Burris Foods Plant Expands

Burris Foods, which has one of the largest foods distribution centers in the East here, has enlarged its Reese Avenue plant and has employed 30 more persons. The improvement was necessitated by increased distribution facilities which service numerous food outlets, including Acme Markets and the A & P Company. At left is shown an exterior perspective furnished by Perley-Halladay Assoc., Inc., of Exton, Pa. The original structure starts from the Penn Central Railroad and extends westward, with the addition on the western end.

The original plant was built at an estimated cost of $2 million and started operations in early June of 1973. Burris Foods' home office is in Milford. John Burris Sr., told the Harrington Chamber of Commerce his decision to build here was based on a number of advantages. One was that most of the outgoing shipments would go to the west of Harrington.

Temporary Emergency Jobs Readied

The State of Delaware is preparing to hire temporary employees under the $3 billion Emergency Jobs Act of 1974 as soon as the President signs the legislation and the U.S. Department of Labor issues guidelines, Governor Sherman Tribbitt announced Dec. 23. City and county governments also are gearing up to put their share of the emergency employments funds to use as quickly as possible, the Governor said. Governor Tribbitt also directed all members of the state manpower planning and administrative staff to cancel any vacation plans between now and the time the pending legislation is fully implemented. The Governor issued his announcement after receiving information from Washington that the President is planning to sign the new legislation as soon as possible, probably this week. It is expected that the state could begin filling the temporary positions available to State agencies within about two weeks, or early in January. State officials have informed the Governor that it is still uncertain just how much money will be allocated to Delaware or how the money will be divided between state and local governments.

But, the Governor added, he is ordering all state agencies to be ready to take on new employees at once and to make sure that they are placed in "real jobs" which will meet Delaware's growing needs for service to the public. Estimates of Delaware's share range between $1.2 million and $2.5 million, which could mean 250 jobs. The State Office of CETA Planning and Administration has already identified nearly 100 jobs in state agencies which are urgently in need of filling, but no priorities have been assigned to agencies or jobs so far, the Governor added.

Governor Tribbitt emphasized the need for instant readiness at all levels of government. "We must be ready as soon as we get the green light from Washington," he said. "I cannot overstate the urgency of the situation in a state where unemployment has already topped seven percent and is rising rapidly. We cannot afford to be slowed down by red tape."

At the same time, the Governor disclosed that officials of the State Department of Labor have already been making plans for expanding the state's unemployment insurance program.

Southern Railway Is Bidder Penn Central Delmarva Lines Are For Sale

The importance of the Penn Central Railway lines was brought to our attention once again during this holiday time of celebrations. For some unknown reason, a letter sent last March to Maryland Secretary of Transportation Harry B. Hughes was made public during this Christmas time by having a copy of the letter forwarded to one of the major newspapers in Maryland. The magnitude of the story was far reaching and alarming, for as the story unfolded, it was made to appear that many would be out of jobs.

A spokesman for Penn Central in Philadelphia informed The Journal that the offer and discussions were preliminary only. The Penn Central, as we know it, is in a state of receivership, bankruptcy, etc., and has been for some time. The federal government is currently footing the bill to enable the railroad to continue to operate...at a loss. Knowing that some day, the federal government will face the reality of either putting it on a profit making basis or get out of it altogether, Penn Central for some time now has been trying to sell the company to the highest bidder.

The letter from Southern Railway President L. Graham Claytor, Jr., was addressed to Secretary Hughes of Maryland to inform him and his department of Southern's interests. It has not been too many years ago that Southern Railway was in financial trouble also.

It must be pointed out however, that the decision to sell and to whom are all strictly in the preliminary stages. So preliminary are the negotiations that the offers to purchase are all clouded with conditions which must be met before the making of the contract. These types of contracts in the law are called "condition precedent contracts." It simply means that certain conditions must be met first.

For a number of months now, Penn Central has been getting large incomes from the hauling of coal for Delmarva Power to the Millsboro, Delaware, electric generating plant and huge sums from the Department of Defense (Navy) for tons of coal being hauled to Norfolk. This route has been accomplished to Norfolk despite the burden caused when the bridge at the lower Chesapeake Bay was knocked out by a ship. Penn Central fought the Corps of Engineers for an extended period of time in an effort to get them to reconstruct the bridge.

Penn Central also has been corresponding with all of their "connecting carriers" in an effort to sell the lines, in particular the Delmarva line from Wilmington to Norfolk. Many of the non-profit branch lines would be discontinued by any of the connecting carriers if a settlement is reached.

Before a final settlement can be reached, there are many steps which must be followed in order to comply with the laws involved. The Trustees of the Railroad Company formed a task force of senior members of the Railroad to oversee such a transaction. It is also necessary that negotiations comply with the Railroad Reorganization Act. It will be necessary to get approval from the U.S. Railroad Association and finally the Interstate Commerce Commission. It would be some time therefore, before final settlement can be reached. In the meantime, however, the spokesman for Penn Central was quick to point out that continued rail service on the peninsula would be met to the best of their ability and a continued interest in serving the public would be followed.

In the letter from Southern Railway President W. Graham Claytor certain excerpts have been taken and they are as follows: "If but only if the settlement is made, it would be understood that the unprofitable Eastern Shore Branch lines would be abandoned."

Crime Is Up Too

Serious crime in the United States continued its upward trend during the first nine months of 1974, rising 16 percent, Attorney General William B. Saxbe reported today.

The increase was the largest for the period in six years. By comparison, crime rose only one percent during the first nine months last year.

Mr. Saxbe noted that the upsurge in crime began in the last quarter of 1973. Crime increased 5 percent in that period, 15 percent in the first quarter of 1974, and 16 percent during the first half of this year.

"The continuing increase in crime requires an intensification of our efforts to identify the causes, improve crime prevention and insure swift prosecution," the Attorney General said.

The latest figures were contained in the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, which were released today by FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley. The reports are based on crime statistics furnished by city, county, and state law enforcement agencies.

Only 12 major cities reported actual crime decreases for the first nine months, compared with 71 for the same period last year.

During the January-through-September period, violent crime rose eight percent, compared with a three percent increase the year before.

The more numerous property crimes spurted 17 percent, compared with a one percent increase during the first nine months of 1973.

The Uniform Crime Reports divide serious crime into two categories: violent, which includes murder, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault and property, which includes burglary, larceny-theft and auto theft.

Forcible rape increased nine percent, robbery and aggravated assault each eight percent and murder two percent. Larceny-theft rose 20 percent, burglary 16 percent and auto theft four percent.

Suburban law enforcement agencies reported a 21 percent increase in serious crime, while crime in rural areas was up 20 percent.

Serious crime rose 20 percent in the South, 15 percent in the North Central states, 14 percent in the West and 13 percent in the Northeastern states.

Rate Increase At Milford

Although every effort has been made during the past months to contain the continuously rising costs of operations, the Board of Directors of Milford Memorial Hospital finds it necessary to raise room rates an average of 8.5 percent.

The new rates became effective Sunday, Dec. 29. The high cost of supplies, equipment and utilities have forced this increase. Utilities alone have doubled in the past six months. With every means of cutting costs having been exhausted, without lowering the standard of patient care at Milford Memorial Hospital, the only alternative was to increase the income. No magic formulae could be found to bridge the gap between the expenses and income.

The new rate schedule will affect all patient rooms. Semi-private accommodations will go from $62-$63 to $70-$71. Private rooms from $74-$76 to $83-$85. Birth Service from $110 to $125. Intensive Care and Coronary Care units from $145 to $160.

"This rate increase was made only after intense review and projections by the Board of Directors and Administration," says Joseph B. Ahlschier, Administrator. "It was a hard decision to make knowing the already budget-breaking expenses every average family is experiencing. But, as always, the quality of patient care took precedent over any other considerations and to increase income to meet the present cost of the quality of patient care offered at Milford Memorial Hospital was the ruling ingredient in the final analysis."

"the law breaker stalks the law abider with impunity"

When I was a sophomore in college, I wrote a paper arguing the abolition of capital punishment. I remember it well ... not for the award I achieved ... but for the fact that the more I researched it the more I became convinced that my position was wrong. Nonetheless I completed the paper. That position was just as wrong then and it is today.

It was shortly after the abolition of the death penalty, as well as many other escape valves in the law for the criminal, that a gradual surfacing of many heinous and horrible crimes came about. It was as though the criminal knew that at the end of the line would be a soft penalty. It has now gotten far out of hand throughout our society ... and particularly in the large cities ... that the future of the cities is affected by the nature of the crime wave. A brazen and bold disregard for the law seems to be an every day occurrence in the large cities as well as here in our own state. More people are murdered in Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia than are killed on our highways in this State in a year's time.

Man is the most sophisticated animal in the animal kingdom. He has risen to the highest heights of intelligence, and yet his compassions, in matter of criminal punishment, cause him to slip backwards and live according to the laws of the jungle. As a lawyer I can tell you the law holds to such theories as "temporary insanity." We sometimes say the "he (or she) is half crazy", but how foolish a theory. You can't be half-way ... can you?!! It was just a sophisticated theory that got center stage, and it has been with us now for a decade or more. It was one of the principles to cause the abolition of capital punishment. The fact that the criminal did not know what he or she was doing at the time of the commission of the crime. Nonsense! So ... the courts did away with capital punishment and in cases where the sentence would be death -- "an eye for an eye ... a tooth for a tooth" -- the courts substituted mandatory life sentences. There were very few of these in the beginning ... even though this was to be the case ... instead they gave them life sentences, and reduced the sentence to a term of years after serving a portion of it. This erosion of sentence carried forth on down the line to the lesser crimes. The end result was that the criminal was back in society a lot faster causing the same disturbance ... and most of the time a lot worse than before.

The sole deterrent is the reinstatement of capital punishment as many states seem to be close to adoption. It appears that Maryland will do this in a move of self-protecting the law abiders. I remember in the research paper that I authored that the argument for keeping capital punishment was the deterrent factor. An analogy was drawn by describing how the lights at Sing Sing would grow dim and flicker when a criminal was being electrocuted. This affected the prisoners who would go back to society. The lights in the homes in the area around Sing Sing would have the same thing happen. This affected the would be criminal. Horrible isn't it ... or is it? You be the judge. Sing Sing could not cause this electric power failure in all communities in the U.S. ... or did it indirectly by virtue of the fact that the law provided for CAPITAL PUNISHMENT ... the deterrent.

When an average citizen or a police officer is shot down in cold blood, the news media are the ones who get excited. The argument that is put to the legislators is that firearms should be banned. I hope they are not persuaded by this for abandoning firearms would not stop the violent crimes. To argue the abandonment of firearms is just as wrong as arguing the "no license case." This is where a person causes an accident with a motor vehicle. He did not have an operator's license at the time. The fact that he did not have an operator's license is not the cause of the accident. It was the way he operated the motor vehicle which caused the accident.

Let's begin to think about the reinstatement of capital punishment in crimes of murder, and toughen the punishment of the other crimes. As further incentive and protection to our courts and judges, the policy of sentence pronouncement should be passed upon by a 3 man bench ... one of whom has heard the entire case. In this way the pronouncement of sentence would not fall upon the shoulders of a single judge.

Should we reinstate capital punishment? You think about it ... and you be the judge. I am for its reinstatement ... before our society is affected more than it is now!!!

L.F. Christmas Concert Is Well Received

by Matt Burgess

On Thursday, December 19, the Lake Forest High School Mixed Chorus presented its annual Christmas concert. This was the first concert by the choir under its new director, Mr. James H. Perry. Many spectators commented on the marked improvement of the choral department. The main reason for this improvement is Mr. Perry's unique system of choral teaching. Mr. Perry is one of the few high school choral directors to teach voice production to his students. Most choral directors feel that high school students are not capable of learning voice production. This writer feels that these people were proven wrong Thursday night. The choir surprised its audience with a maturity of sound that they had probably never experienced in a high school concert.

Mr. Perry, who is a qualified voice teacher, gives free lessons during the school day to certain pupils from the mixed chorus. This practice helps strengthen the choir and makes the individual capable of solo work.

The concert opened with the live and powerful "Now Sing We Joyfully Unto God" and was followed by five more original Christmas selections. Mr. Perry then explained to the audience that the traditional Christmas carols were often left out of choral concerts of this day and time. In answer to this, the choir sang seven of the all-time favorites. The first half of the concert ended with Clint Graham doing a beautiful job on "O Holy Night" backed up by the choir.

After a brief intermission Don Hopkins offered an excellent rendition of the spiritual "Sweet Little Jesus Boy." Roger Griffin's powerful tenor voice followed with "Comfort Ye My People" from Handel's Messiah. The chorus was once again featured on three more selections. At the end of the third number "Strangers in the Streets" the lights went out. The choir moved to another part of the gym and formed a human Christmas tree with candles as they sang "O Come All Ye Faithful." A nativity scene was revealed during the second verse of the song. The concert closed with "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" by Frances Lutkin.

The crowd was impressed by the keyboard prowess of Zosimo Buendica as he proved his versatility on fast and slow number alike. The choral department wishes all a Happy New Year and would like to see a greater attendance at the annual spring concert.

Comments from Keith S. Burgess. The author modestly did not mention his participation in an excellent quarter rendition with Marly Harcu, Candy Atkinson and Kevin Wooters. The 140 voice chorus received a standing ovation at the concert's end.

Peach Blossom 4-H News

On December 11th, members met at the Brethren Church Hall in Farmington. Prior to the meeting members posed for an annual group picture taken by Mr. Sam Mackert. Mrs. Earl White, of Bridgeville, representing the Soil Conservation program presented silver tray awards to the state winners in the conservation poster contest: first place winner Rydel Fletcher of Bridgeville, second place, Brenda Clark and third place, Terri Tarr, both of the Peach Blossom Club.

Devotions were led by Joyce Hinzman. Ronna Legates and Jeff Garey spoke of safety precautions with the Christmas tree. Year Pins were presented by Leader Mrs. Mesibov. Terri Tarr reported on our bowling party on November 29th. High scores belong to Leslie Smith and Donald Hopkins. Mark Belcher told of our float entry in the Harrington Christmas parade entitled, "Holiday Fun in Delaware."

Our president Donald Hopkins, attended the junior council hayride recently. Food project members plan to make Christmas cookies on December 13th at Terri's home. Linda Newnom was asked to contact members about Mini-Conference to be held at the Grange in Dover on December 30th. We will be guests at a covered dish luncheon at Milford Library with Mrs. Bower, the librarian making arrangements also in December.

Lisa Clark entertained us with Christmas songs on her accordion.

employment insurance system in anticipation of an appropriation of part of the $2.5 billion to be made available nationally to bolster state unemployment compensation programs.

However, the governor urged potential applicants to wait until plans for hiring are announced before applying for these emergency jobs.

"That way we'll be better prepared to handle the load," he said, "and we'll probably be ready to go full speed within two weeks."

The Governor announced that he will keep the public fully advised of latest developments and will announce the state's final plans as quickly as possible. In the meantime, the Employment Services Division of the State Department of Labor is gearing up for the anticipated rush of applicants.

Railroad—

acquisition would be given full access to the Wilmington, Del., area lines as an originating and terminating carrier to industries there such as the giant E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co. and auto factories of Chrysler and General Motors."

Southern would also be guaranteed open routes to and from all points on the Southern and all points on Penn Central or its successor railroad. The addition of the Wilmington area to Southern's vast rail complex makes the talks closer, for the acquisition of the Delmarva lines would be a significant development for Southern, a leading carrier throughout the Southeast and one of the country's more profitable lines at this time.

One of the main reasons Southern Claytor directed his letter to Secretary Hughes of Maryland Transportation Department was due to the track problems of clearance by Southern of its lines north of Washington and mostly in the Baltimore area. The size of the freight cars since WW II prevents Southern from using the direct route through Baltimore due to the wide and sometimes high load. Southern is required to divert its freight traffic around Baltimore to the Hagerstown, Md., area on the Norfolk and Western line. A rehabilitated Delmarva line with ferry service between Cape Charles and Lee Creek, Va., would provide a major new route for shipments between the South and Northeast. Claytor went on to add that he is not happy about the current diversion and would prefer traffic either via Potomac Yard or the Delmarva route. In the alternative, Claytor pointed that improvements to the Baltimore route might be less costly than an improvement program to the Delmarva lines which would be extensive and costly. Another minus, however to the Baltimore route is the required use of a tunnel built long before WW II which will not allow the current sized rail cars to pass in safety.

An economic strangulation could be brought about on the Delmarva peninsula if rail service is ended in a reorganization of the Penn Central as has been argued by agricultural related businesses and other development officials. Maryland as well as Delaware, is seeking ways to keep service open on lines that may not be included in the new Consolidated Rail Corp. A written survey and recommendations will be submitted in late February by the U.S. Railway Association, a planning agency set up to alleviate this problem facing the Railroad.

Blades Resigns Post

With the alumni thumping the L. F. High School basketball team last Monday night, Coach Blades met with L. F. High School Principle William Griffin at half time of that game and informed him that he intended to resign from his post as varsity basketball coach at L. F. His resignation is to be delivered to Griffin's office by Monday, December 30. At the end of the game Griffin again deliberated with Coach Blades in an effort to persuade him to remain as Coach until the season's end. Griffin was unable to persuade him.

JIM BLADES

No specific reason was given for his decision to resign other than the fact Blades felt he was not getting 100 percent effort from his team members. Blades was understood as saying that he was getting about 50 percent effort. In the three played games, Blades' team won easily against Dover Air, but lost a close game to Indian River as well as finishing poorly against a good Smyrna five after drawing close at one point near the end of the game. Poor ball handling causing many turnovers was one of the factors in the losses to Indian River and Smyrna.

Principle William Griffin said he would take action on Coach Blades' decision and would begin advertising for a new coach this Thursday when the students return to their classrooms. The procedure in selecting a new coach would be the same procedure they will follow in selecting a new head football coach. The School Board will consider the applicants from within the district first before considering applicants outside the school district. Griffin said he expected "a wave" of applicants for the job. Griffin was asked by The Journal if JV Coach Fred Brunson and Coach Buck Starkey loom as front runners. Griffin said "no one at this time is considered a front runner." He went on to add that both of these men however have exhibited a steady pattern of success in handling our students as well as winning ways. Coach Starkey has had previous coaching experience with varsity basketball having been associated with the Milford basketball team a couple of years ago that went to the state finals. Griffin said that when school resumes on Thursday he hopes to be in a position to name an interim coach who will serve in this capacity until the School Board meets on January 13. At that 13th meeting which was scheduled prior to Blades' announcement, an executive session had been planned whereby Griffin and his brother Earl Griffin, W. T. Chipman Principle, were to conduct an overall review of the athletic program in both schools. That meeting will go on as scheduled but the matter of a varsity coach will be added to the agenda. Griffin said that he felt definitely certain that a new coach will be approved at that meeting.

Griffin added that he tried to persuade Coach Blades to remain on for the sake of the school and the rumor that might be conjectured about this episode. At the same time he assured The Journal "that what we have here is a very responsible person (coach) filled with much discouragement." Blades is a fierce competitor and has enjoyed the winning ways in other sports as a coach. He felt that he had done all that he could to cause the team to perform up to 100 percent. He believed that he had failed at this and therefore he should step aside in favor of someone else who might do better with the team. Winning teams are winners mainly due to strict discipline... a Blades trademark.

L.F. Wrestlers Finish In Top Six

Ray Blanchette, Sports Staff

Following last week's Milford Invitational the Lake Forest Spartan matmen participated in the J.M. Bennett Invitational Wrestling Tournament on Friday and Saturday in Salisbury's Civic Center. They came away from the tournament with two firsts, three seconds, two thirds, two fifths and two sixths.

The first Spartan grappler to gain a victory in the finals was senior Rodney Wyatt. Wyatt, a senior who finished third at Milford was second seeded to open the tournament. Rodney claimed he opened "with the toughest mat of the tournament." In this match he won by a referee's decision over John Brown of Wicomico High School. Wyatt's semi final match was considerably easier as he pinned his opponent. This set the stage for a matchup against first seeded Mike Mulligan of Easton. Mulligan, a conference champion last year was handled easily by Wyatt 10-3.

Alumni Routs Varsity

by Ray Blanchette

Led by the torrid shooting of Chris Moore at the start of the game the Lake Forest Alumni Basketball Team defeated the present Lake Forest Varsity 75-63.

Moore, who is still the all-time top scorer in Delaware High School history, scored 17 points on the night. At the beginning of the first quarter it was his shooting that helped the Alumni to a 26-5 lead. Down by this much the Varsity started one of their famous comebacks which have been prevalent in the few games they have played thus far.

But, as it had in the past two games the attempt would fall short. In the second quarter the Spartans came back to a 51-27 deficit. In the third quarter they really cut the margin by out scoring the Alumni 24-9. The rally ended as the Varsity scored only 12 points in the final period.

High scorer for the Alumni was Don Bryant with 18 points followed by Moore then Jim Dill with 15 points. James Flamer with 15 points and Darnell Burton with 14 led the losers.

Playing in this benefit game were Sam Bostick, Don Bryant, Jim Dill, Reggie Guinn, Bob Jacobs, John McClosky, Chip Moore, Chris Moore, Dave Newnom, Lawrence Sorden, and Mark Urash. The game benefits the Varsity Club, a school organization.

Ex-Spartans Reach College

by Keith S. Burgess

In the past it was difficult to spotlight high school athletes from this area who became college competitors simply because they were so few and far between.

In the middle fifties Harrington and Felton high schools had only two boys' sports, baseball and basketball.

Lake Forest High now fields teams in seven boys' sports. These are baseball, cross-country, basketball, football, soccer, track and wrestling, which will greatly increase the number of local youths on college sports squads.

An article of this type is written off the top of the writer's head so we're sure we are going to miss some people. If so, let us know. We won't try to list the 20 or so H.H.S. athletes who made college squads mostly in track and cross-country or the Felton High grads who vied at the collegiate level. So here goes for five years of Spartan sports.

Currently playing basketball at Del-Tech Kent in Dover are Don Bryant and Lawrence Sorden, under the coaching of Jeff Adams who was formerly of Harrington High.

Curt Powell received some recognition for his play at linebacker for Delaware State College's football team this fall.

Delstate freshman Ron Mosley had five second place finishes for the strong Hornet cross-country team behind a senior teammate who was nationally ranked.

Norman Baynard wrestled at Delaware State one season. Tom Clarke is now vying in the mat sport at Salisbury State.

Chris Wetherhold and Bill Walls were on the track team at Washington College, Chestertown, Md. Walls also played baseball there.

John McCloskey was a key member of the basketball squad at Del-Tech South, Georgetown. Gary Anthony played first base at the same school. McCloskey too played baseball.

Mike Fisher played freshman basketball at the University of Delaware but a broken arm slowed his progress.

Bob Jacobs was a standout soccer player for Virginia Wesleyan in Norfolk. Did we miss anyone?

No. 5 Debbie Duerr puts it up for two points in last Monday's Alumni girls' game.

Salisbury in his weight class. All of Welch's three matches were won with relative ease. "It was easier than I thought it would be," stated Welch.

The Lake Forest team continued on its winning ways by getting three second place finishes with Tom Ware (112 lb.) who was defeated by a former W.T. Chipman student Jerry McGinty, now of Wicomico High, Jay Lemmons, a senior at 138 lbs. and Rick Woodward, a senior at 155 lbs.

Gaining third place for the locals were Terry Jarrell and Brently Banks. Jarrell, a senior 119 lbs. wrestled what many experts felt was his best effort so far. Jarrell commented, "It's about time," Banks made it to the consolation round by defeating Lenwood Singleton of Indian River but lost to Greg Gerrier of Wicomico High.
