

Ten Million Dollar Achievement Dinner

The entire staff of The Peoples Bank (directors, employees with their husbands and wives), met for an evening of celebration at the Seaford Inn.

The occasion of this party was in recognition of the banks growth, in which it was noted the increase in assets during the past 12 months, was equal to the bank's growth during its first 38 years of existence. The current assets of the institution being in excess of $10,000,000.

The evening began with a welcoming address by President Taylor, followed by a delicious meal. After the dinner Mr. Taylor called on H.S. Wagner, cashier, who presented statistical information concerning the growth of the bank as well as the years of service rendered by the directors and personnel.

L.F. Band Boosters Seek Ways To Raise Funds

The Lake Forest Band Boosters continue to be very active. A meeting at the High School Monday evening was attended by nearly 50 parents. Donald McKnatt, president of the group, will make recommendations and plans to increase the tonnage of newspaper to be turned over to the recycling center. Residents of the Lake Forest District will be notified by newspaper and radio of the collection time and place on a regular basis. Band members will be assisting in each community.

Several items of business were brought before the group. The paper drive has had moderate success in the past several months. A committee, chaired by Mrs. Nick Hobbs of Felton, will make recommendations and plans to increase the tonnage of newspaper to be turned over to the recycling center. Residents of the Lake Forest District will be notified by newspaper and radio of the collection time and place on a regular basis. Band members will be assisting in each community.

The fund raising committee has been investigating several ways of raising funds for a 4-day trip to Niagara Falls to attend a Band Competition. The competition will be held in May and will involve several thousand dollars expense. Further details will be announced later. Plans are contingent, of course, on the energy crisis.

As a result of the performance of the band in New York City at the Israel Festival last Spring, the Lake Forest Band received an invitation to attend a Band Festival in Holland. While the idea was very exciting, and enticing, the over-all cost was deemed too much for the organization.

Mr. McKnatt announced that a donation has been received from the Harrington Alumni Association.

Questionnaires have been sent out to nearby schools requesting the possibility of a Major-ette Competition to be held at Lake Forest High. Answers from many schools have been encouraging and the possibility of having such an event will be investigated further.

The Boosters have been approached to serve dinners for some groups in the near future. This is a project which has been very successful in the past years. Proceeds from several such dinners have enabled the Boosters to pay for the many new instruments which were added to the Band this past year. Students in the band play the instruments, but do not own them. The herald trumpets which added so much to the performances of the band this season are a part of the instruments which were purchased.

Next Wednesday evening, Dec. 5, at 7:30, the Band will perform a concert featuring the music played at the football games this year. A free-will donation may be given at the door. The public is cordially invited.

The next meeting will be in January since the school will not be in session the last Monday of December.

Trinity U.M.W. To Hold Annual Bazaar

The United Methodist Women of Trinity Church will hold its annual bazaar Fri., Dec. 7, at Trinity Fellowship Hall. A luncheon will be served beginning at 11 a.m. Homemade soup, sandwiches and pie will be available.

As in the past, we will have Mrs. Minnie Slaughter with her homemade candy table and Mrs. Anna Tucker will have lots of good cakes and pies at the baked goods table. Christie Clymer will have her White Elephant table and Mrs. Georgie Jacobs is collecting for her Fancy Work table. Mrs. Lelia Hopkins is working on her miscellaneous items and Virginia Shultie will have a Christmas table.

Special Services At Felton Church Of God will hold special services Sun., Dec. 2, at 11 a.m. The guest speaker will be the Rev. Stout. At 2:30 p.m. there will be a song service featuring the Singing Drummonds and The Stout Family.

L.F. Wrestlers Return To The Mat

The Spartan Grapplers have begun another season with a fine turnout. The Junior High Program has brought us new wrestlers with experience. Coaches Muehleisen and Workman are looking forward to a good season with lettered varsity men returning to the squad. The first few wrestling practice sessions are devoted to getting the wrestlers in physical shape. Our lady managers assist in preparing the mat for practice,

2 Hospitalized In Crash

A young Harrington mother and her infant daughter were hospitalized for injuries they received in a two-car accident on Del. 14 west of Milford Sunday.

Hospitalized were Arnetta Wright, 17, and Janinca Wright, four months. Both are listed in good condition Monday at Milford Memorial Hospital.

Police said the two were riding in a car driven by the woman's husband James William Wright, when it collided with an automobile driven by James A. Hall, 73, of Milford. The Hall vehicle overturned and landed on its roof.

Police said Hall and his wife, Mary, who was a passenger at the time of the accident, both received minor injuries and were treated at the Milford hospital and released. Wright and another daughter, Denise, 2, also received minor injuries and were treated and released at the same hospital.

Jackets For The State Champs, Anyone?

Last week Lake Forest's cross-country team won the fourth state championship for this area, in the last eleven years. The 1963 and 1966 champs were from Harrington High. Both teams were suitably rewarded for their efforts, with the '66 team getting state championship jackets, after a precedent was set by presenting jackets to a Harrington High wrestling team, which won a four-team Henlopen Conference tournament.

The 1969 kingpins received snappy jackets of blue, gold and white, Lake Forest's colors. Gunnar Dale, the foreign exchange student, took one back to Norway. One of his best souvenirs of the U.S., we'll wager. The new high school had champs, after only 60 days.

We are appealing once more to the civic pride and community pride of the readers, who reside in the Lake Forest School district. These boys have worked very hard. We've watched them run nine miles on a cold, windy day and log between 40 and 50 miles a week. They have salvaged some glory for the local school, against a field of schools which were, for the most part, considerably larger than tiny Lake Forest.

Dr. Robert H. Smith of Harrington, was a fine athlete at H.H.S. in the late thirties. He once held the state scoring record in basketball, when he tallied 35 points in a game. Later, he battled over 390 on one of the best baseball teams in Harrington High history, the 1938 nine, which lost two games, each by one run, with bad breaks prevalent in each defeat.

Doc Smith was at the state title run, at Newark's Polly Drummond Hill. He saw Lake Forest's triumph. This sport booster has sent a check to Coach Jim Blades for $50, enough to buy two state championship jackets for two deserving Spartans. Your writer, Keith S. Burgess, has never missed a cross-country meet since the sport was started here, in 1958. We're willing to put our money where our mouth is, too. We will buy a jacket ($25).

That's three down and seven to go, since we want to take care of the top ten Spartans. These boys are from four areas. Three are from Harrington, three from Frederica, two from near Felton, two from Felton Heights-Canterbury area.

We would sincerely appreciate donations of any size. We are very proud of these boys. We would like to think that others are, too. Contact Coach Jim Blades or Keith Burgess. We are in the book.

Another Successful Deer Season

The November 1973 deer season for shotgun hunters has again culminated with a satisfactory harvest. The total reported deer harvest during the shotgun season is 1,259. Although this is as yet an unofficial count, it is close enough to review and make several management decisions.

Compiled with harvest information obtained during the archery and muzzle-loading rifle seasons, with respective reported harvests of 18 and 65 deer, the season total to date is 1,342.

Although there are 20 deer less reported harvested during this year's shotgun season, officials of the Division of Fish and Wildlife reason that, statewide, a better distribution of harvest was recorded this year because of the absence of the extreme concentrated local harvest experienced last year near Woodland Beach.

Harvests of deer are still disappointing in upper New Castle County in areas where deer populations are known to be fairly high. This is a result, however, of lands being posted and unavailable to the hunter.

The object of Delaware's deer management program has been to allow the deer herd to grow to a reasonable population and gradually increase the legal harvest to stabilize the population at a level where deer browse on forest and agricultural crops at a minimum and still offer Delaware hunters a profitable hunting season.

Two Schools Burglarized; Officials Offer Reward

Thieves made off with cash and property valued at approximately $250 from Lake Forest South Elementary and W.T. Chipman Schools Tuesday evening.

Items taken were $43.35 in cash from the home economics classes, an adding machine, an RCA record player, and an electronic classroom group listening post.

Thieves gained entrance to the buildings by breaking a door glass, and to the various rooms by prying off plexiglass panels in the doors. Damages to the building from the break-in amounted to approximately $25.

A reward of $50 is offered for information leading to the recovery of the property or the apprehension of the persons responsible.

Anyone having information that may lead to the recovery of the property or the apprehension of the responsible persons may claim the reward by calling the Harrington Police Department or Mr. Luff at the District Office, telephone 398-3244.

And out the product rolls. And we've got mass production. On everything but souls; We brag about our wisdom. And make the welkin ring. But still, I sometimes wonder, If we have learned a thing. If we're so much the smarter, Know all there is to know— How is it, when we're hungry?

We have to call on Joe? HIS IDEALISM WAS AS STAINLESS AS THE STARS SO THEY CALLED HIM CRAZY

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Corinne Hitchcock, of Dover, we are permitted to publish the following classic. Her former employer, a Philadelphia lawyer, had this framed and hung in his office all the years she worked for him. We recommend it for your thoughtful consideration at this Thanksgiving period.

The Most Beautiful Will Ever Written

In the pocket of an old, ragged coat belonging to one of the insane patients of the Chicago Poorhouse, there was found, after the patient's death, a Will.

The man had been a lawyer, and the Will was written in a firm, clear hand on a few scraps of paper. So unusual was it that it was sent to a lawyer, and he read it before the Chicago Bar Association. A resolution was passed ordering it probated. And now it is on the records of Cook County, Illinois.

The Will read as follows: "I, Charles Lounsberry, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby make and publish this, my last will and testament, in order, as justly as may be, to distribute my interest in the world among succeeding men.

American Legion Auxiliary News

Mrs. B.M. Jarrett of Selby, N.C., National President of the American Legion Auxiliary will visit Delaware this week. She will arrive Nov. 29 and be entertained in Wilmington and Dover that day and the next. A banquet and several tours of interest have been planned for her visit.

Mrs. Jarrett's visit as well as many other events for the coming month were announced at the November meeting of the C.K.R.T. American Legion Auxiliary Unit. Mrs. Harold Fry presided at the meeting.

The annual Christmas shops at Brack-Ex and Perry Point Hospitals and other hospitals in the area where veterans are being treated, will be held the beginning of December. Gifts from the local unit will be taken to the Brack-Ex hospital. Several members of the unit will also be on hand to assist the veterans in selecting gifts for their families. The gifts are supplied by the various units throughout the state. There is no charge to the veteran.

A project to furnish a waiting room at the Brack-Ex installation for families of patients who are undergoing operations has been started by the VAVS representative. A donation of $10 was voted by the Unit members of C.K.R.T.

The Junior Activities chairman announced they will plan a party at Christmas for a group of young children with the help of the Junior members.

Mrs. Fry announced that the annual visit of the State president, Mrs. Erma McMaster, will be Jan. 15, at 8 p.m., in the Post Home. A special program will be planned for her visit. All members are urged to attend.

H. Arthur Hoffman, Insurance Agent Receives Farm Bureau Trophy

H. Arthur Hoffman, agent for the Farm Family Life Insurance Company, received the Farm Bureau Trophy at the Delaware Farm Bureau Annual Meeting. The trophy is awarded to the agent in Delaware with the highest production in the various lines during the qualification period.

Hoffman joined Farm Family in 1954 and is one of the company's first agents. He has served ed as an agent, as an agency manager and was designated a Senior Agent this year. He has won the Farm Bureau trophy for six years and has qualified for 10 mid-summer training conferences and the first mid-winter sales conference. He has received the National Quality Award and has placed among the company's top 10 life, casualty and fire producers.

He and his wife, Jewell, have five children and live in Dover.

Chipman Students Perform In First Junior State Band

The first Junior All-State Band rendered a concert to the public Nov. 17. Among these 101 talented musicians from all over the state were three bandmen from the W.T. Chipman Junior Band, Pat Robinson, Debbie Urash and Rhonda Bailey.

In preparation for its concert, the band spent only three days of rehearsal with the conductor. Chipman's band director, Alex Stenton, accompanied the students to their Fri., Nov. 16 rehearsal and was proud to say that the Chipman band members adapted well to the long rehearsal day, and were able to play the high grade music with a great degree of authority.

The program featured the band playing several good compositions, among which was the ever popular "By The Time I Get To Phoenix."

Congratulations to Debbie, Rhonda and Pat on their achievement. The people of the Lake Forest School District should truly be proud of these bandmen who helped to pioneer Junior State Band.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

REAL FRIENDS

Give me the friend who sticks in time of sorrow,
 The friend whose hand is out to mine;
 The one who risks his all to help me
 When things in life grow darker all the time.

Give me the friend whose words of consolation,
 Force sunshine into crowded hours of gloom;
 The one whose cheery honest hand clasp
 Makes me strive harder for the plume.

Give me the friend who shares my sorrows with me,
 Cheers my hours with optimistic views,
 The one that always helps me share my burdens
 By painting darkened ways with brighter hues.

A kindly friend to share my hard fought battle,
 That winning, I may take the friendly grasp,
 Feeling all the thrills of true found friendship,
 Could anyone a greater friendship ask?

Parker, Mosley
 Top Locals In State Open Runs

Fifteen young distance runners from this area covered by the Lake Forest School district, competed in the annual State Open cross-country races, held last week at Wilmington Rockford Park course.

Nine of the fifteen locals won trophies for their efforts, which ranged from good to great.

Dan Parker, a 13-year-old rookie, ran the 2.1 miles course in 11:49, to finish fourth against older runners in the 13-15 race. The eighth-grader's clocking moved him into sixth place on the all-time Harrington High-Lake Forest High list for this course. Chris Wetherhold, Clarence Hackett, Harry Knotts, Dennis Rogers and Harry Benson still outrank the newcomer, but, two are seniors, one was a junior and one (Wetherhold) was a sophomore when they recorded their Rockford marks.

Benson was third in 11:43, this time, after doing 11:42 in 1972. Monty Pepper, a terrific freshman prospect discovered by Coach Jim Blades in gym class, was fifth in 12:08, good for eighth on the all-time list.

Ron Mosley proved he is college caliber already. The senior harrier led Lake Forest High to a state championship team title this autumn, with an excellent third place finish. At Rockford, he ran the 4.1 miles course in an excellent 23:43, to finish eighth in a large field of Delaware's best runners. Many of the competitors were college or ex-college harriers.

Jackie Guyton is only 12, but ran in the Women's Open and did a fine job running a hilly course of one and one-tenths miles in 6:55, to finish seventh in a field of 28.

Maurice "Reese Cup" Coverdale was second in the 12-and-under last year, to Mike Curtis, son of Brandywine High's coach, Dave Curtis. It was expected that Coverdale, now 10, would be second to Curtis, now 12, again.

Curtis, an experienced, talented harrier, was trying to break the 12-and-under record set at 12:35 by Harrington's Howard Parker, in 1970. Curtis made a great try but had to settle for 12:40.

Meanwhile, Coverdale lost a shoe after a half-mile, picked up a bad stone bruise and came in seventh in 13:55. He clocked 13:13 at Rockford in September, which would have been good enough for the runnerup spot.

This was the division where the Lake Forest kids made the big splash. Five were entered in a field of 45 runners. All five won trophies, which went to the top ten finishers. Eleven-year-old prospect, Mark Miller, one of three talented brothers, ran what may have been his best race ever, in a three-year-career, by finishing fourth in 13:44. Jeff Kashner, Don Coltrain, Maurice Coverdale finished in the next eleven seconds. Ken "Bullet" Cerklefskie made it 4-5-6-7-8 Lake Forest. At least 30 seconds elapsed before the next of the remaining 37 runners crossed.

Others to do well were George Gibbs, Bob Mullane, Ed Thompson, Terry Pettyjohn and Paul Miller.

Miller, Dan Parker, the injured David Richter, Monty Pepper, Jeff Kashner and Don Coltrain are first-year runners, who comprise one of the best crops of newcomers in local harrier history. They're in the 12-14 age group. Add veterans like John Moffett, Bill Moore, Ken Cerklefskie, George Gibbs and Lake Forest could be state champs after the present group of state title Spartans are gone. Remember those names, you will be hearing of them again.

Beverly Sue Cannon Weds James Wesley Jopp Jr.

The marriage ceremony of Beverly Sue Cannon and James Wesley Jopp Jr. was performed at Whatcoat United Methodist Church, Camden, Oct. 6. The candlelight ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Richard D. Bailey. A reception followed at the American Legion Hall, Harrington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hubert Cannon of Harrington. The groom is the son of Mrs. Betty Jopp of Harrington and James W. Jopp Sr. of Camden.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was of polyester chantaung, featuring a high-waisted, A-line with a scoop neck. The slightly belled, full length sleeves were trimmed in Venice lace woven with blue satin ribbons and appliques. Her chapel length train was gathered at the mid back of the gown and trimmed with matching lace. The bride's veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of matching lace and appliques. She carried a colonial nosegay of white roses and blue miniature carnations. Mrs. William C. Veale, of Strasbourg, France, was matron of honor for her sister. She wore an A-line, scooped neck dress of blue and lavender floral print with short tucked sleeves. Her bouquet was of blue and lavender pompons and daisies.

Mrs. Ronald F. Hughes of Harrington and Miss Jane Mark of Newark were bridesmaids. Their gowns were styled like the matron of honor. The bride's and attendants' gowns were handmade by Mrs. JoAnne McClung of Milford.

James R. Cain of Harrington was best man, David C. Jopp, brother of the groom, and Douglas B. Moore of Camden, served as ushers.

The bride is a graduate of Greenwood High School and the University of Delaware and is presently employed by the Farmers Home Administration. The groom is a graduate of Harrington High School, served in the U.S. Navy and is employed by Brady Transfer and Storage of Camden.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Las Vegas and Disneyland.

Mr. Bramble is the son of Homer Bramble, Easton, Md., and Mrs. Norman Toadvine, Greenwood.

Miss Slaughter is a 1973 graduate of Easton High School and is employed as a teacher's aide at the Easton Day Care Center, St. Mark's Church.

Mr. Bramble is a 1971 graduate of Easton High School and is a member of the Cambridge, Md., Police Department.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Del. River And Bay Authority News

The 1974 budget of $11,911,248 was approved Nov. 20 at the monthly meeting of the Delaware River and Bay Authority.

While the proposed 1974 budget is $584,460 higher than last year's $11,326,788 budget, anticipated 1974 revenues will be $13,970,000 which will more than offset the increase, according to William J. Miller Jr., Authority Director.

Operating revenues for 1974 are expected to be $12,520,000 from Delaware Memorial Bridge tolls, and $1,450,000 from traffic on the Cape May-Lewes Ferry.

The 1974 budget, which also includes provisions for interest payments and bond amortization, was passed unanimously on recommendation of Commissioner William A. Gemmel of Northfield, N.J., chairman of the Budget Committee. Gemmel said the proposed budget would yield a surplus of $2,058,752, a decrease of $524,461 from the $2,583,213 anticipated this year.

Other commissioners serving on the committee for the preparations of the 1974 operating budget were Frank LoBiondo of New Jersey, and James Julian, vice chairman, and Remsen C. Barnard III of Delaware.

Authority Chairman Clarence B. McCormick of Bridgeton, N.J., renewed ferry construction progress photos and reports with his fellow commissioners. The first vessel, in the new bayliner fleet, is scheduled for delivery in the spring or 1974. It is anticipated that the delivery of the remaining two ferries will follow at 90-day intervals.

In other Authority action, linked with the construction of the bayliners, commissioners awarded a contract for the fabrication and construction of a passenger loading system for the Cape May, N.J. and the Lewes, Del., terminals. The system, which permits passengers to load and unload at the dock level on movable covered steps, is similar to that used at many airline terminals. The successful low bidder, at a total of four, was Falcon Steel Company of Wilmington, which submitted a low bid of $98,385.

Action was also taken at the meeting to approve a formal agreement with the Delaware Division of Highways for the improvement of the existing Delaware Memorial Bridge Interchange at Delaware Route No. 9 (New Castle Avenue) and I-295 (Memorial Bridge Approach). The recommended engineering work will improve traffic flow at the interchange. The estimated cost of the project is $85,000. The Authority's share will be approximately $45,000.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Authority will be held Dec 18 at the Administration Building.

CARD OF THANKS
The Gerardi Family wishes to thank the Doctors, Nurses, and Staff of the Milford Memorial Hospital for the understanding care given our father, Louis Gerardi Sr., during his final final days there. We also extend our appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their cards and flowers at the time of our father's passing, and to Father John Cremin for his comforting services.
With Sincere thanks
The Gerardi Family

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of Benjamin N. Kates who passed away 2 years ago on Nov. 29, 1971. Time has a way of healing grief but memories are never forgotten.
Sadly missed by wife, Dorothy & daughters Barbara, Debbie & Darlene.

which is known in law and recognized in the sheep-bound volumes as my property, being inconsiderable and of no account, I make no disposition of in this, my Will. My right to live, being but a life estate, is not at my disposal, but these things excepted, all else in the world I now proceed to devise and bequeath.
"ITEM: I give to good fathers and mothers, in trust for their children, all good little words of praise and encouragement, and all quaint pet names and endearments, as the needs of their children shall require.
"ITEM: I leave to children inclusively, but only for the term of their childhood, all and every one, the flowers of the fields, and the blossoms of the woods, with the right to play among them freely according to the customs of children, warning them at the same time, against thistles and thorns. And I devised to children, the banks of the brooks and the golden sands beneath the waters thereof, and the odors of the willows that dip therein, and the white clouds that float high over the giant trees.

"And I leave to the children the long, long days to be merry in, and a thousand ways, and the night and the train of the Milky Way to wonder at, but subject, nevertheless, to the right hereinafter given to lovers.
ITEM: I devise to boys, jointly, all the useful, idle fields and commons, where ball may be played, all pleasant waters where one may swim, all snow-clad hills, where one may coast, and all streams and ponds where one may fish, or where, when winter comes, one may skate, to hold the same for the period of their boyhood. And all meadows, with the clover blossoms and butterflies thereof; the woods with their appurtenances; the squirrels and the birds and echoes and strange noises, and all distant places which may be visited, together with the adventures there found. And I give to said boys each his own place at the fireside at night, with all pictures that may be seen in the burning wood, to enjoy without let or hindrance or without any encumbrance or care.
ITEM: To lovers I devise their imaginary world, with whatever they may need, as the stars of the sky, the red roses by the wall, the bloom of the Hawthorne and aught else they may desire to figure to each other the lastness and beauty of their love.
ITEM: To young men, jointly, I devise and bequeath all boisterous and inspiring sports of rivalry, and I give to them the disdain of weakness and the undaunted confidence in their own strength. Though they are rude, I leave to them the power to make lasting friendships and to possess companions, and to them exclusively I give all merry songs and grave choruses to sing with lusty voices.
ITEM: And to those who are no longer children or youths or lovers, I leave memory; and bequeath to them the volumes of poems of Burns and Shakespeare and of other poets, if there be others, to the end that they may live the old days over again and freely and fully, without title or diminution.
ITEM: To our loved ones with snowy crowns I bequeath the happiness of age, the love and gratitude of their children, until they fall asleep.

Veterans Administration News

Q - I draw compensation from the Veterans Administration for a service connected disability suffered in Vietnam. Am I entitled to a $150 annual clothing allowance?
A - That depends upon the nature of your disability. If you wear one or more prosthetic or orthopedic appliances (including a wheelchair) which tends to wear out or tear your clothing, you are eligible. But you must apply to VA to get it.
Q - I was honorably discharged from military service last month, and plan to buy a home with a GI loan from the Veterans Administration. Will my wife's income help me qualify for the loan?
A - Yes, VA since July 1973 has been giving full recognition to income of both veteran and spouse in determining ability to repay loans.

Q - How many individuals trained under Veterans Administration education programs during fiscal year 1973?
A - Enrollments in the agency's three programs reached 2.2 million, the highest level since World War II. Included were 2.1 million veterans and servicemen under the GI Bill, 29,600 under the vocational rehabilitation program, and 68,200 under the dependents' educational assistance program.
Q - I am a recently discharged veteran with a service connected disability; who'd like to attend college under the Veterans Administration's vocational rehabilitation program. What benefits would I receive? (P.S. I have a wife and child).
A - If you attend full time, you will receive your tuition, fees, books and supplies, plus $284 monthly.
Q - Do Veterans Administration hospitals and clinics take care of reservists reporting to, or returning from military training?
A - Yes, VA provides medical care for injuries and illnesses which occur during travel time as specified in the reservist's military orders. Both active duty training and inactive duty training are considered active duty for this purpose.

One way to keep warm this winter is with an extra layer of clothes. The layered look is a current fashion trend, and it will be even more acceptable as the winter progresses. Extra layers will make ideal holiday gifts this year.

The easiest type of layer to add is a sweater. You'll find a wide variety of styles. The long sweater wrap in bulky yarns is a popular item and often features a deep shawl collar which can be pulled closer to the neck as protection from drafts.

Twin sweater sets are timely additions to the fashion picture. Two sweaters will be warmer and more comfortable than one. Sweater vests can be teamed up with existing items in the wardrobe.

If you're looking for warmth, consider sweaters with some nap, or those made with bulky yarns. These help provide an insulation to keep you warm. They also make one look larger, so you may have to make a choice. Men's sweaters are available in great variety. There are cardigan jackets with shawl collars to be worn with turtle necks, classic style cardigans, sweatshirts, vests and handsome twin sweater combinations.

Most of us like the washable sweaters. The acrylic fibers look like wool yet have the advantage of being machine washable. Care directions should be attached to sweaters so that the recipient knows how to care for them.

You can still find wool sweaters, but prices are up. Cashmere continues to be the ultimate in luxury wool. A number of part wool blends are available. Study care directions carefully before you make your selection and consider the amount of extra warmth versus cost and care required. Many blends are washable but usually require careful hand laundering.

Sweaters should be purchased size or two larger than normal apparel size unless you want them to fit skin tight. A looser fit will be a warmer fit, too.

The raglan sleeve is a popular sweater style, but this line can accentuate narrow or round shoulders.

Sweaters are made by two basic methods: they are either cut and sewn or full fashioned. The cut and sewn sweaters are cut from pattern pieces and sewn together. Full fashioned sweaters are shaped as they are knit on a special knitting machine. They are somewhat more expensive and can be identified by the small "fashioning" marks

Q. What has four wheels and parts made from soybeans?

A. The Model A Ford.

Believe it or not, parts of a Model A Ford and other 1932 Fords were manufactured from soybeans. The soybean has had what you might call the rags to riches story. From 1973 to 1972 the crop has had a 100-fold increase in production and almost a 500-fold hike in value, but the story is not over yet. U.S.D.A. economists predicted even further production and earnings for the nation's most valuable crop as domestic and foreign demands for oilseeds continue to soar.

Getting back to the Model A story, while the beans are not destined to play a major part in American automobile manufacturing, early efforts like this to develop the soybean made possible the soy protein revolution we are now experiencing. We would like to point out the case of Robert Boyer, a chemical engineer who worked for Henry Ford following the great depression of 1929.

It was Boyer's job to help the American farmer, who was severely hurt by the depression, by finding new uses for his products. Within a year Boyer decided that the soybean had the most potential. He soon found ways of making horn buttons, gear shift handles, and control knobs for the Model A and the 1932 V8.

Boyer also attempted to make synthetic wool. The wool making process involved a stage in which chemicals were used to process the fiber. Boyer found the quickest way to determine when the process was finished was to taste the fiber. This led to his realization that wool as a protein was not edible. He also remembered a statement his boss, Mr. Ford, made -- that the cheapest thing in the world ought to be food. Apparently this led him to the idea that instead of making wool, why not try to duplicate the meat of the sheep.

The first edible vegetable protein fiber using this new idea was introduced in 1949 and the patents were filed by Boyer. While other cheaper processes have been developed, Boyer's basic idea paved the way for the spun meat substitutes that are being called a very promising source of protein to feed the world's hungry.

Central to Boyer's process is a soybean product called soy isolate, which is at least 90 per cent protein. This isolate is mixed with an alkaline liquid and fed under pressure to a spinning machine.

These machines force the liquid through a dye that contains 15,000 tiny holes, after which the jets stream out into an acid solution that coagulates them into threads of protein -- tasteless, odorless, closely resembling taffy in texture and charged with nutritional value. These threads are basic to the texture of limitless varieties of meats that soy protein, involving boneless T-bone steak. Sales of meat substitutes, while still only a fraction of the meat market, now total 50 million dollars. William Gallimore, economic research service economist, who has done extensive research concerning soy protein products, said that by 1980 the soy extender could replace up to 20 percent of the meat in processed items.

And it all began with parts for a Model A Ford!

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne W. Holberton

We Americans spent $371 apiece last year to move the food we bought from farm to market. In all, we paid $77.2 billion in 1972 for marketing U.S. farm food products. This "bill" is actually the total amount we spent on farm foods means the farm value of the food.

The bill was up $1.8 billion from 1971, with the rate of increase much lower than in recent years. At 2.4 per cent, the increase was less than half the 10-year average, and well under the six per cent increase that occurred in 1970 to 1971.

For the first time, the total increase was accounted for by the cost of providing marketing services, reflecting such rising costs as labor and packaging materials.

Normally, other factors enter into the bills increase—a growth in volume marketed and more marketing services. But in 1972, the amount of food marketed was nearly the same as in 1971 and did not keep pace with the growing population. In a breakdown of the bill labor accounted for $37.4 billion, nearly half of the total. Labor costs were up 8.4 per cent from 1971, so both wages and man-hours worked increased.

Packaging was second to labor on the marketing bill. This was a bill of $9.4 billion, up four and one-half per cent from 1971. Higher prices for packaging material accounts for about half the increase, and increased volume for the rest. One of the fastest rising costs was for grocery bags.

Corporate profits, at $3.4 billion before Federal income taxes, were down $300 million from a year earlier. Sales were up, but profit rates of corporations were less than in 1971. Over all, profits share of the marketing bill dropped from 4.9 per cent in 1971 to 4.4 per cent in 1972.

Capital costs, which include depreciation, rent, and interest, totaled $6.7 billion in 1972 slightly over 8 per cent of the total food marketing bill. These costs rose nearly 12 per cent in 1972, considerably more than in recent years.

Farmer Panel Set For No-Tillage Conference

Last year's panel of farmers "telling it like it is" proved to be a popular feature. So it is being tried again this year at the second annual Delmarva No-Tillage Conference set for Dec. 18 in the Del-Mar-Va Convention Hall, Delmar, Md.

Delaware farmers sharing their no-tillage experiences at this year's conference include Richard A. McCloskey of Felton and Palmer Corey of Bridgeville. Edward H. Ralph, director of the University of Delaware's substation, will serve as panel moderator. Maryland participants will include Donald A. Wilber of Salisbury; James C. Scott, Hurler; Charles R. Lyons Jr., Easton, and Breck Debnam of Chestertown.

The afternoon session will conclude with a panel of four county extension agents giving an overview on no-tillage farming in the Delmarva area. Members of this panel will include Francis J. Webb, extension agent in Kent County, and three Eastern Shore Maryland agents—Robert G. Miller, Wicomico County; L. Ronald Wade, Dorchester County, and W. James Milliken, Kent County.

Free tickets for a chicken luncheon are now available at county extension offices and agricultural supply stores throughout the Delmarva area, including adjacent counties in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The tickets must be picked up by Dec. 14.

Activities will get under way the day of the conference with registration at 9 p.m. The program, which is being sponsored by the co-operative extension services of Delaware and Maryland and allied agricultural industries, will run from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Master of ceremonies will be Roy J. Reiman, president of Reiman Associates, which publishes the No-Till Farmer magazine at Milwaukie, Wis.

The only thing that stayed about the same as in previous years was transportation. This is rail and truck transportation. Why? Because railroads reduced their rates for moving wheat, and this cost dropped five per cent in 1972.

Winter Dairy Series Set

A series of winter dairy meetings sponsored by the co-operative extension service at the University of Delaware will be held Jan. 9, 23, and 30, and Feb. 6.

The sessions will start at 10 a.m. at the Houston Fire Hall, Houston, with the same program repeated at 8 p.m. in Crothers Brothers store at Mount Pleasant.

At the Jan. 9 meeting, specialists will discuss the outlook for milk and feed prices. The session will also feature a discussion of the use of computers in dairy farming.

Jan. 23, Frank D. Murrill, professor of dairy cattle breeding at the University of California, will talk about computer rations and how to use them. Other topics to be discussed include the pros and cons of complete dairy feeds and raising Holstein steers on high moisture corn.

William J. Roberts, agricultural engineer at Rutgers University will outline water management procedures at the Jan. 30 meeting.

The final meeting Feb. 6 will feature a program on reproduction in dairy herds. Harvey E. Shaffer, extension dairyman at Pennsylvania State University, will be the keynote speaker.

Sunflowers Show Promise In Recent Field Tests

Sunflowers may be the next crop on the horizon for Delaware farmers, according to a University of Delaware crops specialist.

Dr. William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist, says two years of field tests indicate that commercial sunflower production for bird seed could be a profitable venture for some Delaware farmers.

Several thousand tons of sunflower seeds are used annually in commercial bird feeders on the East Coast alone. At present, most of this seed is produced in Minnesota, North Dakota and California.

In the university studies, three varieties of sunflower were planted in test plots throughout the state. Various planting rates, fertility programs and herbicide treatments were compared. The sunflower seed was harvested, dried and processed and then evaluated by a local marketing firm to see how it compared to seed currently on the market.

Mitchell says sunflowers fit particularly well into a double cropping program with winter barley. Planted after the barley has been harvested in June, sunflowers will develop rapidly and be ready for combining by late September. In the university tests, yields averaged 1,500 to 1,700 pounds per acre.

The extension agronomist points out that sunflowers have been around for a number of years. Many home gardeners plant a few rows of the large-flowered plants to brighten the landscape and provide food for their fine-feathered friends. Commercial production of the crop in the United States has been limited, however, because of problems with insect damage, poor quality seed and bird damage.

The Delaware researchers have found that planting sunflowers after a barley crop can reduce bird damage considerably. "In some of our tests where sunflowers were planted in early spring, bird damage was high. There wasn't enough food available for the birds, so they came after our sunflower seed," says Mitchell. "By delaying the planting until June, however, the birds seem to have plenty of other food available and leave the sunflower seed in the ground."

Once the sunflower plants emerge from the ground, bird damage is not a major problem until harvesttime, he adds. The crop has to be harvested before it is completely dry at 15-18 percent moisture content and artificially dried to 12-14 percent moisture content.

Sunflowers have a long way to go before they can be called one of Delaware's major crops. But farmers may have a new crop that will fit into their current cropping programs.

Terrariums Are For Individualists

Are you the kind of person who likes to do his own thing? If you are—and you happen to also like plants—why not start a terrarium.

Terrariums are miniature gardens grown in glass or plastic containers that give them their own self-contained environment. This makes them easy to care for. It also provides them with a certain kind of mystery you won't find with the usual potted house plant. Creating these miniature gardens can be a fascinating hobby.

Many plants may be grown in a terrarium that do not tolerate regular house conditions, says Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware. The humid atmosphere in a terrarium lets you grow many woodland and tropical plants. And all you need for this popular type of gardening are a few plants, a little soil, a container and your imagination.

Containers may vary from pickle jars to brandy snifters, gold fish bowls, aquariums, candy jars or containers made specifically for the purpose. To create the best appearance, the container should be clear glass or plastic without any ornamentation. Of course, the smaller the opening, the harder it is to construct your miniature scene.

The soil you use should be porous, well drained and well supplied with humus. Stevens recommends a mixture of two parts good garden soil, one part peat moss and one part vermiculite for most arrangements. Do not add fertilizer. This may cause plants to grow too fast. A half inch of charcoal at the bottom of the container, under the soil, will improve drainage and keep the soil sweet.

When you plant your terrarium you may want to landscape it with stones, bark, figurines and other small artificial materials. Pieces of bark, twigs and stones are especially attractive in woodland gardens.

If the opening of the container you choose is small, you may need to devise special tools to help you put in the soil and then plant it. Here the gardener's ingenuity is sometimes put to the test. Bamboo stakes, chopsticks or tweezers are all useful, says Stevens. And you may need to make a funnel of paper to add the charcoal and soil.

There is an almost endless list of plants that will thrive in a terrarium, but basically there are three types of gardens: woodland, tropical or desert. It is best not to mix plants of the three types.

Woodland plants you can use include mosses, partridge berry, wild ferns and seedling evergreens. Tropical plants offer the widest choice, and include ground covers like baby's tears and dwarf creeping fig, as well as spider plant, peperomias, ferns, small leaved varieties of English ivy and carnivorous plants like the sundews. A number of small cacti, as well as succulents, are available for a desert terrarium. One warning—you will need a large opening with plenty of ventilation for this last type of garden.

When you start to build your terrarium, put in the larger plants first. Be careful not to overcrowd the warden—each plant has its own characteristics. After planting you may want to cover exposed soil with moss, small stones, finely ground bark or white sand, depending on the nature of the garden.

Keep your terrarium in good bright light, but never in direct sunlight. This may overheat it and cause plants to die. Stevens recommends putting the container in a window with a north or northeastern exposure. Woodland terrariums do best in a cool temperature; the other kind thrive at room temperatures.

After planting, moisten the soil slightly with a bulb sprayer. Depending on the temperature of your home, the terrarium will probably need only a few teaspoons of water once a month. Water sparingly—the best way to ruin a terrarium is to keep the soil too wet.

With a little care at the beginning when you build it, you should have a fascinating miniature world to enjoy all winter long, with a little care.

Peach Blossom 4-H News

By Brenda Clark

Linda Newnom, president, has named the following committees to serve: Judy Back and Debbie Hopkins, Health; Rochelle Messick, Sunshine; Richard Moulton and Walter McIntyre, Safety; Marilyn Harcum, Songleader; Brenda Clark, News Reporter; and Mark Langford and David Mesibov, Ring-a-Dings.

October was quite a busy month, beginning with a window display and 4-H Week Parade and ending with the annual achievement banquet. We had a good attendance at this affair held in Caesar Rodney school. We came home with 12 individual trophies, 16 county medals, 16 judging and demonstration certificates, three team trophies for judging contest, and one state winner of an all-expense paid trip to Chicago.

At our November meeting Ronna Legates reported on the County Skating Party held Oct. 29. Debbie Moulton told of a project meeting on transplanting which 16 members attended. New project books were distributed.

The Safety committee gave comments on the safe use of a knife.

Refreshments were served by Lisa and Brenda Clark and Ronna Legates as the meeting ended with the playing of bingo.

Cranberries Utilized In Many Ways

The cranberry is a native American fruit that has become an important part of holiday dining. But long before the first colonists had arrived, the Indians were putting cranberries to a variety of uses, according to Barbara DeMesse, extension home economist at the University of Delaware.

Cranberries were an important ingredient in pemmican, an Indian staple made of dried deer meat and meal. Sometimes the juice was used to dye rugs and clothing. The Indians also attributed powerful medicinal properties to the berry, and medicine men used it in poultices to treat wounds from poisoned arrows.

Among some Indians the cranberry was known as a symbol of peace. The Delaware chief Pakimintzen distributed cranberries at tribal peace feasts, and his name came to mean "cranberry eater."

Miss DeMesse says, however, that the word "cranberry" was not derived from an Indian name. Pilgrims on Cape Cod thought the pink blossoms resembled the heads of cranes. These birds also frequented the low bogs where the plants grew, and feasted on the red berries. Thus, the name given to them was "crane-berry," which eventually evolved to "cranberry."

Just as English seamen are called "limeys" because of the limes they sucked on long voyages, the early American sailor could have been called a "cran-berrie." Cranberries were carried aboard ships leaving Cape Cod for China, India and other distant ports. The berries were stored in barrels of cold water and served regularly to crews to provide Vitamin C, which prevented scurvy.

It wasn't long before the little red berry was being exported to Europe. Miss DeMesse reports that in England during the 18th century, a bottle of American cranberries brought five shillings, nearly $125. In 1884, a barrel of cranberries was involved in a shipwreck off the coast of the Netherlands. The barrel floated to the island of Terchelling, where a disappointed beachcomber threw away the cranberries and made off with the barrel. The cranberries took root and flourished. They still grow on Terchelling, but refuse to grow in any other Dutch soil.

Cranberry cultivation was first recorded in 1816 in the town of Dennis on Cape Cod. Today well over 120 million pounds of berries from Massachusetts, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Washington and Oregon. The fruit does not grow in water, but on swampland near a water supply which provides frost protection and irrigation so necessary for a bountiful crop. It takes about five years from the time a bag is first planted until it bears its first full harvest.

The fruit must meet exacting standards of quality before going into fresh fruit packages, processed products, or into storage freezers. After passing through a winnowing machine, a cranberry must prove it has bounce. Based on the knowledge that a good firm berry will bounce and a soft one won't, each berry has seven chances to bounce over four-inch wooden barriers. Any that can't make it are discarded, and the lively ones go on for processing.

A few years ago almost the entire cranberry crop went for sauce, or was sold fresh, accord-

C.W. Randall To Speak At Delmarva Soybean Meeting

Latest developments in soybean production and marketing will be highlighted during the eighth Delmarva Soybean Meeting, Jan. 31.

The annual meeting, sponsored by the co-operative extension service on the Delmarva Peninsula and allied agricultural industries, will be held in the Wilcomio Youth and Civic Center, Salisbury, Md.

One of the keynote speakers on this year's program will be C. Wesley Randall, director of marketing development for the American Soybean Association. Randall will make his second consecutive appearance on the program and will discuss "Soybeans To Feed The World." His talk will focus on the demand in foreign countries for more soybeans, future prices, and new markets and products for soybeans.

The day-long program will also feature discussion of sound cultural practices such as proper planting rates and row spacings, weed and insect control, and fertility practices. A panel of local soybean growers will outline some of the production practices that have helped them increase profits.

Tickets for a free chicken luncheon will be available after Dec. 1 at county extension offices and agricultural supply stores throughout the Delmarva area, including adjacent counties in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The Junior Choir of the Greenwood United Methodist Church were invited to take their ministry of music to Easton Wesleyan Church in Easton, Md., Sunday evening.

About eight members of the choir were ill and not able to participate, but 22 young people were there and presented the entire evening program in the form of a concert of Gospel songs and solos.

Stephen McCreary took part with his trumpet and Kelly Taylor, Sonny Zoch, Tammy Zoch, Paultette McCreary, Mary Ellen Detwiler, Pam McCreary and Steve McCreary did solo work. Mrs. McCreary, the director, presented two solos, "I Look For Love" and "The Wonder Of It All". Mrs. Elnora Anthony accompanied the group at the piano.

Evening services for the month of December will be held at Todds. This Sunday evening at Todds, there will be a special service, Don Clendaniel. Mrs. Jeanette McCreary will present special music.

Dec. 16 the Junior Choir will present a special program for the Greenwood area.

The Paul McCrearys spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McGilvray of Allentown, Pa. For Thanksgiving dinner they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McIntyre in Quakertown, Pa., and while in that area they visited other friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hodge in Dover.

The Jacob Hatfields celebrated Thanksgiving day at home with Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bollinger, Hilary and Teddy as guests. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Case and children, Karen and Blair, of Newark, joined them for coffee and dessert.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar English were Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan of Houston.

It is reported that Harry Swain is in the hospital with a heart attack. We wish him a speedy recovery. Wednesday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar English were Mrs. Thurman Adams and Miss Pauline Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Lofland and children took the former's father, Harvey Lofland and wife, out to dinner at Diland to celebrate his 75th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bollinger, Hilary and Teddy, spent Friday and Saturday in New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Snyder entertained at Thanksgiving dinner their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Muller of Mineola, N.Y., Mrs. Snyder's mother, who lives with them, Mrs. Helen Maloney and Mrs. Maloney's mother, Mrs. Tillie Furman.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Clarke and children, of Mt. Holly, N.J., were visitors Saturday at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albin P. Ottey.

TROOP NO. 879

By Asst. Leader Betty Lyons

Troop No. 879 met at St. Stephen's Church at 6:30 with a meeting with the girls' mothers.

The mothers were given a report on how the girls were doing and what they were expected to do toward working on their badges. Also discussed was the Christmas parade, the cookie bake and cake bake which will be held in the near future. The meeting proved interesting to all and the mothers especially expressed interest in the progress of the troop. The meeting adjourned at 7 p.m.

The girls held their open ceremony with the Workers Troop performing. Then they went into their patrols. Handbooks were read and a discussion on badges. The Gypsy Patrol cleaned up and the troop was then dismissed.

Assisting Barbara Evans as leaders are Betty Lyons, Deanna Gibbs, assistants Carolyn Woods as Adult Troop Treasurer, Mary MacFarland as Arts & Crafts chairman, Samuel Lyons as Outdoor chairman, Jean Cerklefskie as Bake chairman and Jean Oakley as Cookie chairman.

Make-It-With-Wool Contest Set

Sixty-five Delaware youngsters will be judged on their sewing skills Dec. 1 at the annual Make-It-With-Wool contest in Agricultural Hall at the University of Delaware in Newark. Judging will begin at 9:30 a.m. and be followed by a fashion show at 12:30. The fashion show is open to the public.

Contestants are divided into three groups. Pre-teens, 10-13, are judged on pants, skirts or jumpers. Juniors, 14-16, and seniors, 17-21, are judged on a two-piece suit, coat or dress. All garments must be made of 100 per cent wool.

Girls will be judged on fashion, fit and poise while wearing the garments. The garments will also be judged on construction. Judges in the contest are Janet Reed, State home economics leader for the co-operative extension service, Fran Mayhew and Laura Stuber, graduate students in textile and clothing at the University of Delaware, and Joy Gooden, assistant 4-H agent for New Castle County.

Winners in the junior and senior divisions at the state contest will attend the regional contest in Falls Church, Va., Jan. 12. The national contest will be held in San Diego, Calif., Jan. 24, 1974.

Delaware Delegates Attend National 4-H Congress

Twenty-two Delaware 4-H members are representing the First State at the 52nd National 4-H Congress in Chicago this week (Nov. 25-29). The 15 girls and seven boys were named for the honor by the co-operative extension service.

The Delaware delegation joined some 1,600 4-H'ers representing every state, Washington, D.C., Puerto Rico and Canada in Chicago. Each Congress delegate is a 4-H achiever who has demonstrated outstanding accomplishments in their project work.

During the annual congress, 270 national scholarship winners were announced. They will receive educational scholarships with a total value of $188,000.

Although Delaware claimed no winners in the national scholarship program this year, four Delaware 4-H'ers were named alternate winners.

Edward B. Gibbs III, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Gibbs Jr., Camden, was named first alternate winner in the automotive awards program; Charlotte Hukill, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hukill, Harbeson, was named first alternate in the home environment awards program; Pam Correll, 15, daughter of Mrs. Patricia M. Correll, Bridgeville, was named third alternate winner in the dress revue awards program; and Bill Campbell, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Campbell, Laurel, was named third alternate winner in the photography awards program.

Gibbs is a member of the Woodside Silverleaf 4-H club. He has completed eight years of 4-H club work. His expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress was sponsored by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.

Miss Hukill is a member of the Hollymount 4-H club and has completed seven years of 4-H club work. Her trip to Chicago was sponsored by the S & H Foundation, Inc.

Miss Correll is a member of the Bridgeville Wildcats 4-H club. She has completed six years of 4-H club work. Her trip to the National 4-H Congress was sponsored by Simplicity Pattern Co.

Campbell is a member of the Mt. Pleasant 4-H club and has completed five years of 4-H club activities. His trip to Chicago was sponsored by Eastman Kodak.

State and national 4-H winners are selected by extension service professionals on the basis of their 4-H activities, leadership, personal development and growth in community and civic responsibilities.

Themed "4-H Gets It All Together," the Congress officially opened Sunday. Throughout the week, the Delaware youngsters participated in assembly programs and workshop sessions to examine ways the theme can be put into practice in the coming year. Prominent leaders from government, education and business met with delegates in their discussion sessions.

The Delaware 4-H'ers also attended dinners where they were honored by 4-H project donors. In addition, they were treated to a variety of cultural and educational activities.

Some special activities included tours to the Museum of Science and Industry, the Field Museum of Natural History, the Chicago Art Institute and other points of interest in the city.

A special performance by the Chicago Ballet Company and a "Pop" concert featuring Chicago's Symphony Orchestra and conductor Arthur Fiedler highlighted the evening activities.
