

Lake Forest School Board Gets Support On Referendum

There were many topics on the school board agenda on Monday night, but the one which attracted the most discussion regarding the planning for this coming event was the school board referendum which will be voted on November 12th. School Board President Albert C. Price read aloud a letter to the Board from Charles Miller, a high school math and physics teacher and currently President of the Lake Forest Education Association, which praised the Board for recognizing the need for additional facilities and taking the step forward in an attempt to achieve this need. After that endorsement, other groups joined in like the Parents Advisory Board and the Student Council. Mrs. Carole Glasspool, a member of the Parents Advisory Board, which high school principal William Griffin organized last year in an effort to acquaint the parents with the every day problems of the school and its administrators, expressed a real need to educate the public. This group meets the first Thursday of each month. Miss Barbara Richter, a high school student at Lake Forest and a member of the Student Council, came before the School Board to express an endorsement by the Student Council of the referendum as proposed by the School Board.

Charles Miller, President of Lake Forest Educational Association, at Monday night's school board meeting endorsing the referendum.

The planning discussion "just sort of developed at this board meeting." Mrs. Glasspool said that she felt it was the duty of her group to educate the public on what the new construction will cost the taxpayer in dollars and cents when it comes to taxes. Mrs. Glasspool also declared "that there was a real need to overcome the apathy which exists in the district when discussions begin on the referendum." The central issue with Mr. Miller, the Education Association representative, with Mrs. Glasspool, and with Miss Richter all representing different groups was that there was a real need for additional space due to the overcrowded situations which exist at the high school, and to accomplish the end it would be necessary to bring the issue to the public and educate them on what it is all about.

School Board member E. B. Warrington, Jr., who was recently reelected to another term, came forth with a concrete proposal to the Board, which they adopted. Warrington suggested that the School Board conduct a meeting in the near future and invite former school board members, ranking representatives of the Athletic Boosters Club and the Band Boosters Club, Mayors of the three communities in the District (Frederica, Felton, and Harrington) and others who might be called upon by the general public to answer certain questions pertaining to the referendum...school expansion, costs, taxes and the like. It was agreed to by the Board that Tuesday next, the 28th day of October, this group of people comprised of several different groups would be invited to the high school during the hours of 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. for lunch. The crowded conditions as they exist at the high school could then be appreciated. Later that evening there would be a combined meeting of these groups in the high school cafeteria in order to organize and plan ways to better reach the general public about questions as they relate to the referendum.

Growing out of this discussion regarding the referendum, other matters were brought to bear on the overall discussion. It was learned that the State has recently passed into law legislation proclaiming how an architect for this type of construction will be chosen. Architects will be advertised for their participation in the proposed drafting of plans for the construction of the additional buildings. This as Melvin Luff, Deputy Superintendent, pointed out is an approach to competitive bidding. An old State law forbids the bidding to go over 6 percent of the overall cost of the project. Some

Albert C. Price, President of the L.F. School Board reading a letter endorsing the upcoming referendum.

Board members had expressed an idea that maybe the bid would be held to 4 and 1/2 percent. Under this new rule, the School Board may appoint a committee to screen the three best architects. The Lake Forest School Board elected to act as a committee as a whole. The entire Board will do the screening. Luff expressed the feeling that perhaps the key to the whole thing would be what an architect could and would provide in the way of services as opposed to monetary comparables.

In other matters before the Board, the budget for the coming year (1975 - 1976) was adopted. This figure which amounted to $4,384,133 was the figure after the approximate amount of 2 percent (actually more like 1.7 percent) was refunded to the State government under the recent order by Governor Tribbitt that each District must cut its budget by

2 percent. Albert W. Adams, Superintendent of Lake Forest School District, announced to the Board that despite the size of the budget, the school district is solvent. These budgetary figures include salaries, maintenance, operating expenses, and the like. The exact amount which was refunded to the State was $58,270.

The Board adopted for the first time a salary schedule for aides. These figures vary from $3,000 for no experience and no high school diploma, to $4,700 per year with 4 or more years experience and a college degree in a related field.

The Board also gave approval to subsidize a group of students instructed by Mr. Newman up to $1,000 in the Presidential Classroom studies. This was also done last year.

Car Theft Investigated Robbery Investigation Continues

Police are still investigating the attempted robbery of the L & D Electronics here Friday, October 10. At the time, two suspects were interrupted during the loading of a green Chevrolet van, the reported stolen property of Steve Billings of Milford.

Corporal Royce Purcell frightened off the two persons who had already loaded $15,000 worth of entertainment equipment into the van that was parked behind the shopping center.

Footprints were located behind the building and other evidence was uncovered, but no leads at this writing have been discovered.

Harrington City Police are investigating a burglary and car theft at the Wilson Records Auto Sales of U.S. 13. Sometime early Monday morning, the office was broken into and the keys to a 1970 Chevelle were obtained and the car was driven away. The thieves left a 1968 Ford Thunderbird on the lot. The thunderbird had been stolen from a lot in the Dover area.

Harrington Lumber & Supply Is In Merger

One of the few remaining third generation owned Milford corporations has announced a reorganization merger of seven corporations into two - N. B. Downing Co. and the Harrington Lumber & Supply Co.

The N. B. Downing Co. will now consist of the former three oil corporations, the Downing Heating and Air Conditioning Co., and the Capitol Shopping Center in Dover. In addition, Downing Engineering was merged with Harrington Lumber & Supply Co. to form the second corporation.

The former three oil companies will trade under the name of Downing Oil Co.

They have locations in Milford, Harrington and Dover. The Downing Heating & Air Conditioning division will continue its service from the Milford location.

W. Bernard Clements was recently elected president of the merged corporations. He made the announcement of the mergers last week.

The firm first operated as a wood cabinet mill on Causey Avenue before Richard's grandfather, N. B. Downing, first incorporated in 1912 and built a mill and offices on Jefferson Avenue where its offices are presently located.

Richard's father, Clarence, and his uncle, Fulton Downing, operated the business after their father retired.

Downing Oil Co. serves customers from Dover to Bridgeville through three locations.

Downing Construction Co., under its former name of Downing Engineering, has constructed shopping centers throughout the Delmarva Peninsula as well as many other types of commercial and private types of local construction projects. It also built the Capitol Shopping Center on the DuPont Highway in Dover, which it continues to own and operate.

According to Mr. Clements, a newly formed board of directors will consist of himself, Richard Downing and Hayes Dickerson.

November Referendum Could Provide Needed Room

Would Ease Squeeze

Voters in the Lake Forest School District will decide the fate of the students for years to come as they cast votes for or against the referendum that will call for additions to Lake Forest High School and the Lake Forest North Elementary School at Felton.

At the high school the referendum voters will be voting for or against a 36,000 square foot addition to include eight classrooms, one science laboratory, an industrial arts shop, a 6000 foot expansion of the gymnasium, which would include dressing rooms, showers, and storage, and an auditorium with a 1200 person capacity. Projected plans for the auditorium would also include several instructional areas for large classes.

The present high school was too small when it was built, but nearly adequate at the time. Now, the school, designed for 750, houses 1173 according to official district figures. "There is no way this school is going to get back down to what the school can handle," says William Griffin, high school principal. According to Griffin, traditionally the secondary school's enrollment will be higher, partially due to repeaters and with people moving into the school district. Next year, he continued the enrollment "will go to 1220, to about 1250 the following year. We may reach as many as 1275 in 1978, after that I would predict it will remain stable for the next three to five years."

When asked about portable classrooms to help ease the overcrowding, Griffin responded that the state legislature had to approve these and they would not do so. The one portable unit at W.T. Chipman is federally funded and was not provided for or obtained by the state legislature.

With the elective system in the high school and the special education programs that require class space, it is not feasible to "cram 30 kids in every room" says Melvin Luff, assistant superintendent of the school district, he told the Journal Tuesday "Stresses are being placed on the students at the high school that may interfere with their educational opportunity. I think the stress factor is something overlooked," Luff continued.

At the high school, home-rooms have had to be scheduled in the cafeteria, in laboratories with delicate equipment, and classes have been "meeting in strange places" which includes scheduling home economics classes in mathematics rooms. The gymnasium, which is to have a maximum of three classes, is regularly scheduling four classes at once.

There is no place a class meeting can be held nor are there regular places for the choral groups or the band to rehearse. School assemblies are impossible.

According to state formula, there must be 137,000 square feet of space for every 1000 students. The ratio at Lake Forest High School is 1175 to 99,000 square feet.

School officials are not looking much beyond the referendum at this point and were reluctant to talk about

Warned About Calif. Firm

The Better Business Bureau of Delaware again cautions Delaware residents against doing business with "California Probate Research and Document Service." The firm is mailing solicitations all over the country to people with the same last name as someone who died in California without leaving a will.

This company saturated the area in August of last year by sending letters to people with the last names of Wilson, Smith, Roberts and Jones. Calls to the BBB office indicate that the company is now sending the letters to people with last names of Palmer, Miller, Howard and Nelson.

While it is possible that the named deceased actually left an estate, the possibility of those solicited being true heirs is extremely remote. Past experience has been that the only ones to collect anything have been the promoters.

It does not appear that there has been any research done as far as the individuals are concerned as to religion, relationship, or color. Only meager "come-on" information is given in a form letter, but there is an offer of further disclosure and a supply of necessary forms for a fee of $9.88.

For further information call the Better Business Bureau of Delaware at 652-3833 or 1-800-292-9582 (for Kent and Sussex County residents).

Farmers Reminded of Oct. 28 Deadline

Only a few days remain to nominate farmers as candidates in the upcoming ASC community committee elections, reminds J. Heyman Roosa, Chairman.

First duty of the newly elected community committee members will be to serve as delegates to elect new members to the county ASC committee. Roosa reminds producers that this is an important occasion for the responsible, farmer-chosen team of ASC community committees.

The ASC community committee election will be conducted by mail from Nov. 21 to Dec. 1. By turning in a total of six or more petitions, farmers in each ASC community have the opportunity to prepare the slate of nominees themselves. Roosa hopes that farmers will submit enough valid petitions to fill the slate.

On Dean's List

Richard Cornish Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cornish of Pearl River, has been named to the Dean's List at Boston University. He is in his third year of the six-year medical program at the school.

Richard also received the highest score in his class when taking the M.C.A.T. test which is given to medical students only.

He is the grandson of Mr. George Cornish, formerly of Harrington. The Cornish family dates back before the Civil War in the Harrington area. They maintain a summer home near Whitesburg.

Shortly after Oct. 28, all petitions will be reviewed. If six or more valid petitions have been received for an ASC community, the county ASCS office will prepare a slate containing the names of all eligible nominees. If less than six valid petitions are received for any ASC community, the job of slate completion will be turned over to the incumbent community committee, which will add nominees needed to complete the slate.

One of the most exciting concerts of the season is set for November 7th, in the Milford High School Theatre. The Preservation Hall Jazz Band of New Orleans, Louisiana, will be here for a history-making appearance. The band is made up of the people who actually created the music: the men who were there when marches and quadrilles and blues and spirituals and ragtime were all merged into "Jazz".

Is Going To Do What He Wants On His 90th

Approximately 100 friends and relatives were on hand Sunday afternoon to help Mr. Simeon V. Bullock celebrate his 90th birthday. The celebration was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Messick by Mrs. Marie Messick, Mr. Bullock's daughter.

Mr. Bullock was born October 21, 1885 near Harrington. The only surviving member of the family born to John and Eliza Bullock, he says he has farmed all his life. He attended Thomas School near Whitesburg at a time when there were no graded classes or any attendance requirements. "You just went to school until you got ready to quit."

Hard work has been the major factor of life. He recalls coming to the mill here when he was "a little tacker. I would have had to stay home and work" says Bullock, had he been large enough. It was he who stayed on the farm after his older brothers and sister left home. He stayed with both parents until their deaths.

One Sunday afternoon he drove out in the Felton countryside and saw a girl in the front yard of a farm. He stopped and soon afterwards began courting Elizabeth Cahall. Although his bride was thirteen years younger, their marriage has lasted for 58 years. Their family now includes seven children, 16 grandchildren and 22 great grandchildren.

A physically active man, Mr. Bullock has never had many sick days. The only time he has had to go to the doctor was when he cut his foot with a lawn mower. He attributes his health to clean living...he doesn't drink or smoke, goes to bed early and gets up early. The Bullocks reportedly are up around 6 a.m. and retire by 8:30 or 9:00 p.m. He has a full head of hair, doesn't read with glasses and is a big eater. "We're old fashioned," reports Mrs. Bullock, when asked what types of foods they eat. "He doesn't like that mess" she remarked when asked if her husband eats casseroles.

The Bullocks grow much of the food they eat. They have a large garden, which both tend, and which Mr. Bullock plants using the signs. He also cares for the yard and the grape arbour that they view out of their kitchen window.

An avid reader, Mr. Bullock is currently reading a February edition of the Delaware Digest in which an old account of Harrington is given. He remembers it all, he says.

Besides talking with the Journal and reading his paper, he remarked on Tuesday "I don't believe I'll do anything today, it's my birthday."

Condition Is Still Serious

Francis Wooters, who was admitted to Milford Memorial Hospital September 28 and later transferred to the Delaware Division, Wilmington remains in a coma after being operated on for a blood clot of the brain, which she allegedly received during a beating. Her husband, Clarence Wooters, was arrested on charges of assault in the first degree for the alleged beating.

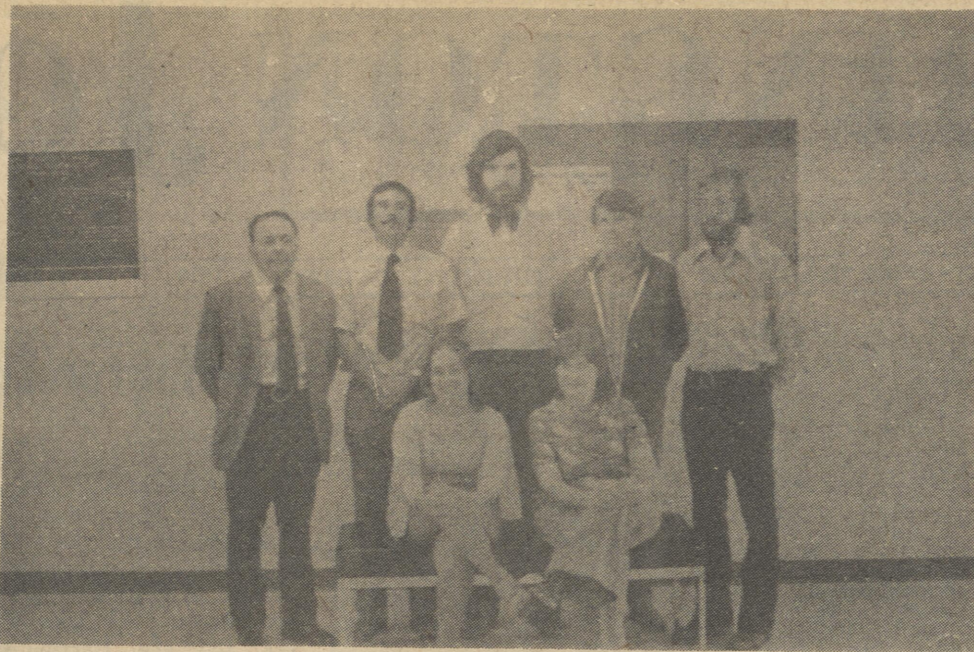

Of Local Interest

Ed. note: Mrs. Edythe Hearn, longtime writer of the Of Local Interest column, underwent anticipated surgery at the Milford Memorial Hospital last week and was released Tuesday. She will be recuperating at her home and will be contacting the contributors of this column in the near future. We hope her recuperation is speedy.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. B. Mann of Dorman Street have returned from a ten day trip of the southeastern seacoast, primarily concentrating their tour to South Carolina. Among their stops were Elizabeth City, S.C.; Nags Head and Kitty Hawk, N.C.; Cape Hatteras, N.C. and Charleston, S.C. They toured Charleston for three days, and were in the city when the citizens staged bicentennial tableaux, which the Manns found of special interest. They also toured Roanoke Island, N.C., to view the location of the Lost Colony.

A surprise birthday dinner was given Mrs. Lyda Thorpe at her home Sunday by her family and friends. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Dickerson, Elkton, Md., Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, Bel Air, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, Centerville, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dean; Mrs. Shelia Schreiber; Mrs. Marion Dean, of Greensboro, Md.; Mrs. Agnes Klapp and Bruce; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Simpson, Jr. and Stacy; Walter Moffet, Leslie Kemp, Mrs. Lizzie Simpson of Harrington; Mrs. and Mrs. William C. Copper, Marshall, Debbie and Billy of Hillsboro, Md.; Bruce Jones of Cordova, Md.; and David Smith of Grasonville, Md.; and Mrs. Dennis Starkey, Philip and Paul of Chestertown, Md.

Greenwood

By Pat Hatfield

On Sunday Greenwood United Methodist Church celebrated its 95th anniversary and Homecoming service. Special music was presented in the form of a duet by the Rev. Everett Isaacs and his wife, Catherine, and also by the Junior and Senior choirs. Rev. Isaacs was the speaker.

After the service everyone was invited to the Fellowship Hall to enjoy the lovely dinner provided by the ladies of the church. The chairperson for this week was Mrs. Edward Snyder, president of the Greenwood United Methodist Women. She, with her capable helpers, fed the enormous crowd bountifully and well. The Rev. Miss Muriel C. Smith, a former pastor was present and gave the blessing for the meal. Another former pastor, the Rev. Frank Baynard and his wife were also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Erbes of Reed City, Michigan have been spending several days with the Cannons. The Erbes, together with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cannon, Mrs. Norman Cannon's sister and brother-in-law, were guests of Anne and Mary Cannon in Wilmington to celebrate Anne's birthday.

Mrs. Norman Cannon was appointed to the Governor's Council on Public Education as Public Member-at-large.

Guests of Mrs. Lester Workman last Tuesday were Mrs. Blanche Perry and Mrs. Eddie Worm of Preston, Md.

On Thursday Mrs. Helen Workman visited Mrs. Grace Brown and her mother near Harrington.

Notice to Greenwood residents: Halloween will be observed on Friday, October 31. Trick or Treat will be limited to 12 year olds and under and will curtailed at 9 a.m.

Correction

Houston will celebrate Trick or Treat Thursday, October 30, not the 31st, as reported last week.

UNICEF Campaign Will Be Oct. 30

The annual campaign for UNICEF in Harrington will be October 30, Thursday, immediately following the dismissal of school at the Century Club on Dorman St.

UNICEF, created in 1946, helps 111 countries, 40 of them are in Africa. Did you realize that Africa is almost four times the size of the United States? There are approximately 158 million children living there. Just 5c will cure one child of Trachoma, 50c will protect seven children from Malaria for a year, and just $1 will protect 60 children against Tuberculosis.

Last year, 100 children and approximately 30 mothers helped with this terribly needed cause. The children covered 25 routed areas and collected $157.19 in about an hour's time.

Registration, tagging children before they leave the premises, distribution of UNICEF boxes, drivers, money counters and refreshments are all a part of this job. We hope more will help support this drive financially and/or with their presence this year. The Girl Scouts, the Brownies, and the Sunshine 4-H groups have helped in the past years and have again offered to help this year. If your group would like to help, please call Mrs. K.P. Outten 398-3860

Monday was rehearsal for the Jolly Timers, 10:30 to 11:30. Thirty members attended the membership meeting in the afternoon.

November 21 has officially been set for the Christmas Bazaar with Elbert Stevens as Chairperson. He has been appointing his committees for the occasion. This will be a good place to buy your Christmas gifts. Don't forget the date.

We have five members on the sick list who have been hospitalized. All were reported getting along good at this writing.

Tuesday some of the members went shopping at the Blue Hen Mall.

Wednesday the members worked on Ceramics and handcraft getting ready for Christmas Bazaar. In the afternoon we played Paper bag Bingo.

Thursday George Gooch showed a film of Mexico. The film showed all kinds of sports such as bull fights and tall pole dancing, modern buildings, beautiful market places, restaurants, parks with happy people on all sides, marlin fishing for the fisherman, glass blowing, and under water pictures of beauty and excitement. Some of the buildings were of Spanish design. Everyone enjoyed it.

Friday was Bible study with Mrs. Clara Judy as the speaker. Bowling in the afternoon with Jim Keenecki high man with 290, Elbert Stevens 253, Andy Anderson 219, Ann Brennen 243, and Fred Littmann 219. Some other members came close to the 200 mark this time.

This week the spotlight falls on another member who lives on West Mispillion St. She volunteers her time for kitchen work and is well liked by all. She knows what it means to be a friend to everyone. Elma Thorpe had one child and lost it four or five years ago. She lost her husband several years ago. She attends the AME Church with the Rev. Huff her pastor. She also teaches one of the Sunday classes.

"...don't be penny wise and pound foolish". Next month the Lake Forest School District faces a crucial test when the referendum vote is called. Because of crowded classrooms and "kids after kids after kids" coming up each year, the need for more space has been sharply raised.

Be it far from me to set out in the small space allowed me here to try to persuade you one way or the other on how you should vote. The important point is to GET OUT AND VOTE.

The single overriding question which most of us turn over in our minds "is what is it going to cost me in the way of taxes". Well...the answer is simply not much. Coming from me an answer like that would not mean much and would not be convincing either. There will be people connected with the school district who can give your question in depth consideration. Ask them...for they can tell you what you need to know in making up your mind.

I shall on the other hand study out the probabilities in the alternative in this debate. Again with an open mind not designed to lean one way or the other, I would wonder about our future if we failed to take steps to correct the problem in our school district. What will cost us in the end if we fail solve the current problem of tomorrow. We should always strive to provide the best by addressing ourselves to the needs and to the problems. Failing to do so will not as a matter of law cause the problem to be eliminated or the needs abated. If anything, it only tends to compound the problem.

So...as Benjamin Franklin stated "...don't be penny wise and pound foolish..." for costs alone are not and never will be the single controlling issue in matters of this or related nature. It is true that they are vital and relative, but by trying to save pennies, when it is illogical to do so, may in the long run cost us many thousands of dollars. Don't be caught short. Find out the facts in this referendum matter, acquaint yourself with the issues, base your judgment accordingly, and BE SURE TO VOTE AT THE REFERENDUM.

Referendum...

Judgement Required

There will be much written and discussed about the referendum to be held November 12 in the Lake Forest School District. Referendums have not fared especially well in this or in other school districts in Delaware, because it is just about the only opportunity the voter has to say no to what many times he values above all else...his pocket book. During the past referendum a paltry turn out of approximately 700 persons voted. There are over 6000 eligible to vote for this referendum.

It would be ridiculous to assume that everyone eligible to vote will do so. To vote in the referendum one has to be a bonified resident of the school district. To decide for or against the referendum is not as simple.

Those directly involved in the educational process in this school district feel there is a dire need to add to the existing high school, which was not large enough when it was built to accommodate the student body then. Why? Stupid or inadequate planning? Not so, say school officials. It was all the voters would permit at the time.

Already many rumors are circulating about the situation and what is or is not being done to alleviate the overcrowding. As they arise, they will be either confirmed or denied. Among those we have heard are that the referendum is for a gymnasium only or that it includes an administration building. Not true. Ninth grade students will be bused to W.T. Chipman next year. Rumor. The school is filled to capacity now. Rumor has it there are vacant classrooms in the school district. Teachers and administrators deny this.

Is the referendum needed? It is up to the voter to decide. It is the voter's responsibility to become informed to respond to the grave responsibility of deciding the educational future of the young people of the Lake Forest school District. As the old song goes, "somewhere, sometime, somehow, something's gotta give."

Once Over Lightly

By Margo Farrow

It is often entertaining and always enlightening to me when I get a glimpse of the world through the eyes of a child. This past weekend while talking with my son David, I realized how the bicentennial was reaching him, a little indirectly. We were talking about school and the subject of his teacher and aide's ages arose. "Well, mommy," he confided, "she's 1976." For the sake of all, I will not reveal to whom he was referring.

A sign glimpsed on the back of a tractor trailer with New Jersey license as it passed me to tailgate another vehicle in the left hand lane... "An unguarded minute has an accident in it." A must for the fall season for nature lovers and Sunday afternoon drivers is the return of the Canadian geese to the Bombay Hook Wildlife Refuge. Located north east of Dover and just south of Smyrna, one can drive through back country roads and appreciate the foliage as well as literally thousands of the Canadian geese and an occasional snow goose. It is almost necessary to stop the car and watch these creatures, especially if they are near one of the several ponds and waterways there. Their antics are worth the trip. Children of all ages can enjoy them.

Be careful to avoid what we did on our first trip to the refuge several years ago... we stopped and watched a field through our binoculars for about five minutes, as several cars passed by, before we realized we were looking at a field of decoys.

Weekly Report

by Senator Joseph Biden

It's been months, and Congress is still debating the energy crisis in America.

In the Senate, the latest debate opened nearly a month ago on the question of assuring supplies of natural gas, and there still has not been a final resolution of the issue.

I must admit that I have some definite ideas on the subject. I think that we need a rational system for pricing our own domestic supplies of both petroleum and natural gas. That was why I was one of the sponsors of an amendment to the current bill which would have placed a $9 ceiling on the price on newly-discovered U.S. oil. The proposal would also have allowed the price of "old" oil (basically, that discovered and developed before the Arab oil embargo) to gradually rise, over a five-year period, to the $9 ceiling. Old oil is now selling at about $5.25 a barrel, while "new" oil (which is not regulated) sells for over $12 a barrel.

My proposal would also have done one other thing: it would have tied the price of natural gas to the price of oil on the basis of the BTU (British Thermal Unit -- a measurement of energy) equivalency of the two fuels.

These, it seems to me, are the essential ingredients for a rational, long-range system for pricing the production of our own oil and natural gas. Such a plan would provide sufficient profit to encourage development of new oil resources. It would gradually eliminate the present "two-price" system for domestic oil. And it would provide a fair measure for pricing natural gas, which is crucial if we are to avoid shortages in the long-run. Delaware, especially, is dependent for thousands of jobs in its petrochemical industry on supplies of natural gas, which is why I also am proposing legislation to give the petrochemical industry a priority for allocation of natural gas when shortages occur. The proposal would insure the industry gets a priority for natural gas after homes, emergency services and agriculture.

We may not be able to control the price Saudi Arabia charges for its oil. But we sure can control the price of our own oil -- and I think it is essential that we do so. Total deregulation would mean a dramatic increase in prices, and that would lead to further inflation and the loss of jobs. We cannot afford it, and that's why we need a rational pricing system.

I will continue to support efforts which will insure long-range U.S. petroleum supplies with the least amount of economic disruption.

Thoughts

by Senator William Roth

Crime is a problem that touches all America. There is scarcely a citizen who does not find his life touched by crime or the fear of crime.

Especially vulnerable are the elderly and handicapped. They are all too frequently an "easy mark" subject to purse snatching, personal assaults, rapes, and mugging. Many senior citizens are virtual prisoners in their own homes because they are afraid to venture out of doors. Studies have shown that fear of crime is the most serious problem confronting the elderly.

Our senior citizens are vulnerable because (1) older people are not as strong physically and are less able to resist attackers and defend themselves without undue risks to their own well-being; (2) potential criminals recognize the frailties of age and with it increased vulnerability; (3) older people are more likely to live alone and are generally more isolated; (4) there is a greater likelihood that older people will live in high-crime neighborhoods, which increases the chances of their being repeatedly victimized; (5) the dates when pension checks, social security payments and other income are received are well known to the potential criminal; thus, it is generally known when cash or sums of money are in the possession of the elderly.

These are all reasons why I feel that there should be a special distinction when personal crimes are committed against the elderly. It's time for our criminal justice system to recognize this.

I am preparing legislation which calls for mandatory prison sentences for offenders committing personal crimes against our senior citizens. Punishment must be swift and sure for the dangerous felon. It must be swift and sure for the offender who has singled out the elderly or the handicapped as his next victim.

Imposing mandatory prison sentences will aid in the reduction of crime. I am convinced that jails and prisons do serve as deterrents to crime.

When judges are required to carry out sentences and offenders know that they will be carried out, you can be sure that a would-be offender is more likely to become a would-not-offender. You can be sure that quick and certain punishment will serve as a deterrent and will help assure the safety of the majority of our citizens who are law-abiding.

the possibility of split shift scheduling. This, for those who have not experienced severe overcrowding before, is where the student body is divided into two shifts, the school is from 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from then to 5:30 p.m. "This means students either come to school or go home in the dark," says Griffin, who has experienced split scheduling in New Jersey. At the moment, the school district is not talking about split shift scheduling.

Another nonmentionable at the moment is the evaluation at the high school, which is scheduled for 1977. Griffin pointed out that evaluation accreditation would be seriously impeded if the crowding situation is not being taken care of by the time of the evaluation. A twenty-five percent figure over capacity almost automatically cuts you out, says Griffin. Current enrollment is forty percent above capacity. Students graduating from a nonaccredited high school will have serious problems entering schools of higher learning. Ivy League colleges will not accept students from nonaccredited high school, says Griffin. At the moment the high school is accredited.

At Lake Forest North, a 2,000 foot addition to the cafeteria will be voted upon. The maximum capacity for the cafeteria now is 196. The 845 students in kindergarten through grade six are eating home 10:45 a.m. to 12:50 p.m. in six shifts.

Principal Frank Young told the Journal he has experienced scheduling problems because of the small cafeteria.

"Children learn best in the morning right after breakfast until about 11:30 a.m. We're taking that receptive time away from the classrooms," Young also said he's having to schedule art and physical education in the morning, subjects better for youngsters in the afternoon.

There are "no allowances for people with special problems or slow eaters. No body dares not leave late or early. When your time's up you have to go" says lousie Fisher, cafeteria manager. The referendum will ask voters to vote for a tax increase of possible seven to ten cents, which would raise the current rate from $1.07 to $1.14 to $1.17 per $100 of assessed property value. This is in keeping with the quality of education the school officials feel the district should have.

Do thoughts of diminishing forests and wildlife polluted water, littered landscape, and ravished soils turn you smog-green? Want a full-time job helping preserve and build forest areas? Then look into the occupation of forestry aid - an important worker in the conservation field.

Forestry aids work as part of a large team to protect, develop, and manage natural resources. Specially, forestry aids (called forestry technicians at higher levels) assist foresters in managing forest lands and forest resources.

Duties include marking trees for cutting, and collecting and recording tree heights, diameters, and depths. Aids study and record the amount of rainfall and soil moisture. They may also assist road survey crews. Much of a forestry aid's work is strenuous physical labor, such as digging holes and chopping trees.

Forestry aids also help instruct citizens in fire prevention. If a forest fire does occur, aids lead the fire-fighting crews. Afterwards, they take inventory of damaged areas and plant new trees and shrubs.

The most recent figures show about 13,000 people employed as forestry aids. Almost 7,200 of them worked for state and Federal governments, primarily for lumber, logging, paper milling companies.

One way to qualify is through on-job experience in forest work (at least two seasons for Federal jobs).

This might include summer jobs planting trees or fighting fires. Another way to become an aid and probably the best for future advancement is through a formal one or two-year training program offered by about 70 technical institutes, community and junior colleges, and universities having special ranger schools. Courses include forest mensuration (measurement of the size and number of trees and shrubs), wood utilization and silvaculture (methods of growing and improving forest crops), surveying, report writing, and first aid. To gain practical experience, students may also live in a forest or camp run by the school.

Annual earnings for forestry aids range from $5,000 to almost $11,000 a year - highest salaries go to those with many years experience. In Federal jobs, beginning forestry aids earn between $5,000 and $7,000 a year, depending on education and experience. Starting salaries in private industry are similar. Job openings for forestry aids are expected to rise rapidly through the 1970's.

Open Letter To Chipman Parents

Dear Parents,

In general I have been disappointed with the results of the test on study skills and methods. It would seem that a great deal of difficulty came from failure to follow directions. However, it is obvious that some students are simply not ready, or willing, to take the responsibility for their own progress in school. It appears that some are acting defensively by not trying. How can you fail if you don't try? I was surprised at the large number of students who replied "parents" to the following fill-in-blanks statement:

In my opinion it is the responsibility of every (parent, or student) to see that homework gets done.

Obviously, I could not mark either choice wrong because it was an opinion question, but what are the children really telling us?

The people who give us advice on how to raise responsible children make much of doing away with punishment and letting natural consequences enter the picture, have their sway, so to speak. You might ask yourself whether you make a practice of letting your child experience natural consequences or whether you feel that it is your duty, as a good parent, to make the child do what you think he should...for his (or her) own good. In reality what you may be doing is undermining your child's self-confidence and inviting his continued dependency by your preventing him from experiencing natural consequences. I must explain that one test item did not trigger all these comments. I guess it just gave me an excuse to call to your attention some things that I think we all need to consider fairly often when we are dealing with young people. It is such a temptation to demonstrate our own expertise in handling most any situation that we must be on guard lest we limit other people's opportunities for growth.

Back to the test: Under the extra credit part of the test I asked for "at least one suggestion for improving or making more interesting this part of the guidance information". (Study skills, etc.) There were some very good suggestions, but most of these were not very specific. If your child suggested a game, encourage him to work it through and present it to me at a later date, whenever he gets it worked out.

The next part of our work will deal with self-concept. "Who am I?" I shall discuss various aspects of this in more detail as we go along. In general, however, we will be considering ways in which all people are alike and ways in which each person is unique and special. I hope that these classroom experiences will enable each student to become more accepting of himself and of others. I hope each student will be encouraged to explore ways of meeting his needs in socially acceptable ways. In addition to these things, it is my hope that each student will give some thought as to what his goals in life are, what he hopes to get out of life, what is really important to him (or her) as a person.

While I was pleased that so many of you were able to attend the Open House last week, I was disappointed not to get to talk with more of you. Please do not hesitate to let me know if there is any way in which I can be of help to your son or daughter.

Sincerely,
Sarah S. Webb

4-H Club News

Oct. 24 - Pumpkin Decorating Contest Deadline, Substation, 4 p.m.

Nov. 9 - International Foods Day, Substation, 2 p.m.

Nov. 11 - Leaders Meeting, Substation, 7:30 p.m.

Rain did not dampen the spirit of the 24 clubs from Kent and Sussex Counties that participated in our 1975 4-H parade. We had 13 floats, 9 marching units, 2 bicycle units, and three individual entries. The parade was held in Milford and led off by the W.T. Chipman Jr. Band.

Trophies were presented to the following clubs and individuals for first place honors in their division: Float - Double T 4-H Club, Dover; Marching - Dublin Hill Club, Bridgeville; Bicycle - Millsboro Hardy Helpers, Millsboro; Individual - Joe Houtman, Bridgeville Wildcats Club.

The 4-H clowns, which passed out candy and 4-H balloons along the way, were Yolanda Blackwell, Bridgeville Pioneers and Kenny Willing, Dublin Hill.

This is one of the best ways our 4-H program has of showing its enthusiasm for our program and telling its story.

An International Foods Day will be held on November 9, beginning at 2 p.m. at the University of Delaware Substation. This is the second year for this event which we hope will be an afternoon of educational entertainment for all of those who participate. Each 4-H'er will prepare a dish from the country he or she chooses to represent. All of the dishes must have a place card with the name of the recipe in that country's language. It is suggested that each 4-H'er come in their country's attire. Each participant may bring a guest. We hope to be able to have at least one A.F.S. student to come and some 4-H Foreign Exchange Students to present a program to the group. If you are interested in participating, return the entry form (found in your October Newsletter) by October 29th.

Careers Day will be held on Saturday, November 8 at the University of Delaware, Ag Hall, Newark, Delaware. The program is directed to high school students and their parents interested in exploring career opportunities in agricultural sciences. Any one wishing further information may contact the County Extension Office at 856-5250.

Club meetings for next week are: Broadkill Kool Kats on Monday; Milford Kit Kats on Tuesday; and Trinity Tigers on Wednesday.

Felton Annual Back To School Night Is A Success

Several hundred parents and relatives turned out Tuesday night for the annual "back to School Night at Felton". The night is designed to permit parents to become better acquainted with their children's teacher. It is also designed to inform the parent of the type of instruction the child receives. Reading and math were especially emphasized.

The parents all met in the auditorium where the new teachers at North Elementary were introduced. Then the parents toured the classrooms. A bicentennial movie was shown in the cafeteria for some of the school children to watch as their parents toured the classrooms. All classrooms were ornately decorated with holiday trimmings for Halloween.

One of the new additions to the school and one which drew much attention was the Learning Center. The coordinator for the center is the William Comer, who is known in the district for his directing many musical productions at the school. The Learning Center teachers also included: Mrs. Eller, perceptual-motor and handwriting. Mrs. Redman, math. Mrs. Butcavage, reading. Mrs. Stoops, Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Williamson, Semi-Self Contained, and Mrs. Simmons, language arts. The Learning Center is designed to help children who have special learning problems in one or more areas. The Administration holds that the center is open to the general public, and may be available to adults for visitation by calling the school to arrange an appointment.

It was also announced that Mrs. Jane Singleton and Mr. William Comer will present their annual faculty play "Anna Bell Broom, the Unhappy Witch" on January 14th, 15th and 16th. The proceeds from the play will go to purchase effective lighting for the stage.

This year's "Book Fair" was held on October 20th through the 23rd. During the open house, many books were displayed on the tables in the library for the visitors to select. Proceeds from this event go directly to the library for operation.

It was also announced that Mrs. Jane Singleton will present the Christmas Program on Wednesday, December 17th at 7:30 p.m.

Magnolia Couple Compose Music For Poem

"Heaven's Very Special Child" - words and music by Edna Massimilla of Magnolia, has just been published by This Is Our Life Publishing Company, Box 21, Hatboro, Pa.

The music is new, and the lyric is from the poem of the same name, which describes the philosophy of those to whom a retarded child has been entrusted. This poem was printed by Ann Landers in her syndicated column last fall, and the Massimilla received over 3000 letters from parents and friends of handicapped and retarded children. Copies of the song are available from the publishers or by contacting Rev. and Mrs. John A. Massimilla. They have also recently compiled a book called This Is Our Life concerning retarded persons. It has been made available at $1 per copy through the same publishers.

It Seems To Me

by Janet Reed

How do you store your sewing supplies? There comes a time when you need to discard old supplies and reorganize your sewing area. It's easy to accumulate so may odds and ends that valuable time is wasted looking for supplies you have stored away.

First of all, discard all those items that you are not likely to use again. An assortment of colored threads is handy to have when you suddenly need a specific color. But cotton threads do deteriorate in time and may not have their original strength. Use up your oldest threads first. They can be used for inside seams, even if the color isn't exactly right.

Styles in notions change, too. We don't use much seam tape anymore, and I have a number of bolts or partial bolts taking up valuable storage space. I really haven't come up with a good use for old seam tape, though. If you have, let me know.

Trimmings, too, tend to accumulate. These can be donated to groups that do service sewing or sew for Christmas bazaars. Mothers who sew for young children often make good use of trims suitable for children's clothes. Maybe you could fashion a wall hanging or collage for your sewing room made up with odds and ends from your sewing supplies.

Sewing gadgets you no longer use are not likely to be used again. Throw them away or give them away. Maybe there will be a white elephant sale at your favorite Christmas bazaar. Some sewing gadgets qualify beautifully for that.

Once you have cleared out the supplies you will probably not use again, plan storage so you can quickly and easily reach the supplies you do use. Everyone who sews seems to have a favorite type of sewing box that meets their own needs. The important thing is to have like items together, store them where convenient and label if necessary.

Possibly the best method of controlling sewing supplies is to be careful of the type and quantity you buy in the first place. Those "Bargains" tend to lie around unused. Buy only the supplies necessary for the sewing project on hand.

The Joy of Cooking--For One

If you're a "single," you may be wondering how to take advantage of economical food preparation and supermarket "specials" which seem to be aimed at families. First, count your blessings if you cook for yourself, says Coral Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware. Remember that as a "single," you have only yourself to please. You can cook what you like, when you want to, in any way you choose. You are not tied to eating schedules of differing food preferences. The tendency of many singles, however, is to skip meals because preparation becomes boring, planning gets difficult, and convenience foods seem too expensive. Actually, says Ms. Morris, "cooking for one" should take less time and energy than cooking for a freezer. There's no waste if you remove only what you need, and using frozen bread to pack your lunch results in fresher sandwiches at noon.

For those singles with microwave ovens, Ms. Morris reminds them that dishes (non-metal) can go from freezer to oven for fast meal preparation. If you're cooking for only yourself, you might get to know other singles who would enjoy trading prepared dishes. You'd get more variety as well as learn some new recipes.

In addition to these, you've discovered some of your own secrets about cooking for yourself, says Ms. Morris, but don't forget that very pleasant remedy for eating alone--invite a friend to dinner.

Winterize Your Garden

Maintain healthy plants by getting your garden ready for winter. Winter damage can be kept down by watering, mulching and screening plants now, according to David Tutnall, extension garden specialist at the University of Delaware.

Water newly-planted trees, shrubs and all broadleaf evergreens regularly until the ground freezes hard, he suggests.

Broadleaf evergreen shrubs such as rhododendron, boxwood, Oregon hol-

Safety Award

Callis-Thompson Inc., has been awarded the Certificate of Shop Safety in recognition of operating for 12 consecutive months without a shop related accident or illness. The award was conferred by the Truck Equipment & Body Distributors Association, a national trade association, located in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Harrington based company is primarily engaged in the installation and manufacturing of liquid handling equipment which includes, among other products, tanks, tank trucks, pumps, meters and hoses.

In a letter accompanying the award from D/A Executive Director, Thomas Pieratt, Callis-Thompson's co-owners, Joseph J. Callis and George A. Thompson, and their employees were congratulated for maintaining such an outstanding work safety record.

The Green Thumb

S. Derby Walker, Jr. Assistant County Agent

Black walnut are fine trees for the home landscape but they kill certain plants which grow nearby. We receive quite a few letters from people who have observed this situation and wish to know more about its cause.

The problem is not serious. The black walnut seems to be toxic to only a few plants. It is a long-lived, fine landscape tree and very desirable when planted in the proper location. The trees provide shade and high quality nuts for home use.

The toxic effect which black walnut trees have on some other plants is caused by a substance called juglone, which is produced in the roots. Speaking chemically, the material is a naphtha-quinone. This substance is a highly effective bactericide. Juglone is not found on other walnut species such as the Persian, English or Carpathian.

This is a rather unique situation. Many plants cause various types of allergies, skin eruptions or actual poisoning, when contacted or consumed by people or animals. In some cases, as with rotenone and pyrethrum, certain plant derivatives are used as insecticides. There are relatively few plants however, which produce substances which are toxic to other plants.

We do not know exactly how this juglone material causes its toxic effect. We do know that the roots of the injured plant must come in direct contact with the roots of the black walnut tree. Therefore, the damaged plants must be growing close to the walnut, and within the spread of its root system.

The black walnut damages relatively few plants which are grown around the home. Your vegetable garden may be planted near walnut trees except for potatoes and tomatoes, which will be killed. Trees use a large amount of soil moisture so you will need to consider this fact too, when you locate your garden.

You must avoid planting azaleas, rhododendron, mountain laurel, and blueberries near black walnut. These plants, which you might use in a border planting, are quite susceptible to the toxic juglone substance. Other shrubs seem to be quite tolerant of this material.

Blackberry, apple, pine, and saffras also may be seriously damaged by black walnut. Herbaceous plants which are susceptible to injury are ajuga, creeping buttercup, forget-me-not, lily-of-the-valley, peony, and thyme.

Grass grows very well near black walnuts, except during periods of drought when the soil moisture supply is low. In fact, when moisture is adequate, the grass may be better under walnut trees than in other parts of the lawn. We are not sure of the exact reason for this but it may be related to the fact that the soil under walnut trees usually is more basic than surrounding soil. In terms of pH the soil around the walnut root system may be one-half of more pH value higher.

To sum up the situation, black walnuts may be used as landscape trees when they are not located near the above-cited sensitive plants. Black walnut trees are most useful when planted in the lawn area for shade. The best variety which is readily available is Thomas. It has a relatively thin shell which is much easier to crack than most seedling types. The nuts of the Thomas have superior flavor.

Very small amounts of leftovers? Don't throw them away. Some will do for tomorrow's lunch. Others can be put in the "soup bowl"--keep a container (1-2 quart size) in the freezer and add bits and pieces of whatever's left over to it. Small pieces of beef or chicken, gravy, vegetables, rice, noodles, or even leftover canned soup broth you'd normally throw away will make a delicious soup when the container is filled. Several types of broth and meat only add to the unique flavor, so don't be afraid to experiment, says Ms. Morris.

Buying a whole loaf of bread can contribute to extra calories if you eat it only to keep it from spoiling. Why not use it out of the

Harriers Dual Meet Win Streak Reaches Fifteen

After victories over Seaford and Dover, Jim Blades' Lake Forest cross-country Spartans own a dual-meet winning streak of 15 straight victories, extending back to 1973.

At Seaford on Thursday, Danny Parker, Terry Petty-

john and Chris Palmisano, the "Three P's in Pod" bettered the course record on the Du Pont Picnic Area layout. Kozel and Pavlikowski of Dover had traversed the 2 1/2 miles in 13.43. Parker ran 13.30 to set the new record. Pettyjohn, who usually starts slowly, surprised by taking the early lead and eventually clocked 13.33, in turning in his best effort of 1975.

Palmisano's 13.41 actually gave Lake Forest the victory, since Seaford could not win after he guaranteed the Spartans a 1-2-3 finish. Icing on the cake was provided by Dave Richter, and Chuck Carter who missed the course record by only six and seven seconds, respectively. The 15-48 Spartan win was close to a perfect score.

Cover of Seaford was sixth, followed by Harry Benson, Howard Parker and Craig Kashner. Only 20 seconds separated the first five Spartans with three more crossing the finish in just 15 more seconds. That's great depth.

Chuck Carter, a great natural talent is competing for the first time. The lanky senior wasn't in the top seven when practice began, but he's in the top five now and still improving.

Harry Benson's performance was very encouraging, since he's been hampered by leg problems much of the season. However, his next start saw a thigh soreness cause him to run poorly against Dover. After five years of stardom, his scholastic cross-country career may end on a sour note.

Howard Parker was a great junior high runner who held a couple of world records, but was not allowed to run cross-country at Lake Forest until this his senior year. This three year layoff had undoubtedly cost him an athletic scholarship at Penn State, Maryland or some similar university. He is working hard trying to get the rust of inactivity out of his system and is running better, than expected.

Promising sophomore, Marcus Bray, edged past two classmates, Kelly Woodward and Eugene Butler, to win the jayvee test in 15.05. Others to run very well here were: Cliff Ayers, Charley, Scott, Tom Ott and Ed Hatfield.

Chipman School was led by Vince Ware, Nathan "Top Cat" Morris, Randy Ramirez, Billy Mitchell, Doug Caskey, Quinton Hendricks, Dale Jarrell, Jesse Gallo and Tony Loper.

Dover gave the Spartans much more opposition before bowing 24-34. Danny Parker covered the 2.4 miles Lake Forest course test in 13.01, to win the Monday afternoon test over the talented Dover duo of Kozel and Pavlikowski. Chuck Carter continues to average. The senior tyro improved by 30 seconds to become the second Spartan finisher.

Terry Pettyjohn and Chris Palmisano were next but McKenna of Dover was a surprise seventh, beating at least four Spartans who are rated above him.

Inconsistency has Coach Jim Blades worried, as the battle of the unbeaten, Lake Forest verses Cape Henlopen, takes place at Lewes, Thursday. The Spartans could wrap up the Henlopen Conference dual-meet title, but have to be rated as underdogs, since the Vikings' Cape Henlopen State Park course is considered to be the worst "away" test in lower Delaware. All that sand helps give an already strong team an even greater advantage.

A Spartan jayvee unit was just one point away from perfect winning 15-49. Two promising sophomores waiting in the wings for starting positions in 1976 ran stride-for-stride for much of the distance before Marcus Bray eked out a two-second margin over Kelly Woodward. Tom Ott, who led several times was only seven seconds behind Bray, with 14.43. Eugene Butler, the last of the sophomore quartet, clocked a personal-best 14.56. Bray, Woodward and Ott posted their fastest times to date, also.

Many local runners, especially the younger ones run faster than ever before. Ed Hatfield may have been spurred on by the Lake Forest cheerleaders, who called him "The little cute one."

Nathan "Top cat" Morris is Chipman's best harrier. The seventh grader had a 15.18. Next for the seventh-eighth team was John Gilmore followed by Bill Mitchell, Vince Ware, Randy Ramirez, Jesse Gallo, Dale Jarrell. All of these lads could become fine harriers. However, Ware is a large lad, who is the only one of the group big enough to play freshman football in 1976. He will probably do this.

Some other high school runners ran well. These included Cliff "Sugar Bear" Ayers, Walter Willey, Tim McCombs, Pete Fraley, Don Lloyd and Mitch Kreer.

Spartans On College Teams

Dennis Layton, an ex-Lake Forest High football player is the kicker for Delaware College's football team. Dennis is the third football performer from this area to compete at the college level since Harrington High started the pigskin sport in 1957.

Ron Mosley, Lake Forest High grad is at Delstate also, where he is currently running number one on the cross-country team. Mosley has been the first Hornet to finish in each of his 1975 starts, although there were a couple of meets in which the opposition was so out-classed that Ron and some of his teammates came across in a pre-arranged tie for first place.

Mosley paced Lake Forest to the state championship in cross-country in 1973 with a third-place finish in a field of over 100 runners. In 1974 he was second in the state track championship half mile run with 1:58.3, which is the Lake Forest record.

Coverdale, Mosley In Wilmington Run

Maurice "Reese Cup" Coverdale is a tiny, 12-year-old, bundle of energy, who might become one of the finest distance runners ever to compete in an area where excellent runners have been commonplace for 20 years.

Certainly, he's one of the better-known thinclads, hereabouts and he's only in grade six. The West Street Whizzer is rated as being superior to all of Chipman's seventh-eighth grade cross-country squad and he can probably beat all but a dozen of Lake Forest's state champion 35-man varsity squad. The stop watch says he can.

In Wilmington Sunday, Coverdale arrived just in time to compete in a two mile race. He didn't have time to warm up or even to change his spiked shoes for flats, since the course had been switched to blacktop because of soggy footing on the turf.

With these handicaps, Reese Cup clattered two miles in 12:29, great time under the extremely adverse circumstances and beat all the 12-and-under runners and the 13-14-15 year olds as well.

Jerry Mosley, a 10-year-old prospect whose brother Ron, and sister Paula are in the Lake Forest track record book, was fifth in 14.41. He's going to be a great one, too.

Spartans Lose In the Mud To Dover 20-6

On Friday night, it appeared that the monsoon season was upon us as high winds and hard rains drove everyone for cover except the football players, who braved the inclement weather. The Spartans played well considering all angles. The turnovers still plague the team. Shortly after play began, the Spartans fumbled the football. Two plays later, halfback Mike Meade splashed 49 yards around the left side of the line for the score. Lake Forest fought back bravely though, and the first quarter ended with the score reading 6-0. Dover missed the point after touchdown.

In the second quarter, a bad snap by center Mike McGinnis sailed over the head of punter and quarterback Neal Smith. Smith fell on the slippery pigskin at LF 23 yard line. From there, with the rain pouring down at this point, halfback Bill Mosley raced around the left side of the line on a 20 yard scoring run. Once in the secondary, no Lake Forest defender laid a hand on him. Dover elected to go for the two points, and they called on Mosley again who took it over on a run.

All in the first half was not Dover's alone. The Spartans have not tasted victory yet this season, but their day is right around the corner. After a disappointing defeat at the hands of the Delmar Wildcats last Friday, Coach Jim Fleming and his squad were really down. Had the team played against Delmar as they played against Dover, the Delmar score would have gone Lake Forest's way according to Coach Fleming. On Friday night, the Spartans were in the winged-T formation. Only this time, they gave Dover the slot formation variation of the winged-T. The Spartans had practiced all week on a passing game. The unpredictable rain really dampened the chances for a successful passing game. Neal Smith, a senior quarterback threw some unbelievable passes during this rainstorm. Perfect "bullets" sailed through the air. Smith was seven for 20 in the passing column for well over a hundred yards. The rain even prevented the statistician from keeping accurate accounts of the game. The picture play came in the second quarter when Smith fired a high arching spiral to halfback Mike Benson. The play covered 59 yards and a touchdown. Benson caught the ball about 15 to 20 yards beyond the line of scrimmage and outran defender Bill Mosley for the score. According to Coach Fleming "...we had tried a couple curls to Wayne (Voshell) trying to set up Mike (Benson) for the wing back going down the side lines. When Neal (Smith) dropped back to pass, Wayne called for the ball. As the defenders came up to cover him, Neal hit Benson who was running along the side lines and behind the defenders. No one touched Mike as he went the distance for the score." Despite the fact that L.F. had several turnovers--two fumbles (one going for a touchdown) four interceptions (two by Boy Tucker), and a large number of penalties, the game was closer than the score indicated. The score was 14-6 with the Spartans on the 14 yard line of Dover with four minutes left in the game, the Spartans tried vainly to score but were unable from this point. The Senators took over on downs.

The Spartan defense held Dover to four yards on the next series of plays forcing the Senators to punt. The Spartans got the back inside the 50 yard line with less than two minutes left. Lake Forest tried several passes and a run which enabled them to penetrate the Senators' territory to the 30 yard line. The Spartans gave up the football, and Dover marched the length of the field for the score. Fleming said after the game that he was real proud of the "boys for their spirits were high and they wanted to play football despite the disappointing defeat at the hands of Delmar the previous Friday night and the horrible weather." The game Friday night is against Seaford away. Fleming feels confident that the team's chances look real good against Seaford, for each week the team plays a little better.

Bunting Finalizes Years At Georgetown

Harold Bunting from Milford had the winning combination in the Warrington Bros. Special Vega on the final day of racing in 1975 which culminated the biggest year of racing with 30 race meets completed at Georgetown Speedway on the season. Bunting won the pole position with his first place in the very first preliminary heat on the day. All was not easy for the veteran driver as Hal Browning of West Grove, Pa., had the upper hand in the early going until he tangled in traffic sidelining him from the event on the thirteenth circuit. Walt Breeding of Federalsburg took over the lead on lap thirteen and held it until he lost the spot on the 43rd go round opening the door for good for the hard driving Bunting and the checkered flag. Breeding recovered the Davis Trucking #1 for second place under starter Bill Lawson's wet, damp and muddy victory colors. Seaford's Haines Tull ran third most of the day surviving the spills and slides making it a good day for Davis Trucking. Bob Passwaters for Milton brought the J.C. Miller Trucking Corvair home fourth ahead of Ridgely's Bobby Walls who was fifth chauffering the Baker Petroleum new number 22. Snookie Vent of Milton scored sixth piloting the Lewes Dairy Markets-George carmean Trucking Vega. Millsboro's Jimmy Clark brought the Hitchen's Bros. Const. Vega home seventh in front of Cambridge's Ed Brown, Sr. who was eighth chauffering the Brown's Used Cars Vega. Bunting, Browning, Stan Busby of Bridgeville and Les Katona were qualification winners. Second places in the heat action went to Vent, Larry Voss, Eddie Brown, Jr., and Newt Hartman. It was a day when representative drivers from Flemington, East Windsor, Bridgeport and Georgetown Speedways got together with only the weatherman dampening spirits in what saw some good old mud racing that was no less exciting. The Eighth Annual D.A.R.A. Awards Dinner and Dance is set for the Seaford Fire Hall, Saturday, November 15, serving time 6 p.m. Roast Beef with all the trimmings, Music by Blue Steel, and an evening of racing reviewed will highlight the festivities. Tickets are available from the Board of Directors and those planning on attending should secure them as soon as possible as only 600 can be sold. From D.A.R.A. a thank you to all of you that made this season a success.

Woodbridge Squeaks By Laurel 13-12

The point after touchdown by Clifton Hardesty in the first quarter proved to be the margin of difference at in the third quarter on a 12 yard run. Hardesty missed the point after.

Woodbridge rushed for 160 yards in 38 carries with Chuck Hopkins carrying 11 times for 73 yards. Doug Wood was the other workhorse carrying 15 times for 50 yards. The other 33 yards were divided between several players. In this game, Rickie Tull, the bright quarterback for Woodbridge, failed to complete a pass. He was 0 for four. This was understandable because of the weather conditions. Tull was consistent in his punting. Again
