

Accountant on Kent Job 3 Months Quits

The accountant hired three months ago to revise Kent County's accounting procedures has resigned.

H. Roland Willis, 26, of Greenwood, said Monday night he gave two weeks' notice Friday. He is leaving the $9,800 a year job because he prefers working in private business to working in government.

"Any government naturally doesn't have a profit incentive, like a manager who looks at everything with an eye toward what it is costing (him) personally," he said.

"I have no personal grievances or any special problems. I found I'm just not satisfied in that type of situation," Willis said. "Government's more of a loose structure . . . and is slower getting things done," he added.

In his three months with the county, Willis has completed an inventory of county assets, and began changing over the books to a more detailed cost accounting system. Levy Court had requested the "changeover as the basis for a cost accountable budget, and a shift toward taxing county residence more equitably on the basis of the services they receive."

Kent Levy Court President Joshua M. Twilley said Monday night he was "saddened" by Willis' leaving. "I was hoping I could persuade him to at least stay and see this particular project through," Twilley said. He said he had not had a chance to speak to Willis since learning of his resignation.

"This could put us back time-wise in getting these new budget controls into effect," he said. "Three months is usually the trial period for an employer and employee to decide whether they are satisfied with each other," Willis said. "It's better now to change than a year from now to still be dissatisfied. It would be harder for me and harder for them to make the change." Willis said he has been looking for a job in private business. He came to Kent County from a position with Oxford (Md.) Shipyard. He holds an associate degree in accounting from Goldie Beacom College in Wilmington and a bachelor's degree in business management from the University of Baltimore.

Shortly after he was hired, Levy Court approved the hiring of Richard Stark, a college student to assist Willis on a part-time basis. Willis said it would not now be difficult for someone else to pick up where he will leave off and "Richard knows what's going on."

Fire Destroys Poultry Plant

A three-story cinder block warehouse, larger than a football field, was destroyed in a spectacular 12-alarm blaze last Thursday night that battled by more than 175 firemen.

The building on Marshall St., owned by the Sussex Poultry Co. Inc., stored beer, fabrics, canned goods and other items from as many as half a dozen Milford businesses.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Charles Stevenson said damage could run well above several hundred thousand.

When firemen arrive shortly after 5:30 the building was fully ablaze and smoke blanketed half the sky over Milford as flames leaped several hundred feet.

Firemen's efforts were hampered by a lack of water and tank trucks relayed water to the scene from fire hydrants in town and from a nearby creek.

Stevenson said there were only two fire hydrants with four inch mains near the building, and one was several hundred feet away.

Firemen brought the blaze under control about 8 p.m. stopping it from destroying another large storage building, which is also part of the Sussex Poultry Co. complex.

The poultry processing operations were abandoned in the building several years ago and it has since been used for storage for many Milford businesses.

Cans and kegs of beer owned by the Major Distributing Co. exploded, spilling thousands of gallons of beer stored in the building. The company is also reported to have lost two delivery trucks.

Also destroyed were several bails of reprocessed fabric owned by the Steiner Co. Inc., and canned vegetables from Jenkins Food Inc.

Sources also said that Town Councilman D. Timothy Wolf's partner in a town pants store, Bob Stiele, had all his personal furniture stored in the building while his new home was under construction.

None of the concerned parties could be reached for comment. Stevenson said the fire was discovered by Donald Peterson of the Major Distribution Company.

'74 Harness Dates Stretched to 302

Delaware will have virtually year-round harness racing next year, with 302 racing days on the statewide calendar, including a record 180 at Brandywine Raceway.

The expanded season was announced Friday night by Carl E. Dugan of Milford, chairman of the Delaware Harness Racing Commission, as he detailed major revisions to the 1974 dates announced previously.

The big and surprising development was the decision by Dover Downs to switch a 30-day meeting May 12 through June 15 to Brandywine. Dover Downs will hold an earlier 42-day meeting at its own track, Feb. 10-March 30.

Brandywine itself was granted three meetings for a total of 150 days, the maximum permitted under state law. The Naamans Road track will hold its first winter meeting ever, 35 days, Jan. 1-Feb. 9. Actually, this will be a 38-day meeting, beginning Dec. 29 of this year. Brandywine's summer meeting is 70 days, June 16-Sept. 5. It also was granted a fall-winter meeting of 45 days Nov. 3-Dec. 31.

Because the Dover Downs meet at Brandywine will precede Brandywine's summer meeting, there will be 100 days of racing at Brandywine from May 12-Sept. 5.

Harrington Raceway was unaffected. The Kent County track will continue to have its traditional dates: a 28-day meeting March 31-May 11 and a 42-day meeting Sept. 6-Nov. 2.

Here's the 1974 schedule in chronological order: Brandywine—Jan. 1 through Feb. 9, 35 days.

Dover Downs—Feb. 10 through March 30, 42 days.

Harrington—March 31 through May 11, 28 days.

Dover Downs at Brandywine—May 12 through June 15, 30 days.

Brandywine—June 16 through Sept. 5, 70 days.

Harrington—Sept. 6 through Nov. 2, 42 days.

Brandywine—Nov. 3 through Dec. 31, 45 days.

With the extra days and the addition of 78 days of racing at Brandywine, the state expects to receive much more revenue. If the handle holds up to 1973 figures, the state could take in an additional $1.5 million.

Ronald Hobbs, Former Local Patrolman, Resigns C-W Post

Ronald Hobbs, who was hired as a Camden-Wyoming policeman in April, has resigned to take a higher paying job in Baltimore, police commissioner Carl King said Tuesday.

According to King, Hobbs turned in his resignation effective Tuesday. The resignation was accepted Monday night by the Camden town council.

King said Hobbs quit to take a job with a private investigating agency in Baltimore.

He was hired by Camden-Wyoming under a federal grant which would have run out next April.

According to King, the Baltimore job pays "lots more" than Hobbs' $6,400 salary as a town policeman. Hobbs could not be reached for comment.

Hobbs, 23, had formerly worked as a Harrington policeman, with most of his salary paid by the federal Emergency Employment Act.

The move to Camden-Wyoming was regarded by the federal government as an extension of the same grant. The program is administered by the Kent County Levy Court.

King said he didn't know if the town would be able to hire another officer under the same program.

Hobbs' resignation brings the force back to two men, chief

Ralph Sharp and Sgt. Leon Carter.

Chipman Wins In Halloween Parades

The W.T. Chipman Junior School Band attended the Milford Halloween parade Tues., Oct. 30, and the Rehoboth Halloween parade Wed., Oct. 31, and won second and first place awards respectively.

According to Alex Becton, Chipman band director, the band, which is composed only of seventh and eighth grade instrumentalists, showed great poise and maturity throughout both parades. Says Mr. Becton, "Most of these kids have never marched before. They are not used to playing on the move. This was a big adjustment for them, but the majority of them made the adjustment. They did a heck of a good job."

In the Milford parade, Chipman finished second behind the 200-member Sussex Central Junior Band. In the Rehoboth parade, the band took first over the Rehoboth Junior High Band and the Milton Junior Band. Milton received the second place award.

New Faces at Lake Forest

New faces, new courses, that is what the following people mean to the students of Lake Forest. Six people, five fresh out of college, armed with new ideas determined to wake up minds of Lake Forest students.

Being new to Delaware, and having Lake Forest as a first teaching job, may be hard for some people, but not for Mrs. Barbara Dougherty, Lake Forest's new gym and health teacher.

Born in Allentown, Pa., and graduated from West Chester State, she is now a resident of Dover. She thinks the students she's come across here at Lake Forest are really nice, and would like to make teaching as much fun as possible and not just a routine job. Her husband is a teacher also. She really gets a satisfaction out of teaching and knows when she's gotten something across.

She believes in being active in hobbies and recreation. This is evidenced by her past participation of hockey in college. La Crosse heads her list too. Even now, after a busy day of teaching, she finds time at home to do much sewing and keeping house.

When the question was put to her "do you think most students are physically fit?" her reply was "no", they need more enthusiasm for exercise and preventive health measures.

It is her aim to improve the students outlook on the importance of physical fitness. Having her students in her class four times a week, she hopes to meet this challenge.

One minor problem exists for Barbara Dougherty at Lake Forest. There has been difficulty in pronunciation of her name, but she feels that will be rectified soon.

A new teacher to the Science Department is Mrs. Rowina Perry. She was born in Oakwood, Va., and attended Madison College and the University of Virginia. Occupying her spare time is her children. Mrs. Perry enjoys teaching and previously taught at Henrico County which is outside of Richmond. She thinks that the kids at Lake Forest are a good group.

An Arabian horse raiser, Miss Linda Smith is a new English teacher. She was born in Manhattan, N.Y., and attended the University of Delaware. A couple of her hobbies, aside from raising horses on her farm, are creative writing and music. This is her fifth year of teaching. She taught for one year at Smyrna High School and three years at Colonel Richardson Junior High in Maryland. Miss Smith is enjoying her teaching position at Lake Forest particularly since she finds the students to be very polite and enjoyable.

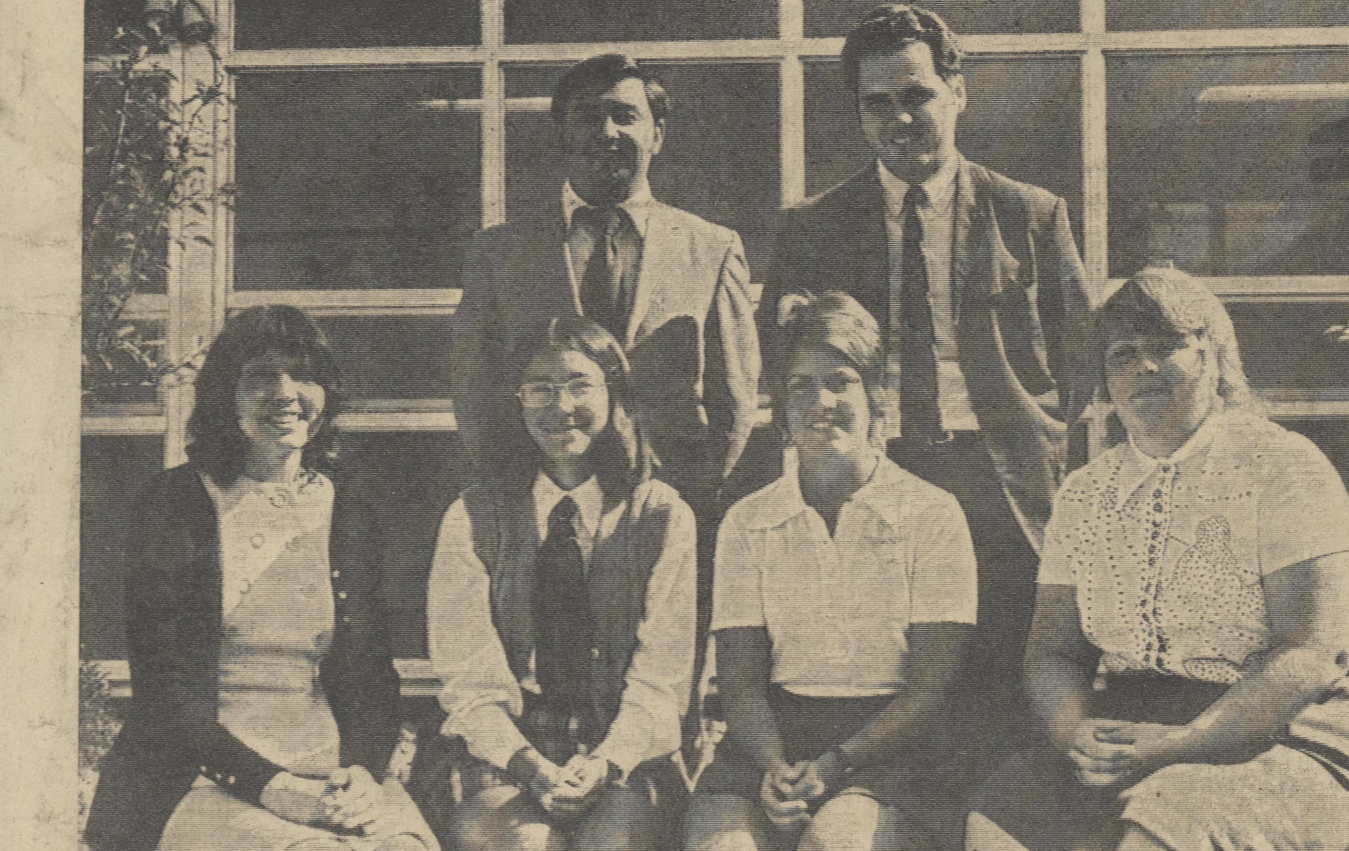

Our new horsemanship teacher is Mr. Mikell E. Wamsley. He is a native of Harrington. After attending the University of Delaware, he taught two years at Newark Senior High School and one year at Christiana Senior High School. Some of his hobbies are baseball, football, basketball and farming. Mr. Wamsley says he thinks the students at Lake Forest are "pretty good" and he enjoys teaching very much.

A native Delawarean, William E. Warren is a new English teacher at Lake Forest High. He was born in Milford and went to Milford High. Mr. Warren graduated from the University of Delaware and did graduate work at the University of Virginia and Ohio State. Before he came here, Mr. Warren taught at high schools in Colorado and Ohio.

Some of Mr. Warren's hobbies include fishing, listening to music, and cooking. He also enjoys going to movies.

When asked what he thought of the students here at Lake Forest, he said that they were easier to get along with than the students in bigger cities (Continued on Page 5)

Seated are Mrs. Perry, Miss Zimmerman, Mrs. Dougherty and Miss Smith. Standing are Mr. Wamsley and Mr. Warren.

Randolph-Macon Alumnae To Meet At Rehoboth Beach

More than 100 alumnae of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, their families, and friends of the college will gather at the Rehoboth Beach Country Club...

The drive, largest in Randolph-Macon's 82-year history, will raise funds for scholarships, library acquisitions, faculty salaries, for renovations in Presser Hall (music) and Martin Science Building, and for construction of a campus student activity center.

Leading the Del-Mar area drive is Ann R. Cullen, who is joined by Mrs. A. Barratt Cullen Jr., Mrs. Thomas N. Fox, Mrs. Waller S. Hairston, Miss Mary K. Kinder, and Mrs. William H. Price.

Scheduled to join them at the dinner are Randolph-Macon president, Dr. William F. Quillian Jr., and the national chairman of the capital campaign, Mrs. Robert B. Taylor of Greensboro, N.C.

This campaign cuts to the heart of our academic program, says President Quillian. "Outstanding teachers are vital to our continued academic achievement. New endowed faculty funds enable us to increase salaries for our already proven faculty. In addition, we will then be better able to compete successfully for the best minds in education, business, and the professions."

Last year, some 41 per cent of the student body received more than $400,000 in grants, loans, and work scholarships.

"We must be able to respond to students' requests for aid," the president states, "so deserving ones may receive an education and to assure a student body of high quality and diversity."

In announcing the drive, the college trustees pointed out that Randolph-Macon has a goal of $20,000,000 over the next decade to cover plant renovations, endowment, and operating expenses.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

A quote noted in a recent Reader's Digest had Helen Hayes observing that, "As we grow older, God sees to it our eyesight grows dimmer, so that when we look at ourselves in the mirror, we can say, 'I still look as good as ever.'"

Perhaps this same idealism or myopia, whichever, applies itself to the way we see our government as we are growing older. "Square" and old-fashioned as I may have become. I was pleased to find the following in print in the May '73 issue of the Scottish Rite's "New Age" magazine. It was submitted by James E. Cross of Fayetteville, Ark.

- I AM PROUD TO BE AN AMERICAN
- Proud to live in the greatest Nation in the world.
  - Proud to be able to wake up in the morning without fear.
  - Proud of my heritage and the history of my country.
  - Proud to know that every child in America has the right to an education and to be whatever he wants to be.
  - Proud of the young people of our Nation who but for a few are fine upstanding citizens.
  - Proud that I have a God-fearing, loving Mother and Father who raised their children to be law-abiding citizens.
  - Proud that I can worship God in the church of my choice.
  - Proud that I can have membership in civic and fraternal organizations and clubs without interference from my Government.
  - Proud that my Government tries to stop the spread of communism wherever it raises its ugly head.
  - Proud of the young men of our country who gave their lives in defense of our way of life.
  - Proud of the men and women who give of time and talents without pay to relieve pain and suffering around the world.
  - Proud that we have a two-party system and can vote for those whom we want to represent us.
  - Proud to live in the Land of the Free, and the Home of the Brave.
- Me too!

Ron Mosley Is All-Conference, Spartans 2nd In Loop Run

Dover High's Senators captured the Henlopen Conference championship run with a low total of 45 points, but Lake Forest surprised by grabbing second place away from strong teams, Caesar Rodney and Dover Air.

The Thursday afternoon title test was held on Lake Forest's 2.4 mile course, at Killen's Pond State Park. This layout is a good one for the hill-and-dale sport and was the scene of 1972's state championship run. Lake Forest is the only school in Delaware harrier history to have the honor of hosting this event.

The stiff wind kept the times from being up to par. Bob Baca, of Dover Air, won in 13:16.

Ron Mosley was fifth for Lake Forest and made the seven-man, all-Henlopen Conference team. Harry Benson (8th) just missed, Harry has tried coming up in 1974-75, however.

Eddie Thompson (12th), Terry Pettijohn (16th) and Kit Tilghman (19th) ran well to compete the Spartans scoring.

Eleven teams competed with Indian River's first race ever, surprising Laurel, Woodbridge, and Milford.

Delmar's Late Rally Edges Lake Forest 16-13

Lake Forest rode the pitching arm of Neal Smith to a 13-0 half-time lead and appeared to be on the verge of recording a first victory of 1973.

However, the second half saw Delmar dominate play, and rally to win 16-13, their second triumph of the season.

The Spartans capitalized on an early break. Delmar turned over the football on a fumble, at the Wildcat 11 yard line. Two ground plays netted only three yards. Smith hit a receiver in the end zone but the latter came down out of bounds. A fourth down toss was snared by Wayne Voshell for six points. Smith's kick attempt failed.

Delmar pulled in a short kickoff at their 44. The Wildcats went 32 yards in 5 plays, then fumbled again to Lake Forest.

The visitors reached Lake Forest's 35 in the second period but a poorly-thrown pass was intercepted.

John Pickett sped for two 15-yard gains, then hurdled and fought his way to a first down at Delmar's 33. Here, things got a bit messy, as offsetting penalties of clipping and a face-mask infraction were followed by a Delmar defender dropping an easy interception after which, a Lake Forest receiver caught a pass, then fumbled it away to Delmar.

Delmar's next surge was halted when Calvin Burris caught a back for a four-yard loss and the Wildcats picked up two penalties on one play.

Lake Forest's final touchdown came after an interception. Smith rolled right, was chased hard and fired on the run to Wayne Erne in the end zone. Smith kicked the extra point after being penalized on the first try.

Delmar opened the second half by marching to a score, tallied from the two by shifty Dave Hearn. A fake kick set up a two point pass from Banks to Hearn.

Hearn's running accounted for most of the yardage in a 55-

Spartan Harriers Ends 8-2 Season

Every season a winning one is the Cross-Country motto at Lake Forest High School. The sport was started here 16 years ago, at Harrington High, under Harold McDonald. Jim Blades led Lake Forest to a fine 8-2 mark, this campaign. Narrow 26-29 losses were administered by Dover and Dover Air, both 9-1 teams.

Milford was able to offer only token opposition in the season's finale, here, Monday afternoon, losing 19-43.

Ron Mosley, coming on strong in the last several meets, won the 2.4 miles test in 13:41. Laverne Demery, of Milford, surprised Spartan Ed Thompson at the tape, for second.

Harry Benson, Terry Pettijohn, Kit Tilghman and Bob Kashner completed the win for Lake Forest. Kashner improved his personal mark by 12 seconds.

Harrington Bowling League

Larry Horseman amassed a superb 578 series, which included games of 200 and 223 and Buck Thompson hit a great 226 game and 548 series, with Ron Kelly collecting a 535 set as Brothers Five took three points in a tight contest against Fry's American. Fry's American went into the contest with only four men, but all the bowlers rolled exceptionally well with John Forbes setting the pace as he was high man in the league with a grand 588 series, which also included games of 204 and 235. Don Jester of the Fry's squad contributed a fine 200 game also.

While Brothers Five was having its hands full with Fry's, the Spoilers, who had shared the lead with them the past few weeks was having trouble with the T & M Rejects and could only muster enough strength to capture two and a half points to fall a half game off the pace behind Brothers Five with just one week to go in this third. Jack Sapp and Carl Wright bowled good efforts for the Spoilers and Junior Bishop hit a fine 214 game and great above average series as he paced the Rejects in their efforts. Ray Wright also bowled well for the Rejects.

Jarrell Fuel took three points from Penn Central as Dallas Hayman rolled a 224 game and 539 series, with Martin Jarrell adding a little extra effort. Penn Central's Bernard Coffman was high man for the night with a superb 254 game as he went on to amass a 555 series, and Donald Butler in a great 481 series performance, which enabled the railroaders to capture one point for their efforts.

Don Garey paved the way for McKnatt Funeral Home with a great 538 series as the team took three points from Robbin's Hardware Tuesday night. Joe Green also collected a fine 214 game and 541 series, as Harry Jack rolled a fine 202 game with Donald McKnatt chipping in with a good 218 game. Harry Chadwick rolled a great 559 series and Herb Robbins added a real fine above average effort for Robbin's Hardware as the team managed to salvage one point.

Taylor & Messick made a clean sweep of all points against Quillen's Market as Snooky Collins just missed getting a triplicate patch as he amassed a fine 550 series, and Tom Brown contributed a real fine above average effort. Earl Quillen, William Petty and Ralph Kemp rolled good above average efforts for Quillen's Market in a losing cause.

Butler's Fuel moved up the ladder a notch or two on Ralph Butler's fine 203 game and great above average performance, with Ronald Wright also contributing heavily toward the team's three point victory over Wally's Wrecker Service, with a fine 528 series effort. Larry Breeding rolled a 201 game and good above average series and Dave Ryan amassed a fine above average series for Wally's as the manager to garner one point for their efforts.

People's Restaurant and Big John's Son split the four points down the middle as Bill Manship hit a great 216 game and 525 series for People's, with Phil Shultie rolling a fine above average effort also. John and Sam Powell both rolled good above average scores and Mike Kohel also chipped in a fine 201 game and above average effort for Big John's Son.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mr. Burgess,

Thank you for letting the Newspaper Club see how newspapers are printed. We really appreciated Mr. Kukulka's showing us all around the plant. We enjoyed very much watching the printing press, print, fold, and cut the big sheets of paper. It has helped us a lot.

We thank you also for the sample slugs of type. We found out the whole alphabet was on it.

We will send you a copy of our 5th and 6th grade newspaper when it is printed.

Now we know how newspapers are printed.

Very truly yours,
Rhonda Hammond
5th Grade Editor

Girl Scout News

Leader, Barbara Evans, Asst. Leader, Betty Lyons.

The first meeting of the troop was held Oct. 9 at the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. There were 16 girls present with their parents that were interested in joining the Girl Scouts. The first meeting consisted of getting acquainted with each other and getting a foundation for the troop. Elected were: Cheryl Cerleskie as patrol leader and Hope Evans as assistant leader for the Gypsies; Jodie Nickle as leader and Angela MacFarland as assistant leader for the Workers; Joan Ratledge as leader and Ruth Ricker as assistant for the Hot Lips patrol. Each patrol selected a project toward earning badges.

Oct. 23 the troop will begin making the place mats for its money-making project. They also discussed having a Halloween party.

Oct. 30 15 girls were present with their Halloween costumes. Mrs. Shartell, wife of the Rev. Bruce Shartell, was the acting judge of the costume contest. Winners were as follows: Most Original - first, Angela MacFarland, second, Tina Lyons; second, Andrea Kimmey, second, Jill Oakley; the Funniest - first, Joan Ratledge, second, Cheryl Cerleskie. ### Greenwood Vol. Fire Co. News

The regular monthly meeting of the Greenwood Volunteer Fire Co. was held in the company meeting room, Fri., Nov. 2, with 31 members present.

New member Finley Jones Jr. was welcomed into the company by the president.

The Fall Supper Committee reported that the profits from the supper were considerably lower than that of recent suppers. This was attributed to the higher cost of food, and somewhat lower attendance. The entire company and Ladies Auxiliary wish to thank everyone who helped in any way to make the event a success.

In the drawing held in conjunction with the supper, Audrey Roberts of Milford, won the half of beef and Raymond Kelly of Smyrna won the cash prize.

It was reported that the new tanker is now in service, although delivery of radio equipment ordered over nine months ago has not been made, radio contact can be maintained with other equipment via portable radio, and messages relayed back to the base station. This piece of equipment has proved very valuable in supplementing in towns and cities, as well as for rural fires.

Day Care Center Observes Holidays

Oct. 30, the Harrington Day Care Center, located at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, had a Halloween party for 40 children who attend the center on a regular basis. The children wore costumes that they had made themselves with the help of their teachers. Parents and friends were invited to attend the party. Afterwards, those parents present were taken on a tour of the center.

During the week of Oct. 14-20 the Center observed National School Lunch Week. Discussions were held on food and nutrition. Close attention was also paid to what a balanced meal should be. Parents were invited to have lunch with their children at the Center.

Fire Prevention was observed by the Center through stories, drawings and discussions about the do's and don't's of how to prevent fires. The children discussed and practiced the proper way in which to behave in case a fire started. The Fire Marshal paid a visit to the Center at this time.

Recently, Mrs. Janice U. Hinzman, Specialist of Food Services for the Department of Public Instruction, decided to visit the Harrington Day Care Center. After her visit she had these comments to make:

"It is indeed a pleasure to visit a Day Care Center that is well under control, accepts and utilizes advice, and still has happy children. I am delighted to recommend relicensing the Harrington Day Care Center.

FIRE DESTROYS

 ing, but the cause of the fire is still under investigation.

Stevenson said firemen stopped the blaze at a wooden partition that separated it from another large storage building.

He said the partition apparently was covered with some heat resistant board and was doused from several fire company hoses.

Thirty-three fire trucks came from Milford, Harrington, Houston, South Bowers, Frederica, Magnolia, Felton, Ellendale, Greenwood, Milton, Slaughter Beach and Rehoboth.

The Bridgeville and Georgetown units were called to their stations to stand by in case any other fires broke out in the area. Stevenson said the building of World War II vintage was leveled.

Firemen from Milford were still on the scene early Friday morning. There were no reported injuries.

Aside from the second large storage building, firemen were able to save the Sussex Poultry Co. main office.

where he taught before. The students are not hostile and they have good attitudes. He also said they were hard working and good natured.

Mr. Warren enjoys teaching very much and said it was the only thing he really ever wanted to do. It lets him work with things he likes and also with young people. Mr. Warren likes it at Lake Forest very much and enjoys teaching here.

Have you eve tried any delicious French foods? See Miss Sandy Zimmerman, the new French teacher, for some ideas.

Miss Zimmerman attended the University of Delaware for four years and took French seventh through twelfth grade in high school.

Two of the ten years she spent speaking French, Miss Zimmerman lived at a French house. Everyone spoke French only and she stated that this helped her greatly.

Born in Wilmington, the 1973 graduate did her student teaching at William Penn High School in New Castle. Some of her hobbies include sewing and playing the guitar, but particularly she enjoys French cooking.

Miss Zimmerman says she is happy with her career as a teacher and enjoys Lake Forest very much.

Certified Soybean Seed Urged

Delaware soybean growers will be better off using locally produced certified seed in 1974, according to Dr. William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware.

He says Delaware seed is usually cheaper than certified seed grown in other states. And there is no question about it being suited to local conditions.

Several approved varieties will be available to the grower who shops early, Mitchell says. They include such newly developed varieties as Wye, Essex, Williams, Columbus and Cutler 71, along with the older choices, including Sork, Delmar and Kent.

Delaware seedsmen will provide about 100,000 bushels of certified soybean seed this year. Mitchell estimates this will be enough to plant up to half of the state's 1974 crop.

HARNESSES DATES

was $4,103,809. In 1972, the state received $4,177,232 from all three harness tracks.

Dugan said the transfer of a Dover Downs meeting to Brandywine is a "one-shot deal."

Dugan, Hap Hanson, president and general manager of Brandywine, and John Riddle, executive vice president and general manager of Dover Downs, are pleased with the new dates.

"The racing at Brandywine will provide the maximum revenue for the horsemen, the tracks and the state, without conflicting with Liberty Bell," said Dugan.

Any harness racing conflict with Liberty Bell would no doubt hurt Brandywine seriously. Pennsylvania has not announced its exact 1974 dates.

"I think it's a very good schedule," said Hansen. "Our winter meeting, you now know, will open Dec. 29. Our track is in good shape and we're ready for it."

Brandywine is equipped for winter racing with both its clubhouse and grandstand enclosed.

"I'm pleased that we finally reached an agreement with the dates," said Riddle. "It's a very equitable arrangement. It's a delight to be starting out the harness racing meeting this Sunday knowing that the dates are settled."

Riddle says he'll be at Brandywine to conduct the Dover Downs meeting.

Riddle also said that as a result of the revision in the harness dates, he will apply for new thoroughbred racing dates at Dover Downs.

He said he now plans to apply to the Delaware Racing Commission for a 27-day meeting Dec. 29-Feb. 3. The track held a meeting this year Feb. 10 through April 29.

When the 1974 harness dates were first announced Sept. 15, there were 294 racing days. Brandywine was scheduled for 134, Dover Downs, 90, and Harrington 70.

Old Brick Store

Last Of Era

The last survivor of its era, the Old Brick Store in southern New Castle, has been named to the National Register of Historic Places by the National Park Service. The Brick Store now stands vacant and deteriorating along the marshy shore of Smyrna River, but it was once the commercial center of its region.

Built in 1761 or 1767, the Brick Store is a three-story building with storage spaces in the basement and attic, and room for offices and shops on the main floor. The river originally flowed within a few feet of the store, but the present channel is some distance away. For more than a century, ships loaded and unloaded their cargoes at the door.

The cargoes shipped from Brick Store included fertilizer and grain, while incoming ships brought most of the necessities of life for farmers of Blackbird Hundred.

"I'm pleased that we finally reached an agreement with the dates," said Riddle. "It's a very equitable arrangement. It's a delight to be starting out the harness racing meeting this Sunday knowing that the dates are settled."

Riddle also said that as a result of the revision in the harness dates, he will apply for new thoroughbred racing dates at Dover Downs.

He said he now plans to apply to the Delaware Racing Commission for a 27-day meeting Dec. 29-Feb. 3. The track held a meeting this year Feb. 10 through April 29.

When the 1974 harness dates were first announced Sept. 15, there were 294 racing days. Brandywine was scheduled for 134, Dover Downs, 90, and Harrington 70.

S.S. Offices

Taking Applications Now

Social security offices are taking applications now from people who aren't getting State or local public assistance payments but who think they may be eligible for supplemental security income, according to W. J. Bulkeley, social security district manager in Dover.

People who aren't getting state or local assistance payments should apply now for supplemental security income so their applications can be processed before the program begins in January.

People don't need to apply for supplemental security in## come payments if they get state or local assistance payments because they are 65 or over, or blind, or disabled. Eligible people getting state or local payments for December will continue to get payments in January when the Federal program starts.

The amount of the monthly check people will get will depend on how much other income they might have. People with no other income at all will have a basic cash income of at least $130 a month for one person and $195 for a couple. People with other income may get reduced supplemental security income checks.

The Federal program includes a provision that States should supplement payments, if necessary, so people getting public assistance don't have their income reduced.

Federal supplementary security income payments will be made by the Social Security Administration, but the program will be financed by Federal general tax revenues-- not by social security contributions.

The Dover social security office is at 19 Blue Hen Mall. The phone number is 674-3610.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

TOWN AND COUNTRY TOPICS
 DAVE WOODWARD
 ASSISTANT KENT COUNTY AGENT

We have avoided horse pollution. Not many years ago the term "get a horse" was a familiar phrase that described the often unpendable and also slow horseless carriage. This phrase is again being revised by certain groups that say the horse is less of a threat to the environment than the ever polluting automobile.

During the height of the horse and buggy days in London the animals deposited 1,000 tons of manure on the streets every day. At the turn of the century, New York had an estimated horse population of more than 120,000 which deposited 1,300 tons of manure a day on the streets. Talk about clean up problems!

Think about this! If every automobile, truck and bus in the United States were replaced with horses, these horses would produce over 10 million tons of manure a day. The answer to a prayer for organic gardeners, but a nightmare for the sanitary engineer.

Termites have known all along that wood makes good feed. Now there is a possibility that termites may run into a food shortage. Scientists have discovered that cellulose in wood makes good livestock feed and replaces some of the grain. New Century Agriculture, Inc. has manufactured a new grain replacer made from cellulose. It sells for $35 a ton in the Pacific North West. The manufacturer says this grain replacer called Nu-Pro can be substituted for 50 per cent of the grain and roughage in beef and horse rations, 40 per cent of hog rations and 25 per cent of dairy rations. If this product catches on it should cut feed costs.

At present, it is made from hard wood pulp largely alder, but it can also be made from soft wood wastes. The manufacturer cooks the waste wood materials to reduce the lignin content. Lignin prevents destructive enzymes from converting cellulose into useable feed for livestock. Most of the process is secret because it is not yet patented. Cattle fed wood waste rations at Washington State University took longer to finish and gained only 86 per cent as fast as cattle on full grain and the cattle put on less fat. L.A. Dyer, Washington State University Animal Nutritionist, who has been feeding wood, paper, straw, and other high cellulose materials to livestock since 1955 says, "this could be an advantage as there is more interest in meat with less fat."

Apparently there is no shortage of raw material when you consider that when a tree is harvested for lumber about 60 per cent of the tree is left in the forest to decompose. Dire says that "as long as we have a worldwide market we will always be likely to have a grain shortage. So in order to produce beef as inexpensively as possible we have no alternative but to go to a cheaper source of energy than grain.

Nu-Pro with a dry matter TDN of 65 per cent and 3 per cent protein may be an answer. Corn, wheat and barley have a TDN of only 10 or 15 points higher, although considerably higher in protein."

It Seems To Me

Janet Reed

This is the season to sparkle. And you'll sparkle at holiday parties if your dress is made from one of the glitter fabrics. You can find glitter in lightweight or heavy fabric, on knits or wovens. You can find shiny threads used to make the fabric or metallic prints. And you'll see glitter attached in the form of sequins and beads. You can have fabric with a subtle sparkle or those which catch any eye. There is a fabric to suit every taste.

As always, dress style and fabric must be suited to each other. The soft, clinging dresses require a soft, clinging fabric as well as a slim figure. The single-knit fabrics work very well for these styles. They are scratchy next to the skin though, and will need a lining. The lining should be soft fabric which will not change the drape of the knit. Consider a nylon tricot if you can find the right color, or a soft-woven fabric. The best way to find a lining is to hold your dress fabric and the lining fabric together to test the amount of drape and also see if the glitter still feels scratchy next to the skin.

A lining technique, rather than an underlining, will cover any scratchy seams. Extend the lining to cover any facings on the bodice, or make facings of a softer fabric which will not irritate the skin.

The shiny threads in double knits usually appear on the surface only, and linings are not necessary. Since double knits are heavier than single knits, you will need to consider this when selecting a garment style.

Any fancy fabric shows off to better advantage in a simple style with few details. The plainer dress will be easier to construct, too.

Experiment before pressing any of these glitter fabrics. Test a scrap to determine the amount of heat and moisture it will take. A press cloth may be necessary.

Sequined fabrics provide much fashion interest for evening wear. These materials usually are sewn by hand, but can be stitched by machine. Have some extra needles on hand, though. If sequins break on the stitching line, sew on extra sequins by hand over the stitching line.

Sequins are scratchy, too, and will require lining and facings made from another fabric. Steam can cause some sequins to curl and lose their shine.

Sequined fabrics are expensive so you'll want to plan very carefully and possibly limit their use to trimming or small areas of the garment.

Let your sewing talent shine this season—and doubly shine with a glitter fabric.

Homeowners Can Conserve Fuel This Winter

By now everyone knows that the nation is expected to encounter fuel shortages this winter. The President has asked us to reduce our energy consumption by five per cent over the next year.

About 27 per cent of all the energy used in this country goes toward maintaining our homes in a comfortable condition. Ernest Walpole, extension agricultural engineer for the University of Delaware, says homeowners can save substantial amounts on their heating bills by cutting down heat loss and preventing infiltration of cold air into the home. Proper insulation, plus tightness of the house, will make a big difference, he says.

During cold weather, heat from a warm house passes through the walls to the outside. The amount of heat lost in this way can be greatly reduced by proper insulation. The attic is a good place to start, especially in older homes where the original insulation may have been insufficient, or may have flattened out. Adding insulation to an attic is relatively inexpensive, and well worth the effort, Walpole says. He recommends a thickness of about six inches. There are many different materials available, and some types can also be blown into the walls.

Good insulation not only cuts down on the amount of heating necessary (and the amount of cooling in summer), but also helps keep wall and ceiling temperatures more nearly the same as the air temperature. This makes the rooms feel more comfortable.

A second energy saving practice is to cut down on drafts, Walpole advises. A certain amount of air leaks in around the doors and windows, causing discomfort and lowering the efficiency of your heating system. There are fairly simple remedies for this. Homeowners can caulk around windows on the outside of the house, between the siding or brick and the window frames. Weather stripping can be installed around windows and doors. In some cases, it might be worthwhile to remove the inside trim and pack the rough openings next to the window frames with insulation. Often builders do not insulate this space, and so the only protection between you and the cold is the inside and outside trim. Filling this space with insulation can help a great deal in cutting down on drafts.

Walpole considers storm windows and doors especially important because these areas are the least insulated parts of a house. Even a tight window permits substantial heat loss, but the installation of storm windows can cut that heat loss in half.

A final recommendation is a simple one many people forget.

Walpole reminds homeowners that a lot of heated air can be lost right up the chimney if the fireplace damper is left open.

Composting Leaves

Now that the trees have started to shed their leaves, many homeowners are concerned about how they will dispose of the downed foliage. For those who have a garden, however, fallen leaves can be an asset rather than a liability, says Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Leaves, grass clippings and garden plants contain many organic compounds that can benefit your garden when decomposed, he explains. And for best results, Stevens suggests turning these materials into valuable compost.

A compost pile can be constructed on top of the ground or in a shallow pit. For the average garden, a pit three feet wide by 6 feet long and 18 inches deep is recommended. If your soil does not drain well, pile the leaves on the surface using chicken wire or boards to hold the compost in place.

Stevens says compost should be layered. Start with a six-inch layer of leaves or other plant material and add a pound of 5-10-5 fertilizer for every 10 pounds of dry leaves. Top the fertilizer with a one-inch layer of soil and continue building the pile with leaves, fertilizer and soil. Most compost piles are three to four feet tall.

Your compost pile should also slope toward the center of the pit or bin. This will help trap rain water and increase the decomposition process.

Fall Liming

Maintaining a well-limed soil is one of the least expensive jobs on the farm. But when lime is neglected, crops don't receive the value of other plant nutrients, and the cost of neglect can be high, says Leo Cotnoir, associate professor of plant science at the University of Delaware.

Of course, there is no such thing as instant soil fertility. Lime is a very slow-acting material. Unlike fertilizers, it is applied at infrequent intervals and its benefits accrue over a period of years. This is one reason Cotnoir recommends fall liming—it provides the lead time next year's crop needs.

Fall liming will also eliminate the problem of trying to get into wet, soggy fields with heavy equipment in the spring.

Most Delaware farmers have been used to using relatively high rates of fertilizer, particularly nitrogen, says Cotnoir. Use of high rates of fertilizer coupled with two years of above-average rainfall have resulted in very low pH levels in many fields.

Some farmers are also cropping fields that previously were held in conservation programs or otherwise held idle. Many of these fields have a low pH and Cotnoir emphasizes that good liming practices are essential to bring these fields back into production.

Agriculture Plays Important Role At Home And Abroad

Increased agricultural production in the United States is playing a major role in maintaining a favorable balance in international markets, according to Dr. William E. McDaniel, dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences at the University of Delaware.

In an address at Delaware State College, Oct. 23, as part of the "Man and His Planet" lecture series, McDaniel said there has recently been a large increase in agricultural exports. In 1969, U.S. agricultural exports were $6 billion. By 1972, these exports reached $8 billion and for this year, the estimated value of agricultural exports is $19 billion.

Why have U.S. agricultural products remained competitive in foreign markets?

McDaniel said increased production efficiency is the major reason. He pointed out that output per man-hour on farms is three times higher than 20 years ago. In 1952, one farm worker supplied 16 people with food; today, he produces enough food for 51 people. Twenty years ago, one person out of seven was living on a farm. Now one person in 22 lives on a farm.

Will increased agricultural exports affect food prices in local supermarkets?

If we assume that consumer demand and the production of agricultural products remain constant, McDaniel said an increase in agricultural exports will cause U.S. food prices to increase. He also stated, however, that if agricultural production is increased to the extent that agricultural exports are increased and other factors remain the same, then local food prices should not increase.

There is an extremely strong demand for food in the U.S., according to McDaniel. The economy is booming and we are bidding up the price of most food items. Americans are eating nearly twice as much beef per person today as they did 20 years ago.

But food prices have increased much less than the prices of many other items. McDaniel said retail food prices increased only 47 per cent from 1952 to 1972 compared to a 58 per cent increase for all consumer goods, a 64 per cent increase in housing costs, a 123 per cent increase in medical costs and a 55 per cent increase in transportation costs.

Despite the rise in food prices, expenditures on food have taken a smaller share of the average family income. In 1972, the average family spent 16 per cent of its net income on food. Twenty years ago, it took 23 per cent of a person's take-home pay to put food on the table.

McDaniel said that since World War II, the U.S. has been committed to a program of low-priced food for consumers. The agricultural policy permitted large reserves of grain and certain food products to accumulate. These reserves hung over the market creating a price-depressing effect.

Today, after a few months of a policy to diminish grain and food storage and to increase agricultural exports, the government storage bins are empty. McDaniel emphasized that the consumer must now face the open market by the law of supply and demand. He added, however, that food in the U.S. will continue to be a bargain, compared to other commodities, because of the increasing efficiency of the agricultural industry.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne W. Holberton

When we turn the calendar to November, our thoughts fly to the end of the month and Thanksgiving, that wonderful family day of fine food and equally fine conversation. This year many of us are thinking ahead and buying our turkey earlier, if not for the freezer then for delivery just before that festive day.

There will be adequate supplies for the holiday but not abundant ones so if you want a particular size, kind, etc., then buy now so you will not be disappointed. All signs point to prices edging up as the demand gets greater. This year, due to earlier marketing of many turkeys there are not as many on hand nor as wide a choice as we are accustomed to. As Thanksgiving day draws closer it is quite possible those birds available will not be just what you want.

Regardless of what type or kind of bird you buy remember you are working with a very perishable food. Handle it with this in mind. If it's a fresh bird refrigerate until time to cook. Frozen birds should be kept hard frozen until time to thaw. This will require three hours to three days depending on the size and how you do it. If you thaw your turkey in its original wrapper under cold running water it will require three to four hours for a small bird, six to seven hours for a large one. If you thaw in the refrigerator, make sure the wrappings are loose enough to allow some air circulation. This method will require one to three days depending on size.

What size turkey will you need? If the turkey weighs less than 12 pounds, figure on three-fourths to one pound per generous serving. Over 12 pounds, figure on one-half to three-fourths pound per serving. You will also find hen turkeys will have a somewhat smaller percentage of waste than the tom turkeys of the same age.

What kind of turkey do you want? There are fresh birds, fresh frozen birds, half turkeys, toms and hens, etc. Let's take a quick look at these terms:

Fryer-Roaster - This is a very young bird that usually weighs between four and eight pounds and is usually 15 to 17 weeks of age. The smaller sized fryer-roaster may be disjointed and fried, or split and broiled, like chicken. It also can be stuffed and roasted.

Young hen and young tom - Quite tender meat and bird is between five and six and a half months old. Weight varies. Ready-to-cook hens are usually 5 to 11 pounds and toms are usually 9 to 18 pounds.

Fully mature hens and toms - you will find these turkeys simply labeled "Hen" or "Tom" turkey. The meat is less tender, the breast bones are hardened, and the skin is coarse. These turkeys will cost less per pound than other turkeys. They will also be drier. They are best cooked by braising them in a covered roaster or pressure cooker.

You will see labels saying broad breasted, too. These turkeys are young hen or young tom, but are larger than other breeds. The hens usually weigh 10 to 15 pounds while the toms are usually 16 to 24 pounds and some go up to 25 or 30 pounds.

If you are planning on buying a fresh turkey then your order should be placed now. The demand for fresh-killed turkeys during the holiday season is getting bigger and bigger, thus orders must be placed three weeks to a month in advance. When cooking a fresh turkey, remember it will require less time to cook -- about 30 minutes less.

These are a few of the things you must consider before you buy your turkey.

Director Of Lab. Animal Care Named At U of D

Dr. Paul E. Meckley has been named director of laboratory animal care and asst. professor in the department of animal science and agricultural biochemistry at the University of Delaware. His appointment was effective Oct. 1, according to Dr. William C. Krauss, chairman of the department.

Meckley is a native of York, Pa., and obtained his B.S. degree from Penn State University and a degree in veterinary medicine from the University of Pennsylvania. In addition, he holds M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Wisconsin where he served as research associate in the department of veterinary science before joining the Delaware staff. In his new position, Meckley will be responsible for the some 2,000 laboratory animals used in the University's research and teaching programs. He will also teach and conduct research in the area of reproductive psychology.

Meckley, his wife Adrienne, and their two children are living in Newark.

Female Enrollment Up In U of D Ag College

The number of girls majoring in agriculture at the University of Delaware has increased more than 5-fold in the last six years. Figures just released by the College of Agricultural Sciences show 154 females enrolled compared with only 29 in 1968. During this same period, total college enrollment increased by about one-third.

Girls now comprise slightly less than one-fourth of the college's total undergraduate enrollment of 687. Dr. Ralph Barwick, associate female enrollment is in the department of animal science where there are 66 female majors compared with 77 males. Their emphasis is on horse management and pre-veterinary medicine. There is also a substantial number of girls studying plant science--32 out of 55. Other areas of agriculture with female enrollment include agricultural economics, agricultural education, and entomology and applied ecology.

Barwick indicates that employment opportunities for female graduates have been quite good with jobs opening up in many previously all-male fields. Among the 15 female seniors in the college, at least three plan to teach vocational agriculture, a half dozen want to enter veterinary school or other graduate program and two or three plan to become landscape designers. At least one animal science major hopes to become a professional horse trainer.

dean for instruction in the college, reports female enrollment has increased dramatically in the past three years, jumping from 66 in 1971 to 110 in 1972. The 1973 figure is almost one-third more than last year.

Barwick cites several factors in explaining the rapid expansion of girls studying agriculture. Probably the most important one is a change in attitudes on the part of students toward agriculture. "There seems to be a renewed interest in growing things--plants and animals, and in learning about the environment. There is also a feeling of freedom among students to study what interests them without regard for the traditional disciplines."

Nominations For Conservation Supervisors May Be Made

The Kent County Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Supervisors announced that nominations may be made for a supervisor to serve on the District Board. The term will start Jan. 1, 1974, and continue for a four year period. The election will be held in December. The date and time will be announced later.

Any interested farmer or landowner who desires to be a candidate for election to the Board may be nominated by ten or more farmers or landowners of the county.

Three requirements that a candidate must meet are as follows:

1. Be a Kent County farmer resident.

2. Receive the written endorsement of ten other landowners or farm operators in the county and present this endorsement to the Kent County Soil Conservation District office, Dover, by Nov. 26.

3. Reside in the Northwest quadrant of Kent County (boundaries being: Delaware Route No. 10 on the South, U.S. 13 on the East, the Kent and New Castle county line on the North, and the Delaware-Maryland line on the West).

Isaac Thomas, Maryland, is the present supervisor whose term expires Dec. 31. Mr. Thomas was re-nominated by the Board as a candidate for the election. This procedure is in keeping with the rules as presented by the State Soil Conservation Commission in conducting the annual election of a supervisor.

Barwick indicates that employment opportunities for female graduates have been quite good with jobs opening up in many previously all-male fields. Among the 15 female seniors in the college, at least three plan to teach vocational agriculture, a half dozen want to enter veterinary school or other graduate program and two or three plan to become landscape designers. At least one animal science major hopes to become a professional horse trainer.

Mrs. Della Russell, mother of Neil Russell, is recuperating from an eye operation at the home of her son, Carl Russell, in Wilmington. A Harrington youth was seriously injured when his bicycle and an automobile collided on U.S. 13, a half mile north of Harrington. Daniel Voss, 14, of 113 Wolcott Street, is in the Milford Memorial Hospital with severe lacerations of the entire body and a fractured right leg. His condition is listed as serious. Farmington has instituted a Police Department, according to Mayor Lester Hatfield. The village has appointed Jack Stricker of Kenton as a part-time patrolman. Kent & Sussex Raceway ended its longest and most successful meet Saturday night when 5,020 persons bet a record $182,321 on the 10-race program.
