

Mayor Holds Workshop For Reese Avenue

On Monday night Mayor William A. Minner of Harrington held a special council meeting in order to more fully discuss the resurfacing of Reese Avenue in the city. Present at the meeting were Councilmen C. Tharp Harrington, representing the ward in which Reese Avenue is located, Jack Wyatt, John T. Satterfield, William E. Griffin and City Manager Jack Harrington.

The purpose of this meeting was to have the only construction bidder, Warren Bros., of Dover, on the resurfacing of Reese Avenue, to appear before Mayor and Council in order to better define a ways and means to correct the existing problem on that street. The bid was for $46,750 which included the restructuring of the northeast corner at Reese Avenue where it meets Commerce Street.

The restructuring would mean cutting into the corner to enable large trucks to better make the turn. It would also include retilling that portion of the street as well as rebuilding the catch basins. The cost for doing this would be in the neighborhood of $7,200.

Representing Warren Bros. at the meeting was Bobby Brown, district president, and James Clendaniel, who administers to building of construction jobs. The manner and means in which the specifications for the bill had been drawn required the low bidder to rip up the present surface on Reese Avenue, put down a soil cement base, and then coat the surface with two inches of asphalt. That figure would mean a cost to the city of $39,550. This was agreed to be far beyond the ability of the city to handle financially.

Since Warren Bros. was the only bidder, and since they suggested a possible alternative which would be a money-saver, Bobby Brown and James Clendaniel were invited to appear before Mayor and Council to present their observations.

By deleting the soil cement from the specifications as well as the two and one-half-inch asphalt and replacing it with a four-inch asphalt base in the center tapered to a two-inch thickness on the sides—except the road surface would have a four-inch base in the area of the corner of Reese Avenue and Commerce Street, curb to curb—would be a saving to the city of some $5,500. The cost then would be in the neighborhood of $41,000. The street would be guaranteed for a two-year period. Brown pointed out that traffic would not be required to stop on Reese Avenue during installation of the asphalt.

School Board Meets

Five teachers, four teacher aides and five cafeteria aides were hired by the Lake Forest Board of Education at its Aug. 18 meeting in the high school library.

Two fourth grade teachers for Lake Forest East are John Davidson and Donna Carney. Judy Oliver was hired for the same grade level in Lake Forest North. Paulette Patterson, first grade, was hired for Lake Forest North and Mrs. Joyce Simmons, learning disabilities, was given a high school position.

Title I teachers' aides Lois Parker, Mrs. Kaye Sapp, Shirley Johnson and Mrs. Evelyn Winebrenner were employed for the coming school year. New cafeteria aides included Mrs. Emma Carroll and Barbara, Lake Forest North; Donna Merchant and Loretta Benson, Lake Forest South; and Mrs. Dorothy Collins, cashier replacement for Phyllis Calhahan at Lake Forest High School.

In other board action, Herbie Hobbs, substitute custodian, was hired as a full-time replacement for Frank Plummer, who has been ill, and Mrs. Elma Price was an additional two hours a day to keep cafeteria accounts.

Supt. Albert W. Adams announced that a sixth grade teacher will be hired for Lake Forest North and the salary for the position will be paid by federal funds administered through Levy Court.

The board also appropriated $300 to the Band Boosters Club to pay for outside training of band members. A job bid from Joseph Richardson, for ventilation and heating work on the high school paint shop, was rejected by the board for being in excess of the amount authorized.

Following a discussion, a motion was carried to approve the preliminary 1974-75 school budget. The board meeting closed by accepting the resignation of Curtis Ham, high school art teacher.

Two area postmasters received awards Thursday, Aug. 22, at a meeting in Holiday Inn, Dover, of the Delaware Chapter of Postmasters.

Those honored were Howard M. Dill, postmaster at Harrington for 20 years, and Robert Bennett, Rehoboth official who formerly lived in Bridgeville.

The honors encompassed an award for superior accomplishment and a letter of commendation for a Delaware State Fair special project.

Postmaster Dill will leave Sept. 8 for a National Association of Postmasters convention in Seattle, Wash.

Sr. Citizens To Tour Campus

A special program for senior citizens is set for the morning of Sept. 5 at Delaware Technical and Community College near Georgetown.

The program, organized with the cooperation of the college and the Sussex County office of the Bureau of the Aging, is designed to acquaint senior citizens with college facilities and opportunities to attend classes.

Any resident of Delaware age 60 or older may take courses free at the college on a space-available basis except for a $3 record keeping expense charge.

The briefing and tour of the facilities will be from 9:30 to 11 a. m.

Oldest Man In Delaware Dies

Isaac Henry Hughes, the oldest man in Delaware, was dead on arrival at Kent General Hospital, Dover, last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Hughes had been in ill health for the past year and had not taken meals at the table Friday or Saturday.

He had made his home with a daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Cooper, on the Frederica-Harrington Road. Until about two years ago he had planted and taken care of his own garden adjacent to the home he had built for himself near his daughter's home.

According to the Social Security Administration, his age as of April 1 was 105, which had been substantiated from work records and information gathered through the years. Mr. Hughes, however, always insisted he was five years older than records indicated.

According to the Social Security Administration, his age as of April 1 was 105, which had been substantiated from work records and information gathered through the years. Mr. Hughes, however, always insisted he was five years older than records indicated.

He had worked from the time he was four years old. His family lived in tenant houses and worked for various white families, his mother doing the cooking and housework and his father doing the farm work. The children also worked.

His parents had both died before he was 10 and he lived with a grandmother until he was about 20.

Mr. Hughes had done a variety of jobs throughout his life, including farming, carpentering and running a blacksmith shop in Willow Grove on the Gooden farm.

He was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church for over 70 years and followed the dietary rules of the church, which eliminates meat, tobacco and alcoholic beverages. He attended the Bethel Church, N. Queen St., Dover.

He insisted that his long life was due, not so much to the diet and style of living he followed, but to the fact that he tried to serve God.

His wife, Sarah Hughes, died in 1957.

In addition to Mrs. Cooper, Mr. Hughes is survived by two sons, Thomas of Dover and Jesse of Camden; two other daughters, Mae Smith and Mary Perry, both of Felton; 20 grandchildren, 64 great-grandchildren and 24 great-great grandchildren.

Services will be today at 1 at the Bethel Church, Dover. Interment will be in Sunset Memorial Gardens. (Continued on Page 5)

George W. Cain

Former Legislator From Here Dies

George W. Cain, 74, of Harrington, died Tuesday at Milford Memorial Hospital after an apparent heart attack.

Mr. Cain was a grain farmer and poultryman. He served in the legislature as the representative for the 9th District from 1957-60, where he was a member of the Joint Finance Committee and chairman of the House Rules Committee.

He was a director of the First National Bank for years. He also was an honorary member of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company and served for 12 years as its fire chief.

He owned and operated Fair View Farms with his son. He was a member of Asbury Methodist Church.

He is survived by his wife, Evelyn A.; a son Charles G. of Harrington, two sisters, Elsie Nelte of Milford and Sara Emily Masten of Harrington; and three grandchildren.

Services were Saturday afternoon at 2 at the Berry Funeral Home, N. W. Front St., Milford. Interment was at Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington.

The Lone Eagle Passes

At a time when this country is badly in need of a hero figure, one of its greats died in near seclusion this week. Charles Augustus Lindbergh's solo flight across the Atlantic in 1927 may seem to pale by the Apollo moon missions, but it deservedly earned his title "The Lone Eagle." The subsequent personal tragedy of his first son's kidnapping and killing gave an ironic and tragic reference to Lindbergh's title, as the family gradually withdrew into seclusion.

In the years to follow, Lindbergh's attitude toward neutrality and isolation when the country drifted toward World War II caused him to become unpopular. Such is fate.

In recent years Lindbergh continued to voice his opinions, not always popular, but with an undaunted spirit. His concern for the environment and the quality of life prevailed over the advent of the supersonic transport, which he felt was detrimental ecologically.

As the country eulogizes his passing, a single glimpse of the frail "Spirit of St. Louis" on permanent display in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C., will serve as silent and tangible tribute to the sheer intestinal fortitude of a man who conquered the impossible and throughout kept his character unswayed.

Schools Await Teachers

By Gary P. Andres
Delaware teachers have until next week to decide on a "job action" for Sept. 4. By then the 26 districts will have voted on the "action committee" compromise considered in Dover yesterday.

"I am optimistic that a teachers' strike will be averted through an effective compromise between the teachers and the legislature," James B. Testerman, vice president of Delaware State Educational Association (DSEA), said Tuesday.

Under the previous compromise, teachers were expected to work in "good faith" until the legislature convened in January to vote on a pay hike. Since Sunday night when the compromise of the "crisis committee" fell apart, the threat of strike has intensified.

Stanton School District voted unanimously to reject the compromise, and while New Castle-Gunning Bedford Jr. School District voted to reject it also, New Castle, one of the largest districts in the state, never even formally voted due to a strike atmosphere there.

Lake Forest Has AFS Student

By Gloria Dill
"The first thing I noticed was the heat. It's winter back home," said blonde, petite Jenny Milna, about her first impression of the U. S. A. native of Dunedin, New Zealand, Jenny is this year's foreign exchange student at Lake Forest High School.

She is living with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rawding and daughter Shirley of Felton. It took almost three days for Jenny to reach Delaware. Her first flight was to Oakland, her country's largest city. From there she flew to Honolulu and San Francisco. In the latter city Jenny was a guest of Stanford University.

"I didn't get to see much of San Francisco. We were too busy," she remarked. The last flight took her to Philadelphia where she was met by the Rawdings. Jenny has a younger brother and sister at home. She plays the piano and enjoys sports, especially swimming and skiing. Since no place in New Zealand is more than 80 miles from the coast, and mountains are always in view, it is quite easy to enjoy both sports in the same day. New Zealand has four television networks, but "we only get one channel." Her favorite show is "All In The Family," America's No. 1 situation comedy. "I think it's No. 1 in New Zealand, too," she remarked.

Stevens To Bid For Tax Receiver

Nancy I. Stevens announced her candidacy for the office of Receiver of Taxes and County Treasurer for Kent County at a press conference on Monday, Aug. 26.

Mrs. Stevens formerly held the post of Chief Deputy Receiver of Taxes during the term of George R. Quillen. During her tenure as Deputy Receiver of Taxes, Mrs. Stevens was responsible for the installation of the new county computer system which uncovered more than half a million dollars in delinquent taxes due the county and school districts.

In her announcement, Mrs. Stevens stated she believed the Receiver of Taxes position has become a full-time job which requires accountability to the taxpayers. She stated that she plans if elected to institute a number of improvements, including a quarterly update of tax records in order to account for major new construction.

Mrs. Stevens, a Republican, will be running against Donald C. Vaughn, who was appointed by Governor Tribbitt in July. Mr. Vaughn is on record as stating he does not plan to devote full time to the position.

Miss Quillen On Dean's List

Cora Renee Quillen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Quillen of 220 Simmons Street, Harrington, Delaware, has been named to the dean's list of distinguished students for the last term at Roanoke College, Salem, Virginia.

Students on the list were enrolled in at least four units during the term and earned an average on those courses of at least B, with no grade below C.

Roanoke College is a coeducational liberal arts institution with an enrollment of more than 1,300 students.

This man, the only one to practice this trade in Delaware, will be featured in next week's Journal. Find out then what he is doing in this picture. (Continued on Page 5)

Band Boosters Hold Meeting

The Lake Forest Band Boosters held their first fall meeting Monday evening with Mrs. Philip Tuthill, president, conducting the session.

Many items of business for the coming year were discussed, including continuation of the paper drive in each of four communities, Harrington, Felton, Frederica and Bowers, purchasing uniforms for the band majorities, color guard and flag 4, dinners to be served, uniforms for the Chipman band, and projects to raise money.

Kindergarten Starts Sept. 9

Kindergarten pupils of the Lake Forest School District will begin classes on Monday, September 9. All other pupils of the district will begin classes on Wednesday, Sept. 4. School dismissal on Sept. 4 will be at 1:00 p. m. and lunch will be served. Following this date full day sessions will begin.

Labor Day Noted For Accidents And Burglaries

Labor Day weekend is not only the most popular holiday weekend of the year, but also the most tragic. Since Labor Day is the last holiday of the summer, everyone tries to get away to enjoy it. The result is a startling number of injuries, traffic deaths and home burglaries every year.

As you take off for the beach, ballpark or backyard barbecue, you'll find that overcrowded roads step up chances of auto accidents, and the home you leave often issues its own invitations to burglars.

Last Labor Day weekend 750 people died as a result of auto accidents—making it the worst weekend of the year.

With more than one and a half million homes burglarized last year it's clear that Labor Day weekend has proved to be a favorite time for thieves to operate.

The Insurance Information Institute offers a few commonsensibilities this Labor Day weekend:

—Lock cars and store personal property out of sight.

—Don't drive too far in three days. Stay away from alcohol before you drive, and don't speed.

—A dark house or apartment attracts burglars. Leave on a Bus 34, Mr. John Steward, which will be coming from Frederica; will cover road 388 from Coursey Pond to Paradise Alley; west on same to dual. Bus 11, Mr. John Steward, will cover road 378 to 380; east on 130 to 12; west on 12 to road 388.

Bowers-Frederica area - Elem. buses are the same except Bus 112B, Mr. Jim Morris, will cover roads 381 to 380; east on 380 to school. Bus 39B, Mr. Bud Moore, will cover what bus 34 did last year.

Chipman students in this area will now go directly to Chipman. Bus 30, Mr. George Hobbs will cover Bowers Beach; road 373; 372 to 113. At this point, it will stop picking up and proceed to road 35 where it will pick up on 35 to 388; south on 388 to 394; west on 394 to 398 to 397 to 384. Bus 11, Mr. John Steward, will cover High Point Trailer Park; 113 to 371; east on 371 to 378; south on 378 to 380; east on 380 to 12; west on 12 to 388. Bus 34, Mr. John Steward, will cover Frederica stopping at the Bank and by Jim Morris' store as he comes out of town; this bus will then proceed to Paradise Alley Road via Coursey Pond to dual, picking up south of Coursey Pond on 388 to Paradise Alley Road; to dual.

High school bus 18, Mr. Bud Moore, will cover Bowers Beach roads 373, 372, and 113 in Little Heaven area.

Bus 32, Mr. Owain Gruwell, will cover High Point Trailer Park. Bus 39, Mr. Bud Moore, will cover 376 to 371; east on 371 to dual; cross dual to RR tracks. Bus 12, Mr. James Morris, will cover Frederica; route 12 to 380; road 35 to 384; north on 384 to 426; west on 426 to dual.

Contractors have been given rosters and phone numbers of the students on their routes with instructions to have their drivers contact the students. If you have any questions contact the contractor or the school your child will attend as each school has a map of all its routes.

A Reminder: State regulations require that a student must live at least one-half mile from a bus route before the bus is required to come down and pick up the student. Also, bus routes are set up with safety efficiency and economy in mind, which does not always allow for service as is sometimes desired.

"... used to be many dimes,
now there lots of quarters."

We have all heard it said before by our elders ... what it was like before ... the good old days. I can remember as a kid growing up in Harrington, and that was not too many years back, that a dime would buy just about everything in sight. I wasn't old enough to be out-of-sight of my mother, but was permitted to ride my bicycle to the ice cream store. It was a new store in town called the Pensu-preme. We would order vanilla popsicles coated with chocolate. The surprise was getting down to the wood and discovering the word "FREE." One day I ate ten—nine on the house. That's the only way to beat inflation. Mr. Ford was the store manager, and he always surrendered the new popsicle without a whimper. Little did I understand the are of promotion them. Word travelled fast and the "FREES" diminished.

We look back on those days and marvel nonetheless at what a dime would buy. The years quickly rolled by and the boy grew to manhood ... off to school ... army, etc. Each step forward seemed toward a different purchasing sphere. It was never the same as before.

We continue to wonder about our economy and the vicious merry-go-round we all appear to be on. There is a natural desire of many to have more. The demand for more money causes the purchasing power to rise, and the increase in the cost of the product becomes more in the long run. It is like the dog who continues to chase his tail but cannot catch up with it.

One of the greatest felons of this system is the government itself. The government right now is offering more in the way of interest on borrowed money than any bank or other lending institution. This might cause ... if it hasn't already ... the small building and loan associations to dry up. Government spending should be curbed a great deal, and controls should be put on in order to stop the spiraling cost of inflation.

Controls will not be welcomed again, but they are a necessary evil. It could mean higher unemployment, and in general a recession. A recession—because there will be a slowing down of the economy — from the ascension of the economy.

When a market "peaks-out," it means that it has reached its limit. The desire to obtain more may be there, but there is little or no purchasing power whatsoever. If we don't control now, we will surely have this situation upon us. The idea that everyone must make more than he did the prior year—whatever his business—is a pure facade. What we need to do is maintain the status quo, and at the same time we will be conserving those items that are becoming precious.

The days of the free popsicle may be behind us now, but the purchasing power of our currency can be restored. Where there were more dimes then, we have more quarters now, but the purchasing power of the quarter is no more now than the dime was then. I like the idea of the dime—even though I know there aren't any free popsicles.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

JOYS OF HOME

Curling smoke from a chimney low,
And only a few more steps to go.
Faces pressed at a window pane,
Watching for someone to come again.
And I'm the someone they want to see—
These are the joys that life gives me.

So let me come home at night and rest
With those who know I have done my best;
Let the wife rejoice and my children smile,
And I'll know by their love that I'm worth while.

For this is conquest and world success—
A home where abideth happiness.

Everyone needs to make regular deposits into his bank account of pleasant memories.

Stayton-Young

Miss Lynn Elizabeth Stayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland H. Stayton, of Harrington, became the bride of Mr. Richard Woody Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell S. Young, of French Creek, W. Va.

The Rev. John Edward Jones performed the ceremony at Asbury United Methodist Church in Harrington at 7 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 17, in a beautiful candlelight service.

Miss Judith Wyatt, of Harrington, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Green, of Charleston, W. Va., and Miss Fay Stayton, sister of the bride. The flower girl was Miss Dana Hicks, of Andrews-ville, Del.

Best man for the groom was Michael Stayton, Dover, brother of the bride. Ushers were Grier Stayton, Houston, cousin of the bride, and Mark Stayton, brother of the bride. Ringbearer was Glenn Allen, Richmond, Va., cousin of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Lake Forest High School and a May graduate of Concord College, Athens, W. Va. Her degrees are in library science and Eng-ineering in art education.

The groom is a graduate of Buchannon-Upshor High School, Buchannon, W. V., and is a senior at Concord College, majoring in rt education.

From the Frying Pan...??

Margo Farrow, Managing Editor

"You get what you pay for." This is a time-proven fact and is applicable to everything. It can equally be applied to the impending job action (strike) involving the educators in this state. A strike, whatever the name, is never a desirable way to settle any grievance, and is a last-step measure.

Whenever such a step is taken in industry, it often causes inconvenience, and even works hardships, depending on the length and intensity. However, when a professional feels the need to take such action, the handwriting has been on the wall, it has just been ignored.

When a teacher talks strike, the Victorian feathers of a non-Victorian society begin to ruffle. Remarks of the one-room school, the good old days, the old maid teacher with starched attire and manner fly through the air. It seems that the good old days and the good old teachers accomplished miracles with their 60 plus students. Surely they did. Teachers have been known to do close to miraculous feats with little or no equipment with which to work.

One cannot ignore the fact that those days are gone. The teacher now has, if on the secondary level, anywhere from 150 students a day to more than 175. This does not include countless duties, red tape reports, requisitions to be filled in triplicate for supplies, attendance records, extra meetings, one could go on ad nauseum. At the same time he is expected to be a pillar of society, appreciating the 'better' things in life, and provide his students with an example of moral integrity as well as guiding them to think for themselves. Quite a task. A teacher most often meets the requirements and performs beyond that expected. Yet when he seeks to receive monetary recognition commensurate to what is expected, a hue and cry is raised in most instances.

What cannot be understood is that parents and communities at large allow the educators to fight for quality education. It should be the public at large seeking the changes, and demanding quality standards and salaries that accompany the quality performance expected. But no one fights another's battles. It is therefore up to the educator to demand compensation for the services rendered. It is the responsibility of parents and communities to see that quality is the end result.

Delaware presently enjoys a high national rating educationally. That does not mean that improvements are not necessary. To state such would be irrational. However, to keep that standing, the educators will have to be considered.

Can we afford to scrimp on our most vital natural resources in this country—our youth? It is a sad fact that Americans spend more money on chewing gum, cigarettes and alcoholic beverages than on education. When the prices of these items have risen, how many people have stopped using them?

In the long run, the fact remains—we get what we pay for ... how much are we willing to spend?

Days of Our Years

Ten Years Ago
Friday, Aug. 28, 1964

Ridgely Vane of Harrington was named Republican jury commissioner for Kent County Wednesday by Superior Court judges.

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel signed three important bills, including one to provide a $24,715,060 bond issue for capital improvements over a six-year period, before he left the state Saturday. He also signed bills to legalize the sale of beer at the state's race tracks and to appropriate funds for development and maintenance of lands at Ft. Miles.

A mortgage-burning service will be held at the Greenwood Pilgrim Holiness Church Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Sept. 6, and its third anniversary. The Rev. H. G. Baker, who began the work 13 years ago, will be guest speaker.

The descendants of John P. and Leila A. Wilson will hold their annual family reunion Sunday at the Petersburg Recreation Center.

Christine Taylor, of Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., and John Taylor, of Mt. Meade, Md., are visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. William A. Taylor. John is on a 14-day leave after which he will report to Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Passenger Safety In Automobiles

It's not always the driver that gets hurt in an accident. According to a recent statistical report by one of the large insurance companies, the passenger is the victim of about as many traffic-related accidents as the driver is.

The best way to protect yourself as a passenger is to ride only with safe drivers, says Carl Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware. But even a safe driver can have an accident. So don't forget to fasten your seatbelt. If there's a shoulder harness use that, too. Use a seatbelt even if you're only going a short distance—it could save your life. Most accidents occur just a few miles from the driver's home.

An even better way a passenger can protect himself is to actually help prevent accidents. Keep an eye out for possible problems such as an accident ahead, or another car that looks like it isn't going to stop, even though you have the right of way. Since you don't have to concentrate on driving, you may notice something before the driver does.

Now this doesn't mean to be a back seat driver, Ms. Morris hastens to explain. But as a passenger you may sometimes see something that could help the driver avert an accident.

One final point to remember

Care Advised In Home Canning To Prevent Botulism Poisoning

Consumers who home can fruits and vegetables were warned by the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to carefully follow recommended canning procedures to avoid botulism poisoning.

Dr. Francis J. Mulhern, chairman of USDA's internal food safety and quality committee and Administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), reported that there have been recent reports of botulism in home canned tomatoes, apparently caused by improper canning procedures. He also cited home canned, low acid vegetables such as corn, peas and green beans as common botulism sources.

According to widely scattered reports, jars and lids made specifically for canning have been difficult to find this year. Nevertheless, Dr. Mulhern strongly advises against rousing lids and cracked or chipped odd-sized or shaped jars. Cracked or chipped jars should never be used for home canning.

"Home canning provides safe, inexpensive, quality products—but only if the fruits and vegetables, and including tomato products have been carefully selected and properly processed," according to Nancy Harvey Steorts, special assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz for consumer affairs. Mrs. Steorts noted that when correctly used, approved home canning methods raise the temperature of fruits and vegetables to sufficient levels for long enough periods of time to keep the products safe from botulism and free of spoilage.

Mrs. Steorts strongly recommended that consumers should follow the following guidelines to help guard against botulism:

— DON'T TAKE SHORTCUTS ON EXPERIMENT IN HOME CANNING. Use only tested, approved methods. A safe guide is USDA's publication, "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables," Home and Garden Bulletin No. 8.

— USE ONLY JARS. Cans AND LIDS MADE ESPECIALLY FOR HOME CANNING. Never use ordinary jars such as mason jars or coffee jars.

— DO NOT REUSE SEALING LIDS. The rubber ring deteriorates easily and prevents a tight seal. Get new rings for 1-piece lids and new metal lids with sealing compound for 2-piece lids.

— DO NOT OVERRIPE FOOD. Products change in chemical composition with age and lose acidity. Make sure the food is of good quality, with no bruises or soft spots.

— DO NOT OVERPACK —never distract the driver. Driving requires complete attention and anything that interferes with the driver's concentration is dangerous.

FOODS. Trying to get too much food into one jar may result in under-processings and spoilage.

— FOLLOW EXACTLY THE TIME AND TEMPERATURE SPECIFICATIONS LISTED IN INSTRUCTIONS. Adjust processing time according to altitude.

— TEST THE SEAL ACCORDING TO INSTRUCTIONS. DO NOT USE CANNED FOODS SHOWING SIGNS OF SPOILAGE. Watch for building lids, leaks, off-odors, off-colors or mold. If in doubt, DON'T TASTE! Destroy out of reach of children and pets.

— FOR ADDED SAFETY, BOIL HOME CANNED VEGETABLES FOR AT LEAST TEN MINUTES BEFORE SERVING.

For additional information on home canning and food safety, Mrs. Steorts advises consumers to consult their County Extension Service, State Experiment Stations, or USDA publications in local public libraries. Further, copies of USDA's publication "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" (Home and Garden Bulletin No. 8) can be purchased by sending 35 cents to: Consumer Information, Public Documents Distribution, Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Pickling is a good way to get increased mileage from a variety of fruits and vegetables, says Marguerite Krackhardt, extension nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

We usually think of just cucumbers being pickled. But, says the specialist, there are a variety of other vegetables as well as fruits that can be used. You can pickle peaches, green tomatoes, okra, squash and beans. You can spice apples, muscadines or crab-apples and use corn, peppers and pears to make relishes.

Many people have the idea that pickle making is difficult, but reading recipes carefully and following their directions is the simple key. The first rule of successful pickling, according to Ms. Krackhardt, is to use only good quality fruits and vegetables. Be sure your produce is fresh, crisp, blemish-free and processed within twenty-four hours after harvest. For best results use high grade cider or white distilled vinegar with standard four to six percent acetic acid. Use up-to-date kitchen tested recipes and don't dilute the vinegar unless the recipe calls for it. Today's vinegar is standardized, says Ms. Krackhardt, so using modern recipes calls for using vinegar that's not too strong or too weak. A weak solution may cause soft, slippery pickles, while a strong one is likely to result in soured, shriveled failures.

Another rule of pickling is to read every recipe carefully. Measure and weigh all ingredients with precision and follow directions exactly.

Choose salt with care, too. For best results use pure granulated salt without iodine or non-caking material. Iodine can cause pickles to darken.

Use fresh whole spices. These assure good flavor and keep pickle products from darkening.

Certain metals may react with acids or salts and cause discoloration or undesirable compounds. Thus it's wise never to use copper, brass, galvanized or iron to heat pickling liquids. For best results heat in aluminum, stainless steel, glass or unchipped enamel containers.

Also, use a boiling water bath to process all pickle products. Heat processing destroys organisms that cause spoilage and activates enzymes that may affect flavor, color and texture.

Finally, store your vegetable or fruit in a cool, dark place. The specialist warns that heat and light reduce color and quality. Later in the year, real enjoyment comes with those first jars of colorful pickles and relishes.

Pickling Hints Listed For Fruits And Vegetables

Fruits and vegetables are in plentiful supply now—in the garden, in grocery stores and at roadside stands. Don't hesitate to pickle or relish these delicious products while they're in season.

TOWN AND COUNTRY TOPICS

Has some of your sweet corn been disappearing lately? By that I mean have the stalks been crushed to the ground and the ears completely eaten up? The chances are that a raccoon could be the varmint that is helping himself to that valuable sweet corn. You might say he really has a hand in your pocket because if you have tried to purchase sweet corn lately you know how valuable it is.

In a recent article of the "Pennsylvania Farmer" several subscribers to the magazine commented on an article written by an editor Norman Reber who stated that electric fences did not turn raccoons away from gardens, especially sweet corn fields. First of all, I would say that if you are going to install an electric fence around your garden make sure it meets full safety code requirements. There are a number of electric fence chargers on the market that do a good job and are relatively safe to use.

One of the weakest points in putting an electric fence around your garden is that the bottom wire should be four inches off the ground. Fast growing weeds will short the fence out, so therefore you must trim underneath the fence quite often. Also wet weather will cause the fence to short out through the insulators because water is a good conductor of electricity.

Okay, I've given you some problems you might have with an electric fence, but here's how a lot of folks space the wire to keep raccoons, ground hogs, rabbits and deer out of their garden: the first wire should be 4-5 inches above the ground. The second wire should be 10-11 inches, the third 16-17 inches and the fourth 24 inches, and the top wire 32 inches. Of course, if you don't have larger animals such as deer bothering your garden you do not need to add the last wire, but don't forget to put up plenty of signs as a warning to folks or children that could accidentally run into the fence. Be sure if you live in the corporate limits of a town or city to check out local regulations concerning the installation of an electric fence on your property.)

The electric fencechargers do not harm the animals in any way except to give them a shock of low voltage electricity which will sting them and hopefully discourage them from approaching the fence.

There are, of course, a lot of beneficial things that wild animals like raccoons do to help the balance of nature. Raccoons, I have been told, are quite rough on the mouse and rat population.

If you have questions on how to construct an electric fence, give the Extension Service a call at 736-1448 and ask for bulletin 224 entitled "Fences for the Farm and Rural Home."

Senior Center Activities

By Sam Short

August is nearly over, summer is going fast and vacation days are also going, and fall is approaching with higher prices taking their toll of senior citizen's pocketbooks. Some are wondering how they are going to get along with the scarcity of living products, also gas for their autos and fuel for heat.

It won't be long before Dec. 12, when the half-hour presentation of the 1974 participation of the Senior Intern Program will be held at the Center here in Harrington; the public is invited, a head count will be made and we urge you to be present.

The members are getting ready for our next bazaar. The date will be announced here in the next issue.

Bowling next Friday, Aug. 30. Put on your bowling shoes, you bowlers, and all meet at the bowling lanes in Milford and see how many pins you can knock down. Bowling time is every Friday at 2 p. m.

Last Thursday, Aug. 22, the seniors were disappointed in not getting to go on the picnic they had planned on account of rain.

They did have a fine time going to Longwood Gardens and seeing the beautiful flowers on Monday, Aug. 19.

The Kitchen Band will resume practice sessions today, Aug. 29. Anyone needing to go to Dover to apply for food stamps, be at the Senior Center at 12:30 p. m. on Sept. 4. Transportation provided.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne W. Holberton, Agricultural Extension Service

What makes up your "food dollar?" If you are the average American shopper you spend $6.06 out of $20.00 for nonfood items at the grocery store. What is the money spent for?

Well this includes paper goods, soaps, pet foods, tobacco products, Beauty aides and health aids, and all other general merchandise such as phonograph records, clothes, toys, camera film, razor blades, insecticides and magazines are also so part of the average market bill.

When you break it down only $13.94 out of each $20.00 spent in the supermarket is for food. That includes fresh meat, fresh fruits and vegetables, dairy products, canned and dried foods, bread and other food items. Beer, wine, and distilled spirits, candy and soft drinks should not be included on the food bill either. True, we drink and eat them but they are not essentially, in fact, they are not needed for good health.

Stop and think, when was the last time you broke down your total bill from the market. This is the only way you can honestly figure out what your true food bill is. Too often we think of our supermarket bill as the total we pay for food. Not true! Instead it's the total we pay for the many products needed to feed our family and keep the house and grounds in running order. Keeping this in mind may help you sharpen your food budget skills.

If you still think you are buying very little other than food at the supermarket, then list each item you have bought after your next visit to the supermarket. Next, put the price of each down and add up the "nonfood" items. You may be quite surprised at the results.

True, prices are high at the food counter but where are they not high? The food we buy today is the best we Americans have ever eaten. It's high quality and nutritious.

Americans enjoy the most nutritious food in the world today, and although we pay more for it today than we did a few years ago, it's still the most reasonably priced in the world. We have the widest variety of foods available of any country

Extension Clothing & Textiles Specialist

Fagoting is an important fashion detail showing up on many blouses and dresses this fall. It has been a long time since the technique has been used in clothing. Now that handwork is highly prized again, you may want to revive this old art.

What is fagoting? Hand fagoting is a type of decorative stitch used to join two finished fabric edges, such as the seams of a garment. Seams thus become a decorative detail. Sometimes bands of contrasting color are joined with the fagoting stitch for trimming.

The most common types of fagoting are either straight or diagonal, depending on the way the hand stitches are formed. Usually the fagoting is done with a heavy thread such as buttonhole twist or embroidery floss.

If you want to add this decorative detail to a garment, finish edges of both pieces to be joined so that now raw edges are present. Then baste the pieces to stiff paper, right side up. Leave a space between the two edges equal to the desired width of the fagoting.

Diagonal fagoting is done the same way as the catch stitch. Work from left to right, inserting the needle perpendicularly into the fabric edge with the thread thrown to the right of the needle. Take care to put the needle into the garment edge in the same way each time.

Straight fagoting is made by working from right to left with a straight stitch. After you pull the stitch taut twist the needle around this thread about three times to make a bar of twisted thread.

You can also simulate fagoting with your sewing machine. Adjust both tensions to a very loose and long stitch. Sew the two garment edges together with this loose stitch. When finished pull the edges apart and press. You will have a seam that resembles fagoting.

It's difficult to tell how to do a particular sewing stitch without a picture or a demonstration. If you are interested in trying this handwork technique, it would be a good idea to get a book which features embroidery stitches and take it from there.

The famous Maryland Imperial Crab recipe was created in honor of Queen Henrietta Marie.

Delaware Waterfowl Seasons Announced For 1974-75

The waterfowl season and bag limits for 1974-75 are announced by the Delaware Division of Fish and Wildlife within the frameworks set by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Basically, seasons and limits will be about the same as last year's general setup. Two very important changes are that opening days will be on Wednesdays, and shooting hours on opening days only will begin at 12:00 noon. The reason for these changes is that the Fish and Wildlife Service offered the states five extra hunting days provided they accept the Wednesday noon openings. Shooting hours for the remainder of the waterfowl seasons will be the usual 1/2 hour before sunrise to sunset prevailing time.

There will again be split seasons for waterfowl this year, and hunters will again be prohibited from taking canvasback and redhead ducks, brant, snow-geese and swans.

The Canada goose season will open on Wednesday, Nov. 6 and close on Saturday, Dec. 7 to reopen on Wednesday, Dec. 11 with a final closing on Friday, Jan. 17. The bag limits on Canadian geese will again be 3 daily and 6 in possession.

The initial season for ducks, coots and mergansers will open coots and mergansers will open on Wednesday, Nov. 6, and close Saturday, Nov. 30. The second season of the duck, coot and merganser season will open Wednesday, Dec. 11, and close Saturday, Jan. 4.

The daily bag and possession limits for ducks will correspond with those of last year. The hunter is limited to 5 ducks daily which shall not include wood ducks. Possession limit is 10 ducks including no more than 2 black ducks and 4 wood ducks. THE SEASON ON CANVASBACK AND REDHEAD IS CLOSED.

In that part of the Delaware Bay and coastal waters east of U. S. Highway 13 from the Pennsylvania state line to Dover and east of U. S. Highway 113 from Dover to State Highway 26, the hunter may take a bonus of 2 scaup daily and 4 in possession in addition to bag limits on all other ducks during the regular duck season. The hunter will also enjoy a bonus of blue-winged teal of 2 daily and 4 in possession during the period from Nov. 6 to Nov. 14 in addition to limits on all other ducks.

Hunters may again take 15 coots daily with a possession limit of 30. The 1974-75 bag limits on mergansers remains 5 daily and 10 in possession, of which only 1 daily and 2 in possession may be hooded mergansers.

Jackie Williams Wins 2 Events In Upstate Track

Jackie Williams, a tiny 13-year-old Canterbury lass, has made her debut in the running game by covering 15 miles in two and a half hours in the AFS Walkathon in May.

She did well in the Dover summer meets, then made her first Wilmington start on Wednesday. Jackie won the 220-yard dash and the long jump, while taking the runnerup spot in the 100.

Jackie Guyton made it a one-two Lake Forest finish in the long jump, then annexed the high jump with a leap of three feet, 10 inches.

Dale Benson, 11, took home three awards. He was third in the 50 and second in both the 220 and shotput.

Spartan grad Ron Mosley was first in the 14-17 mile run in 4:51.7. Lake Forest junior Harry "Smooth" Benson closed fast to record 4:52.1.

David Richter and Dan Parker, both 14, clocked 5:05 and 5:07, respectively, for fourth and fifth places to give Lake Forest athletes four of the first five finishes.

Area thinclads have had a most successful spring and summer and hope to run well this autumn.

Beene Family Has Reunion

The Beene family held its reunion last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cagle on Highway 13 near Harrington. Cagle family members included Jerry, Randy, Donald, Judy, Barbara and Gary.

Representing the Beene family were Mr. and Mrs. James L. Beene, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Beene and daughter Sandy, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Beene, Jr., and Missy Beene, Jeff and Bobby Beene.

Mrs. Ralph Combs and Jeanie Nash attended with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knight and children, Glen, Alan and Bunky. Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart also attended the reunion with their sons, Bruce and Terry.

Other relatives and friends included Neil Kemmy, Patsy Hubbard, Ralein Porter, Mrs. Betty Hopkins, Mrs. Janice George, Mrs. Anis Keller, Charlene and Lisa Keller, Mrs. Tyla Domery and Trena, and Harry Spicer.

Presen from Hixson, Tenn., were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Green and daughter, Teresa, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Green and son, Billy.

During the day, several friends of the Beene family dropped by to say "hello" or play a game of horseshoes.

Asbury Women Meet Tuesday

The United Methodist Women of Asbury Church will meet in the Collins Building on Tuesday, Sept. 3, at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. William Brode will be in charge of the program for the evening. The Lydia Circle will serve as hostesses. Mrs. Guy Winebrenner, leader.

TEACHERS

20 on the secondary level." On this basis a school district was to receive a teacher's salary and additional money to cover the cost of maintenance of a classroom and its building.

"However," he added, "classroom teachers in Lake Forest District are carrying about 34 students per period on a six-period day." The reason, he explained, was because the initial law made no provision to exclude librarians, guidance counselors and other special programs in determining the student ratio per class.

Under proposed HB 711, two general areas of concern are included beside teachers' salaries. Students would be dropped at a rate of one per year, over a three-year period. In effect, this proposal would mean dropping the elementary class size from 25 to 22 by 1978, but it would have no bearing on high school class size. If approved, the bill would also make more state money available in all districts for educational programs.

Testerman was also concerned about the public reaction to the "average" teaching salary in Delaware. "People have the impression," he said, "that all teachers with a college degree and 10 years experience are getting $10,000, and it is just not the real situation. "Downstate teachers are working for considerably less because they know that their district can't afford larger salaries from the local tax base. In essence the 'average' state figure is higher than the highest figure for the same job in downstate areas," he said.

Although the final decision could be postponed until Sept. 4 when teachers have staff meetings in various districts, the crucial issue is whether the teachers will implement "job action" or accept the terms of the committee's compromise, thereby withholding further action until the legislature meets in January.

"Technically," Testerman concluded, "following January's session, there is nothing which would legally prevent the legislature from later repealing the state allocated funds for teacher salary increases, but," he added, "teachers have enough political influence that it wouldn't be very likely."

Mr. Harry Gilbert spent part of last week with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Corthell Mitchell of Havre De Grace.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Adams of near Greenwood were recent Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. August Breeding.
