Cold water paste is the best and most common adhesive for hanging wallpaper. You buy it in a powder which is then mixed with water. Make sure the bucket you use is clean and galvanized. This paste is much easier to prepare than a paste of boiled flour and water which was formerly used. There is a ready-to-stick type paper as well. This needs only to be moistened with water and smoothed onto the walls. The cardinal rule is this: take time; don't hurry. You will find yourself doing a better job.

Better jobs start with the better supplies available at HARRINGTON LUMBER & SUPPLY, Harrington, 398-3241. We can give you the right information you need when fixing up your home and we have the quality merchandise you need at competitive prices. We don't have, or need elaborate buildings or fancy showrooms and pass the savings on to you. Hours: Mon thru Fri 7:30am-5pm, Sat, 7:30am-noon.

OUR JOYOUS GIFTS

A book to read, an easy chair,
 A garden spot when days are fair,
 A friend or two life's path to share.

A game to play, a task to do,
 A goal to strive for and pursue,
 Sweet sleep to last the whole night through.

Such wisdom as will man befit,
 To sit with learned sage and wit,
 Discussing life and holy writ.

Some judgment as to right and wrong,
 The sense to value mirth and song,
 With these the humblest man is strong.

With these the humblest one can find,
 His path with countless pleasures lined:
 Contentment, pride and peace of mind.

Busy Bill Moore At City Track Test

Bill Moore, who will be an eighth grader at W.T. Chipman School, is an active 13-year-old, who had a busy evening at the final track meet of the summer series, held at Baynard Stadium, Wilmington, Wednesday night.

Bill warmed up by running his last quarter mile even (66 seconds) at Washington College, Chestertown, Md., Tuesday afternoon. Later with Ron Mosley, David Richter and 11-year-old Chris Wilson, he ran part of the college cross-country course.

In Wilmington he competed in five events, three in his age group (12-13) plus two in the 14-17 division and won awards in four of them. Bill annexed the 12-13 shot put, as he hurled the eight-pound iron ball 36 feet 2 inches. Also in 12-13 he was second in the high jump, (4 feet, 8 inches) and in the 440 yard run, with a personal best of 65 seconds.

Moore, was second in the 14-

17 discus with a throw of 68 feet, 10 inches, before going unplaced in the mile run.

Harry "Smooth" Benson, 15, was third in the mile run with his best, four-lapper in some time, an excellent 4:57 clocking. Ron Mosley was next in 4:59.

David Richter, 13, proved his recent fine 5:24 clocking was no fluke, by coming home in 5:25. Barry Doherty came across in 5:32. Barry is more at home in longer races.

First Harrier Workout Encourages

Coach Jim Blades was pleased with the results of Monday night's first cross-country workout of the season. Some top runners were missing since Kit Tilghman and Joe Voshell are out of town, while George Gibbs, Ed Thompson and Jamie Simpson were rehearsing with the Lake Forest Spartan Marching Band.

Ron Mosely led the 25 runners around the new 2.4 miles course, at Killen's Pond State Park. Harry Benson, Terry Pettyjohn, Chris Adamo, John Moffett, Dave Moore, Barry Doherty, Bob Kashner, Grant Saulsbury, Jim Guyton, Bill Moore and Steve Saulsbury were other runners up close. Grant Saulsbury looks strong after sitting out 1972.

Benson was No. 2 Spartan in 1972, as a freshman. John Moffett, a talented freshman, could be another Chris Wetherhold, if he could be persuaded to run the year round, as the Spartan multi-record holder did.

Bill Moore, 13, is expected to vie for the No. 1 ranking on the Chipman School team (7th and 8th grades) with newcomer David Richter, who had marks of 2:20 in the half mile and 5:24 in the mile in his first track season.

The Spartans lost no runners from the 1972 squad, which finished third in the state meet. Further strengthened by the addition of newcomer, Joe Voshell, who had an excellent track season, Lake Forest figured to be in contention for the state championship this autumn. They may still go all the way but their chances were weakened when Vernon Bowers elected to go out for football. Bowers has been out for football twice before. It remains to be seen if he can be as good on the gridiron as he was on the hills and dales. We believe he's got a ways to go before he can match earlier thinclad exploits.

At 13, Bowers was mentioned in an international magazine, when he was third in a national championship race in New York City, though wearing ill-fitting flats, while everyone else was in spikes. Properly shod, he could have won it all. As a 14-year-old freshman, he was No. 1 on the Lake Forest cross-country team and ran second in the multi-team Lake Forest Invitational. We felt Vernon Bowers could have received athletic scholarship offers for his running powers. If he gets such offers now, it will be for running powers on the gridiron.

Rebuilding Year For Football Spartans

Coach Al Wood says that he and his capable coaching staff will have to build character this campaign, since he doesn't have the manpower to construct an impressive won-lost record.

Glancing down the roster, it soon becomes apparent that practically every top performer of 1972 is no longer around. The closest thing to a veteran on the list is Jim Miner, a giant lineman. Most of the remaining candidates lack size or experience or ability. It's going to take a lot of hard work plus the inexorable passage of time to make winners out of the available raw material.

Leon Shockley, a husky, speedy sophomore from Fredericka should be a star of the future. Another prospect is Neal Smith, last year's freshman team quarterback.

Certain to see lots of action are Glen Hart, Jeff Chambers and Wayne Erne, a trio of large lads.

nis, manager and trainer. The Spartans host Smyrna Sept. 14. Dover and Caesar Rodney are on the schedule, replacing Seaford and Dover Air. The Falcon's have dropped football.

Letter To The Editor

LAKE FOREST EDUCATION ASSOCIATION
 LAKE FOREST SCHOOL DISTRICT

Dear Editor:
 I would like to bring the attention of the people of the Lake Forest School District to the importance of approving the referendum Sept. 12.

If you are in doubt about the necessity for this construction, visit the Lake Forest East Elementary School and find out first hand about the necessity for it.

The district is paying nearly as much in rent for the six old mobile classrooms ($600 each per year) as the district's share would be in paying back the construction loan for the new addition to Lake Forest East Elementary School.

I urge all parents and residents of this school district to put children first and vote for the proposal Sept. 12. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,
 James B. Testerman,
 Pres.

Del. River And Bay Authority News

Delaware River and Bay Authority members today reaffirmed an earlier position that port development in the Delaware Bay and the lower reaches of the Delaware River should be undertaken on a regional basis, and that it is the only bi-state agency with such jurisdiction.

A resolution unanimously adopted at today's monthly meeting called upon the Administrations of both states to hold joint discussions with the Authority on proposed legislation recently introduced in both New Jersey and Delaware which would open the way for future port development.

Today's resolution reaffirms the position taken by the Authority at an earlier meeting that the Authority is the only legal agency to recognize port development under terms of the bi-state compact which created it. The earlier resolution which was passed and sent to governors of both states opposes any unilateral move by either state in the area of port development.

In other actions today the Authority voted to sell the three remaining vessels of the Cape May-Lewes Ferry to Mascony, Inc. of New Bedford, Mass. Mascony is currently planning a new ferry service between Green Point, L.I., N.Y., and New London, Conn.

Total sale price for the three vessels was set at $1 1/2 millions. The vessels will be turned over to the purchaser as they are replaced by three new vessels presently under construction in Texas. Mascony has already purchased the S.S. New Jersey and took possession of the vessel earlier this month.

Placement of the car deck on the S.S. Delaware, first of the new vessels to be completed, was begun this week according to a report of the naval architect. At the same time the Authority announced it will receive bids Sept. 5 for construction of a pedestrian loading platform and other modifications at both the Cape May and Lewes terminals.

Authority Director William J. Miller Jr. reported that a license to sell beer aboard the vessels had been obtained from both the New Jersey and Delaware regulatory agencies. Miller said the sale of beer, which will be limited to the vessels only, will probably start this weekend or early next week.

Ernest A. Killen of Harrington, Kent County Democratic chairman, was seated as a new commissioner replacing Louis E. Edgell of Dover. Commissioner William A. Gemmel of Linwood, N.J., who was appointed for another five year term, was again officially seated.

Edward S. Stanskey of New Castle, was appointed to the post of safety director from Delaware at an annual salary of $7,500 over the objection of former Authority Chairman Dr. Albert F. Smith of Wilmington. Commissioner Smith said he objected on the grounds that he felt the appointment of a second

Here and There

BY Edna Massimilla

As vacations end and September's changes are almost here, it's a good time to think about cleaning out the closets and basements. Many people have done that last week and helped along the Garage Sale sponsored by Caesar Rodney Varsity Cheerleaders at the C.R. Senior High in Camden, Saturday.

On the same day there was a sale to help the Delaware Home and Hospital in Smyrna, with bargains of used clothes and other items. Those attending enjoyed refreshments.

Other benefit sales last week took place at Wesley College, where good used clothing was offered; also a rummage sale Saturday in Maryland at the old Catholic Church.

In Greenwood, at the Thrift Shop, there was a sale of miscellaneous items and used clothing for the benefit of Hickory Ridge Congregational Church.

Recent births in the area include a new daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chambers of Viola.

Mr and Mrs. Allen Sane of Magnolia are being congratulated on the birth of a son at Kent General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Shimp of Harrington are the parents of a new boy born Aug. 14.

A new arrival in Felton is a baby girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Hardy. She was born Aug. 21.

Other new parents in Felton are: Mr and Mrs. Ervin L. Dill, who have a new baby daughter born at Kent General Hospital Aug. 22.

Birthday congratulations to Blanche Mitchell who was 80 years old. A surprise party was given in her honor at the Senior Citizens Center in Harrington Aug. 18. About 50 people came.

Mrs. Mitchell recently visited her daughter, Mrs. Roland Melvin, in Dryden, Me., who is one of her six children. The five children present at the party were Harry B. Carpenter, Mrs. Thomas Pepper, Anna Dodd, Mrs. Raymond Brown, and Jack Carpenter. Also attending were grandchildren, great-grandchildren, cousins, and members of her Sunday School class.

The Rev. Bob Evans of Washington Bible College was a guest speaker Sunday at Faith Community Church, Camden. Frank Cloughes will begin his duties this fall as the new director of the Community Singers of Dover. Last Sunday the singers presented a concert at Fairlee Camp for 70 handicapped persons. Musical numbers included "Carousel", "My Fair Lady", "Fiddler On The Roof".

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bontreger of Wyoming have a new baby boy. Congratulations.

Best wishes to Debra Ann Kanich and Robert Palmer, whose engagement has been announced by Debra's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dean of Woodside. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James C. Palmer of Magnolia. The bride-to-be is a student at Caesar Rodney High School and she is employed at the Viola Food Market. DON'T SHOOT THE BULL!

Cadenhead vs. Goodman—Supreme Court of Mississippi (1927).

This case involves a suit for $195.00 in damages brought by Goodman against Cadenhead for shooting two bulls belonging to Goodman.

On the day of the shooting, the two bulls, named "Young Jake" and "Old Jake", jumped over the fence in order to visit the neighbor's cows. After spending the morning with the cows, the bulls decided to investigate the premises more thoroughly and wandered toward the residence of Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Harris stated that she observed the two bulls coming toward her, behaving in a rambunctious manner. They came up on her porch and she eluded them only by running in the house and slamming the door. The bulls continued to run around the yard, prompting Mrs. Harris to scream for help. However, her husband, a storekeeper, was busy at the store and did not hear her. A neighbor, J.L. Cadenhead, hearing Mrs. Harris' screams, grabbed a shotgun loaded with number six shot and rushed to her assistance.

He first shot into the air, hoping to "shoo" the bulls away. Old Jake "shooed." Cadenhead testified that while the old bull was retreating away from him in perfect disorder, Young Jake jumped the yard fence and fell in a pile of old plows and debris.

Seeing this, Cadenhead seemed to panic and fired several times at both bulls. We quote a part of Cadenhead's testimony:

Q. "At the time you shot was the bull advancing toward you?"

A. "No, going away from me."

Q. "And not destroying any property?"

A. "No sir."

Much testimony was offered to show that the bulls were fence jumpers and vicious. A neighbor named Bunk Jones testified that Old Jake had pursued him on one occasion and forced him to climb a cedar tree, where the bull kept him lodged for several hours. On the other hand, the bull owner's wife and children swore that the bulls were gentle and that the children patted and played with them on numerous occasions.

Additional testimony showed that Old Jake was wounded in such a part of his anatomy and to such an extent, it destroyed his value as a breeding animal and he had to be sent to slaughter. Young Jake died shortly after the shooting.

The Court decided the case as follows: On the testimony of Cadenhead himself, at the time he shot at the bulls, they were not engaged in any act of viciousness or violence or doing any real damage to person or property. The two bulls had severely frightened Mrs. Harris, but one may not shoot a valuable bull in punishment of a wrong or damage already committed by an animal even though he might have a right to shoot the offending animal while engaged in the act.

Since young Jake died as a result of being shot and Old Jake has been "disqualified as a breeder," the Court awarded $100.00 in damages.

It Seems To Me

Care labeling of fabrics has been in effect for a year. How do you feel about this labeling program? Is it helpful? Confusing? Do you find labels missing? Are instructions accurate? Would you like to see the care labeling extended to home furnishing items? These are questions being asked by the Federal Trade Commission.

For the most part, labeling is considered a big success. It is estimated that industry compliance is over ninety percent.

However, consumer comments would indicate that some instructions may not be accurate or complete. When the rule went into effect, laboratory pre-testing was not required to substantiate care labeling instructions. In some cases, where care labeling has proven to be an adequate guide, the Federal Trade Commission has been asking for proof in the form of a laboratory analysis.

One of the problems seems to be the labeling of yard goods. Manufacturers have been conscientious about supplying labels which should accompany yard goods when they are sold. Some retail stores have difficulty in making labels available to consumers. Untrained personnel may not be sure which label goes with which fabric; or may not be aware that labels are to be distributed when fabric is sold; or may not bother. Also, remnant fabrics do not require a label and many fabrics are sold as remnants.

If the consumer does not receive a label with the fabric purchase, she should ask for it.

Many consumers are puzzled at some of the care suggestions on ready-to-wear. Fabrics which appear to be washable are sometimes labeled "Dry Clean Only". These might have been mislabeled, or the manufacturer is playing it safe, or possibly garment construction requires special care.

The dry cleaning industry is concerned that some of the dry cleaning instructions are misleading or incorrect. They maintain that many garments are labeled "washable", but would be more satisfactory when dry cleaned. The industry proposes giving both washing and dry cleaning instructions if a garment may be cleaned by either method.

Labels are small and they may not give you sufficient information. It is easy to misunderstand the brief directions. For example, "wash separately" may mean just that, but usually it means you can wash the item with others of the same color.

In labeling, certain practices are assumed to be common knowledge and need not be included in directions. These practices are: white fabrics can be bleached; most colored fabrics should not be bleached and should be washed with like colors; all fabrics should be ironed at the temperature for that fabric. If these practices do not apply, the garment label must give the correct information.

What if you find a label with incorrect or incomplete instructions? Report it to the Federal Trade Commission. Comments regarding labeling may be sent to John LeFevre, Federal Trade Commission, 6th and Pennsylvania Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20580.

Fusarium Blight Attacks Delaware Lawns

A disease that is becoming an increasing problem on Delaware lawns and golf courses is Fusarium blight. During the past two years it has become especially noticeable on southern Delaware lawns, according to Dr. Robert B. Carroll, extension plant pathologist at the University of Delaware.

Fusarium blight first appears as scattered light green patches two to six inches in diameter. Within 36 to 48 hours after its first appearance, the disease will turn the grass a dull reddish-brown. As the blight progresses grass will turn tan, and finally light straw color. Diseased areas may appear as elongated streaks, crescents or circular patches. In some cases a distinctive frog-eye effect may be evident—that is, a light green center with a brown circle around it.

During extended periods of hot, humid weather such as we have been having this summer, diseased areas will tend to run together. As a result, says Carroll, large areas of grass may be completely blighted.

The two species of the Fusarium fungus that caused this blight live in infected grass roots and crowns and in the layer of dead organic material (thatch) found in lawns. When air temperatures remain in the 75-90 degree range for long periods and humidity is high, these fungi can infect and destroy grass in four to seven days.

Bentgrasses are most susceptible to Fusarium blight, while the bluegrasses are next in susceptibility and the fescues most resistant. Common Kentucky bluegrass is being affected in some areas, as is Merion bluegrass.

Carroll says Fusarium blight can be difficult to control once it is established. Homeowners should keep thatch from building up in their lawns to reduce the chance of fungus infection. This means removing grass clippings. It also helps to limit the amount of nitrogen used in lawn fertilization programs. Proper watering to prevent wilting or stress periods is helpful, too.

The fungicide Tersan 991 (benomyl) has appeared to give effective control of this disease when used according to manufacturer directions.

OSCAR MAYER & CO. "WIENERMOBILE"

.... THEN

The original Wienermobile, probably one of the most streamlined vehicles of its day, was introduced in Chicago in 1931. It became an immediate hit and caught the fancy of crowds wherever it went. The original Wienermobile served for 20 years until the company replaced it with new models which were specially built by Gerstenlager, an Ohio based custom auto firm. These new modern units contributed another 20 years of service until the third generation of Wienermobiles began to appear.

Today's "Largest Wiener on Wheels" is a specially designed, custom-built vehicle, consisting of a fiberglass body on a Chevrolet Van Chassis. It is 10 feet high, 22 feet long and weighs nearly 6,000 lbs. These sleek streamlined units have all the conveniences of today's family sedan including power steering and breaks, air conditioning, automatic transmission, completely carpeted interior and a specially designed stereo tape system that can be used during parades and store appearances.

These "Wienermobiles" were designed and built by Oscar Mayer & Co., at the firms Madison operation.
