

William E. Griffin, Principal

Mrs. Phelps, Vice Principal

New Principal and Assistant at Lake Forest High School

This year Lake Forest was faced with having to replace its administration staff. They started by naming the well-qualified William E. Griffin, Mr. Griffin has several degrees, these being a BA in Education from Glassboro State College in New Jersey, a masters in Education and a Major in Administration from the University of Delaware and a Plus 30 in Education and Administration from the University of Delaware. Before coming to Lake Forest Mr. Griffin was a teacher for nine years spread over three schools, these being at Westville, N.J., Point Pleasure in Glen Burnie, Md., and a school in Greensboro, Md. Following this he was a principal at Lake Forest East Elementary for four years.

Mr. Griffin, when asked what the major differences in being an elementary principal and a high school principal, replied with these three major differences (1) the size of the place because the size of the high school is twice the size of the elementary school (2) the way the students react which is a major reason and (3) many more courses are offered at the high school.

Mr. Griffin said the reason he decided to apply for the position of principal is because it would be a challenge to have worked with every grade level during his years as principal. Mr. Griffin had a couple of remarks in closing by saying, he doesn't expect any new policies because a new principal should leave the school alone as long as it is working good like this one. Also he stated that his opinion of the school was that it is great and there are an outstanding group of students here. His final remark was that we should be proud of what we are, what we do, and most of all what we represent.

The first day of school may have seen something unusual for Lake Forest. When passing the vice principal's office one probably saw Mrs. Phelps, aide guidance counselor, working there. Well, the school didn't put Mrs. Phelps in that office as a guidance counselor, but as our new vice principal.

Mrs. Phelps did her undergraduate work at the University of North Carolina. She also received her Bachelor's and Master's of Education from the University of Delaware. She is presently taking administration courses to help her as vice principal.

Besides being a disciplinarian, Mrs. Phelps substitutes for the principal when he is not present, and various other tasks assigned by the principal. When asked if the transition from a guidance counselor to vice principal was a hard one, she replied, "No, being a guidance counselor helped prepare me for this job, also it is beneficial to know the students when disciplining them." Mrs. Phelps stated that in some other school situations she would not have liked being vice principal, but the Lake Forest district is very special and she is looking forward to the year ahead.

Catholics Aid African Drought Victims

Catholics on the Delmarva Peninsula have recently contributed $12,004.34 to assist the victims of the African drought and famine in the Sahara Desert region.

The total amount was contributed by 22 parishes and 105 non-parish donations in the diocese, which includes Delaware, the Eastern Shore of Maryland, and two counties in Virginia.

Funds are being channeled through the Catholic Relief Services for an estimated six million of the 25 million people who inhabit the area.

They are using the funds as they are made available primarily for the purchase of the most critically needed items for direct emergency relief. These are supplemental specialized foods, clothing, especially children's clothing, blankets and basic medicines, including vitamins, malarial suppressants, and broad spectrum antibiotics.

Striking one of the poorest areas in the world, the drought has not only gravely impaired food production for a population that lives exclusively on agriculture, it has also virtually decimated the herds of cattle upon which the population depends for sustenance.

Biden Chastizes AMA, Cites Corruption, Fraud

Socialized medicine is inevitable if the American medical profession doesn't take immediate steps to clean up its own house according to Delaware Senator Joseph R. Biden Jr. (D-Del.)

Speaking to the 15th annual convention of the Delaware Licensed Practical Nurses Association last Thursday night in Rehoboth, Biden chastized the medical profession for what he called "corruption, fraud and peddling of lies to the American people."

"The medical profession used to be the most revered and respected profession in America," Biden said, "but not anymore."

Today, Biden said, doctors are placed in the same category as lawyers and politicians, and unless the medical profession purges itself of its "new found demagoguery", it will face the same fate politicians are now facing over Watergate.

Biden said he has received a deluge of mail from constituents regarding questionable medical practices and the high cost of hospitalization and treatment. "The pressure is mounting on elected officials to do something about the medical profession," Biden said, "and unless you, who are in the profession, are willing to clean your own house, some one else will."

Biden called on the nurses to "criticize from within", and "expose to the American Medical Association the poppycock it is feeding this country."

"The A.M.A. is hoodwinking the American public into believing that everything is fine within their profession," he said, "but it's not."

Several areas where change is needed, according to the senator, are in the recruitment of doctors for rural areas of the country and the high cost of fees.

So far, Biden said the medical profession has made no attempt to "straighten itself out" and for that reason health care services in America are on a downward trend.

"Just try to get one doctor to testify against another in malpractice suit and you'll see how entrenched the profession is and how well they protect their own," he said.

One ill effect the nursing profession might suffer from a "purge" of the medical profession, Biden said, is the curtailment of funds for the training for nurses and para-medical professionals.

Biden urged the 200 nurses to take a lesson from Watergate and the dilemma American politicians are now in. "If you don't straighten out your own profession, pretty soon you'll find you don't have a profession at all," he said.

Safety Tips for Halloween

All young children look forward to Halloween. Even though it falls on a Wednesday, and a school night this year, you can still expect a lot of activity at the front door. Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware, urges wise parents to take precautions, so that Halloween won't turn into a nightmare for unsuspecting youngsters.

Miss Morris recommends that an adult always accompany small children on their rounds from house to house, being sure to carry a flashlight if the area is not well-lighted. Older children should go in groups of four or five, never alone. Children should be limited to the area where they live, since they are likely to know most of the neighbors. Houses with unfriendly dogs--or unfriendly people--should be avoided.

Costumes should be flame-retardant and short enough to walk easily without tripping. Reflector tape added to the front and back of a costume adds visibility. It is important that your youngster be able to see clearly through the little eye-holes in his mask. Masks should not fit so closely that breathing is difficult. Do not allow children to carry pumpkins lighted by wax candles; they should use a small flashlight instead.

After Halloween each year, there are newspaper accounts of children who have been endangered or injured by such things as poisoned candy, or apples containing razor blades. These incidents are rare, but they happen often enough for us to be on our guard. Miss Morris suggests that children be instructed to eat nothing until parents have looked over the "loot".

Parents should go through the bags of treats, disposing of anything that looks questionable. Candy and gum wrappers should be intact. Items individually wrapped should be checked. Unwrapped candy, cookies and other treats should be discarded because they may not be very clean.

Trick or Treat Night should be fun for the whole family. Some parents even dress up in costume themselves to greet youngsters at the door. But take these few extra precautions to be sure of a happy Halloween.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

— A. B. —

Feeble is the hand of man
 When once he tries to pen
 The sad experience of the heart
 When death has claimed a friend.

That's why we feel such sadness
 In Rotary activities today
 Since our loving partner, Allen, Has been called from us, away.

It's hard to pick the burden up Where he has put it down;
 He cherished all the joys of life
 And banished every frown.

More home-like seems the evast unknown
 Since he has entered there;
 Following him will not be hard
 When we are called from here.

When the final trumpet sounds for us,
 We want to slip away,
 And wait beside the river edge
 The coming of the day.

When those we loved and lost awhile
 We'll greet with wild acclaim;
 They served with us and paid their fare
 And left behind a name.

Spartan Harriers Excel In Salisbury Invitational

Lake Forest's band of irpressible band of distance runners, 47 strong, invaded Salisbury last Thursday afternoon and took the Maryland city by storm.

Salisbury State College, for the second straight year, sponsored a pair of two and one-half mile runs, through picturesque Salisbury Municipal Park. The runners went their way past the City Zoo, as curious llamas pace the runners, until the animals are stopped by a fence.

The course follows a stream, crosses a bridge, then traverses the other side to come back through a pine woods. An undulating, shaded route leads to a finish line near the Salisbury Civic Center.

Eleven schools from three states toed the starting line, in the Civic Center parking lot.
 Lake Forest's seven varsity runners committed a serious tactical error in the first few seconds. The Spartan septet started slowly and found themselves near the rear of the 77-man field. When they tried to move up shortly after, it was too late to mount a winning effort.

Too many slower runners ahead of them impeded their progress.
 Nevertheless, the talented locals battled back and gradually moved through the field, to finish second to Christiana High School of the Newark School District.

Lake Forest was one of the smallest schools entered and one of the youngest (only one senior). If the Spartans had gotten a better start, they might have won the first place trophy, since an earlier scrimmage with the Christiana Vikings indicated that the schools are evenly matched.

close together until Richter won a stretch duel to annex the 72-entry race over 2.5 miles in a swift 14.45, only a minute behind the course record, set by Christiana's Kevin Roarty, a high school junior, in the varsity race. Roarty might be Delaware state champ this fall.

Grant Saulsbury, Lake Forest Senior, was third with teammate, freshman George Gibbs next. Bob Mullane was sixth, Dave Moore eighth, and 10-year-old Maurice "Reese Cup" Coverdale was 10th, as Lake Forest District had the first four runners, seven of the top ten and won four of the five trophies. With 11 schools competing, little Lake Forest picked off eight of the twenty trophies up for grabs Thursday.

Packie Guyton trounced a Maryland High School girl by nearly half a mile, to get the top female designation.

Every runner who finished the grind, (all Spartans did) received an elaborate ribbon, lettered with the name of the event, the Salisbury State Cross-country Invitational and the date.

The locals loaded their awards and made a last sortie to Gino's, then headed up the pike.
 "There are those individuals ask "How can a small community come up with such a large number of youthful distance runners, year after year."

There are many reasons, but among them are the trips these youngsters take, the year around, to places like Wilmington, Philadelphia, New York, New Jersey, Philadelphia, Annapolis, etc., plus the fine souvenirs they obtain in the form of ribbons, plaques, medals, trophies, lettered T shirts and other awards.

Benson Ties Course Mark, Spartans Blank Bulldogs

Harry "Smooth" Benson, Lake Forest's sophomore prospect, battled the wind down four straightaways, yet had enough strength left to tie Laurel's course mark of 12.54 for 2.4 miles. Benson would have broken the record but did not hear the shouts of those who were attempting to tell him that a little more speed would do the job.

Carr, of Laurel, ran 12.54 in 1971. Jim Blades' Spartans had the first seven men to finish, thus racking up a perfect score of 15-50. Lake Forest is now 3-1 for 1973. Ed Thompson (12.59) and Ron Mosely (13.14) would have been under 12.54, with Benson, but for the wind.

Terry Pettyjohn, one second off the pace, at Smyrna, didn't feel well, but managed to finish next in 13.26. Steve Sauls-bury, the best varsity newcomer this Autumn, turned in a sterling performance, to record 13.29. Steve, a sophomore, led his experienced teammates in the early part of the race and stayed close to the leaders throughout. The quartet of Spartans ahead of him, have at least three years of experience each.

Kit Tilghman and Bob Kash-ner put on a thrilling stretch duel, with Tilghman battling back to gain a narrow edge in 13.36.

Laurel's first harrier, Evans, came across just ahead of Chipman runners David Richter (13.55) and Danny Parker five seconds later.

A string of Lake Forest's blue-clad runners paraded across the finish next with Bob Mullane leading. Next came George Gibbs, Cliff "Sugar Bear" Ayres, running the race of his life, Chris Adamo, Craig Kashner, one of a quartet of Spartan brothers.

Jackie Guyton, the 12-year-old lass who does the same workouts the boys do (five mile runs, etc.) was a minute and 40 seconds closer to the winner than she was at Smyrna.
 She came in 40th of 51 starters.

Harrington Bowling League

Leah S. Wheeler

Ron Kelly scorched the boards for a superb 635 series as he rolled games of 224 and 243 and set himself up as the top klegler in the high individual category.
 Ron's fine performance was also accompanied by Richard Dennis' great 566 series effort as the Brothers Five squad took three big points from People's Restaurant to remain one game out in front of the league. People's Restaurant received a good effort from Jim Fitzhugh and Shanley Smith to capture one point.

The Spoilers took three points from Quillen's Market as Bruce Herrington bowled a fine above average effort. The three point win was enough to keep the Spoilers close on the heels of the leaders. Donald Wilson a fine effort, which gave the Quillen's Market team a little extra strength needed to capture a point for their efforts.

Jarrell Fuel, just a point and a half out of first place, ran into tough opposition Tuesday night and could only break even with Big John's Son. Martin Jarrell rolled a real fine 545 series and Dallas Hayman added a good 530 series effort for Jarrell's Fuel. Mannon Robinson was the big gun for Big John's Son as he hit a great 210 game and a real good above average effort and John and Sam Powell added good efforts.

Kenny P. Outten amassed a real fine 552 series and Snooky Collins came through with a good 535 series, with Tom Brown adding a real fine above average effort as Taylor & Mes-sicks took three points from McKnatt Funeral Home. Joe Green made his debut with the team a good one as he hit a real fine 535 series to pace the McKnatt squad, as the team managed to salvage one point for their efforts.

Robbin's Hardware crushed Fry's American in all games to take four points in a close contest. Harry Brown rolled games of 201 and 210 for a 544 set and Harry Chadwick chipped in with a good above average effort for Robbin's. Fry's American received good efforts from Bill Brode, Jerry Hayman and Kreg Jester in a losing cause.

Butler's Fuel trounced the T & M Rejects in all the games to easily take four points.
 Dickie Collins rolled a fine 206 game and a good above average effort and Sam Lyons added a fine effort for the fuel team.
 Junior Bishop bowled real well in a losing game for the Rejects.

Wally's Wrecker Service received good assists from Larry Breeding and Wally Ryan as the team collected four points from Penn Central. The railroaders couldn't get rolling Tuesday night as the team bowled sub-par average throughout the contest.

Woodbridge 28, Lake Forest 6

Woodbridge High, our neighbors to the south, won for the first time this Autumn, when they came to Harrington Friday night and racked up a 28-6 victory.

For the last two weekends, a case could be made for a possible Spartan victory, citing comparative scores against common foes. These victories did not take place and Lake Forest is 0-5. Next week it's Laurel.

Laurel was pounded by Milford and just squeaked by winless Delmar 12-6 last week.
 Bearing these results in mind, it would seem the locals have a chance Friday night at Laurel.

The Spartans almost scored first against Woodbridge and might have given the Blue Raiders a tough evening if they had tallied.

After gaining possession at Woodbridge's 30, Lake Forest drove down to the goal line on the running of John Pickett, Zack Taylor and Don Bryant, plus a pass interference penalty.

Woodbridge threw up a stone wall, then marched the length of the field in six plays, to score. Most of the yardage was picked up by Jim "Big" Weal, state champion in the 100 yard dash last spring.

Weal notched the six-pointer on a 25 yard sprint. In the second period it was Weal again from five yards out, with Tom Elliott running across the extra point.

The second TD was helped along by an inept Spartan tackler who missed an easy shot at a Woodbridge halfback, whereupon the latter waited for long yardage. Later, a penalty against Lake Forest kept the drive alive.

Woodbridge hit the scoreboard in the third period, via an 85 yard scamper by Hayward Murray.

John Pickett caught a Don Bryant aerial for a Spartan third period touchdown, but Woodbridge came back in the final stanza, when Elliott tallied from the five.

The second half of the season begins at Laurel, 8 p.m., Friday night. The Bulldogs are 3-2 and number Dover among the victims.

Felton Church Of God

The Felton Church of God, Church & High, Felton, will hold special weekend services Fri., Oct. 19. Guest speaker is Rev. McCready, and Sun., Oct.
 21, 7 p.m., the Rev. Franklin Tucker. Singing and preaching.

Mrs. David Lindsay Elder

Elizabeth Elder, 64, of 129
 Saulsbury Drive, Dover, died Sunday in Milford Memorial Hospital after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Ed Thompson Leads Thinclads Past Smyrna

Eddie Thompson, a Spartan co-captain, nipped teammate Terry Pettyjohn by one second, to lead Lake Forest's cross-country team to an easy 16-47 victory at Smyrna.

The triumph was the second in three starts for Jim Blades' Spartans, who are aiming to rack up a 16th straight winning season. Barring a plague, they will reach their goal.

Co-captain Ron Mosely and sophomore Kit Tilghman were only four and seven seconds, respectively, off the pace.

Smyrna's ace wrestler, Russell Lovelace, was fifth, followed by ailing Spartan, Harry Benson.

Improving Bob Kashner and promising newcomer Steve Salisbury completed the top seven Lake Forest harriers, George Gibbs, a freshman, was tenth, as he trailed only two Eagles.

W.T. Chipman School's Danny Parker led the younger runners home in a highly creditable 14.32, for two and one half miles. Thompson's varsity performance was 13.43.

Maurice Coverdale, a 10-year-old fifth grader, in training for 1975, scorched an incredible 14.39, less than a minute off the varsity pace.

David Richter, like Parker, a 13-year-old eighth grader, is Chipman's No. 1 harrier, but was ailing at Smyrna and eased in third, in 15.01.

Jeff Kashner, Grayson Barth-
 low (best race yet), Mark Miller (age 11), John Nickle, Eugene Butler and Ken "Bulet" Cerlekleskie were other top Chipman performers.

Jackie Guyton, 12, was an easy winner in the distaff division, as she beat a Smyrna High lass by more than 500 yards.

Del. River And Bay Authority News

Members of the Delaware River and Bay Authority, meeting Oct. 9, received a Certificate of Financial Condition. The report placed estimated 1973 revenues, from the operation of the Delaware Memorial Bridge and the Cape May-Lewes Ferry at $14,040,000, and the estimated expenses at $11,362,788.

In response to a question raised by Commissioner Walter F. Maack, of Woodstown, N.J., concerning "rumors" of a possible toll increase of the Delaware Memorial Bridge is adequate to produce the revenue needed for operational costs, interest and amortization of the construction bonds and the financing of the three (3) new ferry vessels now under construction.

Authority Chairman Clarence
 B. McCormick, of Bridgetown, N.J. observed that while other transportation facilities in the Delaware Valley, have had to increase tolls to meet their operating and bonding requirements, the Delaware Memorial Bridge toll structure will definitely continue at its present rates for the 1974 calendar year.

In other Authority business the Naval architect serving as consultant for the construction of three new vessels for the Cape May-Lewes Ferry reported that work at the Todd Shipyards in Houston, Tex. is progressing favorably.

Traffic on the Delaware Memorial Twin Bridges increased 37,045 vehicles or 2.4 per cent in September over the same month last year or, 1,604,265 vehicles compared to 1,567,220 for September 1972.

Traffic for the twelve-month period ended September 1973 was 19,054,108 vehicles compared to 18,159,403 vehicles for the twelve-month period ended September 1972, an increase of 894,705 vehicles or 4.9 per cent.
 Since August 16, 1951, a total paign and boosted his earnings over the $31,000 mark which isn't too bad for a horse that Ron's father claimed for only $12,000 a short time ago. Ron and Joe both give much of the credit for Mr. Rebel's success to the single shaft sulky. "My entire stable races to the single shaft and it has been a major factor in improving most of the horses." Joe relates, adding, "I won't be racing in the conventional sulky any more unless these new bikes show that they have some long range side ef-to stay."

State-Federal Agencies Working On Supplemental Security Income For Aged, Blind, or Disabled People

State and Federal agencies are working together on the supplementary security income program that starts making payments in January to people with little or no income who are 65 or over, or blind, or disabled.

The program is a Federal-State partnership with each partner doing what it can do best.

W.J. Bulkley, social security district manager in Dover said the Federal program will "cooperate with State and local public assistance programs to establish the Nation's first uniform income floor for people in need who are 65 or over, or blind, or disabled."

Social security and the Division of Social Services are working together so the new payment system will get off to a smooth start in January, they said.

People getting State assistance payments in December because they're 65 or over, or blind, or disabled generally will continue to get payments in January. They don't have to apply.

"Any person found on the premises of any school in the Lake Forest School District during the hours of darkness will be considered to be in the act of trespassing unless he is involved in an activity approved by the Board of Education."

Each school in the Lake Forest School District shall be posted with No Trespassing signs in at least two prominent locations."

It was regularly moved and seconded and unanimously approved to change the time of board meetings from 8 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Brown, Mr. Pizzadilli and Mr. Price will attend the fall

Signs of Optimism and Uncertainty Appear For '74

Agricultural leaders are looking forward to 1974 with both feelings of optimism and uncertainty, according to W.T. McAllister, extension agricultural economist at the University of Delaware.

The optimism is generated by higher prices farmers are receiving for crops and livestock this year and the general belief that prices, while not as high as in 1973 but well above the average for the last five years, will prevail in 1974. McAllister says the feeling of uncertainty is mostly on the part of poultry and livestock producers who are not sure that high prices for cattle, hogs, eggs and milk will result in increased profits after paying high prices for feed.

Latest crop reports from the U.S. Department of Agriculture indicate farmers will harvest one of the biggest grain crops in history. But in spite of the record yields, McAllister says few people anticipate a major decline in feed prices. "Feed costs to poultry and livestock farmers will be lower in 1974 but still well above recent years." The major factor affecting the price of feed grains is the large and growing demand for grains by foreign countries. According to McAllister, no one predicts a significant decline in the export market. "Instead, the emphasis is to encourage farmers to gear up for top production to take full advantage of this opportunity to sell farm products at prices which provide a level of income and return on investment that is comparable to producers and manufacturers of nonfarm products."

Many consumers are asking if food prices will continue to advance in 1974. "Probably not," says McAllister. "In fact, some small decline in the average food bill is more likely." One exception to this will be milk and other dairy foods which seem certain to increase in cost, he adds.

Prevent Home Heating Problems

An ounce of prevention this fall can keep you warm this winter.

Ernest W. Walpole, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware, recommends checking your heating system now to avoid cold-weather trouble.

A qualified serviceman should check oil burners, gas-fired equipment and controls. But Walpole says you can take several steps yourself to keep your heating system working properly.

Dust and dirt are major enemies of heating systems. Clogged filters in a hot air system can increase your heating costs substantially.

Change the filters at least once a year and clean them at frequent intervals. Although some filters can be cleaned with water, the most familiar type are cleaned simply by tapping and vacuuming gently.

Walpole says hot water or electric baseboard units also require occasional cleaning. Dust collects on the metal fins surrounding the heating element and reduces efficiency. You can remove the baseboard cover and carefully clean the fins with a vacuum.

Don't forget reservations are due Oct. 19 for dinner tickets for Achievement Banquet on Oct. 29.

Consumer Problems Around The World

Lubricate electric motors, fans and pumps according to the manufacturer's specification. Use oil sparingly once or twice a year.

Check all belt drives for proper tension. You should be able to press belts in one-half to one inch when properly adjusted. Replace cracked or frayed belts.

Humidifiers should be examined carefully for sediment deposits. Calcium deposits caused by hard water can be removed by soaking the humidifier in a vinegar solution and then washing.

Remember to turn off the electricity to the furnace before beginning this job, warns Walpole.

Peach Blossom 4-H News

Festive Halloween and harvest decorations greeted everyone at the October meeting.

Installation of officers and initiation of new members were the main topic. The club was honored to have Lester Hatfield, mayor of Farmington, participate in the ceremonies.

Officers for the coming year are: President, Linda Newnom; vice-president, Donald Hopkins; secretary, Barbara Moulton; and treasurer, Glen Divel. Junior leaders are Judy Back, Donald Hopkins and Mark Langford.

Donna Legates was welcomed into the club. Joyce Hinzman led devotions and Marilyn Harcum led group singing. Brenda Clark played an accordion solo.

Mark Belcher gave a report on the 4-H Parade in which they won a blue ribbon for our entry of decorated lawn mowers.

Donald Hopkins told of window display preparation and thanked Glen Divel, Mark Langford, Debbie Hopkins and Rochelle Messick for their help. It was arranged in Salmon's Furniture Store.

Laura Newnom brought her pet hamster to the meeting and demonstrated the care required for it.

There will be a skating party at Camden rink on October 29.

We will have a horse show with games at Bill Messick's corral on Nov. 4.

Don't forget reservations are due Oct. 19 for dinner tickets for Achievement Banquet on Oct. 29.

Consumer Problems Around The World

Many Americans assume that they are the only consumers with problems, according to Mrs. Anne Holberton, specialist in consumer education and marketing at the University of Delaware. Because American homemakers face rising prices along with shortages of consumer goods, they feel their problems are unresolvable.

But Miss Holberton believes we are much better off than people in the rest of the world. She cites an article by Alexander Auerbach in the Los Angeles Times, which enumerates some of the difficulties consumers face in other nations.

"English drivers find it easier to get service on Italian cars than British ones. Interest charges on furniture in England can run to 103 per cent. In Moscow, buying a car can mean a five-year wait," she states.

American shoppers take for granted many of the services offered by supermarkets, such as the policy of "satisfaction guaranteed". The Italian homemaker, on the other hand, feels she has only herself to blame if anything goes wrong with her purchase. Traditionally she has demanded the right to examine personally every food item she buys—each piece of fruit, each cut of meat. She often refuses to complain, even if a complaint is justified.

As for price, Italians are used to small, family-run shops, not supermarkets. Many believe supermarket prices are lower only because their food is older, or of poor quality. The Italian shoppers often cause higher prices because they will not believe there is such a thing as a bargain.

In underdeveloped nations, government standards and regulations may be weak or altogether absent. Food and other basic commodities may be impure or adulterated, and may come packaged in an old newspaper.

In France, more than 30 babies died two years ago because a manufacturing mistake resulted in talcum powder containing 6 per cent hexachlorophene—six times the legal limit in France and more than 10 times the U.S. limit. The affair made headlines, but druggists were still selling the fatal powder several days later. Even in cases of outright fraud the French consumer has little protection.

The German consumer is also less protected than his American counterpart. German cigarettes do not carry any health warning and are still advertised on television.

In the Soviet Union, consumer goods are estimated to be 30 to 40 years behind the United States in terms of quality and quantity.

Auerbach tells of a Japanese woman who tried unsuccessfully to get a repairman to fix her refrigerator. Finally she was told that the shop where she bought it would repair it—if she brought it in.

According to Mrs. Holberton, the strong consumer movement in the United States is responsible for new legislation and other safeguards aimed at protecting the buying public. However, in most parts of the world the consumer movement, if it exists at all, is still in its infancy. Germany, Japan, England and many other countries still favor the seller rather than the buyer. Concepts like truth in advertising and labeling are just beginning to be discussed.

It Seems To Me

Janet Reed

Recycling seems to be the order of the day. How about recycling old clothes? Garments that have been stored because they are too good to throw away are targets for recycling.

Good wool fabric can be reused successfully. This year, new wool fabric is expensive and even hard to find in some areas. The world trade situation has created shortages of wool in this country and forced prices up. So instead of discarding wool garments, look at them for make-over possibilities. Some garments may need only minor changes or refitting. Others can be ripped apart completely and recut in a more up-to-date style.

Many of today's fashions lend themselves to make-over possibilities. Use of contrasting fabric will suggest many ideas. A dress that is too snug can be enlarged by bands of contrasting color at sides or at center front. This gives a slenderizing line too. Yokes of contrasting fabric gives an opportunity for changing neckline style and fit.

If you combine two fabrics, try to keep the weight and texture as nearly alike as possible. For adding length or changing waistline size, insert bands of rib knit at the waistline. Repeat the ribbing at neckline and cuff of a long sleeve. A dress top which buttons at center front can be made into a jacket by the use of rib trim at waistline. Rib knit is a great help for make-overs.

The layered look offers lots of possibilities too. The three-quarter length sleeve looks a bit outdated, so make it into a short sleeve and add a long sleeve of rib knit in contrasting color. Repeat this rib knit at neckline of dress to give the effect of a sweater underneath. If the dress is a shirtwaist style and large enough, simply wear a blouse or sweater underneath.

Adding or replacing a belt is a simple matter. Narrow belts are gaining preference over wide ones these days. Belting a belt-less dress shortens it, so the hem may have to be let down. If you are ripping the dress completely apart to reuse the fabric, clean the wool first either by washing or dry cleaning. A good wool fabric can be washed if you're very careful and aren't concerned about shrinkage loss. To wash, rip pieces apart first and soak with a cool water soap. Do not rub, wring or agitate. Squeeze water gently from fabric, and rinse in water of the same temperature. Place wool in a towel and squeeze out excess water. Spread the pieces out and dry on a flat surface. Do not dry with heat, as this causes excessive shrinkage and harshness. Press wool with a steam iron while it is still slightly damp.

Pattern books will give you lots of ideas you can adapt to the fabric you have. It's a great satisfaction to be able to make over an unused garment and put it back in service again. It just might become your favorite outfit.

High Food Prices Topic of Discussion

The current high food prices will be the theme for a "Hard Times" panel discussion sponsored by the University of Delaware Chapter of the American Home Economics Association. The program will be held Oct. 24 at 7 p.m. in room 115 Purnell Hall on the University of Delaware campus.

Dr. William E. McDaniel, dean of the College Agricultural Sciences, will offer a brief presentation on the food price situation, followed by a discussion involving the audience and panel members.

Other members of the panel will be Roger Ginder, marketing specialist with the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service; Mrs. Joanne Passmore, wife of a Delaware dairy farmer; Mrs. Neil Meyers, homemaker; and James Miller, a spokesman for the A&P food chain.

The public is encouraged to bring questions and state their opinions concerning food prices.

Winterim Program In Mexico Announced

Students and faculty of the University of Delaware will have an opportunity to participate in a unique three-week Winterim program in southwest Mexico. The program is being sponsored by the Department of Plant Science.

Headquarters for the Winterim participants will be the Center for Cultural Exchange in Patzcuaro, State of Michoacan. The Center is located on the 20-acre farm of Mrs. Caroline E. de Mugica, wife of the first governor of Michoacan. Her farm is devoted chiefly to agricultural research, and is also used as an orientation center for visiting students.

Program director for the Center is Dr. Harvey F. Baty, who established a graduate study program in Patzcuaro in 1960 for students who wished to prepare for careers in international service. Dr. Baty was Professor of Sociology and Dean of Students, University of Beirut, Lebanon; Director of International Programs, Purdue University; and Director of the World Campus Afloat, Chapman College. His areas of special concern are inter-cultural communication, awareness of world problems, and research related to rural development.

Participants in the Winterim program will have an opportunity to work with community leaders, city officials, teachers, musicians, archeologists, anthropologists, farmers, and rural development specialists. They will stay in dormitories, or with families in nearby villages. A four-day visit in Mexico City is also being planned.

Departure for Mexico will be Jan. 3, 1974, with the return flight scheduled for Jan. 23. Interested students and faculty wishing additional information should contact Dr. Merle R. Teel or Dr. Allen Morehart in the Department of Plant Science before Nov. 1.

4-H Horse Show

Five Delaware 4-H members received championship awards at the eighth annual Delaware 4-H Show last Sunday, Oct. 7, at the Carlotta Cline Stables in Odessa. All participants in the show were active 4-H members between the ages of 9 and 19. A total of 56 horses and ponies were entered in the show.

Championship awards went to Rosemarie Mroz, Dover; English hunter pony division; Ann Tyler, Newark, western pleasure horse division; Bobby Bufington, Bear, western pleasure pony; and Sally Ratledge, Rehoboth, English pleasure pony. Jan Damme of Newark won championships in both the English pleasure horse and English hunter horse divisions.

Reserve championships went to Sally Ratledge, Rehoboth, English hunter pony; Kay Niblett, Bear, western pleasure pony; and Abigail Omans, Camden, English pleasure pony. Susan Holloway, Wilmington, was reserve champion in both the English pleasure horse and English hunter horse divisions.

All exhibitors were required to prepare their own animals for the fitting and showmanship class. Their only assistance could be in holding, leading and loading.

Another highlight of the horse show was the awarding of the Mrs. Beatrice Campbell perpetual trophy. This was won by David Jones of Reliance. The trophy is given each year to the high point horse or pony in equitation or horsemanship and fitting and showing.

The event was sponsored by the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service and the Delaware 4-H Horse Advisory Committee.

Act Now To Control Grain Pests

Stored grain pests cost you money so act now to control them, advises Frank Boys, extension entomologist at the University of Delaware.

Insects can cause much damage to stored grain. They may hollow it out, destroy the germ and cause hot areas that will result in spoilage and fungus growth. Weevils can cause great shrinkage and dockage—losses of ten to forty-five cents per bushel in some cases. Grain caterpillars can spin a solid web over stored grains, with resultant lowered market grades and poor quality feed.

Insect that attack whole kernel grains include the rice weevil, the granary weevil and Angoumois grain moth. Insects that attack only cracked corn or cracked grain include such pests as the Indian meal moth, confused flour beetle and the saw-toothed green beetle. Proper grain storage is essential in order to control these pests, says Boys.

The ideal place for grain as far as protection against insects is concerned is a weather-tight rodent proof steel structure separated from areas where hay, straw, feed and animals are housed. And one which can be easily cleaned out and inspected. Store only dry grains. You will have less trouble and loss if you store only grain that is clean, not cracked, and that has a moisture content of 12 percent or lower. Higher moisture content invites insects and promotes heating and fungus growth, which in turn causes spoilage.

Insects live from season to season around farm buildings in accumulations of grain, feed, straw, hay and litter. Never place newly harvested grain on top of old grain. It is best to remove all of the old grain and feed it. Then treat the empty bins before new grain is stored.

If this is not possible, treat the old grain before new grain is added. Fumigation is best for this, as a surface spray is not adequate, says Boys. Clean grain bins thoroughly at least two weeks before using them. Clean wooden bins very carefully because grain and dust tend to collect on bin surfaces, encouraging infestation. Sweep down walls, ceilings, sills, ledges and floors.

After you have cleaned bins, spray them thoroughly. Apply a surface spray to all inside surfaces. If possible spray the outside of the bin as well. Surface sprays leave a thin layer of insecticide that kills insects that crawl over it. Thoroughly spray the seams, corners and cracks where particles of grain accumulate. You can use a garden or power sprayer. Spraying should be done at least two weeks before storage is planned.

It is also important to remove accumulations of spilled grain around and under bins. Clear trash and litter from the bin area. Feed rooms, feed bins, stables, mangers and animal feeders harbor many insects that are likely to spread to bins of grain. Do not store grain near them. Wagons, trucks, combines and other farm equipment in which waste grain accumulates can also be sources of infestation.

After bins of storage areas have been thoroughly cleaned and treated, you can go one step further to protect against insect infestations. Do this by applying an insecticide to the grain as it goes into storage.

For more information concerning the various chemicals to use for control of stored grain pests, Boys suggests that you contact your county agent.

Milk Prices Rise As Production Drops

Consumers had better prepare themselves for higher prices in yet another food area. Milk prices appear to be on their way up as milk production drops for the first time in three years. Total output for 1973 probably will be considerably below that of last year, predicts the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service (ERS).

ERS attributes the smaller milk output to two factors—higher prices for animal feed and higher prices for cattle. Caught in a dilemma between increased feed costs that reduce milk output per cow and strong prices for slaughtered cattle, many dairy farmers are selling out their milking stock to go into grain and beef production.

"Dairy farmers are in the beef business now, whether they like it or not," says Dr. George F. W. Haenlein, dairy specialist at the University of Delaware. The previous uncertainty of beef prices as opposed to the certainty of steady milk prices was an incentive for many dairymen to remain in the business until now. But now high beef prices and high feed costs have changed this, says Haenlein, making the profits of dairying smaller and much less certain.

High feed costs are forcing dairymen into "least-cost" programs of feeding which require new management decisions. Because of these feed costs, producers now must compromise between maximum and minimum production for the highest possible profit at the least cost. When a farmer feeds a cow, it's not just his feed she's eating up—it's his cash profit, says Haenlein.

Alternatives to high cost feed grains are home grown feeds like alfalfa hay and corn silage. The only problem is that a decrease in milk production accompanies the use of feeds because they're bulky foods that per unit volume give less energy than grain supplements like corn and soybeans.

As if this weren't trouble enough, dairy farmers are facing new environmental requirements that sometimes call for expensive changes in farm operation. For example, suburban neighbors of many dairy farms have been going to court—using recent anti-pollution legislation to force dairymen into finding costly new disposal methods for liquid and solid animal waste.

Many milk producers simply can't afford to meet these anti-pollution requirements in the face of other rising costs and declining production. In one case in New Jersey, such court action was a major factor in the decision of a large farm to sell its 1600 cows and go out of the dairy business. Instead the farm is now raising grain and beef. In another instance, a Maryland farm recently sold its herd of 400 milk cows when the traditional lagoon system of solid waste disposal it was using became environmentally unacceptable to the community in which it operated.

All of this means that as time goes on, the consumer can expect to pay more for the milk he buys.

"Shocking" House Plants

House plants that have been kept outdoors this summer get a real shock when they are returned to the house in the fall, says Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware. The difference in humidity, light and temperature often causes an abrupt deterioration of the appearance and health of the plant. Later, leaves drop off, leaf color turns yellow, flowers fade, buds drop, and the whole plant often looks very unhappy.

How can this be avoided? The shock cannot be eliminated entirely, but you can ease the change by observing some of the following practices:

a - Take plants inside before the outside temperatures become too cool, as the differences between the inside and outside temperatures are much greater late in the fall.

b - If possible, make the transfer gradual. Keep plants on a well-ventilated porch or in a sun room a while before taking them into the house.

c - If plants have been growing in the ground, try to repot them a week before transferring them to the house. This reduces the shock.

d - Keep plants in a cool place inside the house for the first week.

e - Spray plants at least once a day with water for the first week. Spraying the foliage with an atomizer several times a day also helps.

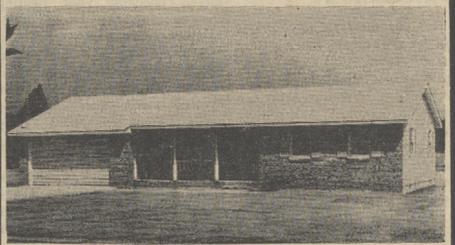

f - Some plants benefit from the high humidity obtained when they are kept in a plastic bag. Usually plants are left in the bag about a week.

Try not to shock your house plants too much as it may be weeks or even months before they are presentable again, warns Stevens. A little tender loving care the first week or two will result in healthier, better-looking plants.

Soybean Harvest Losses Expensive

Soybean growers can add as much as $18 per acre to their returns this fall through better harvest management. Tom Williams, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware, says the average soybean grower loses as much as three bushels per acre through poor harvest management.

With today's soybean prices close to $6 per bushel, the monetary incentive for soybean producers to harvest as many soybeans as possible this year is more than three times what it was at this time last year, Williams emphasizes.

Here are some steps he believes will assure a more profitable soybean harvest:

1. Begin harvesting when soybean seed moisture reaches 14 percent. Shatter losses increase markedly when moisture levels drop below 11.5 percent.

2. Harvest at an average combine speed between 2.5 and 4 miles per hour. Combines operate most efficiently at that range—and the cutter bar is allowed to ride down for maximum cut.

3. Count lost soybeans already on the ground before harvest; pre-harvest losses should not be charged against combining. Four beans per square foot indicate a bushel lost per acre.

4. Match ground speed to combine reel speed. Best speed ratio is a reel speed of 1.5 times the combine ground speed.

5. Cut soybeans as close to the ground as possible. The goal is to harvest all the pods—even the very lowest. Tests show a 10 percent reduction in harvest losses when soybeans are cut at 2 1/4 inches.

6. Measure soybean losses from cutting, gathering and threshing operation to pinpoint necessary adjustments.

7. Continually adjust the combine to changing crop conditions.

New Century Club Notes

The Harrington New Century Club held its covered dish luncheon Tues., Oct. 9 at 1 p.m. Mrs. Joseph L. Brinster presided.

The "Collect" was said in union by club members, followed by a salute to the flag. Mrs. John E. Jones gave the blessing before the luncheon.

There were 32 club members at the luncheon. Mrs. Brinster introduced Mrs. George Mahony, chairman of the program, who spoke on "Crafts for Today's Woman." She told how crocheted afghans were first made by nuns in the 16th century. In the 18th century Ireland adopted the arts of crochet and then England. Some of the hooks used for crochet changed from tortois-shell and bone to plastic and aluminum. One basic stitch in crochet, the interlocking loops, produced with a single thread and hook.

Mrs. Mahony showed 6 different afghans that were made by club members.

1. Broomstick lace - Mrs. George Mahony. 2. Afghan stick - Mrs. George Mahony and Miss Wainwright of Seaford.

3. Ripple stick - Mrs. Francis J. Winkler and Mrs. William Jester.

4. Granny squares - Mrs. William Jester.

5. Colorama - Mrs. Charles Rapp.

The decorating committee consisted of Mrs. Francis J. Winkler and Mrs. Ridgely Vane.

The next club meeting will be Oct. 23 at 1 p.m. Topic will be "Come Fly With Me". Mr. William A. Taylor will show slides. Chairman will be Mrs. Pearl Cain Cooper assisted by Mrs. Oscar T. Roberts, Mrs. H. Arthur Hoffman, Mrs. Melvin McLain, Mrs. F. Brown Smith, Mrs. John Satterfield, Mrs. John Edward Jones and Mrs. Wm. W. Sharp.

He has pastored 17 yrs. and so his work as pastor gives him an insight into the needs of man in this jet age. His messages are forceful and Bible-centered, yet keep the personal touch which makes it possible for him to get close to his congregation. Services each evening begin at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday at 10:50 A.M. and 7 p.m. Plan to attend.
