Crash Claims Five

Rain mixed with snow made driving hazardous on Monday. It took its toll on Del. Rt. 16 approximately 7 miles west of Greenwood when a 1972 Pontiac, driven by William J. Durkin, 58, of Bethesda, Md., went out of control on a moderate turn, crossed the center line of the highway, and plowed into a 1970 Ford driven by Lester W. Taylor, 68, of Wooden Hawk near Greenwood. Others in the Durkin car were Durkin's wife, Mary Margaret Durkin, 55, who was riding in the passenger side of the front seat, a 5-year-old girl, Kelly McGettrick of Washington, D.C., who was being held in the lap of Mrs. Durkin, and Sister Mary Loyola Monaghan, 68, of Mount Saint Joseph Convent, Newburgh, N.Y., a passenger in the rear seat. All five persons were killed instantly.

A cattle truck trailing one of the cars piled into the crash scene. The driver, Edward C. Banks, 37, of Goldsboro, Md., complained of injuries to his side, but refused medical treatment.

State Police at Troop 5 Bridgeville, reported that Durkin and his passengers were returning to their Bethesda, Md., home from their summer home in Rehoboth Beach, Del. They further reported that the Banks' truck was trailing the Durkin car. When the two cars collided, Banks swerved his truck in an attempt to miss the collision. Instead the truck struck the Taylor car on the right rear side.

Both drivers of the cars were thrown at impact onto the highway. The two women and the girl were pinned in the Durkin car. They were removed by way of the Hurst tool.

All five were transported to Nanticoke Memorial Hospital and placed in the morgue. A veteran volunteer rescuer remarked that "it was the worst accident yet."

Miss Blackman Waltzed, Wore Uniforms In South Africa

AFS Student Returns

"It was a fabulous experience, but I'm happy to be home," remarked seventeen year old Valery Blackman, reflecting on the past year. Since late last January, Valery has been visiting and studying in South Africa as part of the AFS foreign exchange student program. She has recently returned to resume studies at Lake Forest High School.

She was the guest of the Grainger family of Port Elizabeth, a large city near Cape Town. The Graingers have three children, Michael, who is in the army and could only come home for brief periods, Jenny, 16, who was Valery's classmate and Gary, age ten.

The flight over took 17 hours, with only one stop for refueling. Here Valery wrote to her family:

"We are taking off from Ilha Do Sal. It is too dark to appreciate what I'm sure is a beautiful island... The airport was small and empty... like something from a Bogart movie... fans hanging from the ceiling, polished wooden chairs and tables, and people serving tea and coffee..."

Eight hours later the group, which included 38 other American students, landed in Johannesburg. Valery spent the night with another family on their peach farm. It was the peach season, and the 50 acre orchard surrounded the estate which included a swimming pool, tennis courts, and two guest houses.

The next leg of the trip landed the excited traveler in Bloemfontein (the name means Fountain of Flowers) where upon takeoff, a bird flew into the engine. The pilot stopped short and all the tires blew. Another night was spent in this city.

Valery arrived in Port Elizabeth on January 22 at 10:30 a.m. where she was met by her South African parents. Her first impression of the area was unique: "The first thing I noticed was that there were no trees. It seemed so funny."

During her stay, Valery attended the modern two story Westering High School, which carries an average pupil load of 500. "I was lucky, it was an English speaking school." Uniforms were mandatory, and a strict mode of conduct was enforced. "They used the prefect system," she recalls. "There was one boy and one girl prefect. They inspected your uniforms, checked your hair and fingernails, and made sure you walked single-file and didn't talk in the corridors. They're really strict about things - girls had to wear pigtails and guys hair couldn't touch their ears or collars."

Valery can never forget the first day of school. "I got yelled at right off, for having my hands in my pockets. They didn't know who I was then. Also, I forgot to stand when the teacher came in the room."

One more thing took some getting used to. "People walk on the left side of the corridors. I kept bumping into them and couldn't figure out why they were walking towards me."

Valery was introduced to her school in an assembly. These are held regularly on Monday and Thursday. Announcements are read at this time, followed by Bible reading, the Lord's Prayer

Her subjects included: English Literature and grammar, biology, South African history, geography and domestic science. The latter involved intensive work in cooking, needlepoint and housecleaning. She also took Afrikaans, a language developed by the Dutch and spoken by the Boers who settled in South Africa in the 1600's. In 1925, Afrikaans, as well as English, became the official language of the area. "I was really lost in that class," recalls Valery.

Home was only two blocks from school, so Valery was able to walk each morning. Students farther away used public transportation - doubledecker buses which cost ten cents a trip. School began at 8 a.m. There were

Minner Wins Another Two Year Term

On a very cold day in January, voters from Harrington went to the polls on Tuesday to cast their votes for a Mayor and three council seats. Incumbent Mayor William A. Minner running for another two year term was swept back into office by a lopsided margin (339 to 61). Minner defeated Col. Moses Huff, a black minister, who was running for office for the first time. Huff polled 61 votes.

The other races were for council seats. In the 6th Ward Earl McColley defeated Wilbert (Webb) Porter 45 to 33. In the 3rd Ward Dr. Vincent Lobe ran unopposed and polled 103 votes. John Satterfield was unopposed in the 5th Ward and polled 73 votes.

Reached last night at his home, Mayor William Minner said that he was very pleased with the voter turnout despite the cold weather. He said that he felt the "older people in the community needed a word of praise for braving the weather and get out to vote." "I want to try to do the best job that we can for the citizens of the city. There is no plan to raise taxes this year, but the city services to the residents will be continued."

Seaboard Railroad Made First Bid For Penn-Central's Delmarva Line

by Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

It was learned on Tuesday that Seaboard Coast Line Railroad with general offices at Richmond, Virginia, and main offices at Jacksonville, Florida, were the earliest party interested in the Delmarva Line of the Penn-Central Railroad. The Chairman of the Board, W. Thomas Rice, was a former track supervisor in 1938-39 for the old Pennsylvania Railroad prior to WWII. Rice is now head of the Seaboard Line.

According to a spokesman in Jacksonville, Rice was well acquainted with the Delmarva Line and how it acts as a gateway into Wilmington, Delaware for the very lucrative freight business of the automotive interests in northern Delaware as well as the DuPont freight business. It was pointed out that it was not necessary for any of their people to make an inspection trip as W. Graham Claytor had done for Southern Railway on January 5th of this year.

The Seaboard spokesman pointed out that they had written the United States Railway Association (U.S.R.A.) long before any other railroad had shown any interest in the Delmarva Line.

They had also written the D.O.T. (Department of Transportation), and will follow, as they point out, with a letter to Conrail when it is formed. Conrail is short for Consolidated Railroad which will be formed when U.S.R.A. ceases to function to the railroads. Apparently U.S.R.A. was formed under a government act of Congress to study and try to set a course to correct the railroad problems in the Northeast section of the U.S., which includes the rail lines of Penn-Central, Reading, Central of New Jersey, Lehigh Valley and the D & H and how these railroads will be operated.

Conrail will then take over the job that U.S.R.A. has started, and the railroads vying for ownership of the railroads in the northeast of which Penn-Central is one will then deal directly with Conrail. The Conrail corporation will be a private corporation, and will be operated at a profit... or at least that is the intent.

Other railroads are interested in these railroads because they connect up with Penn-Central. The Southern Railway connects with Penn-

J. G. Smith Family Memorial Building Under Construction

J. Gordon Smith stands in front of the site of the J. G. Smith Family Memorial Building to be erected on the fairgrounds at Harrington.

Work has begun on the new Smith Memorial Building at the Fairgrounds this week. The building will be built at the direction of J. Gordon Smith, the benefactor, with the general contractor Walton Simpson of Camden, Delaware in charge of the construction. The building will contain approximately 1550 square feet of enclosed space. Mr. Smith is currently the Fair President.

The idea for this building was first presented by J. Gordon Smith at the July 1973 Annual Fair meeting. At that time Smith donated $25,000 toward the study for this building... its design, materials, etc. This idea was prompted by the untimely death of James (Jimmie) G. Smith, Jr., who died on January 15, 1971 as a result of an airplane crash. Young Smith was a Director of the Fair at the time of his death. Although he was not afforded the chance, due to his early death, to exhibit his real plans for the Fair, he did have a great interest in the annual event. He served on several committees related to the Fair. He was a real sports fan, but he displayed more interest in cars than in horses. At the time of his death, Jimmie Smith, as he was known to his friends and acquaintances, was the Kent County Democratic Chairman, and a member of the Board of Directors of the Delaware Trust Bank, President of Kent County Motor Co., owed J. G. Smith Auto Sales Inc., a Volkswagen dealership in Dover, owned WNRK Radio Station in Newark, Director of Kent General Hospital, and at his death believed to be the largest single landowner in Kent County mainly due to his role in the development of Fox Hall Plantation in Dover.

J. Gordon Smith's connection with the Fair is already history. It was his father, William S. Smith, one time Kent County Sheriff, who sold the original tract of land to start the Fair. J. Gordon Smith became a Director of the Fair in 1937, and President in 1958. A position he holds today. In 1946, Smith was made a vice president of the Harrington Raceway and became its president in 1958. When Herman C. Brown was made President of the Raceway, Smith was elected to Chairman of The Board of the Raceway. In 1940 Smith was made Chairman of the State Highway Commission, a position he held until 1961. He has been a life long Democrat, and a Kent County business man all of his adult life. He was made a Director of The Farmers Bank in 1950 and a director of the People's Bank of Harrington since 1936.

The Memorial Building being constructed at Smith's direction will house all of the Smith antiques and memorials associated with the Fair and harness racing at the Raceway. There will be records of horses who have set track records here as well as some of the more famous horses which Smith owned. This new building will be connected to the east side of the Raceway Restaurant. The banquet room of the restaurant will be used by the Smith Building for a meeting room as well as for banquets. The main entrance of the Smith Memorial Building will face to the East. There will be a ten foot overhang on the front of the building which will be a colonnade and a brick walkway. The face of the building will be furring and barn board panelling. The interior of the building will be barn board panelling, with vinyl asbestos flooring. The plan is to have the building open by Fair time this year.

Delmarva Power and Light Co. moved a 100 ton transformer through Harrington last Friday to Denton, Md. The huge transformer which was transported by rail to Harrington, the nearest place to Denton, was moved on the last leg of its journey by truck. It was to be installed at the Steele substation, according to a DP&L official, and will be part of a project of the lower shore area to increase the available energy.

Central at Norfolk, Cape Charles, etc. and Seaboard comes up into Portsmouth and connects with Penn-Central at that point. These railroads then have something in common. Each of these railroads would be interested in the ferrying service that the Penn-Central now uses to cross the Chesapeake Bay. The process is completed by using a tug (the Captain Edward Richardson) which pulls a barge of approximately 20 cars at one time across the Bay between Little Creek and Cape Charles. The crossing from Little Creek to Cape Charles is 20 miles long and takes three hours (in good weather) time to cross. When asked of the Seaboard spokesman how one goes about purchasing a railroad, it was explained very simply. When U.S.R.A. goes out of existence, after of course they have formed the new corporation Conrail, the purchasers will deal directly with Conrail. It will be a bidding process in that a bidder will show an interest by writing a letter, which Graham Claytor of Southern Railway and W. Thomas Rice of Seaboard Railway have sent to U.S.R.A. Then Conrail will come back with a figure that will be based upon a "salvage price," for as was explained the condition of the Delmarva Line is such that it will be necessary to rebuild it and some parts of the line will be abandoned. When this figure reaches the bidder(s), the bidding process begins. The price is not likely to be cash, but it will be in the form of stock of the bidding company.

Although Southern and Seaboard Railroads are interested in the Delmarva Line of Penn-Central, there are other railroads interested in the Penn-Central lines in other parts of the country such as: Norfolk & Western in the Kentucky, Ohio, and Indiana lines, the C & O and B & O, the L & N (Louisville and Nashville) line from Cincinnati out to Louisville, and the Sante Fe which is interested in pushing East with their lines.

It is a very complex problem standing alone or coupled with the governmental intervention through the many agencies connected with this problem. Meanwhile through this maze, the railroads are trying to render continued service to the general public.

nine periods, each a half hour long and two breaks. Dismissal was at 2 p.m.

Valery noted some major differences among South African and American teens. The students she met had a greater respect for their school. The uniform is worn whenever they are in public, even after school hours. "Wherever you go, you represent the school, they feel," she said.

Dates usually involve going to dinner and then dancing (ballroom type). There is no drug problem among south African teens. Movies and books are heavily censored, and it's against regulations to discuss politics. "The kids don't mind, though," said Valery. "They accept things the way they are."

Music leans toward "underground rock" - Deep Purple, David Bowie. "But they like the Beatles, too." Radio stations play the same songs, but "I missed having my own radio with me."

Was that all she missed? "Oh, wow, I missed bikes - they're considered gauche after age six, and pizza. They didn't have mozzarella cheese, so I couldn't make it either." Sports lean toward British rugby and cricket. Valery swam, dived, and subbed for the tennis team. Her hockey team placed second in their league.

She was invited to attend the Matric Farewell (the matric class is the senior class) which is similar to the junior-senior prom. She recalls that the evening began with dinner in the school auditorium and was followed by dancing, mostly the waltz. She laughs and remarks she "spent all afternoon practicing," the unfamiliar waltz.

Women's Lib is virtually nonexistent. "The boys are extremely polite. They stand when the girls walk into a room. Girls enter and leave the classrooms first. Once I was standing outside watching a rugby game, and a guy went into the school and got a chair for me. I really like it that way!"

Next week: More about South African customs, family life and some of Valery's new favorite recipes.

After a very successful CYC staff meeting on Monday, January 7, we are again very much encouraged about the future of our Christian Youth Crusaders. We welcome to our staff Mr. Ralph Milbourne and Mrs. Celia Miller.

As you probably have heard, our CYC time schedule has been changed, starting with our next meeting on Monday, January 13. We will meet every 2nd and 4th Monday of the month. The time will be from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., increasing the time by one-half hour. We are hoping that this time schedule will encourage others of the church to become a squadron leader. We still need more helpers.

January 13-19 is Herold-Cadet Week. During this time we will be promoting CYC among adults as well as children. Wednesday, January 15, is the day we have set aside to send our young people to school in their CYC uniform. We do not recommend that hats be worn as they might get lost. White blouses or shirts, blue skirts or slacks and the CYC scarf and slide is all that is necessary. Wearing a hat will be left up to you and your child.

Sunday, January 19, if CYC Sunday. All CYCers are to attend their church in full dress uniform. They will take part as much as possible in the service.

On Sunday evening, the 19th, the CYC will attend, as a group, the Hymn Sing at St. Johnstown United Methodist Church. They will go by bus, which will leave Greenwood at 7:10 p.m. and return at 9 p.m. Full Dress Uniform is again in order.

Camp stamps will go on sale January 27. All 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th graders are eligible for camp. The cost this year is $21.00 for five days and it will be held the last week in June. To make the financial part easier, we will sell blue stamps for 10 cents and yellow stamps for 25 cents. Your child will be given a stamp book to paste the stamps in. Happy saving to all CYCers for a fun week at camp. Note: You do not have to be a registered CYC'er to attend camp. You do have to be in the 3rd, 4th, 5th, or 6th grades.

Sunday afternoon callers at the Jacob Hatfields were Mrs. C. E. Seibert and her mother, Mrs. Leon Kubek, Faebil Farms. These dear friends came bearing all sorts of goodies, from chips and dips to old-fashioned watermelon preserves, and a jolly time of fellowship followed.

Cheer Center News: Activities at the Center have been rather slow this week. Members have been planning to make pillows. Materials had to be discussed and bought. It was difficult to find just the correct colors and then select wool that would add to the attractiveness of the pillows.

Five students from the Lake Forest School District have been selected to the 2nd Junior All State Band. Chosen from the W.T. Chipman Junior Band were Karen Gunter on flute, Doug Crouse on trumpet, and Mark Homewood on alto saxophone. Because some junior and middle schools have ninth grades, two ninth grade students from the Lake Forest High School Band were also selected on recommendations by Mr. Alex Becton, junior band director at the Chipman Jr. School. Ninth graders were John Teagle on baritone horn and Patrick Robinson on trombone. The 114 members selected to the Junior All State Band are from 45 different middle schools throughout the state of Delaware.

The All State Band will present a concert on Saturday, Jan. 18, at the Dover Central Middle School beginning at 7:30 p.m. The concert is open to the public and admission is free. An enjoyable evening of music is in store for all.

Appointed by Governor Sherman Tribbitt and not requiring Senate confirmation, the Council will advise the Office of Retail Gasoline Sales concerning the distribution of motor fuels in the state as well as assisting in the making of regulations and policy. Mr. Bell had served on the council last year.

During a telephone interview with the Journal Tuesday morning, Bell stated he was "very much displeased" with President Ford's proposals regarding fuel imports and subsequent increase in gasoline prices. Bell, an independent service station owner at Felton, remarked the Ford proposals were like "putting $2 in the left pocket and taking $1.95 from the right pocket."

Last year Bell stated the Advisory Council met frequently and for long periods of time, but he felt they accomplished a great deal. Among the proposals put into effect by this council was the odd-even distribution of gasoline which was later dropped when availability of gasoline became more evident.

Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

"Congress...nor the American people are ready to bite the bullet."

As the President spoke Monday night to the American people, he told us what we have known for quite some time...the country is in a deep recession with the unemployment figures still climbing.

For the past 10 years past presidents have not...or let's say the Congress of the United States has not seen fit to balance the budget. Consequently more and more deficits appear in the budgets each year.

Congress and our "big form of government" are largely responsible for inflation. Congress's legacy to us is that all social and economic problems can be solved by spending more and more money...

Congress could begin to reflect an attitude of reduced government spending by delving into the Social Security Program and the Food Stamp Program.

The Food Stamp Program is just as bad. It began with a good cause, and has erupted into a spending melee. This isn't a new program, for it has been with us since 1964.

The bullet isn't getting any softer or smaller. If we don't cause our employees (that's what Congress is to you the voter) to do something about balanced budgets and deficit spending, the bullet won't be a bullet any longer.

From The Frying Pan...

By the time this editorial is being read, the City of Harrington will have sworn into office its mayor for the next two years, and three new council members for the next four years.

Congratulations and best wishes for those elected are extended now for the coming years.

There are many problems besetting this, and many small cities in America. Harrington has a major problem needing immediate attention, and leaving it as is would be a serious mistake.

The city government, viewing other communities in Delaware who have recently undergone charter revision, should list at the top of its agenda Item No. 1 - Revision of the City Charter.

Mayor Addresses Citizens

On Friday evening at the citizens meeting at the Fire Hall, the candidates spoke to the audience gathered about their intentions if elected.

Consolidated Thermoplastics Company doubled the size of their plant (currently under construction) and Burris Foods expanded their operation.

The coming year budget will be $286,000, the revenue from all sources. The indebtedness for 1974 was $450,757.89, and in 1975 some notes have been paid off as well as the amount of the bonds reduced as well.

Our Men In Washington

Biden Views 93rd Congress

The 93rd Congress, which adjourned Dec. 20, stepped out of the shadow of the Presidency. It's about time.

For too long, the legislative branch of the Federal Government, the people's body, has let itself be bossed around by a succession of Democratic and Republican Presidents.

It wasn't always the case that Presidents simply ran over Congress. Often, Congress simply did not do its job and the President filled in the vacuum.

place limitations on election campaign contributions and expenditures. However, more needs to be done and the new 94th Congress which will meet for the first time on Jan. 14, has an opportunity to help America.

The 93rd Congress asserted itself in at least three ways: -- It passed a budgetary-control act, which, among other things, established a budget committee in both the Senate and House of Representatives.

-- It over-rode a presidential veto of legislation that limits the power of a President to commit American troops to combat overseas.

-- It forced resignation of a President who had abused his High Office. The imbalance between the Presidency and the Congress is being corrected.

The last Congress also scored other accomplishments. A law was passed to protect pension rights of workers enrolled in private pension plans.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to know why dog licenses were raised from $1 last year to $5 this year and it is compulsory to have a rabies shot to purchase them.

Do you realize how many dogs will be sent to the S.P.C.A. to be destroyed because their owners can't afford the shots and extra fee.

Think about this - many thousands of dog owners which can afford this - many other thousands cannot - what are they to do - if the game warden checks and there is no license, then what?

President Ford seems to want to help people - why should Del. make it tough on their residents.

I believe the R.S. should not be compulsory and the fee reduced back to $1. Please send your comments to this paper and try to stop this unnecessary burden - one rabies case should not cause all this.

Starkey Named L.F. Basketball Coach

Monday night at the high school the School Board devoted the meeting to the discussion of the district athletic program. Earl Griffin, Principal of W.T. Chipman School reported that the athletic program is in full operation. The Saturday athletic program under Coach Bill Falasco now has 15 girls and boys enrolled. They are in their second week.

William Griffin addressed the School Board in matters related to the high school athletic program. There are currently 28 teams participating in some form of organized athletics at the H.S. No new teams are anticipated in this program. Griffin said the costs of the athletic program is getting higher.

In other business, the Board accepted the resignations of Coach Jim Blades as the head basketball coach and Coach Craig Jantz as the H.S. track coach. Coach Albert "Buck" Starkey was named as the head basketball coach for the remainder of the season. It was also voted to reappoint Jim Hodgsten as Athletic Director for 1975-76 season.

It was also decided to go outside the District for applications for the head football coaching position. The applications will close on February 1st for this post.

Spartan Cagers 0-5

by Ray Blanchette

In a season of turmoil the Lake Forest basketball team lost their most recent two games 86-52 to Indian River and 50-42 to Smyrna.

During this season, which has seen the coach resign, a new happening has arisen. The lone win the Spartans had this season, to win over Dover Air will have to be forfeited because of an ineligible player, James Flamer, who has already used up his four years of eligibility. He was the Spartans leading scorer in the first three games. The mistake was found by Athletic Director James Hogstien. Principal William E. Griffin said "It was an honest mistake."

The past two losses under interim Coach Fred Brunson were at the hands of two of the Southern Division's leading teams. Last Tuesday at Indian River (4-2) the Spartans were blown off the court early as the Indians took a 20-12 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 45-25 lead at the half. The second half was no better as the Indians outscored the visitors 41-27.

Indian River was led by Tony Townsend who scored 29 points to top the 1,000 point mark for his career. Lake Forest was led by Neal Smith's 23 points and Tom Carey's 14.

Last Friday at Smyrna, the Spartans rebounded somewhat against the division leaders (4-1) to lose only 50-42. In a very low scoring game which saw the Spartans try a slowdown type offense the visitors trailed only 8-6 at the end of the first quarter before collapsing a little to trail 23-16 at the half. The Spartans were led by Ron Shockey's 13 points and Neal Smith's 10.

Before the Spartans next conference matchup Friday against Caesar Rodney, there will probably be a new head coach. As of this writing the only applicants from inside the district have been Bob Dill and Buck Starkey both of whom have previous experience at coaching.

Bowling

Things are back into full swing after the holidays with Taylor and Messick, the first half champs still leading even after dropping two points to Jarrell Fuel Tuesday night. Kenny P. Outten rolled a 550 series which included a 202 game. Bobby Collins and George Langford bowled well for Taylor and Messick. Norman Short and Norman Porter bowled very well for Jarrell's combined with a 546 series from Dallas Hayman, which also included a 200 game to keep things even.

Fry's American broke the deadlock for second place as they took sole possession of that position on a three point victory over Wally's Garage to collect one point.

The Spoilers are on the move again, after narrowly missing out on the first half race for the championship, with Jack Sapp pacing all bowlers for the night with a 573 series and a 231 game. Also aiding the Spoilers was Leonard Outten's 559 series, and a real fine effort from John Shaffer to give the team a three point victory over Quillen's Market.

Gene Wirick rolled a 531 series for Quillen's Market which enabled the team to salvage one point. Cloyd Bushey, amassed a 541 series and Bill Manship added a fine series which included a 201 game and Oscar Matthews assisted as People's Restaurant took three points from Penn Central. Paul Baker set the pace for the railroaders with a great 215 game and Donald Butler assisted the team effort with a fine above average effort.

Sam Lyons rolled a 552 series as he paced Butler's Fuel to a three point victory over Harrington Moose. Larry Larimore also added with a 204 game and 524 series for the Furlis Carmine Gallo rolled a 221 game and 535 series, and Lee Dill 207 game and above average series, with Paul Faulkrod and contributing an overall effort for the Moose team to grab one point.

Brothers Five made a clean sweep of all four points against Big John's Son as Chris Moore rolled a 558 series, Ron Keily hit a 200 game and 555 series, with Richard Dennis adding a 514 series. Big John's Son could not come up with any real power so could offer only token resistance to Brothers Five's attack.

McKnatt Funeral Home received a full team effort from its members as Robert Garey and Harold Brode each rolled a 200 game and Harry Jack hit a good 521 series, with Ken Garey adding a 521 series effort as they swept three points to their side of the win column against one point for Dur-A-Clean, their opponents. Bill Brode rolled a 202 game and 541 series and Mark Murray added a great 526 series effort, with Dave Baker aided to help Dur-A-Clean win one point.

Robbins' Hardware and the T & M. Rejects split four points doen the middle. Tuesday night. Robbins' Hardware went into the contest with just four bowlers, but they countered their opponents efforts by putting forth above average efforts by each individual with Herb Robbins leading the squad with the best overall effort. Ricky Welch Bob Wilson, and Ben Brown bowled very well for the Rejects.

Weakness In Upper Weights Sparks Loss

by Ray Blanchette

The foreseen weakness at the beginning of the season in the upperweights of the Spartan wrestling team has been proven to be correct in just two matches.

Felled as a result of this weakness the Spartans have been defeated in their first two matches 30-16 by Cape Henlopen and 36-20 by Caesar Rodney. Against the Cape the Spartans held a 16-6 lead after six of the 12 matches. In the first six matches, Lake Forest won four of them. After an opening decision loss by Ricky Mertz, Lake Forest took the lead as James Simpson won by superior decision. After a 4-2 loss by Tom Ware the visiting locals won three straight. These wins came on a pin by Terry Jarrell and decision victories by Rodney Wyatt and Alan Welch.

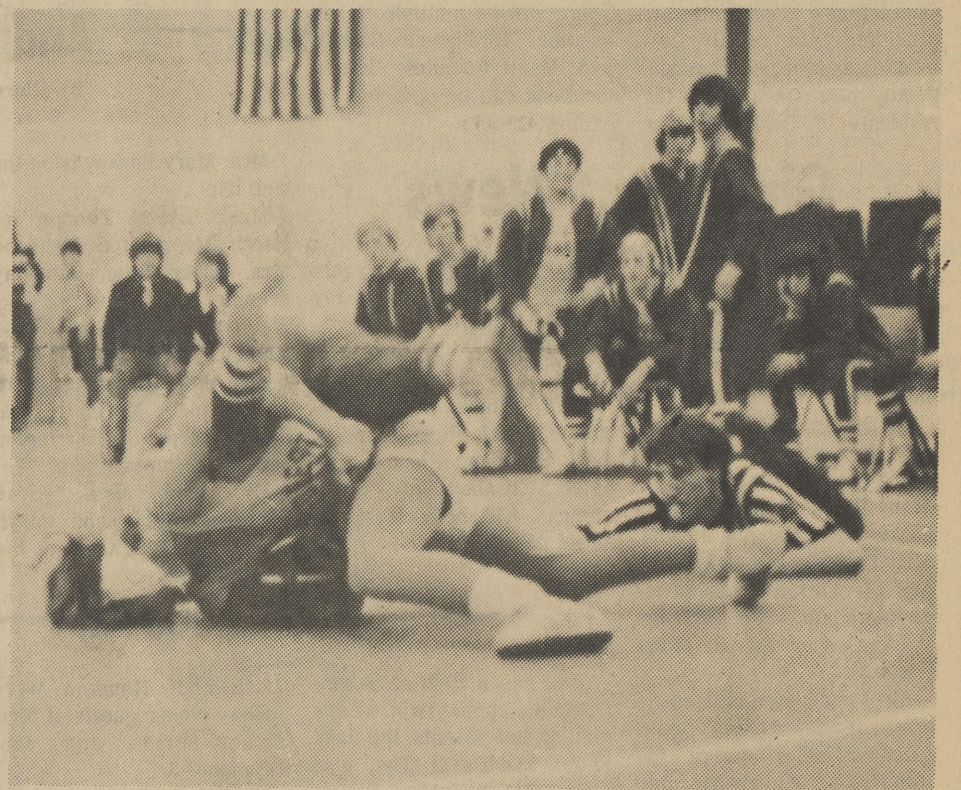

It was all downhill from here as the Spartans lost the remaining six matches. Of these six two were lost by one point. The final two were lost by pins.

Then in a dual match where many experts were predicting the Spartans would have trouble scoring in double figures the homestanding locals lost to the Riders 36-20. In fact it took just two matches for them to reach double figures. To start it off Lake Forest gained two straight pins, the first by Mertz in 3:50 and the second by Simpson in 5:03. Then with the home crowd cheering them on, Ware and Jarrell recorded come-from-behind victories to put the Spartans into an 18-0 lead.

The Riders who are supposed to be untouchable as far as the Conference is concerned, did not quit. In fact from this point, it was all Caesar Rodney except for a 4-4 draw by Jay Lemmons and Greg Warren in the 140 pound class. Following Jarrell's win, Wyatt was defeated by defending state champion Bob Bosco 5-1, then Welch was beaten 5-3 by Chris Rincon. After Lemmons, Brently Banks, Dean McCombs, Charles Besslieu were all pinned and Rick Woodward lost by a superior decision. This along with a forfeit, accounted for the final margin of victory.

Grand Opera House To Host Vienna Choir Boys At Milford

The Grand Opera House will travel to Milford, Delaware, to present the world famous Vienna Choir Boys at the Milford High School Theatre at 8 p.m. on Monday, March 24.

The move is a departure from the programing pattern established in the last year and a half since the Opera House was revived. During that time all major performances took place within the Opera House, with lecture demonstrations, master classes and mini-performances held in the Delaware Schools.

According to Executive Director Lawrence J. Wilker, the presentation of the Vienna Choir Boys in Milford is a manifestation of the Opera House's major goal and philosophy. Wilker explained that, "As Delaware's Center for the Performing Arts The Opera House is committed to providing high quality performing experiences in music, theatre and dance to all the residents of Delaware. The Opera House recognizes that it is sometimes difficult for residents in the southern portions of the state to get to Wilmington. Therefore, the Opera House is bringing the performers to the people."

Since the Milford performance will be the first presentation outside of the Opera House itself, Wilker hopes that it will yield useful data on audience development, ticket buying patterns, performance locations, and performance needs, all of which will guide the Opera House in future presentations in the southern portions of the State.

Tickets are $5, $3.50 and $2 for students are available from the Opera House and from the Milford Continuing Arts Program which is helping to co-sponsor the concert. There will be multiple ticket locations throughout Sussex and Kent Counties. Exact locations can be obtained by calling 422-5673.
