Harold Frazier, trainer-driver, works out Coerd'or, one of his 21 horses early in the morning to prepare for opening race day at Harrington Tuesday.

Spring Meet To Begin Here Nightly Races Are Planned

They'll soon be off and running here at the Harrington Raceway again, as preparations are underway for the spring meet, which is scheduled to begin Tuesday, April 1st.

Ten races will be raced daily during the 25-day meet with post time at 8 p.m. except Sundays, when post time is 6:30 p.m.

A new innovation this year will be the lottery race. Each Wednesday night following the regular eighth race, a special non-betting race will take place, to determine the winners of the weekly Delaware lottery.

Among the trainer-drivers to be seen during the spring meet are Jack Parker, Austin Gallentine, Charley Pitts, Sammy Belote, Jimmy Porter, Ellis Myers, Eddie Crowson and Harold Frazier.

recently talked with Harold Frazier, who has been racing for about five years. He has about 21 horses and has been racing in the racing business for five years. He says he used to show registered quarter horses, but he got interested in the standard breeds. The 31-year old driver-trainer had a good record last year, and says he never bets on himself. 'I do better when I don't bet' says Frazier. He tours the area tracks, as do many of the track people, but home is Harrington. He makes a return trip on weekends, regardless of whether he is at Rosecroft, Ocean Downs or Brandywine. Inflation has had an effect on the racing industry too, says Frazier.

The price of feed, hay and straw has jumped. Straw, which used to be 25c a bale is now 90c or $1 a bale.

Frazier has an optimistic look, however. This Felton native, who has a wife and one infant daughter, is just one of the many personalities now on hand and ready for that win.

Nightly races will feature two doubles, exactas every race, six $3 Quinellas and a Big E.

For the spectators, there is an enclosed club house where dinners are served by the Nilon Brothers.

The State of Delaware offices will be closed on Friday, March 28, in observance of Good Friday. Only a limited number of employees designated as essential personnel will work that day.

Schools throughout the Lake Forest School District and the state will be closed from Friday, March 28 until Monday, April 7 for spring vacation.

One Appeals Taxes

On Monday night, Mayor William Minner and several councilmen were at City Hall to listen to the citizens who wished to have their tax appeals heard.

Only one citizen took advantage of the appeal night. Clarence Barlow appeared shortly after the hearings opened. He believed his tax assessment should be lowered based on the assessments of neighboring properties.

The largest city assessments are levied on Burrell Foods and Consolidated Thermoplastics Corporation. Each has undergone expansion during the past twelve months. CTC is still in the process of constructing. The company is located on the old Henry Clukey farm near the Delaware State Fair Grounds.

According to general discussion around the council table was that possible reason for no more objections to tax assessments was because the taxes are not high. The City uses a discount system that operates on early payment of taxes receiving anywhere from a three to one per cent discount. For taxes paid in April, a three per cent, with a two per cent available in May and a one per cent break if paid by June. For taxes not paid by September 30, a penalty of one per cent is assessed.

Love Makes Bid Still Viewing Penn Central

Late last Wednesday afternoon at the ICC hearings in Salisbury, Mark Love came before the public forum to testify in behalf of his company, the Eastern Shore Railroad.

Practically all the witnesses during the three days last week had either endorsed the need to keep the Delmarva Line open, from Cape Charles to Wilmington or had endorsed the plan of purchase of this line by Southern Railroad. Love laid out his plan of purchase by stating initially that his plan would include the purchase of all the lines, including the branches and he would keep them operating. Southern had indicated they would run only the profitable lines. Love also pointed out his purchase would mean the need for 170 additional employees, which would mean a payroll increase of $3 million. He said he would need 1200 new freight cars as well as locomotives and cabin cars (caboose).

Love was a former employee of Penn Central, and while so employed, he researched the feasibility of keeping the car float at Cape Charles operative. Not only was it necessary, according to his study, but the continuation of the car float was viewed as the key to the entire program.

Continuation of the car float means economic growth to the entire eastern shore. Both it and the track need rehabilitation. Love pointed out. Track rehabilitation would begin immediately if Love were to purchase the Penn Central.

He predicted that 90 per cent of the track could be rehabilitated by the third year of operation. All lines would be rehabilitated. The car float would be updated or replaced with a new one, as well as upgrading the loading bridges for the float.

Love's sources of revenue were not made clear, but he indicated between $5 and $6 millions would be on deposit in several Eastern shore banks at all times.

Love also indicated he would be depending on cooperation as well from eastern banking institutions.

CHARLES JONES

GORDIE VINCENT

Junior Olympic Wrestling Champs

Ten boys from Lake Forest School District entered the National AAU Junior Olympic Qualifying Wrestling Tournament held Saturday, March 22, at Conrad High School, Wilmington. Over 450 wrestlers from the state were entered in this tournament, the first of its kind in Delaware.

The boys entering from Harrington were: David Moffett, Charles Jones, Doug Jarrell, Mark Homewood, Kevin Satterfield, David Shultie, Larry McCombs Brian Eckenrode, Gordie Vincent and David Brown. Doug Jarrell and David Brown both took 4th place in their weight classes, while David Shultie took 3rd.

Charles Jones and Gordie Vincent each won their weight class by winning all four of their matches.

Charles Jones, a fifth grader at Lake Forest South, recorded pins in his first three matches with pins in 15 seconds, 51 seconds and 2 minutes and 53 seconds. He defeated his opponent in the final match by a score of 13-0.

Gordie Vincent, an eighth grader at W. T. Chipman

School, defeated the defending champion 15-0 in his first match and in his next three matches recorded a pin, 8-0, and 2-0 decisions. Both boys are Harringtonians. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David O. Jones and Vincent is the son of Mrs. Marilyn Vincent.

They will join the 55 young Delawareans who qualified to leave from Franklin and Marshall University Friday for the Middle Atlantic Regionals to be held in Lancaster Pa. The first three places in each division's weight class will be eligible to go to Seattle, Washington to compete in the National Junior Olympic Tournament against wrestlers from all over the United States.

The Lake Forest youth were products of the Saturday morning Wrestling Clinic, held at W.T. Chipman School. The boys are instructed there by Lake Forest senior, Alan Welch, the most outstanding wrestler of the Henlopen Conference tournament. The boys also receive instruction from Dean Wern, the Lake Forest junior high and elementary coach.

Man Held On Murder Charge

Allan B. Carpenter, 53, who has been living in Milford, was charged with 1st-degree murder Sunday and is in Sussex Correctional Institution near Georgetown being held without bail.

Carpenter is charged with allegedly shooting his wife, Virginia O'Neal Carpenter, 56, in the chest with a .22 caliber pistol. The incident reportedly took place in Adams' Food Liner Market in Bridgeville around 4 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Carpenter was taken to Nanticoke Memorial Hospital, Seaford, where she died the following morning around 11 a.m.

Mrs. Carpenter had worked for the H.P. Cannon Co. in Bridgeville. Surviving are three sons, William P. O'Neal, Ray T. O'Neal, and Harry R. O'Neal; a daughter Darlene V. Bratten, all of the Seaford area; a sister, Bessie Willey of Dover and three grandchildren.

Services were Tuesday afternoon at 1 at the Watson Funeral Home, Seaford. Interment was in St. Johnstown Cemetery, Greenwood.

New Cable Is In Service

Diamond State Telephone Company has just installed a new $127,000 telephone cable in Harrington which will provide additional wire facilities for future customers east and south of the Harrington central office, located on Hanley Street.

Telephone company crews placed 12,600 feet of new underground cable, 7,800 feet of aerial cable, and 540 feet of conduit. Another cable leaves the central office and goes north on Hanley Street to Clark Street, and east on Clark to Delaware Avenue. Aerial cable was also placed from

One Million In Art And Treasure Viewed At Del-Tech Dedication

Delaware Technical and Community College near Georgetown dedicated its new multi-occupational learning center this past weekend.

Beginning Friday, visitors open square with a center court yard, and a 400-seat auditorium at one side. Also in the new complex, which is designed for flexibility of use, is a large, hangar-like area, which is designed for heavy industrial training.

An art exhibit and artifacts recovered from a Spanish ship off the Florida coast by a group including Sussex contractor Melvin L. Joseph and with a combined value of $1 million were on display for the guests. Among the art offerings, which all belonged to Sussex residents were originals by Leonardo da Vinci, Gilbert Stuart, Frederick Remington and Howard Pyle. Also on display were several works of Charles Parks, Hockessin sculptor.

A series of events during the weekend were scheduled to celebrate the dedication.

Included were band concerts by Sussex County high school bands on Saturday, a jazz concert by the Salisbury State College jazz ensemble on Saturday night and a concert by the Delaware Symphony Orchestra on Sunday.

Campus director, Jack Owens, remarked the new facility and the 400-seat auditorium in particular was the most exciting thing to happen in Sussex county in some time. He emphasized that the new facility would be used to train people in skills, regardless of their level of education. He said the facility was flexible and would be adapted to community needs. At the present time, a sewing course is being given because there is a need for trained garment workers, Owens said.

Owens pointed out that enrollments which were down in other colleges, were greater at Del tech than ever before.

License Needed For Child Care

The State Division of Social Services is in the process of alerting the public to the need for licensing for anyone who cares for children in their homes where the person is compensated for such care.

There is no charge for the licensing, but the process does involve inspection of the home where the child care is provided.

For further information, call 678-4800 in Kent County and 856-2564 in Sussex County.

If You Win, So Does IRS

According to the IRS, if you win the Delaware State Lottery, you must report these winnings as income on your 1975 federal income tax return.

If you itemize your deductions, and have lottery winnings, you may deduct your losses up to the amount you won. You should keep adequate records to substantiate your claims if the IRS selects your return for audit.

Remember—losses themselves are not deductible, you must win and file an itemized return in order to deduct.

The Lottery Commission is required to report winnings over certain amounts to the IRS.

... it is predicted that someday soon a corporation will become the fourth major power in the world.

There has been a trend over the past several years for all corporations to become larger. Some as a result have progressed to the conglomerate size.

When you wonder about this movement, your answers invariably come back to the simple deduction that being greed. The accepted definition from a dictionary standpoint is "an inordinate or rapacious desire... especially for wealth."

It is a frightening concept... to be sure, but for the most part it is a very sad situation. With this concept, our lives have become directly effected, for we have now found ourselves in a controlled situation. The economic market as well is directly effected, and there has been a tendency over the last 10 or 12 months to institute a program propaganda or otherwise to make us believe that there is a shortage of those products known to all to be "essential... or precious" to our everyday being.

Never in the economic history of this country has there been recorded the margin of profits which the major oil companies realized last year. That was the year in which we were led to believe to have suffered great shortages and major depletions of vital goods.

We don't know what to believe, for we cannot get at the truth. The larger companies are so powerful that they can arbitrarily forbid one from prying into their affairs.

We have departed from the simple ways of life as we knew them in "those golden years of our past" where men helped and aided his fellow man. Time moved slowly in those "years."

With the presence of the large corporations, the customer-client relationship becomes a very impersonal one. The customer now by and large must deal with a computer, which when mistakes are made causes a great deal of confusion.

In the final analysis, it is man versus the corporation and the computer which is a struggle far more difficult than man versus the machine. The only deduction remaining then is due to the vast sizes and complexities of the corporations today, one is led to believe that one day a corporation is likely to emerge as the fourth major power in the world.

LOVE—

Although Love and his group face the difficulty of unseating Southern's bid to take over Penn Central, another basic premise in the law faces this group. Under terms of USRA (the railroad reorganization act) ANDICC regulations, only other railroad companies already operating common carriers can purchase a railroad.

Love pointed out his group would probably acquire the rights to the locomotive shop in Wilmington. Here again, Love points out, is one of the basic problems. He has felt that as a basic premise the success of his railroad, the Eastern Shore Railroad, will be due to the fact that as the problems come up daily, they will be right there to solve them.

Beware The Bunco Men

Call it 'flimflam' or 'bunco,' it's still a fraud or a swindle. While the names may sound like the latest tv advertised parlor game, the player is actually a 'con artist' or confidence man, and the victim is likely to be you.

The American Bankers Association (ABA) reports that the current economic situation has multiplied the number of con games in operation. Not only are crooks working harder to make a fast buck, consumers, it seems, are less cautious about withdrawing their savings at the suggestion of swindlers in hopes of beating inflation.

It's unfortunately true that senior citizens seem to be the biggest group of victims. In fact, it's been estimated that 90 per cent of the people taken in are over 70 years of age. Within this group, those approached most often are older ladies living alone. And yet, no one is immune.

How can you protect yourself? It helps to be aware of certain key words that usually tip off a con game. Be on guard, says the ABA, whenever you hear the words: 'get rich quick,' 'something for nothing,' 'secret plan,' or 'this opportunity won't be here tomorrow.'

Roth Views Filibuster Fight

After years of trying to change its rules to make it easier to end a filibuster, the Senate has adopted a procedure which permits only three-fifths of its members, instead of two-thirds, to invoke cloture and end debate.

Some have hailed this change as long-needed reform. Some see it as the beginning of the end of minority rights in the Senate. Others view it as not a meaningful change at all.

In evaluating the change in the venerable filibuster rule, I think it is important to remember that the principle of requiring more than a simple majority vote to decide an issue is not unique to the Senate. A two-thirds vote of both Houses of Congress is necessary to override a Presidential veto.

There is no question that the filibuster has been abused in the past. It has certainly been used without hesitation by minorities—frequently liberal minorities—simply because its primary purpose is to serve as a protection for them, a tool to assure not only that their views are heard but that a majority could not bulldoze its way through to instant legislation.

The danger in attempts to whittle down the size of the vote necessary to invoke cloture is, I believe, that eventually you will arrive at the requirement for merely a simple majority. The criminals obtain the confidence of a likely victim and claim they would like to share with him a large find of money. The victim is then asked to donate some 'good faith money' to them while waiting for his share of the find. During the wait, of course, the criminals run off with the cash they have been given.

The Bank Examiner swindle is put into operation by a person claiming to be a bank examiner who needs help in catching a dishonest teller. To cooperate with the examiner, the victim is asked to withdraw from his savings account a large amount of money. The con artist then promises to return the cash to the bank, but instead takes off with it.

Although the person posing as a bank examiner may sound very convincing, don't fall for that line. The ABA says under no circumstances will a bank examiner, FBI agent or other law-enforcement official request a bank customer to withdraw cash from an account.

One final tip: while the variety of swindles is huge and only limited by the imagination of the con artist, all swindles have one thing in common—eventually the victim is asked for money. If you ever receive such a request, inform an officer of your bank and the local police department. Not only will you be helping yourself, you might prevent the loss of a neighbor's life savings.

Founding Fathers did not have that sort of system in mind when they created the Senate.

No matter how impatient the majority may become, dissent must never be stifled. Moreover, I am not persuaded that the filibuster has ever been successfully used to deny to the American people what they really wanted.

The delay that results from its use is the price we pay for the protection of the minority. It is not too high a price to pay. The alternative—instant action by a steamroller process—carries a price tag none of us can afford.

For these reasons I opposed the recent change in the Senate rules involving cloture.

Delaware State Fairgrounds Stays Busy All Year

Many people wonder what happens at the Delaware State Fair after all the animals and children, the popcorn and candy, the ferris wheels and fireworks and the politicians leave after each year's fair in July.

"Where have all the children gone?" the song goes. What goes on to support the staff and fill all the buildings to pay for that one fast moving, hot, fun-filled week in July? Many people ask the employees who work at the fair what they can possibly do to keep busy when the fair is only open one week out of the entire year.

To the average person passing by the fairgrounds on rt. 13 at Harrington, the grounds indeed look dead most of the year, but so does a beehive in the middle of winter. An avid beekeeper will quickly point out though that much is going on inside to prepare for next year's honey. And so it is with the Delaware State Fair.

Of course, as most people already are aware, this is where one of the first pari-mutuel harness racing tracks in the country was established. Formerly known as the Kent-Sussex Raceway and now, Harrington Raceway, it provides well over one million dollars in direct income to the area it serves, plus a good deal more in indirect income derived from the sales and services used in connection with the racing industry. Open approximately 70 days during the year, Harrington Raceway has a month of spring racing in April and two months of racing during September and October.

But this still leaves better than eight months of the year unaccounted for in terms of activity at the fair. What happens during this time?

To all those who have been to the Delaware State Fair and have seen all the animals in the barns and buildings around the grounds, it's probably taken for granted that, except during the fair and races, the stalls are left Nothing could be further from the truth.

At some track in the state, plus those in neighboring states, racing is going on all year and horses have to be continually trained. This is where the fair takes over.

On most any given day, there are better than 400 horses being stalled and trained at Harrington. Three tracks are in use at all times with varying distances for each. This allows horsemen to train for whichever racetrack they intend to race their horses, be it Brandywine Raceway's five-eighths mile oval, Rosecroft's half-mile, or even Bay

Meadows Racetrack in San Mateo, California, which runs the mile. Horses are continually being shipped in and out of Harrington to race as far west as California, north to Canada, and south to Florida. Some of the most famous horses in harness racing history have either had some training or have raced at Harrington sometime during their career. Great racing owners and drivers including dancer, Houghton, Filion and Miller have raced here.

In recent years a great deal of thought has gone into planning buildings with dual purposes. As an example of this is the new building where at last year's fair the poultry and sheep exhibits were housed. As soon as the fair ends, that building can be changed into a shipping barn to receive new arrivals of horses coming on the grounds to race for perhaps only one race before moving to another track. In a day's time it can be converted from an elaborate hen house to functional stalls for over 25 horses.

Another building that can be used year-round is the one where the 4-H and Youth Department have exhibits. That building is used during the winter for storage of large equipment and has been rented by various companies for storage, since it contains better than 10,000 square feet of enclosed floor space and is over 25 feet in height.

The grandstand has had many uses in the past year, playing host to the Delmarva Hamfest, Mason-Dixon C-B's, the Arabian Horse Show, Delaware Electric Cooperative's annual meeting, motorcycle races, a rock concert, and fund raising efforts by local fire companies, such as flea markets. Last fall it was also used to stage the Billy Graham Crusade.

For the past few years the Mispillion Kennel Club has used the fair to stage their annual dog show, which usually draws well over 600 entries from regional states. So appearances can be quite deceiving. All is not as quiet as it seems at the fairgrounds. If you still don't believe it, come on in and see for yourself. Just don't get caught by a horseman trying to talk you into buying a horse, because once it gets in your blood it never lets go.

In March or early April as soon as the ground is dry enough, home gardeners may plant strawberries. Select a well drained soil where water does not stand on top during the winter or early spring. Do not plant where sod has been grown several years. Prepare the soil as you would for a garden-spade or plow and smooth. Do not use manure just before planting. Apply three pounds (about 1 1/2 qts.) of 5-10-10 or 5-10-15 per 100 square feet a week before planting and work in by harrowing or raking four or five inches deep. Be sure the fertilizer is well mixed in the soil or it will burn the plants. If you do not have time to apply fertilizer before planting, use two tablespoons of 5-10-10 around each plant a few days after planting.

Apply in a circle about six to eight feet away from the plant and work into the soil. Plant in rows four feet apart and two feet apart in the row. Mix up the starter solution before planting. Apply one half a cup to each plant. Use a trowel or shovel to set the plants. Make a hole deep enough to spread out the roots. Be sure the crown of the plant is level with the top of the ground. Press soil around plants firmly. Remove all buds and flowers the first year. This causes the plants to grow faster and increases yield. When runner plants are produced, place them four to six feet apart. If they are allowed to grow naturally, they become too crowded. Cut off or remove all new runners produced in September or October. These late runners do not produce much fruit and act a weeds. Leave 18 inches between rows. Cultivate or hoe the strawberry bed six or eight times. Kill weeds while they are small. Do not allow crab grass to grow up between plants. Apply a mulch in late November or early December deep enough to cover all the leaves. Use straw, pine chaffs, hay or similar material.

Care the second year:

Apply 1 lb. (about a pint) of 5-10-10 fertilizer per 50 feet of row in February right on top of the mulch and plants. Remove the mulch gradually in the spring and place it between the rows. Leave a little mulch to settle around the plants to prevent weeds, conserve moisture, and keep the berries clean. Most insects may be controlled by spraying or dusting with malathion. If the berries start to rot during or before the picking season, spray or dust with captan. Recommended varieties are: Sunrise, Farifax, Midway, Surecrop, Guardian, Raritan, Sparkle Suwanee and Jerseybelle.

THE OLD CORNER GROCERY STORE

By SAM A. SHORT

The old corner grocery store Has gone and is out of date, When men talked of farming And hunting of years of late. There's no more hitching posts For the horses as used to be. The old porch roofs have disappeared, With unsightly forms to see. No more dirty shelves inside, Everything is now so neat and clean. No more guessing about the price, But higher, more than we've ever seen. A dollar used to buy a lot of things, A whole day's supply and sometimes more. This makes a difference with the modern store. But we can't complain, it's the change of time. There's greater expenses than used to be Yes, taxes, insurance, and current to pay. Labor is higher for the merchant we know, Takes more of it most every day. A can is marked with its prices today, Everyone has to pay the same, we find. They're higher and somewhat out of line, We can't help it, it's the change of time. The old pot-belly stove is gone from the floor, Gas and oil is scarce for fuel we need, Takes a lot more but it could be worse we know, If we had to go back to the old time store.

TESTED TIPS TO HELP YOU

The inevitable spills and splatters that occur at the dinner table should be removed as soon as possible and before laundering. Grease and greasy food stains, which are particularly difficult to remove if left to stand, can be quickly and easily treated with corn starch. Cover stain with a layer of corn starch; roll up stained item and let stand. The corn starch will absorb grease. Then launder as usual.

Corn starch is considered an excellent dusting powder. Use a sprinkling of corn starch in rubber dish washing gloves each time they are worn. The gloves will slip on and off more easily and stay free from that clammy feeling. It's a good idea, also, to use a sprinkling of corn starch in boots to absorb moisture.

On those days when everything seems to go wrong, take time for a soothing corn starch bath. Fill the tub with hot water, pour in a cup or two of corn starch and swish it through the water to dissolve. Then spend as many leisurely minutes as possible just soaking.

That scientific term "astronaut" is rather romantic in the original Greek. Aston means star and nautes sailor, so an "astronaut" is one who sails among the stars.

X-Ray To Aid Cancer Detec tion

Special x-ray equipment for the examination of the breast is now installed at the Milford Memorial Hospital and the Department of Radiology has completed preparations to initiate this important service. The unit is being donated by the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital.

In announcing the addition to the hospital's health care facilities, Administrator Joseph B. Ahlschier said, "While this diagnostic procedure is now available, it is not meant to replace conventional methods for detection and evaluation of diseases of the breast. It may supply information that cannot be gained by physical examination, but the physician must make the final evaluation. For this reason any individual desiring breast x-ray examination should not apply directly to the hospital, but should contact her physician.

The mammographic x-ray procedure is a simple procedure involving four x-rays, two of each breast, and the time involved to provide this service to each patient is approximately 15 minutes. This service will be available during the normal working hours of the x-ray department on an appointment basis.

Administrator Ahlschier said the impression the hospital would conduct a breast screening program similar to that of the Wilmington Medical Center is not accurate. The screening program at the Wilmington Medical Center is funded by the American Cancer Society and the National Institute of Health. The Milford Hospital and the physicians of the community wish to apprise all who are registered in the Wilmington program, and those who are eligible to enter it, to continue in that program as long as it is in operation. The program being initiated by the Milford Hospital is a diagnostic mammographic x-ray procedure and is another tool to assist the family physicians in their role of preventive health care.

Clark Is On Wrestling Team

Salisbury State College's wrestling team will have a hard time bettering its season this year, but with only one grappler graduating, Coach Mike McGlinchey is optimistic.

"When I look at what our wrestlers have done this season, I can't help but be pleased," states McGlinchey. In the three years of coaching wrestling at Salisbury State, McGlinchey has coached to 32 wins, 14 losses and one tie.

Sophomore Tom Clark of Felton was a preseason candidate to hold down the top spot at 126 pounds. An injury kept him out of action most of the year, although he finished third in the University of Delaware Tournament. He scored one victory at 126 while falling once at 126 and twice at 142.

Cable

Another underground cable leaves the central office and goes south on Hanley Street and west on Mispillion Street to Commerce Street.

The company will now remove 15,600 feet of old cable and four telephone poles.

Little League Tryouts Saturday

The Harrington Little League Baseball Association will hold tryouts for all new baseball players who registered to play in the Little League and Senior League DIVISIONS.

The tryouts were held March 22 and again this Saturday at 1 o'clock at the Moose diamonds.

Any boys who registered for the Minor League division will be contacted later by the coaches as to their practice schedule. Minor League boys do not have tryouts.

Freedom Train Arrives In April

The Freedom Train will make its national debut at Delaware Park, Tuesday, April 1, with opening ceremonies set for 11 a.m. From 8 a.m. until noon on opening day, there will be no charge to the public — a DuPont Company contribution has made this possible.

From noon April 1 until the end of the Freedom Train's stay in Delaware at midnight, Friday, April 4, admission will be $2 for adults and $1 for children 18 and under and persons over 65. The train will be open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday and until midnight Friday.

After leaving Delaware, the Freedom Train will go to Albany, New York, and then on around the nation on a 21-month, 17,000-mile tour that will take it into all the contiguous 48 states. It will make stops in 80 cities.

More than 700 RTIFACTS OF America's history and progress are on the train, which will be pulled by a steam locomotive.

Ten of the cars have been completely rebuilt, with a moving walkway to take 18,000 visitors an hour through the train. Viewers will carry transistorized radio receivers which will pick up broadcast descriptions of each exhibit as they pass by.

Each car has its own theme. Included are: The Beginning, Exploration and Expansion, Growth of the Nation, Origins, Innovations, Labor and Professions, Sports, Performing Arts, Fine Arts, and Conflict and Resolution.

Two showcase cars will be viewed from the outside. They contain a display of transportation and the Freedom Bell, the twice-life sized replica of the Liberty Bell.

The American Freedom Train, an official Bicentennial project, is sponsored by the non-profit American Freedom Train Foundation, Inc. If there is a surplus of funds after its tour, charitable institutions will be the beneficiaries.

Harrington defeated McClary's 29-26 to finish the season tied for third and earn a playoff spot. Don Childre scored 16 for the business bunch, including two late-game clutch field goals.

In their first playoff game, the team defeated previously unbeaten Troubleshooters 31-14 which included Larry Stubbs' five points and some key rebounds.

In a closely contested final game Monday night at Caesar Rodney, Harrington defeated Lake Club 24-21, although Business lead the entire game.

Don Childre had 14 points and Gary Anthony had 7 points to lead the scorers.

FARM FACTS

Off To An Early Start

Most of the food and feed crops now grown in the United States were established in colonial America by the end of the 17th century.

Fertilizers In Demand

It's estimated that four times the amount of fertilizer now being used would be required to double food production in the world's developed countries.

Thanks To Henry Clay

Hereford cattle were introduced in this country by U.S. Statesman Henry Clay in 1817.

Common Weed Proves To Have Uncommon Trait

A common weed whose usefulness was known to American Indians is now drawing recognition from scientists.

It's the coneflower, a perennial of the thistle family that grows in the central United States.

Indians used some of its parts for germ-killers and pain relievers. Later, early American pharmacists dispensed the plant's dried roots and their alcoholic extracts as analgesics and also as medicines for treating bronchial disorders.

Now USDA's agricultural research scientists have identified three useful compounds found in the coneflower's roots. Two of these have potential for insect control and the third for anti-cancer treatment.

Dr. Martin Jacobson of the Agricultural Research Service says the weed appears to be a "cornucopia of pesticides."

He heads a team of chemists who began studying the coneflower root several years ago.

The Spoilers fell victim to a very strong T and M Rejects squad as the Rejects crushed the Spoilers in two games for three points and kept the Spoilers from moving back into sole possession of first place.

Bill Manship paced People's with a 225 game and 578 series, and Frank Collins added a 222 game and 550 series, with Stanley Smith adding an above average effort.

Certain central African tribeswomen are never allowed to eat liver, because they believe that liver is the seat of the soul, and women, who have no souls, shouldn't be allowed to acquire any.

A compound made from dried coneflower roots killed stored flour, grain, and other food products — and also was deadly to house flies, mosquito larvae, and German cockroaches.

Another compound from the roots mimics an insect hormone.

Bill Would Permit School Prayers

Senator Bill Roth introduced recently a bill intended to give states the right to permit voluntary participation in prayers or other religious expressions in public schools and buildings.

"The primary purpose of this legislation," Roth said in a Senate speech, "is to reinstate the legal right of the states to make their own decision with respect to prayer in public schools."

He said the bill would remove from the jurisdiction of Federal courts any future litigation emanating from state laws relating to the free exercise of religious expression or prayer in public schools or other public buildings.

The senior Delaware senator also reintroduced a proposed amendment to the United States Constitution to permit voluntary prayer in public buildings, including public schools. He introduced a similar measure in 1973, but it died in committee.

"As a result of the Supreme Court decision of 1962 on prayer in public schools," Roth said, "the few that reject religion have been able to impose their will over the vast majority of Americans by denying their children the right to harmlessly reaffirm their faith and dependence on God."

Roth said there was strong support in Delaware and throughout the country for voluntary prayer in public schools.

Girl Scout News

National Girl Scout Week, March 9 to the 16th was a busy week for Troop 684.

Sunday the Rev. Joseph Holliday of Trinity Methodist Church gave a service dedicated to the scouts. Attending were: Deanna Aptt, Debbie Edgar, Beth Reed, April Testerman, Mrs. Louise Aptt and Mrs. Betty Edgar.

During the week we had a display of crafts in Leroy Calhoun's window.

All attended Tuesday's outing March 11 when we toured the Milford radio station. The scouts met Dennis Hazzard, news announcer, Craig Scott, Jolly Wally and Joe Beall. The troop had the chance to sing one of its songs on the radio. Tuesday evening we met at the home of Mrs. Linda Hawkins to make corsages for the mothers to wear at the birthday dinner. On Wednesday, March 12, all attended the mother and daughter dinner held at the Milford Little School, which was held in honor of the 63rd Girl Scouts birthday. Those attending included: Mrs. Louise Aptt and Deanna; Mrs. Betty Edgar and Debbie; Mrs. Norma Donato and Denise; Mrs. Barbara Testerman and April; Mrs. Michele Reed and Beth; Mrs. Eugenia Horseman and Stacy; Mrs. Dorsa White, Faith and Michelle; Mrs. Benson and Hilda; Mrs. Linda Hawkins and Linda; Patricia Saffle and Bonnie and Allyson Coppock and sister.

Tuesday, March 18, we began Easter projects. Following the meeting several scouts made a surprise visit to Earl Quillen and presented him with a gift. He had donated meat for our dinner. Scout Bonnie Saffle is ill with pneumonia.

It Seams To Me

by Janet Reed

Have you ever made a dress you didn't wear? What a waste of time, effort, and money. But no doubt it's happened to most of us. It's an expensive lesson, but that unworn garment should tell you where you need help. Try to analyze why you won't wear it, advises Miss Janet Reed, extension clothing and textiles specialist at the University of Delaware.

Often it's a matter of fit. If you try on ready to wear, you can reject the garment if the fit is uncomfortable. Not so with a pattern. Choose the size pattern you normally choose in ready to wear. You can expect it to fit about the same way. If you look for special sizes, such as half-size, petite or juniors in ready to wear, look for these figure types in patterns, too.

Do you look for certain styles in ready to wear so you won't have to alter? Look for the same styles in patterns-or at least allow a bit at the seams if you know that part of your figure is larger than normal.

And don't overlook the differences in fabrics. Some fabrics give a more comfortable fit because they stretch more.

Perhaps the dress really doesn't do much for you. It's easy to choose a beautiful printed design that looks fine on the bolt but not quite the same on you. Plain colors may not be as interesting to sew, but are generally more wearable.

Certain bulky textures feel wonderful to the touch but add pounds to the figure.

Did you choose a pattern style that is becoming to your figure? You have heard many times that lengthwise lines tend to add height, while horizontal lines shorten. This isn't always true, but it is a guide. Let your most becoming dresses be clues to the styles you should choose.

Is the upkeep a problem? If a dress needs frequent pressing, you're apt not to wear it as often as an easier care fabric. Learn to know fabrics and read labels for information on care.

Did the dress take so long to finish that you were tired if it before you wore it for the first time? Let it hang for a few weeks and it will seem like a new dress again.

Or maybe you didn't really need that new dress after all, and you're sewing because you enjoy sewing. If this is the case, find someone else to sew for. You can be more objective about becomingness on someone else-and it is easier to fit a figure other than your own.

Don't let your sewing projects hang in the closet. Show off your sewing skill by putting all your garments into use.

Legion News

The C.K.R.T. American Legion Unit # 7 met last Tuesday evening at the Post Home. Mrs. Jarvis Hurd presided.

Business of the evening included a discussion of tentative plan to sponsor a bus trip to visit the American Freedom Train. Mrs. Donald Dell will serve as chairman of arrangements. It is expected a bus with 66 seats will be engaged for the trip to Delaware Park on April 1 or 2nd. Further announcements concerning the trip and cost will be made next week.

Initiation ceremonies for new members in the Kent County area will be held at the Milford Post Home on Sunday, April 13 at 2 p.m. All new members of the Auxiliary will be initiated at that time.

Mrs. Dell, Community Service Chairman, has agreed to receive any household goods and children's clothing for a family that was recently burned out in the Harrington area.

Mrs. Harold Fry read the slate of nominees for department officers.

Blacklight Trap Volunteers Wanted

Blacklight trap volunteers are wanted to operate light trap stations in Kent and Sussex Counties this summer for the University of Delaware's extension pest management program.

According to extension pest management specialist, Mark Graustein, voluntary operators are needed for ten stations in Sussex County and seven in Kent County. Each station requires a very small amount of electricity and only five minutes every other day to empty the trap and record weather data. All supplies and training will be provided.

Graustein says this would be an excellent opportunity for 4-H'ers or other high school students who live on farms to pick up some entomology experience and at the same time collect the insects-some of which are certainly unusual-that are caught in the traps. The blacklight traps are an essential part of an ongoing extension pest control program on commercial vegetable crops. The volunteer work would probably begin around May 1.

Individuals interested in cooperating with this program should contact Graustein at the Department of Entomology and Applied Ecology, University of Delaware, Newark (738-2526) or call their county agricultural agent.
