The Sewer System: A Big Issue With A Price Tag To Match

The City of Harrington is finding itself in similar positions with many small municipalities in Delaware and throughout the country these days as state and federal regulations tighten on the handling of waste.

The City has a relatively new (eight year old) sewer treatment plant, considered an exemplary installation at the time, with three activated sludge units, and two comminuters and two lagoons to treat the waste. Treated materials are emptied into Brown's Branch and eventually go into McCauley's Pond and the Delaware Bay.

The City Council was informed of the tighter governmental controls and was advised by the city engineer-firm of Richardson and Associates that Harrington should take immediate steps to see that the sewer treatment plant meets the newer standards.

Howls of disbelief from City Councilmen began as the cost for upgrading of the present system began to unfold. The study alone will cost in the neighborhood of $60,000.

The City still owes some $350,000 of $380,000 on the present system, which is not doing its job. The total for the present sewer system is to be paid off by 1993.

Richardson and Associates have proposed a two-pronged approach to upgrade the plant they installed eight years ago. According to the firm, a study should be made to discover where the excess surface water in entering the City's system. This water is treated as waste when it reaches the plant and causes unnecessary work for the plant facilities. It also causes unnecessary expense since the water is treated and processed as sludge.

This study is also to include some test grouting of the city's sewer lines. The firm also has advised the City to begin studying a rehabilitation program.

To date, the City has applied for a grant for the study which will attempt to locate the infiltration of the surface water and discover the necessary steps on rehabilitation. The cost of the study is approximately $66,000, of which the City's share is $9,900. $4,000 of this amount has already been paid.

In April, Harry Trussell (not Dr. as incorrectly stated in last week's issue), a chemist and former employee of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, presented a proposal to the Council to study the system in detail and at the conclusion, he too would make recommendations for which he would guarantee successful results. This study was to have been made without cost to the City.

Trussell, who referred to himself at that time as a biological engineer, spent the past two weeks in Delaware during which time he conducted a demonstration of his process at the county treatment plant at Frederica. The demonstration received varied responses.

According to Trussell, his process will take the solid sludge and produce a completely dry substance much like paper which can be used as feed for various animals. He also stated the product may be used as fuel and fertilizer.

Trussell had to receive a permit from the State Department and Environmental Control which is headed by V. A. Vasuki to conduct any experiments with the Harrington system. He was granted the permit.

During an interview with The Journal Tuesday, Trussell stated Harrington has "the major equipment and facilities...in the present system...only minor changes will be required to be made to make it function properly."

Additional major construction or rehabilitation would not be necessary says Trussell.

According to Trussell, the system is not functioning as it was designed to do. He says his equipment will correct the situation with no additional personnel necessary to operate the equipment.

During a brief inspection of the present treatment facilities, located east of Route 13 at the site of the former city dump, Trussell pointed out the grass-green liquid flowing into Brown's Branch. The green coloring was algae, said Trussell, the major pollutant source from the City in the summer.

While at the plant it was also observed that the three activator sludge units were filled to the brim, and there was an overflow from two (see picture). The overflow was heading directly for Brown's Branch. Trussell said the overflow was untreated sewage. A City Hall source said the material had been treated to an extent.

A demonstration of his process is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. prior to the meeting primarily for the Council.

As of Tuesday morning City Manager Robert Quillen said Trussell had not yet requested to be placed on the agenda for the July 7 meeting.

Trussell said he would present his proposal which would include alternatives at the July 7 City Council meeting.

Trussell said he could not give a cost for his plan since this, if accepted, would be the first installation of its kind in operation.

The next step will be made by the Harrington city government. It will be costly in any direction. From a brief glimpse of the plan in operation Tuesday, which is polluting, no action will be even more costly, in terms of the future quality of life in this area.

NOTICE

The City would appreciate the landlords informing the City of the names of their tenants. Some residents are receiving free trash collection. If the city knows the tenant's name, the tenants will be billed directly.

Residents are reminded to keep grass cuttings out of gutters which stop up catch basins. This will allow the streets to clear of rain water.

Robert Quillen, City Manager

Foods Contest Set

The State Reddy Foods Contest for Delaware 4-H'ers is coming up, July 9, beginning at 9 a.m., marks the date for the cook-off by county contest winners. Sponsored by Delmarva Power and Light Company, Delaware Electric Cooperative and the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service, the contest will take place at the Delaware State Fairgrounds in Harrington.

Five food areas will be represented in the contest: main dishes, snack tray, desserts, breads, and dishes

School Board Meets: Discusses Expansion

The Lake Forest School Board called a special meeting on Thursday night to discuss the proposed building expansion program at the High School.

Dr. Jack Nichols of the State Department of Public Instruction, who is the Supervisor of School Planning, discussed the problem facing Lake Forest High School.

Under the formula used by the State Department, a school may have 137,000 square feet per 1,000 students. Lake Forest currently has 100,000 square feet for 1,000 students. As Nichols pointed out to the Board "Lake Forest certainly qualifies for eligibility for a bonding situation regarding school building expansion."

The proper procedure under the law to institute such measures is to first apply to the State Board for a certificate. The State Board must then approve or disapprove the proposal. If it approves the project, the local board must have a referendum within a year of State approval. The State Board could give approval as early as August.

The square foot expansion is approximately 32,400 square feet which includes eight new classrooms, expanded present gym facilities, an auditorium at the High School, expanded cafeteria at Lake Forest North Elementary School and an Industrial arts shop at the High School.

The estimated cost for the project is $1,591,000. The local share would be $637,000. The estimated enrollment for the coming year is projected to be 1,186 pupils and 1,319 by 1979.

E. B. Warrington, a member of the School Board since the school merger, voiced his concern about the crowded school situation today, but was even more concerned about the situation when those in the lower grades reach the High School level. "If we don't get approval in the referendum...what then," he said.

Superintendent Albert W. Adams generally favors the building expansion but stressed the importance of making the auditorium capable of converting to instructional areas. He also pointed out that the school tax increase required would be very small due to the fact that previous bond issues are being retired. This was important to note as was pointed out by other Board members.

In other action, the Board approved the expenditure, when it becomes necessary, for a custodian at half time for the Lake Forest East Elementary School at Frederica.

a time to celebrate...

What more appropriate time to seek out the nation's philosophical foundations than now, the eve of the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence?

One hundred and ninety-nine years ago this fourth day of July, the Continental Congress adopted the resolution of independence without one dissenting vote. It meant that the 13 Colonies of America were united, free and independent. A new nation began its great experiment under law, a written constitution. The successes achieved since July 4, 1776, can be traced directly to the strong foundation laid by the Founding Fathers and their collective expression of an extraordinary quality of thought, speech and action.

We have much to celebrate, but we must do more than that. Each generation has been called on to accept the challenge of a different crisis, and each generation has lived up to its responsibility. There must be a rededication to the past, an awareness of the present, and a plan for the future. We must share the same spirit and determination as those founders to solve the complex problems that lie ahead.

We need to view this great anniversary as a time to come together and to meet the challenges of the known and the unknown as we observe the birthday, honor the spirit, and begin the third century.

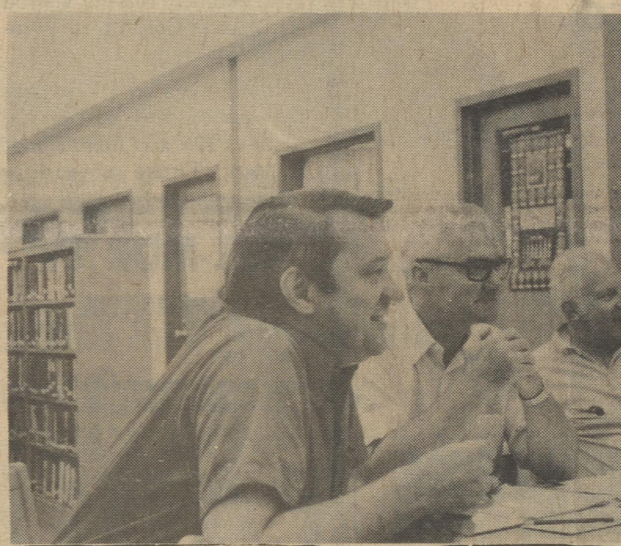

So from one end of this nation to the other, "... America is only you and me," as Walt Whitman so aptly described it.

Then, let's honor America by participating in this splendid birthday present to each of us from all of us. And, it will be a better place if it were done by the people from one end of the country to the other.

What can we do? Nothing sweeping and spectacular perhaps, but it is a rare community which doesn't have unresolved problems which call for diligent citizens' participation, for fresh ideas, for a measure of unselfish works.

Accordingly, we will be more firmly bound to the country we inhabit. It will help assure the continuity of the philosophy of individual freedom and individual responsibility.

Addresses Rotary

Harry B. Trussell, a chemist and inventor from Gainesville, Florida and Atlanta, Georgia, visited with the Harrington Rotary Club on Monday night. After the dinner meeting, Mr. Trussell addressed Rotary briefly.

He explained his background and his patents on inventions which have saved industries from closing as well as saving them millions of dollars in the process.

Trussell is studying the sewer treatment system for the City of Harrington, and informed Rotarians that he could solve their problem which is unlike most sewer systems. The problem with the Harrington plant is that not only "are you not using your facility to capacity, but you need to make more sludge in order to clear up your lagoons

Susan Eliason

Will Study In England

Susan Eliason, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Eliason of the Harrington Frederica Road and a senior at Lake Forest High School has been selected together with twelve other students to visit England this November to study the American and British viewpoints of the American Revolution. This will be a student exchange with the English students visiting this country next spring.

The students will conduct research through visiting schools, museums, and historical sites in the area of London for a period of three weeks. The information gathered will be transmitted to other students and groups by presentations during the bicentennial year. The project will be called "Bicen."

Students who are in the 11th or 12th grades are eligible for this academic program. Miss Eliason was the selection from Lake Forest. She is a recent member of Girls State, member of A.F.S., an alumna of the Presidential Classroom (a study in government in Washington, D.C.), member of 4-H, and a member of St. Stephens Episcopal Church. Miss Eliason lives on a farm and this year again will have a cattle entry at the upcoming Delaware State Fair. She is also enrolled in a Criminal Justice course at Del. Tech in Dover. She wants to study law in the future.

Settlers Had To Develop Modern Thirst for Milk

While dairying was transplanted vigorously to the New World by both the Dutch and the Germans, other early settlers showed little evidence of the modern thirst for milk. Fluid milk from cows was used merely to supplement mush or to cook into chowders. Not much butter was made at first - clabber and cheese had a more dominant place on the first settlers' tables.

For many years, it was common for town dwellers to keep one or more cows which roamed the streets and fields. On the farm, dairying was mainly to provide butter and cheese for the table as well as for sale in nearby towns. These items were also good for barter in country stores.

Colonial cattle were not of any particular breed, and they were valued more for their meat, hides and as a source of motive power than for their milk. It wasn't until about 1830 that dairying began to emerge as a commercial enterprise.

The farmer's wife was in charge of the cows as well as the production and sale of cheese and butter. A lack of refrigeration limited the sale of fluid milk. But even if cooling facilities had been available, the early farmers would have been hard put to sell very much milk. The Colonial people were just not milk drinkers. They preferred more stimulating beverages.

We were very glad at the Center to welcome two visitors this week. On Monday, Mrs. Carl Tucker came to have dinner and on Thursday Mrs. Lester Workman was our guest. The people at the Center are always happy to have new faces among our regular members. We hope they will come again soon.

On Tuesday, the Senior Citizens of the Cheer Centers were invited to the Seaford Manor House to hear a lecture by Mr. Ed. D. Lugar on disability patients and what kind of person should be chosen to help or care for such a person. He stressed very emphatically that it should be a person who loved people as persons of this nature need much love and compassion. His main thought that he wanted to leave with his audience was - always try to treat people like you would like to be treated in such circumstances.

We had our monthly birthday party Friday for those born in June which were Mrs. Emma Everline, Mrs. Mary Williams, and Mr. Harold Robinson.

Our Happy Birthday song was sung and ice cream and cake were our refreshments. Games were played and enjoyed.

Saturday afternoon callers at the Jacob Hatfields were Mrs. Alfred McIlvaine and Mrs. Theresa Ottey.

"... now is the time for us to turn our attentions to harnessing the energy from the solar system."

We have had a year to reflect on our so-called fading supply of gas and oil. This controversial subject has caused speculation and alarm in our people in this country.

Some theorize that there are billions and billions of gallons of gas and oil in the country yet untapped. The opponents of this say the expense would be too great to get it from its natural source. The Arabs know this. They can continue to raise the price of oil until such time we set fit to start drilling and refining operations here in this country. The Arabs would obviously drop the price per barrel below what it would cost per barrel domestically. So let them! Our government could always put a tax on the Arab oil coming into this country to offset the situation.

To me that issue seems very superficial. Let's begin to drill and refine our oil and tell the Arabs to go drink theirs.

We are missing the real point, however. The main point here is that we should learn to harness other elements of nature that are in our own back yard. One of the greatest sources of energy is from the wind. This will become an advantage to us here on the peninsula in years to come, for we seem to have our share of the winds. This form of energy can be used to turn a generator, to create a magnetic field which will in turn produce electrical energy.

When our present production costs reach such proportions that we can no longer bear the expense, all of us will be forced to convert to a system from our solar resources which would cost far less. It is the only answer to our present situation. There are those, however, who are concerned enough about the energy shortage that they are starting to do something about it now. First there will be home remedies . . . then the merchandising of the work product. Now is the time for us to turn our attentions to harnessing
the energy from the solar system.

HARRINGTON JOURNAL
SALUTES

The LeRoy Calhouns. Standing L to R: Sherry, Mrs. Calhoun, Mr. Calhoun, Terry. Seated; Shelly and on her lap, Kelly.

This week the Harrington Journal is proud to salute the Leroy Calhouns, owners of the L & D Electronics television sales and related service store in the Quillen Shopping Center here in Harrington.

The Calhouns are kept very busy with their business, which has moved into the new location in the shopping center during this, their third year in business in the area. Prior to this address, they were located in a smaller shop on Clark Street.

Their new location has a handsome display window in which their products, which also include radios and attachments.

Leroy Calhoun, originally from Greenwood, is very active in community activities and holds a variety of responsible civic-oriented positions. Included among his activities are being president of the local Little League, third vice-president of the Harrington Lions Club, President of the Chamber of Commerce, and he was recently elected to the Board of Directors of the Senior Center.

He is married to the former Doris Black of near Harrington. They have four children and live west of the town. They are also members of Trinity Methodist Church, where Mr. Calhoun is Superintendent of the Sunday School.

In this their third year of business, they are having a special drawing for a Magnavox color television. They are registered representatives for Zenith and Magnavox lines and sell, erect and service Winegard TV aerials and Spaulding Towers.

The community benefits from having the Calhouns.

Our Men
In Washington

Weekly Report of Joseph Biden

On June 24, President Ford vetoed the Emergency Housing Act of 1975. That veto - which the House of Representatives failed to override - means that hundreds of thousands of Americans, including a substantial number in Delaware, will continue to go without jobs.

I think that is a tragedy.
The Emergency Housing
Bill was, to my way of thinking, one of the most responsible and worthwhile pieces of legislation to emerge to date from the 94th Congress.

In our recession-plagued economy, this legislation would have:

-Spurred housing construction.

-Provided a system of loans to the unemployed to help them make mortgage payments, thus preventing families from losing their homes.

-Created jobs-by far the most important aspect of this bill. At a conservative estimate, the bill would have provided 500,000 jobs - and perhaps as many as 800,000.

The bill had one other very important feature. By utilizing the private sector to create jobs, Congress had provided a mechanism for putting people back to work in the cheapest, most responsible manner. Other proposals, to create thousands of public service jobs, would involve bureaucratic red tape - and they would have been far more inflationary than the bill rejected by President Ford.

Congress is now once again considering new housing legislation, but the chances are the new bill will only be half a loaf, and will not create nearly the number of jobs the original legislation would have provided.

The President's decision to veto the Emergency Housing bill was, I believe, a serious mistake.

Thoughts....

by Senator William Roth

The Senate remains stymied by the dispute over who won the Senatorial election in New Hampshire last November.

At issue is the question not only of representation for the State of New Hampshire and the right of its people to decide such matters for themselves, but also the need for the United States Senate to move ahead so it can deal with important national problems.

The stage was set for the impasse in the Senate when John Durkin, the Democratic candidate, challenged the apparent 355-vote victory
by Louis Wyman, a Republican.

After a recount, Durkin was ruled the winner by a 10-vote margin, but then the state's bi-partisan Ballot Law Commission examined
a number of protested ballots and unanimously declared
Wyman the winner by two votes.

Durkin appealed the decision to the Senate, which referred the matter to its Rules Committee. The Rules Committee deliberated the case all winter but could reach no conclusion, and the matter was turned over to the full Senate, where it has been debated since June 12.

There is no intelligent way for the Senate to decide the election. It involves too many complexities, technicalities, and confused issues.
For example, one question is what to do about "skip ballots" where voters under New Hampshire law mark an "X" at the top of the ballot to designate a straight party vote. In many cases, voters also marked the names of some individual candidates and left others blank. In the past the straight party vote was counted in such cases, unless a line was drawn through the name of a candidate or his name was erased. Now some of these ballots are being contested.

With such technicalities as these to decide, it took the eight-member Senate Rules Committee five months to review 750 ballots. It was unable to reach agreement on 27 ballots.

What should be done is to put the matter once again before the people of New Hampshire in a new election.
That, it seems to me, is the only fair solution. After all, it is the people of New Hampshire who have the most at stake. As a matter of principle, the Senate should not set a precedent by becoming involved in such contests unless there is evidence of fraud or illegality.

The Congress is being criticized by the American people for failing to attend to the nation's business, and the inaction resulting from the New Hampshire dispute makes the Senate especially vulnerable.

The catalog of important,
unfinished business before Congress is long. In the Senate, the impasse over the New Hampshire election has created an intolerable snarl in the legislative process.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir,

The Bowers Beach Bicentennial Committee deserves the support of all Kent Countians for their fine job in raising funds to create a Maritime Museum in Bowers
for the 1976 celebration.
For a small community,
Bowers has already staged very imaginative and worthwhile events to highlight their maritime history, the maritime heritage of our coast, and Kent County folklore in general. Their planned July 4th "Big

Thursday" celebration this year will undoubtedly be another interesting, educational,
and worthwhile event for us all.

I would like to suggest to your readers that they spend some portion of their July 4th observance in Bowers Beach to promote and support the Maritime Museum, and to offer their families and friends a glimpse of our coastal heritage.

G. Daniel Blagg, Chairman
Dover Bicentennial Comm.

It Seems To Me

Have you checked your measurements lately? If your clothes don't fit as well as they used to, possibly your weight has shifted. Those inches have a way of changing, even if weight does not change. So, a periodic check of measurements is a good idea when you sew.

After taking your measurements with an accurate tape measure compare them with a recent size chart for the brand of pattern you most frequently use. You may even find that a different figure type will be better for you.

Few women fit a pattern perfectly. If you need to make many adjustments you may be using the wrong pattern. Consider not only size and figure type, but the style and the brand of pattern, too.

For dress or top patterns, bust size may or may not be a good indication of the size to buy. For many mature women buying by bust size may give a pattern that is too large for the rest of the figure. Try to find a size that gives a good fit through neck and shoulders. Waist and neckline adjustments are easy to make. Even bustline measurements are easier than adjusting fit at neck and shoulders.

Allowing extra width at much extra fullness as you need. You can add as much as an inch extra at each side of most patterns without changing the design lines drastically.

Darts may need to be deepened if the bust is larger than average. Depending on your pattern, this may not be possible unless you allow extra length in the bodice when cutting out the garment.

A common adjustment for the fuller figure is the need to lower bustline darts. A dart is designed to release fabric fullness where it is needed, so the point of the dart should point toward the crown of bust. If you wish to lower the dart an inch, draw new lines parallel to the old ones but an inch lower. Be sure to allow extra width at side seam to allow for the new dart.

Some pattern companies are beginning to lower the bust dart on all patterns, due to the popularity of the natural look.

When making pants or skirts, buy by hip size. It's easy to let out or take in waist to fit your figure.

A good fit is easy today with stretch fabrics, the variety of patterns and loosely-fitted styles. But figures change along with styles and fabrics, so a periodic evaluation of our techniques is a good idea.

Sisters Join Migrant Ministry

A religious order of women has entered the Catholic Diocese of Wilmington to work with migrant farm workers and the rural poor. Three members of the Sisters of St. Francis of Allegheny, Bonaventure, New York, will work fulltime with the farm workers over the next three years. They are living in Milford.

Nine Sisters of St. Joseph, from Pittsburgh, Pa., will spend the summer in the area also to teach, do nursing and social work. One is working out of Ridgely, Md., to serve the upper Eastern Shore. Three are quartered in Westover, Md., and working in Worcester, Wicomico and Somerset counties. Several are working in Dorchester and Talbot counties. A group of college students are assisting them.

The Rev. John Kelly, C.S.S. director of migrant industry for the Catholic Diocese, describes their work as being concerned with the spiritual, social, and economic needs of the farm workers. Part of their work this summer will include a survey to determine the workers' needs and set priorities.

Rev. Kelly, who lives at Our Lady of Lourdes parish, Seaford, is one of three Spanish-speaking Redemptorist priests working under the auspices of the Wilmington Diocese, which extends through the Delaware and Maryland portions of the peninsula.

The migrant ministry is a program of the Delmarva Ecumenical Agency.

Senior Center News

Monday, June 23 - Our Kitchen Band practiced as usual and in the afternoon George Goodge showed slides of Italy, Jerusalem and Israel. Many castles of noted interest were in the program as well as paintings by Michelangelo.

Tuesday we had Bible study with Rev. Huff.

Wednesday, June 25 members of the Center went to Ocean City, Md. We left here about 9:15 and left there around 4 p.m. The day was hot and humid here but everyone reported a very good time. One of the members said he was sure the merchants had to replenish their supply of potato chips and popcorn as everyone bought them all day long. There were 40 in all.

Thursday 26 was National Day with Milford Center paying us a visit with 20 members. They were entertained with the playing of candy bingo.

Friday was open house day for the Center with a covered dish luncheon. Entertainment was furnished by four girls from the Peach Blossom 4-H Club of Farmington with guitar and accordion.

The spotlight this week falls on Mrs. Charlotte Welch, our secretary. She is very capable. She also helps wherever necessary around the Center.

She took over the serving of lunches when Mrs. Hill, our kitchen forelady went to Ocean City with the members last Wednesday.

Charlotte is easy-going and the members all like her and they get along well together; she does her work well and is married with three lovely daughters who look to her for their success. Two of them will be in college this year.

Charlotte is also the financial secretary of the Administrative Board of Asbury Church and is kept busy with her duties in her home as well as her work outside.

This week we had a new leader in bowling with Andy Anderson getting 308 pins. Elbert Stevens had 264. A new bowler at the Center, Fred Littman, also had 264. Jim Koniencki had 212 and Ann Brennan 239, and Margaret Wicks 220 for two games each.

Area Big League Teams Drop Behind

Caesar Rodney High won the Delaware State High School baseball championship this season, so it's no surprise to see Camden-Wyoming leading the northern or National Division of the Kent-Sussex Big League at this writing.

The leaders are 5-2 after beating 1-4 Harrington by a score of 12-4.

Harrington enjoyed a 2-0 lead after two innings, but fell behind 5-3 after three stanzas. The winners tallied seven times in the final two frames to win going away.

Mike McKone and ex-Spartan, Bob Bosco had circuit clouts for Camden-Wyoming.

Wayne Voshell, Rodney Wyatt, Wayne Erne and pitcher Mike McGinnis had the Harrington bingles.

Greenwood trailed 11-1 after five innings, in a contest against American Division leader, Georgetown. Greenwood threw a king-sized scare into the County Seat-ers by tallying seven times in the sixth inning.

Georgetown hung on to win 12-8. Steve Clarkson and Bob Ivory hit home runs for Greenwood.

Minor League

Jerry Wyatt, Glenn Homewood, Dennis Dill, Brian Baker and David Reir-den turned in fine pitching performances as Martin Jarrell Oil Company edged Hi-Grade Dairy 2-0 on Monday. Timely hits by Darin Dell, Kent Weeks, Richard Messick and Mike McColley pushed across the winning runs. Jerry Wyatt, Dennis Dill and Mike Ratledge contributed with a single each for the losers.

HiGrade Dairy defeated Martin Jarrell Oil Company 4-1 on Wednesday. Jimmy Green led the winners with two hits followed by Jerry Wyatt, Glenn Homewood, Troy Dennis and Art Strunk with a hit apiece, Brian Baker and Darin Dell had two hits for the losers while David Reir-den and Dale Dean had one each. John Ottinger, Jimmie Green and Troy Dennis did the pitching for HiGrade. Gary Price, Dale Dean and Darin Dell took turns on the mound for Jarrells.

The Arabians Are Coming

On August 8, 9, 10, 1975 the 5th Annual Delaware All-Arabian Horse Show will be held at the Delaware State Fairgrounds, Harrington. The Region 15 Championships to be held on Friday evening starting at 3:00 p.m. until about 11:00 p.m., and Sunday at 8:30 a.m. until about 5:00 p.m. Price of admission is just $1.00 which is good for the entire show of all three days. Tickets will go on sale at the gate.

Last year's show had 304 horses from all parts of the East Coast and as far away as Florida, Ohio, Michigan, and Maine. There are 17 Region 15 Championship Classes and 85 regular show classes. There is approximately $5,000 worth of prize money, trophies and ribbons to be given away during this three day event.

We have received many new requests this year which tells us that this year should be even bigger than last. We will be having Hunter and Jumper classes this year.

The Arabian Horse is one of the most versatile and most beautiful horses today. For a fun filled weekend come see this show. More information on this show will come later as details are completed. This show is sponsored by the Milford Jaycees along with the guidance of the Arabian Horse Association of Delmarva. It is sanctioned by the International Arabian Horse Association and rated "A" by the American Horse Show Association. This is the primary fund raiser for the Milford Jaycees and the proceeds will be used in the City of Milford and the State of Delaware.

T & M Rout Foes

Taylor and Messick's perennially powerful softball team creamed Ezee Mart 17-4 and scored a rare, slow-pitch shutout by blanking Greenwood Trust 10-0.

The Wednesday contest saw Larry Larimore, Jerry Minner and Don Adams hit for the circuit against Ezee Mart. Larimore had two RBI's. Adams went 4-for-4, scored four times, batted in four runs.

Minner, Ken "Snooky" Collins and Denny Cannon had two hits and two RBI's each. George Lankford hit safely, twice in three tries. Bob Collins got the win.

Bob gave up only two hits in the Greenwood game. Don Calhoun, Don Adams, Leonard Outten and Buddy Powell all had 3-for-4 nights.

Jim Fiblekorn and Jerry Minner went 2-for-4 each, with the latter driving two runs across the plate.

Paul Shupe was the losing pitcher.

Eighty nine girls from across the State representing their respective schools met last week (Monday through Thursday) to participate in the annual Girls' State festivities which is sponsored each year by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Mrs. Merle Roth of Harrington was the Chairman at this year's event.

The purpose of the affair is to acquaint students with the process of government "...see the wheels of government in motion," as some put it. They learned the nack of introducing bills which would be legislated, toured government offices and agencies of the State to learn the modern procedures of government at the State level as well as the County and municipal ways of government.

Lake Forest representatives were Miss Susan Eliason, a senior at Lake Forest High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Eliason of near Harrington, and Miss Debby Crouse, a senior at Lake Forest High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crouse of Felton. Miss Eliason was a Senator and Miss Crouse was a Representative. Miss Eliason served on two Senate Committees, Education and Public Safety. Miss Crouse was the campaign manager for Miss Alice Massimilla of Magnolia who was elected State Attorney General. She gave the nominating speech. In addition Miss Crouse served as the Health Officer for the Little Cities part of the pageant. This part of the Girls' State affair was to introduce some of the girls to the procedure of municipal governments. They also had a talent show night in which her city Rodneyville was selected best talent.

Scout News

A group of Boy Scouts from Troop 76 and Webelos Scouts from Cub Scout Pack 76 spent the past weekend camping and practicing some of the skills which make for safe canoeing and swimming. In addition to the ming. In addition to the important ingredients of fun and safety, the activities provided credit toward the earning of various activity and merit badges.

Participating in the events were Gary Baughman, Scoutmaster of Troop 76 and Scouts Patrick Miller, John Nickle, Frank Strunk, Mike Jones and David Jones. These boys arrived at the campsite, a wooded area on the farm of Nyle Callaway near McCauley's Pond, on Friday evening and stayed until Sunday noon.

On Saturday morning the Boy Scouts were joined by the following group from Cub Scout Pack 76: Warren Bader, Leader; Webelos Scouts Joey Wyatt, Joe Watkinson, Randy Brown, Tommy Lord and Darin Dill; Cub Scouts Scott and Bill Bader, and visitor Larry Kibler. Four of these boys and their leader stayed to camp out Saturday night.

Canoeing and defensive swimming were the order of the day on Saturday. The boys learned how to conduct themselves safely in a canoe and practiced strokes for different maneuvers. They also practiced swamping the canoes and bringing them back safely to shore.

In swimming the Scouts made active use of the Buddy Board and Buddy System to insure safety. This system is used to control a group of swimmers. Each swimmer is rated by ability and is paired with another. Then a constant check is made so that all individuals are accounted for. Some of the Scouts were also able to help the Webelos with their swimming skills.

Assisting in Saturday's activities were Neil Russell, Scoutmaster of Troop 200; Donald Dell, Assistant Cubmaster, and Pat Lord, Den Leader, both of Pack 76.
