William Pyper, Jr. of Kearney, N.J. was the driver of this 1968 Fiat when it overturned south of the Fairgrounds Monday afternoon. The passenger in the car was Robert J. Breen. Both men were returning to Norfolk, Va. where they are stationed with the U. S. Navy. The cause of the accident was not known but was believed to have been caused by rear tire blow out. Both men were transported to the Air Base Hospital for treatment of cuts, bruises, and head injuries. The driver was charged with driving an unsafe vehicle. The car landed on its top throwing both riders out.

Declaration Unknown To Those Polled

According to information released by the Delaware People's Bicentennial Commission recently in Delaware, of 1,174 citizens contacted, 87 per cent did not recognize the Declaration of Independence on the eve of the Bicentennial.

Thirty six per cent of the persons contacted declined to take part in the survey. To those willing to take part, the following question was asked: 'Would you please read the following statement carefully and sign beneath if you believe in it as a good philosophy of government and citizenship?' 48 per cent of those who read the portion of the preamble to the Declaration did not feel that they could endorse it as 'philosophy of government and citizenship worth believing in.' 87 per cent of those willing to read the statement were unable to identify what it was. Many called it the 'Constitution', which was ratified in 1787.

The teams of surveyors visited more than 16 municipalities in the three counties. The survey was conducted outside shopping centers. The fact that 52 per cent of Delaware citizens who read the Declaration did sign it seems to indicate that the document is still relevant to our times. Although approximately 3/4 of these did not know what document they were reading, they signed it as something worthy in which to believe.

According to the PBC, certain sections of the founding document were 'not only unfamiliar and foreign to bicentennial Delawareans, they aroused some rather contemptuous remarks.' Those ranged from 'No way I'm gonna sign my name to such trash!..to 'Not me, buddy'.. 'Take it to Russia'.. 'This is revolution.' 'I don't want anything to do with anything that talks about altering or abolishing the government.'

According to the report, one person in Milford thought it was a Rockefeller speech.

In eight of the sixteen cities and towns surveyed the Declaration excerpt was not recognized by anyone, including the 65 persons asked in New Castle, a one-time revolutionary period capital of Delaware. The PBC report called for the following 'To begin the process of rebirth: the state legislature, every city council and civic organization should endorse the Declaration, a typed copy of the preamble of the Declaration to be sent to all Delaware citizens; an evaluation of values and democratic alternatives, using PBC materials in such programs, and a call to newspapers to 'Encourage media access to citizens'..in developing a new common sense of direction for our country.'

Rent-A-Chippy Program Starts

The members of the W.T. Chipman Junior Band in Harrington are sponsoring their second annual 'Rent-A-Chippy' program. In order to raise money for a band trip in May the band members rent themselves out to do various jobs. If you need your garage or attic cleaned, yard raked, grass cut, car(s), truck(s) or windows washed, garden work done or any other job you think a 13 or 14 year-old girl or boy can do, then be sure to get your phone call in and rent your Chipman band member(s). Rent-A-Chippy will run from April 7 to May 10. To rent your band member the following is necessary: A) Call Mr. Alex Becton at school at 398-8197 or at home at 422-6816. A message may be left with the school secretary. B) State the type of job wanted done and the number of people needed. C) Leave phone number and directions to your home. D) You pay what you think the job is worth. Because band members are quite busy throughout the school week, most jobs will have to be done on Saturdays. If possible, we will get the job done on a week day if you so desire. In order to get a job done on Saturday, you must have your call in by noon Friday so that the band members can be informed in time. Call in, and rent-a-Chippy.

Delaware 4-H'ers To Tackle Litter

Delaware 4-H'ers have named Saturday, April 12, as State Clean-Up Day. Each youngster has pledged to pick up at least one bag of rubbish that day. There are around 2800 4-H'ers in Delaware-so even at one bag apiece, that's a lot of trash they'll be collecting.

The 4-H venture happens to coincide in Wilmington with the Clean-A-Thon fund-raising effort of United Cerebral Palsy of Delaware. According to New Castle County 4-H agent, Dean C. Belt, club members in the Wilmington area plan to work through their 4-H leaders in support of CAT. This means they will be soliciting pledges from friends and neighbors of $1 or more for United Cerebral Palsy of Delaware. The pledges will be earned by their clean-up effort. Both the city and the state will be a lot cleaner as a result of the two campaigns, says Belt. He urges the public to be careful as they drive that day, as many youngsters will be out along the roadsides picking up trash. They hope their example will encourage the public to refrain from littering.

25th Season For Speedway

One of the oldest operating 1/2 mile speedways in the United States will open in its 25th year Sunday, April 13, at 10:00 a.m. Spectators will be admitted free of charge throughout the day. It will be a shakedown day at the facility with regular Friday night racing set to begin April 18, at 8:00 p.m. for the modified, Sportsmen and Hobby competitors. Competition at Georgetown Speedway will be sanctioned by the Delmarva

Auto Racing Association now in its eighth year, making it the oldest living organization for racing stockcars on the Delmarva Peninsula. With some 900 members and an eleven member board of directors the association's success is due to a large number of individuals who actively participate in the racing program on and off the track. Oliver Hitchens, a Selbyville contractor succeeded George N.Reed, Sr., of Harrington, to the Presidency for 1975.

The regular running program will feature 4 heats, 2 features, and Hobby races with Friday, May 9 getting the nod for the first special night celebrating 25 years at Georgetown. On the this evening the regular program will be held plus an extra 25 lap feature for the modified stockcars. Admission for adults will be an additional dollar to help pay the purse for the extra feature. Seven more special Fridays are planned staggered throughout the season. Plans are being finalized for three Sunday Holiday programs, possible engagements at the State Fair, along with a year end long distance championship race.

D.A.R.A., in conjunction with track owner Charlie Herbert is planning a number of improvements to the physical plant with priorities being the racing surface, lighting, seating, and an improved sound system. However, with cost always being a factor, the association will continue the successful philosophy of doing the best it can with what it has. All in all, things are shaping up for another action packed and exciting season at the Eastern Shore's most competitive racing oval.

NELSON HAMMOND

Banker Dies

Nelson Hammond, 71, a long time Felton area resident, died Friday in Milford Memorial Hospital after a long illness. Mr. Hammond retired in 1973 as President of the Felton Bank where he had served for many years.

Mr. Hammond was educated at the Wilmington Conference Academy, now known as Wesley College, where he graduated in 1923.

In 1946 and again in 1948, he was elected to represent the fifth Senatorial District for Kent County. While serving in that capacity, he was twice selected by his colleagues to serve as Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

His other activities included membership in the Temple Lodge no. 9, AF & AM Milford, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, Evergreen Forest No. 49, Milford, The Delaware Consistory, Wilmington, Nur Temple Shrine, Wilmington, Kent and Sussex Scottish Rite, the Felton Fire Company, and the Harrington Rotary Club. He had also served as a member of the Milford Memorial Hospital Board, and had continued as an honorary member.

He resided on his farm near Felton where he is survived by his wife, Naomi H., three sisters, Frances Poore of Hartly, Sarah Swain of Macon, Ga., and Anne Campbell of Dover.

Services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton where friends called on Monday night. Masonic services were held Monday night at 8 p.m. Interment was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery, Frederica.

Plans Move Ahead For Cedar Park

Plans are moving ahead on the Cedar Park Railroad project sponsored by the YMCA in conjunction with the Kent County Office on Aging.

A meeting was held recently at the complex and the people present discussed ways and means of pushing the project ahead.

The main issue now resting with the project is the involvement of a larger number of people, and so a meeting has been scheduled for Sunday, April 6 at 1:30 p.m. at the train shop of Cedar Park, located on the road past the Kent Vocational Center. Anyone interested in any phase of Cedar Park operation should attend.

The Railroad Club is open to all people of all ages who are willing to devote volunteer time and energy to bringing back Cedar Park as a family recreation center. It is not necessary to have first hand knowledge of railroads to help in the project, because there are many different jobs connected with the Cedar Park Complex plan.

Anyone desiring further information or directions to the train shop site for the meeting April 6 should contact the YMCA at 674-3000.

Bowers Digs To Open

The Island Field Museum located at South Bowers Beach will be opened for the 1975 season April 5th. The early Indian archaeological diggings will be open on weekends from April 5th and 6th through May 30th and 31st, then daily June 1st until August 31st when weekend only hours will again be in effect through October 26th. Open hours during this season will be Saturday and Sunday noon to 5 p.m. and weekdays noon to 4 p.m.

Many new displays have been constructed during the winter which explain much about the way of life of the prehistoric peoples of Delaware.

Arrangements for group tours can be made by contacting Clifford Lefferts, 'Site Manager', at the Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs, Section of Archaeology, Island Field Archaeological Museum and Research Center, R.D. # 2, Box 126, Milford, Delaware 19963, or at 302/ 335-5431. The Island Field Museum can be reached by U.S. 113 and either county road 19 or 120. It is about 20 miles south of Dover on Delaware Bay.

Some Lottery Winners Here

Mrs. Jean McDonald, Harrington, was a second place winner with $436.24 sold at the Harrington Newsstand. Several $5 and $10 dollar winners were also reported.

Ray Gagne of Stone's Hotel reported one $100 winner (third place) and several $5 and $10 winners.

Preventable Diseases On Rise

At the turn of the century a newborn baby could expect to live only until about the age of 50. An American child born today can expect to live slightly more than 70 years, on the average.

A major reason for this longer life span is that diseases such as diphtheria, polio and typhoid took a tremendous toll of lives in 1900. But with today's protective immunizations available, plus greatly improved sanitation, more children survive childhood and live to their seventies and eighties.

None of these childhood diseases has been truly wiped out, however. Mary Ann Finch, extension family and child development specialist at the University of Delaware, reminds us that the causes of these illnesses still exist. In fact, incidence of these preventable diseases is increasing, and epidemics could occur because immunization has dropped to dangerously low levels.

Public Health Service surveys have revealed that one out of every three pre-school children is not adequately protected against diseases that should be obsolete. In fact, four out of ten are not even protected against polio, a terrible crippler and killer.

Because the publicized incidence of most of these childhood diseases has declined, parents are not as conscious of the dangers of the diseases and their after-effects. Parents may take for granted that the major diseases have been wiped out-but such is not the case. At least four American cities have experienced recent diphtheria epidemics. Adults as well as children die each year from tetanus, one of the deadliest of the preventable diseases. As recently as 1972 at a private school in Connecticut, 12 children were crippled by polio-some hadn't been vaccinated at all; others had received an insufficient dose of the vaccine.

Today protective vaccines are available for polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, measles, rubella (or German measles), mumps, and others. Outbreaks of these diseases take their heaviest toll among pre-school children. Therefore, Ms. Finch believes it is dangerous to wait until children reach school age to have them immunized. For example, babies are the most frequent fatalities from diphtheria and whooping cough.

On the other hand, some of the so-called childhood diseases can be extremely hazardous for adults.

Free Course Trains Seamstresses

There are jobs to be filled by trained power sewing machine operators, according to Jack Pankoff, Job Developer and counselor at Del-Tech's Southern Campus near Georgetown. Pankoff advises those who are interested in the three-week free training course to contact him at the college's west building at DT & CC. The campus is located one mile west of Georgetown of Delaware route # 18. Persons may also call 856-7711, extension 37.

A brush fire at the Milford Neck Refuge burns wildly out of control last Friday. The fire was in the marsh area of the refuge and was surrounded by water. The cause of the fire was not known. It was believed to have come from someone burning in the area or from low flying aircraft.

The pile of dirt in the picture above was dumped recently at the request of Curtis Rash by Ken Meredith & Son, which has blocked what was believed to have been a roadway connecting the two lanes of traffic on U.S. # 13. The ground was originally owned by Herman Brown as part of his home property. In recent years, William McCabe became the owner, and he has transferred title to Rash, or a corporation of Rash's recently. Rash, or his corporation, owns the land abutting this alleged roadway. The dirt mound had rendered the alleged roadway unfit for passage for years, Meredith has maintained this disputed area for the former owners. The land is between the two lanes of rt. 13 at the Harrington light.

Singing Players Bring SHOW BOAT

In a scene from the Singing Players' production of 'Show Boat', Frank, played by Howard Deakne and Ellie, his wife, played by Rita Parker, go through a comedy routine. They are part of a cast of 75, who will arrive aboard a 38 foot boat due at the Natchez dock in the production's dates of April 10, 11, 12 at 8:15 p.m.

The show is being held in the Dover Central Middle School Auditorium.

Howard Deakne is a U.S. Air Force veteran with over 6,000 flying hours. He has a B.S. degree from the University of Maryland and a Masters in secondary education from the University of Delaware. He is now the math coordinator for Capital District Middle schools. Mr. Deakne sang the Faure Requiem with the Mt. Clemens, Michigan Civic Chorus and appeared with the Players last year in South Pacific.

Rita Parker's theatrical experiences began in Greece, where her father played first violin in the Greek Philharmonic Orchestra, and she appeared in several Greek dramas. In Dover she participated in the Community

Singers' productions of Carousel, Oklahoma, and played Yenta in Fiddler On The Roof. She performed in the Singing Players' 1974 South Pacific.

Captain Andy, played by Don Horowitz, brings to life Edna Ferber's character who made his living at the turn of the century entertaining Mississippi river towns with singing actors and dancing on the Show Boat. The only person who quells his exuberance is Parthy Ann, his acid-tongued wife, a typical stiff-laced matron of the ear, played by Dawn Rehnstrom. Her acting experience includes Edinboro State College theatre and summer stock at Edinboro and the Southbury Playhouse in Connecticut. Currently she teaches English and is assistant drama coach at the Milford High School. Her favorite leading roles have included those in Carousel, Hair, and Midsummer Night's Dream.

Don Horowitz was most recently seen as Tevye in the Community Singers' Fiddler On The Roof, and is a member of the Board of Directors of the Delaware Symphony Orchestra and of the Grand Opera House.

Show Boat is an adaptation of the 1926 best seller of the same name by Edna Ferber. The Oscar Hammerstein and Jerome Kern collaboration was a smash hit in 1927, and departed from theatrical convention of the time.

Music Director is Margaret S. Storey, and Leonard I. Hill Jr. is the stage director. They will be assisted by well-known area artist, Hubert Hogue.

Tickets are available at Milford Pharmacy, Woodworth Piano and Organ Center, Rodney Village;

Ettenger's, Dover; and Smyrna Hardware. Tickets are also available from any member of the Singing Players or by calling 678-1715.

SAFETY FIRST

Bicycle riding is beneficial to health-but only when done safely. Bike riders are required to obey all traffic laws, plus special bike laws. The Delaware Safety Council recommends all bike riders learn them and obey them.

SAFETY FIRST

During the winter montns motorists lose the habit of being alert for bikes and cycles. We'll soon be sharing the road with them again, and in even greater numbers than before. The Delaware Safety Council suggests we start watching for the two-wheeled vehicles. Remember, they are far more vulnerable in a crash. Bike and cycle riders have special problems and extra rules to follow, but they are required to abide by regular traffic laws, including stop signs and right-of-way rules.

Publisher's Choice...

Harry G. Farrow, Jr.

...by Domino or any other name...was the purpose behind it all a right and just decision.

As we view the struggling Vietnamese seeking safety from the invaders of their land, the question will continue to be posed whether our purpose in Viet Nam was a just and right one. It will be a moot question forever. A war which involved the US. was costly both from the casualties standpoint and the great expense of financing the effort. Some day, this country might learn a lesson or write the final chapter to the Domino theory. In the Korean War as well as this war, the U.S. with their military might could have crushed their foe with unprecedented ease. The military strategy was something less than that. It was one of self containment...a staying action so to speak. The recommendations of Generals MacArthur and LeMay on how to deal with this foe and win the war was violently opposed. From a military standpoint, this was the only way to cope with the situation.

The political administrators in these areas (Viet Nam, Cambodia, Laos, etc.) were corrupt because the war and its side effects brought this about...or in the alternative, they were that way from the beginning. To those of us who paid the taxes to finance the way effort, and saw our pay checks dwindle through the 'Viet Nam surcharge', we have been dealt a damaging blow. From an individual's standpoint, it caused us to lose 'ground...economic ground.' It correspondingly sent our nation's economy into a tail spin from which we may be a long time recovering.

We suffered financially, but this isn't the most important aspect, for money lost maybe and can be recovered. The men who were lost or maimed is the other side of the tragedy, for they cannot be brought back.

They will not be forgotten, however. The right decision or errors of judgement cannot end on this note alone. They served their country at a time when their country needed them.

As the South Vietnamese flee from the northern provinces of Viet Nam to the safety of the south, they leave behind all their worldly possessions. From the southern most tip...where is the next jumping off point? This maybe is the question for which Congress is called back into session, for it appears to be giving some Congressmen some great concern at the moment. On the other hand, the vast majority of Congressmen I believe have the opinion that maybe it was a mistake to have never get involved in a land war in Asia with Asians...unless of course, we set out to win it from the outset.

If winning it means using our military strength in which case this would mean utter destruction of the foe. This apparently is what we abhor. The remaining options are few. Either sit down and arbitrate the matter to a fair and equitable settlement for all...or get out before we get too involved. It would be less costly from all angles.

If the Domino theory is accepted as absolutely sound, the way to repel it is to meet it with a greater force than what was imposed on you. If the theory is unacceptable for the reasons mentioned then the proper and just directive to follow is to vacate and get out of this situation before it gets out of control.

The purpose behind the Viet Nam War stated simply was to allow a people to act on their own free will to choose a life for themselves. For this reason it was a good and just cause, but the waters have muddied from this initial premise, and the practices carried out there were wrong. Therefore for the most part 'the war effort was a bad one..

Rubella is dangerous to women of child-bearing age. Mumps is likely to have its most severe effects in people past puberty. Adults are also frequent victims of tetanus, and may develop diphtheria.

People who were once vaccinated for a disease can't take for granted that they are protected for life. On the contrary, diphtheria and tetanus vaccines need booster shots every ten years. Several other diseases require periodic revaccination among them influenza, smallpox and typhoid.

Ms. Finch advises parents to keep a personal immunization record for each family member. If there is any doubt as to whether everyone is fully protected, the family doctor should be consulted.

Roth Views Delmarva Rails

The United States Railway Association, a government planning agency, has recommended that most of the railroad track in the Delmarva peninsula be scrapped in the name of efficiency and economy.

I opposed large-scale abandonment of these important rail links when this was proposed by the U.S. Department of Transportation a year ago, and I oppose the latest proposal, which is based on equally questionable premises and statistics.

The recommendations of the U.S. Railway Association, in my judgement, are inadequate, irrelevant, and unrealistic.

One of the premises of the planners is that the economic troubles of the railroads are due to branch line expenses in rural areas.

But, as I emphasized at the recent hearing of the Interstate Commerce Commission in Salisbury, the way to a profitable rail system is not through abandonment. It is through the development of quality service and optimum scheduling--through maximum efficiency--that railroads can be made to show a profit.

For example, the inefficient use of rail cars--idle time is estimated as high as 70 percent--has long been a major source of waste.

In its study of the situation and in developing a statistical formula for a new, theoretically profitable Delmarva rail system, the RAILway Association used 1973 data. That, you probably recall, was the year when the bridge over the C & D Canal was damaged cutting off all rail traffic and necessitating a rail car float service which could, at best, provide only limited use of the railroad.

The planners have also ignored the fact that in passing the Regional RAIL Reorganization Act, Congress recognized the great importance of the railroads to rural areas. We did not suggest, nor did we intend, that all segments must break even or show a profit to be included in a reorganized railroad network.

It is obviously easier, however, to abandon spur lines than to come up with measures for more efficient use of those lines.

It is interesting to note, I think, that one of the nation's consistently profitable lines, the Southern Railway System, has expressed an interest in supplying service to the Delmarva Peninsula.

Successful businessmen are not noted for stepping into a situation where the only prospect is losing money and, despite what the Federal Government's planners recommend, the Southern believes it can offer better service and still make money.

I have met with Southern's president and I am interested in the company's proposal, but before any decision is reached the states involved, the shippers to be served, and the Federal Government must have full details as to what branch lines would be retained, which ones would be abandoned, how main and branch lines would be rehabilitated, and which lines Southern would expect to operate under provisions of the reorganization legislation.

I intend to do whatever I can to prevent the Delmarva Peninsula from being stripped of its vital rail freight service, which is essential to the economy of Delaware and all its citizens. It is disappointing that the Federal officials charged with revitalizing the railroads have so little understanding of our needs.

Spraying with chemical fungicides is often important and/or necessary to control certain diseases in the home vegetable garden, flower garden, on shrubs, ornamental and fruit trees. However, fungicides are only one of the many tools that can be used to combat plant diseases. Application of the following suggestions will help to reduce the incidence and severity of disease in your garden:

1. Select a suitable location for planting. Some plants like sunny locations while others prefer more shade. Avoid extremely wet soils since they favor many root diseases. Improving drainage where possible, will reduce these diseases.

2. Practice rotation within your garden plot. If possible, change your garden location occasionally. This helps prevent the build-up of disease-causing organisms.

3. Select disease resistant varieties where they are available. Check with your nurseryman or garden-center operator about this important matter before making a purchase.

4. Use only disease-free seed and transplants. Buy from a reputable seed company, greenhouse operator or nurseryman. Do not accept any plants (even at bargain prices) that appear unhealthy. Remember that many disease-causing organisms can be carried to your garden on seeds and transplants.

5. Fertilize your garden on the basis of soil test results. Plants that are too weak or too vigorous, as a result of improper fertilization, will be more subject to diseases.

6. Do not overcrowd plants. This results in a high humidity beneath the plant canopy which favors certain diseases such as downy mildew, Botrytis blight, etc. Thin plants to permit free air circulation.

7. Water properly. Try to maintain an even water supply and avoid dry-wet fluctuations. Avoid watering late in the day since this will favor disease conditions. Remember that too much moisture will favor several root and foliage diseases.

8. Control weeds in and near the garden. Weeds help create a micro-climate that is ideal for development of fungus and bacterial diseases. They may also provide the initial source for certain virus diseases.

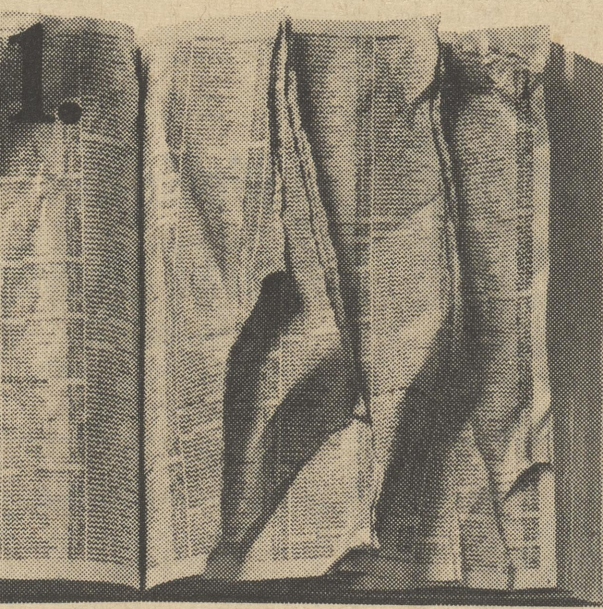

9. Control insect pests. They may carry and spread certain virus and bacterial diseases.

10. Destroy diseased plants as soon as you observe them in your garden. Otherwise, they may serve as a source of spread to other plants. Avoid composting diseased plants since several disease-causing organisms can live in the compost. It's best to remove and destroy badly diseased plants.

11. Spade under or remove and compost (or destroy-see no. 10) crop refuse as soon as possible after you harvest your garden. This promotes elimination of disease-causing organisms which could overwinter in crop debris left in the garden.

12. Remove and destroy diseased tree and shrub branches before a disease spreads. It is a wise policy to always prune-out diseased plant tissues during the dormant period of fall or spring. Rake and destroy fallen leaves since many disease-causing organisms live from one season to the next in them. These practices, carefully followed, will help you avoid destructive plant diseases in the home garden.

Will 75 Hold New Track Records?

by KEITH BURGESS

Lake Forest High School's first track season was 1970, with 19 new records being automatically set in every event.

Eight of these records were broken in 1971, with six new standards set in 1972.

As performances continue to improve, it becomes harder to get in the record book. Don Bryant got off two great record leaps in 1973, going 21 feet, 9 inches in the long jump and 44 feet, 8 3/4 inches. The latter effort gave Bryant a state record and championship.

Entering the Spartan record book in 1974 were Ron Mosley with 1.58.3 in the half mile and Jim Miner with 49 feet, 1 inch in the 12-pound shot put.

Can any of Jim Blades' 1975 competitors join this select group? There will be one automatic mark as a new event, the 330 yard intermediate hurdles, will supplant the 180 yard low hurdles.

Bob Mullane is a top candidate to be the first record-setter. He's comparatively new at high jumping but has cleared five feet, six inches in the high jump, which is two inches off the best previous Lake Forest leap.

Ron Dunlap improved three seconds in the 440 yard dash in 1974 and is now at 52.9, just one second away.

Matt Burgess threw the discus 107 feet in 1973, then 121 in 1974. A similar gain in 1975 would put him above the 132-8 Spartan record.

John Pickett and Tony Smith could have a shot at the 100 yard dash clocking of ten flat. At present, that should wind up the list, but we hope we are wrong.

Bowling

by Leah S. Wheeler

Bruce Harrington rolled a 214 game and a 524 series and John Shaffer added a 203 game, while Carl Wright rolled a 200 game to lead the Spoilers to a three point victory over Big John's Son. Jim (Curly) Carroll, Mike Kohel and John Powell bowled good efforts for Big John's Son.

Wally's Garage took three points from Jarrell Fuel and stayed tied with the Spoilers for the top spot with one week to go in the battle for the second half. Wally Ryan rolled a great 546 series, and Norman Woodall and Dave Ryan added good efforts for Wally's. Dallas Hayman bowled a 555 series and Norman Porter added a good effort for Jarrell Fuel.

Kenny P. Outten led Taylor & Messick to a three point victory over Penn central as, both teams bowled sub-par averages in a very close contest. Donald Butler bowled well for the Railroaders.

Bill Manship rolled well for a 526 series, which included a 201 game as he paced People's Restaurant to a four point romp over the T & M Rejects.

Donald Garey scattered the pins for a 597 series, which included a 216 game, and Bob Garey hit a 211 game and a 574 series, with Harold Brode adding a fine 541 series to give McKnatt Funeral Home enough incentive to take three points from a strong Butler's Fuel squad. Larry Larimore rolled a 209 game and Jack Kohland and Ralph Butler bowled above average efforts for the fuelers.

Fry's American could only muster one point against Brothers Five, although Leroy Wheeler rolled a 213 game and Kreg and Don Jester bowled good efforts.

Buck Thompson rolled a 201 game and 536 series and Ray Dennis added a 200 game, with Chris Moore also collecting a 536 set for Brothers Five.

Lee Dill bowled very wekk and Dick Clegg added his 203 game with Alan Baker contributing a good above average effort as the Harrington Moose squad took three points from Robbin's Hardware.

Roy Porter bowled very well, collecting a 510 set as he led Dur-A-Clean to a three point victory over Quillen's Market, and Leon Porter also added a good effort as did Dave Baker. Donald Wilson rolled a good effort for Quillen's Market.

Mini 500 Bike Race Scheduled

The 'Delaware Mini 500 Bicycle Race,' the first of its kind on the Eastern shore, will be held Saturday, April 19th at the Dover High School track at 1 p.m.

This 'regional' bike race is a joint effort of the Greater Dover Chamber of Commerce and the Dover-Ken. County YMCA.

A amateur 16 year olds and older bike enthusiasts should stop in or call the Chamber of Commerce at 678-0892 or the YMCA at 674-3000 for the registration forms and the rules and regulations. Deadline to register teams (and individuals) will be April 8th.

Most teams are made up of four riders with a maximum of six team members. Some individuals think they would like to do the total 50 miles (200 laps) themselves.

The time trials will be Saturday, April 12th from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. (rain date, April 13th). The fastest 33 qualifying teams will compete in the main event on the following Saturday.
