Senior play "Bye Bye Birdie" to be Presented March 14-15-16

The senior class of Lake Forest High School will present "Bye Bye Birdie", a rare reminiscence of the fifties, at Lake Forest North Elementary Auditorium in Felton. You ask when? March 14, 15, 16, that's when.

You wonder who's heading this wonderful occasion, Bill Comer, the director and producer, that's who.

Starring in the musical are Jimmy Calloway as Conrad Birdie, Jimmy Hutchison as Albert Peterson and Conrad's manager, and Mary Jean Mason as Rose Alvarez and Albert's fiancée.

Conrad is the cool greaser who gyrates his way through life singing vibrantly under contract with the Almaeol Music Company. Albert is his personal manager who is not so successful at present, in fact, he's completely broke!

To add another conflict to the story, Mike Stewart, the author, drafts Conrad into the army. As usual, the faithful secretary, Rose by name, comes through with the perfect solution.

"Why not write a farewell song for Birdie. . . Sure, we pick a loyal fan, let Birdie sing to her on television kiss the kid, and we make a fortune."

The song is "One Last Kiss" and the fan is Kim MacAfee played by Bonnie Dill. Of course, Randolph, Kim's obnoxious brother played by Steve Harris, thinks it is really nifty, but Mr. and Mrs. MacAfee, portrayed by Bieth Adams and Sharon Fry, object to it strenuously.

However, the strongest objection comes from Hugo Peabody, Kim's steady, played by Ron Wertman, who stands up for his rights and lets Conrad know them quite well!

It appears as if Rosie's plan isn't working out too well, in fact she is replaced by Nancy Dill as Gloria Rasputin, a secretary with show business as a sideline. Naturally Rose is jealous, so she goes to the nearest bar to do all the wild and trashy things she can think of. However, she bites off more than she can chew, as the bartender and the local nightclub boys called the Shriners, dance a frantic, Arabian ballet with her. Conrad starts getting tense. To relax, he goes off to the icehouse with Kim, Ursula Merkle, the mayor's daughter played by Teresa Smith, and all the local Sweet Apple kids and sings, "We've Got A Lot Of Livin' To Do".

In the grande finale all ends happily as Rose and Albert are reunited which makes Mae Peterson, Albert's mother, played by Carol Barr, content. Mayor Merkle, Grant Salsbury, and wife, Lisa Brown, finally find Ursula. Even two very sad girls Faye Neeman and Donna Brock, are all smiles.

Be sure not to miss the greatest senior play yet! Tickets are available from all cast members for $2 for adults and $1 for students. To show extra support of the senior class, patron tickets will be available for $3 for adults and $1.50 for students. Appreciation will be shown by presenting patrons in the program all three nights. Be sure not to miss this once in a lifetime opportunity!

Asbury United Methodist Women Meet

A program of music and devotions was presented at the March meeting of the United Methodist Women Tuesday evening in Asbury Church.

Mrs. Mark Willey opened the program with devotions. Miss Debbie Winebrenner gave a piano solo, "Russian Dance" and "Air For G String." A reading "The Cross" was most effectively presented by Mrs. Willey as a single spot light silhouetted a nude cross in the center of the stage of Collins Hall.

Mrs. Keith Burgess sang "Follow Me", accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Donald Jarrell.

The musical portion of the evening continued with Mrs. John Griffith presenting four young men who have been practicing their instruments under her direction and guidance.

Mark Homewood, Richard Wells and Colin DeVault with Mrs. Griffith played a number of selections on their brass instruments. Included were "Must Jesus Bear The Cross Alone", "The Old Rugged Cross", "Christ The Lord Is Risen Today", "Christ Arose", "Crown Him With Many Crowns", "Abide With Me", "Onward Christian Soldiers", and "My Faith Looks Up To Thee".

Philip Griffin gave a piano solo entitled "I Wish We'd All Been Ready".

Mrs. Edward Taylor, president thanked them for their fine program.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of a deceased member, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson.

An offering for the Week of Prayer and Self-denial was made with a total of 28.72 being realized.

The April meeting will be held April 2 at 6:30 in Collins Hall when the United Methodist Men will be entertained with a covered dish dinner. Wives of the men and husbands of the United Methodist Women will be guests also. The United Methodist Men will provide the entertainment.

Kent opposes library changes, blames costs

Kent County Levy Court Tuesday voted unanimously to oppose legislation which would set up county library systems.

The commissioners endorsed the report of a special task force on libraries, which recommended seven changes in H.B. 614. That bill would abolish the present system of public libraries by school district and turn over to the counties all assets of the existing libraries, with a state agency acting as an umbrella organization.

Public hearings on the bill by its sponsors are March 12 at Legislative Hall in Dover and into full swing in planning for our evangelistic services to be held beginning Sunday morning, March 24, and continuing thru Thursday, at the evening service, March 28. Our evangelist will be the Rev. Jack Gray. This crusade would well provide a basis for continued spiritual growth among our people and we are trusting God to bring new people to Christ.

The Rev. Jack Gray is a native of McLean, Texas. He lives in Dumas and Denton, and attended school in Denton. He graduated from NTSU in 1951 with a B.S. in Psychology, Speech and Education. He then attended Perkins School of Theology, SMU and received the Master of Theology degree in 1954 and did post graduate work there later in 1961.

Rev. Gray has served several churches in the West and North Texas area. Among these are First United Methodist Church of DeSoto, Farmersville, and Trinity Methodist Church of Denton. In Dallas, Jack Gray pastored Cockrell Hill United Methodist Church from 1963-1968. From that charge he was appointed to Conference Evangelist for the North Texas Conference.

He is married to the former Revis Jordan of Lubbock. Revis is active in the ministry of her husband as well as an active teacher in the church school, serving in United Methodist Women, hospital guilds, PTA, and as a retreat leader of women's groups. She is employed with the Field Enterprises Corp., World Book Division. The Grays have three children: Joran, 15; Allison, 13; and Christie, 11.

Jark Gray has been active in the field of evangelism in Christ's Church for 21 years, preaching revivals and evangelistic crusades in many states - Mexico, Guatemala, and Panama. He has led tours to Israel, Holland and England. He is president of the National Association of United Methodist Evangelists, and is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He has served as district secretary of Evangelism and on the Conference Board of the UMC.

In addition to his full life and career as an evangelist, Jack has had an exciting life as a state winner in drama and oratory, a disc jockey, radio news commentator, college debater, football player, coach and official, golfer and private pilot. He is a 32nd degree Mason and Eagle Scout and Wood Badge Scoutmaster.

During the ceremony the girls were told about and discussed the life of Juliette Low. Ten girls brought in their completed stuffed animals and Tues. March 5 they will wrap these as a gift for the younger children (Continued on Page 4)

Members of the Kent County Library Task Force received the approval of Levy Court to testify at the hearings and present recommendations. Under the current system, school district libraries, which do not exist in all districts, are supported by a separate library tax on district residents, and other sources including donations from individuals, towns and the county.

One result of H.B. 644, according to Joshua M. Twilley, Kent County Levy Court president, would be to add about $180,000 to county expenses immediately. "If this bill passes, and even if your amendment (the seven changes) passes, there would be no other course but for the county to get into the library business full-blown," he told Mrs. Donna Kramer, chairman of the task force.

"I'm not saying this is bad," Twilley said, "but it would become one of the major departments of county responsibility." He said $180,000 is about 20 percent of the county's property tax revenues.

Levy Court Tuesday also approved an appropriation of $4,560 to the Delaware Adolescent Program, Inc., a statewide agency offering education, health assistance and day care to school-age mothers. The money will come from unexpended county revenue sharing funds for this fiscal year.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

HOME JOYS

Chores all done and energy low,
With only a few more steps to go.
Faces pressed at a window pane
Watching for someone to come again.
And I am the someone they want to see—
These are the joys life gives to me.

So, let me come home at eve and rest
With those who know I have done my best.
Let the wife rejoice and children smile
And I'll know by their love, I'm still worth while.

It is with the deepest shock and sense of loss that we learned of the death of our bishop, The Rt. Rev. William H. Mead, D.D. Being a bishop and a leader in these unsettled times is a difficult task, yet his personal warmth and love was irresistible. He had a vision for this diocese which was just in the birth process for a shared leadership approach by decentralizing authority and responsibility and thus enable the Holy Spirit to work through any member of the diocese. The Convocations are but one of the methods to accomplish this and in so doing, strengthen the local parishes. He was also interested in helping others and so it has been requested that we contribute to a memorial fund to aid ecumenical migrant work and other ecumenical workers. Checks may be made payable to "Bishop Mead Memorial Fund" and sent to the church office.

Caring for house plants in winter

It takes more than a green thumb to keep house plants from getting the winter doldrums according to Robert Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware. He says improper watering procedures probably cause more sick house plants than any other factor, and that overwatering is the most common mistake.
Many people don't realize that house plants naturally grow at a much slower rate during winter months, due to lower light intensities. They may mistakenly give their plants additional water and fertilizer in order to make them grow large and healthy. However, Stevens says plant leaves produce little food at this time, and thus the plant can't grow rapidly. Water and fertilizer needs are greater during the warmer months when there are more hours of daylight.

Little or no oxygen can reach roots if the soil is kept saturated with water. Roots need oxygen as well as water, and a lack of oxygen can cause small feeder roots to die.
Stevens also cautions against underwatering—the practice of adding just a small amount of water frequently. This prevents water from soaking down to the deepest roots, and encourages the growth of a shallow root system. Instead, he recommends watering thoroughly, but only when the plants need it. It is not advisable to follow a definite watering schedule.
Periodic watering of plants from the bottom is a good practice, says Stevens. This is especially true when the soil is compacted, and surface water tends to run down the inside of the pot and out the bottom, rather than soaking in.
Plants in cool rooms or enclosed porches need less water than those in warm, dry rooms. Flowering plants and those with thick foliage require more water than those without blooms or heavy foliage.

New Century Club Notes

The New Century Club held its regular meeting Tues., Feb. 26. Mrs. Joseph L. Brinster presided. The "Collect" was said in unison by the Club members. A business meeting was conducted at this time.

Mrs. Francis J. Winkler, chairman for the afternoon had a program on "The Truth About Trash." Mrs. Winkler discussed what it is and how to get rid of it. First, there is solid waste. This is garbage, refuse and industrial, commercial, agricultural and community activities. Other discarded materials from We are running out of places to put our solid waste as it is increasing by leaps and bounds. Disposal of solid waste can add to other pollution problems because some disposal methods contaminate air and water supplies. Valuable resources are thrown away along with the trash.

Mrs. John S. Harrington told how to get rid of the municipal waste by the following methods:

1. Open dumping - this is any site where solid waste is left uncovered for more than one day. Although this is the cheapest method of handling solid waste, it is totally unacceptable from any point of view. Unightly and unhealthy, - polluting the air and water, taking up valuable land, is a fire hazard, harbors rodents, breeds disease germs and diseases, and wastes natural resources.

2. Sanitary land fill - this is where the waste is spread in layers and covered daily with layers of dirt.

3. Incineration - this is disposal of waste by closed burning. This can reduce the volume of trash by 75 per cent, while on the other hand combustible resources such as paper, plastic, wood, fats and oils, chemicals and nutrients are burned up which is wasteful.

Mrs. Joseph Brinster told about the method of "mass recycling" that is being done. First, glass can be recycled into new glass or glassphalt, a highway paving material, wood can be used as fiber for fiberboard and house siding. Our band at Lake Forest collects newspapers the second and fourth Saturdays of each month. Fuels to power furnaces that make steam for heat. Organic compound can be converted into compost, or crude oil. Refreshments were then served.

The next club meeting will be the election of officers and "Big Surprise Program." Chairman for the meeting will be Mrs. T.H. Storus, who will be assisted by Mrs. Oscar Dickerson, Mrs. Frank Derrickson, Mrs. Harry D. Adkins, Mrs. Clarence Billings, Mrs. Ernest Hatfield and Mrs. Blanche Cahall.

Cub Scout News

The Cub Scouts of Pack 76 entertained their families and invited guests at their annual Blue and Gold Banquet Sat., March 2. This year's banquet, which honored the 64th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, was centered around the Cub Scouts as they presented special skits for their parents and as they received awards and recognition marking their progress through the achievement program.

An additional highlight of the evening was an address by John Charlton, the Assistant District Chairman for the Mid-Del Council, who reminded boys and parents that preparedness is a watchword of Scouting. Mr. Charlton, who is an Eagle Scout and who holds the Silver Beaver award, shared reminiscences of nearly 52 years of Scouting to prove his point.

The Cubs, in their program of skits, showed both preparedness and variety. Den 1 presented "The Spirit of Lord Baden-Powell", which told of the basic ideas of Scouting and brought audience participation as everyone joined in singing "America". In "Secrets of Some Famous Americans", Den 2 used puppets to reveal some heretofore unknown facts about seven great Americans: George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Pocahontas, Daniel Boone, Ben Franklin, Betsy Ross, and Sitting Bull. It might also be added that these facts were also unknown to the characters themselves. Den 3, in appropriate costume, displayed Indian signs the boys had prepared and did an Indian rain dance. This presentation helped the Cubs in their work on the Indian elective, which is one of the projects for earning arrow points. The Webelos Den gave a graphic demonstration of what could happen in any restaurant in the country in these days of higher prices and declining service, not to mention shortages of everything from food to toothpicks.

Topping the list of awards were two boys who received the highest rank in Cub Scouting. Jeff Porter and John Way Jr. were awarded the Arrow of Light signifying their mastery of tenderfoot requirements and their readiness to become Boy Scouts. In a symbolic ceremony the two boys crossed over the bridge from the Webelos Den to their respective Boy Scout troops. Jeff Porter was welcomed into Troop 76 by Scoutmaster Gary Baughman; John Way Jr. into Troop 79 by Scoutmaster James Harris. Both boys will be entitled to wear the Arrow of Light on their new Scout uniform.

Other Webelos awards were as follows: Glenn Govatos, 2 year pin; Jeff Porter, three year pin, Naturalist, Outdoorsman; John Way Jr., 3 year pin, Citizens, Naturalist, Outdoorsman, Showman; David Jones, Forrester, Artist, Traveler; David Le Kites, Outdoorsman; Doug Poore, Artist; Walter McIntyre, Forrester, Scholar.

Assistant Cubmaster Donald Dell recognized in a ceremony those boys who had earned the Wolf badge which is the first important rank earned in Cubbing after a boy becomes a Bobcat. Recipients of this award were Rodney Jarrell and Jeffrey Gustafson of Den 1; Charles Jones, Bill Bailey and Darin Dell of Den 2; Tommy Lord, Richard Sapp, Terry McIntyre, Albert Silbereisen Jr. and Sammy Powell of Den 3. Charles Jones of Den 2 also received gold and silver arrow points in the Wolf program.

The second important rank to be achieved is the Bear badge. Three boys qualified for this: Scott McKenzie of Den 2 and Ralph Smith and Sammy Layton of Den 3.

Richard Emory from Troop 79 and Alan McIntyre from Troop 76 received the badge of their office, the Den Chief's cord. A Den Chief is a Boy Scout who assists the den mother and gives leadership to the Cubs. Richard Emory works with Den 1 and Alan McIntyre with Den 3.

A list of Cubs and leaders received patches for their participation in the pack display at the Mid-Del's District 1974 Makahiki Cub-O-Rama which was held at the Blue Hen Mall Sat., Feb. 23. Those who participated were Darin Dell, Tommy Lord, Randy Brown, Scott McKenzie, Doug Poore, Bill Bailey, Joe Draper, Charles Jones, David Jones, Frank Strunk, Mrs. Pat Lord, Mrs. Wayne Brown, Donald Dell, Raymond Blanchette, Mrs. Richard McKenzie, Mrs. Alan Draper and Mrs. Larry Breeding.

Grateful recognition was given to those adult leaders and helpers who make it possible for the pack to operate. They are: Albert Govatos, William Moore, Donald Dell, Mrs. Wayne Brown, Mrs. Lois McIntire, Mrs. Pat Lord, Mr. and Mrs. George Sapp, Mrs. Priscilla Weeks, Mrs. Richard McKenzie, John Way, Albert Silbereisen, Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. Larry Breeding, Mrs. Edith Littleton, Maria Breton, Mrs. Alan Draper and Raymond Blanchette. Certificates of recognition were also given to the Den Chiefs.

In addition to Mr. Charlton and their families, the Cubs had invited a number of guests who were present for the evening's activities. Seated at the head table were the Institutional Representatives: Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Wright, The Honorable William Minner, Mayor of Harrington, and Mrs. Minner; Donald Jarrell, president of the Harrington Lions Club, and Mrs. Jarrell; Gary Baughman, Scoutmaster of Troop 76; James Harris, Scoutmaster of Troop 79, and the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Holliday.

Other features of the evening were the rendition of the Cub Scout promise, led by the Cubmaster and the "Grand Howl" as coached by the Assistant Cubmaster, a fine covered dish dinner featuring ham and home made ice cream, and the awarding of door prizes. Door prize winners were Mrs. Walter Le-Kites, Mrs. George Sapp, Mrs. Simmie Jordan, Mrs. Pat Lord, Mrs. Albert Govatos and Mrs. William Minner. The prizes were donated by Pizzadilli, Penn Supreme, Mrs. Pitlick, Felton Bank, BeeLine Fashion and Agway. Many other businesses in and around Harrington were most generous in donating both food and table favors for the banquet. To all of these, Cub Pack 76 extends its grateful appreciation.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM PICKING UP NAILS By J. Harvey Burgess

A road leads from the sky to sky And hazards it entrails; It is a road both low and high And mostly paved with nails. The nails are hates and sneers we grow To our thousand loss, As nails two thousand years ago Were driven in a cross. The snares we set, the traps we run For unsuspecting feet And kindly deeds we should have done Are nails along the street. The careless words we sometimes say To hurt another's name, The slurs we drop along the way To bring another shame, The packs we shift to add them to Some other fellow's load And all the unkind things we do Are nails along the road. With earth's rare metals in our hands Our dream of ages fails; Instead of welding friendship's bands, They're used for forging nails. Does brotherhood lag in the van And seem to creep like snails? Is it because, my fellowman, We've helped to scatter nails? Ah, brighter far would be the day And safer be the trails For all of us along life's way If we'd pick up the nails.

IN MEMORIAM In sad and loving memory of my son, Edward Hammond, who passed away 11 years ago, March 4. The world may change From day to day, Our lives may change From day to day, But the memory of you Will never pass away. Gone but not forgotten Mother, Elsie Hammond

IN MEMORIAM In loving memory of Charles Legates Sr. who passed away three years ago, March 7, 1971. A precious one for me is gone. A voice I loved to hear is still. A place is vacant in my home and in my heart that can never be filled. A silent thought, a secret tear Keep his memory ever dear to me. Time takes away the edge of grief. But memory turns back every leaf. Although his soul is at rest now This world would seem like heaven to me should I be here if you could be back with me again dear. Sadly missed and not forgotten by Jane.

Partying with fondues

Want to give a dinner party that looks as though it "just happened" -- something informal and creative and effortless? How about serving fondue?

Fondue is any bubbling, melted or liquid substance in which one dips or cooks a food, explains Barbara DeMesse, extension home economist at the University of Delaware. This can be anything from a beef main course to a chocolate dessert fondue.

The word fondue is French. It means "to melt". It wasn't the French, though, but the Swiss who originated the dish-out of necessity. Years ago cheese and bread were made during the summer months to last the year round, says Miss DeMesse. Because of primitive methods of storage these would become too hard. Then the cheese had to be melted to make it edible. And pieces of the stale bread were dunked into the hot bubbly mixture to soften them.

In keeping with this tradition, today's fondue partygoers must spear a chunk of bread with a fondue fork, dip it in the cheese mixture, swirl it in a figure eight pattern and try to scoop it up and eat it without spattering the tablecloth. Custom decrees that any man whose bread slips off the fork must buy the wine. A lady's penalty is to kiss each man at the table.

Cheese fondue is actually a meal in itself. But Miss DeMesse suggests you might like to serve it with a salad, some smoked ham or sausage, and a dry white wine.

Legend has it that beef fondue originated centuries ago in the vineyards of France. Since the ripened grapes had to be picked immediately, the workers couldn't stop to eat. Supposedly someone came up with the idea of eating on the run by dunking pieces of meat in a pot of boiling oil. The idea caught on with each picker bringing his own meat to the communal pot when he found time, and cooking it to his own taste.

Today this form of fondue is especially popular. And it's not just limited to beef. Chunks of chicken, or chicken liver can also be cooked. Seafoods, too, can be speared with a fork, cooked in the oil and then eaten with a variety of sauces and dips. You can even use ham or pork cubes, cocktail frankfurters or smoked sausage links. Serve beef fondue with a tossed salad or chilled vegetables and a burgundy wine, along with plenty of fresh sliced French bread.

Since chocolate tastes so good, Swiss make such good chocolate, it's only natural that someone should have invented chocolate fondue. It's a perfect ending to a meal. Or great for serving alone when you have guests in for dessert and coffee. Try dunking banana slices, apple wedges, dates or chunks of cake in a hot chocolate mixture.

Corduroy is a practical and beautiful fabric, and an easy care one if treated properly. If you are unhappy with the way corduroy items come through the wash use these laundry tricks to keep corduroy looking soft and new.

Turn corduroy items inside out before washing to prevent lint from clinging to the fabric. Lint traps in both washer and dryer should be empty before doing any wash load-but it's especially important when laundering corduroy.

Wash corduroy garments before they are heavily soiled. Prolonged agitation or rubbing may damage the fabric surface. Use the gentle cycle for a short time period. A fabric rinse will keep fabrics soft.

If you hand wash corduroy items, simply squeeze the suds through the fabric. Twisting and wringing will set creases. Rinse by gently pressing the water out.

Use warm rather than hot water to help keep the nap soft and to reduce color loss. Dark colored and red dyes on a new garment are susceptible to color loss and should not be washed with other items.

Corduroys dried at the damp setting probably will need no ironing. Hang shirts, jackets and dresses on hangers while they are still damp and straighten and smooth to the original shape. Pull the seams taut. When dry, fluff up the nap by brushing in one direction.

Pressing may be necessary if you do not use a dryer. If the fabric is quite wrinkled, press first on the wrong side with a steam iron or press cloth. Turn the fabric to the right side, hold the steam iron slightly above but not touching the fabric, so the steam penetrates. Brushing the corduroy while the steam penetrates will help raise the nap. Avoid pressing on the right side. Also avoid heavy pressure from the iron.

Corduroy, like any fabric, will last longer and look better when cared for properly.

National Nutrition Week

"NUTRITION SAVES" is the message which nutritionists and dietitians are emphasizing during the second annual National Nutrition Week, March 3 - 9. With rising food costs, careful selection of foods to supply adequate nutrition becomes more of a challenge, notes Marguerite Krackhardt, extension nutritionist at the University of Delaware.

NUTRITION SAVES on food bills when meals and snacks are planned ahead using a wide variety of foods. In this way foods can be dovetailed into other meals for maximum use and maximum nutrition. Consider less expensive meat cuts and variety meats for casseroles, stews and combination dishes, suggests the nutritionist. These can be extended with whole grain or enriched grain products such as macaroni, spaghetti, noodles or rice. These keep nutrition high and costs down. Dried beans or peas, eggs, cheese and peanut butter can serve as meat substitutes.

NUTRITION SAVES on medical bills when all the protective foods are used each day. These provide the necessary proteins, carbohydrates, minerals and vitamins everyone needs for health and well-being. Let the flour food groups—milk and milk products; meat; fruit and vegetables; and bread and cereals—be your guide in choosing these protective foods.

NUTRITION SAVES on dental bills. When high-cost high-calorie sweets and starches are passed by in favor of snacks and treats that supply proteins, minerals and vitamins. There are unlimited possibilities for such snacks. They include ice cream, cheese, oatmeal cookies, fruit and vegetable juices, raw vegetable sticks, peanut butter and crackers to name only a few.

Insect scouts aid pest control

Delaware vegetable growers have a new weapon in their fight against crop pests—the insect scout. Any day these past two summers if you drove through lower Delaware you were likely to see one of these scouts at work in the fields.

Bent down among pepper, potato, lima or snap bean plants, they'd be counting the insects—monitoring populations of European corn borers, corn ear worms, aphids, Mexican bean beetles and other pests harmful to Delaware's profitable vegetable industry.

The scouts are an essential part of a pilot pest management program in the department of entomology and applied ecology at the University of Delaware. Their work is supervised by extension pest management specialist, Mark R. Graustein. The program is part of a larger regional one which is administered by the Federal co-operative extension service.

It has two main goals: more effective control of major vegetable pests, and more accurate timing of pesticide applications so as to avoid unnecessary spraying. To meet these goals a new approach to pest control is being tried. It's called "integrated pest management."

Integrated pest management makes use of a combination of controls such as weather, insect predators and parasites—in addition to chemical pesticides. When these other controls are working, the pesticides may be unnecessary.

The key to successful integrated pest management is up-to-date information on actual pest populations. Graustein's scouts—mostly local high school seniors or college students—are trained to provide this information.

Scouts visit fields of participating growers twice a week during most of the summer, cutting visits to once a week toward the end of the season. They keep data sheets on each field and record such information as weather conditions, number of plants surveyed and any current cultural activity. They also record eggmass counts for European corn borers, fruit and plant infestations and counts of pest populations, parasites and pest predators on sample plants. In 1973 this meant monitoring 3,431 acres planted in potatoes, peppers and beans.

The information they collect is checked regularly and compared with counts of moths caught in light traps in the survey area. All this data makes it possible to determine whether or not chemical control is needed to protect the crop in any given field.

Action is taken on the basis of the amount of infestation that exists. Different levels of pest infestation are described as "thresholds." Graustein says the "economic threshold" is the point beyond which significant economic loss can be expected if the crop isn't protected. When counts of any pest reach this economic threshold in any monitored field, growers are advised to spray.

But thanks to the scouting program, initial spraying in many Delaware fields has been delayed by several weeks these past two years. For instance last summer pepper growers participating in the program were able to reduce man-machine applications of pesticide per field from the 1972 average of 8 to an average of only 5

This represents a considerable savings in labor and fuel, to say nothing of chemical costs. With the outlawing of DDT for use in pest control, growers have had to fall back on more a reduction in chemical applications represents an important savings. The reduction also means the withholding of thousands of pounds of toxicant from the environment.

Graustein expects savings to increase as growers come to have a better understanding of this new approach to pest management and rely more fully on recommendations based on the information scouts can collect.

The scouts provide the key to the success of this system, he says. Their repeated checking of fields ensures that a buildup of pest populations won't go undetected.

Pest management workshop

A Pest Management Workshop is scheduled for March 13-15 at the University of Delaware. The workshop will focus on pest control techniques for alfalfa, potato and vegetable crops.

personnel from all over the United States, including representatives of government and industry are expected to attend, according to extension pest management specialist Mark R. Graustein. Delaware growers are also encouraged to attend as the program will cover aspects of pest control that are particularly applicable to conditions in this part of the country.

The three-day meeting will be held in the auditorium of Clayton Hall. There will be a $20 registration fee which will cover any or all of these days.

Further information is available by contacting the program chairman, Dr. Dale F. Bray of the department of entomology and applied ecology. This department is sponsoring the workshop jointly with the co-operative extension service at the university.

Lake Forest Spartans extends Indian River in finale

Lake Forest's basketball Spartans gave ground grudgingly in a season-ending contest with a strong, Indian River quintet. The Spartan's played the Indians on almost even terms each period and eventually bowed 76-66.

The Indians then went on to beat Smyrna for the Henlopen South division title, knocked Conference championship and Cape Henlopen from the unbeaten ranks to win the Henlopen finished only five points behind A.I. duPont in a state tournament game.

Bob Jacob's last basketball game for Lake Forest saw him tally 16 points. Sophomore Neal Smith and Dave Moore had 13 and 11, respectively. Senior Chip Moore scored nine, sophomores Wayne Voshell and Tom Carey added 15 points between them.

Lake Forest's conference mark was 5-13, but at least six games were lost by a margin of three points or less. The four sophomores previously mentioned will be the nucleus of what could be a pretty good team in the next two seasons.

Jacobs and Chip Moore will be sorely missed. Hopefully, a couple of this year's reserves or some of the jayvees can improve enough in twelve months, to take up some of the slack.

Harrington Bowling League News

Leah S. Wheeler

Bill Manship led People's Restaurant on a romp over McKnatt Funeral Home as the team collected four points to move out alone in the top spot. Backing up Bill's real fine bowling was great above average efforts by Cloyd Bushey, Jim Fitzhugh and Stanley Smith. Donald Garey rolled a fine 537 set and Harry Jack added a good effort as the four-man McKnatt squad dropped further in the standings on their loss.

Brothers Five scattered the pins to collect a team high 2687 series as all bowlers on the squad surpassed their averages led by Buck Thompson, who rolled a superb 576 series, which included a great 225 game, and Ron Kelly, who collected a 595 set which included games of 202 and 225, and Larry Horseman, who rolled a fine 220 game and amassed a fine 552 effort. Needless to say, their opponent, Quillen's Market, stood little chance of catching the streaking Brothers Five quintet and dropped four points, although the team did make a good showing, even if they could only field a three-man squad.

There may be a gas shortage, but there wasn't any shortage on strikes Tuesday night, as Fry's American crushed Butler's Fuel to collect all four points and to remain in the bid for the top spot. Leroy Wheeler paced Fry's as he rolled a great 233 game and amassed a grand 585 series, and Kreg Jester provided the team with considerable extra strength as he surpassed his average with a fine series. Dickie Collins rolled a fine effort and Robert Wright bowled a great 547 series for Butler's Fuel.

The T & M Rejects continue their upward surge, as Leroy Betts and Louis Welch this week provided the extra scoring punch to help give the team three big points against Big John's Son. John Powell rolled a fine 216 game and fine above average effort and Bill Kohel added a good effort as Big John's Son collected one point for their efforts.

Dallas Hayman led all keggers Tuesday night as he rolled a superb 625 series, which included games of 214 and 221. Martin Jarrell added a fine 208 game and Robert Jarrell contributed a fine effort as the team took three points from Wally's Wrecker Service. Dave Ryan hit a great 531 series and Eugene Wright added a fine 204 game and Wally Ryan contributed a good above average effort, enabling Wally's to collect one point.

Penn Central dropped all four points to the Spoilers Tuesday night, although Donald Butler and Paul Baker rolled good efforts in the loss. Leonard Outten bowled a superb 595 series as he collected games of 204 and 215, and John Shaffer hit a 212 game and 564 series to pave the way for the Spoilers.

Robbin's Hardware moved up the ladder a little as they caught Taylor & Messick off guard and swept all four points from them on Harry Brown's fine 525 series effort, combined with great efforts by Herb Robbins, Leon Grodkiewicz and Jeff Robbins. Kenny P. Outten rolled a fine 201 game and 528 series for the Taylor & Messick combine.

Spartan trackmen run well at Frostbite Invitational

Dave Buckson's winter trackmen did a fine job against Delaware's premier scholastic trackmen at the annual Frostbite Invitational.

Tower Hill's all-weather track, the composition asphalt, cork and rubber oval, was the scene of the competition. This was Delaware's first such layout, in stilled some dozen years ago. There are quite a few composition tracks in New Castle County today, but only Laurel trackmen are fortunate enough to have such a facility downstate.

Lake Forest doesn't have a track at the high school, but Spartan Ron Mosley may have run the fastest 1000 yards in Harrington High - Lake Forest

High track history when he toured the distance in 2.27, for a fifth-place finish, behind Salesianum's Jim Grant. Grant, who has had many starts this winter while the Spartans had only three, is a 1.58 half-miler.

Sophomore Harry Benson was fourth in the mile run in 4.56. Benson, like Mosley, is one of the youths who thrust Lake Forest into the limelight by helping the Spartans annex a state cross-country championship this school year. 4.56 is an excellent clocking for one so young, this early in the campaign.

Joe Voshell, once he starts to run, is one of the most courageous athletes we have seen. He has the ability to punish himself to a far greater extent than most. Lacking the experience of the other Spartans, he nevertheless logged a fine 11.10 two mile, for a fifth place finish. He's only a sophomore and could easily approach 10.30 in the eight-lapper this spring.

Others to run well for Lake Forest were Bob Mullane and Dave McClellan.

Little League News

Registration March is slated to be the busiest month for the Harrington Little League Baseball organization, as it prepares for the spring and summer activities.

Registration will be held Saturdays, March 9 and 16, from 1 - 4 p.m. at the Lions Club building on East Liberty Street. All boys wishing to play in the league should sign up on the above dates. The league sign-up is for the Little, Minor and Senior divisions. Birth certificates are a requirement for registration and each boy must be accompanied by his parents. A monetary donation is also requested.

The citizens meeting, at which all parents of children registered in the league must attend, is slated for Mon., March 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the First National Bank.

Sat., March 23 and 30 are slated for the tryouts in each division as follows: 9-10-year olds, 1 to 2 p.m.; 11-12-year olds, 2 to 3 p.m.; 13-15-year olds, 1 to 3 p.m. All tryouts will be held at the league diamond at the Moose Home.

If the league is going to have an effective and productive season this year, everyone must participate and sacrifice a little time to a worthwhile project.

The parents of two million Little Leaguers combined with their youngsters, league officials, umpires, managers, coaches, auxiliary members and countless volunteer agencies, including sponsors, represent an imposing cross section of this nation.

Parents should accept the fact that they must shoulder responsibility and take initiative to make the local program successful. Little League is not a club in which membership implies baby-sitting benefits and entertainment privileges.

Practically speaking, Little League is an adult, volunteer work project constructed, supervised and assisted by parents who desire to make its benefits extend to their children.

Each parent should join in a total effort. There is a place and a job for all. The burden of operating the league should not fall on a few. The parent who shirks this responsibility cannot in turn, expect others to assume the burden.
