Specialized Team Will Man MMH Emergency Room

A new team of physicians will take over in the emergency room at Milford Memorial Hospital, July 1.

Joseph B. Ahlschier, president of the hospital, said Milford Memorial has contracted with American Medical Emergency Services of Santa Monica, Calif., to provide physician services in the emergency room 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

The California group operates in 22 other hospital emergency departments around the country, Ahlschier said. While it is mainly active in the western

United States, it is expanding its services on the East Coast and currently provides emergency care in three hospitals in Philadelphia and one in Pittsburgh.

The group will provide Milford Memorial with four physicians. Three have already been named. They are: Dr. Maurice A. Minerini, a graduate of Kirksville (Mo.) College of Osteopathic Medicine, who will be chief of the emergency department; Dr. Stephen J. Dziwura, who holds his medical degree from Temple University; and Dr. Palmyr E. Brown, a graduate of the medical school of Loma Linda University in California.

Milford Memorial has for years had difficulty recruiting doctors for its emergency department.

Studying in Ireland

Nate Stoltzfus, a student attending Goshen College, Indiana, is in Ireland this summer in a "Study and Work Program" offered by the college.

He is living with an Irish family and is working with them in an employment situation.

Nate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Stoltzfus, Route 3, Harrington.

He will be in Ireland from June 16 to July 12, during the third summer term offered by Goshen College.

Goshen is a four-year, liberal arts college in Goshen, Indiana. It is owned and operated by the Mennonite Church and has nearly 1,250 students enrolled throughout the school year.

Lions Install Officers

by Norris Jarrell

The Harrington Lions Club held its annual Ladies Nite, Monday, June 23, at the D.A.F.B. Officers Club. A crowd of better than 70 people attended.

The installation of the incoming officers was performed by a past District Governor and now Senator, Lion Richard S. Cordrey, from the Millsboro Lions Club.

Installed for the coming year of 1975-76 are: President, John Shaffer; 1st Vice, Robert Crawford; 2nd Vice, Donald Wilson; 3rd Vice, Leroy Calhoun; Secretary, Norris Jarrell; Treasurer, Ralph Butler; Assistant Secretary, James Stafford; Lion Tamer, Frank Tharpe; Tail Twister, Donald McKnatt; New Directors, Reynolds Kates and Elwood Wright; Hold Over Directors, Carl June and Calvin Wells.

The highlight of the evening was the Lion of the Year Award. A committee of the past three presidents hold a vote of the members for this award.

This year it was no doubt in any member's mind, that the Award should go to outgoing President Lion Walter Messick. Last year's President Lion Donald Jarrell presented a plaque to Lion Messick.

For the entertainment of the evening, since the Lions Club sponsors the Miss Harrington Beauty Contest, the committee contacted six of the past Miss Harrington winners. They were more than willing to put on their winning act that won them the title of Miss Harrington.

Those present to provide entertainment were Miss Harrington 1969; Miss Cathie Miller (now Mrs. Chris Wetherhold); Miss 1970, Aleta Mason; Miss 1972, Joan Mason; Miss 1973, Lynn Ann Leonard; Miss 1974, Jean Mason, and Miss 1975, Margaret Kinney.

Miss 1971, Donna Wetherhold was out of town and could not perform. Donna's act was given by her sister, 12 year-old Vickie Wetherhold. Vickie seemed to put the icing on what was already a beautiful cake for the show. It looks like a future Miss Harrington in the making.

The entertainment was enjoyed by all.

gency department, Ahlschier said. He called the California organization "a well organized and effective emergency group." The doctors it provides are licensed physicians specializing in emergency medicine and the group requires them to engage in continuing education to keep abreast of advances in science and medicine, especially in their specialty, he said.

Walter Messick: A Dedicated Lion

by Norris Jarrell

The Harrington Lions Club is an organization equipped to help those in need. Over the past years, the Club members have gone as far as obtaining a doctor for the community, paying for special equipment for cars driven by the handicapped, giving fruit baskets to those that are lonely. They have purchased eye glasses for the needy, and furnished food and fuel to those with hardships. The list could go on for it has been the work and planning of all Lions members that have made all these things possible.

There have been plenty of good times and enjoyable moments too, with Club dances, suppers, and home shows. Also to show the members' appreciation to their wives, which without them, a lot of our projects would not be successful, we have ladies nights, which is always a big hit.

But in the past two years, and particularly the Lions' year of 1974-75, many of us think it is time to recognize a member, and let the community know what this member has done personally to make this club one of top clubs in the district.

He is well liked by all people in communities far and near and no one is a stranger to him.

It started here in 1973, when the club bought an old

Police Beat

Three Arrested In Robbery

State police arrested three men Saturday night a short time after a liquor store was held up.

James Gilbert, 28; Darryl L. Casson, 29, both of Dover and Nathan Gibson, 28, of Frederica, were charged with armed robbery. They were being held at the Delaware Correctional Center near Smyrna last night in default of $20,000 bail each.

According to state police, three men, armed with pistols and a shotgun, walked into Cox's Liquors on Delaware 10 in Wyoming about 10 p.m. They demanded money from the clerk, police said, and ran from the store with $3,000. Dover police got descriptions and arrested the three soon after the robbery. Police said the money was recovered.

Fails To Yield Right-of-Way

John Sanford of Kingston, N.Y., was issued a written warning for failing to yield right-of-way Sunday morning to Lindale Coverdale of Harrington when Cover-dale's car struck the Sanford vehicle on Liberty St. Sanford's car spun in a semi-circle during the collision. Only minor bruises resulted in the 11:10 a.m. incident.

Holds Tax Appeals Night

Monday night was appeals night in Felton. Some property owners were reassessed for improvements made in recent years. Noticeably missing from the meeting was Mayor William Myers who is recuperating from a hip operation.

Several townspeople turned up for the informal meeting to ask questions concerning their property evaluations. The current tax rate is 80 cents on the $100 with a $3.00 capitation. The Town collects annually approximately $5,500 from taxes. There are two major industries in the Town and they are Agway and Swift & Company.

It was stated unofficially that the Council and the Mayor were in the process of settling the claim with the insurance company for the damages caused by a result of wording on the standpipe. The amount of the claim with the insurance company was approximately $375.00.

Votes Pay Raise

At last Wednesday night's regular monthly meeting of the Woodbridge School Board, a pay increase of 2 1/2 percent was granted to the non-professional workers who include the secretaries, clerks, nurses, cafeteria managers and custodians. This will be effective July 1, 1975. The pay raise is on top of the 5 1/2 percent raise granted last year. The funds to cover the pay raise will come from the local supplement.

In other action before the Board, Dr. R. H. Beckert, School Board President, announced the resignations of Mrs. Barbara M. Teal, the speech and hearing therapist and Mrs. Fran Sikkema, librarian effective at the end of this month.

The Board heard a summary by Robert Sutton, Woodbridge High Principal, on Dr. Conrad C. Shuman's evaluation report of the occupational-vocational program at the high school.

The report was highly favorable for the departments evaluated, which were agriculture, business and office occupations and industrial arts.

Dr. Beckert agreed affirmatively with a proposal by William W. Long, Superintendent of Seaford School District, that Sussex School Districts, whenever possible, retain common legal counsel when the interests can involve more than one school district in a common cause. Dr. Beckert felt this

Water-proof Phone Cables Now Here

Diamond State Telephone Company is now installing waterproof underground cable in many locations in Kent and Sussex Counties.

The new waterproof cable is now installed and in service in the Dover, Georgetown, Harrington, Laurel, Milford, Rehoboth, Seaford and Smyrna areas.

Dave Conly of Milford, who is the utility's project engineer in Milford said this new underground cable is impregnated with waterproof compound by the manufacturer.

"This means no water can seep into our cable through a crack in the protective covering. This new cable will also mean less cable trouble and provides our subscribers with better telephone service," he added.

Water can cause the line to be noisy, cut down on the signal or even short-out the line completely. And once water gets into a phone cable, it's hard to remove.

Phone company engineers first experimented with pure petroleum jelly but its low melting point created splicing problems for the cable splicers who had to connect the cable. So finally, the scientists blended the pure jelly with polyethylene.

This blend pushed the melting point to well above the normal temperatures at which the cable is exposed.

The blend also makes it into a waxy substance rather than a greasy jelly substance. The greasy jelly substance was a lot harder for telephone cable splicers to connect.

Dr. R. H. Beckert, President of Woodbridge School Board, makes a point during discussion of Sussex County School Districts using common counsel on common issues between two or more school districts.

should be the case in matters which were common in nature, but the retention of legal counsel on issues affecting the local board per se should not be abandoned. The Board members agreed.

Big Thursday Plans Set

The Bicentennial Committee of Bowers Beach will host a commemoration of "Big Thursday" on July 4, 1975, starting at 12 noon. "Big Thursday" is an old southern Delaware tradition which started during the nineteenth century as a celebration at the end of a statewide ban against the harvesting of oysters and shellfish from Delaware Bay. Traditionally in August, this year's commemoration at Bowers Beach is held on July 4, a public holiday so that more people can attend the event.

The Bowers Beach Bicentennial Committee has planned many events for the day which can be enjoyed by the whole family and the Committee is highlighting some of the day-to-day activities of their bay-side community which visitors from out-of-town may find interesting. For instance, attention is being called to the town's fishing fleet, "head boats" and party boats, which depart the town wharves daily between 5 and 7 a.m. Fishing enthusiasts can make reservations for the fishing excursions by contacting local "head boat" and party boat captains. The fleet returns around 3 p.m. and it is interesting to visitors to see the "catches" of the day.

A parade at 12 noon will kick off the "Big Thursday" commemoration and will include a color guard, dignitaries and officials in old-fashioned vehicles, fire engines and rescue equipment and costumed townsfolk and children. A special feature of the parade will be decorated bicycles, prizes will be awarded to the best decorated bicycle in the parade and local biking clubs are encouraged to enter the parade in this category.

The parade will march past the town lot next to the Saxton United Methodist Church. At this point three important flags will be raised. The three flags include the Delaware State flag, a United States flag which once flew over the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C., and the official Bicentennial flag which has

This new cable is being manufactured by Western Electric Company but only in the smaller sizes of cables. It is now being manufactured in sizes up to 900 pairs (1800 wires) per cable. This is a cable about two-inches in diameter.

This waterproof cable is not being manufactured in the real big cables (900 pair to 2700 pair), he said.

These big cables use a different technique to keep water out. In these bigger cables dry air is continuously pumped into these cables. The air is kept at a constant air pressure. This pressure holds out water that may enter the cable through a crack on the casing, he explained.

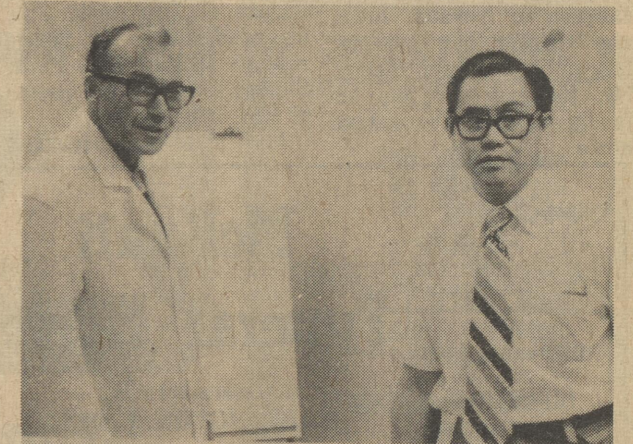

The life expectancy of cable varies with the different type of cable. Aerial cable has a life of 33 years and for buried cable it's 35 years.

There are no statistics yet on the longevity for jelly cable but it's expected to be a way up there.

Diamond State has a total of 5,160 miles of cable in Kent and Sussex Counties. This includes 1,275 miles of aerial cable and 3,885 miles of buried cable.

The new jelly cable was developed by Bell Laboratories for Bell System Companies about five years ago. Diamond State Telephone is now using it on almost all new underground projects. And also when we replace older cable that requires more and more maintenance, he stated.

Dr. Harry B. Trussell [l] of Textran, Inc., answers a question at last Thursday's discussion of the county sewer treatment plant near Frederica. Lee Gro [r] of the Dept. of Environmental Control listens to a clarification of the point.

Says Plan Would Save Money, Create Fuel

Demonstrates Sludge Treatment

Last Thursday, Dr. Harry B. Trussell, a chemist and former employee of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Corporation, demonstrated his process for the removal of sludge in the sewer treatment plant at the county site near Frederica and the lagoon system at the sewer treatment plant in Harrington.

The latter is polluting the stream (Brown's Branch) but not at the rate and density which the county is committing at their plant near Frederica. The latter goes into the Delaware Bay.

At both sites Trussell cited poor planning for the problems that have developed since the construction of the plants was completed. The surface aerators which are designed to create oxygen to eliminate the sludge, algae, pollutants, etc., are outmoded in the modern plant.

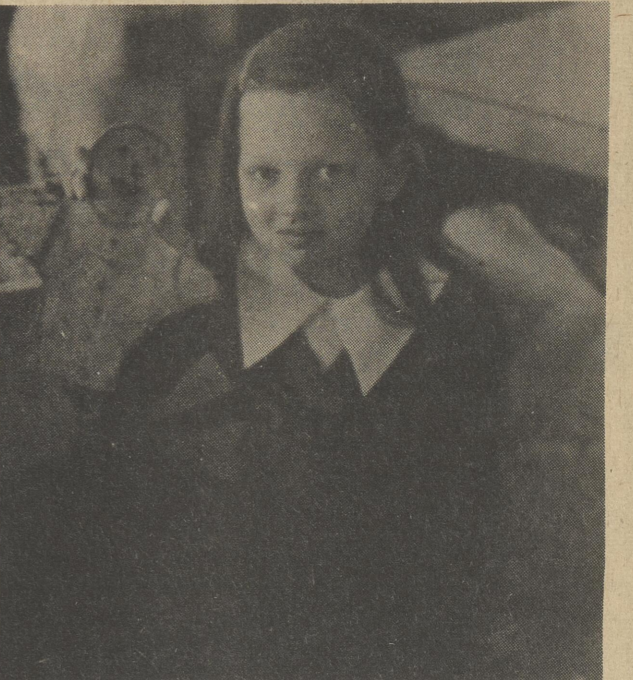

"The problem is not on top of the pond or water but down deep near the bottom where the sludge collects," said Trussell. "You must take your filter to the bottom of the container in order to do the job," according to Trussell. This is why you must treat the system at the source instead of in the lagoon itself as is the case at the Harrington plant.

On a walking tour of the sewer disposal plant in Harrington on Tuesday, Trussell pointed out to Councilman William Shaw, Jr., that there are 12 to 18 inches of sludge in the 5 feet deep pond area which covers up to 10 acres. Shaw pointed out that the sludge unit at Harrington had not worked for years. This caused Trussell to reaffirm his argument that the City of Harrington does not at this time need a new sewer plant. It needs to utilize the facilities it has to the maximum capacity.

When Trussell's process is put into effect, the by-product is a completely dry substance much like paper, which can be used for animal feeds, fuel and fertilizer. It is also highly combustible and can be used in this capacity for creating energy.

Before Trussell can conduct experiments with the sewer treatment system in Harrington, he was required to obtain a permit from the Department of Environmental Control and its Director V. A. Vasuki. He has the permit for Harrington. The permit from that department spells out in a restricted manner what Trussell's company can and

The main purpose of the project is to promote an attitude of community improvement in residential areas and businesses as well and to place young people in need of summer work.

Young people most affected by the project are those 14 through 16 years of age who are having some difficulty finding full-time jobs. Project Summershine will provide those young adults with jobs that are worthwhile in the Kent County area.

If this service is needed, call the Youth Employment Service at 678-1818.

Monday, June 16, the committee helped Miss Pote our site manager, in making up the program for July. In the morning we had band rehearsal as usual.

Tuesday, Mrs. Ruth Nasser visited us with two tape recordings of Abbott and Costello. The first one she played was "Who's On First" and another one by Lum & Abner, which the members enjoyed very much.

Wednesday, June 18, a couple of films were loaned to us by the Bell Telephone Co. One was on the building of great bridges over the United States and the building of Boulder Dam. The other was on the life-size images that were carved from the rock of Mt. Rushmore.

Thursday, June 19, 22 members of the center went to Clayton on the county-wide picnic that was put on for the centers of the state. Our kitchen band performed for 15 minutes of the program with Andy Anderson directing.

Our open house will be held at Blair's Pond State Park, June 27, the last Friday of the month, with Ruth Ann Messick and some Woodbridge High School students and their guitars to do the entertaining. You all come and have fun.

The spotlight this week is on Mrs. Gladys Hill of the center. She manages the kitchen and lives between Harrington and Felton on a farm. She does not claim to be the boss, but those working with her ask her advice on anything they want to know. She is always capable of giving it to them.

Her experience comes from her knowledge of working with people which she gained from working in the market she and her late husband had for many years on the farm when he was living.

She has several volunteers working under her weekly and heating and preparing daily meals that are cooked at Clayton and sent down for the members and the homebound and handicapped.

Besides her work at the center, she finds time to go bowling with the team each Friday afternoon.

Elbert Stevens was back with us Friday stronger than ever with 316 pins with Jim Keniencki, 274, and George Goodge, 231 pins for two games each.

Friday, June 26, in Nationality Day with the Milford Center with candy bingo. We'll look for you.

"...he deserves the right to demonstrate his wide through legitimate tests."

Two weeks ago this newspaper reported the fact that the City of Harrington had been given a grant to study the present sewer system in the city. The cost was to be $69,000. This cost would only entail a study - not the actual construction for the rehabilitation of the sewer system. This, as one can readily see, would be a later recommendation and would cost somewhere in the neighborhood of one million dollars.

We had been led to believe that we had a very modern and capable sewer disposal plant and system. Now we are told by the state and others in authority that our system is over-polluting. Do something about it if you want your city to grow, they say.

Being "over the barrel" is a bad position to be in to be sure. No matter what position you are in, however, you must remain level-headed in order to work out of the situation.

There is a way out I believe. A chemist by the name of Harry Trussell says he has a plan that will not only work...he guarantees it; but it will save our little town, as well as other small towns with similar problems, a great deal of money.

The central issue to this entire matter is not whether Mr. Trussell can work miracles, but whether or not he has been permitted on a fair and equitable basis, to make plans to demonstrate why he thinks his plan will work. It would appear that his plan has been viewed with skepticism and his efforts to demonstrate have been thwarted.

This is not right. This is not the American way by which we do things. We know from past experience that through trial and error and even failure, a lesson is learned. I am sure if Mr. Trussell is permitted to demonstrate his experiment, we can all gain and prosper through one man's knowledge and experience. Let's give him a chance to show us, for nothing beats a trial but a failure. He deserves the right, from a paying taxpayer's standpoint, to demonstrate his side through legitimate tests. If his plan will work for us, it will save us many taxpaying dollars. Look around for the answer before deciding. A right decision now would relieve the tax burden on generations to come.

cannot do. The permit has limits...in that the amount of pollutants shall not exceed the density already there both during and after the experiment. According to Trussell, he could not guarantee this for in making the experiment, he would be required to disturb the waters, causing the sludge to rise.

For some time now, the City of Harrington has been under state pressure from Mr. Vasuki to improve their treatment plant. According to the preliminary studies made by Edward H. Richardson & Associates of Newark, the City's engineers, the problem stems primarily from the fact that there is infiltration along the sewer lines in the city which causes an overload of the hydraulic system at the treatment plant. The infiltration is a result of seepage through the cracks in the current sewer system. Trussell says that there is a way around digging up the present system and replacing it which would cost a "lot of money which would be a financial burden on generations to come." The proper way to do it is to merely insert a sleeve in the present system and through another process, inflate it so that the sleeve would press firmly to the walls of the current sewer system. This would eliminate the high cost of constructing a new sewer system.

According to Trussell, this recommendation which he is making is the first anywhere. He hopes to be able to test this process here in Delaware, for this is the site of incorporation of Textran Corp and also the site of the patent originations. According to Trussell, he has implemented other similar waste disposal processes in other plants in other states over the past 10 years. The Caroline Poultry plant in Denton was one such site which utilized one of his earlier processes. Through his efforts, the process worked in that plant to the satisfaction of the State of Maryland. That plant continued to operate until it was burned out recently. As for Harrington, Trussell guarantees that through his process, the city will save a great deal of money.

This is one of the concrete basins at the county sewer treatment plant. It is approximately 5 acres in size. The dark matter is sludge 16 feet deep. The county does not know how to get rid of it. Trussell says he can remove it in a few days.

Thoughts....

by Senator William Roth

To many people, the Internal Revenue Service is a fearful agency, secretive, arbitrary and threatening. Its authority to audit taxpayers' returns and to seize their property without court orders in the case of deficient tax payments, make the IRS one of the government's most powerful agencies.

An IRS audit is usually shrouded in secrecy. This contributes to the popular belief that IRS decisions on audits are arbitrary and subject to the whims of IRS officials or political tides. The majority of taxpayers do not know what their rights are in an audit and many never even find out the reason for an audit.

Some Delawareans complain that the IRS has demanded that they pay alleged tax deficiencies without providing any reason for its determination. In one case involving a Delaware taxpayer, the IRS, after months of curt form letters and threats, admitted that it had made a mistake. The taxpayer in this case had the courage to challenge the claim, but how many other taxpayers are intimidated into complying with a collection notice even though they feel the IRS made a mistake?

Those who wish to complain about IRS procedures or inform themselves about the tax laws without hiring a tax specialist find it difficult.

A member of my staff, trying to find out where in the IRS to direct a taxpayer's complaint, was referred to the Division of Inspections, an office which investigates allegations of illegal conduct by the IRS employees. It was clear that the IRS had not even understood what was meant by the word "complaint." There are many stages of poor and shabby treatment that stop short of illegal conduct.

My office receives many letters from frustrated taxpayers who do not understand the IRS or its procedures and can find no one in the IRS to help them. This is especially unfortunate because the IRS is the only direct contact most citizens have with the federal government.

Because I believe the IRS has not been sufficiently responsive to the needs of the taxpayers, I have introduced a bill to establish a division of taxpayer assistance within the Internal Revenue Service and to reform the agency's audit procedures. This special division would receive and investigate taxpayer complaints and provide additional assistance to taxpayers.

No agency of our government should be regarded by the people of this country as threatening or secretive. The Congress should not permit it.

Weekly Report of Joseph Biden

In recent years, the practice of leasing - rather than purchasing - a number of so-called consumer "hard goods" (especially cars and furniture) has become increasingly common.

Such lease arrangements offer consumers many advantages: low or no down payments and no obligation to pay for goods beyond the end of the lease. Small businessmen, especially, have been attracted in many instances to the convenience of lease arrangements.

But with the advantages, it has become clear that there are sometimes hidden disadvantages. Sometimes, the consumer does not know exactly how much he or she is paying for leased goods - because there is no requirement that such information be disclosed. Another disadvantage takes place when a consumer terminates a lease (or allows it to expire) and then is confronted with an obligation to pay for the depreciated value of the goods. Such a practice enables the lessor to offer low monthly payments, but confronts the consumer with a "balloon payment" at the end of the lease.

Because leasing is becoming an increasingly common practice in the marketplace, it seems to me that now is the time to write commonsense legislation to bring lease arrangements under terms of the Truth-in-Lending Act (which requires that the consumer be fully informed of how much it costs to borrow money or to finance payment of the outright purchase of consumer goods).

To accomplish this end, I have introduced legislation to require full disclosure, and also to set limits on the maximum liability of a consumer when a lease is terminated, or expires. I introduced this bill in my capacity as Chairman of the Senate Consumer Affairs Subcommittee and I plan to hold hearings on it this summer.

Such legislation would - by requiring full disclosure of costs and other information - help the consumer make intelligent choices before entering into lease arrangements. I hope that Congress will pass this legislation soon.

Says No To Energy Bill

Delaware Congressman Pete duPont voted tonight against final passage of the House version of the Energy Bill declaring it "meaningless pap."

DuPont said he was particularly disappointed because "I had hoped that the House would produce a more effective bill than the political buck-passing Senate Version enacted some months ago." He added that it was now debatable which body had produced a more ineffective bill.

"By allowing our fear of hard choices to overcome our concern for our country's future, we do our people a double disservice," duPont said. "Instead of 'biting the bullet' and enacting a sound energy conservation plan, the House church building to fix it up for club and community activities. It was later named The Lions Den. As a lot of work had to be done on it; a building committee was appointed by the Lions President. Right away this one member donated $500 to get the work started.

Then in the beginning of the Lions year 1974-75 this generous Lion donated a $1100 lawn mower plus lumber to build a refreshment stand for the Lions to have at the State Fair. Over $1500 was raised from these projects.

At the Lions Auction in the fall of 1974, this Lion not only furnished a place for the auction, but donated bicycles, toys and all the food and drinks for the refreshment stand. Again the Club profited by several hundred dollars from the project.

As the paneling work on the Lions Den slowed up he furnished men to get the job done. Then, in early 75, when the club purchased a new heating system, he had two of his men work with the electrical contractor who did the installation. He also chipped in $500 on the price of the heater.

As the year has gone by, this Lion had done so much for the Club and community everything that they had in a fire which destroyed their home outside Harrington. This conscientious Lion went to work, and under the name of the Harrington Lions Club, started a fund drive over the radio, which within two days had raised over $2000 for this family. Two days before Christmas, he moved the family into one of his own furnished homes.

Baskets of fruit, a turkey on the table, and a trimmed Christmas tree were there to greet them. The next day this Lion appointed a committee to take this family to shop for cooking utensils and anything they needed, to get back to housekeeping. Again he footed the bill for this.

Ed. Note - Following this tribute, the Lions Club gave a standing ovation for the person to whom Mr. Jarrell was speaking of, Walter Messick, the outgoing president of the Harrington Lions Club.

According to word experts, the only thing exotic about anything exotic is that it's literally, "from a foreign land."

that it is impossible to mention it all here.

Now Is Good Time For Summer Pruning

Early summer is one of the most important times for pruning many kinds of woody plants. By now plants have completed the lush growth of spring. Many now need shaping, thinning or heading back to control their size, says University of Delaware extension horticulturist, Dr. Charles Dunham.

Needle evergreens like yews, junipers, arborvitae and hemlock can be pruned as soon as growth is complete. The new growth can be cut back, allowing only a few inches to remain. This will slow the rate of size increase and also make the plant more dense and attractive. Avoid cutting all shoots at the same length and try to enhance the natural form as you prune. Cutting top branches more severely than lower ones will keep the base well filled in on spreading plants. To maintain the same size plant, cut back half of the branches into last year's wood. At your next pruning, cut back the remaining branches the same way.

Shrubs that have finished flowering should have their growth headed back now. Remove some of the oldest branches entirely, if you haven't already done so. Again, try to keep a natural shape. Dunham advises pruning branches at different levels to avoid a bobbed or balled appearance.

Shade trees can and should be pruned now. Branches on old trees that sweep too low to the ground can be removed. Check young shade trees to make sure that growth is progressing as desired. Remove branches competing with the central leader if a single trunk is desired. Remove the lowest branches if sufficient growth has taken place to maintain a pleasing proportion to the tree. This will help raise the crown to head height or above.

You can even prune fruit trees now. Remove over-vigorous, non-fruiting branches to better expose fruit to the sun. Remove any suckers resulting from winter pruning. Summer pruning will result in many fewer suckers than winter pruning.

Azaleas can be cut back after flowering if desired. Try to prune plants back to a lower crotch. Rhododendrons and lilacs should have old flower heads removed. This stimulates the formation of new flower buds for next year.

Hedges - both formal and informal types - should be cut back to maintain size and increase density. Remember to keep the base of the hedge a few inches wider than the top so that lower branches will remain alive and vigorous.

ALTHOUGH THE UNITED STATES OFFICIALLY DECLARED ITS INDEPENDENCE ON JULY 4, 1776 THE FOUNDATION FOR AMERICAN FREEDOM WAS ACTUALLY LAID MORE THAN A YEAR PRIOR TO THAT HISTORIC DATE!

Delaware Physician Promotes Full Independence of Farmer

Farmers in the early 1800's were urged by a Wilmington, Del. physician to follow the success of the Revolution with yet another type of independence - living entirely off the produce of his own farm.

Dr. James Tilton, who retired to his own 60-acre farm, urged:

"Avoid the luxuries of the day and live upon the produce of your farms."

He explained his lifestyle theory in this way:

"During the Revolution, independence of government or self-government, as it was emphatically styled, was the rage.

"At this time, an equal zeal appears for independence in our clothing.

"And yet strange to tell, few of us think of eating and drinking independently."

Specifically, Dr. Tilton urged farmers to give up the drinking of tea - a commodity that was at the heart of the revolution.

"Your farms furnish much better foods and at a cheaper rate," he explained.

"I appeal to the good sense of my countrymen to abandon the vicious and injurious habits imposed upon us by mercantile intrigue."

Dr. Tilton went so far as to forbid tea cups or saucers in his home. In addition to eliminating tea from his diet, he explained, the practice saved the need for a person to do the washing and piddling which these frivolous trinkets require.

Solitary man with sickle symbolizes independence of early farmer.

The elderly physician pointed to his own state of health as an example.

Previously he drank wine in the afternoon and said he was attacked by the gout and had regular fits for some years. Then, he became a farmer and consumed only home-grown food and drink.

"Although I am now on the wrong side of 60 years of age, my feet have recovered their tone and hardihood. I can walk and ride and do manual labor as well as ever. I trim my orchards and shock wheat and make hay with anybody. Besides, I am chief gardener in two acres."

He further explained he still indulged in a cheering glass of spirit once or twice a day, preferring good rye whiskey or high-proof apple brandy.

"For I scorn to go abroad for anything I can get better at home."

There's no real historical proof that Dr. Tilton's advice was widely followed in such a strict disciplinarian manner as he prescribed.

But his attitude illustrates the hardy, independent spirit of the American farmer, which prevailed not only at the nation's founding but throughout its history of growth and development.

Career Opportunities For Women Course Offered

The Kent Campus of Delaware Tech and Community College will offer a course entitled "Career Opportunities for Women" at the new campus facility at 1832 North duPont Parkway, Dover, Dr. Gary Frank Petty, Campus Director, announced today. The course will be held from July 10 through August 21, 1975, at 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Following on the heels of the women's Career Conference held in May, which Kent County women evaluated as very helpful, the course will provide for analysis of self, analysis of career opportunities, goal setting and decision making.

Three questions should be answered for the student in the course - Where are you now? Where do you want to go? How do you get there from here?

A variety of Teaching techniques will be used: lectures, discussions, role playing, resource people, interviews with local industrial and business personnel and audio-visual presentations. The instructor will be Mr. Monroe Gerhart, Coordinator of Cooperative Occupational Education, New Castle - Gunning Bedford School District.

Del Tech will follow the course with a Job Fair, sponsored again by the Women's Studies Committee of the College. Local business personnel will conduct interviews and discuss job opportunities with the women students.

For more information on "Career Opportunities for Women," contact Kent Campus at 678-4778 or visit the new campus facility at Denney's Road and U.S. Route 13, Dover, for counseling and registration data.

Combined Catholic Services Scheduled For 5th

St. John's Catholic Church, Milford, and St. Bernadette's Church, Harrington, will hold combined services on the first Saturday in July (July 5) in honor of the Virgin Mary. The program, to be held at St. John's Church at 11 a.m., will begin with a procession around the church property in which the pilgrim virgin statue of Our Lady of Fatima will be carried. Mass will then be celebrated inside the church, followed by recitation of the rosary. A busload of guests from Wilmington will join parishioners for the ceremony. Fourth degree members of the Knights of Columbus will serve as a guard of honor during the procession and service inside the church.

The Rev. John Cremin, pastor, will read a dedication prayer consecrating both parishes to Our Lady of Fatima. A luncheon will be served out of town guests in the church hall. The first Saturday devotion honoring the Virgin Mary has developed as a result of messages from Mary reported by farm children in Fatima, Portugal, over a quarter century ago in which she urged special prayers on the first Saturday of each month for world peace.

It Seems To Me

by Janet Reed

Sewing hints often come my way, so I'll pass them on to you. Maybe you have good ideas to share, too.

Belts on ready-to-wear dresses often wear out or look shabby around the eyelets or buckle. You can salvage the belt without buying a new one by using your imagination. Cover up the worn areas at each end of the belt by topstitching a bit of decorative braid or ribbon to the belt. If the buckle needs to be replaced, design a different way to fasten the belt - a decorative button and buttonhole, Velcro, lacings or leave the ribbon long enough to tie instead of buckle.

You could also use an old leather belt to mend a fabric belt. Cut off the worn sections of the fabric belt and replace them with ends of the leather belt, topstitching in place. Or you can buy kits which will do the same thing.

Once you start thinking about the possibilities, you will find many ideas for replacing or lengthening the belt.

Buttonholes sometimes wear out, too. You can design an applique shape to sew over the buttonhole for a decorative effect as well as a useful function. It's an idea to remember, too, if you're sewing and flub the buttonholes. Instead of an applique you might consider embroidering a design around the buttonhole area or using pieces of decorative braid.

Here's an idea for lengthening hems in children's clothes. Allow an extra two inches in the hemline, but instead of sewing a wide hem, take a two-inch tuck in the hem on the wrong side. When the hem needs to be let down, just release the stitches in the tuck and you won't need to re sew the hem.

If you're using elastic in a casing at waistline of skirt or pants, keep it in place by stitching in the "ditch" at each seam, distributing fullness evenly between each seam before stitching.

When cutting out garments allow wider seams on lengthwise side seams. This gives you some extra fabric if you need to make fitting adjustments from one year to another.

Attach a pin cushion to the head of your sewing machine so pins will be at fingertips when you sew and can be easily replaced when you remove them from your fabric as you stitch.

No doubt you have favorite sewing hints you would like to share. Send them to Janet Reed, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, and I'll share them with others through this column.

Stay Safe In The Surf This Summer

For millions of Americans a summer vacation means only one thing - spending as many days at the beach as possible. There is something magic about the combination of surf, salt air and warm sand.

Yet many carefree vacationers know little of the dangers of ocean bathing, says Mary Ann Finch, extension family and child development specialist at the University of Delaware. Even experienced swimmers can get into trouble battling the surf. Small children can suddenly step into a hole and disappear.

The powerful suction of the surf can be very tricky. The surf can also slam swimmers forward into rocks and piers, as well as sweep them sideways with strong lateral currents.

Currents in the surf are often so strong that they can gouge deep holes in the sand. A person wading waist-deep can suddenly find himself in water over his head. Children are especially vulnerable to these treacherous hidden water holes. Ms. Finch cites several National Safety Council recommendations for staying safe in the surf. First of all, swim only when lifeguards are on duty. A large percentage of drownings occur at unguarded beaches.

Children should be constantly supervised, even when the surf appears calm. A toddler can quickly become the victim of a strong current which may not be apparent on the surface.

Check with the lifeguard about the safety of the beach and surf. These can vary from day to day. If you are pulled away from shore by an undertow, stay calm. Swim at a 45 degree angle toward shore. Never hesitate to call or signal for help if you need it.

Never dive into unknown water or shallow breaking waves. Severe head and spinal injuries can result. Never wade in unfamiliar water if you can't swim. Stay away from ocean piers or rocks. The surf can pull you sideways into the pier, or dash you mercilessly against the rocks.

Children should be reminded that safety at the beach does not include horseplay. Ms. Finch reminds that adults set the example for children. Dangerous games, running or horseplay do not belong on the beach, in the water, nor near the surf.

Summer Tax Free Earnings For Teens

New Internal Revenue Service rulings allow a student or other summer employee to earn up to $2350 before paying income taxes. An employee does not have to file a return unless he earns more than this amount or has more than $750 unearned income (dividends, etc.), says W. T. McAllister, University of Delaware extension agricultural economist.

If a teenager expects to earn less than this figure, he certifies to his employer when hired that he expects to avoid a federal income tax liability for the current year and had none for the preceding year. He then must file a W-4E form that certifies that there is to be no tax deduction by the employer.

If any time after this form is filed the employee does earn more than $2350, then a regular tax withholding form may be filed and standard deductions will begin.

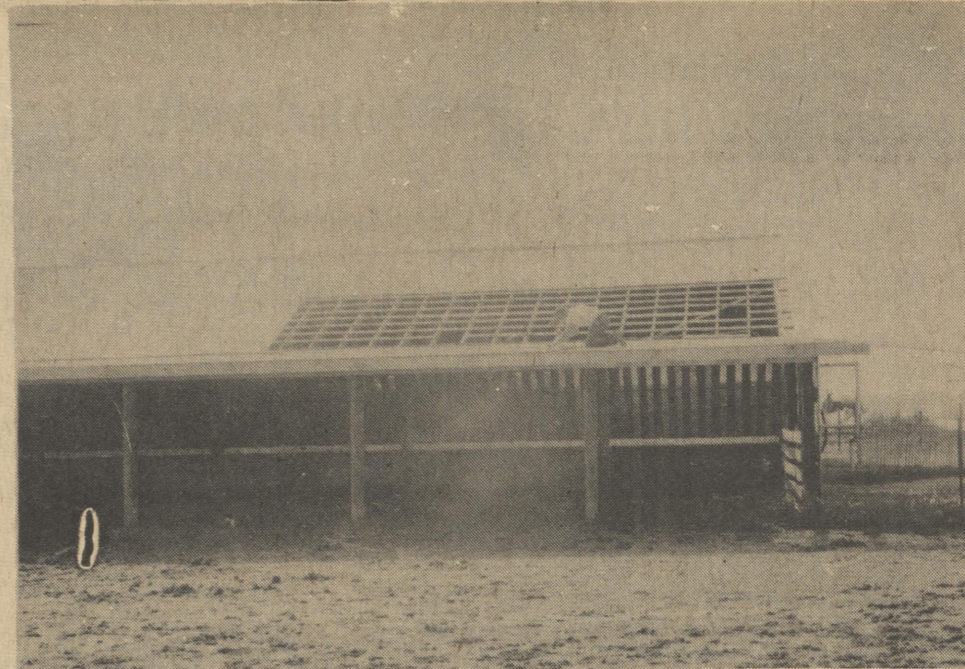

If he chooses, McAllister says a teenager may have the standard tax deduction made at the time he's hired. This money will be returned when he files for a tax refund after January 1. Some prefer to use this practice as a way of saving about 15 percent of their summer earnings for use at a later time.

Although he won't have the federal tax taken from his pay, other deductions, such as social security and state tax, will remain the same.

The role of parents remains the same in spite of these tax-rule changes. A child may be claimed as a dependent as long as he is under 19 or a full-time student and provides less than half of his support. For the student, the double dependency factor is a benefit since it allows both the student and the parent to claim a deduction.

For parents acting as employers, all payments for work should be made by check and not in the form of free gasoline and use of the car, a calf, a field to grow a crop or a broiler house. McAllister says that unless a separate tax report is filed, sometimes the income and expenses of the teenagers are difficult to separate from those of the parents.

Ivan Yoder is seen on the roof rebuilding and roofing a loading shed on the Bill Messick farm near Farmington. The damage was caused by a tornado three weeks ago tonight.

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

HOW DO YOU RATE AS A HUSBAND?

The way a woman looks and, of course, the way she acts may be a good tip-off about her real feelings toward her mate. But a good long look at himself can be even more revealing for the man who wonders whether his wife has him pegged as a "pal" or a "pill."

See how many of these tips you already follow. And remember, a sensitive husband makes a happy wife — and also happy kids.

Be fair about money. Even if you are the sole money earner in the family, it takes two to draw up a budget and make it

Notice what your wife wears and how she looks. A man should be proud of his wife's appearance, and encouragement is important. Some psychologists have even suggested that a woman who doesn't take care of herself may be subconsciously punishing her mate for seeming indifferent. Similarly, the extravagant woman may be crying "Notice me!" in a different way.

Listen. An amazing number of wives complain that their husbands don't listen when they speak. Don't be surprised, however, if your wife is every bit as knowledgeable about world affairs, politics and the arts, as you are. So try discussing topics of importance with her.

Take the wife and family on business trips when you can.

Many women envy their husbands the glamor of the business world. And many children wonder what business trips are all about. So why not give your family a break from the daily routine?

work. Always be frank about the state of your finances: secrecy about money, according to marriage counselors, creates tensions and resentments that can undermine a relationship.

Help her with the work around the house. Remember that housework is as much work as the work you do. So respect your wife for what she does. And since her work is difficult, tedious and time consuming, why not help out with the dishes, cleaning, or child care? Such thoughtfulness is really appreciated.

Be a bit of a romantic. This doesn't have to be the canny, flowers, and "our song" routine, although this would be fine if it came naturally. Keeping the romance in your marriage can mean something as simple as remembering that your wife is a real person, with real feelings, real needs, and real love.

In short, how you rate as a husband depends on how you rate as a person who's aware, interested, and sensitive — to your wife, to your kids, and to the complexities of a family's life together.

ACP Sign Ups Announced

J. Heyman Roosa, Chairman, Kent County ASC Committee recently announced the 1975 Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) for sign-up. Federal cost-sharing funds authorized by the Congress, are available to agricultural producers in the county to perform needed and enduring soil, water and wildlife conservation practices on privately owned farmland. To insure that the public's dollar is buying needed conservation, only those practices that would not be done without cost-sharing will be approved.

Following the announcement of the program, Roosa said, "only those practices with the greatest need to our county farmers are included in the program. They include ditching, tiling, pasture seeding, winter cover crop, wildlife plantings, animal waste storage facilities and forestry practices."

Roosa added that all Kent County Agricultural producers are eligible to sign up in the county office before the practices are started. He noted that the initial sign-up period ends on Thursday, July 3. All requests through that date will be given equal consideration when reviewed by the committee for approval, considering priority of the practice, ability of the producer to install the practice without cost-sharing, etc.

Roosa repeated, "I encourage every Kent County farmer to contact the county ASC office in Dover for further information on this program as it could be money in their pocket over the long run."

Spartans Win Kiwanis Miles

by Keith S. Burgess

For twenty years, this area has been sending tough determined, gritty youngsters to upstate and many other areas in search of success in the distance-running events.

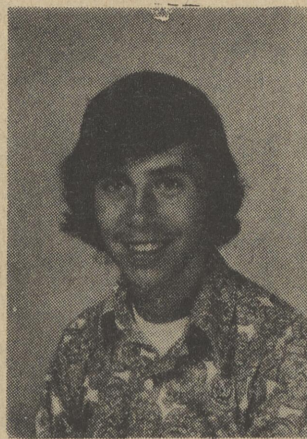

Track coaches, competitors, officials and just plain track nuts throughout Delaware have been impressed by the locals for two decades. They know the results recorded by the lads from Felton, Frederica, Canterbury, Harrington, etc., are way out of proportion when one considers the low-population school district from whence they came. The Spartans simply win far more than their share.

Over the weekend the Kiwanis Miles races were held at Wilmington's Baynard Stadium. Six races were held, one for each age group 13 through 18. Lake Forest competing against the rest of Delaware, plus Cecil County, Maryland, won two races and might have won three or 50 percent, had not 18-year-old Ron Mosley elected to pass up the age 18 race in order to take part in a college age 19 to 29 test at the same location. He was fourth of 13 as he ran 4.40, not his best, but a good effort.

Dan Parker made a fine comeback after losing the lead and nipped an A.I. duPont runner at the wire in 4.47, good time for a late June effort. Third in this 15-year-old test was Dave Richter in 4.56 giving Lake Forest two of the three trophies. Both lads have May clockings a full ten seconds faster.

Harry Benson, state group II mile champion, won the age 16 test in 4.44 to add another trophy to the hoard he has been amassing for four years.

Attention Spartan fans! Chris Palmisano is a Spartan now! The tiny, talented Dover Air runner recently moved to Canterbury and will be a junior at Lake Forest High this autumn. Coach Jim Blades can hardly wait for August 25 to start the Spartan bid for a third straight state title in cross-country. Here's a star coming for a change.

Dave Richter

Palmisano was third in Wilmington Saturday. He ran in the low 4.50's, a good chance to get the Lake Forest mark 9.53.3 in 1977. Chris has beaten practically every Spartan in the past. It's good to have him on our side.

The age 17 field was loaded. Consequently Craig Kashner's excellent 4.51 mile, which would have been good for second in age 18, got only a fifth.

Age 18 saw Terry Pettyjohn, Charlie Scott and Cliff Ayres record 5.07, 5.11 and 5.12 for second, third and fourth respectively.

One of the finest performances of the afternoon had to be that of Louis Thomas. The 15-year old had been in only one previous track meet as a quarter miler. Yet he fought off a cramp and ran a terrific 5.07 fourth place mile in his second lifetime race. He may be another Danny Parker.

Others to run well were: age 13 race - Bill Mitchell, 6.11; Leroy Parker, 6.23; Mark Miller, 6.30; Doug Caskey, 6.51. Age 14 - Larry McCombs, 5.48. Age 15 - John Moffett, 5.38. Age 16 - Kelly Woodward, 5.53, and Paula Mosley, fourth in the 15-year-old girls half mile in 2.40.5. Paula shaded 63 seconds for the first 440 yards and may be a find at that distance.

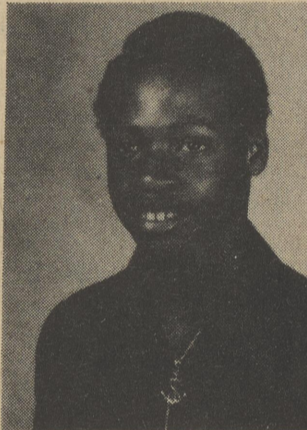

Tom Fort, a transplanted Missourian, is 40 years old. Tom clocked a fantastic 4.38 mile. He did 4.30 at age 39. He walked over to the three-car Lake Forest caravan, inspected the six big trophies inside and commented, "Well, I see Lake Forest has picked up three carloads of hardware again."

Harry Benson

Chris Palmisano

Dan Parker

Bad Inning Costs Greenwood

Greenwood is the smallest community fielding a team in the American League division of the Kent-Sussex Big League.

Yet our neighbors to the south are giving a good account of themselves. They have a victory, a one-run loss to Laurel and had Milford on the ropes before one bad inning cost them a 5-2 defeat.

Steve Clarkson, an all-Henlopen Conference pick, had two hits for Greenwood. McCalley, Brooks and Messick had eight of Milford's eleven safeties. Tommy Jacobs was the winning pitcher. This writer feels that there should be some competition between these divisions other than a meeting between the champions at season's end.

Harrington must play Middletown (40 miles) and Smyrna (30 miles) often, but can never test the mettle of Greenwood and Milford (9 miles each) or Seaford, Laurel and Georgetown, all closer than Smyrna.

Bunting, Bodenweiser Take Top Spots At Georgetown Speedway

Milford's Harold Bunting driving the Don's Auto Parts-T. P. Thomas Concrete Works Vega established himself as the man of the hour after two restarts early in the Modified feature and from the half-way point to the checker it was Bunting all the way taking his second win of the season in flawless style. Haines Tull of Seaford, chauffering the Davis Trucking Vega was forced to play catchup for the distance, taking second as time ran out. Gumboro's Jimmy Clark found the high speed groove for the Hitchens' Bros. of Selbyville, scoring third in a race that saw much challenging for positions three through seven. Fourth overall went to Georgetown's Jerry West, piloting the Grotto Pizza Machine Dodge Colt. Gary Trice of Parsonburg resisted the pressure from Milton's Eddy Pettyjohn taking fifth behind the wheel of the Trice's Aluminum Co. Chevy II. Pettyjohn captured sixth driving the Petrea & Son BP Products Mustang. John McCardell was seventh in the "Skunk Hollow Express" Valiant.

Bodie Bodenweiser from Georgetown took over the lead from Richard Malnor of Berlin when the Carlton Massey Ford developed mechanical difficulties and from that point to the victory lane it was all Bodenweiser aboard the Oscar Fields Engineered Lewes Dairy Markets Mustang. Bridgeville's Donnie Joseph placed the "Snoopy Special" Dillard's Restaurants Falcon second behind Bodenweiser's sixth Sportsmen feature win of the season. Woodside's Larry Grier recorded one of his best finishes this year, taking third driving the C & W Auto Parts Chevrolet. Clem Horvath survived an earlier spin, recovering scoring fourth in the Ira Ware Prepared-Be Someone Special Go Navy Pinto. Salisbury's Joe Ellingsworth recorded a strong fifth piloting the JNR Racing-Ellingsworth Body Shop Chevy II. Bud Coverdale of Frederica was sixth in a Corvair at the checkered flag.

Sports Odds and Ends

by Keith S. Burgess

The first two named played high school baseball with us for H.H.S. in 1940. That nine lost only three games and two of the losses were of a highly-suspicious nature.

Hatfield now resides in Fort Pierce, Florida. Viola's Dill brothers contributed three hits, three runs and three RBI's recently as Canada Dry blanked Donofio 13-0 in Wilmington Semi-Pro League play. The win put the Bottlers close to the lead held by Parkway. Canada Dry later moved into first place.

A couple of track rumors recently reached our ears. Jim Foster, ultra-successful Woodbridge track mentor, may give up the thimble post while retaining his new head football coaching spot.

Cape Henlopen's new building program may include an all-weather track, the second such installation in lower Delaware. Laurel has one.

The Cape has four state track team titles which their present short dirt oval is hopelessly inadequate. We shudder to think what Tom Hickman might do to the rest of the Henlopen Conference if his chargers have a swift, composition track to work with.

We have a few copies of the summer track and field schedule to be held at Dover High at 6 P.M. on July 9, July 16, July 23, July 29. The program is sponsored by Kent County Parks and Recreation. Age groups are 11 and under, 12-14, 15-17, 18 and over, 30 and over.

We presume there will be both male and female events as in 1974. No registration is required. Just show up ready to compete. There are sprints, long distance races (up to a mile) relays and field events. This is a fine opportunity to get started in track and field competition.

Harrington Big League Scores First Win

Howard Brown's Harrington Big League entry, entered the win column with a 6-5 victory over Smyrna last week. At this writing, the locals are 1-3.

Wayne Voshell had a home run, another hit and three RBI's for Harrington. Jeff Chambers was credited with the winner's other hit and drove in two runs.

Mike McGinnis held Smyrna to three safeties, whiffed seven enemy batters, and gave up only one earned run.

Neal Smith's bases-loaded walk in the final inning forced in Wayne Erne with the winning tally. Emerson, one of Smyrna's hurlers, had control problems as he hit five Harrington batters.

Has New County Public Health Service

A new public health service is being made available to eligible residents of western Sussex County.

Called the Program of Projects (POP), this new program is operated by the state Division of Public Health. It contains five projects which provide services to pregnant women, infants and children.

The projects are:
(1) Maternity and Infant Care, providing comprehensive health care for pregnant women and infants who are eligible.

(2) Children and Youth Project, providing physical exams, immunizations, screening and diagnostic tests and treatment of illness for children up to 18-years-old who are in the program.

(3) Dental Health Project, providing complete dental care for women and children registered in the first two projects.

(4) Intensive Infant Care Project, provides training for hospital staffs and transportation of infants who need intensive care to hospitals with intensive infant care units.

(5) Family Planning Project, expands existing family planning services and provides family planning for women registered in the program.

The POP is based in the Nanticoke Memorial Hospital in Seaford. A team of health professionals provides the services. These include a pediatrician, two obstetricians, a nurse, a social worker, a nutritionist and a neighborhood worker.

According to Marhelen Leffet, R.N., the project director, routine health care and diagnostic services available through the program are free.

Treatment for illness, hospital care, labor and delivery and correction of defects will be paid by the program only for those families who are unable to pay. She said other families will be asked to contribute to the cost according to their ability to pay.

The program is designed to serve primarily mothers and children who are at high risk or who lack the financial resources for adequate health care.

Most admissions to the program are by referral from physicians or social service agencies. However, a woman may enroll in the program without a referral.

It is important for pregnant women to seek health care as early as possible during pregnancy. Mrs. Leffet urged pregnant women interested in the program to contact the POP office as early as possible.

Anyone interested in further information or guidelines on acceptance into the program should contact the Program of Projects at Nanticoke Hospital, telephone 629-2811.
