The City Council Monday night granted permission for a trailer to be in Harrington Manor 60 days.

An application from William Benard requested permission for an 8x40-foot trailer to be on Gordon Street extended 90 days, during which it was to be repaired and moved to the Delaware State Fair grounds.

The Council granted the 60-day limit if Benard would move the trailer an alley and clean up his lot.

In other business, James Fitzhugh, of Mill Street, complained of flooding which he attributed to a shallow catch basin and an inadequate storm drain. Council agreed to get in touch with Quillen Shopping Center to see what it would do about an overflow from the rear of its buildings. If no plan was advanced there, Mayor William Minner said, "Then we will try ours."

In other business, the Council, in a meeting which lasted only an hour and three minutes, agreed to pay Harrington Volunteer Fire Company $2700 as a yearly donation. This was to come from the federal revenue sharing fund.

Cub Scout News

Cub Scout Pack 76 is busy with its annual candy sale and with plans for the Pinewood Derby and a swimming party. These three topics were the main topics at the monthly pack meeting March 28.

During the meeting the Cubs received the candy which they will be selling throughout the community this month. This annual sale, a major source of income for Pack 76, provides an opportunity for the boys to help finance their trips and other activities.

The Pinewood Derby theme was introduced at the pack meeting with a song in which everyone joined, and with a skit presented by Cubmaster Raymond Blanchette and Assistant Cubmaster Donald Dell. Mr. Blanchette outlined the rules for the derby and gave some hints for the construction of the racers. Racer kits had previously been distributed and Cubs and Dads are working on them. This year's Pinewood Derby will be Thur., April 25, at 7 p.m. in the St. Bernadette's Church Hall. There will be ribbons for the elimination races in each den; a trophy for first, second and third places in the pack, and an award for the best car in terms of construction and appearance. A new feature this year will be a den leader's race.

Assistant Cubmaster Dell announced plans for the swimming party this Sat., April 6, at the Dover YMCA from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m. The cost is 50c per person. Cubs and their guests attending should plan to be at the YMCA by 7 p.m. More information may be obtained from the leaders.

Several awards were presented during the meeting. In Den 2, Scott McKenzie received Denner's braid and Darin Dell, a gold arrow in the Wolf program. In Den 3, Ralph Smith was awarded one gold and three silver arrows in the Bear program; Terry McIntire and Tommy Lord were each recipients of one gold and three silver arrows in the Wolf program. Scout Donald Wood received a certificate of recognition. He is Den Chief for the Webelos.

It was announced that in addition to receiving the Den Leader's Training Award, Mrs. Larry Breeding has also been given the Den Leader Coach's Training Award.

The Cubs of Pack 76 gave a version of the "Grand Howl" in honor of their Cubmaster, who is a recent recipient of the Order of Merit.

No elections in 4 Kent towns

There were no elections Saturday in Farmington, Houston, Viola and Woodside.

Farmington still has a vacancy on the town council, but, according to Mayor Lester J. Hatfield, no one was interested in the seat. Apparently no one was interested in the other seats either, since Hatfield, along with councilmen Allen Callaway, Marvin E. Smith, and Albert L. Vincent were unopposed and will retain their seats.

In Houston, two new councilmen were selected by the town board to replace former Mayor Franklin Morgan, who died Feb. 27, and Councilman Dennis Cannon, who moved. Leonard T. Rollison and Gary Evans will be sworn in April 4 at the annual reorganization meeting.

Ray E. Calloway, George W. Marvel and James E. Van Vorst will keep their council seats.

Viola Mayor, William Edgar Dill, and Councilmen Clarence Herd, James E. Stein and Lawrence E. Carter will also remain, along with Mrs. Emelie Moore, town treasurer. Herd, Carter, and Mrs. Moore all fired up to keep their seats, and there was no opposition, Dill said.

The present town officials in Woodside will also keep their seats after a reorganization meeting Saturday night in the town hall. Margaret Palmer has replaced Mary B. Richards as town secretary, but Mayor Jess W. Carey and Councilmen Lester Gooden, Heywood Grier and Richard L. McMullan will keep their seats on the council.

Soils laboratory serves the state

Farmers, homeowners and commercial establishments in Delaware had more than 7,000 soil samples analyzed at the University of Delaware soils testing laboratory in Newark during 1973, according to Leo J. Cotnor, associate professor of plant science, individual fertility recommendations based on these tests helped increase crop yields, improve home lawns and maintain commercial landscapes.

Over 2,000 soil samples came from New Castle county. Cotnor says 1,300 of these were golf courses, lawns and home gardens.

Approximately 3,200 soil samples were forwarded to the soils lab from Sussex county, while another 6,000 samples came from Kent county. The majority of these soil tests were for farmers who raise corn, soybeans and vegetable crops.

A routine soil test costs one dollar. For that dollar, University technicians determine the soil pH, or degree of acidity, and the phosphorus, potassium and manganese contents, and then prepare an individual recommendation for fertilization.

The soils laboratory is also equipped to test samples for micronutrients, nitrogen, boron and organic matter. However, an additional service fee is charged for these tests.

Subject was riding west on Clark Street through a construction site, stopped his vehicle and reached out his window and picked up two safety cones. A police officer parked on a side street witnessed the theft. Subject was apprehended and taken to Court No. 6 where he was fined $50 and $9.50 court costs. He was released on the Deferred Payment Plan.

The cover of the new directory will show a painting of "Walker's Mill" on the Brandywine River in full color. The new telephone directories will be delivered starting Fri., April 5. ## Science activities for children

Many adults see science as too complicated a subject for young children—those of the preschool age especially. And many parents may doubt they have the necessary skills or knowledge to introduce their children to early science experiences.

But science in its simplest form is really nothing more than learning to have an idea, to test it out and then come to a conclusion about what you have observed. So science is a very good way to help your child learn Culinary artists of the Blue Hen state will demonstrate their skills as they go to work on Delaware's famous broilers at the fairgrounds here April 4. There will be 117 contestants.

A capacity crowd of 1600 persons is expected to attend the Jefferson-Jackson Dinner next Saturday evening at the Padua Auditorium in Wilmington.

Kent County Farm Bureau held its annual spring dinner meeting at the Felton Fire Hall, Thurs., March 26. A large crowd was present to enjoy the traditional fried oyster and chicken salad dinner put on by the Felton Fire Company auxiliary.

The Chamber of Commerce wants the City of Harrington to assume the costs of installing the special ornamental Christmas lighting. Thomas L. Peck, the chamber president, told the Council, at its April meeting Wednesday night, he was broaching the subject early to give plenty of time for thought and that he "didn't expect any action tonight," which proved to be the case.

Contracts for the erection of terminal buildings for the proposed Cape May, N.J., Lewes, Del., ferry service, are being advertised by the Delaware River and Bay Authority.

Elwood Shultie is in Milford Memorial Hospital where he will undergo surgery sometime this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Downing were dinner guests of Miss Katherine Downing of Milford Easter.

Del. resident named to new cemetery system

A Delaware resident has been named to one of three regional directors of the National Cemetery System, it has been announced by the Veterans Administration.

Nicholas G. Hamaty, who resides in Beacon Hill North, Wilmington, with his wife and two children, has responsibility for 53 cemeteries in 15 states and the District of Columbia. As of July 1, he will be responsible for administering an annual budget in excess of $5 million. He has 330 employees under his jurisdiction.

Hamaty's office is located in the Veterans Administration Center, 5000 Wissahickon Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

Hamaty was one of more than 800 employees who came to VA when it assumed responsibility of the national cemeteries which had previously been operated by the Department of the Army, where he had been employed for the past 13 years.

Hamaty is a native of Johnstown, Pa.

Only 1,547 vets left from Spanish-American War

The ranks of United Spanish-American War veterans are dwindling at the rate of more than 40 a month, a recent Veterans Administration tabulation reveals. As of Feb. 28, only 1,547 are living, down from 1,804 reported living last July.

In Pennsylvania the number is down to 88, or 11 less than were living last July. Delaware has two, and Ohio 67 living USAWVs.

The veterans will hold their 1974 convention in Philadelphia at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel Sept. 7, but 20 or less are expected to attend as most are in their 90s and a large number of them are confined to beds or in wheel chairs. The oldest is an Indiana resident who was 104 last January.

Fifteen of the survivors live in Canada and 65 reside in the Republic of the Philippines.

The Spanish-American War occurred from 1898 to 1902. Some 11,000 died in service, VA said.

Home rule bill gets Kent OK

After making only minor changes, Kent County Levy Court Tuesday for the first time approved a proposed home rule bill for the county.

If that measure passes the state legislature, Kent County will join New Castle and Sussex counties in having almost sole authority over county affairs. Currently, Levy Court must request action by the legislature on many matters related to county administration.

The six commissioners present Tuesday voted, unanimously to endorse and send to the General Assembly the latest version of the bill. Commissioner George W. Cripps, R-Buchanan Acres, reportedly was injured in a fall and could not attend the meeting.

In addition to the added measure of local control the bill provides, it would establish a county administrator appointed by Levy Court to oversee county operations on a day to day basis.

The administrator would appoint a county assessor to take over the duties of the present board of assessment, and a board of assessment review would be established.

A bill does not affect the powers or duties of the elected row officers such as sheriff and receiver of taxes. The last office was abolished by home rule in New Castle and Sussex, but the maintenance of elected row officers has been a formidable political stumbling block in Kent County.

The abolition of those offices was one of the prime reasons Levy Court defeated previous home rule proposals. Serious efforts to obtain home rule began in 1970.

After several minor amendments to the bill were offered Tuesday, Levy Court President Joshua M. Twilley said, "We've come so far down the line and we have such a delicate baby here I don't want a miscarriage." There were no miscarrages.

Commissioner John T. McKenna, D-Dover, whose reorganization committee drafted the latest bill, wasted no time in calling for a vote after the amendments were made.

"I would like to say that I am very proud of the Levy Court this morning," Twilley said after the measure received unanimous approval.

A home rule proposal was one of Twilley's campaign promises when he ran for Levy Court in 1970. He has announced he will not seek re-election in November.

He said the bill will be sent to the General Assembly with a cover letter explaining the vote. He said Cripps will be given an opportunity to include his remarks.

McKenna said a Kent County senator and representative would be asked to sponsor the bill in the legislature. Those legislators have not seen the latest bill and some said they are disturbed at not having been consulted.

McKenna, however, said legislators have asked repeatedly for a home rule proposal which Levy Court has endorsed unanimously. He said Tuesday after the voting the commissioners have met that request.

New phone cable set for Harrington

Diamond State Telephone Company engineers are now planning a $127,000 cable project for Harrington which is set to get started in May and be completed early in August, reports Jim Strickland, the firm's Kent County manager.

The new cable will provide additional wire facilities for customers east and south of the Harrington central office. Strickland points out that construction crews will place 12,600 feet of cable, and 540 feet of conduit.

Once the new construction work is completed, phone workers will remove 15,600 feet of old cable and 4 telephone poles.

Underground cable will leave the Harrington office and go north on Hanley Street to Clark Street, and east on Clark Street to Delaware Avenue. Aerial cable will start at this point and go east on Clark Street to the east side of Route 13 (Dual). Another underground cable will leave the central office and go south on Hanley Street and west on Missipillon Street to Commerce Street. From there aerial cable goes south on Commerce Street to Reese Avenue. Buried cable starts here and goes south and east, on Roads 314 and 315 to Route 13 (Dual).

During 1974, the firm plans to invest an additional $50,000 for cable work in the Harrington area. And next year, the utility has earmarked $40,000 for cable work.

Statewide the Diamond State Telephone Company has earmarked $40,000,000 for telephone expansion during 1974. The firm now serves some 432,000 telephones.

Acid fumes empty Kent courthouse

The Kent County Courthouse was evacuated Monday morning when hydrochloric acid fumes from a leaking 55-gallon drum spread through the structure.

More than 100 persons left the building after Dover Fire Chief Kline Kemp Jr. issued an order to clear the structure on The Green. Offices were emptied in a matter of minutes and court sessions were transferred to the state Supreme Court building.

There were no injuries. Members of the Robbins Hose Company supervised the evacuation and then installed exhaust fans to clear the fumes. Workers returned to the building in the early afternoon.

Kent County fire dispatchers, located in a basement room, temporarily wore gas masks but remained at their stations.

Firemen said the drum was stored in a room housing a central air conditioning system. They said the diluted acid is used to clean air conditioner lines.

Harrington Day Care Center five years of continuous success

Mrs. Maynard Brown, Director of the Harrington Day Care Center located on Raughley Hill Road in the Sunday School rooms of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church first began operating March 31, 1969. This year marks the fifth year of prosperity for the center.

At present it has an enrollment of 45 children who attend the center on a regular basis. These children come from various social backgrounds. Some are from low-income families and from families who receive welfare. While others are from families whose parents are teachers, secretaries, airmen or members of other skilled professions. We have been very fortunate in that we have had no problem in handling these children with such a diversity of social backgrounds. We encourage the children to relate to one another according to individual personalities and not as members of a particular "social class."

The children are divided into separate groups according to age so that they may react to the children of their own age level. Each group is supervised by a teacher and an aide who feel that the child's well-being is the foremost job of the center.

Another goal of the center is to help the child grow in independence. This is accomplished by giving the child adequate time to work on any project that he may wish to do. Art activities are used as stepping stones for the child to become aware of his own creativeness. This could take the form of painting, modeling clay, coloring, pasting and cutting. Sufficient art materials are supplied to help the child work out these ideas. The older children may use sewing or knitting as a form of art to express themselves.

Physical exercise plays an important part in the growth of a child. Physical activities are planned to help the child to develop strong large and small muscles. The children can run, play, jump, skip and just enjoy being children in our well-fenced playground consisting of swings, seesaws, slides and climbers. Team sports such as baseball, volleyball and kickball are encouraged among the older children.

Health rules are strictly observed and the children are introduced to basic health habits. Twice a year an employee of the Division of Physical Health pays us a visit in order to test the children's hearing and speech. The state nurse visits the center so that the children's immunization records are kept up to date.

Field trips are planned to help

DAY CARE

They become aware of the world around them, in particular the community in which he lives. This helps them to learn about directions and where such places as the firehouse, dairy, post office and banks are located.

Our center opens for children at 5:45 a.m. and closes at 4:45 p.m. The children are served a nutritious breakfast, a hot lunch, and snacks. In the afternoon a two hour nap is taken by the children so they can replenish their energy. This time also gives the teachers a chance to set up for their afternoon activities. The supervision of the children is shared among a director, three teachers, three aides and two foster grandparents. Other members of our staff include a cook, a part-time janitor and a part-time secretary.

Parent participation has been tremendous in the last five years. During that time they have actively participated in birthday parties and holiday parties. Some parents have also come to the center so that they could have lunch with their children. Parents have made such items as cupcakes and cookies for the enjoyment of the children. They have also donated such items as paper hats and noise makers for our parties. We are very thankful for the help that the parents have given us.

This year the children had a special treat around Valentine's Day. Members of the Food Management Class at Lake Forest High School, under the direction of Miss Colleen Barnes, gave the children at the Center a Valentine Party. They made cupcakes decorated with cinnamon hearts and served punch along with them. We were especially pleased since this was done entirely by students.

The Girl Scout Troop 879 presented us with some stuffed toys they had made. The children were delighted when they opened the colorfully wrapped boxes and found the animals inside. We would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the Food Management Class at Lake Forest High School and Girl Scout Troop 879 for their thoughtfulness and generosity.

During the years, we have often had other Day Care Centers and organizations visit us in order to observe our center and our method of operation.

We are also sincerely thankful for the interest that our Board President, Robert H. Crawford, has shown toward the Center and for our treasurer, Mrs. Alice Winkler, who does the bookkeeping at a volunteer basis.

Our sincere thanks also go to other officers and members of our Board of Directors who have guided us and encouraged us in every effort we have made toward making our Center more rewarding for the children.

Any persons in the community who desire care for their children regardless of race, religion or national origin are welcome to enroll their children in the Center for a small fee. They may register their children by calling the director at this telephone number: 398-8587. All children registered must be in the two years (if trained) to 12 year age bracket. Our center is open to anyone who wishes to visit it. Please feel free to visit our center at any time.

SCIENCE ACTIVITY

more about his world, says Mary Ann Finch, extension child development specialist at the University of Delaware.

A science experiment may be as simple as watching an ice cube bounce or putting salt on ice to see what happens. It can involve watching a white flower soak up colored water. Or it can be just finding out what a magnet will pick up and what it won't. The fact is, science can be an enjoyable learning experience for both you and your young child, says Miss Finch.

Here are some experiments you may want to try.

What will float? In a bowl or pan of water let your child try floating different objects. Let him try things made of wood, plastic, metal and other materials. Let him find objects he thinks will float and test them. Let him see what happens when he tries to float a dry sponge. What happens are the sponge gets wet?

A magnet is an excellent tool for scientific experiments. Let your child discover for himself the effects of a magnet on different metals, glass and paper. Let him discover just how much the magnet will pick up.

Another scientific tool that can give a young child many hours of fascinated learning is a magnifying glass. At least one toy manufacturer even sells a large glass mounted on a stand for easy use. Your child can discover much about the small details of his world by looking at insects, leaves, pieces of cloth, his toys, and an endless number of other objects through a magnifying glass.

These are a few suggestions, says Miss Finch. Use your imagination to come up with other science experiments you can introduce to your child. And if you're stuck for ideas, check your local library. There are many excellent books out now on early science experiments for children.

Remember, it's important to have an attitude of curiosity, freedom to explore, encouragement and—most of all—enthusiasm, concludes the specialist.

Warren Stoltzfus of Route 3, Harrington, and a student at Goshen College, Ind., is spending his winter trimester in the college study service trimester, a 14-week experience where he is among 23 Goshen students working and studying in Costa Rica. Warren is a junior at Goshen, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Stoltzfus, of Route 3, Harrington.

DAVE WOODWARD
KENT COUNTY AGENT

De-clawing cats is not brutal. If you have a cat that stays in the house, no doubt the animal is raising havoc with your upholstery, furniture, draperies and rugs. Have you ever thought about having your cat de-clawed? De-clawing can be done at any time but it's best to have the surgery performed when the animal is young. Of course, you should contact a veterinarian to have this operation taken care of.

The animal is put under general anesthesia and the entire first joint is removed so there is nothing painful about the operation. Usually the animal is sound again within a week or two. Only the front claws are removed. The hind claws are usually left untouched and enable the animal to climb trees, etc. De-clawing should not frustrate your cat. In fact, most cats go through the motion of sharpening their claws but do not damage household items. If your cat is outdoors most of the time we do not suggest de-clawing the animal because you would be removing about his only defense for self-preservation and besides - it would be hard for him to earn his keep by catching rodents.

Termites represent a threat to homes in Delaware. They can occur in new houses as well as old. All they need is wood to eat and a safe route from the wood to soil where they find moisture to maintain their body functions. How can you tell if your house has termites? Look for mud-like tubes on foundation walls. These tubes are about one quarter of an inch wide. If you see these tubes, break them open and look for small white insects inside the tube.

Check all points where wood touches the ground or where a concrete slab meets the walls of a house.

Watch for swarms of insects in the house in the spring and fall.

Can I treat my own home if it is infested with termites? Yes, but it is usually best to consult a professional operator. You usually need tools to drill through concrete and a sprayer to apply insecticides under pressure.

How can I be sure that a pest control operator is reliable? Ask him for references from other persons for whom he has worked. Take time to check these references.

Ask him if he is a member of the national or state pest control association. Members of such organizations are usually bona fide pest control operators.

Your extension office has a list of the members of the Delaware Pest Control Association. If you think your home is infested with termites, usually there is no great hurry in treating them provided, however, you do something within a period of a few weeks. Termites work slowly and only in unusual situations are they capable of doing extensive damage in a short period of time.

Bulletin E-26, a fact sheet on termites is available at your extension office.

It Seems To Me

Janet Reed

It will soon be time to store your winter coat and other winter woollens. Take tender loving care of your present winter wardrobe and it will appear fresh and new when removed from storage next fall. At this time of year all those winter items look tired and worn, but it's amazing how good they look after a summer's rest and a good cleaning and pressing.

Some planning now can cut down on clothing costs next fall. Don't discard garments which can be repaired. For instance, coat linings usually wear out before the coat does. Inserting a new lining is a comparatively easy project and a lot cheaper than a new coat.

Is the coat too snug? Many double-breasted models can be converted into a single-breasted style to give more comfortable fit.

Before storing any woollens, be sure they are thoroughly cleaned. Soiled clothes provide many a good meal for moths and other fabric eating insects. Take advantage of coin-operated dry cleaning services. You can have about eight pounds of clothing cleaned for a minimum fee. The clothes are then ready for you to store in air-tight containers. Seal the containers well against possible infestation.

If garments are thoroughly cleaned and stored properly, there may be no need to use moth preventives and other insecticides. If you do use these preparations, follow directions exactly so they will provide the protection you expect.

You probably will want to remove buttons from garments before cleaning, since dry cleaning solvent removes color from some buttons. Buttons are expensive, so you won't want to replace them if you can prevent it.

Mending is best taken care of before cleaning. The action of the cleaning process could enlarge holes and rips.

If your storage space is limited, consider storing bulky items with your dry cleaner. It's a little more expensive than coin-op cleaning, but it may be worth it to you.

Vaccinate horses against encephalitis

Delaware horse owners should have their animals vaccinated against eastern encephalitis before June 1, according to Dr. C. Melvin Reinour, equine specialist at the University of Delaware.

Eastern encephalitis is usually fatal to animals infected and is often transmitted by mosquitoes. So it is important to have animals vaccinated before the mosquito season starts.

Encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, is a virus-caused infection that affects the animal's brain and central nervous system, Reinour says. The early stages of the disease are characterized by fever, nervousness or depression. You may also notice your horse walking into objects.

As the disease progresses, an animal becomes greatly depressed and stands in a sleeping position with its head down and, frequently, with its front legs crossed. He may grind his teeth and be unable to swallow. Paralysis of the lips and throat and blindness may also develop.

Owners should make arrangements with local veterinarians to have their horses and ponies vaccinated as soon as possible, Reinour says.

A bivalent type of vaccine should be used, giving protection against both the eastern and western strains of encephalitis. Both strains are found in Delaware, although the eastern form has a higher mortality rate than the western variety.

Good gardening starts with good soil

All gardening starts with the soil. Good soil is an absolute must if you want a successful garden, says Dave Tatnall, extension garden specialist at the University of Delaware.

This is especially true for vegetable gardens. The soil should be fertile, deep, crumbly and well-drained. It should be fairly free of stones and other debris. You can improve the soil and make it more productive by working in organic matter, lime and fertilizer. Organic matter improves soil structure and drainage. It may also add valuable plant nutrients. Sources of organic matter include animal manure, mushroom soil, peat moss and garden compost.

Lime helps to maintain proper soil acidity, improves soil structure and supplies calcium and magnesium used by plants. Ground limestone is the form recommended for garden purposes.

Fertilizer is needed to supply nutrients required by plants for proper growth. A complete chemical fertilizer is usually recommended. This is often a 5-10-10 or a 5-10-5 fertilizer. An organic fertilizer may also be used but it is usually lower in nutrient content.

To determine how much lime and fertilizer your soil actually needs, you should have your soil tested, says Tatnall.

The University of Delaware offers such a soil testing service for a small fee. Requests for soil test bags should be addressed to your county extension agent. You will need one bag for each sample of soil you wish to have tested. Include one dollar for each bag requested, when you send in your order. Make checks payable to the University of Delaware.

Spartan girls track team opens April 10

Dave Buck's Lake Forest High School girls track team opens the season at Harrington April 10. Dover Air will furnish the opposition.

The Spartans will be sporting new, blue and white, track uniforms.

Four of the Lake Forest lassies have been state champions in track, at either the high school, junior high school or Junior Olympic levels.

Cheryl Lissy was a state junior high champ in the hurdles and won her age group in the same event in the Junior Olympics. She also was J.O. kingpin in the shotput a couple of years ago.

Dorecin Chaffinch, a senior sprinter, was Junior Olympic winner one year, in the 100 yard dash.

Nina Adamo was state high school winner in the hurdles. Beverly Mack won the shot put at the state level in 1972.

Chris Brown, if memory is correct, was a Junior Olympic winner, at one time, in the high jump.

Pam Webber and Cheryl Lissy formed one half of a winning sprint relay team in Junior Olympic competition.

Debbie Duerr and Ann Scoville are runners with previous experience. They are both capable at any of the high school distances, from sprints through the mile run.

Others on the team are: Lisa Brown, Anita Jo Redden, Marietta Coleman, Brenda Teat, Anna Jackson and Karen Harris. Managers are Lisa Callaway and Adelle Caskey.

Softball team members who will join the track team for meets are: Beverly Mack, Carol Cabbage, Madalin Hoff and Tina Gallo.

The following events will be contested: 80 yard low hurdles, 50, 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes, the half mile and mile runs, the 440 yard relay, the 880 yard medley relay, shot put, discus, long jump, high jump and softball throw.

Harrington Bowling League News

Leah S. Wheeler

People's Restaurant continues its strong bowling as the team crushed Penn Central to take all four points. Frank Collins set the pace as he hit a good 211 game while amassing a great 587 series and Bill Manship and Cloyd Bushey contributed very good above average performances. Bernie Coffman, Steve Baker and Donald Butler gave Penn Central enough extra power to keep the loss a respectable one.

Fry's American took three points from the T & M Rejects as Jerry Hayman hit a fine 213 game and great above average effort, and Leroy Wheeler collected a great 567 series which included a 224 game, with Kreg Jester adding a fine 206 game and a fine above average effort. The Rejects' Ray Wright and Ben Brown gave good performances which enabled them to salvage a point.

Brothers Five waltzed off with the first game against Big John's Son, but then saw themselves drop the next two games and could only muster enough strength to split the four points down the middle. Ron Kelly bowled a 202 game and 537 series and Robert Dennis hit a 203 game, as all team members were above or near their averages. Jim Carroll, Sam Powell and Bill Kohel bowled good efforts for Big John's Son.

George Collins paced the Taylor & Messick squad to a three point victory over the Spoilers as he rolled a fine 215 game and grand 581 series, as Tom Brown hit a fine 539 set, with Bobby Collins adding a good effort. Leonard Outten rolled a great 220 game and 565 series and John Schaffer added a good effort for the Spoilers.

Jarrell Fuel ran into a tough Robbins' Hardware squad Tuesday night and dropped three points although Robert Jarrell and Harold Melvin rolled good efforts. Harry Chadwick rolled a 235 game and 538 series and Jeff Robbins added a fine 210 game and fine above average effort with the rest of the Hardware squad hitting a good above average effort.

Larry Larimore collected a great 565 series, which included a fine 209 game and Sam Lyons added a great 213 game, with Ronald Wright adding a great 532 set on the Butler's Fuel quintet who took three points from Quillen's Market. Earl Quillen, Bill Petty and Eddie Kemp rolled good efforts, which enabled the team to get one point for their efforts.

Donald Garey scorched the boards with a grand 580 series, which included a fine 211 game and Harry Jack contributed a great 536 series for McKnatt Funeral Home as the team swept all four points from Wally's Wrecker Service. Larry Breeding rolled a fine 217 game for Wally's.

Last week the league held a meeting at the lanes and elected their officers for the coming year. The officers are: Robert Garey, president; Leonard Outten, vice president; Leroy Wheeler, secretary; Donald Wilson, treasurer; Leroy Wheeler, delegate.

The league would also like to wish a very permanent and speedy recovery to a fellow bowler, Dallas Hayman, who is a patient in the Milford Memorial Hospital. Hope to see you soon back on the lanes, Dallas.

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne W. Holbert

Receipts of fishery products are on the upswing in April as more open weather permits better fishing operations. The fish that are in season now and throughout the month are bluefish, cod, croakers, mackerel, mullet, shad, porgies, sea bass, sea trout, spots, striped bass and whiting. Of all of these the ones that will probably wear the lowest price tags are croakers, porgies, sea bass, sea trout, and whiting. Though all sea food prices are continuing to rise the seasonally plentiful selections offer the best hope of saving money.

There are many delicious varieties of frozen and canned sea foods available. These too are often forgotten sources of good protein. Read the labels and see what you are buying - there are a number of very reasonable buys to be found in both departments.

The egg market has been declining in the past two weeks, particularly for the larger sizes. Enjoy this while you can, because the closer we come to Easter, the more likely egg prices will climb to a high point. After Easter the are expected to decline some. Marketing of broilers during the month are estimated at 5 to 7 per cent more than a year earlier. The seasonal increase in broiler production also starts to get under way during the month.

When buying broilers be sure to compare prices between the whole chicken and the cut up. You will save several pennies per pound if you cut up your own. Check, also the frozen cases because there are a number of good choices to find among turkey and chicken pies as well as turkey and chicken dinners.

The produce counters are showing a slight sign of spring as rhubarb and asparagus are more readily available and prices are coming down some. Cabbage, carrots, celery head lettuce and broccoli are all more reasonable this week. Vine ripened tomatoes are coming in in larger quantities and the quality is good to excellent.

Enjoy grapefruit while they last, the season will soon be over. Oranges continue to be plentiful and quality very good. Bananas have been a good choice for many weeks and prices are still low. This may not last much longer in fact next week could be a different picture. Fresh strawberries are here and look delicious, prices are ranging from reasonable to high but a few can go a long way toward making a dessert with a spring "flair."

This season's pack of canned and frozen vegetables was moderately larger than last, but sharply reduced carry overs left total supply only slightly above the relatively low supply last year. Particularly short are canned peas, canned corn and concentrated tomato products. Stocks of frozen beans and frozen corn are up from last year, but stocks of frozen French fries are tight. Supplies of most canned and frozen noncitrus fruits are remaining tight. Stocks of the major canned fruit are all below last year at this time.
