

Five Thousand Babies Later

PORT CHARLOTTE, FLA.—Five thousand babies born to three generations of mothers in Delaware will be glad to hear the family doctor who brought them into this world is happily retired and pursuing a wide range of hobbies, one of which is his favorite—bird watching.

But when Dr. Laurence Fitchett, formerly of Milford, photographs or feeds the hundreds of birds he sees in Florida or elsewhere, he carefully excludes the stork. He parted company with the species in 1967 when the nurses at Memorial Hospital chalked up Number 5,000 and presented him with his obstetrical forceps now mounted on a wall plaque in his Port Charlotte home.

"I figured 5,000 was enough", Dr. Fitchett recalls.

He remained in general practice still making house calls until 1970 when he closed out a 37-year medical career. This included five years in Harrington after an internship at the University of Pennsylvania's Graduate Hospital in Philadelphia and 32 years in Milford with an interlude of 42 months as a battalion surgeon with the First Army in Europe during World War II.

Dr. and Mrs. Fitchett, the former Eleanor Friedel whom he met when she was a dietitian at Milford Memorial, "discovered" Port Charlotte when they followed the winter vacation sun to Southwest Florida. Port Charlotte's million-dollar Cultural Center, a 74.3 degree annual average temperature, abundant fishing, and two 18-hole championship golf courses lured them to a new home a five-iron shot from No. 11 tee at the Port Charlotte Country Club.

Port Charlotte is located 28 miles north of Fort Myers and 45 miles south of Sarasota in the heart of the Suncoast's population growth. It is the largest of seven communities founded on both the east and west coasts of the state by General Development Corp.

Dr. Fitchett missed Christmas by a day when he was born Dec. 26, 1906, in Janesville, Wis. His father, John T. Fitchett, was a printer and dahilia grower and graduated from Wayland Academy at Beaver Dam in 1891, 33 years before his son Lawrence. Dr. Fitchett was graduated with a B.A. degree at the University of Wisconsin in Madison in 1928 and received his M.D. in 1931.

Mrs. Fitchett is a native of Viola, the daughter of Reuben Friedel, who was superintendent of schools in Newark. She has a Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics from the University of Delaware and became what Dr. Fritchett calls a "typical doctor's wife" in 1936.

Dr. Fitchett "drifted" into

Terry Gallo On Dean's List

Terry Gallo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Gallo, has been named to the Dean's List at the University of Delaware for the past semester.

Miss Gallo is majoring in the University College of Nursing and scored 3.8. She is a 1971 graduate of Lake Forest High School.

The Milford Hospital Fair

Profits this year set a new record, $16,202.61, well over last year's mark. These funds will go towards the purchase of a new coronary monitoring system for the emergency room.

Remember the train rides at the annual Christmas parade? Engineers Clifford Wilson and Bill Thompson brought the Blue Hen Special to Milford on Saturday to the delight of children. (See page 2.)

Dr. and Mrs. Laurence Fitchett look over Dr. Fitchett's rare collection of nursing bottles, some a century old.

partnership with the stork in Harrington and Milford when there were no obstetricians practicing there. His baby "crop" includes lots of twins and one set of triplets.

Among his memorabilia, Dr. Fitchett cherishes a collection of nursing bottles, some a century old, blown from molds at

Do You Know Your Blood Type?

There are four blood groups, O, A, B and AB. Combined with the presence or absence of the Rh factor, these groups are divided into eight blood types. The 85% of Americans who have the Rh factor are known as Rh positive. Americans fall into the eight classifications in the following proportions:

Blood Group	RH positive	RH negative
O	1 in 3	1 in 15
A	1 in 3	1 in 16
B	1 in 12	1 in 67
AB	1 in 29	1 in 167

There are 23 different factors involved in matching blood types. Among the most important is the Rh factor. When an Rh positive man marries an Rh negative woman, there is a chance of difficulty in the offspring that may require an exchange transfusion. One out of ten marriages is between persons of different Rh factors, and complications due to this difference will result in one out of 15 of these marriages.

The average man has 12 pints of blood; the average woman 9.

PART II Impeachment Process

This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the impeachment process.

Several points in last week's article have been prominent in the news during the week. On Sunday Chesterfield Smith, current President of the American Bar Association was a guest on "Meet The Press". When asked if Chief Justice Warren Burger would or should disqualify himself if the President is impeached (in the first article point was made that Berger, personal friend and Nixon appointee, would be presiding officer of impeachment trial in U.S. Senate). The answer given by Smith was an obvious one. The Chief Justice may not have to disqualify himself due to conflict of interest, but he should sound his conscience (remember too in the first article—the impeachment process is purely political in nature).

At the conclusion of the first article it was mentioned historical impeachment would be glimpsed this week. The first to be impeached was William Blount, among the first senators from Tennessee. Blount was a "favorite son" type. He was born in 1749 and grew up near a small town, Windsor, North Carolina. He grew to great wealth, position and respect,

Piano Recital

The annual recital by the piano pupils of Melvin L. Brobst will be held this Friday, May 31, at 7:30 p.m. in the Sunday School auditorium of Trinity United Methodist Church on Commerce Street.

The following pianists will participate: Eva Kay Gruwell, Jackie Dill, Carole Muehleisen, Lori Welch, Sueann Knaub, Beth Horleman, Melanie Ware, Andrea Kimmy, Sandra Tester, Karen Kimmy, Becky McKnatt, Cathy Ricker, Claudia Moore, Vicky Hobbs, Peni Galentine, Lynn Parker, Debby Winebrenner, Kathleen McKnatt, Teresa Smith, Elizabeth Cline, and Phillip Griffin.

All relatives and friends of these young people are invited to attend.

and represented North Carolina as one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. He served with distinction as a soldier of the Revolutionary War, and later became the territorial governor of what is now Tennessee. When Tennessee became a state he became one of its first senators. This was in 1796 when he was 47.

He was impeached by the House of Representatives, but articles of impeachment were dropped for want of a case against him, and on a legal technicality, the want of jurisdiction. It seemed a tactful way to get out of the situation, because of the respected Blount.

Charges stemmed from a claim he conspired to wage war on Spain and to attempt to involve Cherokee Indians against Spain and the U.S. It was believed Spain was trying to get a hold in the new country, and a closer feeling for Great Britain, if for any country, existed than other powers. The issue with the Cherokee Indians was too far fetched, and in sympathy for Blount's desire to expel a foreign power like Spain was accepted. The war of 1812 supposedly cooled off Great Britain's desire to get back "the colonies", and of course after that came the Monroe Doctrine, etc. as measures to keep foreign powers from entering the U.S. The case against Blount was nevertheless dropped, and he either resigned from the Senate or was expelled for other reasons. He was not impeached.

Another impeachment proceeding of great consequence was the one brought against Samuel Chase in 1804. This man was born on eastern shore Somerset County, Maryland. He was a signer of the Declaration of Independence from Maryland. He was an associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the U.S. In 1804 the Articles of Impeachment were brought against him by the U.S. House of Representatives for the way he handled two seditious cases. The charge under the seditious cases was that malfeasance, deliberately committing a wrongful or illegal act. Acts of seditious apply (Continued on Page 4)

City Council Holds Special Meeting

Publisher's Note: The Harrington Journal received information about the special meeting too late to go to press last week.)

The City Council met in special session Tuesday night, May 21, at City Hall.

The City voted to donate $100 to the Harrington Little League organization, which has begun its schedule.

Every year at this time, the City is faced with grass cutting obligations especially to these areas of absentee ownership. The cost of cutting a lot will be $7 for each lot.

The Council approved allowing the HUD project (north of Townsend Masten's property) to tie into the City sewer and water system by following the ditch line north of the Lake Forest Administration building over to North Street and the pumping station.

The Council is asking for special legislation to allow the debt limitation of the city to be raised to $200,000 to complete the several resurfacing and other construction projects around the city. The Peck Avenue reconstruction and resurfacing project was discussed and tabled until further developments. The Reese Avenue station was discussed regarding the resurfacing and the feasibility of rerouting truck traffic from the Burris plant. City Manager Jack Harrington stressed the need of immediate attention to the street. It is for this reason, but not alone, that the debt limit is being raised so as to raise money to complete these projects.

The Council also passed an ordinance regarding vehicles over 25 feet long will not be permitted to park over 2 hours in the city unless they are loading or unloading. The Council also passed a personnel policy resolution which in effect establishes sick leave, compensatory holiday time, vacations, emergency leave and overtime. The next regular meeting of the City Council will be Monday evening, June 3.

Senior Citizens Have New Bus

Senior citizens are now able to ride in comfort and safety in the new Tel-E-Ride bus that arrived at the Harrington Senior Center last week. Officially called the Kent County Senior Shuttle, the blue and white bus is one of several leased to the centers in Kent County by DIMS. Used to transport people within a ten mile radius, it will arrive at the doorstep of the senior citizen who requests it by 8:30 the day before he wishes to be transported to the center.

In this area the bus makes stops in the following: at the edge of Burrsville, Farmington, part of Houston, and Felton.

The bus will also be used to take the members on short shopping trips, as well as to deliver meals to shut-ins.

The interior is designed with the senior citizen in mind. Flooring, seats, and ceiling of different shades help people with dim or failing vision. Other features are: non-slip short stairs, located inside the bus to prevent contact with the weather, hold bars that are padded, padded luggage racks also designed to be used as hold bars, and padded seats.

The arrival of the bus was especially timely, because its first trip was to take members to the Senior Citizens Day activities held Thurs., May 23, at Delaware State College.

Anyone who wishes to inquire about the bus or the center should call 398-3908.

YMCA To Launch Summer "JOBS"

The YMCA of Dover and Kent County will launch a brand new program this summer entitled "JOBS". The program will be headed by Carol Gellner and will operate out of the YMCA facility on South State Street in Dover.

In essence the program will involve junior and senior high school students who will register through the Y making themselves available for various types of jobs ranging from window washing to spring cleaning, helping with grocery shopping, mending clothes, tutoring and baby sitting as well as all other types of short term jobs that students are capable of doing.

Contact has been made with the school departments and residents and business people alike are urged to contact the YMCA at 674-3000 if they have odd jobs this summer that need to be completed. When you call the Y Carol Gellner will take your call, select the JOBER who is most qualified for the task and puts the JOBER in contact with the party involved. All work arrangements including salary are handled by the party calling and the JOBER, however a follow-up will be done by the JOBS office as to punctuality, performance and general work habits of the JOBER.

Beginning June 15 persons interested may call the Y at 674-3000 from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. Monday thru Friday and Saturdays from 9 a.m. - 12 noon.

The main objective of the JOBS program is to be a central point for youth employment in Dover, also to provide young people with the experience of communicating with adults.

It is sincerely hoped that this summer will prove a successful venture for the youth, the community and the YMCA. If the program does have a degree of success it will be carried throughout the school year.

Any youth seeking information on how to enroll in the JOBS program should contact Carol Gellner beginning June 1 or advance information may be obtained by calling or stopping in at the YMCA of Dover and Kent County.

ASCS To Administer Two Programs

Lister Hall, Jr., executive director of Kent County has announced that his office will administer two conservation programs at the same time this year; namely, the Rural Environmental Conservation Program (RECP) and the reinstated Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP).

Although the two programs are similar in name and share some of the same general practices, they differ in many respects, Hall said. Under each of the two programs, the federal government will be sharing with farmers and ranchers the cost of carrying out approved conservation measures on their land.

RECP will place emphasis on carrying out long-term, 3 to 10-year agreements for soil and water conservation practices. Emphasis will also be placed on forestry measures on eligible lands.

Under the forestry phase of the program, the federal government will be sharing with landowners the cost of tree planting and timber stand improvement on farm woodlands and on eligible non-industrial private forest lands. The purpose of the FIP will be to encourage landowners (Continued on Page 5)

Coming Events

A Strawberry Festival will be held at the Felton Methodist Church on June 1, from 4 p.m. until 7 p.m.

An Art Show and Auction will be conducted at the W.T. Chipman Jr. School gymnasium May 31. Held from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., water colors and oils by 12 to 15 professional artists will be auctioned by Frank Quillen.

In its first year, the project has been undertaken by George Black, art teacher at Chipman. A portion of the proceeds will be used for summer art studies by a junior high student at Chipman. Mr. Black hopes to expand the eligibility to include the high school next year.

There will be the Chinese Auction at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church on Raughley Hill Road, Harrington, Friday, May 31, at 7:30 p.m. Many unusual and valuable items have been donated by area merchants, as well as contributions from friends and members of St. Stephen's.

This is something new and different in the area and promises to be lots of fun. There will be a small admission and FREE refreshments. Come and share a new experience.

June 7th the Chipman Jr. School 8th grade class will be honored at a promotion dance. From 7:30 - 10:30. Music will be by JADE.

All parents are invited. The dance is sponsored by the W.T. Chipman Jr. School Student Council led by Bill Moore, president; Jerry Miller, vice president; Robin Degnates, secretary; Mary Lou Tilghman, treasurer.

His Students Really Do Dig School

Dan Evans of the W.T. Chipman School English department has a new slant on an old problem for teachers...motivation.

Reading, mathematics, chemistry and history are all involved. For example, when his students read about the methods of archeology, they apply it. Thus the dig out behind the football field at the school has emerged. Through the use of an aerial photograph, it was speculated this might be a suitable area for digging.

Students use one inch paint brushes, hand trowels, screens and rakes, all inexpensive tools. As holes are dug, they are given grid numbers and are measured in meters (one meter is slightly longer than 39 inches). Each digging is a 2x2 meter hole.

Several items of interest and speculation have turned up since the digging began after Easter. Included are several arrow heads and a mystery rock. Identification has not been made yet on the latter, but it has several interesting properties. Hydrochloric acid does not affect it, it burns like carbon, there is a tarry smell, it contains sulfur and might have small amounts of copper in it. Found three centimeters below the grass line, it also looks like coal and has a likeness to plastic...with none of the chemical features of either.

Recently the class found pole marks at a depth of 35 centimeters, further sign a semi-permanent village once occupied the site.

It's hard to tell what the students will uncover eventually, but learning will surely be part of the process.

Editor's View . . .

FENDER BENDER 1 — CITY COUNCIL 0

A minor accident involving a truck and car at one of the town's two dangerous intersections happened here Tuesday evening. Although feelings might have been ruffled, there was no bodily injury . . . this time.

The accident took place at Clark and Commerce Streets, state-maintained Delaware Route 14. If traffic lights are installed, it is up to the State Highway Department to do so. It is doubtful that this will automatically happen. On request of the governing body of Harrington, the City Council, perhaps the lights will go up.

Does the score have to include a fatality first?

Donaway Seeks Recorder Post In November

Kent County Sheriff Robert Donaway, 60, filed yesterday for the Democratic nomination to run for recorder of deeds Nov. 5. Donaway, of Felton, paid his filing fee at County Democratic Headquarters and said he has been assured of support by party leaders.

The incumbent recorder is Joseph Rawlins, a Democrat, but he has already announced he will retire from politics when his current term expires in January.

Donaway said he had discussed his intentions to file with Rawlins. Donaway is a former deputy sheriff and long-time Felton Democratic committeeman. He is prevented by law from running for a second term as sheriff.

Fiesta Flair At Fair

Little Philip Joseph Wilson, 8½ months, of Arringtonville, is oblivious to the sights and sounds around him. He seems more content to play with a paper bag than with the toy clown his mother bought him at one of the Fair's many arts and crafts booths.

By Gloria Dill

Harringtonians were among the estimated 7,000 to attend the 16th annual Milford Hospital Fair Saturday. The warm sunshine more than made up for last week's rain, and the air was filled with laughter, music, and brightly colored balloons. For the children, there were all sorts of games, including ring toss, dots, bottle throw, grab bag, penny pitch, and spin painting. There were pony rides, a favorite each year, fire engine and hay rides, and of course the good old Blue Hen Special. The Peach Blossom 4-H Club followed the Mexican theme with sponge toss, in which children could hit a mean-looking senior with a wet sponge and win a prize. The Sunshine 4-H had a unique idea, also. They ran a petting zoo, where small children could go inside an enclosed area and play closely with goats, sheep, rabbits, etc., often for the first time. For the adults, the Fair offered baked goods, plants and flowers, antiques, straw baskets, furniture, and an auction which began in the late afternoon. For everyone, the Fair represented a chance to get out in the sun, meet neighbors, be with families. Barbara Jones, in the Delaware Digest, calls it, "a chance for some nice, clean fun."

Another popular place was the Petting Zoo, sponsored by Harrington's Sunshine 4-H Club. President Jerrie Draper and her goat, Abby, briefly pause for a picture before greeting the crowds of children who are lining up to play with the animals.

Responsible for the entire "fiesta" are the four general chairmen: Lois Touart, Pat Strickland, Doris Kimmel, and Mary Lou Sheaffer. In addition to keeping the Fair hopping, the lovely senoras ran an information booth, situated in the middle of the grounds, complete with maps and a history of past hospital fairs.

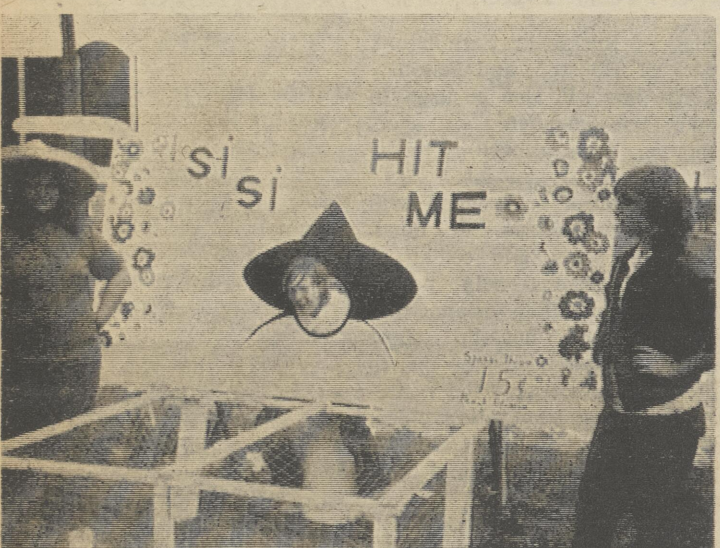

Mrs. William A. (Tina) Taylor, formerly of Harrington, gazes from her station among the vast selection of potted plants and flowers. This booth, sponsored by the Milford Garden Club, has been a part of the Fair since 1958.

Meanwhile, in another area of the zoo, young Sonnya Dennis stops to feed a piece of clover to her favorite rabbit.

By the time the auction rolled around, in the late afternoon, many enthusiasts were caught napping in the sun. Among these were Susan Welch Clark (center) formerly of Harrington, and her friends Barbara Valley (left) and Bonnie Howell, both from Milford.

"Si, Si. Hit me!" says Glen Divil, of Farmington, as Senoritas Kathi Hopkins (left) and Rochelle Messick look on. The Peach Blossom 4-H Club has been represented at the Fair for five years. Last year, at 10¢ a game the club made $80 for the hospital.

Valarie and Kimberly Wilson, of Milford, take a rest from their morning activities and enjoy some pizza.

Collectors from all over the area took advantage of the occasion to exhibit and sell their wares. Shown here is Mrs. Dorothy Donaway, of Felton, and her assistant Cindy Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hughes, of Harrington. Mrs. Donaway is a collector of plates and other glassware.

These are but a few of the many great songs written and composed by Edward Kennedy Ellington that are with us now and for ever more. He was known in the musical world and to millions of admirers as Duke Ellington, a piano player of unmatched talent. He had a special way of presenting his music with an approach both calm, and soothing . . . it was almost a carefree fashion.

Although the news of his death is old now, I felt compelled to give living testimony to the man's greatness. I became acquainted with his music about 20 years ago while in the U.S. Army. He and his music did a lot to lift the morale of the troops with whom I served. It was a pleasure to be entertained (which he liked to do best of all) by the man . . . who did his part in a large way of getting people together. From Newport . . . where he gave many concerts . . . to Westminster Abbey . . . where he gave 3 religious concerts, he did his part as the roving ambassador of good will. The many religious pieces caused him once to remark that they were ways of saying out loud which some say through silent prayer. The Duke will be missed . . . as a person . . . but his music will live on.

On Tuesday of this week, a primary election of significant importance took place in Arkansas. It involved the current Democratic Gov. of Arkansas Dale Bumpers against incumbent Senator J. William Fulbright. As the name indicates (Bumpers), bump he did . . . Sen. Fulbright right out of the political arena by a lop-sided margin.

Fulbright came to the U.S. Senate 30 years ago and became the Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, one of the most powerful Committees in Congress. It has been Sen. Fulbright for so long . . . but again it marks a "new step" coming to Washington this fall.

For the past 30 years in Arkansas, the people there have been doing at least two things . . . (1) they read the Arkansas Gazette (circulation 140,000) daily although they say they hate it with a passion, and (2) they have been voting for Sen. Fulbright every six years. Keep your eye on the November elections . . . for I believe the old adage that "no broom sweeps clean like a new broom" will be proven this fall.

THAT'S MY CHOICE . . . WHAT'S YOURS?

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

STEAM AGE

— IN MEMORY —

Now that we've scattered the flowers of May
Over the graves of the Blue and the Gray
Over the graves where women weep,
Over the graves where heroes sleep,
Let us turn to the graves of those
Who lived and died in their overclothes.

Are they not heroes; they who have died
Under their engines or buried beside
The throttle or brake where they bravely stood
Thoughtful of none but the passenger's good?
Life below duty they placed and chose
To live and die in their over clothes.

No martial tune did their duties inspire
Save the pound and hiss of the steed-of-fire
Speeding along through the dreary night
While the hours dragged in their laden flight.
Dreary indeed were the battles of those
Who lived and died in their overclothes.

We wouldn't take from an old soldier's grave
Even the humblest bloom nor save
One tribute which is the soldier's right
For bravery midst the daring fight
All honor is due him but forget-not those
Who lived and died in their overclothes.

Letter To The Editor

We the residents of Reese Avenue, would like to know what happened to the original agreement between City Zoning Committee and residents of Reese Avenue and Grier and Draper. The Zoning Commission was supposed to let us know if these were any changes. Draper and Grier sold to Burris. The agreement was any plant built would build their own road over their property to the Farmington Road or go out to the Fair ground road.

Who agreed to let Burris Foods use Reese Avenue? This is a residential area. There is a lot of large trucks using the road now and have broken it up. There will be even more when they get the new addition to their plant. Why do the residents of Reese Avenue have to take the short end of the stick and put up with a road that isn't safe to drive over. Even the state won't let these size trucks run over their black top roads in winter weather. How can any one expect to have a town have this kind of traffic over a side street?

The holes in the street haven't been filled in over four weeks. It is worse than any dirt road in the state. Who is responsible for the present condition of the street, and who is to bear the cost of fixing it?

IMPEACHMENT

generally in time of war where one is guilty of sedition acts if he impedes or hinders the progress of the war effort.

Recently actress Jane Fonda was outspoken about the war in Viet Nam, it was believed that she should have been charged with violations of the sedition acts. The Americans have always cherished their Bill of Rights, and in particular "freedom of speech, press and assembly" under the first Amendment of the U.S. Constitution. For this reason, there have been very few cases of sedition in the history of this country.

As a justice of the Supreme Court, it is likely that Justice Chase favored a broad interpretation of the first amendment. The Chase trial marked the turning point for "impeachment trials", especially as against Federal Judges, for the U.S. Senate dismissed the charges against the Justice and handed down a decision that Federal Judges could not and should not be removed for political reasons. Chase served on the Court until his death in 1811.

The whole thing in a nutshell was that Chase had been appointed by a Federalist President. The Congress in 1800 was dominated by anti-Federalists, therefore the reason for the ruling by the Senate which was Federalist controlled. It set the precedent for anti-political maneuvers with impeachment matters.

Del. Is Home To 7 Trillion Bugs

Some seven trillion insects live in Delaware. That is about five thousand times the human population of the whole world. This insect census comes from Gene Mace, entomologist and Product Research Supervisor for Johnson Wax, Racine, Wis. He explained that entomologists estimate average insect population per square mile to be about equal to the total world population of people -- more than 3.7 billion. Since Delaware has 1,982 square miles, it follows that its bug population runs about 7 trillion.

"It is fortunate," he said, "that most of these insects are not harmful to people and their property. Of about 100,000 different species known throughout the world, only about 600 are classed as pests."

He hastened to add that not all of the 600 types live in Delaware.

"Man has been battling insect pests ever since he began to inhabit this planet," said Mace. "It is interesting that despite all of his efforts he never exterminates a species, though he has been successful in controlling many."

He explained there is no one way of controlling all insect pests. "You go after ants and mosquitoes in quite different ways, with quite different weapons," he said. "A household insect control program requires more a family of sprays and some knowledge of insect habits."

WHEN WE FURNISHED OUR OWN AMUSEMENT--The above clipping refers to a home-talent entertainment. It was held on what is now the second floor of the building owned by W.W. Shaw on Commerce Street. In the first part of this century, the second story was known as Masten's Hall. Off-hand, we mention John Anderson, of the cast. He had stores on Commerce Street and in 1885 was a member of the firm of Raughley (Benaiah) and Anderson, a department store. W.H. Powell, in the same period, was an alderman and town commissioner. There were several Hardestys in the cast. Members of this family had a wagon shop on Commerce Street at Mechanic on the present site of The Journal office. Clipping was furnished by courtesy of Samuel A. Short, Jr.

TOWN AND COUNTRY TOPICS

DAVE WOODWARD
KENT COUNTY AGENT

Toward the end of last week army worms started to be very active in the lower part of Kent County. We would like to encourage farmers with small grain corn and soybeans to check their fields daily for the presence of army worms.

Army worms, as the name implies, often move from field to field in great numbers damaging grain crops and grass as they move along. If they damage corn over 8 inches high, they often remove all the leaves. While the midribs of the leaves on larger plants may not be damaged, the stalks are eaten out and the plants often die. One way to tell if army worms are present is to look for large numbers of birds diving and darting over infested fields. Army worms are about two inches long, slightly pink with light and darker stripes. The adult moths are cinnamon brown with a tiny white dot on each front wing. There may be two or three generations a year but the first is usually the most destructive. Plants should be treated when the worms become conspicuous and the spray should be directed into the whorl. For control the following are suggested: Toxaphene (this material has no label clearance to be used on corn to be used for silage. However, there are no limitations to use of grain). Also carbaryl (sevin), trichlorfon (Dylox) or malathion. Be sure and read the label on all materials for the restrictions.

Stealing farm machinery is nothing new, but with the increasing cost of machinery we hear more and more about farm burglars. There are a few things we can do to convince thieves that your farm is no place to start burglarizing. One way of doing this is with an electric pencil engraver. With this tool you can engrave your name or drivers license number on your machinery. This also can be used on all kinds of tools and wrenches. According to law enforcement officers there are two things that result from this action. It warns the burglar to stay away from your property and helps identify your belongings if they are stolen and retrieved by law enforcement officials.

With your property so marked you are sure to get it back if the police catch anyone with it. If you do not have it identified and you can't identify it as your property by some other means the law can not return it to you. This situation has occurred in California where the county sheriff's office held a sale of merchandise taken from burglars and fences that no one can identify amounting to about 60 thousand dollars a year. Even if material is insured against theft, shortage of equipment on the market and higher prices hamper the farming operation if the machinery is stolen. Recovering is preferable to replacement. How much does an electric pencil engraver cost? We have seen prices in the neighborhood of $20. The higher priced engravers are best for marking the hard steel of big farm equipment and wrenches in the farm shop.

Senior Center Activities

Another new activity at the Center! "Interest in Music"! A Kitchen Band is being organized. Learn to play the "kazoo," ocarina, washboard, pot, pan, and what-have-you? It should be a lot of fun.

Another new activity is the crocheting class - know how to make broom stick lace? Or can you do the shell stitch? Every Wednesday at 10 a.m. there is a teacher available to help all interested persons.

Of interest to everyone is the Bible study sessions conducted by the Rev. John E. Jones. Watch your program for dates and times during the month of June.

Need a gift? Want something different, useful, handmade, or unusual? Many beautiful items are always on sale at the Center. A new profit craft shop also is open on Lockerman Street, Dover. Displayed and sold are items from all Centers located in Kent County, giving a major percentage of each sale to the Center supplying the item.

No one is required to be a member of the center in order to participate in the activities there. The door is always open to all those 60 and older, regardless of race, creed or nationality.

Delaware Food Market Report

by Anne W. Holberton

Sugar has been one food that has been misunderstood and labeled as the "bad guy" in the family of foods. Granulated sugar is almost entirely carbohydrate and it is an excellent energy food. It has been demonstrated that during muscular activity the consumption of sugar in the body is increased fourfold. Here is an interesting thought, if one pound of pure sugar were burned in the laboratory so as to utilize all the heat, it would raise the temperature of five gallons of water from freezing to the boiling point.

Like most anything we eat sugar should not be eaten in the excess. When we eat more than our body needs it is stored and thus fattening.

The season for the greatest use of sugar by many people is just ahead. Hot weather calls for high quantities of sugar in soft drinks. Processors of canned and frozen fruits use sugar most in summer, as do ice cream makers. This summer prices of sugar are up and will continue to climb according to information coming from the sugar industry. As you shop be sure to check prices on various sizes of packages.

Sugar is marketed in a number of types and grades, each having a particular usefulness. In most cases sugar moves under a company, a brand name, but generally falls within the following categories.

Granulated sugar is a white all-purpose sugar for cooking and table use. This sugar dissolves fairly quickly.

Superfine, verrefine or fancy-fine sugar is a specially screened, uniformly fine-granulated sugar that dissolves quickly. It is designed for special use in drink, in cakes, and other uses where quick dissolving is desirable.

Flaws in your fabric? Soiled streaks at the center? If you notice them before you cut out the garment, you may be able to cut around them. But it is sugar is the finest grade of powdered sugar. It is granulated sugar, crushed and screened to the fineness designed for uncooked frostings. It is also used for dusting pastries, doughnuts and such. It usually contains a small amount of cornstarch to prevent caking. This sugar is finer than flour, and it absorbs moisture like a sponge.

Brown sugar. This comes in two types—light and dark brown. They are made in the same manner as the granulated sugars, but the syrup is boiled at a lower temperature. This sugar contains varying quantities of molasses, which impart the characteristic color and flavor. Light brown sugar is mild in flavor and is used in baked goods, frostings, toppings and candy. Dark brown sugar has a more intense flavor and color that may be desirable in gingerbread, baked beans, glazed ham, and other full-flavored foods. Another way of putting it is dark brown sugar is for sweets like molasses cookies and other batters coarse of texture, heavy of spice. Always store brown sugar regardless of type in an airtight container. Place a slice of fresh bread, section of apple, or fresh lettuce leaf with sugar to keep it properly moistened. This will prevent caking or will restore the normal texture if the sugar is caked already.

maddening to discover a serious flaw after cutting. It's easy to blame the retailer, but don't be too hasty.

Government specifications allow five flaws in every fifty yards of goods with no restriction on the size of the flaw. Fabric is inspected at the factory by human inspectors and they might miss seeing a few flaws, too. The retailer can't inspect every piece of fabric which comes into his store, and if you don't inspect before you buy or cut, you'll discover it when you start to cut.

If the fabric was sold as first quality and you find a major flaw after cutting, take the fabric back to the store. Most retail stores are responsible in making adjustments if you have a legitimate complaint. You will have to stand any loss for your time and labor. After all, you could have spotted the damage before you put any work on the garment.

If you bought the fabric as a remnant or at a discount shop, the cheaper price may be due to some damage in the material. Inspect the fabric before buying because you can't expect a return for this fabric. As any seamstress knows, though, you can get excellent buys this way and eliminate the damaged fabric as you cut.

Don't get too worked up about minor flaws. Some are so minute they will probably never be noticed by anyone but you.

If you find a soiled crease where the fabric was folded, it may or may not be serious, depending on the fabric. On a washable fabric, the soil probably will come out in laundering. Silks and woollens usually are folded with the right side inside, so soiling should be on the wrong side of the fabric.

On nonwashable material, a touch-up with spot remover may do the trick if you work with care. Or better yet, refold the fabric to eliminate the center crease if you can. Even if the crease is not soiled, sometimes the pressed line is almost impossible to remove.

It's hard to be alert to everything when you buy, but some of the responsibility for a good buy rests with the consumer. If you think you have a legitimate complaint, don't grumble to your friends, but take the problem to the store manager. And when you do, approach him with courtesy. Courtesy is contagious.

Local Soybean Champ 2nd In Nation

A Kent County soybean grower ranked second in the nation last year in soybean yield competition. According to results reported in Farm Profit magazine, Homer Torbert of Frederica was second to Wilbert Wassenberg of Baileyville, Kan. Torbert's contest yield was 80.7 bushels per acre; Wassenberg had a yield of 91.2.

The Delaware champion was only six-tenths of a bushel above the Mississippi grower who finished third, but several bushels ahead of the rest of the top ten which included Illinois, Texas, North Carolina and other top soybean states.

Torbert, who averaged 43 bushels per acre on 900 acres, produced his winning yield with double-cropped York beans in narrow rows.

Ten Spartans Qualify For State Track Meet

Lake Forest's track team qualified ten athletes for the state championship meet to be held at the University of Delaware, Newark, Sat., May 25.

Ron Mosley and James Miner, record-breaking Spartan seniors, have a chance to become state champions. Mosley set a new Spartan standard in the half mile (2:00.4) this campaign and upset last year's state champ, Gary Collins of Middletown, in 2:03 at the qualifying meet held at Dover Saturday.

Miner has thrown the 16-pound shot 49 feet, 1 inch and could win it all at Newark. Mike Hall of Indian River, was state champion in 1973 with a toss of 47 feet.

Sophomore Joe Voshell has recorded 10.33 for two miles and is seeded third. Terry Pettyjohn, a sophomore, of Frederica, has a shot at fourth.

Ron Dunlap, Harry Benson, Ron Mosley and Kit Tilghman could place in the mile relay. They've done 3:38. Benson is also running the mile.

A youthful two mile relay unit is running chiefly to get experience. Bob Kashner, Craig Kashner, freshman Paul McClellan and Kit Tilghman will vie in this one.

Spartan Nine Beats Blue Raiders 5 - 1

Woodbridge outthrew Lake Forest 6-5, but a four-run rally in the fourth gave the Spartans a 5-1 victory.

Wayne Ernie hit a triple to help the winners record a seventh triumph in eleven starts.

Gregg Hobbs and Mike McGinnis had RBI's. Neal Smith and pinch-hitter Bill Atkinson also hit safely.

Ruritans Open Diamond

The first men's softball game was played Tuesday, May 21, at the newly finished diamond at Andrewville, several miles east of Harrington. This marks the plateau of the first phase of work planned for the area by the Ruritani Club there.

The project developed from an idea to "give the children somewhere to go" President Sonny Shultie told The Journal. Work began on the field in September 1973, when the ground was leased to the club by a member, Franklin Butler.

An old saw mill, fallen into disrepair, was removed, scrub trees and underbrush were cleaned from a grove of pines and several large holes created by the saw mill business were filled. The area was dragged, a diamond created, and fences, bleachers and snack bar were built by donated time and labor. Lights were installed by members of the Delmarva Power & Light Company employees in their free time.

At present six teams will use the facility, although the club hopes to expand as well as to include picnic facilities and a play area with suitable play equipment for children. The Ruritans field one of the six teams to play. It's for "fun and exercise" says Shultie.

The Andrewville Ruritani Club is ten years old, with 25 members. Several past projects have included: helping farmers do their work when ill, family picnics and scholarships to agriculture and home economic students at Lake Forest and Woodbridge schools.

Present officers are: Sonny Shultie, president; Larry Breeding, vice president; Samuel Layton, secretary; Donald Chalmers, treasurer.

Anyone wishing to use the facilities should contact John Moran at 398-8684 for details.

America's Silent Killer

The Delaware Heart Association, Delaware Medical Society, and the Division of Public Health are co-operating in a program of public awareness to high blood pressure and its dangers during the month of May.

More people in this country die from conditions closely related to high blood pressure than from any other cause.

Untreated high blood pressure is a factor in stroke, heart attack, congestive heart failure and kidney failure. These are the major elements in the group of cardiovascular diseases which cost the nation an estimated $20 billion a year. In human terms, stroke, heart attack and heart and kidney failure cause much illness and suffering and claim approximately 900,000 lives annually.

A tragic fact is that heart attack and stroke hit people at premature ages, frequently in their productive years. Twenty five per cent of all heart attack deaths occur under age 65, as do more than 15 per cent of deaths from stroke, once considered an older person's disease.

"Much of this loss could be avoided or at least delayed," says Dr. E. Wayne Martz, president of the Delaware Heart Association. "Research has given us the drugs to control most cases of high blood pressure and save life. And now there is evidence that treating even mild rises in blood pressure, which most physicians used to ignore can prevent the development of serious problems.

"There are two factors that get in the way of finding and helping people with high blood pressure. Half of the 23 million Americans estimated to have it don't even know it. And many of those who do find it out, don't follow through on treatment. In both cases, the problem is that they just don't feel sick and can't accept the need for treatment.

"We've got to convince them that this disease is a silent killer which usually doesn't have any symptoms and can exist unknown for years doing damage to vital organs. The only way to spot it is by a fast, simple test that calls merely for the patients to pull up a sleeve," Dr. Martz explains.

Everybody has blood pressure

Rabies - Summer Hazard

The pleasures of summer are many, but so are its potential dangers, like rabies.

Rabies is most commonly found in wildlife, according to Dr. E. Paul Catts, associate professor of etymology and applied ecology at the University of Delaware. Reptiles, birds and insects, however, do not carry rabies.

Catts says bats, foxes and skunks are frequent rabies victims. To avoid being bitten, stay away from animals showing odd behavior.

You should suspect rabies when animals normally seen only at night are sighted in the daytime. Rabid animals often will stumble and walk as if drunk. They are very easily disturbed by loud noises or quick movement.

Catts points out that animals with rabies infection may lose their fear of human beings, they may develop attacking tendencies, or wander aimlessly and display depressed behavior.

You're most likely to find rabid bats on the ground, trembling or in a stupor. If you are confronted with a bat in this condition, pick it up with a heavily gloved hand and keep it inside a double thick paper bag. Don't handle sick or paralyzed animals. Report the animal to a conservation officer or game warden. They can observe suspected animals or confine them in a safe place.

If you are bitten by a wild animal, wash the wound thoroughly with soap and water and go directly to a physician, who will advise you if and when treatment should begin. Try to catch the animal if it can be done without additional danger.

All animals, except bats, should be confined for 14 days under the supervision of a veterinarian for rabies observation and diagnosis. A bat should be sent directly to a diagnostic laboratory for diagnosis.

If it is necessary to kill the animal, care should be taken not to damage the brain, which is needed for laboratory examination. Dead suspect animals should be kept refrigerated, but not frozen, for examination.
