morning, Mr. Brobst told the boys to turn in their uniforms. The colonel remarked that was the last time anyone told him to turn in his uniform.

When Reverend John Edward Jones made his comments and presentation of gifts to Mr. Brobst, it was clear that here was a fine and lasting friendship built on mutual admiration. Mr. Jones commented extensively on the high quality of musical leadership exerted by Mr. Brobst over the years, and the additional benefits enjoyed by all our young people because of their church attendance made so pleasurable by their choir association. Allen Parsons was on hand to take candid shots of the afternoons happenings. One of the gifts presented Mr. Brobst is a beautifully bound album that will hold all of the pictures taken that day. Mr. Brobst received a handsome watch with matching wristband, and Mrs. Brobst also received a lovely gift - a gold bracelet. So many friends of Mel's responded with gifts of money that, in addition to the mentioned items, a fund has been set up for the purchase of a new organ for the sanctuary. As Mr. Jones put it, "when our organ breathes her last gasps the Melvin L. Brobst Fund will provide the new one".

The whole afternoons program was a touching tribute beginning with the Chancel Choir rendition of a traditional hymn, led by Mrs. Gloria Dill, followed by warm remarks by another old friend, Reverend Olin Shockley. A pleasant surprise in the form of a quintet by former Chancel Choir members (circa?) was next on the program. Ronald Hughes had assembled four other young men, Donald and Alvin Jarrell, Charley Brown, and Donald McKnatt, for a number. Then, with nostalgia a-building, Bertha Belle Jarrell Ennis and Imogene Welch Kramedas did their usual both lovely-to-look-at-and-easy-to-hear selection.

You will pardon the writer for not taking note of the names of the renditions. That point didn't seem nearly as important as the realization that here were mothers and fathers who had once (so recently it seemed) been sitting in the choir loft as just youngsters.

And then - these mommies and daddies handed over their kiddies to the mom-moms and pop-pops, gathered

FREDERICA WOMAN KILLED WHEN HER CAR OVERTURNS

A Frederica woman was killed last Thursday when the station wagon she was driving overturned on Delaware 35 about two miles south of Frederica.

Mrs. Ruth A. Dill, 26, of 248 Market St., Frederica, was taken to Kent General Hospital in the ambulance of the Harrington Fire Company and was dead on arrival at 3:35 p.m.

According to state police at Dover, Mrs. Dill was apparently traveling at high speed and failed to negotiate a curve as her vehicle traveled north on 35.

The scene of the accident was between Laws Church and Carpenter's Bridge.

A Harrington Journal reporter, at the scene, estimated Mrs. Dill ran onto a soft shoulder. When she attempted to get back on the highway, the vehicle turned onto its top, throwing out the driver.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Rogers Funeral Home, Milford, with interment in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery.

Traffic Here Rerouted 2 Days; Crash Kills Truck Driver

By Carrington H. Burgess

Harrington can breathe again. For 48 hours its attention, and that of the area, was focused on a wrecked tractor-trailer on the southbound lane of U.S. 13 between Paul Callaway's furniture store and the Oaks.

The vehicle, carrying 8,500 gallons of liquid petroleum gas, was wrecked about 4:40 p.m. Friday when it blew a tire, crashed into a tree, and burst into flames.

The driver, William E. Jermain, 56, of near Ellendale, was killed instantly.

Until Sunday evening the Harrington area could have been the scene of a movie chiller.

Threat of Gas Explosion

While imperiled firemen took an hour to extinguish the blaze, there was the danger of an explosion. Rushing to the scene were fire companies from Harrington, Felton, Magnolia, Greenwood, Houston, Frederica Slaughter Beach, Camden-Wyoming Milford (Carlisle), Goldsboro, Md., Bridgeville, Farmington, and South Bowers.

A state police helicopter brought in the fire chief of Getty Oil Company, Delaware City, to advise on wetting down the hot fuel tanks. At times there were 25 pieces of fire-fighting equipment at the scene.

One tree had to be cut down to provide proper access to the tanks.

Meanwhile area tank trucks were carrying water from ditches, the Harrington water system, their home communities, and that of the Delaware State Fair grounds. This water was transferred to the $40,000 pumper of the Harrington Fire Company and sprayed on the tanks which belonged to Northern Propane Gas Company, Harrington.

Rerouting of Traffic

The consistent passage of tank trucks and the operations on U.S. 13 entailed rerouting of traffic two days and nights. Harrington, with numerous flashing warning lights at the barricades had as many lights as it has at Christmas. This entailed numerous fire police from the area, working four-hour shifts.

Northbound U.S. 13 traffic was rerouted on the Frederica road, thence to the Paradise Alley Road and U.S. 13. Southbound traffic turned right at Paradise Alley and proceeded to the Harrington-Felton back road.

This traffic entered Harrington on Dorman Street, turned left at Liberty Street and proceeded to U.S. 13. It was novel to see a Trailways bus, destined for Norfolk, going south past Quillen's Dairy Market on Dorman Street.

But the firefighters could not go hungry-auxiliary members from Felton, Farmington, Houston and Harrington provided the food. Army cots were put up in Harrington Fire Hall for the weary. By Sunday night, it was all over.

A sidelight of the operation was excessive use of the City's water mains and the rupture of a water line at the Harrington Journal, Harrington Laundry, the Post Office, and near the railroad signal tower. City employees worked more than a day to repair the breaks which were caused by excessive force in the mains while trucks were filling at a fireplug on Fleming Street and Mechanic Street.

At 4:30 a.m. Saturday a single peal of thunder shook houses and awakened residents. One said, "My God, the truck has exploded."

Controlled Burning Of Leaves Possible

Harrington citizens can burn leaves, with restrictions, the City informed The Journal Tuesday.

After securing approval of the state Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control, it was agreed citizens could burn leaves in metal containers, under surveillance, and in yards but not on the streets where such burning would cause damage.

Census Survey To Provide Profile Of American Voter And Non-Voter

Did you vote November 7? Were you registered but did not vote?

The Bureau of the Census will ask these and other questions about voting activity in the 1972 national election of persons 18 and older in a sample of households in this area during the week of November 20-24.

John G. Gibson, Director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Philadelphia, stressed that no questions will be asked about party affiliation or for whom a person voted.

The survey will provide a profile of the typical American voter and non-voter: age, sex, residence, education, labor force status, and family income.

In a similar survey following the 1968 presidential election, higher voting participation was found among men, persons 45 to 64 years, whites, people living outside the South, those with higher educational attainment, larger family incomes, and in white-collar occupations.

MILFORD HOSPITAL REDUCES LABORATORY RATES

For the third time in 15 months, Milford Memorial Hospital will reduce laboratory rates, it was announced today by Joseph B. Ahlschier, Administrator.

Bucking the national trend of ever-increasing hospital costs, Milford Memorial will reduce charges on seven additional lab tests, which can now be handled on their automatic clinical analyzer. This ultramodern machine, because of its speed and accuracy permits the hospital to better utilize its lab technicians and, as a result, has already saved hospital patients more than $23,000 in charges in its first year of operation.

Under Milford's new schedule, blood alcohol tests (which previously required a lab technician two-and-a-half hours to complete manually at a cost of $12.50) will now be completed in 10 minutes at a patient cost of $4. Mr. Ahlschier said.

Blood chlorides tests, which assist the physician in determining the proper formula for intravenous therapy, are now reduced from 25 minutes to 10 minutes and from $5 to $4.

Creatinine - kidney function test - will be reduced in time from 30 to 10 minutes and in cost from $5 to $4. Spinal fluid glucose test, which aids in diagnosis of spinal fluid infection, also will be reduced in time and money the same as the Creatinine tests.

Salicylate - the test for aspirin content in blood - will also reduce the testing time from 30 to 10 minutes and from $6 to $4. The calcium test, which previously took 90 minutes to complete, will now be completed in 10 at a cost of only $4. Uric acid tests, which assist with the diagnosis and treatment of gout, will now cost $4 instead of $5 and will take only 10 minutes to complete.

Buyers Want Greenaway Property Annexed

The purchasers of a substantial tract of land want it annexed to the City.

Garrett Grier and Thomas Draper, both of Milford, and representing the Progress Corporation, recently purchased the Greenaway property of some 59+ acres on U.S. 13 and the branch line of the Penn Central Railroad.

Monday night the duo appeared before the City Council and requested annexation. In order, the request was for annexation, rezoning to commercial and sewer and water.

Draper told the Council he had a prospect for a substantial industry on about 15 acres of the tract.

A public hearing and a referendum are the machinery for annexation.

Mayor Burton E. Satterfield, after the departure of the Milford residents, advised thinking very seriously about it.

In other business, the Council: Heard the Harrington Fire

Company refuse to give the City permission to install two 550-gallon gasoline tanks in the rear of the City Hall, which is owned by the fire company. The company disapproved the move because of possible expansion.

Agreed to donate $700 for Christmas lighting power. Lights are furnished by the Chamber of Commerce.

Tabled request of Ace Manufacturing Company - for reduction of sewer and water costs.

KENT COUNTY CURRENTS

JOSHUA M. TWILLEY
Levy Court President

Last Friday I sent a copy of the proposed airport agreement between the Air Force and Kent County to the Delaware State News and requested it print it in full.

I understand it has declined to do so. It is difficult for a public official to explain a complicated agreement to 82,000 people without the help and co-operation of the news and radio media. The Levy Court intends to take every possible step to see this information made public and every interested citizen has an opportunity to express his comments, suggestions and opinions.

One of the first things the Levy Court will do is hold another public hearing on the matter.

We will also provide speakers to any organization or community group which will make a request for this and we will contact these organizations by letter to notify them of this offer.

It would be my proposal that only after all of these efforts have been completed should the Levy Court again consider signing the amended agreement, for joint use airport with Dover Air Force Base.

The Court welcomes the suggestions of interested citizens.

Senior Center News

Is it really true that senior citizens have more fun? Come to the Center and see! There's arts and crafts—making pine cone wreaths, knitting stoles and afghans, ceramics, making strings of beautiful beads in the colors you need, designing useful place mats from dish cloths; then shopping trips, bowling, covered dish luncheons, birthday parties, bingo, even the soap operas on TV. Who could ask for anything more!

Everyone is busy readying articles for the annual bazaar to be held at the Center on Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. It is hoped that it will be possible to have purchases gift-wrapped for a nominal fee by one of our gifted members. So many useful, unusual, and beautiful articles will be on sale both days between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Citizens of Harrington and vicinity responded again and made our election day project a success. The Board of Directors are grateful and encouraged by the response to attempt another dinner in the near future.

The rummage Sale held at Spence's Bazaar in Dover, also helped in our fund raising campaign to the total of $170. These projects will help defray the expense of the addition to the Center which is about halfway completed.

New members welcomed to the Center are Mrs. Mary Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pitlick, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Draper, and Mrs. Nellie Chevrevil, of Felton.

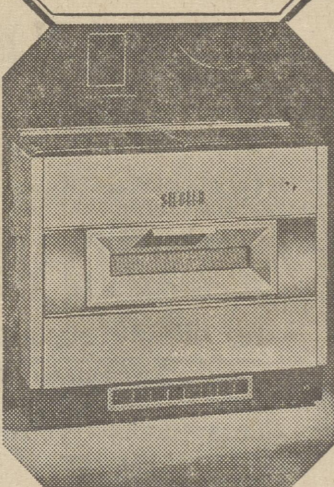

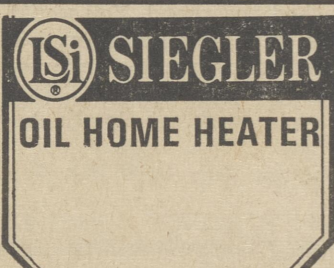

There are now twelve bowlers meeting at the Milford Bowling Lanes every Thursday at 10 a.m. Each is proudly sporting a new bowling shirt with his or her name printed on the pocket. The spectator section is growing also.

At the birthday party held Tues., Nov. 14, there were two members honored: Amy Price, whose birthday was Nov. 4, and Catherine Hobbs, who will pass another year on Nov. 26. Best wishes also to Frances Harrington, Oliven Williams, Juanita McClain, Oris Hobbs, Edna Kelly and Frieda Wilcutts all of whom were unable to attend.

Another red-letter day coming up! The Center will supply turkey at the Thanksgiving covered dish luncheon to be held Tues., Nov. 21, while those attending will furnish the vegetables, salads, and relishes. Bingo will be the entertainment for the afternoon.

The Center will be open on Thanksgiving Day with the express purpose of serving a holiday meal to those Senior citizens who are unable to prepare for themselves or those who would otherwise be alone. POEMS FROM PARADISE PASTURES their music and marched in pairs to the altar as they had many candle-light services ago. They went into their old places, sopranos, altos, tenors, and basses, to sing all together with Mr. Brobst conducting them in a number they had all sung at one time or another. It was very touching and most significant. Melvin Brobst had done something fine for each person in that chock-full church. Because of Mel, three hundred and fifteen people were gathered together to express gratitude to one of The Lord's servants who asked for nothing other than to serve.

Back in April of '66 the Senior High School Band gave an outstanding concert at which a lovely number was sung and dedicated to the seniors of that year's class. It was always a favorite of Mel's - this time it's dedicated to him.

May you always walk in sunshine, slumber warm when night winds blow;

May you always live with laughter, for a smile becomes you so.

May good fortune find your doorway, may the bluebirds sing your song;

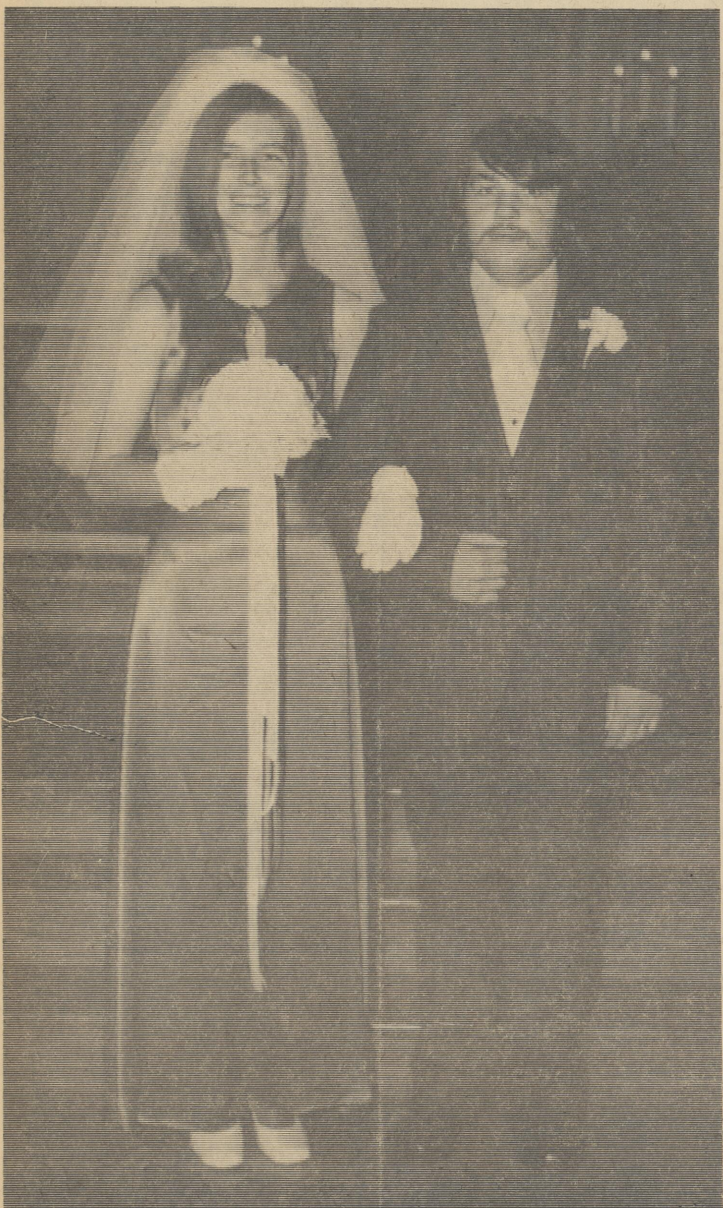

May no trouble travel your way, may no worry stay too long.

May your heartaches be forgotten, may no tears be spilled;

May old acquaintance to be remembered, and your cup of kindness filled.

And may you always be a dreamer, may your wild-est dreams come true;

May you keep someone to love, as much as we love you.

State Harrier Meet Here, A First For Downstate Delaware

Last week's Delaware Scholastic Cross-Country Championships were held at Killen's Pond State Park. The two, title races (Division one and Division two) were billed as the first state championship finals ever held in lower Delaware.

A brand-new 2.8 mile course was laid out by Spartan Coach Jim Blades. Kudos and accolades were modestly received by the young, harrier leader, as runners and coaches, from all over Delaware, were enthusiastic about the course. Some of the upstate coaches stated that it surpassed any like setup, in the Diamond state.

Spectators gathered on a centrally-located hill and were able to see the runners, most of the time, unlike most cross-country races.

Nineteen larger schools toed the mark in Division I. 132 harriers swept up an incline at the start of the race, presenting a colorful spectacle, a little over 15 minutes later, John Benedict, of Brandywine High, was the new Division I state champion, after nosing

Lake Forest Was Respectable In Loss To Sallies

Despite other reports that Lake Forest's 34-6 loss to Salesianum was a rout or a mismatch, we beg to differ. We feel that the Spartans made a respectable showing, refused to give up, gave ground grudgingly and actually came closer to Salesianum in the final score, then did Conrad High, one of the top teams, in Flight A of the Blue Hen Conference.

Salesianum, an all boys school, has more males, than Lake Forest has students, gets athlete from Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey, as well as Delaware and competes regularly against top-notch opponents, taking on rivals from Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, etc. In fact, Baltimore Poly High bowed to the Sallies 33-0, a couple of games ago. We think Lake Forest did a good job.

The Spartans managed to hold the upstate titans to a 2-1 advantage in total yardage and first downs and got on the scoreboard early. Punky Harrington and Skip O'Neal opened a hole in Salesianum's line. Neil Travis flitted through and sped 65 yards for a touchdown. WDEL's Bob Kelly remarked several times about the speed of the Lake Forest backfield.

The Sallies methodically ground out scores in every period, while Lake Forest's second-best push of the night ended sixteen yards from paydirt, on an interception.

Mark McLane, of the winners, had his usual great game, rolling up close to 200 yards and tallying three touchdowns. Lake Forest did get a bonus this weekend, however, Seaford upset Woodbridge giving the Spartans, the Southern Division title, regardless of the outcome of the "Battle of the Bell" between Milford and Lake Forest at Harrington on Turkey Day. Nevertheless, Coach Al Wood intends to see that the pigskin trophy stays in the Lake Forest trophy case for another year.

Harriers Beat Woodbridge, End With 8-2 Log

Jim Blades' Lake Forest cross-country Spartans, ended a fine 8-2 season by racking up a perfect 15-50 score, against Woodbridge, despite the absence of star runners, Dave Moore and Vernon Bowers.

Without the ill pair, the Spartans had the first nine runners, across the finish line, led by Ed Thompson in 13.23 for the 2.4 mile course. Harry Benson, Terry Pettyjohn, Ron Mosley, Barry Doherty, Kit Tilghman, Bob Kashner, Howard Caskey and Chris Adamo, all beat the entire Blue Raider squad.

Harrington Bowling League

Congratulations, Robbin's Hardware, on winning the first third championship. Even though there is still one week to go in the first third, Robbin's Hardware served up the title by taking three points from Jarrell Fuel Tuesday night to stretch their league leading margin to seven games. Robbin's missed by a single pin in making a clean sweep over their opponents.

Harry Chadwick set the pace for the Hardware squad with a superb 581 set, which included a great 231 game and Harry Brown added a real good effort also, along with a good above average effort from Herb Robbins. Gordon Jarrell made a real fine starting effort for Jarrell's.

Leroy Wheeler with a grand 588 series and a great 233 game, and Bill Brode's real fine effort led Fry's American to a three point victory over McKnatt Funeral Home to move up into second place. McKnatt's had to go into the contest with just four men, but Donald McKnatt, Ken Garey and Bob Garey made their presence felt as they rolled real good above average efforts.

Wally's Garage took three points from Brothers Five as the whole team bowled their average with Wally Ryan getting a little in excess of his average for a full team effort. Roy Dennis blasted a 222 game and a real fine series effort and Buck Thompson added a 542 set, including a 203 game for Brothers Five, enabling them to salvage one point.

The Taylor & Messick squad got back to its winning ways by trouncing Big John's Son in all games to collect four big points. Snooky Collins led the way, amassing a great 571 series, including a fine 222 game, and Bobby Collins chipped in with a real fine above average effort for Taylor & Messick's victory. Bill Kohel, Jim Carroll and Henry Webb bowled real well in a losing cause for Big John's Son.

The Spoilers couldn't handle Butler's Fuel as they dropped three points to their opponents. Ronald Wright led all bowlers with a grand 242 game as he collected a 543 series and Robert Wright and Larry Larimore also bowled real good above average efforts for Butler's Fuel.

The T & M Rejects had only a four man squad but managed to take three points from People's Restaurant as Junior Bishop and Ray Wright bowled real good efforts. Norman Clough and Frank Collins rolled real good efforts for People's.

Penn Central, with only a four man squad, still took three points from Quillen's Market. The whole railroad squad bowled above average efforts with Paul Baker hitting a 523 effort. Eddie Kemp paced Quillen's Market, enabling them to take one game from their opponents.

Letter To The Editor

On Fri. afternoon, Nov. 10, at 4:30 p.m., an alarm was turned in at the Harrington Fire House. A propane transport vehicle had returned on U.S. 13 and was fully involved in flame. The events that followed and the actions taken are now history. A community such as ours, located on the busy U.S. 13, is constantly exposed to vehicles carrying flammable and combustible materials and what appeared to be an eventually turned into a reality. We can extremely thankful that the site was such that no real property damage occurred and only one injury was suffered, that unfortunately the death of the driver of the ill-fated vehicle.

The next 48 hours plus provided the community some discomfort of that I'm sure. Business certainly suffered due to the re-routing of traffic. Normal routines were broken. Residents were subjected to flashing lights, the motors of raging fire engines and the overall disruption something of this nature causes. Your patience and cooperation through the ordeal was just tremendous and merits recognition.

Your fire company was there. It was our fight, a fight to save lives and prevent damage to community property. If there was ever evidence of where your welcomed donations to our annual fund appeal go, this was the place. Our equipment ran for 48 hours straight, our volunteers worked for long hours without rest and our ladies auxiliary fed what amounted to a small army. And, thank God, we won!

Certainly the Harrington Fire Company cannot take all the hurrahs here. We were supported by neighboring and distant fire companies without whose assistance this job could have never been accomplished.

Working together, at times, seems almost like a thing of the past, or at least until this eventful weekend. This weekend was strictly an emphasis on people, pride and ability to get a job that needs to be done, done. If the community could have seen this operation from beginning to end, it would have certainly been touched and proud. You would have seen young firemen, not so young firemen, law enforcement officials, utility officials, etc. all working closely together.

We can only hope that this event will bring to mind that your volunteer firemen are totally involved in the well-being of their community and it's neighbors. If you haven't budgeted a donation to your fire company and their auxiliaries, think about it. It may be your best buy of the year.

THANK YOU

The Harrington Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary wishes to thank members of Felton, Farmington, Houston and Carlisle Auxiliaries for their assistance during our recent emergency. Also thanks to all community volunteers for their kind deeds.

Fire Company Auxiliary News

The meeting was called to order by the president, Dorothy Collins, Nov. 13. There were nineteen members present.

Reports were given by the secretary, treasurer, and financial secretary. Mrs. Oliver, Sunshine chairman, reported Get Well Cards were sent to Mrs. Helen Rash Mrs. Edith Massey and Mrs. Christine Clymer.

We are extremely proud of the way everyone worked together. A special thank you to our President for her efforts and to the Felton auxiliary for helping to prepare food and the loan of equipment...

Our calendar looks busy for the next month or so. If you can't attend our regular meeting night, keep a watch for our news the second Thursday of each month.

Members of the Auxiliary will be dining at Little Creek, Dec. 12, for our annual Christmas get together.

The Auxiliary will serve dinner to members of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, Dec. 9. Help will be needed in the kitchen that afternoon and evening.

A monument will be purchased by the Fire Company in honor of deceased members of the Fire Company and Auxiliary voted to share in the cost of the monument.

Nomination of officers took place, with a 98% line up for 1973. We will leave readers in suspense until the election in December.

The Kent County Ladies Auxiliary Meeting will be Nov. 23, at 7:30 p.m. at Magnolia.

Chester Short extended his thanks on behalf of the firemen for our help with the accident over the weekend.

As most members of the community know by now, a gas truck overturned on Rt. 13 Friday evening, closing off a section of the highway and putting the surrounding area in immediate danger.

In loving memory of my son, Frederick J. Brown, who passed away 8 years ago Nov. 14, 1964.

In our home there is a beautiful photo It's more precious than silver and gold

It is the one of you, dear Freddie That will never ever grow old.

Each time we look at your photo I'm more precious than silver and gold

You seem to smile and say, "Don't cry mother, I am only sleeping"

We will meet again some day. Dearly loved and sadly missed Mother and Brother Dick B 11/16

Results of this monthly survey provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the country. The September survey showed that employment continued to rise, while unemployment was essentially unchanged.

The September unemployment rate of 5.5 percent was about the same as in the previous three months, but below the 6-percent mark around which it had fluctuated between late 1970 and May 1972.

New Bluegrass Varieties More Shade Tolerant

Anybody who has tried to grow grass under trees or dense shrubs knows the value of sunlight in producing healthy turfgrass. No matter how much trees add to the natural beauty of the landscape, the shade they produce has a major effect on the grass underneath.

So important are the effects of shade on bluegrass that homeowners are often advised to go on fescues and reduce the bluegrass in their lawn mixtures. But when the light intensity is reduced to less than 20 percent of normal, even the turf specialists give up and recommend the shade tolerant ground covers such as ivy or pachysandra.

Grass breeders, however, have taken giant steps toward changing the conventional idea about bluegrass. New varieties of Kentucky bluegrass are now on the market, and many are being used successfully under a range of growing conditions. Among the improved varieties are Merion, Windsor, Fyking Pennstar, Kenblue and Warren's A-34.

Three of these bluegrass—Merion, Windsor, and Kenblue—were used in recent shade tests at the University of Delaware. According to Dr. William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist, and Jay Levin, technician in the University's soil testing laboratory, the tests showed that a moderate amount of shade is desirable for bluegrass as other production practices are watched carefully.

The Delaware researchers have found that shading tends to take the heat off Kentucky bluegrass thus producing an environment similar to areas further north where bluegrass thrives. This "cooling effect" of shade has produced a 100 percent increase in Kentucky bluegrass over unshaded plots.

In the Delaware tests Merion, Windsor, and Kenblue were also tested under varying amounts of shade and nitrogen fertilization. The researchers rated Kenblue the best bluegrass, Windsor second and Merion third.

Three pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet applied to unshaded Kentucky bluegrass increased growth by over 200 percent. When the light intensity was reduced by 70 percent, this same amount of nitrogen increased growth by only 19 percent. Mitchell says these results point to the relative ineffectiveness of nitrogen under shade. It may be wise to decrease the amount of nitrogen you use as the amount of shade increases.

The following steps will help produce an attractive turf under shade, adds Levin.

1. When seeding a new lawn or renovating your present lawn, go heavy on Kenblue in the seeding mixture.
2. Watch your nitrogen applications closely. Too much nitrogen as well as too little can retard growth.
3. Water early in the day. Your grass will have time to dry off before night which will decrease the chance of disease and insect damage.
4. When mowing, increase the height of cut to 2½-3½ inches to minimize the effects of limited light.

TOWN AND COUNTRY TOPICS

DAVE WOODWARD
ASSISTANT KENT COUNTY AGENT

Nothing burns a farmer more than to have a hunter or group of hunters march across his land without asking permission. On the other hand, many hunters have traveled out in the country only to come away disheartened by the decreasing number of good hunting places.

Changes in cultivation practices and larger fields with fewer fence rows have reduced ground coverage which is necessary for good wildlife production. Probably, the most discouraging element to the urban hunter is the "No Hunting" and "No Trespassing" signs.

There are many reasons for the farm tenant or owner refusing hunters admittance to their property. Probably the biggest reasons are the unfavorable experiences with hunters in the past and the misunderstanding of the landowner's liability. Older farmers can testify to hunter infractions, such as trespassing without permission, careless use of firearms, damage to buildings and fences, and thoughtless discarding of cigarettes. Occasionally, a farmer's livestock has been shot or members of his family hit by stray pellets because they were mistaken for game. Only good sportsmanship and common sense can prevent these kinds of incidents.

The best advice we can give to a person looking for a place to hunt is to ask the owner for permission. The worst thing the farmer can say is "No," but if you assume that you can hunt on his property, you can be arrested for trespassing.

Perdue University Extension Safety Specialist, F. R. Willsey, has designed a special study on how hearing is damaged by operation of powered farm equipment.

The age of the participants in the study ranged from the 20's into the 60's, and acres of cropland farmed from 100 to 2,400. The hearing measurements were made at 250, 500, 1,000, 2,000, 4,000 and 8,000 Hertz (Z) or cycles per second.

The greatest loss in all ages came at the 4,000 and 8,000 frequencies. A significant loss first appeared at the 30 to 39 age group and became more prominent in the 40 to 49 year group.

High frequency loss does not decrease a person's ability to hear normal conversation, but it is a warning. Continued loss will, in time, bring an individual into the 2,000 to 3,000 HZ range and this does interfere with conversational hearing.

An interesting factor noted in the study was the difference in the hearing ability of the right and left ears. In the younger age group, there was a constant trend for the hearing in the right ear to be better than in the left ear. The difference may exist because a farmer generally turns his head to the right while plowing, mowing, or other harvest jobs to observe trailing equipment. Therefore, the left ear is turned more often to the source of the extreme noise.

What can you do to maintain good hearing or prevent further damage to hearing? One suggestion is for the farmer to get a tractor with low noise level with at least less than 90 decibels at the operator position. (Noise is now measured on all makes of tractors at the Official Tractor Testing Station, Lincoln, Neb.)

A noise reducing cab-type tractor could be the answer, although a few tractors may operate quietly enough to meet the requirements without a cab. Some cabs only increase the noise levels, so not just any cab will do.

Hearing protection can be achieved by wearing specially designed ear muffs or ear plugs and are available at some of the agricultural supply stores.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne W. Holberton

Marie Antoinette might not have come to such a dismal end if she could have reworded her famous quotation of "let them eat cake" to let them eat turkey. Unfortunately, turkey wasn't available during the 18th Century in the quantities or quality that it is now.

Food and its availability and price has always been a major factor in history, and it is certainly no different today as all of us become more and more aware of the total on our grocery checkout receipt.

Turkey is considered as one of our "best buys" today. But how much do we buy? Here is a rule of thumb to follow when buying ready-to-cook birds. When a turkey weighs less than 12 lbs. allow 3/4 to 1 lb. per serving. A 12 lb. and over turkey, allow 1/2 to 3/4 lb. per serving. A large meat-type bird will yield 2/3 white meat and 1/3 dark meat. With these figures in mind you can select the turkey best suited to your need.

Since the majority of the turkeys sold today are frozen what is the quickest and best way to thaw. Let's face it all methods take time. And its important to remember safety factors such as most food spoilage organisms grow rapidly between 40° and 140° F. Temperatures between 60° and 120° F are in the danger zone, allowing very rapid bacterial growth. If food is in this temperature range for more than 3 or 4 hours enough bacteria could grow and survive to cause illness. There are three safe ways of doing this job by early December to prevent winter injury. When temperatures fall below 20 degrees Fahrenheit some roses can be injured, and below 10 degrees many are killed, he warns.

the turkey and cook as soon as possible.

Methods:
1. Thaw in refrigerator in original wrap. Turkeys under 18 lbs. take about 1 to 2 days to thaw; 18 lbs. and over 2 to 3 days.

2. Thaw in cold water. Place frozen turkey in its watertight wrap in COLD water. Change water frequently to hasten thawing. Small birds take about an hour to become pliable; larger turkeys will take up to 6 or 8 hours. A combination of methods 1 and 2 may be used. Partly thawing in refrigerator, then completing in cold water.

3. Thaw in paper bags. Place turkey in its original plastic wrap, in a double thickness of heavy paper bags and close end; or wrap well in newspaper and set in corrugated box. Place covered turkey in coolest room available. A 12 to 16 lb. bird requires 12 to 14 hours to thaw; a 20 to 24 lb. turkey, from 16 to 18 hours.

To help you remember when to thaw your turkey write a large clear note to remind you. Post it on the refrigerator door. Don't take chances with family and friends health by taking short cuts which may end up making you sick. Enjoy the holiday.

Prepare Roses For Winter Now

November is a good time to prepare roses for the winter, says Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Roses should be winterized after several freezes of 28 degrees Fahrenheit or lower. Protection should be in place by early December to prevent winter injury. When temperatures fall below 20 degrees Fahrenheit some roses can be injured, and below 10 degrees many are killed, he warns.

Since roses continue to absorb moisture through the roots and lose it through the canes during the winter, injury is usually caused by the actual freezing of the plants or excessive loss of moisture by evaporation.

The first step to winterizing these plants is to cut the canes back to reduce wind whipping. Excessive wind whipping can loosen and damage the crown and stems. Usually this means cutting back to about three feet high. This depends on the vigor of the variety. Some roses do not need to be cut back.

This cutting back should not be a complete pruning job, however, Stevens says. Pruning is left until early spring. And you should not fertilize roses at this time of year. Fertilizer stimulates new growth that can be easily damaged.

Many gardeners place soil around the base of their roses for protection against winter injury. Rose cones are also popular, but some are more effective than others, he adds.

When using the soil method, don't scrape soil from between the plants. This exposes roots to freezing. Obtain dry soil from other areas in the garden. A homemade collar can help keep the soil in place but is usually not needed.

For additional protection leaves, hay or straw can be added later, he says. However, if this is done too early, mice will nest in the material and chew on the canes.

Creating glamorous clothes for holiday parties will be easier than ever this year. It's a fairly simple matter to make a long skirt of colorful fabric and team it with a blouse or sweater appropriate for the fabric and for the occasion.

It's no problem either to find a wide selection of fabrics suited to your taste. Colorful soft knits drape well for skirts with slight fullness or cling if you want a close fit. Stiffer fabrics, such as taffetas and heavy cottons, look best in a fitted skirt, either straight or with flared fullness. There are even fabrics with shirred waistbands along one edge and all you have to do is buy two inches less than your waist measure, sew up the side, put in the hem, and you're all set to go.

Border and scarf prints are fun, but careful planning is necessary so the stripes will be exactly where you want them. Wool or quilted fabrics look great and are comfortable on cool evenings or in a drafty room.

Many skirts are worn with matching or contrasting belts. So, if you don't do your most perfect job on the waistband, a belt can cover mistakes.

Finding the right blouse to go with the skirt may be a bigger problem than making the skirt. You may save time in the long run by making exactly what you want. Ready-to-wear styles and colors are limited, although body sweaters and tailored blouses seem to be in plentiful supply in basic colors. The hours spent hurrying the right blouse could be spent making it.

If you're going in for the skirt and blouse look, consider your own height. Women on the short side will look taller with a blouse and skirt of one color or if the blouse is the same color as the background of the print. If a belt is used, it, too, should be the same rather than a contrasting color.

Another idea to consider for holiday clothes is the glitter knit. There are beautiful ones available this year. They're easy to sew and can be packed if holiday plans call for travel. It's fun to dress up for special occasions and this year, it's easy.

Correct Preparation For Thanksgiving Turkeys

Thanksgiving is just around the corner and in most American homes that means turkey. But to a lot of American cooks, turkeys mean problems. They aren't really that hard if you know what you're doing, says Miss Marguerite Krackhardt, extension nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

There are three major areas where problems can arise. They are selecting and preparing the bird, cooking, and handling leftovers.

It is essential to remember that all poultry, including turkey, is highly perishable, Miss Krackhardt says. At every point in the preparation of a turkey, it is necessary to take steps to prevent spoilage.

When you're buying your turkey, look for the U.S. Department of Agriculture shield. This indicates the poultry came from healthy animals and was inspected throughout the packing operation. However, just because a turkey has been inspected doesn't mean it is free from bacteria. They are present in all meat, but proper handling and cooking will keep them at safe levels.

When you get the turkey home, put it in the refrigerator at once. If you want to freeze it, wrap it tightly in freezer paper or aluminum foil, she says.

As a rule, turkeys have to be thawed before they are cooked. Exceptions are whole birds frozen without giblets and frozen poultry parts, which can be cooked without thawing first. Commercially frozen stuffed turkeys must never be thawed before cooking, Miss Krackhardt warns.

But those turkeys which must be thawed, be sure to allow plenty of time. Because spoilage organisms grow rapidly between 40 and 140 degrees Fahrenheit, only three suggested methods are safe for thawing. In each case, the turkey is thawed until pliable. At this point, the neck and giblets should be cooked as soon as it finishes thawing.

Turkeys can be thawed in the refrigerator in their original wrap. Birds under 18 pounds take one to two days to thaw, those over 18 pounds take two to three days. They can also be thawed by placing them in watertight wrap and dunking them in cook water. Change the water frequently, but keep it cold, she says. Small birds take about one hour to become pliable, large turkeys take six to eight hours.

Another method is to wrap the turkey in paper bags or newspapers and allow them to set in the coolest room available, preferably an unheated garage or porch. Small birds will thaw in 12 to 14 hours, large birds in 16 to 18 hours.

The easiest way to tell when the turkey is done is to use a meat thermometer. The thermometer should be inserted into the center of the inner thigh, but should not touch the bone. The bird is done when the thermometer reaches 180 to 185 degrees Fahrenheit. The stuffing is done when it reaches 165 degrees.

Some practices are unsafe because they encourage bacterial growth, Miss Krackhardt says. Turkeys should never be partially cooked one day and finished the following day. They should not be cooked at a low temperature overnight. They should not be stuffed the night before they are cooked. After the bird has been cooked, it still isn't entirely safe, she adds. For added protection, all of the stuffing should be removed from the cavity as soon as possible after serving. The meat should also be removed from the bones as soon as possible. The meat and gravy should be cooled quickly, refrigerated, and used within one or two days.

Cooked turkey can be stored for a longer time if it is frozen. It will hold for six months if it's covered with gravy or broth before freezing, but only one month if it is not covered. In either case, the freezer temperature should not exceed 0 degrees Fahrenheit, she says.

How to get a creak out of your stairs? With someone standing on the faulty tread to hold the tread to the riser, drive a finish nail (2-inch) through the tread and into the riser. You may also use cement coated nails. These should be driven in, every four inches. Nail heads should be sunk below the surface of the stair with a nail set and hidden with plastic wood. Screws may also be used, but should be sunk below the surface.

This is just one of many helpful suggestions that are freely given by the experienced staff at HARRINGTON LUMBER & SUPPLY, Harrington, 398-3241. Don't hesitate to call or stop by for help on how to get a job done. This is a good time to replace windows and doors and we have a full line of Anderson windows and other doors and trims. Call us at 398-3241 and we'll be glad to assist you. Open 7:30 a.m.-5 p.m. Mon. thru Fri., 7 a.m. to noon Sat.
