Harrington Meadows Sells Most of Its Townhouses

Harrington Meadows has sold six of the 10 townhouses and six of the 10 townhouses and has started many more.

The six townhouses, owned by Penn-Dol Development Company, of Baltimore, have been sold to the following:

Mrs. Walter Cooper, of Milford; James Olsen, of Virginia; John Harrington II, Camden; Morris Tinley, of Bridgeville; Stephen J. Markoya, Felton, and William J. Sturgeon of Dover Air Force Base.

Mrs. Cooper has moved into her townhouse which borders Peck Avenue.

Dr. Donald Schumar, of Baltimore, Penn-Dol head, told The Journal recently plumbing and water were being laid for 40 more, with sewage for 60 more.

Actually, Penn-Dol has a tract which can accommodate 100 townhouses.

The townhouses, selling from $21,500 up, are being sold by Garthwaite Realty of Dover.

Kent Tax Man To Be Oil Dealers' Lobbyist

Kent County Receiver of Taxes George Robert Quillen confirmed last Tuesday that he will take the job as lobbyist for the Delaware Oil Men's Association Feb. 1 while retaining his $7,000-a-year county post.

Quillen, 44, was appointed receiver of taxes by former Gov. Russell W. Peterson following the death of G. Dorsey Torbert last year. As the oil dealers' representative, Quillen will replace Harry R. (Chip) Cross, who plans to retire.

Quillen, a former three-term Republican Representative from Harrington, said he will begin working with Cross in November.

"I've been wanting to get out of politics for some time," Quillen said. He said, however, he would remain active in the party. The association consists of 14 oil distributors in Delaware.

Bridgeville Woman Killed In Ga. Crash

Mrs. Susan L. Gray, 19, of Bridgeville, was killed Tues., Sept. 4, in a head-on crash near Ft. Gordon, Augusta, Ga.

The crash also killed the driver of the second car and hospitalized Mrs. Gray's 3½-month-old daughter, Julie Marie, who was admitted to the Ft. Gordon Hospital and reported in good condition.

Mrs. Gray had been in Georgia for a month. Her husband, Stephen L., serving with the National Guard, is enrolled in the radio school at the installation there.

She graduated from Woodbridge High School last year. Besides her husband and young daughter, Mrs. Gray is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Taylor of Greenwood; two sisters, Christine and Kelly, both at home, her maternal grandfather, Walter C. Dorsey of Tracys Landing, Md., and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Faye I. Taylor of Clearwater, Fla.

Services were held Saturday afternoon at Greenwood United Methodist Church. Interment was in St. Johnstown Cemetery, Greenwood.

Century Club Night At Raceway

The Harrington New Century Club will hold its annual "Night at the Races" at Harrington Raceway Wed., Sept. 19. Patrons will receive a full-course dinner and an evening of 10 exciting harness races, including Exacts, Daily Doubles, Quinelas and the Big E. The program will benefit the Harrington New Century Club's various charitable projects, and is produced yearly by Club Chairman, Virginia Winkler. The club president is Mrs. Doris Brinster. Tickets are available from all club members.

Girl Shot By Mistake

A 17-year-old girl, who police said was seeking solitude in a rural area near Felton early Sunday was shot in the hip by a man who mistook her for a shadowy bundle of trash along side the road.

The girl, Wanda Jean Murphy of Felton, "was depressed" and decided to take a walk on Sussex 256 about 1 a.m. She was about eight miles west of Felton when a pickup truck came along, police said.

As Miss Murphy crouched alongside the road, Robert Ewing Jr., 18, of Felton saw something and decided to shoot at it with his .410 gauge shotgun, police said, thinking it was a pile of litter. He hit the woman in the right hip.

Miss Murphy was listed in good condition Sunday night in Kent General Hospital, Dover. Ewing was not charged, police said.

Revenue Sharing Plans Open To Public

Starting Sept. 20, Planned Use Reports must be filed with the Office of Revenue Sharing of the U.S. Treasury Department, according to Daniel S. Kuennen, area agent, Community Resource Development, University of Delaware.

The community or county government must specify by that time what money it intends to spend on the eight priority areas. These eight priorities are public safety, environmental protection, public transportation, health, recreation, libraries, social services for the aged and poor and financial administration.

Bike Winner

Congratulations to Grant Sausbury, of Felton, on winning the folding bike at the Tastee-Freeze.

HI WAY FLASH WINS FOR EIGHTH TIME

Harrington Raceway is off to a rousing start as its Fall harness session swings into the first full week of activity. As always, one of the weekly features is the A-B Handicap Trot which finds the best trotters in the area competing right down to the wire, and this last Saturday's race was no exception. Muriel and Geneva Knill's highly consistent mare, Hi Way Flash picked this occasion to visit the winner's circle for the eighth time in her 24 1973 appearances and boost her earnings over the $11,000 mark for the season. The young and talented Stephen Guy was again in the driver's seat as the eight-year-old daughter of Hi Way Tag sped to the wire stopping the timer in 2:08 for the mile.

Stephen's introduction to the sport came through his foster parents, the Knills, who have had an active interest in harness horses, especially trotters, for more than 20 years. Stephen, only 22 years of age, lives with his parents in Woodbine, Md., and helps his father train in preparation for race meetings like Harrington. He relates, "I like to buy older trotters that seem to have promise, but perhaps have some kind of problem. My Dad and I attempt to correct the problem and return the horse to the races. It takes a lot of patience but it is rewarding and we enjoy it."

Also in weekend action at the half mile oval Lady's Liner with Jack Parker at the controls took a division of the Delaware Development Fund for four-year-old pacers in a sparkling 2:05:3, the fastest win of the young meeting. The second division of the same race was an equally impressive tally for Charlie Fitzpatrick's easy going son of Adios Harry, Monseigneur, who triumphed in 2:06:1 with a final quarter in 30.3.

Harness racing continues for 42 nights at Harrington Raceway with a weekday Post Time of 8 p.m. Coming up Sept. 16, the raceway will conduct an afternoon-evening Doubleheader racing program with 20 races beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Hamburger Or Deerburger?

DELAWARE BOW HUNTING Because of the current shortage of beef and its increased price, Delaware State officials are becoming concerned over the use of venison as filler for hamburger. A co-operative program between the Departments of Agriculture and Natural Resources and Environmental Control is aimed at discouraging the practice.

The Department of Agriculture is about ready to begin new testing procedures capable of detecting venison. The relatively simple procedure will be used in routine testing of meat sold through retail outlets. Stores will periodically be monitored to see if deer meat is finding its way into the meat grinder.

The practice of mixing venison and beef is prohibited by both departments. The Department of Agriculture objects to the practice because venison would be uninspected and would represent a misrepresentation of the true content of the hamburger. The Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control has numerous laws prohibiting the practice. The sale of game animals, especially deer, is one of the most serious game offenses.

Hopefully, the new project will be one of a preventative nature in discouraging the unlawful sale of venison. Its success will be of benefit to both the consumer and Delaware's Deer.

DELAWARE BOW HUNTING Bows and primitive weapon hunters using Bombay Hook or Prime Hook National Wildlife Refuges are now required to pass qualification tests. These tests are being given with the co-operation of several sportsman groups. Hunters interested in qualifying should contact either Federal refuge for details. Hunters using State wildlife areas or private lands are not required to pass qualification tests.

All deer hunters, including archers and muzzle loaders, are required to wear "hunter orange" when hunting. A new law requires every hunter to wear a minimum total of 400 square inches of hunter orange material on the head, chest and back. Successful deer hunters are required to tag their kill immediately and report it to the Division of Fish and Wildlife in Dover or to a game warden.

Archery season opened Sat., Sept. 1, and prospects look favorable for an excellent season. The size of Delaware's deer herd appears to be at or near an all time high. Biologists report that the physical condition of the deer is also excellent. Last year Delaware's deer hunters took a record 1,300 animals statewide. It is expected that this record will be broken again in 1973.

Governor's House Open

Mrs. Jeanne Tribbitt announced Friday that the Governor's House will again be open to the public beginning Thurs., Sept. 20.

Mrs. Tribbitt said that the Governor's House will be open to anyone interested from 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. every Thursday. Tours of the Governor's House may be arranged on days other than Thursday by appointment.

A.B. PARSONS DIES AT 77

Allen B. Parsons, 77, of Harrington, died early Tuesday evening in Milford Memorial Hospital after a short illness.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Parsons; a son, W. T. Parsons; two grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Mr. Parsons was a 32nd degree Mason, Temple Lodge 128, Denton; Tall Cedars of Lebanon at Milford; Kent & Sussex Scottish Rite Club; Delaware Consistory, a charter member and past secretary of Harrington Rotary Club; a director and vice president of Delaware State Fair and an honorary lifetime member of Harrington Volunteer Fire Company.

Mr. Parsons retired here in 1964 as division manager of Delmarva Power & Light Company. Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m., tomorrow at McKnatt Funeral Home, Harrington, where friends may call one hour before services.

Interment will be in Denton Cemetery, Denton, Md.

Storm Fails to Appear At Council Meeting

What threatened to be a hurricane at Monday night's meeting of the City Council, turned into a mere squall.

The Council received complaints from Steve Welch and David Krouse alleging improper procedure by members of the Harrington Police Department but Mayor William Minner said it was out of the Council's hands and in those of the courts.

David Krouse was arrested Aug. 11 by Patrolman Richard Blitz on alleged charge of driving under the influence, but has engaged an attorney and will appear in Superior Court.

Chief of Police Paul Davis told the Council a recent ordinance on night prowling was because of numerous burglaries here since January. He added bricks had been thrown recently in the windows of Harrington Pharmacy.

In other business, Council promised to clean up Liberty Street from Delaware Avenue to U.S. 13, after it was learned it was no longer a state-maintained street.

Mayor Minner said work will begin on the Brown's Branch Tax Ditch in about 30 days.

Approved installation of signs limiting parking in front of Stone's Hotel and Don's Barber-shop, both on Mechanic Street, to 30 minutes.

Accepted recommendation of City Manager John S. Harrington to hire a full-time patrolman, bringing strength up to four full-time patrolmen and one part time.

Motion to ask for streetlights on Peck Avenue.

Agreed to install sewer and water on Elizabeth Street where Walter Messick and Franklin Hendricks plan to build two houses.

DR. EAGLETON NAMED L.F.E. PRINCIPAL

Minutes of Special Meeting of the Board of Education held Monday evening, Sept. 10, at 7:30, in the High School Library.

Present: James Pizzadilli, president; Donald Garey, vice president; members Nyle Callaway Jr.; Marvin Brown, Joseph Hughes, Albert C. Price and E.B. Warrington Jr.

Also present: Albert W. Adams, supt.; Melvin C. Luff, deputy superintendent; S. Markowitz, supervisor of instruction; William E. Cline, elementary principal; Dr. Clifford J. Eagleton, Mrs. Ruth Marvel and Paul Gladden.

The Board went into executive session at 7:45 to interview Paul Gladden for vice-principal of the high school, and Mrs. Ruth Marvel and Dr. Clifford Eagleton for the position of principal of Lake Forest East Elementary School. The Board also discussed the request of Mr. Cline to transfer from Lake Forest South to Lake Forest East School.

The Board returned to regular session at 10:45 p.m. 1. It was moved by Mr. Warrington, seconded by Mr. Price and unanimously approved to hire Paul Gladden as vice prinincipal at the Lake Forest High School.

2. It was moved by Mr. Garey seconded by Mr. Brown and unanimously approved to hire Dr. Clifford Eagleton as principal of the Lake Forest East Elementary School.

3. The resignation of Mrs. Donna Robinson as a clerk in the Lake Forest North School was accepted with regret.

4. The Board unanimously approved the use of the facilities at Lake Forest North for a donkey basketball game.

5. It was moved by Mr. Price, seconded by Mr. Hughes, and unanimously approved to hire Mrs. Margaret Tewel as a teacher in the Lake Forest East Elementary School.

6. It was moved by Mr. Hughes, seconded by Mr. Callaway and unanimously approved to hire Mrs. Anne Veach as guidance counselor at Lake Forest High School.

7. The Board discussed the use of clerks and secretaries in the district and asked that the study being made concerning respective assignments be available for the regular September meeting.

The Board adjourned at 11 p.m.

Harrington Catholics Aid African Drought Victims

Members of the parish of St. Bernadette in Harrington, recently contributed $77 to assist the victims of the African drought and famine in the Sahara Desert region. The money is part of over $6,933.39 received in the Diocese of Wilmington. Funds are being channeled through the Catholic Relief Services, which is supplying supplemental specialized foods, clothing, and basic medicines, including vitamins, malarial suppressants, and broad spectrum antibiotics.

The drought of unprecedented proportions has not only gravely impaired food production, but has also virtually eliminated the herds of cattle upon which the population depends for sustenance.

Ballet Company Begins New Season

The Delaware State Ballet Company begins its 1973-74 season with auditions for placement in the junior and senior levels of the company Sat., Sept. 15, from 2-4 p.m. at the Marion Tracy Dance Studio, 1071 S. Governors Ave., Dover.

Interested dance students from all over are invited to attend. Miss Tracy, again serving as president of the company, is pleased to announce that Harry Asmus, formerly of New York City will conduct all classes.

Asmus has enjoyed a long and successful career in the professional dance world. He has danced with the American Ballet Theater for five years, where he later taught for four more years. He has taught at the unique High School of the Performing Arts in N.Y. - thence to the June Taylor School of T.V. fame. He served as Ballet Master for Agnes de Mille, and became Ballet Master and Artistic Director of Ballet Nacional de Venezuela for three years, producing weekly ballets for the company for their National Television.

He is married to former Radio City ballerina Julith Panzer. Immediate plans call for a performance of the beloved "Nutcracker" to be given the week before Christmas. All those accepted as members of the company will be assured of dancing in this beautiful production.

The company also plans to present Dance Lectures around the state. After an extremely successful appearance at Longwood Gardens this past summer, in Swan Lake, the Delaware State Ballet Company has again been asked to perform in June 1974.

This promises to be an exciting new season for all lovers of the ballet.

USDA Revises Rural Development Act

The USDA has revised its regulations for the Rural Development Act, according to Daniel S. Kuennen, Area Agent, Community Resource Development, University of Delaware. The 1973 FARM BILL prohibits the need for prior approval by governors or other state officials for business and industrial development loans authorized by section 118 of the Rural Development Act.

There is also some reason to believe that the "pilot project" approach will be abandoned. The basic disagreement for implementation of the act reflects the different attitude of Congress and the Administration.

While the Administration wanted to utilize the "new federalism" approach, by allowing the states to play a major role in administering the act, Congress insisted on USDA control.

Driver Killed When Car Rams Truck On 113

An elderly man, who apparently did not see a highway division sign repair truck, was killed last Thursday when his car plowed into the back of the truck on U.S. 113.

The victim, Emelio Giansante, 76, of 720 Willow St., Pottstown, Pa., was dead on arrival at Milford Memorial Hospital at 2:20 p.m., about a half-hour after the crash, state police at Camden reported.

Police said Giansante, who did not have his seat belt fastened, was headed south on U.S. 113 about a half-mile north of Milford when the accident occurred.

The one-ton pickup truck with an aerial platform "bucket" was stopped on the right lane, police said, with Jack V. Wyatt, 34, of 6 Dickerson St., Harrington, aloft, when the car crashed into it.

Wyatt was treated at the same hospital for a sprained ankle, and later sent home. With him was another sign repairman, Charles A. Kishner, 43, of near Camden, who was not injured, police said.

The Carlisle and Milton Fire Companies spent more than a quarter-hour removing Giansante from the car.

David Richter Tops In First Cross-County Try

David Richter, an eighth grader at W.T. Chipman School, Harrington, passed his first cross-country test with flying colors. In a practice scrimmage, the slender, Canterbury, 13-year-old, finished first in a workout between Lake Forest and Christiana High jayvee harriers.

WTCJS and also for the day in 1977, when he can don the colors of Lake Forest High. Attention! Over-zealous football recruiters, please lay off. Saturday, as an unofficial participant, in the unofficial workout, Reese beat everyone but Richter and two Christiana High School boys.

Harriers Do Well In Christiana Scrimmage

Jim Blades' Lake Forest High cross-country team scrimmaged Christiana High of the Newark school district, Saturday morning, at the Spartan's new course. The revised layout is also at Killen's Pond State Park with the start and finish near the parking lot.

fine job, after only two or three workouts. Lake Forest's top trio have been competing all summer and are in fine fettle. Kit Tilghman was 18 seconds behind Voshell, Kit clipped 23 seconds off his best practice time trial. Voshell improved by 32, Benson by 37, Pettyjohn by 46.

The strong upstate team competes in Flight A of the Blue Hen Conference and is coached by Bill Caldwell, former Caesar Rodney mentor. Christiana had handled the Spartans easily in a September, 1972 workout on the Vikings home course, but were given a real battle this time that caused the visitors to compliment the locals on their improvement.

Coach Blades lost a former No. 1 runner to football. Another lad, David Moore, has been unable to overcome a stomach ailment. Moore used to beat the above-mentioned ex-harrier, when David was still in the eighth grade and ineligible for varsity competition.

With this pair healthy and in harness, Lake Forest could have outrun Christiana Saturday, and would be a leadpipe cinch to put another state championship trophy in the Spartan's trophy case. Kevin Roarty, who may be Delaware's best distance runner, led the workout with a 12:35 clocking, for the 2.3 miles test. A teammate was second in 12:58, followed by Lake Forest's co-captains, junior "Steady Eddie" Thompson and senior "Rapid Ron" Mosely.

Spartan sophomore "Smooth" Harry Benson was next in 13:13, eight seconds back. Terry Pettyjohn was ninth in 13:28. Joe Voshell, a slim 135-pounder from Sandtown, did a

Farmington

By Mrs. Mildred Gray Several friends and neighbors attended the wedding of Janice Arthur and Wiley Pettit Saturday afternoon at her summer home. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dixon of Centerville, Md. were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Messick Saturday evening.

Gene Wright scattered the pins for a very good 567 series, while Sonny Shultie and Wally Ryan aided the team with a good effort to give Wally's Wrecker Service enough power to stay even with their opponents, Robbin's Hardware. Harry Chadwick, Herb Robbins and Frank Robbins helped greatly in giving the Hardware team enough strength to split the four game points down the middle. People's Restaurant and Butler's Fuel battled to a two-two stalemate also as Frank Collins hit a 202 game and a fine 562 series for People's and Sam Lyons seared the boards for a superb 256 game and a great 576 set for Butler's, with Ralph Butler adding a good effort also.

McKnett Funeral Home won all four points as Harold Brode hit a 201 game and 526 set and Robert Garey also added a good 201 game, with Ken Garey and Harry Jack contributing strongly to the team effort, which was enough to give McKnett's a first place in the team high game category with a 910 game.

Big John's Son and Quillen's Market bowled a hotly contended match which saw the teams split the four points down the middle. Quillen's Market squeezed by Big John's in the first two games and Big John's came back in the third game and won by enough margin to capture the point for total series.

Jack Sapp and John Shaffer set the pace for the Spoilers as they led the team on a three point victory romp over Brothers Five. Robert Dennis rolled a 243 game and 545 series, which enabled the Brothers Five team to salvage one point for their efforts. Rich Dennis also bowled well in a losing cause.

Our kind of player is George Ham, a senior from Alabama, 6 feet, 3 1/2 inches tall and tips the scales at 190 pounds. George moved to Harrington in the latter part of the summer. He's a nephew of Spartan wrestling coach, Tom Muehleisen.

Miss Emily Carol McKnett

Mr. and Mrs. L. Donald McKnett, of Harrington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Emily Carol, to William Orville van Deusen, son of Dr. and Mrs. O. van Deusen of Front Royal, Va.

Miss McKnett is a senior at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va. Mr. van Deusen is a 1973 graduate of Virginia Military Institute and is presently doing graduate work at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va. A spring wedding is planned.

Alabama's George Ham Boosts Spartan Grid Stock

In our last football article we mentioned that Lake Forest lost most of last year's squad, by graduation or defection. "Some just quit, folks." Jim Miner and George Davis are the only starters returning. Both are linemen. Lake Forest needs help and we don't mean from any of those slender, 130-pounders either. The Spartans could use some man-size candidates.

TOWN AND COUNTRY TOPICS DAVE WOODWARD ASSISTANT KENT COUNTY AGENT

CONSUMERS FEEL BITE OF BUGS ON CATTLE! Insects that attack farm animals are taking a big chunk out of the consumer's pocketbook. Free-loading insects and worms that live in cattle and poultry are causing a billion dollar loophole in the country's meat production, and farmers are fighting an uphill battle just to hold their own against these often unseen pests.

One test in Georgia showed that farmers there average $1,668 a year in losses due to sickness and death inflicted by parasites among their animals. The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that parasites in farm animals cost farmers in the United States between $750 million and $1 billion a year. Much of the financial loss is absorbed by the farmers themselves, but if they are to remain in the business of meat production, they must realize a profit in spite of parasites. The logical result is a higher cost for meat in the store.

Because the farmer cannot demand a pay raise every time he treats his animals for parasites, it is difficult to tell exactly how this factor affects meat prices in the grocery store. But according to a recent study of the parasite problem by Sperry New Holland, it nevertheless remains a constant and major operational expense for every farmer in the country. Other costs in the war against animal parasites are easier to define. The public pays millions of dollars each year in taxes to help control parasites on the farm. The U.S. Agricultural Research Service has an annual budget of $2.3 million with which it operates four laboratories. One is devoted to the study of tiny blood parasites, another to sheep and poultry parasites, the third to worms in cattle and the fourth to worms and trichina larvae in swine.

Parasites have served one useful purpose. They have kept our nation's farmers aware of the importance of good animal husbandry. This alone does not assure a meat-eating public that all parasites will be eradicated in the future. Consumers should beware, however, that farmers are bearing the brunt of the little-mentioned parasite problem. The few cents additional the consumer may be asked to pay for a steak is a small part of the cost of getting that meat to market as a safe and nutritious product.

While round worms, such as are common to house pets, live in the animal's intestinal tract, some parasites, like protozoa, are very small and make themselves at home on the blood. Farm animals carrying parasites almost always show it. They become thin, they scratch, cough, and sometimes get a fever or become violently ill. Pigs infected with round worms can require an extra 100 pounds or more of feed to reach market weight.

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne W. Holberton

With food so high here in America could it be higher anywhere else? This is a question often heard and the answer is yes. We aren't the only people faced with high cost. For example, we've heard so much about the Japanese, their economy and their ability to work, but did you realize it now takes them $40.00 a week to buy the same amount of food that one year ago only took $26.00 a week. They are faced with an even higher rate of inflation than we are.

Wherever you go you will find things are worse than they are here in America. What we all have to learn is how to do the best job we can in spending our money. With food you must always remember that the family's diet must not suffer.

High carbohydrate foods are taking on new meaning, since they contain protein and other vitamins and minerals. They can be used to stretch meat meals, or, if properly combined with other nonmeat proteins, can be served in place of the more expensive meats.

Rice is a prominent member of the carbohydrate family. True, the cost of rice is increasing, however, rice is increasing at a much slower rate than other carbohydrates. On a cost per serving basis, white rice now runs about 2.01 cents per half cup serving.

One way to cope with today's food cost is to use rice more often, it is a very versatile food. In main dishes, rice extends both the flavor and the quantity of meat or meat substitutes. It also adds extra heartiness to soups and variety of salads.

Many delicious desserts can also be made with rice.

There are many different types of rice available at our local markets. Next time you shop take time out to see what's available. You'll be surprised. There's canned cooked rice, precooked rice, long grained rice, precooked rice, brown rice and so it goes.

Rice will keep almost indefinitely when covered and stored in a cool dry place. In normal use it may be kept in the original container if the container can be tightly closed. If not, then place in a plastic, metal, glass or rubberized container or any container that can be closed to keep out dust, moisture and insects.

The method for cooking perfect rice every time is simple but well worth repeating. (1) Measure the rice and liquid accurately according to the package directions. (2) Cover the pan tightly. (3) Time it according to directions. (4) Remove the cover and fluff the rice lightly in order to allow steam to escape.

If the rice is to be kept for as much as an hour before serving, here's a good tip: after the rice is cooked, mix in a little oil or melted butter (at the rate of a tablespoon per pint of cooked rice), it will help to keep the grains separate and fluffy.

How much rice do you need to buy? Remember rice triples in quantity when cooked, provided 1 1/2 half cup servings per pound.

It Seems To Me

A sewing machine should pay for itself in two or three years by the amount of money you save making clothes for the family. It doesn't take long for savings to mount up if you are skillful and make clothes which are comparable to expensive ready-to-wear.

If you're in the market for a new sewing machine, a new U.S. D.A. bulletin may help you. The bulletin has just arrived in Delaware and may be obtained by requesting it from Home Economics Division, Co-operative Extension Service, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware 19711.

Differences between the straight stitch machine, basic zigzag and more versatile models are explained and may help you decide which model is best for your needs.

Even though the new bulletin suggests pointers to look for, there is no substitute for personally examining the machine. It is recommended that, if possible, you investigate at least three makes of machines in order to have a basis for comparison.

Choose a machine at which you can sit comfortably at the controls—one which is easy to handle and operate, and is not too noisy. It should be readily adjustable to your varying sewing needs, be easy to care for and to keep in good running condition.

It's a good idea to take along a piece of your own fabric when testing the machine stitch. Take a piece of nylon tricot or some other fabric that may have given you difficulty on your present machine.

The person who will use the machine should be the one to select, even if it is intended as a gift.

The bulletin gives a check list of specific items to look for as you are considering various models.

Look for a guarantee from the manufacturer and understand what the guarantee covers. Any agreement should be in writing.

Check up on the manufacturer, too. A five-year guarantee won't be much good if the manufacturer has gone out of business.

convenience foods. They cost much more than if you prepared the particular item yourself.

And finally, says Miss DeMesse, stop wasting food. Leftovers that eventually find their way into the garbage can mean a broken food budget. Instead, let your leftovers become "planned-overs", so that food and money are not wasted. Vegetables, meats, even juices—can all be used as "planned-overs".

Save money and eat well. Don't waste food. And plan your shopping creatively. Your family will love everything you cook economically.

Mildew In Garden

Many home gardeners are noticing mildew on their vegetable plants these days. Vegetables affected include squash, cucumbers, cantaloupe, pumpkin and beans. There are two different mildews that affect these plants—downy mildew and powdery mildew.

Downy mildew is likely to be a problem on beans, cucumbers and cantaloupes, according to Dr. Robert Carroll, extension plant pathologist at the University of Delaware. Symptoms of the disease are easily recognized. Yellow to dark areas appear on the upper surfaces of older leaves. When the leaves are turned over, a whitish to gray mold can be seen in patches on their under surface. The mold also occurs on bean pods, and vines may be scorched and killed.

Powdery mildew will affect squash, pumpkin, cantaloupe and cucumbers, says Carroll. It appears as a white or brownish, talcum-like growth—especially on the upper surface of the leaves. It also occurs on the young stems and occasionally on the fruit. Leaves affected by this form of mildew may actually appear to be dusted with talcum. Severely-infected plants will yellow, wither and die. When this happens, the fruit is exposed so that it sunscalds or ripens prematurely.

To avoid these two diseases, use resistant plant varieties, practice rotation within the garden and maintain good weed control. It is also wise to space plants well, Carroll advises. Overcrowding helps to keep humidity high and favors development and spread of these diseases. Destroy crop residue in the fall as it may serve as a source of new infection the following year.

It is important not to let these diseases build up before starting treatment, the pathologist warns. For control, it is necessary to use fungicides. A list of recommended fungicides for mildew control is published in the extension bulletin, "Home Vegetable Gardening in Delaware." Home gardeners may obtain a copy of this bulletin free of charge by writing Mail Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark 19711.

Many people are also noticing powdery mildew on their lilacs since the leaves become covered with whitish to gray patches of fungus growth and appear to have been dusted with powder. The condition is generally more common on lower or shaded leaves, but the entire shrub may be affected. Tiny round black fruiting bodies of the fungus are abundant in the whitish patches later in the summer.

In contrast to its effect on vegetable plants, powdery mildew is a rather superficial disease on lilacs, says Carroll. Other than making the plant unsightly, it does little real damage. That fact that it comes so late in the season also helps. The same shrub may be affected year after year without sustaining any apparent damage.
