

Greenwood Builder To Get Zoning Hearing

The Sussex Planning and Zoning Commission has reversed itself on a decision to deny a hearing on conditional use permit revision to John M. Mervine.

In late July the commission told Mervine, a Greenwood modular home builder, that he would have to remove a model home from his factory site before it would hold hearings on his request to revise the conditional use permit for the site. The commission considered the model home a violation of his current permit.

Roland L. Derrickson, director of the planning and zoning office, said Monday the commission's attorney advised that the hearing could not be denied under the present circumstances. It has now been scheduled for Oct. 10, but the commission has not yet filed a complaint in court regarding the alleged zoning infraction, the county's only legal recourse.

Mervine has had to at least partially remove one structure at the insistence of the county. In addition, his latest move to have the property rezoned for light industry was ignored by the county council.

The conditional use permit Mervine is now seeking is more general than the ones he has received in the past, according to Derrickson. He said the current application would allow Mervine to build whatever structures were needed within the conditional use regulations to conduct his business. In the past, Mervine has had to be specific about what buildings would be built and where they would be located on the property.

There have been protestors at every Mervine permit hearing, about noise, traffic and what they believe will be unacceptable increases in the size of the operation given the general character of the area. However, Mervine also has received support from some Greenwood area businessmen who have pointed out the importance of the factory to the area's economy.

State Teachers Approve Contract With 8% Hike

Tuesday Delaware teachers accepted new contract proposals, including an 8 percent pay hike effective Jan. 1, worked out with Gov. Sherman W. Tribbitt and his staff.

The Delaware State Education Association conducted votes in each school district and a spokesman for the teachers said the vote was about 4 to 1 in favor of the proposals.

DSEA officials had previously insisted on a 10 percent pay hike to start in January. Tribbitt's latest proposal was a 7 percent January-to-June raise, plus at least 3 percent more for next year. The DSEA previously rejected the initial offer of an 8 percent hike.

According to DSEA leaders their members are taking strong political action to ensure that legislators elected Nov. 5 will also support the important measures contained in the package.

Those measures include: • The establishment of a governor's task force, involving the DSEA, charged with developing and implementing a cost-of-living adjuster for all state employees.

Tribbitt announced on Monday the establishment of that task force, whose recommendations will be ready for the General Assembly when it reconvenes at its normal session April 1, 1975.

• Assurances that the governor and legislative leaders will support legislation for reduced elementary school class sizes.

Levy Court Seeks Disaster Relief For Kent County

Kent County Levy Court moved Tuesday to have the county declared a disaster area to aid farmers hurt by this summer's drought.

Commissioner William Paskey, Jr., D-Felton, made the plea and the motion was passed almost without discussion. With the county declared a disaster area and recognized as such by the federal government, farmers would be eligible for low-interest federal loans to compensate somewhat for poor crop yields.

According to Paskey, in order to qualify for assistance, a farmer must meet specific criteria established by the government. Sussex County Council passed a similar resolution this summer and their request reportedly has been held up in Gov. Sherman W. Tribbitt's office pending action by Kent County.

Skyrocketing Inflation Leaves Many Home Owners Underinsured

Do you know what it would cost you to replace your house today?

Before you answer, consider how long ago you tried to make such an estimate. Even if it was as little as a year ago, your figures probably are out of date, according to Insurance Information Institute. A brief look at some elements of the Consumer Price Index (CPI) of the U. S. Department of labor shows why.

For instance, these statistics show that $100 worth of construction in 1967 would have cost $171 in July, 1974, an increase of more than 70 per cent. Later CPI figures for specific areas of home construction and maintenance paint an even darker picture.

For instance, $100 worth of house maintenance and repairs in 1967 would have cost $174.10 in July, 1974. Figures for the same period show that the cost had risen to $154.90 for the commodities used in house maintenance and repair... $182.40 for the services needed in house maintenance and repair; $192.40 for repainting living and dining rooms; $200.30 for reshingling roofs; and $172.90 for residing houses.

With these skyrocketing costs, the Institute says that you may find yourself faced with repair and construction costs that far exceed your insurance coverage. This would be particularly true if you have not checked your coverages for several years.

This spiraling inflation has been aggravated by the shortage of petroleum, which is a necessary ingredient in and the basic primary fuel used for the production of such things as heating and electrical insulation, plumbing materials and roof tiles.

It is surprising how many home owners fail to realize that their insurance protection is inadequate. An analysis of fire losses on homes in one state, for example, reveals that only one home owner in three carried enough insurance to cover even one-half the replacement value of his house.

Most persons who own their own homes have them insured under a special package policy commonly called a homeowners policy. This policy is also available to those persons who rent homes or apartments and thus need insurance only on their personal property or to protect them against liability which they may incur as the result of anyone being injured in their home.

Within the package of coverages in the homeowners policy is a clause called the replacement cost provision. This provision gives the property owner an added advantage when it comes to claims for partial damages to his house. If he carries insurance at 80 per cent of the replacement cost or more (in the case of a $30,000 home this would be $24,000) claims involving damage to the building are settled on the basis of the full cost of replacing or repairing. In other words, no deductions would be made for depreciation, as is customary in settling insurance losses.

If his insurance equals less than 80 per cent of value, he will receive less than replacement cost but in no event less than actual value (replacement cost less depreciation).

To illustrate further how the replacement cost provision works, let's see how it would apply to a specific situation.

Assume that painting and other interior decorating in a house has a life of 10 years. Also assume that smoke damages the interior of a house decorated five years earlier. Under the replacement cost provision, the full costs of repainting and re-decorating would be paid by the insurance company. Without the provision, the insurance company would pay only one-half of the loss because the value of the decorating would have depreciated to one-half of its original value.

The amount of coverage you purchase on your dwelling becomes the basis for determining amounts of coverage which are automatically assigned to apartment private structures (garage), personal property and additional living expenses while your house is being repaired.

If you have chosen the broad form of the homeowners policy and your house is insured for at least 80 per cent of its replacement value (in this example $24,000), your other private structures are now insured for $2,400 (10 per cent of the dwelling); your personal property for $12,000 (50 per cent of the dwelling); and you have an allowance of $4,800 (20 per cent of the dwelling) for additional living expenses you may incur if you're forced to find temporary housing after a fire.

If you are not sure of the replacement cost of your home, the Institute suggests that you have your insurance agent give you the name of someone who can appraise it and provide you with this useful information.

Family Reunion

The Vogl family of Mastens Corner held a family reunion on Sunday, September 29. The rain and inclement weather caused the dinner party to be held inside. Some 40 members of this family were in attendance travelling as far as New Jersey. The oldest, Otto Vogl of Lewes, was also in attendance.

Harrington's Firemen To Hold Open House

The local volunteer firefighters will kick off their annual fund drive with an open house — apparatus demonstration on Sunday, Oct. 6, in the W. T. Chipman Junior High School parking lot on Center Street here.

To be demonstrated in the display will be the equipment used in emergency ambulance, rescue and firefighting calls. Also scheduled are the Delaware State Police helicopter, a Hurst tool demonstration, an ambulance and fire truck demonstration, as well as a visit by Smokey the Bear for the children.

This is the only time during the year the firemen ask for blanket community support. They also hold other money-making projects throughout the year in order to maintain the most up-to-date equipment needed to handle emergencies.

In 1973 the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company responded to 87 fire alarms involving 1708 men in service, 1865 man hours in service, an average of 22 men per alarm, 1193 miles traveled, 4350 feet of hose laid and used, and all fire trucks were put into service 192 times.

TO DATE in 1974 the volunteers have responded to 73 fire alarms, the new ambulance (A-50) has made 269 emergency runs; the backup ambulance (B-50) has made 67 emergency runs, with both ambulances responding several times simultaneously, and five rescue trips have been made with the rescue truck.

In July alone this year the fire company responded to 11 fire alarms with 242 men in service averaging 25 men per alarm, traveling 130 miles and using 172 man hours in controlling these alarms.

ED. NOTE: The statistics above are representative of the hours logged by the members of the organization. It is all voluntary work and the hours spent in training and learning new methods of operating the newest equipment are extras not listed. Nor is the dedication or courage needed. Their presence in our community is a comforting factor. The type and amount of firefighting equipment even has a bearing on the cost of fire insurance on an individual's property. That might be a thought to remember the next time the alarm sounds at 2:30 a. m. on a cold, rainy night. They aren't asking for handouts—they deserve the support.

Be on hand Sunday to see the demonstration of equipment at our disposal and also to learn how to help Prevent Fires At Home.

Attendance And Betting Records Shattered Sunday At Raceway

Betting amounts and attendance records were broken on Sunday evening at Harrington Raceway according to Raceway President Herman C. Brown. The crowd of 4,077 wagered $251,766 which topped the old mark by $50,000.

The crowd was lured to the Kent County oval by the feature race of the evening which was the Fashion Two-Twenty Free-For-All Pace with a purse of $10,000. This was the largest purse ever offered at Harrington Raceway. Six top pacers from around the country vied for the top prize money. To Ri's Boy, the 3-year-old champion gelding owned by Frank Milby of Cordova, Maryland, was the early favorite. Running into traffic problems throughout the race and being bumped at the stretch turn caused him to go off stride for a few strides. Piloted by Eddie Davis, To Ri's Boy came back on pace to come down the stretch like a runaway steam engine. He was nipped at the wire by Bret's Knight who had led the entire mile. Time for the mile was 2:01.4 for driver Jimmy Larente. At the start of the race, the race announcer gave notice to the crowd and the drivers that a $1,000 bonus had been offered to the driver who could break the track record. The track was off slightly, but the time for the mile was 3/5's off the record.

Some 300 representatives of Fashion Two-Twenty traveled by chartered buses to the Raceway for "their night". Many of the representatives had never seen a horse race... they sure got one Sunday. Fashion Two-Twenty, the nationally recognized cosmetic firm is owned by Herman Gockneur, who is the proud owner of Susie Flame. His horse started in the feature race and was driven by Herve Fillion. The showing of Mr. Fillion was to have been an impressive one with the thought that he might have captured number 5000 wins thus putting the Harrington oval on "the map". He was shut out in all twelve races... which goes to show you that you cannot predict what will happen at the races. All in all it was a successful night in harness racing.

Racing resumed Wednesday night and this week's card will feature the 4-year-old trotting stake on Saturday night, which will be part of the Delaware Standardbred Development Fund.

Phone Company Uses New Alloys

A new family of metal alloys that make more efficient use of our widely used and rapidly depleting natural resources, copper, has been developed at Bell Telephone Laboratories.

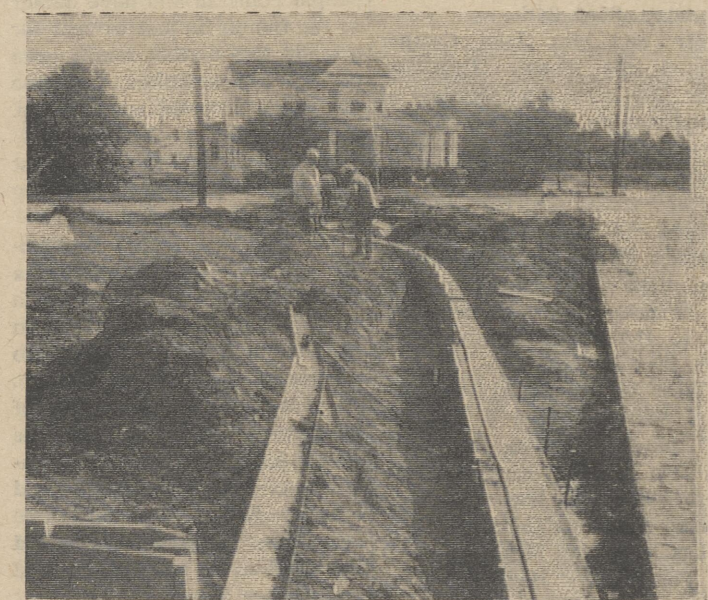

The Bell System uses about 25,000,000 pounds of copper alloys annually in manufacturing relays and connectors for central offices and telephones.

The alloys (made of copper, nickel, and tin) are stronger, easier to form and cheaper than existing materials.

Charles H. Griffith

Charles H. Griffith, 68, of School St., Houston, died last Thursday at Milford Memorial Hospital after a heart attack. Mr. Griffith retired in 1970 as an engineer for Swift & Co. in Felton. He was a past chief of the Felton Fire Company. He is survived by his wife, Ethel Ward Griffith; a son, Joseph of Felton; two daughters, Thelma Moore of Milford and Shirley Hurd of Viola; and seven grandchildren.

Services were Tuesday afternoon at 2 at the Berry Funeral Home, Main St. Felton. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington.

REESE AVENUE RESURFACING begins this week by Warren Bros. Construction Co. Looking south on Commerce St., workmen are seen installing the new curbing at the intersection of Commerce St. and Reese Ave. The lot to the left of the workmen is owned by J. Edward Taylor, who donated a portion of the lot to the city in order for the corner to be straightened out. Now traffic turning off Reese Ave. onto Commerce St. will be able to make the turn more effectively. This portion of the job takes a great deal more time for there is more engineering involved. After this part of the job is completed, the resurfacing will begin for Reese Ave., which will be covered with four inches of asphalt tapered to the sides with two inches.

Reasons Cited In Tatro's Dismissal

Clifton L. Tatro, who was fired last month from his job as Woodbridge High School principal, has been informed of the five offenses used by the district board for his dismissal.

When Tatro was fired by the board Sept. 24, the specific charges were not made public.

They are: —Allowing at least three students to skip a mandatory course, thereby endangering their graduation. —Pressuring a teacher with charges of insubordination and recommending the teacher's suspension if he failed to meet Tatro's requirements. —Approving an athletic team trip and then criticizing the coach before a State Department of Public Instruction official for allowing the team to illegally participate in an athletic event on the trip.

—Not properly preparing for the high school's graduation ceremonies.

—Failing to avoid a deficit in the yearbook fund. The board concluded that none of the five offenses warranted the termination of Tatro's contract, but taken as a whole justified the dismissal.

Tatro has until next week to file an appeal with the State Department of Public Instruction. He has said he will do this.

National 4-H Week Set

Members of the Greenwood High Flyers 4-H Club helped bring in this scrap aluminum as part of a Sussex County 4-H recycling project. Club members also collect old newspapers, magazines and cardboard.

plants, maintain his or her own bike, keep bees, train a dog, preserve foods, make a piece of furniture, collect insects or raise a cow—4-H could well be for them. If these projects don't appeal, there are plenty of others to choose from.

Young people today don't have to live on a farm to belong to 4-H, says Baker. In fact, out of Delaware's present 2,697 members, less than 500 come from farms. Wilmington has its own urban 4-H agents now. And a new emphasis successfully introduced in Sussex county this summer is on what's known as community resource development or CRD. This can involve young people in litter clean-up campaigns in their communities, special services to the elderly, developing public recreation areas and conducting bike safety programs, among other things.

Delaware has some 99 4-H clubs now, serving boys and girls ages 9-19. Kids join for the fellowship and for the chance to master skills that interest them. To give them a hand 353 men and women serve as volunteer leaders and project assistants. And some 391 junior leaders (mostly 4-Hers or former 4-Hers) also help out as volunteers.

National 4-H Week this year will be October 6-12. Delaware club members will be joining others across the U. S. to celebrate the event. If you know a youngster who might be interested in 4-H, this might be a good time to find out more about it, suggests Baker. A call to your county extension office in Newark, Dover or Georgetown will put you in touch with the 4-H agent nearest you.

Registrations are now being accepted for enrollment in the "New Lease on Life" Program being sponsored by the Delaware Heart Association and the University of Delaware's Home Economics Extension Service. The program is scheduled to begin on Tuesday, October 15th at the University Teaching Center, Columbia and Fairview Avenue, Dover. The classes are designed for people having physical limitations who are interested in managing their home situation using the most of the potential they have. ... but win the game early ...

Through the first three games of the football season for Lake Forest Spartans the team has shown moments of spark only to fade fast with the game ending in a lopsided score.

Sometimes when things appear to be rather hectic and you cannot determine the real cause for things going wrong, it is always best to sit back and carefully evaluate your problem situation.

This week the team faces Dover Air Falcons, and what has been billed as the "game" Lake Forest can win will be another disappointment unless the players (each and every one) employs the positive attitude toward winning.

The old adage of "... it isn't whether you win or lose, but how you play the game" ... has its place, but to that we should add "... score early and contain your opponent" ... thereby win the game ... you deserve it.

By W. Cliff Miller

Last Sunday a week ago (Sept. 22nd) marked the 65th wedding anniversary for Mollie and me when we were honored by our daughter Betty and Tom Clarke, who arranged a joyous auto trip and dinner with their family at the Red Fox Lounge at Bel-Air, Md., where our granddaughter Marianne teaches school.

We are both in exceptionally good health for such advanced age, she 82 and me 85, largely because our children have followed the Good Book in "honoring thy parents that their days may be many," which is borne out in the following:

TO A VERY SPECIAL MOTHER AND DAD ON THEIR 65TH ANNIVERSARY

Some children do not realize How deeply parents care ... How much they give of time and love ... How willingly they share. Children do not understand Until they're fully grown What wise and patient guidance These two have always shown.

With all our love, Betty and Tom

Letter To The Editor

1107 Linda Road Darley Woods Wilmington, Del. Sept. 30, 1974.

Dear Editor: United States Commissioner Sidney P. Marland has described gifted children as "among the most neglected of those persons with special educational needs—particularly if they come from minority or disadvantaged groups."

Our schools deal with exceptional children of all kinds, but gifted children are largely ignored in spite of the fact that many of them could make significant contributions to society. Only too often will their potentials remain unrecognized — a tragic waste of what may be our most precious national resource!

I am attempting to organize a statewide organization for parents, educators, and others interested in the education of gifted and talented children. If you would like to participate please write to:

To Citizens of Harrington

On October 6 the Harrington Volunteer Fire Co. begins their Annual Fund Appeal. As Chairman for the 1974 campaign it is imperative to thank the community of Harrington for the financial support we received in 1973.

As Fund Appeal Chairman for 1974, I ask that you give some very serious thought to our appeal letter when it is received this year. Nobody is more aware of the inflation running rampant throughout the country and our community than I am.

To coin a popular phrase, "We've come a long way, baby!" However, we've still got a rugged road ahead. Consider our strong points and I sincerely think you will consider us an asset to the community and worthy of a donation to the 1974 Fund Appeal.

Cub Scout News

Cub Scout Pack 76 will participate this Saturday, October 5, in the third annual Fun Day sponsored by the Mid-Del District at Killens Pond State Park from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. This event will be the first district activity for the new Cubs and leaders who joined Pack 76 in its recent registration period.

The plants for Fun Day include a parade of area Cub Scout Packs, an array of carnival booths set up and manned by individual packs, and a series of competitive events. Games such as the pole balance and the sack race will involve intra-pack competition. But over the obstacle course, not only will each boy pit himself against other Cubs in his pack, but each pack will be matching its total time against that of other participating packs.

Although the activities do not begin until 10 a. m., Cubs are expected to arrive at 9:30 to register and line up for the parade. Uniform patches will be awarded those boys who participate.

Fun Day is a family affair, and the general public is invited to attend. There is no admission fee. Picnic lunches can be brought, or refreshments can be bought.

Lining up with Pack 76 on Saturday will be a number of new Cubs and leaders. They are as follows:

Den 1: Mrs. Marian Martin-Den Mother, Mrs. JoAnne Galentine-Assistant; New Cub-David Reiden.

Den 2: Mrs. Susie Silbereisen-Den Mother, Mrs. Norma Donato-Assistant; New Cubs-Ricky Martin, Scott Dill, Jay Callahan, Danny Gallatin, Jeffrey Muelheisen.

Den 3: Mrs. Pat Lord, assistant last year, is the new Den Mother; Mrs. Kaye Sapp remain as her assistant. Also helping will be Mrs. Vivian Dill. New Cubs: John Donato, Joe Wilkinson, David Marvel.

Den 4: Mrs. Janet Marvel-Den Mother, Mrs. Wanda F. Hannum-Assistant; New Cubs: William Bader, Scott Holland, Chris Bader, Clifton Wyatt, Dennis Dean, Ralph Benson.

Other new Cubs are Todd Collosion and Steve Layton, Michael Shaw is expected to be the Webelos leader, and Warren Bader, his assistant. Registration remains open. As a part of the Governor's Round-Up, any Cub who gets another boy to join Cub Scouts from now until December 1 will be awarded a leather patch for his uniform.

In addition to the Fun Day activities, Pack 76 is planning to sell Christmas bows and to hold a Halloween party at its October pack meeting.

"A recent food sale netted our auxiliary $179.30 toward our goal, and we've a long way to go," added Mrs. Bogan.

In this rural area the tanker is essential to successful fire fighting. Recently it was much appreciated by residents of Big Stone Beach when a cottage there was destroyed by fire. But for the immediate availability of the full tanker, several nearby cottages may have been lost.

Tickets for the dance, $7.00 a couple, are available at the Mills Brothers Markets, 1 and 2, or by calling 335-5998 or 335-3520.

School Cafeteria on Saturday, October 12, 9 p. m. - 1 p. m. (BYOB). Music will be furnished by Forrest under the leadership of James Frazier of Magnolia.

Auxiliary President Louise Bogan said: "It is our goal to raise $1000 to help defray the cost of a new well which will be drilled at our Fire Company's sub-station. This well will enable our firemen to fill their 6000 gallon tanker, one of the largest in lower Delaware, at their own station. Our men must now drive either to Milford or to a generous farmer's irrigation site to have the tank filled and readied for the next emergency.

"With people conserving electricity, why do electric companies keep building new power plants?"

Your wise use of electricity has helped the electric companies stretch power supplies and meet current needs.

But there will not be enough electricity to meet tomorrow's needs, much less those of the year 2000, unless we build many more power plants than we have today.

We'll need all the additional electricity to keep up with this country's growing population. Millions of young people are now entering the job market each year.

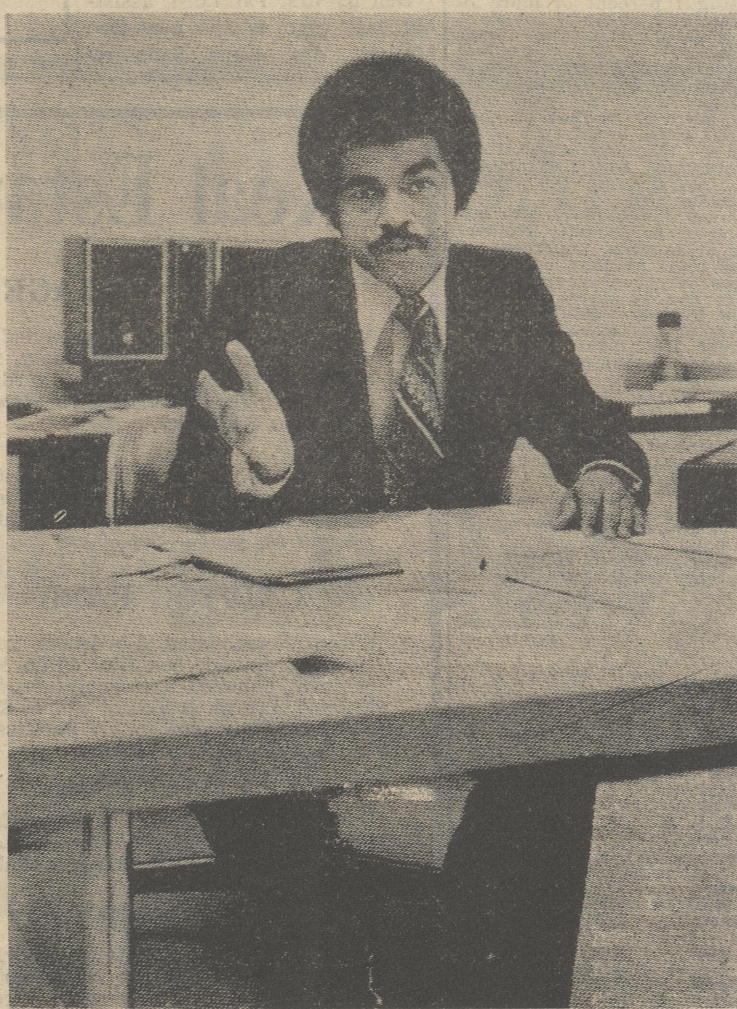

And there will be a million and a half new Americans born this year, even with the decline in the birth rate. Twenty years from now, they'll be looking for jobs that depend on electricity, as well as buying products and services that do.

Cleaning up the environment is going to take a lot of energy, too. Just about every major environmental project requires an enormous amount of electric power. One sewage treatment plant, for example, can use as much electric power as thousands of homes.

Other expanding uses for electricity include rapid transit systems, new homes, new hospitals, new schools, and more.

If there is to be enough electricity to satisfy all these growing energy needs, and to meet rising standards of living, we must build more power plants and build them soon. Plants that conserve this country's valuable petroleum resources by making better use of abundant fuels like coal and uranium.

Electricity can do the job, but first we must make sure that there will be enough of it.

There will be a Soybean Open House at the Georgetown Substation on October 9th from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. During the past summer researchers at the Georgetown Substation have worked with soybeans and you will have an opportunity to see the results. You will observe soybean varieties, weed control, disease and insect control, different row spacings, and research work on corn with regard to irrigation and soil amendment. At 11 a. m. we will inspect the Johnsongrass plots where a program of chemical control has been applied and is working successfully.

Frank Webb, Associate Crops Specialist, and Dick Georger with the Department of Agriculture, have been cooperating to provide Delaware farmers with a very good program of Johnsongrass control on soybean fields. As you know, Johnsongrass is a very serious weed problem (many control programs have been recommended) but the program now in effect will give excellent results if carried out for three years. Rather than go into program details at this time I suggest that you call your Extension office and we will be glad to provide you with a fact sheet and make an on the spot inspection to determine the seriousness of your Johnsongrass infestation.

The seeding of small grain has started in Delaware. Many farmers think that if the seed they plant is treated, it will take care of most of the disease in that crop. This is not true.

Some seeds are treated only with an insecticide that will control insects attacking the seed while it is in the bag. Other insecticides keep insects from attacking the seed when it is placed in the ground. Lindane on corn seed will help keep insects from attacking the seed when it is placed in the ground. Malathion will help control insects from attacking the seed while in storage. Some seed lots are treated with fungicides to control the diseases carried on the outside of the seed. The same disease organism may be in the soil or on plant residue left in the field and will attack the young seedlings as it emerges from the seed or at a later stage in the life of the plant. The fungicide treatments have a tendency to lose their effectiveness once the seedling gets into the larger environmental away from the seed. Such diseases as Scab, Powdery mildew, Scald, root and crown rots, leaf and glume blotch and others may be carried on the seed but more frequently live over in the soil and on old soil plant residue. For this reason seed treatment is not the only control measure although it is important. Crop rotation, sanitation, resistant varieties and properly treated seed are all control measures that must be considered.

tical basics; but gray, beige, brown or navy can be used. He further advises to beware of bright colors except in accessories. The bright dress always stands out and one tends to tire of it quickly if you must wear clothes several seasons.

Plan your purchases and buy only what you need. A few interchangeable parts can combine into many different outfits. Avoid extremes in fashion.

Halston tells us that the correct look today is the conservative, affluent approach to dressing and that clothing should not be obvious. The time has passed when women want to wear their wealth on their backs. That's a comforting thought to those of us who don't have much wealth to spend.

It Seems To Me

By Janet Reed
Is your budget too tight for a new wardrobe this fall? Halston, one of the foremost designers in the United States, gives this advice. He says that you don't need to buy a whole wardrobe, but select a few-up-to-the-minute items to add to the wearable garments you already own.

His idea of "a few wearable garments" may be different from ours, but he suggests the first addition should be a skirt in one of the below-the-knee styles. The skirt could be a slim-wrap skirt for the straight-hip figure or a flared style if the body needs a bit of disguise. He suggests that this skirt be worn with a more feminine style of shoe.

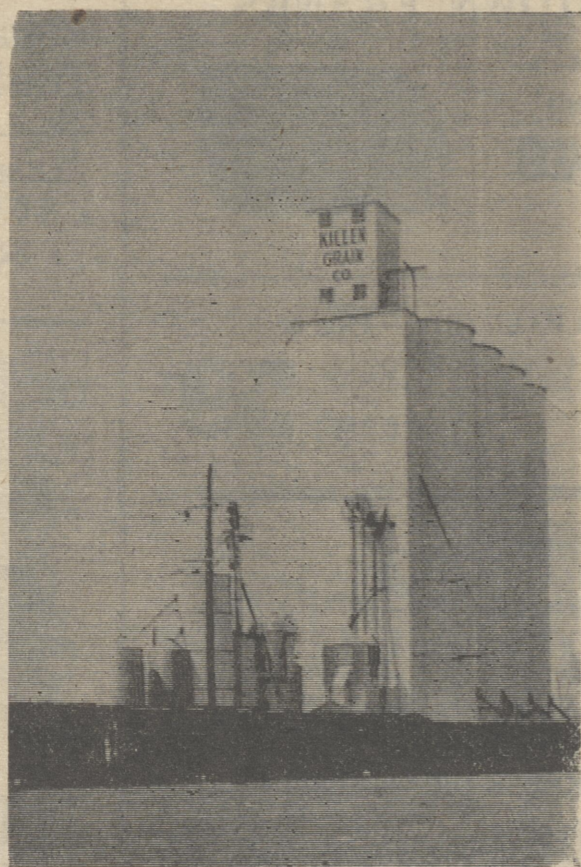

If this is your year to buy a coat, the designer suggests that a longer, all-purpose coat can be worn both day and night. He says the long length as any length below the knee that is becoming to the wearer. He says the length makes a pantsuit look new and looks equally well with skirts and dresses. The coat should have a little more ease, giving a fuller proportion to the figure. He also suggests that you might want to add a longer scarf or muffler, one of this winter's most obvious fashion accessories.

Another addition to the wardrobe could be a one-piece dress. Halston says the one-piece dress is easy to get into and always looks orderly. Some women find it difficult to put several pieces together successfully. The dress should have a bias-type skirt that has movement and it should come below the knee.

For evening, Halston says the ankle-length dress look pretty and new.

He gives some practical advice that thrifty women have always followed. He says to pick a basic color scheme and plan all items around the basic color. Black is one of the most prac-

Coach Al Wood of Lake Forest protests a call to Referee Jeff Reed of Dover. The disputed call was the result of a seemingly fair catch signal by a Caesar Rodney player in Friday's game. When the Lake Forest players did not stop the CR player, the result was a tremendous gain for CR and set up the first score for CR.

Caesar Rodney, 49; Lake Forest, 7

A strong Caesar Rodney eleven with a 34-0 halftime lead, aided by a 28-point second period, laced Lake Forest by a 49-7 score last Friday evening. The Riders led, 49-0, before Spartan Leon Shockley tallied from one yard out in the fourth period. Russell Dill kicked the extra point.

Lake Forest is 0-3 at this writing and time is running out on the locals. This week's contest, Saturday afternoon at Dover Air, represents the best chance Lake Forest will have this year to win.

Leon Shockley, John Pickett and Russell Dill on occasion picked up a few yards for the Spartans during the first three periods. One promising drive ended on a fumble at the C.R. 28-yard mark.

Meanwhile, quarterback Kevin Howard and speedster Norman Hahn had a field day. Hahn, a 9.9 sprinter, tallied four times. Howard scored once and passed for two scores.

This writer saw part of the Smyrna-Dover Air contest Saturday. The Falcons' aerial game enabled them to stay closer, at 29-14, to Smyrna than did Lake Forest, a 28-0 loser to Smyrna earlier.

This suggests that a hard, united effort will be necessary if the Spartans are to win this battle between winless teams.

LF Harriers Down Cape Henlopen

Joe Voshell led Lake Forest to an easy 19-44 victory over Cape Henlopen in the Henlopen Conference dual meet cross-country opener for both squads.

Voshell's 13:05 clocking for the 2.4-mile Killens Pond course was three seconds better than second-place Vince Lewis of the Vikings and Harry Benson of Lake Forest.

To illustrate the large part that determination plays in cross-country, Lewis, who was 16th in the Lake Forest invitational, to Bensons' third, came with fire in his eyes, aiming to run with the leaders for a change. Voshell finally shook the stubborn Viking near the finish.

Lewis, a 51-second quarter-miler and 440-yard state champion in track, never realized how good he could be in the longer stuff. He does now.

Terry Pettyjohn, Kit Tilghman, Ed Thompson, Dan Parker and Bob Mullane, all of Lake Forest, were next. Thompson's outing was his best of 1974.

and Herb Jarrell made it 16 Spartans in the top 20.

Ken Sudler (15:31), Jeff Kashner, Terry Phelps, Dana May, and Jerry Miller led the Chipman School team.

Benson Sets Course Record In Dover Meet

Jim Blades' Lake Forest High cross-country team defeated the second best Henlopen Conference team, Dover Air, 22-33, on Monday afternoon.

Harry Benson cut 10 seconds off the Dover Air course record, running 2.8 miles in 14:49. Former record-holder, Falcon Joe Stillwell, was also under the old standard in 14:57. Spartan Joe Voshell was close in 15:02.

An outstanding display of courage was the effort of Terry Pettyjohn. Sometimes a slow starter the Frederica lad jumped out in front and led for at least a half mile. At two miles he was back in fifth place, but gradually overhauled Palmisano of Dover Air, then outkicked the Falcon for fourth place in an excellent 15:07.

Dan Parker (sixth) and Kit Tilghman (eighth) finished off the Falcons' chances. Bob Kashner had his most encouraging start, after being ill for at least two weeks.

Low score wins in cross-country. The first five runners of each school score points for their team in this fashion. Benson scored one point for Lake Forest; Stillwell, two points for Dover Air, etc.

Scoring: Stillwell, 2nd; Palmisano, 5th; Ridgway, 7th; Warner, 9th; Musson, 10th. Dover Air total—33.

Benson, 1st; Voshell, 3rd; Pettyjohn, 4th; Parker, 6th; Tilghman, 8th. Lake Forest total—22. Lake Forest also won the junior varsity race, 16-47, as Craig Kashner was first in 16:40, followed by teammates George Gibbs, John Moffett, Charles Hats Off!

Some weeks back this publisher wrote about Frank Robinson as a good choice for the first black manager for major league baseball.

It appears that the Cleveland Indians Baseball Club is on the verge of making Robble manager of that club. The effect of this will be monumental, as it was when Jackie Robinson broke the color barrier with the old Brooklyn Dodgers.

Our congratulations to the Cleveland club and to Frank Robinson, a solid baseball man.

Scott, Daniels (Dover Air), Herb Jarrell, Cliff Ayres, Eugene Butler, Ken Sudler, Jaff Kashner and Mark Miller, this last trio from W. T. Chipman. Other Spartans in the top 20 were John Nickle, Gary Kashner, Rick Woodward, Walter Bishop, Kelly Woodward and Steve Hamsher.

Twelve-year-old Mark Miller has always had breathing problems. Just coming off a bout with a chest cold, he was in seventh place of 43 runners at 2½ miles. A quartet of older Spartans edged by him in the last quarter of a mile, but the plucky seventh grader, who ran in stocking feet, finished only seven seconds back of seventh spot.

Harrington Bowling League

By Leah S. Wheeler

Taylor & Messick spread their Lead in the Harrington Business Bowling League Tuesday night by walking away with four points from Wally's Garage. Snooky Collins hit 201 and 210 for a 571 series to lead the T. & M. squad to victory.

Charlie Brown rolled a 224 game to pace Butler's Fuel to a three-point win over Dur-A-Clean, with Ron Wright and Larry Larimore helping. Roy Porter bowled very well for the losers.

The Spoilers' Bruce Harrington bowled a 213 game and 557 series and Jack Sapp added a 205 single and 518 set with the team collecting three points from Fry's American. Leroy Wheeler had a 552 for Fry's.

Quillen's Market jumped to a big lead in the offset of their match against Big John's Son and came out on the winning side of a three-to-one verdict. Dennis Pase and Don Wilson were outstanding for Quillen's. John Powell collected a 200 game with Mike and Bill Kobel adding good efforts for the losers.

Robert Dennis hit a 220 game and 515 series and Chris Moore added a 523 series for Brothers Five, although the squad dropped three points to the T. & M. Rejects. Jimmy Messick, Jr. Bishop and Ricky Welch bowled well for the Rejects.

Dallas Hayman set the pace for Jarrell's Fuel as he collected a 564 series and Sheldon Hayman added a 204 game and 528 set as the Fuelers swept all four points from Penn Central. Donald Butler was top man for the Railroaders.

The Harrington Moose squad took three points from People's Restaurant as Paul Foulkrod, Dick Clegg and Alan Baker were high to give the Moose enough extra strength to overcome their opponents.

Leon Grodkiewicz rolled a 207 and Jeff Robbins had a 527 series as the entire Robbins Hardware squad surpassed their individual averages to squash McKnatt Funeral Home in all three games. Harry Jack bowled well for McKnatt's.

Deer Hunting By Gun Scheduled Again At Refuge

Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge will again be open for deer hunting this fall according to Tom McAndrews, Refuge Manager.

McAndrews said that the shotgun hunt will be the same as the State season, or November 8 through 13. Hunting with primitive weapons, or muzzle-loaders, will be restricted to the October portion of the State season.

Required Federal permits for shotgun hunting will be reserved for successful mail applicants as chosen by a public drawing. Application cards are available from licensing agents throughout Delaware. Successful applicants will be notified by mail.

Reservations forfeited by non-appearance of applicants or not previously reserved will be made available by drawing at the refuge office one hour before sunrise.

Primitive weapons hunters will be issued permits on a first-come, first-served basis.

Additional information will be obtained by contacting the Refuge Manager, Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge, R.D. No. 1, Box 147, Smyrna, Delaware, 19977, Telephone No. 653-9345 (8:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m., Monday through Friday).

Plans Detailed For Waterfowl Season At 'Hook'

Details of the 1974-75 waterfowl hunting season for Prime Hook National Wildlife Refuge have been announced by Refuge Manager Tom McAndrews.

The lottery program system of selecting hunters started last year will be in effect again this year. The lottery drawing will be held 2½ hours before sunrise each hunt day at the check station which is located 2½ miles east of Route 14 on the Prime Hook Beach Road.

Steel shot, used successfully the past two seasons at Bombay Hook, will be introduced this season at Prime Hook. Steel shot is an acceptable substitute for lead shot. Lead shot has long been recognized as causing losses in waterfowl through lead poisoning.

Steel shot shells will be sold to hunters taking part in the program. At this time shells are available only in 12 gauge, 2¾ inches, and only 12 gauge guns McAndrews emphasized that the use of steel shot will be mandatory on these dates and can be used during the program. Possession of lead shot on steel shot days will not be permitted.

Steel shot will be used on Wednesdays, Fridays, and Saturdays throughout the State waterfowl season for hunters using Blinds 11 through 28. One box of steel shotshells will be sold each hunter each day at a cost of $5.00 per box. Lead shot will be allowed on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays.

Use of steel shot in blinds 1 through 8 will be optional. For further information call (302) 653-9345 or (302) 684-8419.

Bombay Hook Blind Drawings

The public drawing for goose and deer hunting reservations on the Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge will be held at the refuge headquarters on Friday, October 18, 1974 at 10:00 a. m.

Refuge Manager Tom McAndrews said this drawing will select the hunters from among the mail applicants postmarked no later than October 15, 1974. All interested persons are invited to attend. Blinds will be assigned at the drawing and successful applicants will be notified by mail.

Reserved blinds and deer hunting reservations that are unclaimed by one and one-half hours before sunrise will be awarded by drawing the morning of the hunt.
