ICC Holds Rail Hearings

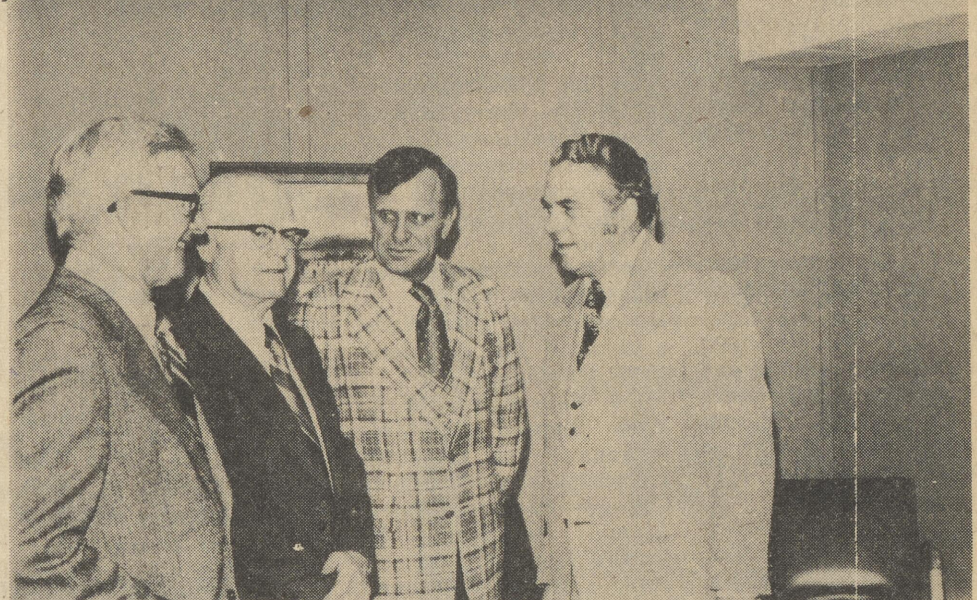

The Interstate Commerce Commission held hearings this week at Salisbury in the DP&L building regarding railroad reorganization. The prime area effected in Delaware is the Delmarva Line of Penn Central. The public response to the report issued by United States Railway Association (USRA) and Conrail has been in direct opposition. What USRA by its findings and report purports to do is close out the so-called low density lines. USRA has viewed the Delmarva Line of Penn Central for the most part as being a low density line. It further recommended that service be no further south than Delmar thereby discontinuing freight service from Salisbury south to Cape Charles. Their recommendation also included the discontinuance of the car float at Cape Charles. The public outcry to this proposal has been loud and clear. To do this according to Governors Tribbitt and Mandel as well as a host of Senators, Chamber of Commerce representatives business leaders and college professors would without a doubt cripple the entire Delmarva peninsula.

State Senator David Elliott (21st Sen. Dist. Sussex Co.) gave a very deliberate and well-researched speech on the crippling effects which would be brought about if the proposal of USRA is followed. He sees continued rail service as vital to our economic survival. In order to improve the service which is being rendered now, it is necessary to rehabilitate the facilities, like the rail ties, etc. so that the speed on the tracks can be increased which will bring about faster service to the shippers. The slowness of the rail deliveries has caused shippers for the most part to use other means of shipping ... like truck. This form of shipping as Senator Elliott pointed out as well as a spokesman for Shore Fertilizer of Accomac, Va., is far more costly than by rail. Their statistics would indicate that shipment by truck for feed and grain is anywhere from $8 to $9 per ton more and $30 more with fertilizer. The spokesman for Shore indicated that one of their chief products is potash. It can only be shipped with ease by rail. To ship this product by truck, if the laws would allow, would cost them as much as $100 more per ton. They would be forced to raise the cost of their product to point where their prices would not be competitive, and they would be forced to lay people off in an area somewhat depressed already.

Senator Elliott also pointed out that with the limitations caused by not being able to pass rail cars of present size through the Baltimore tunnel has caused enough problems to warrant the necessity of keeping the barge float at Cape Charles open and operative. At the present time, two floats are working at Cape Charles (Capt. Edward Richardson and C&O 2, the latter one is on lease from the C&O Railroad). The car floats make approximately six trips a day, if the weather permits, carrying a total of about 250 cars. With this much activity, it would appear that service should be discontinued. Senator Elliott's stats also indicated that on an annual basis there are approximately 29,000 to 30,000 loaded and from 20,000 to 21,000 unloaded cars being transported.

Board Helps Band Boosters

At the March meeting of the Lake Forest School Board Monday night, the Board amid much discussion agreed to underwrite the Band Boosters in their drive to obtain new band uniforms for the Chipman School. In an earlier meeting, the Board had agreed to give the Band Boosters up to $7,000 in order for them to complete their negotiations for the uniforms. At that time of presentation to the Board by Mrs. E.B. Warrington their plan of obtaining the money, it was explained that the Boosters could probably raise half of the sum needed, which was believed to be around $6,500. Some of the Board members at the Monday night meeting had different ideas about the payment of the money. School Board president Donald Garey said that he was of the understanding that when the Board ruled to give the Boosters the $7,000, which was to be raised through a bank loan, that this money was to be paid back. James Pizadili of Felton and Superintendent Albert W. Adams explained that the true intent was to the contrary. The money was to be given outright to the Boosters. This apparently has been the practice in the past when dealing with uniforms of this nature. It was pointed out that recently Capital School District made an outright purchase for uniforms of this nature. No monies had been raised by any group such as Band Boosters. The entire Board was in agreement that the Band Boosters of Lake Forest were a dedicated and hard-working group toward the end that better school involvement through such organizations like the band. Other business brought before the board was a report from Mr. Markowitz on the new report card layouts as they apply to elementary grades. The group, which was composed of teachers and parents, came up with new symbols designed to reflect the recommendation.

Mrs. Cindy Seik reported on a matter that resulted from the recent teacher strike. The HiGrade Dairies of Harrington requested a reimbursement for losses of milk during the three-day strike. Benjamin Hughes, owner of the dairy, in a letter to the board, made the request reasoning that he is required to order the milk

Developer Requests Easement

A Wilmington real estate developer, Leon Weiner, sent two representatives to the School Board meeting Monday night in an effort to gain an easement across school property along the west side of Dorman Street in Harrington. The easement or right-of-way is necessary to Weiner's development plan for housing under the HUD program to be constructed on the Townsend Masten property to the northwest of the school.

Terry Haskins, an engineer with Edward H. Richardson and Associates, Consulting Engineers of Newark, and Norman Orchant of Leon N. Weiner and Associates of Wilmington explained the nature of the easement request. The easement will be used to run a four inch line from the project on the Masten farm along Dorman Street to a point in line with North Street to a point opposite Calvin Street where the City's pumping station is located below the surface of North Street. It was pointed out by Haskins that the easement would be wide enough so that if necessary in the future a larger line would be installed for future planned development for possibly another 100 homes in that area north of the school.

The Board granted the engineer's request to proceed to draft an easement agreement for the School Board's approval.

Freedom Train Makes First Stop In Delaware

The Freedom Bell, a twice life-size reproduction of the Liberty Bell, is among hundreds of attractions on the American Freedom Train. The Freedom Train will make its national debut, beginning a 21-month, 80-city tour, at Delaware Park Tuesday, April 1. It will remain in Delaware through Friday, April 4. Open hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday and until midnight Friday.

The Freedom Bell is six feet two inches high and weighs 17,073 pounds. It was cast without the crack under the supervision of the Whitechapel Foundry in London, the same foundry that cast the original. The American Freedom train, drawn by a steam locomotive especially restored for this 17,000-mile journey through all 48 of the contiguous states, has 25 cars in all. The exhibit cars depict 200 years of American history and progress in such diverse aspects of American life as exploration, sports, the arts, conflict and resolution, and others.

The train has been designated an official Bicentennial project by the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, and is one of the few projects that will be easily available for all Americans to see. Tickets, at $2 for adults and $1 for young people 18 and under and for persons over 65, are on sale in the lobbies of all Wilmington Trust Company offices. Advance ticket sales benefit the Delaware American Revolution Bicentennial Commiaion-25 cents from each ticket goes to the commission to help finance state Bicentennial projects. The American Freedom Train is sponsored by the non-profit American Freedom Train Foundation, Inc. At the end of its run, any surplus funds will be turned over to charitable organizations.

The Freedom Bell was purchased by the American Legion on behalf of America's children. It will be housed in one of two showcase cars, which visitors will view from outside. A moving walkway will carry them through the ten exhibit cars.

Club Plans To Restore Park

Ted Ressler, Executive Director of the YMCA of Dover and Kent County, has reported that the Railroad Club of the YMCA has had two meetings and are still looking for interested folks who wish to become a part of this projects. The next meeting of the group will be Tuesday, March 26, at 10:30 a.m. at Cedar Park, as plans are made for reactivation of Cedar Park for this summer. At the last meeting, it was expressed by those present that besides retired railroad men and young people interested in railroading the club would welcome others who might be interested in joining to make Cedar Park a reality once again for the families of the State of Delaware.

during the school vacation period over Easter so they they might attend to get first hand information. In the meantime, call the Y at 674-3000 and get information about any future meetings. The Cedar Park Railroad for a number of years was a family amusement area near Woodside past the Kent Vo-Tech Center that many look back upon very fondly. It is hoped this will become a moving area once again but much help and dedication will be needed on the part of many people. If interested, call 674-3000 today.

$5,000 Bacon?

Two alleged pig rustlers were captured Saturday in Caroline County, Md. following an exchange of gunshots and a car chase and crash. Taken to the Caroline County Jail in Denton were Lacy Edward Lynch, 22, of Harrington and Kenneth Lee Trice, 26, of Marydel, Md. Maryland State Police said the incident occurred about two miles north of Greensboro when Martin Miller called to report someone shooting pigs on his property. When a state trooper, a deputy sheriff and Chief A.W. Herzberg of the Greensboro town police arrived at the scene, they saw a car leaving the farm. According to the police report, Herzberg tried to halt the car, but was almost run down. As he jumped out of the way, he fired into the rear of the car with a shotgun. With the police in pursuit, the car driven by the suspects lost control and crashed. Police said six dead shoats were found in the wrecked car. The two men were charged with grand larceny and a $5,000 bond was imposed.

"... the sands of Chincoteague have withstood the elements for ages, and are old, but they never cease to lose their appeal... and there is a lesson to be gained from it all."

Last Saturday my son David and I drove to Chincoteague where a festival was taking place. Later we drove on to Cape Charles in anticipation of being able to see large ships in the harbor. To a small boy, ships of that size mean a lot and have lasting impressions. I wasn't much older than David (5) when my father took me to Chincoteague. I remember it well. It was roundup time.

My thoughts on this trip however had to do with time and age. This paradise has been there for centuries. I wonder what man thought when first he viewed this beautiful spot.

With its age and over the years however, Chincoteague has gained wide recognition. What about age and how should it fit into our own lives? We have in this country among the working classes an age limit usually thought of as 65. It means that once a person reaches this age he must retire or leave his job to make way for a younger person.

The government through the courts has interpreted the U. S. Constitution by its amendments that there should not be any discrimination when it comes to sex, color, religion, national origin, etc. What about discrimination when it comes to age? If the mandatory age limit of 65 is enforced to the end, it will affect more than half of the members of Congress... not to say the members of the U. S. Supreme Court. (They are probably resting easy since they have lifetime appointments.)

People who have worked at their jobs until they have reached the age of 65 are, provided they have their health, coming into their prime. Benjamin Franklin was just beginning to hit his stride at 65, and his legacy to us records that most of his productive years were beyond the age of 65. He was 81 when he helped author the Declaration of Independence. I think we should take a page from Franklin's book.

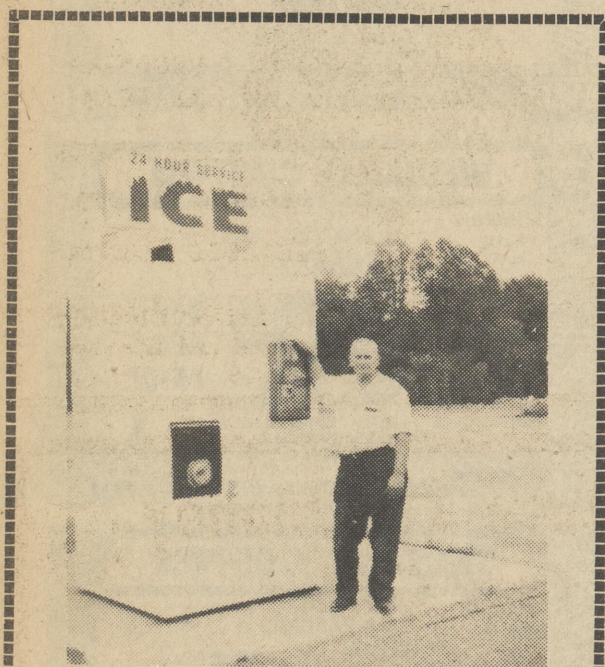

Older people are less likely to take sick days or waste time on the job, and they know how to produce... if you will, they know how to work. Their loyalty many times is genuine, for they know the importance of it.

Maybe that is what this country needs... is the people over 65 to be put back to work. So... we yell and scream about discrimination... yet one of the most misused areas in our society is how our laws discriminate against the group 65 or older. Most of them have many productive years left and most of them know how to get the job accomplished.

As my son and I toured Chincoteague and Cape Charles, his mind was working in all directions. Those kids today are really something. Another 25 years, he and his brother will probably "pension me off." Hope I am around for that birthday, because I believe the thing about 65 will have taken on a new dimension. On the other hand, I better make plans just to be on the safe side. I would settle for one of those old mansions and farms around Accomac or Onancock. The sands will be much older then, to be sure... but they will still have their appeal. This has to be the case with our older generation. We need them... and they need to be put back on the payroll. This time Congress should enact a better social security program, or in the alternative do away with age limitation.

This country must be the most powerful in the history of the world. Yet our unemployment has reached a point of 8 1/2% (probably more) a percent and a half from a depression situation. There are things to do... work to be done. It was Henry Ford who said that they would never invent a substitute for work. So... put people back to work... don't limit them just because of their age. It is not only silly... it is a crime.

The sands... there was a lesson to be gained from the trip.

Also Miss Virginia VanPelt of the Dover office, representing foster grandparents. If anyone would like to be a foster grandparent, contact the Dover office.

The quilt is still in the making, but other activities are being carried on, too, such as wastebaskets and chochet shoulder capes. The star pillows are much in evidence, as some of the women seem to enjoy making them. We hope for better weather this week and perhaps new projects will be started.

Letter To The Editor

An estimated 400 million men, women and children face starvation in Asia, Africa and Latin America. World-wide crop failures and inflation have been severe and for teeming multitudes in 33 countries the search for 'something to eat' is a search for life itself. I appeal to your readers to save the lives of some of these people by a simple, meaningful act: Skip one meal a week, or serve smaller portions or less expensive foods, and send the money saved to CARE's emergency 'EMPTY PLATE' campaign. Empty plates here will fill the empty plates of many starving families overseas. Such contributions will enable our experienced staffs to feed many more than they are already feeding in some of the hardest hit areas. We will also be able to send more seeds, tools and fertilizer so hungry people can grow the food they desperately need.

I hope many of your readers will be moved to make this crucial weekly act of self-denial and compassion. Donations may be mailed to CARE WORLD HUNGER FUND, Lit Brothers, 8th & Market Streets, Philadelphia, Pa. 19105. I hope, too, that civic clubs, churches and other organizations will distribute 'I CARE EMPTY PLATE' pledge-and-contribution envelopes in your area. Thousands overseas are dying of starvation every day. Time is of the essence.

Sincerely,
William J. Bates, Jr.

Days Of Our Years

Ten Years Ago Twenty Years Ago

Fri., March 26, 1965

very emphatically stressed the economic necessity to keep the Delmarva Line open and further emphasized that the Southern proposal was acceptable to him and to the State of Delaware. If the Southern proposal is rejected, he urged that the main line from Wilmington to Cape Charles as well as the car float be kept open and operating.

An official representing the union, United Transportation Union (UTU) informed THE JOURNAL that Southern's proposal of $30,000,000, a salvage price, seemed to be the most logical offer to accept. The price would include the right of way, all real estate and the floating barge, but it would not include any of the rolling equipment. It was believed that Mark Love's group had some $40,000,000 committed to them. Love is the young man who was formerly associated with the Penn Central Railroad as a consultant. He had long before recommended to Penn Central that the Delmarva line was not a "branch line" that it was an important freight line to this area. He also recommended that the car float be kept in operation, and that it should be up graded.

In talking with the union officials, THE JOURNAL learned that there is a great deal of freight business to be gotten "... if the Railroad will go after it." This point was further underscored in speeches by the various speakers.

After all proposals are submitted to USRA supposedly a decision will be made as to which one will be accepted and forwarded on to I.C.C. and Congress for their final approval. This will be on the 26th of July.

Speaking Of Insects

The termite probably scares more people in an economic sense than any other insect. Yet it works slowly and the damage it causes can be repaired.

The first signs of termites are often found in the spring when the insects swarm. With the arrival of warm weather some of the winged, reproductive members of each termite colony leave the old colony and disperse, swarming to locate a new place and settle down.

If you notice a swarm of insects, examine some of them closely. If their bodies are 'pinched,' or constricted, in the middle, they're ants-not termites. The body of a termite is about the same thickness from one end to the other. Examine the wings, too. The hind wings of an ant are much shorter than its forewings; the two pairs of wings on a termite are equal in length.

Antennae of ants are elbowed; whereas those of termites are straight.

Termite colonies are usually located below ground, close to moisture. However, they feed on cellulose, a component of wood, which is usually above ground. They build a network of tiny tunnels to reach the wood. The beams in the cellar, or a sill under the front door-in fact, any part of your house that is made of wood will support these insects. They'll even move through a concrete block wall if there's a small crack to give entrance.

Since termites remain hidden except when forming new colonies, springtime swarms may be your only visible warning of their presence. Termites seldom break through the surface of the wood on which they feed.

However, in addition to watching for swarms, there are other ways you can check for termite problems.

Mud-like tubes, about a quarter inch wide, on foundation walls are the termites' way of getting from the soil into your home.

If you find these tubes, break them and look for worker termites-small white insects without wings.

Also, check all points of the house where wood touches the ground or where the concrete foundation meets the walls. Use an ice pick and check areas where the pick goes into the wood easily to see if termites have been feeding there.

If you find signs of termites, have your home treated by a reputable pest control operator. The job should be done within a few weeks, once you discover the insects. But don't be rushed into action. Termites work slowly, so make sure the job is done right.

It Seams To Me

by Janet Reed

My mail contains all kinds of interesting things. The other day some company sent me a pattern for a tent. And I can't even find time to sew on a lost coat button.

Of course, it is an easy tent. You make it from twosheets. And I guess if I were younger and had a use for a tent, it might be kind of fun. But it seems someone is working mighty hard to dream up new sewing projects.

Have you looked through a pattern book lately? You'll find patterns for luggage, back packs, purses, hats, belts and sashes, and Centennial costumes. Even aprons seem to be coming back in style. There are patterns for caftans and sweaters, men's ties and tuxedos.

If you want to try the creative urge without all the work, there are instant projects such as handbags made from straw place mats, belts made with ribbon and braid and other quickies.

There are so many embroidery ideas and designs that you hardly know where to start. There are ethnic designs, patchwork and applique, way-out designs or traditional monograms.

There are color transfers that you can press right onto a T shirt, or designs you can transfer to cloth and paint with textile paints instead of embroider.

It seems that almost everyone is on a creative binge, and the pattern companies are doing everything they can to foster it. It's a healthy sign because handwork is good mental therapy. It gives us a sense of satisfaction to see works of art develop from our efforts.

Pattern companies are coming up with all sorts of ideas to satisfy the needs of those who sew. One company has introduced a three size pattern. A combination of three sizes in one pattern allows the seamstress to make any necessary adjustments for her figure. Research shows that 80 per cent of women are not a perfect size and needs to make pattern adjustments.

Pattern size combinations come in sizes 6,8 and 10; 8,10 and 12; 10,12 and 14; 12, 14 and 16; and 14,16 and 18; so this variety of combinations should fit just about everyone.

Once Over Lightly

by Margo Farrow

The last time I wrote this column, which was also the first time it appeared in print, my whole family got the old-fashioned flu for a week, and they are still recovering, so it is with some caution I attempt a second go.

This weekend features back-to-back concerts by the very capable Delaware Choral Society, who will appear in Milford for the first time. Their program will consist of the Faure Requiem and other selections of sacred music.

The group, which is conducted by University of Delaware's Dr. Peter McCarthy, will give their program in the Presbyterian Church at 3 p.m., Saturday. The organist for the concert is Ruth Gardner, a former Milford resident. A harpist will also be included as an accompanist.

On Sunday the group performs the same concert at the Presbyterian Church in Dover at 4 p.m. Music lovers will find this group a treat.

Also for those fortunate music lovers who planned ahead and got their tickets, the Vienna Boys Choir will be in Milford Monday evening. Tickets for the performance at the high school have been sold out.

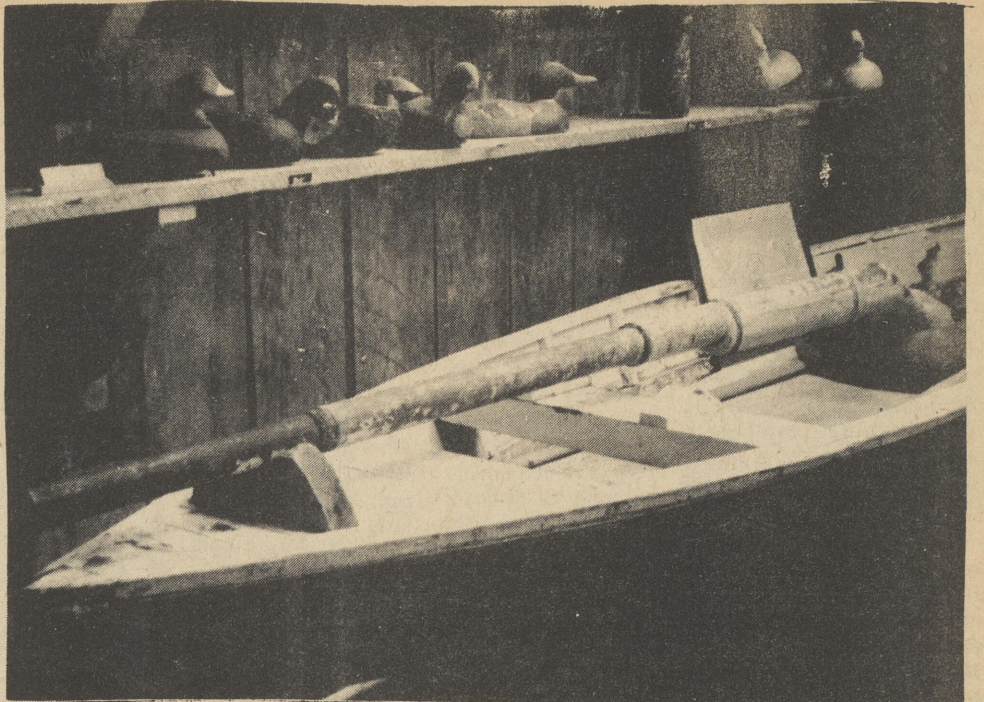

The Delaware State Museum has a new exhibit that may be of special interest for the fashion-minded. There is currently a display of bonnets, hats and walking sticks being shown, that trace changing fashions from the late 18th century to 1910. Included is a glass cane made at the Dover Glass Works. The museum, which is open daily, except for Mondays and holidays, is located at 316 South Governors Avenue, Dover.

Those inevitable signs of Spring are everywhere, thank goodness. Robins are almost a common sight once again, and many housewives are in the throes of the annual house cleaning. This year, if you haven't done so before, consider recycling those items that have lost their usefulness. Manchurches and civic organizations might have use for those clothes or household castoffs. The Salvation Army is also willing to take the unwanted items. Often the old saying about one man's trash being another man's treasure is only too true.

The weather wasn't very co-operative Friday for the Spring Bazaar at the Harrington Senior Center. Many items were snatched up, however, before I could get there. There were many new treats for sale, all hand-crafted by the seniors.

Because of the weather, there were some things left, because some people just wouldn't brave that Friday gale. There is always a section reserved for items always for sale at the Center. So, if you couldn't get by last Friday, consider looking over what they still have. The prices are very reasonable.

The Punt Gun used to hunt ducks and geese at Chincoteague. It was homemade, 2 to 4 inches in diameter, loaded with nails, and metal scraps. Outlawed today, but when used would kill up to 150 ducks at one shot. Hunter would lie on his stomach at the butt of the gun, and hand paddle toward the ducks. In range, a hunter would slap the side of the boat and fire over the heads of the ducks. Idea was to hit them in the head rather than the bodies, for the hunter sold the ducks for a living.

Decoy Show Draws 1000

Over 1000 persons turned out for the Snow Goose Decoy Contest at Chincoteague and Assateague Islands over the weekend. The two-day event featured outside demonstrations and exhibits as well as wood carving and painting contests in the recreation building at Tom's Cove in Chincoteague.

Edgar Graef of Harrington was one of the 18 wood carvers and 60 exhibitors from throughout the country present. Graef participated in the wood whittling contest on Saturday.

Mrs. Hazel Pearson was a dinner guest of Bill and Louise Sapp Sunday. It was the Sapps' 29th wedding anniversary.

Harvey Marvel Sr. spent the weekend with Joseph Marvel and family of Wilmington.

On Saturday night, a banquet was held at the Crab House in Chincoteague. Afterwards an auction was held at which craftsmen donated their works. Some $1,000 was realized from the auction, which will go toward the construction of the new National Wildfowling Museum Foundation on Assateague Island. The museum will house old guns which are now outlawed, the sneak lights, and about a half dozen boats with guns mounted on them, all illegal items now for the hunting of fowl. Also on display will be hand-carved decoys of recognized carvers. On Saturday night, Dr. Walls of Easton showed slides of the outlawed items used in hunting. Some of these items are in the Accomac Courthouse today, and will be moved to the new museum when it is built. Anyone having any items pertaining to the outlawed style of hunting should contact Edgar Graef of Harrington by calling 398-3343.

E.D. Chamberlain of Washington, D.C. spent the weekend with his mother Marie Chamberlain.

Stella Sapp spent Sunday with Bill and Josie Wechenhiser of Harrington.

O.U.R. Class will meet Wed. evening, March 26 in the Fellowship Hall. Elenora Yerkes will be the hostess.

Ted Storus has returned home after being a patient in the Kent General Hospital.

HOUSTON

by Margaret Thistlewood

Saturday, March 29, the Houston Town Board election will be held at the fire hall, between 2 and 4 p.m. Harry Towers Sr. and Ray Callaway Jr. are incumbent candidates.

Mrs. Emma Vanderwende is now recuperating at home after a recent stay in Milford Memorial Hospital.

John Lemmon and daughters Gail and Cheryl of Milford were Sunday dinner guests of Edna Sapp. Hazel Lemmon is a patient in Milford Memorial Hospital. Sgt. Norman Walls, son of Betty Pleasanton, has returned home on leave after being in Iwakum, Japan for the last fifteen months. He will report back to Cherry Hill, N.C.

Sunday dinner guests of Pauline Morgan were Dorothy Minner of Camden and Carl Prettyman of Kenton. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sipple of Viola were evening visitors.

Debbie and Gary Simpson of Lewes were weekend guests of Ella and Frances Simpson. On Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Simpson they all were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simpson of Newark.

Now is the time to make your spring application of lawn fertilizer. Cool season grasses such as fescues and bluegrasses respond well to an early spring and early fall application of fertilizer. On established plantings there are two basic programs depending upon the type of nitrogen in the fertilizer that you buy.

Fertilizers with readily available nitrogen. Suggested fertilizers per 1000 square feet of lawn. March 1 apply 12 lbs. 10-10-10, or 10 lbs. 12-4-8, or 10 lbs. 12-6-6, or 8 lbs. 16-8-8, or 6 lbs. Sept. 1-repeat above treatment.

Fertilizers with more than 50 per cent slowly available nitrogen. Suggested fertilizers per 1000 square feet of lawn. March 1 apply 20 lbs. 10-10-10, or 16 lbs. 12-4-8, or 16 lbs. 12-6-6, or 12 lbs. 16-8-8, or 10 lbs. 20-10-20, or 30 lbs. natural organic fertilizer. September 1 repeat above treatment.

If you are planning to seed in the spring, I would suggest taking a soil sample to determine the amounts of lime and fertilizer to use. A spring seeding can be made soon after April 1 whenever the soil can be properly prepared. If spring seeding is absolutely necessary, we feel that the fall is the most ideal time to seed your new lawn.

Our publication, Extension bulletin # 97, 'The Art of Lawn Care', is available from our office. If you would like this bulletin please call or write Extension Office, P.O. Box 340, Dover, Del. 19909 or call 736-1448.

Late March and early April is the time to plant cabbage, broccoli, carrots, peas, lettuce, onions, radishes, spinach, and turnips. This is a good time also to start your tomatoes, zinnias, marigolds, petunias, and other bedding plants. Sow seed in suitable containers containing a light soil mix with good drainage. Keep warm until germination 70-75 degrees. Once seeds have germinated, place on a well lit window sill or use artificial lights for 16 hours a day and place in a cooler environment, 60-65 degrees. If a cold frame is available, plants should be hardened off before placing out in the garden. Please consult our home vegetable gardening publication for more information, Extension bulletin # 55.

How to keep on top of your electric bill

Read your meter periodically. It's simple and only takes a minute. Just write down the number from each dial that the needle has just passed. For example, the reading from this meter is 8302.

Then...subtract the present reading as shown on your current bill from the figure you just wrote down. That will be the number of kilowatt hours you've used since your last reading. In this case the customer has used 674 since the last reading.

It may be helpful to compare this to the total number of kilowatt hours you were billed for in the previous month.

Incidentally, meters with five dials are read in the same way.

We know that you're paying more for electricity because we're paying more for the coal and oil we burn to make your electricity.

If you want to cut down on your kilowatt hour usage and your electric bill, periodic meter readings can be a very useful tool in gauging your conservation progress.

If you need more assistance, give us a call, we'd like to help.

SPORTS

KEITH S. BURGESS, Sports Editor

Track Men Prepare

Lake Forest High has had individual standouts in track but losing teams since Jim Blades last coached the thin-clad sport in 1973. The young Spartan head coach led the team to back-to-back state championships in cross country the last two years, and will attempt to rejuvenate the track program.

The school board, administration and Bill Abbott have constructed a practice track at the high school. This will be a tremendous asset, since it eliminates the wasted time spent traveling back and forth to Harrington's Chipman School track, as had been done for four years.

Blades' special recruiting magic is in evidence once more. Although losing six early recruits to javayee baseball, he still has 68 candidates with others expected to report soon. Track has something like 17 different events, thus it can offer opportunities to more boys than almost any other scholastic sport.

The state champion cross-country team should be able to furnish most of the needed runners from 440 yards on up, leaving most of the new hopefuls to take care of the sprints and field events.

ron Dunlap, 52.9 in the quarter last spring, may be used in several events, probably 220, 440, plus some relays.

Kevin Wooters, Tim McCombs and Bob Mullane are already over five feet in the high jump in March. Rick Loper and Roy Young may make this event a strong one for the Spartans, for a change.

George Moore, Bill Moore and Bob Loper are athletes who may score in the hurdles and horizontal jumps.

Steve Saulsbury, a versatile young man, and Bob Mullane are returning pole vaulters, with Tim McCombs and Mark Tatman as other possibilities.

Matt Burgess threw the discus near 121 feet in 1974. Jerry Thompson spun the platter 113. Both may also toss the 12 pound shot, along with Bruce Benson, Charles Bessellieu and Doug Warrington. Leon and Ron Shockey should be tops here, however.

Other aspirants are: John Nickle, Jim Harris, Mike Quaile, Walt Bishop, Pete Hynson, Ron Loper, Wade Kimball, Jerry Mack, John O'Toole, Gusto Voshell, Cliff Ayres, Tom Ott, Rod Donovan, Dan Glasspool, Ed Young, Curt Maloney, Kelly Woodward, Don Baynard, Larry and Barry Cooper, Eugene Butler, Curtis Taylor, Curtis Harris, Ron Woods, Anthony Wells, Russ Knaub, Purnell Stratton, Kevin Thomas, Chuck Pitts and Marty Voshell.

Dover, Cape Henlopen and Milford are top track contenders in the Henlopen Conference. Lake Forest, with a 3-5 in 1974, is shooting for a winning season this time.

Cycle Race Scheduled

Tom Cravens of the Dover AFB Spartan's Motorcycle Club has announced that a Motorcycle Rodeo will be held at 1 p.m. on March 23 at the Dover AFB Christmas tree area, located east of the runway on Dover AFB.

The rodeo will consist of a variety of events for all classes and types of motorcycles. There is an entry fee of $2. Classes will be divided into road bikes, and off the road bikes. Mini bike events will also be run. Each class will be run according to the size of the various bikes.

Prizes and medals will be awarded for the first three places in each class.

The event is open to civilians and military alike.

Competitors under 18 years of age will have to have a parent or guardian present at the time of registration. Additional information may be obtained by calling 678-6018.
