Police Arrest Six In Burglary

State police arrested six people last Thursday in connection with a $311 Wednesday night burglary near Houston.

According to police, the home of Bruce Wix on Kent 116, 2 miles southeast of Harrington was robbed about 9 p.m. of a 12-gauge shotgun, two stereo speakers and $3 in change.

Last Thursday morning police arrested three Harrington juveniles, two 16-year-olds and one 17, and three adults. The adults are Bruce Benson, 18, of Harrington, Reynolds Causey, 19, of Houston and Robert Loper, 19, of Harrington.

The juveniles were released to their parents and Benson, Causey and Loper were each released on $1,000 bail.

Championship Motorcycle Racing Debuts Here

The first Grand National Championship motorcycle race ever held in Delaware will take place at 8 p.m., June 14, at Delaware State Fairgrounds, Harrington.

Called the ILC Cycle Classic, the inaugural event is one of only 21 "Nationals" held all over the United States in 1975 to determine the best motorcycle racer of the year.

All of the best of the American Motorcycle Association experts (the top professional classification of skill and experience) will be competing in the eight race, $21,000 event. About 100 entries are expected, to be pared down to the fastest 48 through time trials.

Leading the racers onto the state fairgrounds half-mile dirt oval will be Kenny Roberts, who looks much younger than his 23 years. Twice Grand National Champion, in 1973 and 1974, he is well on his way to becoming motorcycle racing's first millionaire. In 1973, his earnings were $150,000; in 1974 they topped the $200,000 figure.

The highly skilled professionals will be racing powerful dirt track machines at speeds up to 110 miles per hour on the straightaways and 85 in the corners.

There is no room for error when three or four racers dive into a corner at 100 miles an hour or so just inches from one another. Although accidents are rare, falling off a 100 mile an hour racer can produce spectacular, though often disastrous results.

Motorcycle racing differs from modern automobile racing for several reasons. First, the spectator can actually see the racer as he drifts, slides and accelerates his 80 horsepower, 300 pound motorcycle. Second, the racing is very close. Last year, two National Championships were determined by less than two feet.

One of America's fastest growing sports because of the closeness of the racing, the skill of the participants, the parallel growth of the motorcycle industry, and the television coverage it has achieved recently, motorcycle racing is well on its way to becoming a true mass spectator sport.

Tickets to Delaware's first big motorcycle racing event, the ILC Cycle Classic, range in price from $6 to $12. They are available at all Ticketron outlets, Diamond Motor Sports in Camden, and at the gate June 14, the evening of the race.

Charged After City Chase

On Sunday, June 8, at 3:15 a.m., William E. Sharpe, 19, of Milford, was arrested after a chase through city streets which ended on the Harrington-Frederica Road approximately two miles west of Frederica.

The chase was joined by state police cars from Troop 3 and they assisted in the apprehension. Sharpe was arrested for expired registration; reckless driving; inserting false information on a temporary tag and failure to stop at the command of a police officer.

Sharpe is serving a total of 60 days in the Delaware Correctional Institution.

Juvenile Arrested

On Saturday, June 7, at 2:05 a.m., a 17-year-old juvenile was arrested on five charges while riding a motorcycle. He was charged with: (1) driving without safety equipment; (2) careless driving; (3) driving while license was revoked; (4) driving unregistered motor vehicle; (5) disobedience to a police officer. Two charges are pending in J.P. Court 7 and three are pending in Family Court, Dover. Name of juvenile was withheld at court's request.

Graduates Cum Laude

Miss Ruth Ann Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Moore of Milford-Harrington Road, graduated cum laude from West Virginia University, May 18. Ruth Ann served as State President of the West Virginia Student Home Economics Association this year and is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron and Sigma Iota Chi.

Whether sliding his dirt track racing machine at 100 plus miles or sitting demurely in the pits, 23-year-old Kenny Roberts exudes the quiet confidence of a champion. Twice American Motorcycle Association National Champion, Roberts earnings in 1974 totaled over $200,000.

One of the top contenders at the fairgrounds' half mile dirt oval, Roberts will head a field of 100 or so racers who will be battling wheel-to-wheel at over 110 mph for $21,000 in prize and contingency money.

Tickets available at Ticketron, Diamond Motor Sports in Camden, and at the gate for the Saturday evening, June 14 event.

Two Arrested In Local Restaurant

Two men who claimed to be Rhodesian liberation movement representatives at the United Nations were arrested Saturday at People's Restaurant in Harrington around 5 p.m.

According to police, the two were told they could not drink in the restaurant. An argument ensued during which police said one of the men was injured slightly when he was pushed against a window in a shoving match with an officer.

Both men, Tapscot A. Revesai Maware and Muda Mangazba, were sent to the Delaware Correctional Center and were released Sunday morning.

Maware and his cousin, Mangazba, both claim membership to ZANU, a guerrilla oriented freedom movement in white-ruled Rhodesia. Maware reportedly identified himself as chief representative at the U.N. for the group, while Mangazba said he is the group's publicity director in New York City.

Both men were passengers on a bus enroute to Norfolk, Va. When it broke down and was being repaired at the service station area, the passengers went into the adjoining restaurant.

Mrs. Howard E. Brown, operator of the restaurant, called police when the two men began drinking "spiked" coffee and poured beef all over the waitress, according to Harrington Chief of Police Ed Layton.

Reportedly these action followed after Mrs. Brown had explained to the pair the restaurant did not have a liquor license.

There is a difference in opinion in what happened next. According to Harrington police, they, backed up by state police, made the arrests.

A window was broken in a scuffle. Layton says it was broken after one of the men shoved a Harrington policeman who had arrested him and was trying to take him to a police car.

According to Charles (Chezzy) Miller, chairman of the Wilmington branch of the National Congress of African People, there is a different version. He said officials at the Newark, N.J., office of the NCAP learned the men had entered into a "discussion" about the liquor. The police arrived, "tussled with" Mangazba and "heaved him through a plate glass window."

Miller has called for an Attorney General's investigation into "alleged beatings" to the two persons.

Mangazba was charged with disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, public intoxication and 3rd-degree assault. He was released under $775 bail at Magistrate Court 7, Dover. Naware, charged with hindering prosecution and disorderly conduct, was released under $250 bail.

Both are scheduled for a preliminary hearing at the Dover Court, Friday. Miller said representatives of the citizens' groups plan to attend the hearing to see that the two diplomats get fair treatment.

Layton said about 15 witnesses have been contacted and will also appear during the hearing.

As of Tuesday after federal immigration officers had not been in contact with Harrington police to verify or deny Mangazba's and Maware's claim to have Rhodesian visas. Neither had passports with them during the incident.

Earmarks $500 For Bicentennial

Mayor Norman Powell and Council members of the Town of Bridgeville heard Clark Carbaugh of Edward H. Richardson & Associates on Monday night discuss possible construction of the water tower to be located directly behind the Town Hall. The cost of the water tower will be $138,600.

As Carbaugh read off the payment schedule and the amounts, Powell sat quietly until the Town's engineer had finished. The Mayor then pointed out very quickly at the end of Carbaugh's speech that the entire sum would be available by July 1. Powell then turned to the small audience gathered, mostly news people, and stated that it is the policy of the Town to be debt free. Over the years, Powell reported that he has been investing the Town's funds in a manner so as to be able to pay for the water tower when it was needed.

In other matters the Council discussed the need for a new sewage treatment plant. The cost would be approximately $75,000. Carbaugh advised the Council members to disregard the plant at this time. He reported that recently a Western Sussex Study was made for the entire portion of Sussex County. It was decided in that matter that if Greenwood developed a collection system, there would be a need then for a disposal plant in Bridgeville.

Carbaugh recommended that the bio-filter at the plant be reconditioned until such time as the treatment plant would be installed. Powell stated that there are no funds available at this time for capital improvements for improvement of the Town's water and sewer project. Carbaugh estimated the cost to be $115,000.

The Council approved a request by Kyle Ewing of the Bridgeville Lions Club for $500 to be used for Bicentennial expenses. Ewing appeared to request the town help subsidize the cost for a marble monument to be installed in front of City Hall with the date of the founding of the town and by whom as well as other selected phrases to be decided upon. The total cost of the monument would be $1300. These funds would come from the Bridgeville Lions, local merchants and some from the $500 fund. Ewing announced that a special day during the bicentennial year would be set aside and called festival day. It would start at 1 p.m. and continue until 9 p.m. Sack races, beard judging and other events related to the bicentennial are planned. At the conclusion a fireworks display at the football field is also tentatively planned.

Mrs. Mary Draine Feted At Retirement Buffet

Around 50 were present in the Lake Forest South B cafeteria Tuesday afternoon to honor Mary E. Draine, who is retiring this year after 40 years of teaching in Delaware schools.

Guests at the covered dish luncheon included Dr. Lunar Mishoe, president of Delaware State College, Mr. Albert Adams, superintendent of the Lake Forest School District, Albert Price, president-elect of the Lake Forest School Board, Solomon Markowitz, supervisor of instruction, William E. Cline, principal of both south elementary schools, a sister and several nieces of Mrs. Draine, and co-faculty and staff members.

During the luncheon Mrs. Draine was presented a certificate by Mr. Adams citing her service to Delaware schools and was praised for her years of working with young children by all speakers, which included Dr. Mishoe and Mr. Markowitz.

Forty years has brought Mrs. Draine geographically close to where her life and later, her career began, in

Board Tables Strike Decision,

Opposes State Budget Cuts

During Monday evening's meeting of the Lake Forest School Board, Marvin Brown expressed his doubts that the ruling or proposed statute of the State Board of Education relating to strikes by its professional school employees really applies to the local board unless the strike is against the local board. The Board tabled their vote on this proposed statute.

Last February, Brown pointed out, the strike was a statewide one and not against the local board. He therefore reasoned that the proposed statute would have no application to the Lake Forest School Board if it were a statewide one again.

James Pizzadili of Felton, another school board member, disagreed with Brown saying that the Delaware Code makes no distinction between a strike which is statewide or one against the local board. Under the present interpretation, a strike is simply a strike. Pizzadili reasoned that at the present, the Delaware Code must be followed until the matter has been finally resolved in the courts. A court case is now pending in the Delaware courts to resolve this point.

Under the present law, the statutes governing this requires the local board of education to meet within 72 hours after a work stoppage or strike in order to make a formal determination whether an illegal activity has in fact taken place.

If it has, the local board shall (1) revoke the certification of the negotiating representative; (2) refrain from making payroll deductions for the dues of any employee organization violating the law; (3) deduct salary for absences; (4) require a medical certificate for each employee absent claiming sick leave and (6) deny any request for personal leave during the period of the strike.

The board in other action voted to approve their practice

Local Grocer Celebrates Anniversary

Earl Quillen, Harrington grocer, is celebrating his 20th year in business this week at his location on Dorman Street with promise of special activities during the week for his store patrons. Quillen reflects he has come a long way from that first shop.

The first quarters of Quillen's Dairy Market, or Quillen's Clover Farm Store, was on West Center Street. The original store was built by the late Judson Ramsdell, but the store was known as E. C. Ramsdell. Ramsdell started the store in his home across the street when he was a rural mail carrier. In the '20's there were several grocery stores in Harrington homes.

The move to the present location on Dorman St. near Liberty, came in April, 1965. The store is on the site of the former Harrington School, later known as the Knox Apartments.

At its present location, Quillen operates every day in the year. He also has self-service gas pumps.

It's a family project, with his wife, Marguerite, and two daughters, Mrs. Paige Kemp and Mrs. JoAnn Pase, all working.

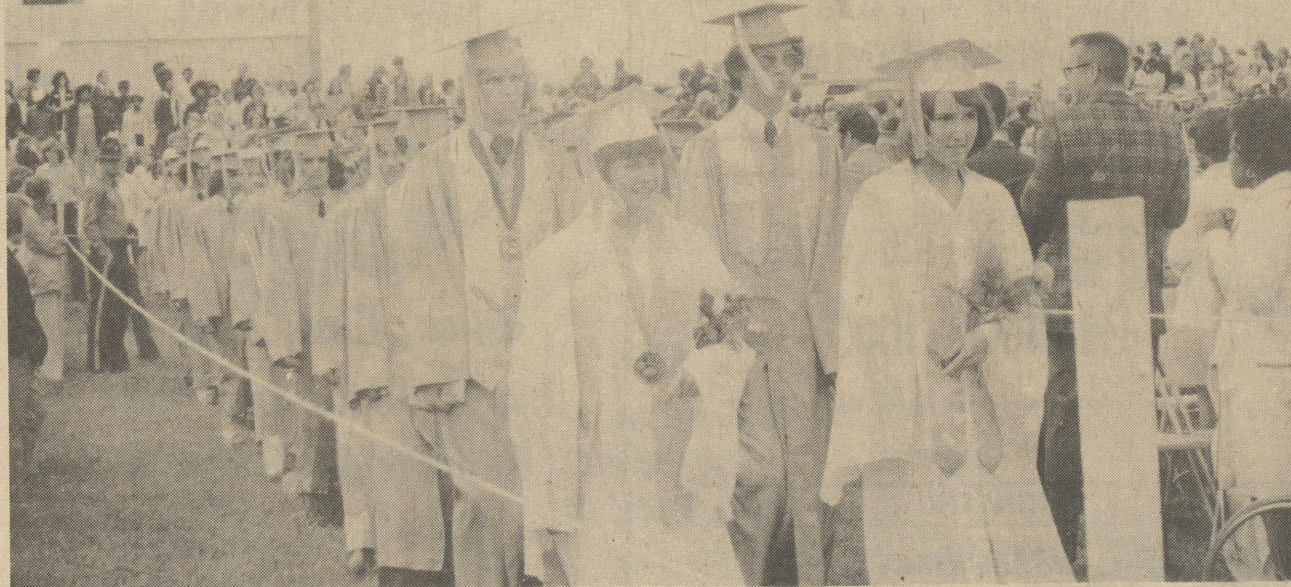

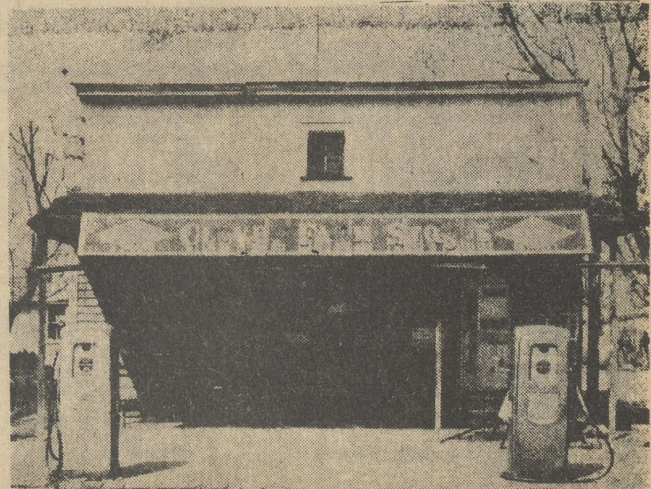

Quillen doesn't have much time for hobbies but when he does have a chance, he likes to get in a little fishing.

Sp4 Farrington Completes Training

Army Specialist Four Johnny B. Farrington, son of Mrs. Pauline Teagle, 17 Gun St., Bridgeville, completed nine weeks of advanced individual training at the U.S. Army Infantry Training Center, Ft. Polk, La.

He received general training as a light weapons infantryman and as a mortar and recoilless rifle crewman, in addition to specialized weapons instruction.

Teamwork was emphasized while he learned to work as a member of a rifle squad, mortar squad or direct fire section. Each team member completed the training well qualified to perform other jobs in case of casualties.

Will Leave Lake Forest

Mr. James Perry, the choral director at Lake Forest High School, will leave his teaching position at the end of the school year. Perry has made plans to take a church at Oak Park, Virginia, which is about 20 miles from Culpepper, Va. He will have four churches there which are part of the Rapidan Circuit of the United Methodist Church. He expects to be in the pulpit on the 29th of this month.

he taught at the Singapore American School for three years where he also taught a choral group.

The highlight of this program was a tour of London and the United States. While in the States, the group toured N.Y., Washington, D.C., Virginia, Atlanta, Houston, Dallas, Phoenix, Los Angeles and back to New York. While in New York, the group sang before the United Nations, the Capitol in Washington, the opening of the Atlanta Braves game and Disney World in Florida.

In addition to taking the four churches, he will also enroll in a four-year program at the Wesley Theological Seminary in Oak Park. His studies at the Seminary will commence in July.

Mr. Perry is a graduate of Emory & Henry University in Bristol, Virginia, with a B.A. degree. He is married to the former Johanna Teilmann. They have three children. Mrs. Perry's parents are missionaries in Singapore.

While teaching at Lake Forest, Perry developed a choral group at the high school. Prior to coming here,

"...the question is whether we have done the right thing by bringing them to this country." For decades and longer, it has been the American way to permit a relaxed attitude toward permitting immigrants and aliens to enter and remain in this country with reckless abandon. It is true that this country has always been known for its open door policy in this area. Things have changed, however, for all of us here, and the main change is in the economy. Not only is it extremely difficult for us to support our own people, it is becoming ever so difficult to support or find jobs for those who come to this country.

I think that it is time that our country developed an attitude of isolationism which I have spoken about in the past regarding a hands off policy when it comes to involvement in the affairs of government of other countries. I think we should trade freely, however.

It also follows that this attitude should be followed in other related matters. We are doing many of the people who are brought here a great disservice if, when they arrive, they cannot find jobs or ways to earn enough money in our inflationary situation to maintain an accepted standard of living. It is through practices such as this which is part of the cause and effect of our economic chaos.

In the final analysis the main issue and question is whether we have done the right thing in bringing them to this country.

Named To Who's Who

Helen A. Breeding and Keith W. Parker, both of Greenwood, were among a record 29 students at Delaware Technical and Community College Southern Campus to be included in this year's edition of "Who's Who Among Students In American Junior Colleges." Inclusion in the annual directory reflects the academic achievements, community services, leadership and above-average potential of the students chosen.

Nominations are made by faculty advisors, for academic proficiency in course work and overall performance.

Weekly Report of Joseph Biden

In recent weeks, there has been a good deal of speculation about whether or not the campaign reform law passed by Congress last year is Constitutional. The day it took effect on January 1 of this year, a coalition of liberal and conservative leaders, including Senator Buckley of New York, former Senator Eugene McCarthy, brought suit in Federal courts to throw the new law out. For a while, there was speculation that the Justice Department might refuse to defend the new law -- and, it appears, Justice has decided to oppose creation of a new Elections Commission to monitor elections.

As one of the Senators who strongly supported this new law, I think it is time to speak up, once again, in defense of the need to thoroughly reform the way we go about electing our officials. The new law deals with elections of Members of Congress and the President. It may have some flaws -- but those can be worked out. What is important is that the new law is an historic step toward guaranteeing clean, fair, equitable elections. I have defended the general thrust of the new law in a lengthy law review article published last year by Northwestern University Law School.

Basically, the new law imposes stringent limits on how much candidates for Federal office can spend on an election campaign. It also severely limits the amount of money individual donors or organizations can contribute to candidates. And, for the first time, the law establishes a system of public financing of Presidential campaigns. That financing is provided by individuals who indicate on their income tax returns that they want $1 of their taxes to go for Presidential campaigns.

At the Congressional level, campaigns have become so costly that they are a magnet for the special interests. At the Presidential level, the abuses that took place in 1972 -- fully documented in the Watergate scandal, including laundered cash and what can only be described as attempts to "shake down" corporations for contributions -- argue persuasively for public financing under strict supervision.

The 1974 campaign reform law will encourage small contributors. It will go a long way toward ending the dependence of candidates on special interests. It sets reasonable limits for spending, and it allows individuals to make reasonable contributions. It would provide fair and equitable financing of Presidential campaigns.

Women Honored
By Stamps

Bench marks in women's history - dating back as far as pre-colonial times - have been graphically depicted throughout the years on U.S. postage stamps.

This recognition of the important contributions of women continues as the U.S. Postal Service commemorates International Women's Year with a postage stamp to be issued in 1975.

Earlier this year, as a part of the nation's bicentennial series, a stamp featuring 16-year-old Sybil Ludington was issued. The stamp, part of a "Contributors to the Cause" set, commemorated her historic ride in 1777 to muster the militia to fight the British after a raid on Danbury, Conn.

In all, 45 U.S. postage stamps which honor women individually and collectively have been issued.

An 8-cent Martha Washington stamp was issued in 1902. She was also honored on a 4-cent stamp in 1923 and a 1 1/2 cent stamp in 1938.

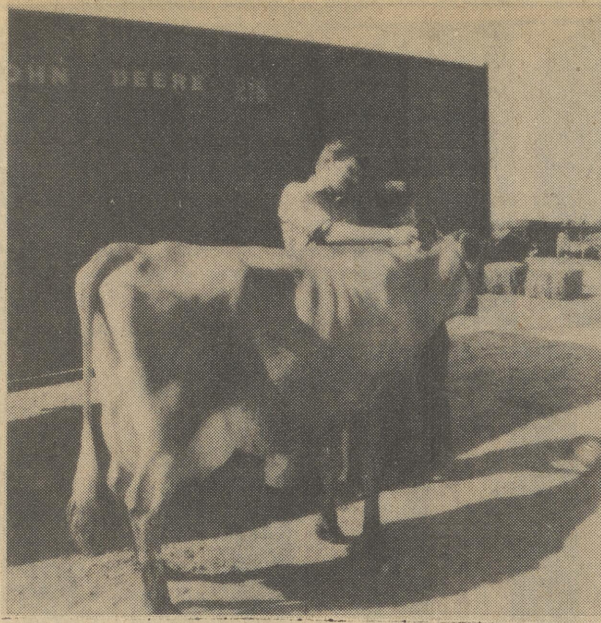

Pocahontas appeared on a 1907 5-cent stamp commemorating the Pilgrims' settlement of Jamestown.

Molly Pitcher, heroine of the Revolutionary War battle of Monmouth was similarly honored by having her name overprinted on a 2-cent postage stamp in 1928.

In recognition of the 16th anniversary of the ratification of the 19th Amendment granting suffrage to women, a 1936 stamp featuring a profile portrait of women's rights leader Susan B. Anthony was issued. Another stamp was issued in her honor in 1955 as part of a regular series and remained in use until 1968.

The 1940 Famous Americans series, consisting of authors, poets, educators, scientists, composers, artists and inventors, featured Louisa May Alcott, the writer, Frances E. Willard, educator, and Jane Addams, scientist, co-winner of the Nobel peace prize and social reformer.

A "100 Years of Progress of Women" stamp was issued in 1948 in Seneca Falls, N.Y., the 1848 site of the first convention on women's rights, picturing three leaders of the women's suffrage movement: Elizabeth Stanton, Carrie C. Catt and Lucretia Mott.

Gary Simpson makes a point about the cow to a young friend.

Simpson Is Veteran Participant At Fair

When the Delaware State Fair selected F. Gary Simpson of Pilot Point in Lewes to be Assistant Manager, they were getting themselves a veteran participant of two decades, even though he is only 28-years-old.

Simpson, a nephew of General Manager, George C. Simpson, will be attending his 20th Fair this year, having started going at the age of 8. Almost from the very beginning he was entering calves in the blue ribbon competition.

"We had it worked out," he commented the other day, "where Uncle George would give not only me, but several youngsters in the community, a calf which we would raise for two years, though picking up all of the feed from Uncle George's farm. When the cow freshened she would be sent back to my uncle's farm and when the new calf came along that would be given to us to keep on a permanent basis."

Operating in this businesslike manner, Gary Simpson twice won the 4-H Club "Showing and Fitting" award with his calves. His animals were curried and groomed to a sparkling degree of cleanliness when they were exhibited. Gary has also exhibited pigs, chickens and garden vegetables during his long association with the Fair.

He came to the fair from a different type of business association, having worked for Anderson-Stokes in real estate for two years until December 1, 1974.

But his undergraduate background at the University of Delaware was designed to qualify him for just such a position as he now holds. He graduated with a degree in Animal Science and then achieved a Master's in Agricultural Economics. His background also includes a tour of duty in the Army Medical Service Corp where he was a 2nd Lieutenant after completing the ROTC course at Delaware. In spite of his background in the agricultural field, he does not see farming in his future. He likes living in the Lewes community and also likes the varied world of business, entertainment, dealing with people, advertising and promotion, administration, maintenance and many other areas of human activity which the fair encompasses.

The Delaware State Fair is a very complex undertaking. While it goes on for only a little over one short week, it requires months and months of planning, negotiations, scheduling and advertising. Gary is involved in all these activities and many more. He has helped prepare the fair catalog, handled the stall and trailer rentals, supervised the maintenance and arranged the exhibits. He knows intimately almost every detail of operations and for several years was assistant to the late Purnel Friedel, the long-time superintendent of dairy cattle. Gary loves his work and goes after it with enthusiasm. "It is a good thing he found something on the other side of the fence from farming," his Uncle George said with a twinkle, "he never was worth a damn on the farm." To which comment Gary quickly responded, "the pay was higher stacking lumber." This was a reference to the lumber yard owned by another uncle, Walton Simpson, a former Secretary of State under Governor Peterson, and operated by his father, Francis Simpson. Gary's mother and father live in Houston. He is married to the former Miss Debbie Betts of Milford.

It is obvious that with all this background in agricultural education and rural community living, Gary brings a special quality of devotion to his work with the Delaware State Fair. He has an understanding of its history and traditions, an intimate knowledge of the way it works and a special feel for the thousands of people who help to make it one of Delaware's greatest attractions year after year, either through their participation or their attendance.

And although he knows a lot about calves and pigs and all the barnyard animals that constitute life on a farm, it's people for whom Gary Simpson has a special fondness.

Other women on U.S. postage stamps were: Queen Isabella (seven denominations - 1893), Virginia Dare (1937), Clara Barton (1948), Juliette Gordon Low (1948), Moina Michael (1948), Betsy Ross (1952), Sacagawea (1954), Amelia Earhart (1963), Eleanor Roosevelt (1965), Lucy Stone (1968), Mary Cassatt (1966), Grandma Moses (1969), Emily Dickinson (1971), Mary, Queen of Heaven (1972), Willa Cather (1973), Madonna and Child (1967 and 1973) and Elizabeth Blackwell (1974).

A "Woman Suffrage 50th Anniversary" stamp was issued in 1970 in Adams, Mass., the birthplace of Susan B. Anthony. U.S. stamps have also featured the General Federation of Women's Clubs (1966), American Woman (1960), Camp Fire Girls (1960), Girl Scouts (1962), Women in Our Armed Services (1952), Gold Star Mothers of America (1948), and Tribute to Mothers of America (1934).

Outstanding Teachers Selected

Janice Johnson Caldwell of Milford; Marion Ruth Gussett of Frederica and Louise Dickens Kunkle of Milford, all teachers in the Lake Forest School District, have been selected as Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America for 1975. They were selected on the basis of their professional, personal and academic achievements.

Teachers of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women in the field of elementary education.

Each national winner will receive a $500 unrestricted grant and an award commemorating their selection.

Thoughts...

by Senator William Roth

City officials in Philadelphia seem to spend more time and energy on efforts to circumvent environmental controls than they do on efforts to develop better sewage disposal methods.

Several months ago, the Environmental Protection Agency issued a permit to the City of Philadelphia to allow it to continue dumping sewage sludge into the ocean about 50 miles southeast of Cape Henlopen. The permit requires Philadelphia to reduce its dumping by one-half by 1979 and to discontinue all dumping by 1981.

The City of Philadelphia is challenging the authority of the EPA to issue such an order. Deeply concerned about this challenge, I have urged the environmental agency to stand firm in its position.

As I pointed out in a letter to Russell E. Train, administrator of EPA, Philadelphia has been the largest source of pollution in this area. Its past performance indicates a greater concern with finding fault with the EPA permit system than with finding solutions to the sewage problem.

This country has always relied heavily on the oceans to meet its transportation, food, and recreational needs. Nearly two-thirds of our population lives in coastal states, and this concentration is expected to increase during the next 25 years.

By enacting the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act in 1972, the Congress made it clear that it would not tolerate the contamination of the oceans by permitting them to be used as national sewers. The act gave the EPA the clear authority, and even an obligation, to restrict or prohibit completely the dumping which is done by Philadelphia.

The EPA has been studying the Philadelphia dumpsite, conducting a baseline study and follow-up surveys. The environmental agency cannot let economic considerations dictate its permit conditions. Its ultimate goal must be to sharply reduce, and if possible eliminate, ocean dumping.

The City of Philadelphia must be forced to explore all of the alternatives which new technology offers for sewage disposal. As an interim measure, it must see to it that potentially harmful substances are removed from the sludge it dumps into the ocean.

We cannot permit the continued abuse of our ocean.

Quality coverage of area news and sensible prices for printing, dependability...these things have not changed at the Harrington Journal in the last 60 years. And when it comes to being up to date, we're as modern as tomorrow! We look forward to serving the community needs in the coming years as we begin our 60th year with this issue of the paper.

BOB MULROONEY ASSISTANT KENT COUNTY AGENT

Wanted: Dead bean beetles! How can you help? The University of Delaware and University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service have initiated the Delmarva Soybean Pest Management Program. The purpose of this project is to demonstrate the concept and benefits of field inspection (scouting) for soybean insect and disease pest as a basis for determining appropriate control action. It will also hopefully demonstrate the benefits of the released bean beetle parasite. Needed: Growers who want to cooperate in this effort by allocating a 20 acre plot not treated with systemic insecticides plus another 20 acre or larger field which has been under grower management. These two fields as previously stated should be 20 acres or more of the same variety planted in similar soils with similar fertility and planted within one week from each other. The pest management field must be without systemic insecticides while the other field can be with or without systemics depending upon the growers practice. The cooperating grower will dictate his own pest control program in the controlled field and will apply chemical control if needed in the pest management field according to the recommendations given by the University Extension Specialist. If you would like to cooperate with us in this project, please call the County Extension Office at 736-1448 and we will be glad to answer any and all questions concerning the program.

Wilbur Gooden

Wilbur Gooden, 90, of Woodside, died last Wednesday in Kent General Hospital, Dover, after a short illness.

Mr. Gooden was a retired farmer. His wife, Ethel, died in 1962. He is survived by four sons, William, Lester and Olin, all of Woodside; and Reynolds of Frederica; a brother, J. Olin of Leipsix; six grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Services were last Saturday afternoon at 1 at the Berry Funeral Home, Main St., Felton. Interment was in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Camden.

Wilbert L. Coverdale

A Magnolia farmer was killed and his wife seriously injured when a tractor ran over them Monday, June 2, near Milford.

Wilbert L. Coverdale, 65, was dead on arrival at Milford Memorial Hospital after the 11 a.m. accident, police said. His wife, Dorothy, 61, was listed in critical condition.

Coverdale was a farmer for the Draper-King Cole canning firm in Sussex County. He and his wife were having difficulty starting their tractor in an open field off Sussex 211, police said.

Coverdale placed a piece of metal across terminals of the starting motor, unaware that the tractor was in gear. The vehicle lurched forward, crushing Coverdale and his wife.

He is survived by two daughters, G. Marie Neeman of Magnolia and D. Louella Pritchett of Milford; two brothers, Arthur and Freeman, both of Milford; two sisters, Elva Millman of Frederica and Sarah Lynch of Milford and eight grandchildren.

Services were Friday afternoon at 1 at the Berry Funeral Home, Northwest Front St., Milford. Burial was in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford.

Henry C. [Jack] Watson

Henry C. (Jack) Watson, 68, of 12 Sunset Lane, Milford, was dead on arrival Thursday at the Delaware Division after an apparent heart attack.

He was a truck driver for Eastern Freightways for 46 years. He is survived by his wife, Alberta; a son, Henry C. of Milford; a daughter, Betty Jane Moore of Milford; three brothers, Gus of Lincoln, Pierce of Newark and Harold of Texas; four grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Services were Sunday afternoon at 1:30 at the Berry Funeral Home, Northwest Front St., Milford. Burial was in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford.

Ralph Anthony

Ralph Anthony, 57, of Harrington, died last Tuesday in Milford Memorial Hospital, Milford, after an apparent heart attack.

He worked for the Latex Co. in Dover. He is survived by his wife, Marie M.; six sons, Frank of Harrington, Jay of Laurel and Kenneth, James, Allen and Ernest, all at home; a brother, William of Harrington; two half-sisters, Hazel Pearson of Houston and Nettie Maloney of Felton and two grandchildren.

Services were last Saturday afternoon at 2 at the McKnatt Funeral Home, 50 Commerce St., Harrington. Burial was in Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington.

Harvey Jacobs

Harvey Jacobs, 77, of Frederica died Monday in Milford Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Jacobs at one time worked on the Wilson Line boats. He never married and there are no immediate survivors.

Services will be this afternoon at 2 at the Berry Funeral Home, N.W. Front St., Milford. Burial will be in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery, Frederica.

It Seems To Me

by Janet Reed

Do you really save money by sewing? It's really hard to say. There are too many variables to make an accurate comparison.

To save money when you shop for any item requires you to be a knowledgeable, careful shopper. It also takes time. All of us put a value on our time. You may prefer to spend time hunting a bargain - someone else could have a dress made in that time. The time spent hunting a bargain you may not find or need can be expensive and possibly unproductive. It's kind of like a gamble versus a sure thing.

And if you want to find something "out of the ordinary," or suited to your own life style or a perfect fit, no amount of time spent bargain hunting can insure you'll find just what you want.

The amount you save is affected by the value you place on being well-dressed. If you really don't care, you can find all sorts of inexpensive merchandise. But if you want to dress with distinction and in a style different from that made for the mass markets, that kind of style is likely to be expensive to buy. You may only find it by making your own clothes.

Good quality fabric seems to go up in price all the time, but so does ready-to-wear. If you do sew, it's hardly worth your time to sew on fabric which will not hold up well. Use your labor to make an expensive garment instead of a cheap one. You can often save on fabric by shopping at sales. Most fabric shops have seasonal sales with great reductions. You can even get your name on a mailing list for advance notice of sales so you have a better choice.

You don't really save at sales though, if you buy more fabric than you need just because of the reduced price. We probably all do it and tell ourselves that we will use it sometime. That time may never come - and fabrics do go out of style too. Fashion silhouettes dictate fabric choices, so some of that stockpile may have to wait until soft or stiff fabrics come in style again. If your storage space is good you may use it, but keep in mind that time deteriorates certain fabrics, too.

There are many ways you can save. In the first place, most of us have more clothes than we really need. We can buy or make fewer clothes. And we can do a better job of planning. Plan your needs, then shop with your needs in mind. Impulse buying, whether at the grocery store, fabric shop or department store is not the most economical way to buy.

Watch style trends. Don't stockpile fabrics that are on their way out.

You save most on making children's clothes and special occasion clothes such as evening wear and high fashion apparel.

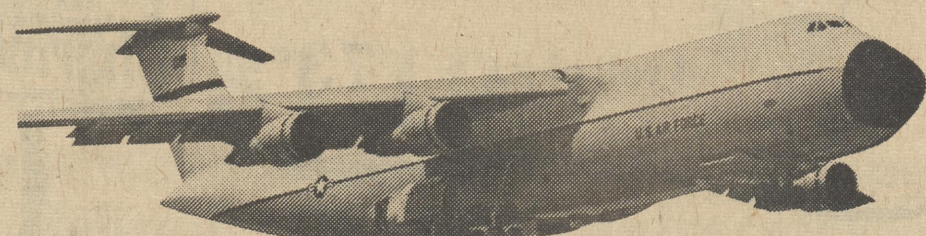

Improve your skill in sewing as well as your creative skill. Dresses with a touch of originality give you satisfaction, and these are the ready-to-wear clothes that can be very expensive. You pay for originality.

One of the big costs in sewing is for notions. Zippers seem expensive, but there are places where you can buy them unpackaged for much less. As you discard old clothes, remove the zippers if they are in good condition, and reuse them. Buttons, too, if they are unusual and in good condition can be removed for reuse.

Thread seems to keep going up in price, too, but you can be saving on thread. The biggest saver is to make no errors so you won't need to rip and restitch. Saves time, too.

Whether you really save or not is up to you, and only you can answer that question. When making comparisons, though, don't forget to count your shopping time, and the satisfaction you obtain from sewing.

Home fires are responsible for about half of all fire deaths. Most fatal home fires occur at night, when flames, smoke and toxic gases gain headway unnoticed while the family is asleep. That's why a nighttime fire escape plan is a "must" for everyone.

Members of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Department practice for the horseshoe contest, a very popular part of their annual antique car and flea market. This year the contest will begin at 1 p.m. in the horseshow ring at the Delaware State Fairgrounds. Shown practicing on some of the eight regulation sized areas are [l to r]: Chester Short, J. D. Dennis Jr., William Hill, Larry Hawkins and Lindsey Vanderwende. Kerry Dale and J. D. Dennis Sr., last year's winners, reportedly are preparing for all comers. The firemen have a variety of activities planned during their annual fundraiser. Everything gets underway at 8 a.m.

Adams Reconfirmed To Post

At the May meeting of the Lake Forest School Board, David Adams was selected to become Student Activities Director. Subsequent to that meeting, a controversy arose among some faculty members in that they claimed the position was illegally advertised. They related the board had advertised for an Athletic Director and had in fact filled the position with Adams by calling him Director of Student Activities. Since that meeting, the Administration has readvertised the position calling it now Coordinator of Student Activities/Athletic Director and set forth a long list of qualifications and performance responsibilities. The qualifications require that the person must be a certified teacher in the district; must have prior experience as a coach or athletic director; must have experience in working with other schools and programs in arranging cooperative scheduling. This person must report to Deputy Superintendent and coordinates with all principals. The person also is to serve as athletic director for L.F.H.S. and W.T. Chipman School, to be available as a substitute teacher, spent one period per day working with high school assistant principals in contacting absentees, helping visiting teachers get settled, maintain the calendar of student activities and student assemblies and any other duties to be determined and prescribed by the superintendent or deputy superintendent. The position is for the school year alone and shall not be considered an administrative position. Salary is to be in accord with the local schedule.

Protect Your Toddler

You and your toddler just don't see things eye to eye. A cigarette, a bottle of aspirin, an appliance cord - that's all pretty ordinary stuff from your point of view. But those items are fascinating to your toddler, and he wants to explore them - with his hands, his mouth, any way he can. You don't want to stifle your child's sense of curiosity, yet at the same time you don't want him to get hurt. To protect him you need to make a special kind of safety inspection - looking at your home from a toddler's point of view.

Here are some pitfalls to avoid.

-A toddler doesn't have to tug very hard to pull a coffee pot or iron down on his head. Keep all appliance cords away from exploring hands.

-Smoking materials always arouse the curiosity of an exploring youngster. Keep all of them out of reach. Don't ever leave a lighted cigarette.

-A wastebasket is fair game for a small child. When you use it to dispose of unsafe things, you put danger right in the midst of his world.

-It only takes a second for a child to put a small object in his mouth. Older children should not leave dangerous toys in reach.

-Detergents, cleaning agents and similar household products should be stored in high cabinets, not under the sink.

-Never leave a dishwasher open unless it's empty. There's no need to chance a fall into glassware or cutlery.

-Scalding water is an ever-present risk to little ones. Bathtub faucets, especially, are within a child's reach.

-Electrical outlets offer fascinating holes to probe. Prevent tragedy by covering unused outlets with convenient snap-in caps.

-If a curious toddler can reach a table cover, make sure there is nothing heavy, sharp or hot he can pull down on himself.

-A deflated balloon is a choking hazard. Blow up a balloon before giving it to a child and take it away if it pops or leaks.

-Turn handles of pans toward back of range and take out spoon or ladle. Put away objects to climb on.

Always latch a safety gate at the top of a stair. Don't rely on a portable pressure gate that holds to opening by friction.

-Teach your toddler not to play in a doorway or traffic path where someone can fall over him or his playthings.

-A purse is a Pandora's box to small fry. Why tempt fate by leaving aspirin, matches, small objects on a table or beside your chair?

-A cleaning bag can be a deadly plaything. Prevent suffocation by tying knots in a bag when you discard it.

-A long telephone cord can strangle a child or cause a bad crack on the head if he can pull the receiver off.

Chambers capped a first half Felton Little League pennant with a 6-2 windup victory over Simpler last night.

Simpler (5-4) battled the flag winners on even terms in the hit department, each garnering six, but failed to keep pace in the run column.

Aaron Moore triggered the Chambers' offensive with a 2-for-3 effort and an RBI as Dinky Seaman notched the mound win with a 5-strikeout performance.

Losing hurler Doug Stephens struck out seven.

Jeff Thompson paced the losers at the plate with a 2-for-4.

Chambers finished first-half play with a 7-2 record. Oak Crest trailed Simpler with a 4-5 ledger, followed by Felton Bank with 2-7.

Orioles topped Phillies 2-1 in Junior Pee Wee action.

Minor League Baseball

Glenn Homewood stroked his second homer of the season as he led Hi Grade Dairy to a 16-15 victory over Martin Jarrell Oil Co.

Home run credits also go to Art Strunk, Troy Dennis and Dale Brian Dean. Jimmy Green continues to amaze everyone with his improvement as the season moves along.

Brian Baker pitched Martin Jarrell Oil Co. to a

5-3 victory over Hi Grade Dairy, Wednesday night. Troy Dennis and Dennis Dill pitched equally well for the losers.

The difference in the score was the three run blast over the centerfield fence by Kent Weeks.

Mike Wings came up with the first double play of the season as he shows a lot of talent on the field as well as with the bat.

Run In Junior Olympics

by Keith S. Burgess

Three young Harrington lads with no previous track experience and very little training made their thin-clad debuts in Junior Olympic competition last Saturday at Wilmington's Baynard Stadium. Each of the trio of novices showed very good potential.

Frank Jenkins, a 10-year-old, fifth grader with a 3.10 practice half mile, came in fifth of 19 runners in 2:53.8. Frank didn't know how to handle all that traffic and consequently ran quite a few extra yards. Thus his good clocking becomes even more impressive.

Jerry Mosley, a 10-year-old, fourth grader, can hardly miss being a future great. Ron Mosley, his older brother, was a 1.58.2 high school half miler and record holder and was chosen Most Outstanding Freshman at Delaware State College this year.

Paula Mosley, his sister, was a freshman at Lake Forest this year and is only one or two seconds out of the school's 880 record already.

Jerry, too, is a natural. He has a remarkably relaxed style. His 76 second quarter mile left him only one second away from a fourth place ribbon.

Another can't-miss tyro is Charles Jones, an 11-year-old fifth grader. Charles is already a Delaware State Junior Olympic champion in wrestling.

Jones is also a smooth runner. His 76.2 440 was achieved after only two short workouts. His inexperience showed when he allowed everyone to leave him early. But he fought back to pass several rivals and but for a late near-collision, might have broken 75 seconds down from his practice clocking of 82.5.

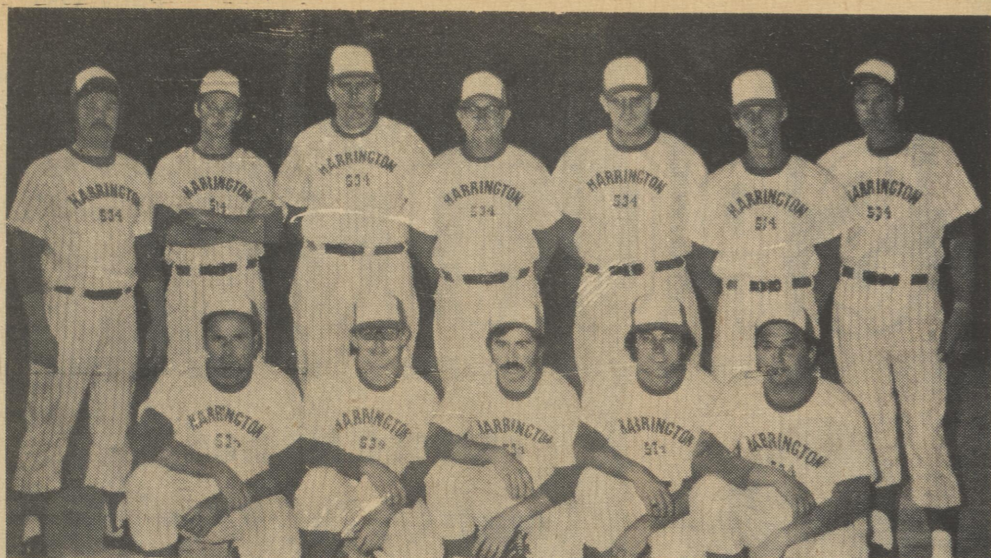

Mauria Coverdale (5.50), Bill Mitchell (6.13) and Quinton Hendricks (6.20) ran cross-country for W. T. Chipman School, so their good mile run clockings were not surprising in the 12-13 division.

Bruce Tolson, age 12, is another natural. Without a workout, the tall, sixth grader casually strode through a 6.21 mile. He could be one of Chipman School's top cross-country runners this fall.

Chris Ryan, who is the son of Frances Ryan, former Chipman principal, won the 100-yard dash and softball throw Saturday in the 9 and under division.

In terms of direct loss, fire costs each man, woman and child in the United States an average of $14 each and every day of the year. The per capita cost soars to $57 per day considering the total cost of fire in terms of property plus lost opportunity for production, sales and income. Seventy percent of all fires can be traced to human error.

Delmarva Power

Speedway Supercard Set

Jimmy Clark of Millsboro, ace chaffer for the Hitchens Bros. of Selbyville, and Milford's Jack Sapp piloting the Marshall Baker Engineered George Adams-Rumpstitch Machine Works Vega known as the "Hardscrabble Express" were entrenched in a challenge for the lead in the Modified feature which was the final event of the evening when one of the shortest showers ever seen at the speedway made the going too slick for the race to be completed. Starter Bill Lawson brought out the red flag on the fifth lap with four laps officially completed. DARA officials had already announced a special program for Friday, June 13, for Sportsmen competitors and with the above feature to be completed first, along with the complete program scheduled, plus the double finale for the Sportsmen it has shaped up to be a "supercard" for local fans. As planned the admission will be $4 for adults, 143 total laps of racing highlighting the program in what will be one of the biggest nights of the year.

Bridgeville's Donnie Joseph made his first visit on the year to victory lane for the Dillard's Restaurants team. Joseph with his "Snoopy Special" finding the high speed groove much to his liking was successful in keeping his nearest competition at bay for the distance. Milford's Gary Bunting, an impressive rookie, was doing battle royal with a host of six cylinder talent when he spun in the fourth turn apparently dropping him from the front running.

Summer Driver Ed Classes Offered

The YMCA of Dover and Kent County is now accepting registrations for Driver Education classes. The classes are taught by Arthur Cahall, Driver Education Teacher from the Caesar Rodney High School District. Classroom work is held on Monday evenings from 7-10 p.m. and individual driving time will be arranged for daylight hours, weekdays, evenings and Saturdays. This course is approved by the State Department of Public Instruction. For additional information call 674-3000 or stop at the YMCA, 1137 South State Street, Dover.

Farmington

Butch Chism attended the teachers retirement dinner for the Woodbridge School held at the Seaford Country Club. Angel McFarland spent the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bunby of Denton, Md. Mrs. Anna Mae Marvel was on vacation last week.

Much to his good fortune before the next lap was completed, the yellow came out for Larry Grier who was hung up in the first turn. For scoring purposes and a return to the last fully completed lap Bunting was able to recover much of the ground "he thought he lost." Wayne Cusick of Princess Anne charged the Regal Muffler Center Vega to second at the checkered flag. Clem Horvath from Dover anchored third for the Ira Ware Prepared GO NAVY Pinto team. Bunting's recovery placed him fourth with Cordia Warrington V of Georgetown in the Warrington's Pre-Cast Steps Falcon nipping Bodie Bodenweiser, also from Georgetown, on the last lap for fifth. Roy Davis and Sherwood Hearn made it possible for the Lewes Dairy Market team to compete with a graciously loaned engine while their new one is being finished.

Mildew-Resistant Lima

A lima bean resistant to downy mildew has been introduced to Delaware growers for general use, according to Dr. Vernon Fisher, professor in the Plant Science Department at the University of Delaware. The new lima bean cultivar is called "Bridgeton" and carries resistance to strains A and B of the fungus which causes downy mildew. Fisher has been actively researching new lines of lima beans since 1970.

Because Delaware grows more acres of baby limas for processing than any other state, downy mildew has been a problem to Delaware lima bean growers since it was first reported in the state in 1904. The problem became sufficiently severe to warrant a four-state (Delaware, New Jersey, New York, and Maryland) conference to discuss the issue in 1948. The data submitted at that conference showed that downy mildew had become a major agricultural problem.

As a result of the conference, R. E. Wester, a USDA horticulturist, introduced the "Thaxter" lima bean cultivar and made seed available in 1958. "Thaxter" was the standard variety grown in Delaware for ten years after its introduction. It was the first variety to be resistant to downy mildew. However, according to Fisher, it had two limitations: it had a spread set which caused it to set its pods in a non-concentrated manner, and its mildew resistance was not permanent. Strains of downy mildew fungus developed which could attack "Thaxter."

A variety named "Dover" was developed to overcome "Thaxter's" limitations, but was not very successful, according to Fisher. The Ronnie LaVere, a young man from Milford, kept up his winning ways in superb style making it eight wins in nine starts for the Watkins Auto Painting & Repair-Kay's Beauty Shop team. Georgetown's Charles Harris scored a strong second driving a Plymouth behind LaVere's Barracuda. Kelly Hastings from Seaford was third driving the Little Acres Animal Farm Chevy II. Ellendale's Ted Walius was the top six cylinder Hobby entry finishing fourth overall behind the first three eight cylinders. Mike Schreiber was fifth driving a Fairlane.

School Board

(continued from page 1) tices of a continued budget. The district office has had notification from the Governor's office that each school district shall take a two percent budget cut. In effect, Superintendent Albert Adams said, it means turning the two percent back to the State. This means that the monies must be taken out of other educational funds. Most of the teachers have been rehired and this part of the budget is already fixed. The cut as it pertains to Lake Forest School District would mean a loss of some $100,000. The district is also locked in when it comes to paying fringe benefits such as Blue Cross and other plans in light of HB 311. With this loss of budget, the Board reasoned would mean a loss in the unit allotment.

The board voted to adopt a resolution commending the high school baseball team under the capable direction of Coach Bill Falasco for turning in a splendid record this season which included post season play in the semifinals of Division I in the state tournament.

It was also decided that even though the Board heartily endorses the Ag program at Lake Forest in every way, the feeling of the Board is that the projects relating to equipment should be canvassed for in the Lake Forest School District first before searching out other communities outside this school district.

Draine Retirement

Milford Neck, northeast of Milford.

She was one of the children born to Andrew and Angie Mosley, but she was the only one to select a teaching career.

Her own education continued at Delaware State College with graduate work at Hampton Institute, Va.

For 13 years she taught in the one room school at John Wesley in Milford Neck where she, too, had been a student. She taught all subjects from first through eighth grade.

Then for 20 years she taught in Cheswold at a small school and was principal there for three years.

Following the phasing out of the Cheswold school, she taught at Caesar Rodney for a year.

Following a four year retirement, she was hired by Mr. Markowitz to work with the then summer Head Start program here. She was to stay in the program for five years, becoming head teacher and then she concluded her career teaching kindergarten for the next six years.

While at Lake Forest South B, she was aided by Bonnie Ivens and most recently, by Martha Porter. The latter was instrumental in arranging the luncheon.

"I don't know how many children have passed through my hands," said Mrs. Draine. "...I've always felt very strongly that I can help or hinder them." Three generations of students can state she has helped.

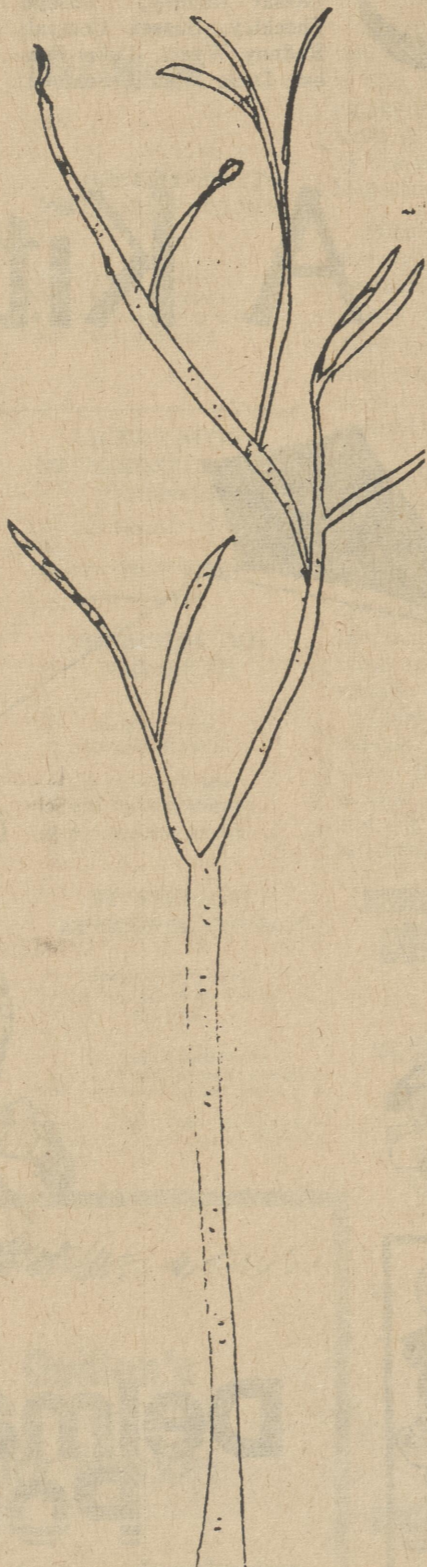

What does the future hold? She doesn't plan to use that rocking chair much. A trip to Jamaica is in the near future and as she said, she wants "a little time now for Mary."

How long she will have before she's volunteered for something like the Delaware State Alumni Association, her church at John Wesley or a community project takes her time will depend on her will power. One thing is certain, she won't just sit around. That's not her style.

An 18th century English pugilist was so insensitive to pain that, for a small sum, he would allow anyone to strike him on the side of the face with all his force.

The Jolly Timers Kitchen Band visited the Milford Manor, Monday and entertained the patients there with George Goudge and his harmonica.

George Goudge visited us again Tuesday and conducted the bingo we usually play then.

Twenty-one members visited Wheeler's Park, Wednesday and a good time was reported by all that attended.

Sam Short had Bible study Thursday in the absence of Rev. Huff.

Some of our members no doubt went home Thursday with a back ache along with some strawberries they available.

A statewide senior citizens meeting was held in Dover, Friday, June 6, with 14 of our own members attending. Speakers were James Paskey, president of the Levy Court; Mayor Crawford Carroll, who spoke on the needs of elderly citizens, housing and recreation, and Senator Bob Henstreet on the Division of Aging.

Luncheon was served to about 300 members by the Peoples Church. The object of the meeting was to let the citizens know how had a new meeting place was needed for the Dover center as they have outgrown the place where they now meet. They were entertained by the Dover Jr. High School band and many leaflets were passed out stating their needs. It was an all day affair.

Twenty-six of our own members attended a luncheon at Mrs. Gladys Hill's place Saturday, June 7, with much discussions, pro and con, by all attending. A good time was had by all.

Some members of our kitchen band entertained while there.

We were glad to welcome Carolyn Paladino back from the hospital where she has spent the last six weeks.

In 1934, an unknown football player named Snooks Dowd scored the longest touchdown run on record in a game between Lehigh University and Lafayette. His total run was 210 yards!

Houston Oiler MVP At Woodbridge

by Keith Burgess

Chichester (or is it Upper Chichester) High in Boothwyn, Pa., is within smelling distance of Marcus Hook. Therefore, to Billy "White Shoes" Johnson and Jim Van Sciver, the pure Bridgeville ozone must smell like the fragrance of new mown hay.

Two graduates of that Keystone state high school were prominent in Bridgeville Saturday night.

Johnson, as Most Valuable Player of a resurgent Houston Oilers professional football team, was guest of honor at the third annual Woodbridge High School all-sports banquet. Van Sciver, Blue Raider baseball coach, served as straight man for some of Johnson's jokes, but frequently turned the tables on his friend and on others at the fete. Van Sciver is a witty fellow.

Master of ceremonies Ron Tull and the ladies auxiliary of the Bridgeville Fire Company, who served a delicious chicken and dumpling dinner, should be among those praised for a job well done. The boosters, of course, fit neatly into this category, also.

Johnson, only 5 feet, 8 inches and 170 pounds (small for a pro grinder), stated that a winning attitude was necessary for sports success that the disciplines learned in sports would prove valuable in the game of life. The flanker-kick returner stated further that "You've got to be hungry in sports and in life. You must keep reaching higher."

This writer made an error or two in the Lake Forest sports banquet story and we know those kids. So we'd like to apologize in advance for any mistakes made in this account, since we know only a few of the Blue Raiders.

Kay Smith, hockey coach, presented most outstanding player and sportsmanship awards to Kelly Davis and a most improved player award to Carla Vanderwende. Smith predicts that Carla, a sophomore goalie, will be one of the most outstanding Henlopen performers eventually. She was the subject of an article on these pages recently. Hockey All-

American certificates went to Miss Davis and Pam Correll, who also were first and second team all-conference picks, respectively. Jim Weal, first team all-state and all-conference, was the top offensive football player with Mike Harris drawing defensive honors and Jeff Tull getting the most outstanding trophy.

Coach Joe Purzycki, moving to Caesar Rodney, received a plaque from the grid team. Jeff Tull and Harris made first team all-Henlopen. Spank Neal, Leroy Tingle were second team choices.

In girls' basketball, the most valuable player was Lynn Willey, described by Coach Purzycki, "She is as fine a competitor as any I've seen in my four years of coaching."

Walt Gillespie capably handled the wrestling awards in the absence of the head coach. Steve Baker was the most improved choice with Steve Miller the most outstanding. Miller consistently turned back challenges last winter from Caesar Rodney's Ed Bordley who was a defending state champ.

Mike Harris (most valuable); Charles Burbage (most improved) and Louis Dexter (most promising underclassman) got the boys' basketball trophies.

Kay Smith's softball team was close to unbeatable in the late stages of the campaign. A 7-5 final record gave the Blue Raiders second place in the Southern Division.

Kelly Davis with a .512 batting average was most outstanding with Pam Correll getting the most improved designation. Pam also is no stranger to Harrington Journal readers.

Miss Davis and Terry Rider were all-Henlopen picks.

Jim Foster's sprint-strong trackmen almost won the state championship, holding the lead most of the afternoon at the University of Delaware. Jim Weal was not extended, as he again won state titles in the 100, 220 yard dashes and anchored the 440 relay champs. Weal (most valuable), Chuck Hopkins (most improved), Charles Burbage (underclassman most likely to succeed) were track standouts, along with Spank Neal (most valuable field eventer).

Jim Van Sciver designated "Tull and Tull" as tops on the diamond. Woodbridge's first winning baseball record of 7-5 had Jeff Tull as offensive leader and Rick Tull winning five and losing two on the mound, in addition to posting a 1.12 earned run average.

Cliff Hardesty, catcher, was most improved, while Steve Clarkson was first team, all-Henlopen conference.

Petey Dougherty, cheerleader adviser, chose Linda Ealy, best all-around cheerleader. Attitude awards were given to Linda Miller, Joanne McMillian and Cheryl Baker.

Women's sport magazine female athlete of the year certificate went to Kelly Davis.

Harry C. Davis II Memorial Award for the athlete with the highest scholastic average was presented by Brud Davis to Lillian Horne.

Ron Tull presented the outstanding female trophy to Lynn Willey, with Jim Weal as her male counterpart. These awards are voted by the coaches.

Omitted earlier was mention of sprinters, Tom Faulk and Hayward Murray, first team all-state and Rick Murray, second team all-state.

Also deleted was the fact that Kay Smith's hockey team had a 5-6 best ever at Woodbridge record and graduates no one. The rest of the conference had better not take these lassies lightly in 1976.

Jeff Tull will play in the Blue Gold football game this August. Since brother Daryl and Ron also took part in this post-season, pigskin extravaganza, the Tull family ties a record for most brothers vying there. If Rick Tull makes the grade next year, the record will be held exclusively by the Tulls.

Woodbridge fans are urged to remember this excellent event in 1976. See you there!

Tractor Safety Requirements

To Reduce Injury

All farm tractors manufactured after Oct. 25, 1975, must be equipped with a seat belt and a roll-over protective structure, if operated by an employee. J. Heyman Roosa, Chairman Kent ASC Committee reported. The requirement applies to tractors with 20 engine horsepower or more. In addition, as of June 1, 1975, farmers must instruct employees on how to prevent tractor roll-overs and the hazards involved. The new ruling was made in April by the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

"Tractor roll-overs have been a major cause of injury and death on the farm," Roosa said. Major statistical studies of fatalities from roll-overs have been made in recent years. A study made by the Department of Transportation indicates that roll-over tractor accidents are responsible for about 540 fatalities each year. The National Safety Council projects that for every 1,000 reported roll-overs, 60 fatalities, 20 permanently disabling injuries, and 450 temporarily disabling injuries will occur.

"The Labor Department said there is virtually no dispute that a roll-over protective structure with a seat belt will significantly reduce the hazards associated with roll-overs. The protective structure will keep farmers from being crushed between the tractor and the ground in a tractor roll-over. It will restrict roll-overs to 90 degrees, reducing the likelihood of death of injury resulting from roll-over by preventing the tractor from fully rolling over the farmer, Roosa said. The seat belt keeps the operator in the protective enclosure, and prevents him from being thrown or jumping from the tractor.

Labor Department operating instructions to farmers are:

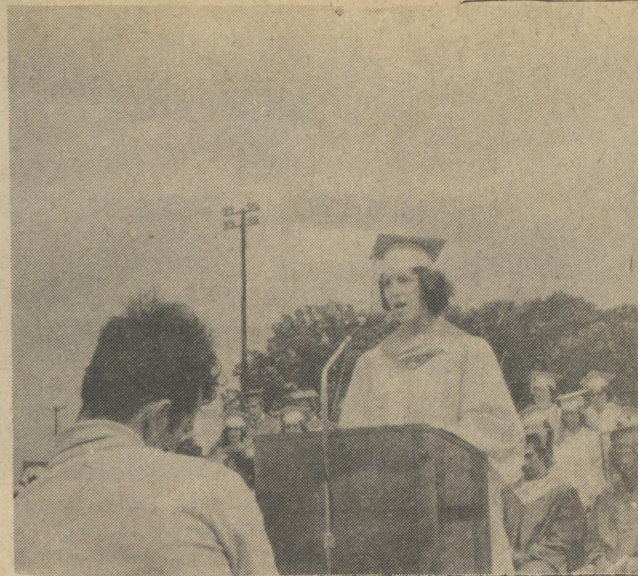

1. Securely fasten seat belt if the tractor has a roll-over protective structure.
2. Where possible, avoid operating the tractor near ditches, embankments and holes.
3. Reduce speed when turning, crossing slopes, and on rough, slick or muddy surfaces.
4. Stay off slopes too steep for safe operation.

5. Watch where you are going, especially at row ends, on roads, and around trees.

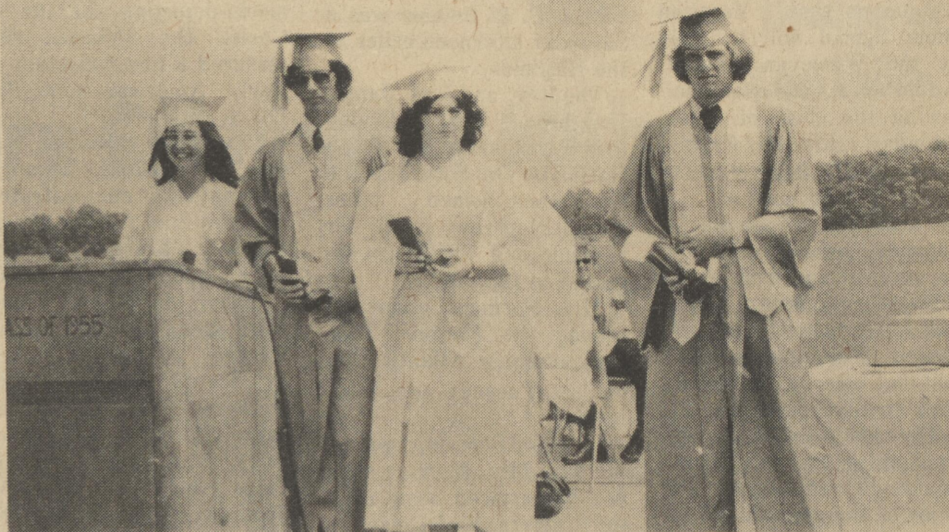

6. Do not permit others to ride.

7. Operate the tractor smoothly - no jerky turns, starts or stops.

8. Hitch only to the drawbar and hitch points recommended by tractor manufacturers.

Grass Might Be Sick

A yellowish cast to your lawn doesn't always mean it's not getting enough water. Sometimes it's a sign of a fungus disease that can occur during the rainy weather of spring and early summer. The disease is Helminthosporium leaf spot, also called melting-out, drying out or blight. According to University of Delaware extension plant pathologist, Dr. Robert Carroll, the disease can affect most turf grass varieties. Kentucky bluegrass is one of the most susceptible species.

If you're not sure why those grass blades appear blighted in your lawn, look for symptoms of this disease. Check the leaves and stems for very distinct reddish-brown or purplish-black spots. These cause the leaves to fade and shrivel.

The fungus can also attack the crown and root tissues, causing them to rot. During the summer, an infected lawn may look like it's suffering from drought injury and you'll see weeds and crabgrass invading affected areas.

It is said that when English settlers and explorers arrived in Australia they were puzzled by a large pouched hopping creature. When asked about it, the natives replied "I don't know" in their native tongues, which sounds like "kangaroo."

The best control for Helminthosporium leaf spot is based on protection during the growing season. You can get the most protection by spraying your lawn every 7-14 days from spring until late fall with a fungicide. Though this is time consuming and expensive, it will be effective. If you can make only a few sprays, start now and make as many as you can afford at three week to monthly intervals.

There are several fungicides that may be used, including Dyrene, Daconil, Tersan LSR, PCNB, Fore and maneb. Follow label directions for the rate of application.

Good management practices will reduce damage to your lawn from this disease, stresses Carroll. Don't cut the grass too close, avoid overstimulation with nitrogen and remove clippings where possible.

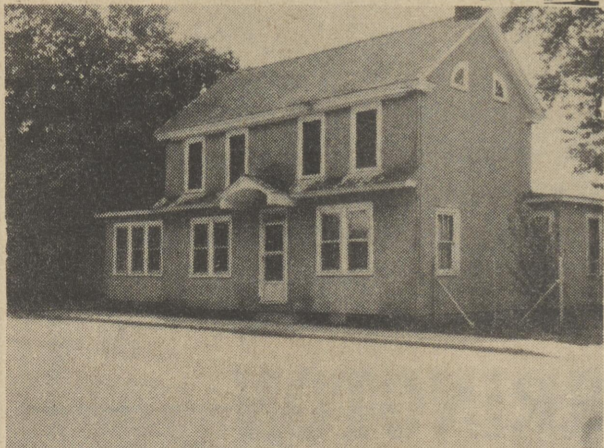

For more information on this and other lawn diseases and their control, contact your county extension office in Newark, Dover or Georgetown and ask for the fact sheet on "Common Lawn Diseases."

Scout News

On Saturday, May 31, Junior Troop 879, former Junior Troop 686 and guests traveled to Hershey, Pa., better known as "Chocolate Town, U.S.A." The first on their list of interest to visit was the Hershey Museum in which the Apostolic Clock was exhibited. In addition to the famous clock depicting the life of Christ, the Museum also featured a fine collection of Early American and Pa. Dutch antiques.

Next, the chocolate factory was visited. Through automation, it demonstrated how the final results of the Hershey brand products were completed for use.

Many delightful hours were spent in the beautiful Hershey Amusement Park by Scouts, leaders and mothers. The amusement park offered a variety of rides, game booths and gift shops. Needless to say, "the Scouts tried to ride and see all," quote the mothers.

On the return, a stop was made at the famous Dutch Haven Amish Stuff, Inc., just outside of Lancaster, Pa., to visit their unusual gift shops and bakery featuring Pa. Dutch items and foods.

Mothers and Scouts of Troop 879 attending the all day trip were: Mrs. Jenny Asbury and Suzie; Hope Benson; Michelle Benson; Darlene Buchanan; Mia Butler; Mrs. Jean Cerklefskie and Cheryl; Kathy Coppock; Mrs. Barbara Evans and

Will Compete In Delmarva Chicken Festival

Mrs. Clarabel Peck Walls of 2nd Avenue, Harrington, is one of the ten entrants from the State of Delaware in this year's Delmarva Chicken Festival to be held this weekend in Easton, Md.

Mrs. Peck's recipe was called "dollar wise orange chicken bake." Her recipe was sent to Washington, D.C. where it along with nine others from Delaware was selected from thousands of entries.

One of the ten entries will be selected from the State of Delaware to represent the State in the national contest at San Antonio in July. The other first place prize at Easton will be $300.

Promptly at 7 p.m. Friday, the Delmarva Poultry Princess Pageant will get underway. Twenty-five teenagers and 17 pre-schoolers will compete for the titles of Delmarva Poultry Princess and Little Delmarva Poultry Princess. Among the competitors are Margaret Kinney, Miss Harrington; Carla Vandewende, Miss Bridgeville; and Stephanie McCullough, Little Miss Harrington. In addition to their titles, the new princesses will receive gifts and scholarships valued at more than $2,000.

A full day of activity on Saturday, June 14, will begin with the Festival Parade at 10 a.m.

Open House Set For Phone Company

The public is invited to attend an open house from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Diamond State Telephone Company's new $500,000 Milford Work Center today.

The center is located on Route 14 about one-quarter of a mile west of 113 (next to Hammond Cadillac).

Phone workers moved in to the center at the end of April.

Telephone employees will serve as guides and escort visitors throughout the center's office and work areas. The utility has 47 employees working there.

Supervising Construction Foreman Dan Young of Seaford, is in charge of the huge center which handles:

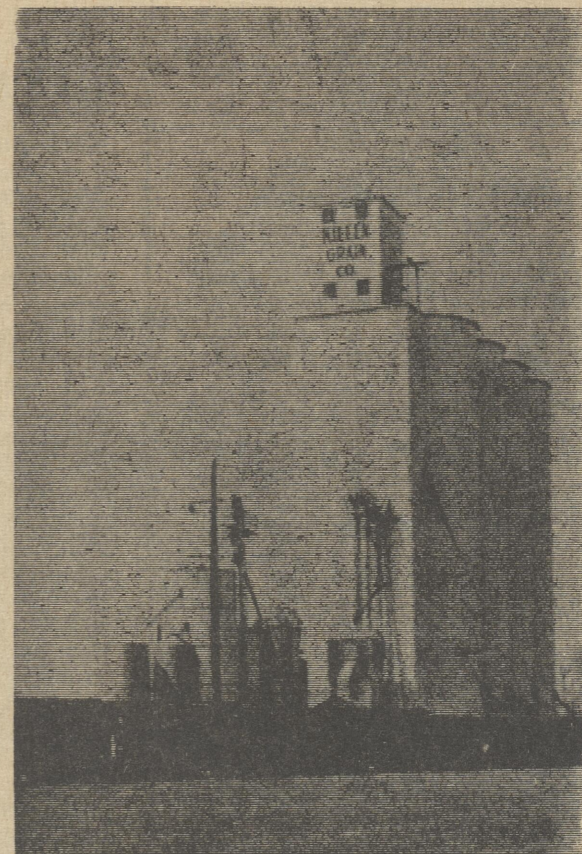

- All construction in the central part of the state,
- All buried cable wire for all of Kent and Sussex Counties,
- All installation, repairs of telephones and also PBX's and teletypes in the Milford, Harrington, Felton and Frederica area.

--Also, all mobile radio service and repairs for Kent and Sussex Counties.

Young said the center is on five acres of ground. In extending an invitation, Young suggested that parents bring along their youngsters so that they can all meet their local telephone neighbors.

Refreshments will be served.
