Richard Brown of Troop 278, Dover, participates in the Handicamporee at Killen's Pond during the past weekend. Over 100 scouts from six area states gathered for the first National Handicamporee. Eight hundred scouts are expected to participate next year.

Historic Handicamporee Was Here

Last weekend an historic camp out was held at Killen's Pond. Troops of handicapped Boy Scouts from Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware, and consisting of 105 Scouts and 42 adults were on hand during the weekend of activities. This was the first handicamporee in the nation held exclusively for mentally retarded and handicapped Scouts. Len Zerhusen, head Scoutmaster, of Dover, got this program together a couple years ago for the sole purpose of allowing the handicapped Scouts to participate in some or similar affairs and outings that Scouts normally take part. Next year 800 are committed to the program and the number is expected to swell to 1600.

Some of the area merchants who donated food and other items to make this a success were Sunbeam Bread, Sealtest Milk of Salisbury, Eastern Shore Beef Co., Pantry Pride, Kirby & Holloway, Wesley Kling, and Dover Meat Market.

Spring Also Means Tick Season

For many families, a tick attached to a child's scalp or crawling up his pant leg is a sure sign of spring. Tick season is definitely here, warns Frank Boys, extension entomologist at the University of Delaware.

And with ticks comes the possibility of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, a disease carried by the insects. Boys cites a recent report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, indicating that Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever is on the rise in this country. Almost 800 cases were reported in the U.S. last year, as opposed to only 200 cases in 1960. With more people camping and hiking than ever before, there will likely be an even higher incidence of the disease this year.

The name of the disease is misleading. It was first diagnosed in the Rocky Mountain area of the far West, but currently the state reporting the highest number of cases is North Carolina. Maryland and Pennsylvania are also in the top 12 states, so easterners need to be informed about the disease and aware of its symptoms.

William (Bill) Walls of Harrington received the Wood Badge and Bead Award which are training and leadership abilities awards at the Camden-Wyoming Troop 108 on Monday night. Walls has been in scouts for 12 years.

Last Registration Date Set For Woodbridge

Thursday, May 22 and Friday, May 23, will be the last days for registering students to enter kindergarten in the Woodbridge School District on September 4. Students who are not registered by then cannot be processed for entering school on September 4. Their entry will be delayed for about ten days. Registration will be at the Greenwood School on Thursday, May 22 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and again in the evening from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The registration on Friday, May 23, will be from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. only. Children enrolling in kindergarten must be five (5) years of age by December 31. Children starting kindergarten or first grade for the first time this September must have the following basic immunizations (shots): 3 doses DPT vaccine 3 doses Oral Polio vaccine 1 dose of measles vaccine 1 dose of Rubella vaccine Parents are requested to bring a copy of child's birth certificate, a record of shots, and have child examined by family doctor. The child does not have to be present at time of registration.

Boys says RMSF can affect a person of any age. Children are especially vulnerable because they are out of doors so much. In order to reduce the risk, he recommends checking yourself and your children thoroughly after being in an area likely to have ticks. Children living in tick-infested areas should be examined twice a day, he cautions. Ticks usually hang on grass or underbrush, waiting for a host to come by. Often they will get on a person's leg and crawl upward, looking for a place to attach, a process which may take several hours. It helps to (continued on page 7)

Spartan Band Takes Top Honors

Last Wednesday, the Lake Forest Spartan Band traveled to Harrisonburg, Va., and took first place in a field of 35 bands in the Virginia State Poultry Federation Parade. The first prize netted $125.00 and a handsome trophy. The parade started at 5:30 p.m. and covered a route of two miles. The band members were judged from the time they got off the bus, which allowed the Spartans to exhibit their well disciplined training. Other judging was done by judges scattered throughout the parade route. Band Master Donald Claycomb acknowledged the work of Donald McKnatt who handled eating accommodations and said "he did a great job." The band ate dinner at pool side of the Sheraton Inn at Harrisonburg, Va. Claycomb also added that "...the students did an excellent job and I want to thank the Band Boosters for sponsoring the trip and the School Board in approving it." The band was judged on 1) marching order (30 pts.); 2) uniform dress (20 pts.); 3) musical performance (30 pts.) and 4) general appearance (30 pts.) Also aiding the efforts of the band are Lee Dean, flag corps instructor; Gary Davis, rifle corps, and Mrs. Sandra Davis, baton twirlers. They were also in attendance, with the exception of Mr. Davis.

Girls Get Second In State Track

by Keith Burgess

Lake Forest's Cheryl Lissy was the only Lake Forest and Henlopen Conference entry to win an event in the Delaware state high school girls track and field championship held at Baynard Stadium, Wilmington, Saturday morning. Lissy's 80-yard, low hurdles win in 11.8 seconds was the top Spartan individual effort, but Dave Buck's charges piled up enough points on second, third, fourth and fifth place efforts to finish second overall behind Brandywine 36 to 31. Beverly Mack was second in the discus and fourth in the shot put. Karen Harris was third in the 440.

Buck's squad is practically rewriting the Spartan record book this campaign. Three more marks fell Saturday. Maxine Harris came in fourth in the mile run but her 5.54 beat Debbie Duerr's school mark by 12 seconds. Duerr, in fifth, ran 6.01.6 also under the old standard. In fourth place the local 440 relay team of Jody Dunlap, Nina Adamo, Anita Jo Redden and Denise Gygrynuk had a new best of 52.9. Another fourth-place but record-setting relay unit was the 880 medley quartet of Patsy Clarke, Karen Hall, Brenda Teat and Cheryl Lissy.

Paula Mosley's career-best 880 clocking of 2.38.1 is close to Lake Forest's best ever and was good for fourth place. Nita Giddens came in 10 seconds later for fifth. Nina Adamo was fourth in the 100 (12 flat) and fifth in the 220 (27.4). Anna Jackson had a fourth-place discus throw. Jackie Williams of Chipman School, Harrington scored four points for her school in the junior school division, by finishing fifth in the 220 and third in the long jump with a leap of 14 feet, 9 inches.

Lake Forest High School Choral Concert Set

The Lake Forest High School Mixed Chorus groups will be featured in its spring concert on Friday, May 23, at 8 p.m. in the gym. The two vocal units will perform a program consisting of musical works from most periods of history. Included will be selections by Bach, spirituals, folk songs, and rock music. An entire section will be devoted to works from George Frederick Handel's "Messiah". These selections will be performed by the 160 plus members of the combined groups and will feature solos by soprano Susie Hughes and baritone Matt Burgess. The choirs are under the direction of James Perry. The accompanists are Zosimo Buendia and Elizabeth Cline. A select group of band members will accompany the combined groups during the "Hallelujah" chorus by Handel. The public is cordially invited to attend. Admission is $1 for all ages.

Miss Tucker Attends National Conference

Laura Tucker, a student at Woodbridge High School, was one of over three thousand from the nation who attended the Office Education Association National Leadership Conference held in Chicago, Illinois, May 10 through May 14.

Miss Tucker, through a process of elimination at the regional and state levels, was declared a national winner to climax the year's activities.

OEA provides students the opportunity to develop office occupations competencies through twenty-four competitive events ranging from individual contests in the stenographic, typing, office duplicating, job application and human relations areas to group contests in parliamentary procedures and chapter activities.

State Offices to Close Monday

The State of Delaware offices will be closed on Monday, May 26th, in celebration of Memorial Day. Only a limited number of employees designated as essential personnel will work that day.

Woodbridge Holds Open House

The Woodbridge Junior High School annual open house will be held in the Greenwood School at 7:30 on May 22. The program will have a bicentennial emphasis and will feature student talent in skits, dances, musical numbers, a fashion show, and displays of student projects. Refreshments will be served.

Price Of Bees Is Up

Publisher's Note-The Journal has from time to time printed articles about Norman Toadvine of Farmington. This paper prides in reporting stories about interesting people. Norman Toadvine is the last of the old school—a gentleman, a scholar, and a naturalist. We sincerely hope that you the readers enjoy these stories...even though the subjects are repeats. If you know of an interesting subject, please let us know.

A shipment of bees from Georgia recently arrived at Norman Toadvine's place of business near Farmington. Toadvine as well as being a reputable taxidermist is also a keeper of bees. The new bees, according to Toadvine, are an Italian variety. He further reports that they are easily identified by their light coloring.

Shipped in 10 three pound packages, roughly 18 to 20 thousand bees came in this shipment, with only one Queen Bee shipped with this order. She is packaged separately in a 1" x 3" x 3/4" wooden box with a hole at each end. There is a thick layer of wax positioned between the outside and the inside of the box with a fine screen on one side of the box to separate the Queen from the worker bees. If she were not protected, the worker bees would kill her and this is the only time when a Queen Bee is in danger of being killed. Since workers are taken from many different hives in Georgia, and they are therefore unfriendly to this Queen, the natural tendency is to kill a Queen when she is unknown to the worker bees.

The worker bees by coming near the box in which the Queen is located by nature feed the Queen involuntarily and inadvertently. Other worker bees try tunnelling through the wax mainly to get to the Queen to destroy her. Nature has a strange way sometimes of pulling things off, and in this case by the time the worker bees have tunneled through the wax, they have developed a friendly atmosphere toward the Queen. She in turn leaves the wooden box, which has been her prison since making the trip from Georgia, and forms a new colony. Years ago, Toadvine reports, when bees were shipped a long distance from markets in Georgia and Florida, the Queen bee was dead upon arrival at destination points in the East and Northeast. Formerly she had no way of feeding herself during this journey and starved to death in transit. Now worker bees are shipped along with her and are also provided with sugar water to take to the Queen. This food is actually taken into the stomachs of (continued on page 4) the men throughout this nation's history who answered the call to arms and lost their own lives so that we can live in freedom and dignity. Today we count our blessings; we also consider their cost. Nobody ever said it better than Abraham Lincoln: "...from these honored dead we take increased devotion.. to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion."

Woodbridge High Presents Play

On Thursday and Friday evenings at Bridgeville, the Woodbridge High School Drama Club presented "Stranger in the Dark," designed to be a spine-tingling murder mystery play. The Drama Club members are directed by Mr. and Mrs. James (Chris) VanScriver, who are members of the faculty.

The actors and actresses did very well in presenting this 3-act play. Grant Terry (John Dickerson) a detective from New York, solves the mystery before the actual murder. The murder victim was to be J. T. Rutledge, played by Ralph Scott, who had had an earlier confrontation with the murderer. Sam Fisk, the hotel detective of the hotel where the play took place and played by Jeff Tennefoss, was to be the murderer. He was caught cleverly by Grant Terry (John Dickerson).

Through Terry's gallant efforts to solve the mystery and apprehend Fisk, he was rewarded by winning the favors of Sylvia Lee.

The play was well attended at both evening performances.

The cast included: Sylvia Lee, Mable Crane, Grant Terry, Eddie Beach, J. T. Rutledge, Velda Stevens, Clifford Newkirk, Nona Polard, Rose Jordan, Marcella Bender, Sam Fisk, Sandra King.

GEORGE SHORT VISITS HARRINGTON

Harry G. Farrow, Jr., Publisher

One time star baseball player for the Harrington High School championship teams of '24, '25 and '26, George Short returned to his boyhood home town last week to visit his sister, Mrs. Jehu F. Camper, and other relatives and friends.

Short, now retired from DuPont Company with 33 years service, resides in Pompton Lakes, New Jersey.

Today Short plays golf four or five times a week.

It was learned in the interview he graduated from Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia. Short was captain of the 1935 Washington and Lee baseball team.

After college graduation, Short went to the North Carolina League to play baseball and teach social studies and English at a Tarboro, N.C. school. This was from 1936 to 1939. This league was composed of many college all-stars like Charlie Keller, who hit close to .400. "I remember in a game against Keller's team, he hit an outside pitch over 450 feet from home plate," said Short. (Keller was a left handed hitter) "When the Yankees bought him up, they made him pull the ball.

This took 40 points off his coverage," according to Short.

(Keller was a left handed hitter) "When the Yankees bought him up, they made him pull the ball.

Short related that he played Class C ball at Johnstown, Pa., and Class B ball at Richmond. While with Johnstown, he caught Chief Bender, famous pitcher of the Philadelphia A's. Short said, "Old Chief Bender was 65 years old then. Yet he could throw the ball at 4 or 5 different speeds." Short was to join the A's in 1939 but broke his leg in a Labor Day game at Harrington. He played in the Eastern Shore League prior to World War II with Federalsburg and Cambridge. His career ended in 1939 as a playing manager with Pocomoke City.

Short still remembers his team mates at Harrington.

TEAM MATES AT Harrington. He recalled the pinpoint control of Herman W. (Slim) Ryan, the consistency of Carrington Burgess getting on base; the good curve ball of Townsend Masten; the speed and bunting ability of Garrett Grier (Milford); the blazing fast ball of Kendall Moran (Federalsburg); the good all around play of Harvey (Zip) Legates; and what Short deemed the best all around ball player Maurice Hall. The difference between a minor league pitcher and a major league one is control. "Moran had everything to make the big leagues, but he lacked good consistent control," related Short. Moran and Short played together as a battery for Federalsburg. Moran currently lives in Federalsburg and owns the J. W. Stowell Printing Company.

The feats of these men are to some of us real legends. We honor them by remembering them.

George Goodge visited us Monday, May 12 and showed us slides of Europe. He began with Edinburgh, Scotland. Included were views of Queen Mary's home; parks and mountain tops covered with snow; also a lake with a woman standing by the waters as he sang that old familiar song, "You Take the High Road and I'll Take the Low Road." He also sang "Roaming in the Glomring."

Then he switched from Scotland to Wales showing Davuk's Castle and the Pen Brost Castle of the 16th Century. Then to Holland and some of the dairy farms where they farmed and made cheese, and a Dutch business house.

Then City Hall and the Beurtam Windmills of the 16th Century. These countries have the most beautiful palaces and castles found anywhere. A good show, George; we appreciated it very much.

At the regular members meeting and birthday party Tuesday, May 13th, with 41 present, the new President Herb Hussey, through the order of business, presented Mrs. Gladys Hill a gift for serving for the past eight years as the president. Birthday members present were as follows: Jim Koniencki, Ella Golt, Ella Jarret, and Katie Austin. Other items of business were conducted as usual.

Albert Stevens washed the front of our building under the front porch Wednesday.

Five of our members and 18 from the Frederica Center went to the Senior Festival held at Delaware State College Thursday, the 15th where we saw tables of many items of interest. One table contained homemade rag dolls. Class rooms had displays about the Delaware Cancer Society, the Delaware Chapter for Arthritis, the USDA Food and Nutrition Geriatrics Services and Blood Pressure.

We saw a film entitled "That the Last Be Best," a White House Conference of Aging, and one in the public interest on the Better Business Bureau. Also another on the facts of emphysema, and one with the title, "Step Aside." All were very interesting.

Also, for entertainment they had square dancing and group singing with Edward Skains and his guitar from Dover.

We had 21 members at the open house Friday evening with Robert Taylor as guest representing the Harrington Fire Company. He talked on different fires that originate in homes and what extinguishers to use when a fire needs to be extinguished.

"... bureaucracies with the best intentions often dwell in error."

In recent years we have read and have been told how the small business person is being squeezed out of business. Too much government meddling into state and rural affairs is not good. Clear cut examples of this situation is where small hospitals and nursing homes around the country are faced with inspections and regulations to follow . . . and which they could not meet—as I have stated before, with the second coming of the Lord.

Many of these hospitals are the result of community efforts. Where that community has constructed the hospital or where a respected nursing home administrator has taken the opportunity to build a structure that for all intent and purpose meets the community needs, why should a state agency subsequently enter the picture and declare that "... it is not up to standards"?

Mildred Messick faces this sort of thing today. She cannot occupy her new home on Center Street because "it doesn't come up to THEIR standards." I think the point to bear in mind is that the LOCAL PEOPLE wish to attend to their local affairs in a manner that best suits and fits the community's needs.

When we give up these precious and sacred PRIVACIES it is not likely that the old way of doing things will ever be revived. As we watch the woes of Mildred Messick, just remember that creeping government meddling is affecting each of us, and with Mrs. Messick one should remember "... that there but for the grace of God goes I." Just don't believe that it is happening to her or someone else we know and not to ourselves—for what started out with government help had the best intentions—but those with the best intentions can err as well.

Mayor William A. Minner of Harrington affixes his signature to a proclamation declaring May Better Hearing and Speech month as Mrs. Gloria Dill, Lake Forest School District Speech & Hearing Clinician, looks on approvingly.

Letter To The Editor Thoughts

by Senator William Roth

(Editor's Note: Mr. Thompson is the Career Counselor for the local school district with an office at the high school. Any questions for information arising from this letter may be directed to his office at the high school.)

Dear Editor:
More than 20 million Americans—ten percent of all children and adults in the United States—have speech, language or hearing impairments which severely affect their ability to function as human beings. One of the major tragedies of modern health care is that so many of these individuals do not know how to get help for their communication disorders.

An Open Letter To Our High School Graduates

Off to your first full-time job soon? If so, you'll be entering a new phase of your life which in many ways will be very different from your school experiences. The change over can be easier if you know what's expected of you.

When you accept a job, you're striking a bargain. In return for a stated amount of pay and other benefits, you agree to do the tasks you were hired to do, when and how the employer wants them done. You're expected to show interest in your work, do it to the best of your ability, and ask questions when you don't know what's happening.

May has been declared Better Hearing and Speech Month by Presidential Proclamation. Governor Sherman W. Tribbitt of the State of Delaware also issued a proclamation in observance of Better Hearing and Speech Month. Harrington's Mayor William A. Minner (see photo) proclaims Better Hearing and Speech month in the City of Harrington.

If the true hallmark of a civilized nation is the effort it makes on behalf of its handicapped citizens, then what better time is there than Better Hearing and Speech Month to concentrate on the needs of those who have communication handicaps. Information about these handicaps is also available from the Delaware Speech & Hearing Association, your local School District Clinician, Speech & Hearing Services, State Board of Health.

Sincerely yours,
Gloria M. Dill

Toting out a box of pencils or a company wrench is stealing. Employers are getting much tougher on employee theft, and in an increasing number of cases, are bringing criminal charges against offenders.

If you understand that you are hired to work on a job, and do it to the best of your ability, you're on your way to making a smooth crossover from school books to paychecks. We would be most proud to receive reports from employers that our graduates are exceptional employees.

Perform a death-defying act.

Give Heart Fund.

Most employers get up-tight if you fail to show up regularly - and on time. Your absence can delay or interrupt important tasks, both service to customers, or unfairly dump your duties on another worker. If you're part of a team, your lateness or absence can cause major foul-ups. Not coming to work because you don't feel like it is not a good reason - it is a poor excuse which, if done repeatedly, can lead to dismissal.

When time off is legitimate, such as medical or legal appointments that can't be scheduled outside business hours, check with your supervisor in advance. If you are sick or late through no fault of yours, telephone your employer as soon as possible.

Be ready for work when you walk in; your grooming chores should be done at home. Take no more than the allowed time for lunch or coffeebreaks. Stay until quitting time. If you get a paid vacation, you'll either be told when to take it, or asked to schedule it far enough in advance to make sure your absence doesn't disrupt ongoing business.

Some workers think it's okay to take business items home that belong to their employer. It's not.

Weekly Report of Senator Joseph Biden

For a number of years now, there has been a tendency to concentrate a good deal of Federal programs on the problems of America's cities.

I generally support such programs for urban areas. Big cities do, indeed, suffer from any number of pressing problems.

But at the same time, we have too often lost sight of the fact that rural areas, too, have their problems. In fact, problems encountered by rural residents often aggravate the problems of urban areas by encouraging still more migration from the countryside to the city.

A couple of examples: -Some 60 per cent of the substandard housing in America is located in rural areas. But only 20 per cent of Federal housing money goes to those areas.

-According to statistics developed by the Senate Committee on Aging, there are 138 rural counties in the United States -- and more than 5,000 towns -- without a single doctor.

Yet, only 7 per cent of the funds from the Federal program to set up medical clinics goes to rural areas. The government is working on the problem. But much remains to be done.

Given such statistics, it seems to me that the Federal government has an obligation to allocate its resources and programs as fairly as possible between urban and rural areas -- so that both will benefit.

Chaplain William Major of Columbia, S.C., is spending some time with Mr. & Mrs. Mark Willey.

BANKING IS EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Joint Ownership—The Old Love Trap

By Willis W. Alexander
Executive Vice President
American Bankers Association

When you and your spouse tied the knot, whether 50 years ago or six months ago, you probably agreed that your partnership would be complete in every respect. No longer would things be "mine" and "yours"; everything would be "ours."

And after all, isn't that as it should be? American tradition says yes, but that isn't necessarily based on sound financial judgment.

The American Bankers Association (ABA) points out that there are both advantages and disadvantages in legal joint ownership and that both should be considered when either beginning or reviewing the financial base of a marital partnership.

On the plus side of "joint ownership with right of survivorship," there are two big points. The property (real estate, bank accounts or securities) passes immediately to the survivor, and many administrative costs of settling an estate are avoided.

But let's look at two personal banking situations where problems can develop. In a jointly held bank account, it's usually possible for one of the owners to withdraw all the money without the consent of the other—and that in itself could cause problems. When one party dies, however, the account may be sealed, with the bank ending withdrawals and/or stopping payment on checks until a review has been made by state tax agents.

In this situation, a new widow or widower could be unnecessarily strapped for funds. To avoid this possibility, the ABA recommends that each partner retain some funds in his or her own name.

Then, too, there are instances in which joint bank accounts may be subject to gift taxes. The Internal Revenue Service considers that in most cases, the funds held in a joint account have been deposited by the husband. If the wife should subsequently remove an amount above the husband's exemptions (under gift and tax laws) to purchase property in her own name, gift taxes would be levied. Obviously, where funds are deposited by both parties, adequate records should be kept to avoid the gift designation.

And don't forget safe deposit boxes. These, too, are generally sealed by law upon the death of one owner until the appropriate taxing authority has taken an inventory for state inheritance tax purposes. Consequently, the ABA advises that duplicate copies of all wills, insurance papers and burial instructions be retained at home or another safe place.

For all of the "ins and outs" of joint ownership, consult your financial planner, lawyer or bank trust officer. Like marriage, it's a complex business and shouldn't be entered into lightly.

Watch For Plants Harmful To Livestock

Farmers should check their field before turning livestock out to pasture, advise Dr. Richard Fowler, extension livestock specialist and Dr. William Mitchell, extension agronomist, both at the University of Delaware. In a cooperative effort to warn farmers about hidden dangers in the pasture for livestock, Fowler and Mitchell point out that there are native Delaware plants which can cause serious harm to livestock if eaten under certain conditions.

Poisonous plants are especially dangerous to young animals which are sent out to "clean up" a field. If this is their first time out and they are very hungry, they are prime targets for dangerous plants says Fowler. Young animals turned out to a corn field to clean it up are subject to several poisonous plants such as deadly nightshade, three-seeded mercury, and horsetail, as well as the possibility of moldy corn stalks, very dangerous to the young or pregnant animal.

Other plants which can cause harm are cherry and Sudangrass and Johnsongrass. Under normal growing conditions, says Mitchell these plants are ingested by livestock and cause no problems. However, when normal growth of the plant has been interrupted by drought, frost, trampling, or other causes, certain acids and glycosides contained in the plants may accumulate to a point where the plants become toxic to the livestock. Hydrocyanic acid (prussic acid), common to cherry and sorghum, is a potent and rapid-acting chemical which deprives animal tissues of necessary oxygen. Fowler points out that organs such as the brain are most sensitive to a lack of oxygen.

Occasionally animals feed on tomato, potato and lima bean vines. Poisoning can occur from feeding on potato sprouts and sun-greened tubers. The same poisonous principle which occurs in these can be found in horsetail and several nightshade species, says Mitchell.

Cocklebur seedlings and germinating seeds are very attractive to hogs, in particular, which will readily feed on them, even if they are well-fed animals. They can be toxic in these early stages.

Another danger to be on the lookout for, warn Fowler and Mitchell, is too high a proportion of clover can cause grazing animals to bloat. They warn against planting too much clover on pastures and remind that bloat-preventing supplements are available from feed suppliers if bloat does result.

Mill screenings fed to animals often contain harmful seeds, which can cause problems for livestock. A very common one is morningglory seeds screened from soybeans. Seeds from this weed can cause spontaneous abortion in sows and other animals, according to Fowler.

As a precaution against these dangers, Fowler and Mitchell suggest that the farmer become familiar with the more common varieties of harmful plants so that he can recognize them in his pasture. In addition, Fowler warns that the animals most likely to be affected are the young animal and the animal who is overly hungry. He reminds farmers not to allow hungry animals to graze predominantly legume pastures immediately after a frost when the possibility of wilted plants is present.

Ticks

keep clothing buttoned, to tuck pant legs inside socks, and to keep shirt tails in. Ticks like confined places on the body. They are especially fond of areas around the head.

Strangely enough, according to Boys, a tick doesn't have to attack itself to spread the disease. Just crawling on a person can do it. However, he adds that most ticks are not infected, so there's no reason to panic if you find one attached to yourself or your child.

Instead, use tweezers to grasp the tick by the head as close to the site of attachment as possible, and pull it out gently. Then be sure to destroy it.

The entomologist also recommends searching clothing for ticks. In addition, a family dog that runs outside should be checked daily, since many cases of RMSF result from exposure to ticks on dogs.

If fever develops within three to ten days after exposure to a tick, Boys stresses the importance of notifying a doctor immediately.

It Seems To Me

by Janet Reed

Sheer beauty! Sheer fabrics look new again as we approach the warm summer season. There are lots of eyelets, voiles, crepes and lightweight cottons. Chiffons and laces give a more elegant air.

Sheer fabrics are used in every imaginable way—from tailored shirts to filmy evening wear.

If you're using a "see-through" fabric, keep in mind that all your inside construction will show through, too, and you may need to use techniques appropriate for these fabrics. For example, raveling seams don't look too attractive when they are visible through the fabric. Consider trimming fabrics to an even width and zig-zagging the raw edges. On very sheer fabrics, such as chiffon or organza, use a French seam. Any good sewing reference will explain how these are made if you have never made French seams.

Basically, the raw edges are enclosed in a second stitching. They are more work and the garment must fit well before completing the seam since you trim away any excess seam allowance. But they do look beautiful in sheer fabrics.

Keep a French seam very narrow, preferably no more than one-eighth of an inch, if your fabric will take it.

The tailored shirt can be made with flat fell seams. These also enclose raw edges, but give a more tailored appearance with two rows of top stitching on the outside of the garment.

If your pattern calls for facings, try to find a way to eliminate them. They often give an unsightly line as they show through to the right side. For very sheer fabrics, consider a double construction or self-lining, rather than facings; or finish edges with a French binding. A French binding is a double bias binding with all raw edges enclosed.

The French dressmakers must have been masters at handling sheer fabrics, since both seams and bindings bear their name.

If the garment has a straight skirt, an attractive hem finish is a doubled hem. You must allow for this in cutting so that the raw edge of hem comes to fold line at bottom of skirt. In this way no small raw edge of fabric is visible at the top of hemline.

Sheer fabrics on a straight full skirt look attractive with hems wider than usual, too. You often find hems eight or twelve inches deep depending on height of individual. In some cases the entire skirt is doubled so you see no hem whatsoever. Skirt length must be exact before finishing this dress.

For bias or flared skirts, make a very tiny rolled hem. Allow a fairly loose fit with a sheer fabric. Many of these materials are somewhat delicate and cannot stand a great deal of stress without pulling out at seamlines.

Tucks and unstitched darts are usually more pleasing than stitched darts. If darts are used, use the one-thread method. Pull the bobbin thread up, and thread machine backwards with the bobbin thread. Wind enough thread around the spool pin to stitch the dart. Start stitching at point end and you will have no loose or tied threads visible at the end of the dart. The fewer seamlines, the fewer the problems since some sheer fabrics have a tendency to pucker. Test stitch a swatch of fabric before sewing the garment.

Lawnmowers --- Handle With Care

The blade of a rotary power mower turns between 2,000 and 3,600 revolutions per minute. Blade tips can reach a speed of about 200 miles an hour. At that speed, they'll cut or throw almost anything in their path. When power mowers aren't operated properly, mangled toes, cut fingers and injuries from flying objects can easily occur.

University of Delaware extension agricultural engineer, Tom Williams, has these safety tips on the safe operation of power mowers. Always disconnect the spark plug wire before checking the blade. Turning the blade with the spark plug connected is the same as pulling the starter rope.

Before mowing, always inspect the lawn for toys, stones, wire and other objects. These not only damage the blade but can also become missiles launched with sufficient force to kill.

Be sure the engine on your mower is shut off and cool before refueling. Otherwise your summer may be ruined in one fiery blastoff. Also, refueling should be done outdoors where a breeze can carry the vapors away. Store your gasoline in a properly labeled, leak-proof can out of reach of children. Never put fuel in a glass container.

Keep hands and feet away from blades and starter pulley at all times. When starting the mower, place one foot firmly on the ground and the other on top of the blade housing deck and give the starter rope a steady pull.

When mowing always look ahead three or four feet so the mower can be stopped before the blade picks up objects. Always push the mower ahead of you so that objects are thrown to the side. Pulling the mower toward you also throws grass and objects toward you. Keep children, pets and adults completely out of the area. Even 100 feet is too close. Mow inclines back and forth, never up and down.

Never leave a running mower unattended. Always stop the engine and disconnect the spark plug wire when leaving. This will prevent children from finding a dangerous toy.

We wouldn't think of allowing our children to play with or handle a loaded gun without first being sure they were capable and completely trained in its safe use. Neither should we permit them to handle a power mower before they are strong enough to control the machine completely and well enough informed to use it safely.

Safety toed shoes are the ideal footwear when using a power mower, says Williams. Tennis shoes and bare feet are strictly taboo.

The most frequent accidents that occur with all types power mowers seem to be cut or amputated fingers and toes, and bruises and punctures from flying objects. Riding mower accidents include overturn, backing over children, putting feet on the ground in the path of the blade when feeling insecure or jumping off.

Play it safe. Don't let your summer turn into a nightmare because of carelessness with power mowers.

University Field Day Set

The University of Delaware's annual Farm and Home Field Day will be held on Wednesday, August 13, at the Georgetown Substation. The event features tours of the crops research plots which are located on the 310-acre farm.

This year's special emphasis will be on a centennial celebration of the first agricultural experiment station in the United States. Displays and pamphlets will reflect the history of Delaware's experimental station, founded in 1888.

No-tillage crop production techniques will be featured, in addition to on-the-spot research reports. Also included in the day's activities are agricultural exhibits, a homemakers' program, and a fried chicken dinner. A plant diagnostic clinic will operate throughout the day for the convenience of Field Day visitors. Activities start at 10 a.m. and conclude at 4 p.m.

Preventing Mildew This Summer

"It's not the heat, it's the humidity." Before long that familiar lament will be repeated endlessly, as the dampness of summer gets on people's nerves. Humidity is hard on people in more ways than one. It's not easy to be cheerful when you feel as if you're walking around in a steam bath, especially if you look inside a seldom-opened closet and discover mildew on clothing, shoes and other stored items.

Molds that cause mildew can grow on anything that will provide enough food, says Coral Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware. In your home they will develop most often on natural fibers such as cotton, silk, wool and linen.

Many man-made fibers, however, are resistant to mildew. Items of leather, wood and paper are also subject to mildew damage.

Mildew flourishes in places that are damp, warm, dark and poorly ventilated, according to Ms. Morris. Basement closets are particularly susceptible. So are crawl spaces, shower curtains, even damp clothes rolled up for ironing. Mildew is also more likely to develop in new houses, where moisture lingers in the building materials.

As mildew develops, it can cause considerable damage. Fabrics become discolored and sometimes are so severely eaten that they rot and fall to pieces. Leather and paper are discolored. Wood begins to decay.

Items seriously damaged may be salvageable, cautions Ms. Morris. So in dealing with mildew, the best cure is prevention.

We may not be able to control the humidity outside, but we can exercise some control over dampness indoors. For example, automatic clothes dryers should be vented to the outside. Dampness in basements can be reduced by waterproofing treatments, by replacing cracked or defective mortar, and by making certain that outside drainage is adequate. In a crawl space under a house, a layer of moisture-barrier material over the soil, plus good ventilation, will help keep the area dry. When the air outside is drier than the air inside, open the windows and ventilate the house. Small electric fans or window exhaust fans can be helpful. Air out closets and drawers frequently. Be sure shoes and clothing are thoroughly dry before putting them away.

One of the most effective deterrents to mildew is the dehumidifier, which draws moisture from the air and condenses it, so that the water can be drawn off. Dehumidifiers are especially helpful in damp basements and other areas where excessive moisture accumulates. Air conditioners are also effective in removing moisture from the air inside your house.

Trackmen Qualify For State Competition

Lake Forest Spartans qualified in seven events for Saturday's Delaware State Scholastic Track and Field championship meet to be held at the University of Delaware.

This is a good showing, but an even better result might have come to pass, but for the fact that the Lake Forest band returned from a Virginia trip about 2 a.m., Friday morning. Some of the Spartans made both of those journeys and had to be sub-par because of lack of sleep.

The Spartan 880 relay team almost set a new school record despite a muddy track. We clocked them at 1.33.9. Sloppy baton handling also cost them some precious time. Greg Pritchett, John Pickett, Charley Scott and Tony Smith came close to the 1.33.6 Spartan mark.

Dan Parker and Harry Benson were second and fourth in the mile run. Joe Voshell was third in the two mile. Craig Kashner, 880; Steve Saulsbury, pole vault; Tony Smith, 100 will compete Saturday, along with the two mile relay unit, which will be chosen from Parker, Benson, C. Kashner, Dave Richter, Kit Tilghman.

Spartan Trackmen Lose Twice

by Keith Burgess

Dover Air edged the Spartans 75-66 in a meet at Dover Air that was not decided until the final event. Cape Henlopen's always powerful Vikings outraced the Spartans 101-40, on the Lewes school's handbox and illegal 1-5 of a mile track.

In the close ones this campaign, it seems the locals are always one man short. At Dover Air the missing performer was 22.6, 220 sprinter, Greg Pritchett, on the sidelines with a leg ailment. Coach Jim Blades feels the result would have been different with Pritchett in the lineup.

Kevin Wooters, ace high jumper, is out with a bruised heel.

Matt Burgess and George Moore paced the Spartan effort with eight points each. Burgess won his specialty, the discus, with a toss of 132 feet and was second in the shot, with freshman John O'Toole, third. Jerry Thompson was second in the discus.

Moore took the long jump (17-11 1/2) and leaped 39 feet, 5 inches, for second in the triple jump. Mike Benson was third in the triple, with Rick Loper the runnerup in the long jump and third in the high jump.

Craig Kashner, one of the team's most improved performers, ran 55.2, to annex the 440, on a slow track.

Tony Smith was first in the 100, then ran on both winning sprint relays, as did Charley Scott and John Pickett. Ron Dunlap was on the 880 relay, with Kenny Smith aiding on the 440.

Scott captured the 220 yard dash in 24.5 with freshman Grayson Barthlow third. Kit Tilghman was the half mile winner in 2:09.2.

Chris Palmisano, a Falcon sophomore, was first in the two mile run with Joe Voshell and Paul McClellan scoring for Lake Forest. Palmisano is moving to Canterbury and will be in Spartan tops this autumn. He is the first bona fide sports star to transfer into this district in some time. They usually go the other way. This deal won't be nearly as profitable as it could be, however, since Voshell, a junior, will be graduating a year ahead of time.

Kelly Woodward, a freshman cleared nine feet, to place third in the pole vault. Lake Forest now has six pole vaulters, better than 1974's best.

At Cape Henlopen Lake Forest's individual winners were: Tony Smith (10.8 in the 100); Bob Mullane, in the pole vault with a new personal record of 10 feet, 3 inches; Matt Burgess :124 feet, 6 inches) in the discus; and Harry Benson with a 4.49.5 mile run, one-tenth ahead of Spartan freshman sensation Dan Parker.

Joe Voshell and Viking Ted Price were credited with a dead heat in the two mile run, when the officials lost count of the laps, on that weird, (ten laps for two miles) oval. Howard Parker was third.

Pete Hynson and Jerry Thompson took second, places in the high hurdles and discus, respectively.

Tucker and Malnor Win At Georgetown

Tucker's Superb and Malnor Win at Georgetown Speedway by A.G. Keller

Milford's Larry Tucker and the Absber Racing Team Vega staged what had to be one of the most thrilling modified races ever held at Georgetown. Second went to Haines Tull of Seaford driving the Davis Trucking 3D Vega. On the last lap of the 25 lap main Tull dove between Paul Walker Jr. who was third in the Coastal Corvair and Ellendale's Sonny Brittingham who finished fourth in the Al Morris Racing Team Chevy II, taking the runner-up position in what was a thriller to the wire between these four drivers. Fifth went to Jimmy Clark from Millsboro, the early leader for the Hitchens Bros. of Selbyville.

Richard Malnor of Berlin took over the lead in Sportsmen feature racing on the ninth lap from Bodie Bodenweiser from Georgetown. The "Liberty TownExpress" with Malnor charting the course for Hitch Insurance Agency drove flawlessly and never made a mistake with Bodenweiser glued to his bumper in the Lewes Dairy Market Mustang for the distance. Competition picked up with Wayne Cusick of Princess Anne taking third driving the Regal Muffler Center Vega. Milton's Eddie Pettyjohn scored fourth piloting the Milford Fertilizer's Ford Capri. Clem Horvath from Dover was fifth in the Ira Ware Prepared Be Someone Special Go Navy Pinto.

Hobby feature racing witnessed a new twist to the heated action with Ted Walius from Ellendale winning it all in his six cylinder Clark's Swimming Pool's Chevy II. Charlie Harris of Georgetown was second taking the eight cylinder laurels driving the Silver Oak Trailer Court Plymouth. Seaford's John Fisher was third in the Tastee-Freeze Big T Burger Chevelle. Charlie Morris was fourth with M.C. Schreiber fifth.

Two big shows are planned for Memorial Week end - Friday, May 23 race-time 8 p.m. a regular program, regular admission plus a special 25 lap combined Hobby feature. Sunday, May 25, race-time an hour earlier at 7 p.m. Admission for adults 3.50 - Heats, Hobbies plus two Memorial 35 lap features for Modified and Sportsmen racers.

Modified Heat - Jimmy Clark, Sonny Brittingham, Larry Tucker, Richard Jarvis, Walt Breeding.

Modified Heat - Ed Brown, Jr., B ob Reed, Wayne Brittingham, Jim Lambden, C. T. Phillips.

Girls Rally For Win Over Indians

Dave Adams' Lake Forest girls softball team trailed Indian River 6-0 at one point, but rallied to win

12-10. Carol Cabbage had four baseknocks in as many trips, to the plate. Cabbage batted in three runs, which Cheryl Short doubled in two more. Paula Clendaniel was the winning pitcher.

T&M Drops Its First

Taylor and Messick's softball team lost its first Kent County Slow Pitch Softball League game by bowing to Bowers 6-4 at Canterbury last week.

Jerry Minner had three of the loser's eight hits. One was a triple. Bob Collins gave up ten safeties in defeat.

The locals rebounded to defeat Bennett 5-4. Ken "Snooky" Collins had three hits in three at bats. Jim Fiblekorn was 2-for-4.

Lime... for the good of it!

Liming always has been, and today is even more so, the most profitable fertility practice you can undertake. And right now is the time to do it!

You've read more than once about the extreme importance of proper liming. How it helps your crops get more from the nitrogen, phosphate and potash you apply. How it counters the acid build-up that can result from high-nitrogen fertilization programs. And how lime helps build and maintain productive fields in other ways.

It's the right time to spread and Agway trucks are ready to roll. If you don't have a soil test to guide you, bring a representative soil sample (one pint) to Agway for a quick, free pH check. Then get the lime put down.

Lime... the fertilizer stretcher

Lime stretches nitrogen supplies. Acid pH's slow down the reaction of microorganisms in the soil. This results in the slower conversion of urea and ammonia forms of nitrogen to more readily available nitrate forms. It reduces the microbial breakdown of organic materials which release nitrogen to your crops. Proper liming makes more nitrogen available for healthy growth.

Lime stretches phosphate supplies. Low pH causes phosphate to be tied up in unavailable compounds of iron and aluminum. At pH levels of 6.0 or higher, iron and aluminum precipitate out, making them non-reactive with phosphate. So more phosphate is available for crops production.

Lime stretches potash supplies. Calcium, magnesium and potash can partially substitute for each other in the crop and on the soil colloid. If calcium and magnesium are low, more potash enters the exchangeable form on the soil colloid and less remains in solution form for crop uptake. With proper liming, less total potash is needed.

J. Leonard Starkey explains the art of tole painting to [left to right] Steve Stephens and John Miller, Centerville Rotarians associated with the crafts festival. Starkey is a former printer with the Detroit Free Press and lately a consultant to Doubleday and Company of Smithburg, Md. The fundamentals of printing are themselves a craft of which Starkey has carried over to tole painting, which is similar in style to printing.

Crafts Festival Attracts Thousands

The Queen Anne County 4-H Park in Centerville, Md. was the scene this past weekend of the Fourth Queen Anne Craft's Festival. Fifty-five craftspersons exhibited their crafts as an estimated 3,000 people attended the two day show. The variety of crafts are by invitation of the Centerville Rotary Club. All crafts are hand crafts, and all are selected with an educational aspect in mind.

To emphasize the educational element, Saturday, a bus load of school children was brought to the park to view the crafts first hand.

The proceeds from the show go to charitable causes in and around Centerville.

John E. Miller, general chairman of the Rotary sponsored event and an assistant superintendent of Queen Anne County Schools explained that the entire affair was designed to promote the educational element, and was not designed to make money.

Edgar H. Graef of Harrington displayed his carved ducks and Gerald Willey of Greenwood with his hand made knives were two area craftsmen in attendance.

Cemetery Here

Senator Bill Roth introduced today Monday a bill to provide for the establishment of a national cemetery in Delaware at or near Dover.

He said there are approximately 79,000 veterans of major wars who live in Delaware, many of whom would like to be buried in a national cemetery close to where their families and friends reside.

"There is no national cemetery in Delaware and none with available space in the adjoining states of Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey," Roth said. "The closest one is Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia, but it's short of space and cannot accommodate every veteran who might wish to be buried there."

Under the Roth bill, the U.S. Administrator of Veterans' Affairs would be directed to establish a national cemetery in the Dover area, if this were determined to be a desirable and practicable location. He would be authorized to use Government-owned land as the site for such a cemetery or to acquire land for this purpose.

Census figures in 1970 showed nearly 15,000 veterans of World War I resided in Delaware; nearly 35,000 World War II veterans; more than 13,500 veterans of the Korean conflict, and nearly 14,000 veterans of the Vietnam war.
