

Study Scheduled For Harrington

A Flood Insurance Rate Study of Harrington will be conducted by Greenhorne and O'Mara under a contract with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

As a result of the study, actuarial rates will be computed to allow twice as much flood insurance coverage as is presently available. The current $35,000 maximum coverage on a single family residence will be raised to $70,000 after the study.

All structures presently insured, in place or underway at the time the study is completed will remain eligible to purchase insurance at government subsidized rates for the first layer of coverage. A second layer of coverage will be at actuarial rates. For structures on which construction began after the completion of the rate study, actuarial rates will be available for both layers.

In addition to the increased insurance coverage the information contained in the study will be used by the community as a basis for their land use control ordinances. These ordinances will serve in the future to reduce or eliminate flood damage through proper use of the land and construction practices. The rate study contract is scheduled for completion in one year.

Any one having historical or technical information concerning floods in the community should make these facts available to G. Robert Quillen, City Manager for transmission to the study contractor.

New Restaurant For City

The Side Track Restaurant, located on Center Street, opened last Wednesday, under the joint ownership of Grace Chatham and Inez Robertson.

The two sisters plan to eventually have seating for 45 people and will offer breakfast, lunch and supper. At the moment, however, take out service is available for a variety of sandwiches as well as homemade pizza, with freshly made ingredients made at the restaurant.

One of the features the new restaurant plans to have is a variety of Italian food, which, in addition to the homemade pizza, will include lasagna, spaghetti and meat balls, and maricotti. Steaks, crab cakes and shrimp will also be specialties. There will be rotating daily specials planned.

Joe Iracaini, a former professional chef and now trainer at the Harrington Race Track, is assisting the fledgling restaurateurs. According to Ms. Chatham, he is helping them over the initial phase of the business, since this is a new experience for both sisters.

The hours for the restaurant will be from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., Sunday through Thursday, and from 7 a.m. to 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday.

According to Ms. Robertson, they hope to have the restaurant in full swing by sometime next month, or by the first of the year at the latest.

The Side Track Restaurant occupies the site of what was formerly Pizzadilli's Delicatessen and before that Sam Short's Grocery Store. The restaurant will continue to offer something in the food line as has its two most recent predecessors.

Grace Chatham, co-owner of the new Side Track Restaurant puts one of the homemade pizzas into a special oven. The restaurant opened last Wednesday.

Mrs. Ruth Connelly (l) and co-owner Inez Robertson pause during lunch preparations at the Side Track Restaurant. The restaurant has been opened since last Wednesday.

Community Thanksgiving Eve Service Set

The annual Thanksgiving Eve service, sponsored by the Harrington Ministerial Association, will be held in Trinity United Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, November 26, at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Wayne Grier, host pastor will lead the congregation in the service of worship. The Rev. Duke Watson, pastor of the Harrington Baptist Church will deliver the message. A special anthem will be presented by the choir from Trinity Church.

Other local churches participating in the service are: St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Calvary Wesleyan Church, Asbury United Methodist Church, Metropolitan Methodist Church, and the Church of the Nazarene.

The public is cordially invited to attend this community service. Each person or family is encouraged to bring canned goods or a food package item. The food items will be used in outreach programs in the area.

Request To Fly Flags

The citizens of the City of Harrington are requested to display the American Flag on their homes Saturday and Sunday in order to salute the craftsmen and artists as well as the large number of visitors who will come to Harrington this weekend. The Harrington Jaycees will place flags on business properties in the downtown district for the event.

Model Engine- One Feature Of Craft Festival

A scale model Eli Number 5 Ferris Wheel driven by a model steam engine is one of the exhibits owned and built by Robert L. Roberts, Jr. of Easton, Maryland. Roberts will exhibit his craft at the Thanksgiving Arts Craft Festival in Harrington this weekend. The two-day event will be held in the W.T. Chipman Junior High School. Approximately 25 craftsmen will be exhibiting and selling their wares. The proceeds will benefit the Harrington Rotary and local Boy Scout organizations. There will also be door prizes. The hours Saturday are from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. and from noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Legislators Appreciation Week Set

At its monthly meeting the Woodbridge School Board selected December 1 through 5 as the dates for a salute to the legislators who serve the district. Dr. Foster Flint announced that Representatives Howard A. Clendaniel, Ronald Darling and Thomas Temple, Jr. as well as State Senators Thurman Adams, Jr., Nancy Cook and David Elliott would be extended an invitation to attend the school while classes are in progress so as to visit the classrooms and observe the various programs in progress; Board member Robert Messick of Farmington observed that the invitation should also be extended to the general public as well. Messick suggested the matter be taken under advisement for a final decision.

Dr. Foster Flint, Woodbridge Superintendent, announced that a temporary bid had been accepted for the construction of the new agricultural building. The building is to be 44' x 64' shell with a 6" concrete floor. The low bid was awarded to Agway in the amount of $18,160. The only other bidder was Downing Construction Company. The school district has on deposit from the Department of Public Instruction $11,797. An additional $6,000 is committed, which would mean the school district would be required to make up the additional $363 "out of pocket". Work will not begin until all monies are deposited with the school district, according to Dr. Flint.

In other matters before the Board, Barbara Slacum, President of Bridgeville PTA, reported that providing crossing guards, a PTA project, would be done for cross-overs at Walnut and Laws Streets, Cedar and Laws and Edgewood and Laws. There will be two crossovers at North Bridgeville on Church street, which are entrances and exits to the school. Mrs. Slacum reported that the Town Commissioners of Bridgeville had given temporary approval for crossing guards with the condition that the guards be deputized. The Bridgeville Lions Club will provide iridescent gloves and cross belts for the crossing guards to wear. Mrs. Slacum stated that she felt her group would get final approval of the plan at the next meeting of the Town Commissioners of Bridgeville.

On high school matters, David Waddler, a senior at Woodbridge, was given approval by the Board to have dental work done as a result of his front teeth being lost in a football game earlier in the season. The cost repairs will be $362. The school insurance program will cover only $100. The additional funds will come from the School Board.

The Board also heard from head Football Coach Jim Foster who reported that he will again act as Recreation Director and Supervisor when the Junior High School gym will be used by the students Mondays and Thursdays during the hours of 7 to 1:30 p.m. from Dec. 1, to March 1. The high school gym will be used by the "Bridgeville Christian Athletes" on Sundays from Nov. 16 through April 11 between hours of 1:30 and 5:30 p.m. The matter of the junior high school gym was approved by either $450 with janitorial and $300 without janitorial services. Board member William Tull recommended approval of the plan and requested that Dr. Flint work with Foster's group regarding the expenses of upkeep.

From City Hall

Milford Lions Directories are available at the Harrington City Hall, according to City manager Bobby Quillen.

Corrective work will begin on a sewer line at Liberty Street and Weiner Avenue in the very near future, according to City Hall. Ground-water is leaking in the sewer line

Jaycees Parade Plans Firm Up

Entries are starting to file in for the Annual Harrington Jaycee Christmas Parade to be held on Saturday, December 6th beginning at 1:30 p.m.

This year's parade promises to be the largest ever with eight bands already entered in the event. So far entries have been received from Milford Junior and Senior Bands, Smyrna High Band, Riverview Junior Band, North Caroline High Band, Lake Forest High Band, W.T. Chipman Junior Band, and Rehoboth Junior Band.

Added to the pre-parade festivities this year will be a Van Show along with the annual Antique Car Show. An estimated forty vans will be shown in the Peoples Bank parking lot beginning at 11 a.m. until noon. The antique cars will be shown in the First National Bank parking lot beginning at noon. Both groups will participate in the parade.

Trophies will be given in the following categories: Commercial Float 1st., 2nd., and 3rd., Non-Commercial Float 1st., 2nd., 3rd., 4th., and 5th., Marching Unit 1st., 2nd., 3rd., and 4th., Horse Ridden 1st., and 2nd., Horse Drawn 1st., and 2nd., Fire Company 1st., 2nd., and 3rd., Senior Band 1st., 2nd., and 3rd., Junior Band 1st., 2nd., and 3rd., and Individual 1st., 2nd., and 3rd..

Anyone wishing to enter can do so by contacting Lee Dean at 398-4338. The theme of this year's parade, in line with the Bicentennial is "A Revolutionary Christmas."

Milford High To Host Opera

December 13th is the date the Milford High School Theatre will host the Wilmington Opera Society's new production of "La Traviata". It will be sung in English by an excellent cast headed by Lise Carlson as Violetta and William Austin singing Alfredo.

Lise Carlson originally hails from Boston and now lives in Philadelphia. Her parents were born in Sweden.

William Austin comes to the East Coast from Texas. Flora will be sung by Lynn Booth. Her creativity is also evident in the Market Square Gift Shop in New Castle, which she owns and operates.

The orchestra will be conducted by Theodore Huang, well known to Delaware music lovers. He is known for his talents as Choir Director, Vocal Teacher, and Piano Teacher. Dancers in the opera will be under the direction of James Jamison, well known dancer and choreographer.

The costumes designed by Charles Jackson are eye-catching. Cynthia duPont, the set designer, has an impressive background of work with the Boston and Virginia Opera Societies. Carolyn Anderson, assistant costume designer, has carried out a tremendous assignment in converting Charles' designs into reality. This production is sponsored by the Milford Adult Education Association and made possible, in part, by a grant from the Delaware State Arts Council. This show will be a milestone in productions at the Milford High School Theater. See you there! Tickets: Wollaston's 398-8764.

Is Eligible For $100,000 Drawing

Josephine D. Sapp, Liberty Street, Harrington is one of the five persons eligible for the $100,000 drawing in the "Super Drawing" to be held at a later date to be announced by the Lottery Director.

The other prizes to be awarded at this drawing will be $10,000 for 2nd, $5,000 for 3rd and two prizes for 4th and 5th places of $2,000 each. She will win at least $2,000. Her lottery ticket was purchased at Stone's.

Attention Boys and Girls of Harrington . . .

Guess Who's Been Watching?

Santa's Request

My elves have been watching you this year and tell me that you've tried your best to be good. Well, I'm getting ready to load my sleigh and I need some ideas for gifts for you. Why don't you send me a letter telling me what you'd like and I'll see if we can't get your order in SPECIAL DELIVERY! I have my elves working in other towns, so this is only for good little boys and girls with Harrington mailing addresses. Be sure to put your name and full address on the letter so I can be sure to get your letter to me before Christmas Eve. I will be at Santa's House in the Quillen Shopping Center and will have a mailbox right by my house where you can put your letters.

That way I will be able to take them with me after visiting you on December 6 and 13. So be especially good from now until Christmas.

Greenwood PTA Hears Cancer Talk

The Bridgeville and North Elementary Schools held their first PTA meeting of the year last Tuesday night.

The featured speakers of the night were Mr. Dave Winski, principal of the school, who spoke on the reading program in the elementary schools; and Dr. Cowan from Delaware Technical and Community College who spoke on the Delmod Math and science program.

The committee chairpersons were introduced and the 1975-1976 budget was approved.

A unanimous vote in favor of donating $450 to the 30 elementary teachers as a discretionary fund was held. Each teacher is to be allocated $15.

It was passed to financially support and sponsor assembly programs for grades 1-3 for both this year and next.

The proposed school beautification project was approved as submitted by Mrs. Hardesty's fourth grade class.

A bulletin board has been donated for the PTA and will be hung in the elementary school lobby. The meeting was attended by 40 and a door prize of a hand quilted pillow was awarded to Mrs. Jody Thomas.

Senior Citizens News

By Sam A. Short

Monday was another visitation day. This time the Jolly Timers visited the Fletchers Nursing home in Felton and entertained the members with music and songs.

Tuesday was Birthday Party day and Turkey for dinner, furnished by the center with covered dishes by the members. Dora Taretsky made her appearance at the center. She is very much improved from her fall breaking her hip some time ago. Every member was delighted to welcome her back.

Wednesday was Ceramic day for the Bazaar in the morning and in the afternoon Brown Bag Bingo.

Thursday was English Nationality day and preparations for the Christmas Bazaar.

Friday was a rainy day but the Bazaar went along just the same with great success. The dining room was filled to capacity from 11 to 1 p.m. with diners. Turkey and its fixings were prepared by the kitchen crew and their helpers.

Saturday we continued with the Bazaar and disposed of some more items and got some orders for things to be made for Christmas.

Only a few bowlers bowled this week. We do not have the scores this week.

The spot light this week falls on another one of our Felton members Mrs. Josephine Burke. Joe as she is called by the members is the mother of ten children and still gets around like a woman much younger than she is. She is very helpful with all the duties at the center making and painting ceramics, and helping in other ways.

Joe is well liked by all and gets along well with all the members. She comes to the center daily in the bus that is provided by the program for the members living outside Harrington.

Discount Booklet Available

A booklet listing over 300 merchants throughout Delaware participating in the senior citizen discount program has been published by the Division of Aging and is available for distribution.

The Statewide senior discount program, "Community Concern for Senior Citizens" was initiated by the Division of Aging in May.

The discount booklet is free and may be obtained at all senior centers and nutrition sites or from the Division of Aging at 2413 Lancaster Avenue in Wilmington.

"Last Spring when we started this program, our goal and that of participating merchants was to help ease some of the financial strains on our elderly citizens, particularly those living on fixed incomes," says Mrs. Eleanor L. Cain, director of the Division of Aging.

Through the program senior citizens receive a discount on purchases of such items as sundry and prescription drugs, eye glasses, hearing aids, beauty salon and barber shop services, entertainment, and numerous other items. Participating merchants display the program's green and white emblem in store windows.

...there is one job where you can start at the top. I overheard two construction workers talking the other day. One said to the other "...the back hoe is broken. He wants us to finish the job by digging it out by hand. The job must be finished by tomorrow". The other guy was heard to say "...he must be nuts. Not me...not on my wages. He can go fly a kite". Now this could apply to other fields besides the construction field. The point is relatively clear. Many people in the working force today expect too much. They are unwilling to give of themselves, for fear that the other person will get the better of it. This is a foolish and immature attitude to take. Where do you think the second person is going in this world. Do you think that he will reach the heights of J. Paul Getty or others who have made it to the top? "Engine" Charlie Wilson worked his way up from broom sweeper at General Motors to become its president, and truly one of the best the company ever possessed at that position. My grandfather said when Charlie Wilson became president of GM, at a then unheard of salary of $100,000 a year that no man was worth that much money. Mr. Wilson always had a full head of steam, and the first year at the helm of General Motors, he saved the company several millions of dollars. In later years when my grandfather told that story, he concluded by saying that he knew at the end of the first year why Wilson received that large salary. When these "captains of industry" over the years have been asked how can one achieve success, the answer is always the same...and it is very simple. HARD WORK...MORE HARD WORK... AND MORE AND MORE HARD WORK...with untold sacrifices to family and self. This simple lesson to success is first learned by the person when he is working for others. Giving his employer a good day's work for the money he is paid. Strive to give the employer service first, strive to improve self and help the business become successful. Practice this as well as exhibiting stability and success and recognition will come fast. There are those who gain wealth and fame practically overnight. These people are usually associated with the athletes, who are able to command large sums of money for their so called talents. These are few in number, for the ones who stick to a tight training schedule and strive to improve themselves in their sport would do the same in every day life. These are the only ones in the working force that can start at the top. I can only think of one other job whereby one can start at the top...and that is in digging a hole. Those who do that and do it well...like "Engine" Charlie Wilson can graduate up the ladder to success and achievement.

Gloria Lynn Dill

Gloria Lynn Dill Joins T.V. Staff

Gloria Lynn Dill, of Harrington, has joined the staff of KCCI-TV, a CBS affiliate in Des Moines, Iowa. Beginning in January, Gloria will be special assistant to Mary Brubaker, star of a weekday talk show seen each morning in the Midwest. "The Mary Brubaker Show" features such guests as Loretta Swit, and the cast of MASH, the stars of Beacon Hill, The Mary Tyler Moore Show, and Rhoda, hair stylist Vidal Sassoon, and various sports and political figures. Gloria will assist in research and production of the program. She will also help with news and special reports. Gloria is a junior at Drake, in the Radio-Television department. She has done several commercials, and has been anchorperson for "Spectrum," a news-variety show produced by Drake Students.

"Look Mom, both hands" might be the comment of this Harrington infant [if he could talk] as he obviously takes pleasure in the autumn foliage. Probably he could have had more fun if his mother would have let him have the run of the leaf pile. Photo by Elin Palmer

Weekly Report

By Senator Joseph Biden

The Interstate Commerce Commission a few years ago presided over the virtual abandonment of all private railroad passenger service, ultimately forcing Congress to create the Federally-subsidized National Rail Passenger Service Corporation, which has evolved into AMTRAK. Meanwhile, at the Civil Aeronautics Board, innovative proposals that might save money on air fares are routinely denied and discouraged. The only real competition among airlines is the grade of steak served at dinner. The Federal Communications Commission has before it a case which has been pending since at least 1945 (some experts think it really dates back to 1938). And, at the Federal Power Commission, it routinely takes two years or more to finalize rate changes affecting interstate operations of utilities. Often, the higher rates are routinely allowed in the interim - even if they are later disapproved.

These are just some of the things that highlight a concern shared by commentators ranging from conservative to liberal: our independent regulatory agencies are in dire need of an overhaul. This week, I introduced a bill which I think would force the issue. It's quite simple. On next October 1, every independent Federal regulatory agency would be abolished, unless Congress and the president acting under a joint procedure specifically determine that the agency should continue, probably under modified form. From time to time, studies are launched to determine what reform of regulatory agencies is needed. One is underway now. The trouble is, these studies usually lead nowhere. Thus, I have chosen a form that would force the issue. If the President and Congress fail to re-evaluate Federal regulatory agencies and come up with specific plans or change, then the agency goes out of business. Period. My own personal feeling about our regulatory agencies is that in most cases, they wind up under the effective control of those they are designed to regulate in the first place. The ICC routinely caters to the railroads and the trucking industry; the CAB to the airlines; the FPC to the natural gas, oil and electric utility industries, etc. I think it is time for a change. My legislation is not a cure-all. It is, rather, a mechanism to make regulatory agencies more accountable, and to force Congress and the President to take seriously their responsibility to oversee regulatory functions of government.

Days of Our Years

Ten Years Ago

Fri., Nov. 26, 1965

Philip Redden, son of Mrs. Doris Redden, of 220 Weiner Ave., attended the third annual North Atlantic Regional Officers' Training Conference of DECA held in Boston. Last week the Harrington firemen extinguished three minor fires at the following: in a house occupied by James Fason and owned by Ida Brown, a hot chimney; a wood fire at the City dump northwest of town; a grass fire put out at the home of Jay Brittingham, Jr., at Vernon. On Nov. 19, Miss Darlene Marie Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Clark, of Harrington, became the bride of Albert J. Trader, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Trader, Sr. of Williamsville. Miss Clark is a 1965 graduate of Harrington High School. Mr. Trader is employed by Webb's Ford and Mercury of Milford. Leonard Carpenter, 28, of Rt. 13, Harrington, was hospitalized with a damaged lung and a cut right shoulder after the car he was driving ran off the road, hit a utility pole and then a tree late Monday night. The accident occurred about two miles east of Harrington of Rt. 14. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Otten were honored at a dinner on Nov. 17 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Reed, in honor of their second anniversary. Little Anita Jo Redden celebrated her 6th birthday Monday. Roderick Holland entered St. Francis Hospital, Wilmington, last Saturday. Greenwood: Lewis Uhler is visiting his sister Mrs. Mary Keel, until after the Thanksgiving holiday. Dennis Rogers, a freshman physical education major from Harrington, was a member of the Southern State College cross-country team this fall. Lt. John Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor is on his way to South Vietnam by ship. The trip is expected to take 40 days. Ron Breeding, a senior at Greenwood High, emerged at the end of the season as the No. 1 Forester despite the fact he had no previous experience. Felton: The Felton Bridge Club was entertained by Mrs. Wilma Wood at her home in Harrington, last Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Walters Jr., of Canterbury, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, at the Kent General Hospital, Dover, Nov. 20. Mrs. Floyd Hrupsa and twins, Connie and Dianne, spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Arthur Minner and son, Jimmie, near Woodside.

Twenty Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kukulka are the proud parents of a son born Tuesday in Milford Memorial Hospital. They have two sons and daughters. Salk Polio Vaccine will be administered to those desiring the shots Wednesday morning beginning at nine o'clock. These will be the second and booster shots for those already having received two shots. Miss Eleanor Wagner was honored at her 16th birthday party given at the Century Club Tuesday night. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wagner. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cluker have returned home for the winter after a season of racing.

Harrington Building Comes Down

This was the scene last week of the demolition of the Old Peoples Bank on Commerce Street, Harrington. The structure, now in the Baynard Smith estate, was also the location of Augustus Raughley's grocery store.

Thoughts....

By Senator William Roth

In its terse four-word ruling on the Wilmington school desegregation case, the Supreme Court left in question exactly what was decided by its action. The court merely declared without elaboration: "The judgment of the U.S. District Court is affirmed." The three dissenting judges, which included Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, described the action as "extraordinarily slipshod judicial procedure."

I intend to introduce legislation which would eliminate the authority of lower Federal courts "to enter a decree requiring directly or indirectly the transportation of students or teachers in order to carry out a plan of racial desegregation of any school or school system." One section would nullify court-ordered busing in effect prior to enactment of this legislation. Senator James Eastland, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has expressed belief that this approach may "hit pay dirt". It would pose few, if any, of the constitutional difficulties raised by other proposals to limit judicial authority in school desegregation cases. It would not withdraw all Federal court jurisdiction to hear school cases involving Constitutional rights. Instead, it would substitute the state courts for the lower Federal courts as the appropriate tribunal in cases where busing may be employed as a remedy under standards announced by the Supreme Court. The lower Federal courts would continue to have concurrent jurisdiction with the state courts where busing is not an issue. The right to appeal from the state courts to the U.S. Supreme Court would be preserved, insuring conformity with Constitutional standards. It is clear that Congress may leave to the state courts enforcement of a class of rights, or a specified remedy, which it might otherwise have given to the lower Federal courts. This is precisely the result I hope to achieve.

Counselor's Corner

By Daniel G. Newman

The Congress has repeatedly expressed the will of the people on busing only to have its legislative efforts thwarted by Federal courts. The only certain way to curb judicial action is to amend the Constitution. But this is a difficult, time-consuming process. In the interim, I believe legislative measures must be taken to provide relief to communities already disrupted by busing or the threat of busing. I believe the Congress has the power, pursuant to Article III of the Constitution, to limit the judicial authority of the lower Federal courts.

1. Question: Is a family that files a P.C.S. with the C.S.S. for analysis informed that it has been received? Yes. An acknowledgment that lists the institutions and scholarships that will be getting a copy of the P.C.S. and the need analysis report is sent to the family. Part of this form can be used to add other colleges to receive the final analysis if parents and student so desire. 2. Question: When colleges receive the report from the C.S.S. on the information given by the parents on the P.C.S., do they change the expected contribution? Yes and no. Colleges review the report and the information on the P.C.S. plus other information they may have such as IRS tax form. When individual circumstances are known that affect the family's financial strength, the aid administrator makes an adjustment based on his professional judgment. Often this results in a lower expectation, but it may in some cases mean that the contribution expected from the family will be higher. Parents are urged to explain their situation fully, especially if they expect a real change in income the year the student will be in college. (For example, if the father is planning to retire or the mother is to have an operation and will have to resign from her job.) Parents should remember that the C.S.S. does not make award decisions or distribute financial aid.

months, the appraisal price finally comes in -- but because of the FmHA philosophy, the appraisal is low. Therefore, if the buyer cannot make up the difference, and if the seller feels he cannot sell much less, the deal falls through. All in all, it hasn't been a good situation in Delaware and while the State Director and his staff have been trying, they just plain need more help. Well, it's good to report it's on its way.

DuPont Reports

My staff and I have been spending a great deal of time lately dealing with the problems that Delaware rural residents are having with the Farmers' Home Administration. In a recent meeting in Washington with Farmers' Home Administration representatives I tried to get some answers to those over-riding problems of long delays in the total application time, the months that a seller must wait before he knows the appraised value of his home, and the needed credit counseling for applicants. The short answer to all these problems is to get more people who are qualified to handle these areas. Unfortunately with our current economic problems, the Farmers' Home Administration has more business than they can manage. Rural residents have a tougher time getting mortgages from conventional sources than their urban counterparts. This fact has been reflected in Delaware's increasing loan volume which has grown from $10,605,320 in Fiscal Year 1974 to $20,047,130 in Fiscal Year 1975. But help is on the way. After pleading the case for the need for fairer, more efficient processing of applications to avoid the problems that have been faced in the past, I was promised by the Assistant Director of the Farmers' Home Administration that additional help will be forthcoming as early as January. The new staff should reflect on Delaware's loan volume increase in addition to the fact that the Congress -- with my support -- recently approved an additional 1,100 new personnel for the program across the country. In addition, I have received assurances from FmHA that there will be efforts to cut down the application time so that the program will not have these excessive delays. Presently it takes from six to nine months to process an application. This is much too long for sellers and buyers to wait -- particularly with some paying double mortgages. Others have contacted me explaining other hardships. One of the most common complaints is that after having a home off the selling market for several

Open Letter to Chipman Parents

The week following Thanksgiving has been set aside for administering the Differential Aptitude Tests to the eighth grade students. There is no way to study for these tests, but a good night's sleep, some breakfast, and a determination to take the test seriously and do one's best is necessary if the tests are to serve their purpose. If we could think of this group of tests as a big old camera taking an enlarged picture of each child's abilities so that each person's strengths can be identified, we would have a fair idea of their character. Some of the tests are designed to measure things like mechanical ability, abstract reasoning, space relations and clerical speed and accuracy; these tests do not depend on the child's ability to read. Each part of the test is carefully timed; answer sheets are provided; and directions must be very carefully followed. The results of the tests usually are back by the first of February. I use these scores as a basis for counseling for course selection for ninth grade. I hope you will let your child know that you are interested and help him to come to school willing and ready for this experience. At a later date I will discuss the interpretation of these scores. I hope that each of you finds Thanksgiving a very warm and happy time filled with the giving and receiving of positive strokes all genuine and all appreciated. Til next week. Sincerely, Sarah S. Webb Counselor Chipman School

Dear Parents, This week we have divided each class into four groups. The chairman of each group has been responsible for the showing of a series of filmstrips all different but all dealing with feelings and the kind of person "I am. Among the titles are "Shyness", "Anxiety", "Frustration", "Gossip", "The Therapy of Laughter", "Everyone Makes Mistakes", "Building Self-Confidence", "Are You An Interesting Person?" and "Are You Creative?" At this time only three classes have met. I have not been entirely pleased with the outcome. I have talked with some of the students informally about how we might improve the mechanics of carrying out this activity. Most of the groups have enjoyed the change, but a few have been unwilling to exercise a desirable amount of self-control and to demonstrate their respect for the rights of others. As the week progresses I will be making such changes as seem appropriate for each class. Next week we will take a few minutes to talk about the value of seeing these short filmstrips with emphasis on the application of this material to our lives. Value clarification is the next subject we will be considering. The object of such lessons is to try to make each person aware of what he or she does value. Psychologists tell us that what we do tells more about us than what we say. Each student will be encouraged to think about what is really important to him. ...what is right and what is wrong for him.

Selected Members To Attend 4-H Congress

Peach Blossom

By Karla Langford

November 8th was award night for Kent County 4-H'ers as they gathered in Cesar Rodney school. The following members from Peach Blossom 4-H received awards: Brenda Clark received two county medals, one in photography, one in conservation. Rochelle Messick earned a safety medal.

Terri Tarr got medals in clothing and health and a judging trophy. Glen Divil received an automotive medal. Debra Hopkins took home medals in dog care, horsemanship, and clothing.

David Mesibov's awards were in poultry, gardening, and small engines, plus a judging trophy. Donna Hinzman got the group's applause for earning medals in food preservation, home management, foods, consumer education and horticulture, plus two judging trophies. Donald Hopkins received a judging trophy in horticulture.

Karen Jerread and Judy Back were honored as state winners and will be traveling with the Delaware delegation to National 4-H club congress in Chicago, November 29 to December 4th. Karen won her trip with her Veterinary Science project. She received a veterinary science medal and a judging trophy. Judy is the state health winner. She won a judging trophy in home management and received a health medal.

Judging team trophies that Peach Blossom brought home were in Home Management, Field Crops, and Horticulture.

Outstanding first year members are honored with blue ribbons and trophies in county. Frank Struck and Terry Smith each received blue ribbons. Frank also received a lovely plaque for county public speaking competition. He and family have moved to New Jersey and we will miss them very much.

Junior leaders named for the coming year received pins. They are David Mesibov, Rochelle Messick, Glen Divil, and Donna Hinzman.

4-H is open to all boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 19. For more information call the county 4-H office at 856-5250.

Club meetings for next week are: Jr. Council on Monday; Mt. Pleasant on Tuesday; Belltown, Bridgeville Handy Helpers, Seaford Blue Jays, Bridgeville Wild Cats and Greenwood Hi-Flyers on Wednesday; and Coverdale on Thursday.

Headed for Chicago-- Carol Loockerman (17, Greenwood) will be one of Delaware's delegates to National 4-H Club Congress later this month. She won the trip with a successful project in consumer education.

4-Her Judy Back (18, Felton) goes to Chicago at the end of the month as a Delaware delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress. Judy is one of Kent County's winners in the annual 4-H awards program--a national competition. Her winning project was on health.

Regional winner-- Karen Jerread (17, Harrington) will be in Chicago at the end of the month as a regional delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress. Karen won the trip with a project in veterinary science.

State winner--food preservation project wins trip to Chicago for Cindy Moore (16, Bridgeville) as a Delaware delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress. Some 1600 young people from across the country are expected to be there.

From Horses To Doll Houses

What does doll furniture have in common with harness horses? Not much, one might say, unless of course, one happens to know Leslie Simpson, Sr. of Harrington.

Mr. Simpson, now 73, is a patient in the Delaware Home and Hospital at Smyrna. Having suffered a mild stroke, he was encouraged by staff members at the hospital to take some form of therapy. Using foot pedaled saw and sander, he began turning out miniature furniture about two years ago, and now has whole houses full of the Lilliputian furnishings. His first attempt was a nativity scene that was needed at the hospital.

This area native has had a colorful career as one of the first professional harness horsemen in the area. His first race was at the Kent-Sussex Raceway in 1949. Before the race ended, Simpson was in front of the judge's stand when he felt a horse's knees in his back. He fell out of his sulky and got up to drive the next three races, which he won. He won a total of 42 races that year alone.

"That was my best year," reflected Simpson, "I had better horses then," he continued.

In racing that took him all through Ohio, Canada and the entire eastern seaboard, Simpson was on hand to race the first year at Brandywine, Ocean Downs, and Rosecroft. He also raced in Lexington, Kentucky, at the 'Big Red Mile', where horses set their records.

His best horse was out of West Virginia, called Stratstorm. He won over $18,000 with this horse and raced him for five years, when drivers took a purse of $300 or $400 with a winning race.

In addition to driving for nearly 14 years, Simpson also trained horses for several years. One of his memories of good horses he has trained was Royal Domain, driven by Stanley Dancer. This horse, said Simpson, won over $53,000 one year and went 59.2.5. He has also helped to train or work with horses of numerous area horsemen.

Simpson grew up in the area west of Harrington, and attended Prospect School. One of his more recent works at the hospital was of the school he attended, complete with the pot bellied stove. All the items he does are from memory.

He married his wife, Elizabeth, on his birthday in 1922. The couple farmed until their children, Leslie Jr. and Paul entered World War II. At that time, Simpson had 85 white head Herfords and 17 milk cows, as well as a hundred acres of truck farm. Shortly after the war, he began his racing career. "I got a thrill out of it all...had a big time and made a living", remarked Simpson. He got out of racing, he said, when he saw big business taking over. He never bet during the time he raced, "I knowed you couldn't win...I'm a poor loser", he said.

Leslie Simpson, Sr. views some of his miniature furniture he has created from memory.

the four hours a day he spends working on the miniature furniture, he watches television or plays dominos. He also has time to visit his family on occasional weekend. He especially enjoys his nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. It is certain they must enjoy his miniature wooden memories. As Mr. Simpson remarked of his infirmity and overcoming it, "You can help yourself-you can make it hard on yourself." He has, in helping himself, given pleasure to others with his craft.

Harrington Man Arrested

State police here said they had to subdue Thomas E. Wyatt, 24, of 303 Second Ave., Harrington, at his home after an alleged hit-run accident about 5:30 a.m. Saturday. Wyatt, arrested after a scuffle, was ordered held in Sussex Correctional Institution near Georgetown, in lieu of $4,200 bail on charges of a failure to report an accident, driving under the influence of alcohol, resisting arrest and driving during a period of license revocation.

Old St. Johnstown Church will hold its 196th Anniversary celebration in the form of a Homecoming Service, November 30, at 2 p.m. The Rev. Roy L. Tawes of Cannon Charge will be the speaker. There will be special music by Mrs. Mary Uhler, the Epworth Fellowship Trio from Laurel, the Ladies Trio from Lincoln Tabernacle, and the Salvation Singers, a group of boys from the Milton Area.

There will be a coffee hour after the service.

Cheer Center News: Week 17-21: Everyone at the Center has been working like Trojans getting ready for our sale on Friday, November 21. We had a good supply of crafts, baked goods, candy and homemade vegetable soup and potted plants. But the weather was not in our favor as it rained very hard all day. Nevertheless we sold many things and we were pleased with the proceeds.

We were very pleased to have with us as our guests on Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Lofland, Mr. and Mrs. Orton Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moyer.

Should anyone wish to buy any of our things we had ready for the sale, please stop at the Center between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. and we will be glad to sell them to you.

Everyone at the Center wishes all of you a Happy Thanksgiving. We will be closed Thursday and Friday, November 27 and 28.

Mrs. Belle Allen and Mrs. Lena Barwick were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barwick and family of Newark.

The Greenwood Bicentennial Committee announces two coming events which will be of interest to the general public.

On Sunday December 7th (Delaware Day) there will be a special program as a "Salute to Delaware". There will be music by a barber-shop quartet from Seaford. Ed Adams, a well known soloist with the Community Singers of Dover, will be a featured singer on the program.

The speaker will be James McKinstry of Wilmington. The program will be at 3 p.m. in the cafeteria of the

Cub Scout Pack 76 conducted a graduation and gave out awards at its November Pack meeting last Friday night.

Graduating from Pack 76 and going into Boy Scout Troop 76 was Scott Mc-Kenzie. Crossing over the bridge in a symbolic ceremony, Scott was received into his new Boy Scout troop by Assistant Scoutmaster James Russell and Advancement Chairman James Harris. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKenzie, were presented a certificate in acknowledgment of their participation in and support of Cub Scouting.

Prior to the graduation ceremony Scott received the Arrow of Light, Cub Scouting's highest award, as well as two Webelos activity badges: Woodoorsman and Citizen.

The Arrow of Light and graduation signify the final steps in the achievement program; earning the Bobcat badge marks its beginning. Seven boys made that beginning Friday night as they received their Bobcat pins and badges. They were Brian Baker of Den 1; Jeff Beene, Eddie Dennis and Mike Cole of Den 2, and Dale Dean, David Gagne and Glenn Homewood of Den 3. The award includes a pin which is to be worn upside down until a good deed is done. In a switch on the usual procedure, each Cub was turned upside down as his parent pinned on the award.

Other awards were presented as well. In Den 2 Gary Greer received the Wolf badge and Mike Cole was named Assistant Denner. Dale Dean of Den 3 also received Assistant Denner's badge.

Webelos activity badges were awarded as follows: Joe Watkinson-Traveler, Scholar, Outdoorsman, Forester, Naturalist; Tom Lord-Outdoorsman; Jeff Gustafson-Athlete; Kevin Willink-Citizen, Aquanaut, and James Goldsmith-Outdoorsman.

Jeff Gustafson was elected Assistant Denner for Webelos Den 2 and received his braid.

On Saturday the Webelos Scouts completed a series of four sessions at the Delaware State College Pool. These sessions were aimed at earning the Aquanaut badge.

On November 25 and December 2 Mr. James Holt of Delaware State Fire School will conduct first aid classes for the Webelos. This training is mandatory for the Arrow of Light. The classes, held from 6:45 to 8:30 p.m. will take the place of the regular Webelos meetings on those two evenings. Parents are urged to bring their sons and to remain and participate.

Cub Scout Pack 76 is currently at work on preparations for the December 6 Christmas Parade.

James Goldsmith of Harrington is now serving as Pack commissioner for Cub Scout Pack 76 of Harrington and Cub Scout Pack 141 of Felton. In this capacity he acts as liaison between the two packs and James Thompson, Scout Executive in Dover.

Competitive Events Held

Boy Scout Troop 76 of Harrington has been active in participating in a fall camporee and in work on merit badges. In addition the leadership has been expanded to include two people new to Troop 76, but familiar to Scouting in Harrington.

James Harris, former Scoutmaster of Troop 79 of Harrington, has joined 76 as its Advancement Chairman.

James Russell is now Assistant Scoutmaster for Troop 76. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Russell of Harrington, both active for many years in both Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts.

On November 7, 8, and 9, five Scouts - David Jones, Morris Wyatt, John Nickle, Larry Kibler, and Randy Brown - and Scoutmaster Gary Baughman participated in the Fall Camporee held by the Mid-Del District at Killens Pond. The weekend of camping included a number of competitive events for the various troops in the district.

On November 26 and December 3 James Holt of the Delaware State Fire School will conduct First Aid classes for Boy Scouts and leaders. The classes will be held from 6:45 until 8:30 p.m. and will count for the boys toward the earning of the First Merit Badge. Depending upon participation, the classes will be continued to complete the five hours required for scouts and the sixteen hours mandatory for leaders.

On November 10, Officer Jopp of the Harrington Police Department conducted the first of two finger printing classes for Troop 76. The second in the series will be on December 2 at 7 p.m. This work is toward the finger printing merit badge.

Christmas Concert Set

"CHRISTMAS IS COMING, the goose is getting fat, please to put a penny in the old man's hat.

The ancient and still popular song will be the focus for the Christmas concert of the Singing Players of Dover, at Del Tech's College West theater on Wednesday, December 3 at 8 o'clock. The concert is free and open to the public.

Woodbridge Junior High School. Refreshments will be served following the program. The admission price is $1. Tickets can be secured from any member of the Bicentennial Committee.

On Sunday January 4th we will sponsor a bus trip to the Valley Forge Chapel to attend the Annual Delaware Day service. For further information contact either Shirley Hamstead or Mary Cahall.

"Christmas is Coming" is also the title of a cantata by Siegmeyer and Wheeler with a dozen other well-known carols, also on the program.

The Bob Wagner band will accompany the players, and will provide a number of band arrangements of seasonal music in contemporary style.

A number of patriotic songs for the mixed chorus, as well as selections for both the men's and the women's choruses, will be presented. All participants will be garbed in Colonial dress. The Georgetown event is the second in a series of three which the Singing Players planned in each of Delaware's three counties. The next will be in Dover on "Delaware Day," December 7, and the first on December 1, is the Methodist Manor home, Kennett Pike, Wilmington.

Lake Forest Hockey Season Ends

Lake Forest's Hockey team closed out their regular season with a loss to Delmar, by a score of 3-2. Gail Coston and Karen Singleton accounted for the team's score with one goal each.

The girls completed their season with an overall record of 2-8-1. Leading scorer for the team was Gail Coston, who was also named Honorable-Mention to the All Henlopen Conference Team.

Seniors on the team are Brenda Moffett, Sherri Morris, Barbara Richter, Sherri Swain, and Anna Jackson. Next season looks promising with the return of the entire offensive line and the addition of two promising newcomers, Laura Newnom and speedster Maxine Harris.

After completion of their regular season the girls played an additional game against the Lake Forest women's Alumni. The game, which was played on Nov. 2, was won by the alumni 2-0.

The Used Car Transaction

Many people buying a car, particularly through a private sale, assume that because the registration sticker says that the tags are valid until June, they can drive on those tags until next June. Not being familiar with this fine point of Title 21, the Motor Vehicle Code, has cost many people $32.50 in fines and court cost for operating an unregistered vehicle, an expense which is greater than the cost of the registration.

Section 2501 states, "Whenever the owner of a vehicle...transfers or assigns his title or interest thereto, the registration of such vehicle shall expire." This means that if you buy a car from a private owner, the registration on that vehicle expires the instant the owner signs his name on the back of the title to transfer it to you, regardless of what expiration date is shown on the registration card or on the tags. At this point, the car must be taken to the Motor Vehicle Department, reinspected, and registered in the new owner's name. If the title is transferred before a private notary public, and not at the motor vehicle department, then a $2 moving permit should be obtained from the MVD before taking possession of the car from the original owner. To eliminate this expense and the additional trip to MVD, each MVD branch in the state has a notary public available to enable the entire process to be handled at one time. It is very important that the seller remember that when he signs the title over, he is transferring the title and not the ownership of the car. Until such time as the car is registered in the new owner's name, the seller remains the owner, and remains responsible for any civil liability created by the person now having custody of the car. In a recent case, a car was sold privately, and the title transferred. The car was never registered by the new owner, and was later involved in an accident. The motor vehicle files showed that the previous owner was still the owner, and he had no way of proving that he had sold the car. He was held responsible for damages.

The Delaware Department of Motor Vehicle offers a couple solutions to this problem. The obvious solution is for both parties in the sale to make the transaction at the motor vehicle department. In this way, the seller knows that the car is being registered to the buyer. If this is not done, the seller of a car disposed of through private sale should send a letter to MVD telling them when the car was sold to and when the title was transferred. This information is then entered in the MVD computer and kept with the original title folder until the car is registered to the new owner.

Anyone with specific questions may direct them to the Delaware State Police Public Information Office, P.O. Box 430, Dover, 19901.

It Seems To Me

By Janet Reed

Special clothes for holiday parties are fun and add to the festive occasion. But plan clothes to wear for festive events so they can be worn at other times of the year as well. With an eye on the budget this year, one can question the wisdom of seasonal clothes unless they can be varied for longer wear.

Long skirts can be worn with a variety of blouses or sweaters and the outfit will appear new with each wearing. Last year's skirt can be updated with a new blouse. Many of the blouses are tailored enough to be worn for daytime wear as well.

If the skirt fabric is one that is not obviously for evening wear, the material might even be reused at a later date. Or the skirt could be made over into one for daytime wear.

The choice of jewelry and accessories can bring your outfit into the festive class.

The youngsters may want special party clothes, too. If holiday clothes are made for growing children, they are not likely to fit by another year. Plan for detachable trim on garments of basic design. The trims could be replaced with seasonal variations during the year.

A snap-on Christmas tree can be replaced with a snap-on snowman, and later by a snap-on Valentine.

Most of the family clothing money should be spent on the clothes worn most frequently. Holiday clothes can be expensive and can wreck your clothing budget. With careful planning and the use of your creative skills you can have pretty festive clothes for very little money.

Lake Forest Girls Clash In Powder-Puff Football Game

The Lake Forest Athletic Booster Club recently sponsored a double header powder-puff football game which was played on Nov. 16 at the W.T. Chipman field.

The first game saw the senior and freshman girls of Lake Forest H.S. pitted against junior and sophomore girls, coached by Pat Dyal and Barbara Dougherty.

Senior Cheryl Lissy was named most valuable player of the first game, since efforts at quarterback were instrumental in leading her team to a 12-6 victory.

After completion of the first game a squad of All-Stars was chosen from the two high school teams and the All-Stars were faced by a team of several members of the Harrington and Lake Forest Women's Alumni. The alumni team included Carol Ann Porter, Kay Gruwel, Carol Hicks, Barbara Bullock, Joan Nichols, Cheryl Harrington, Beth Schulties, Donna Wetherhold, Diane Smith, Sue Ellen Dennis, Peggy Butler, Juanita Thompson, and Carol Anderson. The Alumni team was coached by Bill Morris and assisted by Bobby Butler.

The game was pretty much a rough and tumble defensive struggle which saw the Alumni emerge as the victor 6-0. Juanita Thompson was responsible for the lone score of the game and alumnus Diane Smith was named most Valuable defensive player of the game. The contests were both officiated by Ed Wheatley, Ed Garey and Fred Mertz.

Along with its many activities the Booster Club has submitted an application for the use of the W.T. Chipman gymnasium on one night of the week. The gym will be used for an adult recreation night, anyone 18 and over is invited to attend for a night of exercising and volley-ball. There will be an admission fee of $1 per person to cover the expense of the gym's use. The exact night that the gym will be open will be announced at a later date. An attempt is being made to have the gym available on Thursday nights from 7:30 to 9:30.

On this play the Spartan defense managed to stop Milford's Bryant Lake for a short gain for one of the few times on the night.

Lake Forest assistant coach Buck Starkey and Milford's team doctor inspect quarterback Neil Smith's hand following a third period injury. Smith returned to the game on the next play.

Spartans Lose Final Game

Lake Forest quarterback Neil Smith runs the quarterback keeper for a short gain last Friday at Milford.

One very bright spot last Friday night was the fact that the Spartans kept the Buccaneers from scoring any extra points. Here a Jamie Young kick is deflected wide.

Spartan head coach James Fleming ponders the situation before giving instructions to safety Lester Baldes.

Lake's Running Leads Milford to Victory In The Battle of the Bell

by Ray Blanchette

The season had no sooner ended with a defeat by Milford, 30-14, when Lake Forest head coach James Fleming began to look ahead to next year with the heavy crop of returning players.

Last Friday night was still this season, and despite the Spartans' valiant efforts throughout the game, they couldn't pull out a victory. This loss put their season record at 1-9. The record does not do the team justice as with a couple of breaks in all but a couple of games, the Spartans could have turned defeats into victories.

This past Friday was another case in point. With the exception of several inopportune breakdowns in the offensive line and the fact that the defense couldn't contain Milford's strong running attack, the Spartans could have won their second straight or made the score much closer. The Buccaneers' running attack was led by Cape Henlopen High School transfer Bryant Lake, who gained 255 yards rushing, including several yards on counter plays which had the Lake Forest defense befuddled all night.

Milford took a 12-0 lead before intermission but widened the gap to 24-0 before the Spartans could get on the scoreboard. Milford took a 6-0 lead late in the first quarter as their quarterback Bob O'Neil ran straight up the middle and outran the Spartan secondary for Milford's first score. Lake then finished the first-half scoring as he took Milford's second long touchdown on a 54 yard gallop.

The Spartan fans and players still had excellent hopes for a victory as the second half began, but Milford's Darryl Owens and Keith Kendzierski scored on 10 and 16 yard runs respectively to stake Milford to that 24-0 lead.

It was from this point, late in the third period, when the Spartans got on the scoreboard as senior standout Greg Pritchett swept right end and outran the Milford defense on his way to a 69 yard touchdown. Pritchett was a standout all night as he gained 126 yards on nine carries and made a superb effort on defense when he caught Bryant Lake from behind to temporarily halt a Milford score. Lake gained 72 yards on the play being stopped on the eight yard line by Pritchett. In the fourth period Lake scored again and the Spartans countered with a score of their own as Neil Smith passed five yards to Wayne Voshell for the final score of the night.

This final touchdown was set up by Mike Benson's interception which he returned 35 yards. On the night the Spartans had over 200 yards total offense split almost evenly rushing and passing. Smith completed four out of 17 on the evening, one of which went for 65 yards to end Wayne Voshell, who made a terrific over the shoulder spinning catch.

In looking ahead to next season, the Spartans will have the advantage of having a year's experience under the Wing-T system. Next season will also feature a big battle for the starting quarterback job with three main candidates already known, these being Billy Moore, Greg Shortell and Larry McCombs.

Girls Prepare For Opener

By Beth Schulties

Lake Forest's girls basketball team has started their preparation for the 1975-76 season. The girls had their first practice on Monday, Nov. 17. Coach Pat Dyal stated she was hopeful for another good season, after having a turnout of thirty-six girls for the first practice session.

Out of these candidates twelve will be chosen for the varsity team and fifteen for the junior varsity team.

Returning to the varsity will be standout Cheryl Lissy. A new hopeful is freshman Laura Newnom.

The team will begin competition this Saturday, Nov. 29, at 10 a.m. with a scrimmage against Cape Henlopen. Their season opener will be with Woodbridge at 4 p.m. on Dec. 16, at home, followed by a game with Delmar, also at home on Dec. 22. Admission is free.

Woodbridge hockey players making 1975 All Conference team are Pam Correll left, Coach Kay Smith, center, and Kelly Davis, right. Both players are seniors. This year's selection of Davis marks the fourth straight year she has made first team. She scored 23 goals for the season while Pam Correll a converted wing to inner scored 14 goals. Coach Smith said this week that "...I feel Kelly is the best hockey player in the state". She has a lot of natural ability, dedication and talent. The selection of Pam Correll marked the second time she has been selected to the first team All Conference. Last year as a junior, she was nominated to the second team.

Ask Questions Now Avoid Complaints Later

Consumer complaints about appliances often result from poor judgment when the appliance was purchased. If the consumer had selected wisely and asked some important questions, there might be more satisfaction with the appliance.

According to Coral Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware, consumers MAY be to blame for dissatisfaction. She cites the following guidelines for consumers to follow BEFORE purchasing an appliance:

1. Be sure there's enough room to move the appliance in and out of your home, to clean and service it, and provide ventilation around it.
2. Check gas or electricity to be sure they are adequate for the new appliance. Water supply and drain facility should be checked for washers, dishwashers and food waste disposers.

3. Consider appliance "size" in relation to family size and future needs.
4. Be sure you're satisfied with the brand, style, model and color of the appliance before it is installed.

5. Be sure you need, and will use, features which add to the purchase price.
6. Be sure the appliance is rugged enough to meet your needs; that there's high quality in the appliance finish and trim, working components and decorative parts; that it's easy to maintain and that it works as claimed by the seller. Ask if a demonstration is possible.

7. Ask about the warranty before you buy and be sure you understand what it does—and doesn't—provide.
8. Consider the availability of competent nearby service.

9. Look for seals verifying that certain performance and safety requirements have been met. The Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers (AHAM) verifies claims by manufacturers on the performance of room air conditioners, refrigerator-freezers, humidifiers and dehumidifiers. Underwriters Laboratories' (UL) labels on electrical appliances and American Gas Association Laboratories' (AGA) seals on gas appliances assure that certain safety standards are being met on all units of that model and brand.

10. Compare the efficiencies or otherwise similar units and consider the "size" of various models in terms of what each will cost to operate.

Labels on the appliance itself and data available from dealers, manufacturers and industry trade organizations can be most helpful. Ms. Morris points out.

HIGHLIGHTS OF AMERICAN HISTORY

FIRST STARS AND STRIPES ON THE OCEAN

The first American flag was raised on the ocean July 4, 1777, a month after Congress passed the resolution authorizing the adoption of our national Stars and Stripes.

Captain John Paul Jones, the newly appointed commander of the "Ranger," received and raised the flag with appropriate ceremony aboard the ship in commemoration of the first anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Several young ladies from Portsmouth, New Hampshire, held a flag-making bee to fashion the huge national flag specially for the popular Captain Jones.

DECA Officers Attend Conference

Local Distributive Education Chapter officers from the Sussex Vocational-Technical Center attended the North Atlantic Regional Development conference on November 9, 10 and 11.

The Concord Hotel, Kiamasha Lake, New York, was the site for the gathering of fifteen hundred students from Maine, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, Vermont, Rhode Island and Delaware. The State of Delaware was represented by one hundred fifty, of which were from Sussex Voc. Tech. Center.

DECA's senior officers traveling to this conference from Sussex County were: President, Hope Thompson, Cape Henlopen; Vice-President, Jonathan McNair, Cape Henlopen; Secretary, Pat Kust, Woodbridge; Treasurer, Marie Wootten, Laurel; Parliamentarian, Jean Downs, Cape Henlopen; Reporter, Crystal Baker, Indian River; Historian, Kate Niblett, Sussex Central; and Chaplain, Vincent LaCourt, Indian River. Also attending were two junior officers: President, Ray Shazier, Indian River and Secretary, Susie Predeoux, Indian River. Accompanying the students were their advisors, Mr. William Simpson, Distributive Education Teacher and Ms. Kathy Bar-to, Vocational Youth Organizations Advisor.

During the course of the conference, students were involved in work shops, sales projects and social developmental functions. The workshops were oriented toward individual students to help them understand and develop leadership qualities and in-depth exploration in DECA competitive events.

Social development hours were scheduled to give the students the opportunity to meet fellow delegates and junior businessmen.

The Sussex Voc. Tech. students operated an Instant Button Booth where they sold name and novelty buttons during free time to help support the cost of the trip.

The conference was well organized, educationally worthwhile, and enjoyable.

Town and Country

In the dull days of January and February some flowering bulbs indoors could add a touch of spring to your day. Spring flowering bulbs can be forced into flower for indoor use. Tender bulbs such as paper-white, narcissus, and hardy bulbs such as tulips, hyacinths, and crocus and some of the smaller bulbs can be forced for indoor use.

Pot bulbs in special bulb pans or use regular pots or any container having good drainage. The hardy bulbs should be potted in soil mixes such as 1/3 peat, 1/3 garden soil, and 1/3 sand. Soilless mixes can also be used. The tender bulbs can be rooted directly in water without the use of soil. In potting the bulbs fill the pot about a quarter full with the soil mix and place as many bulbs as will fit in each pot leaving 1 1/2 inch between each bulb. Be sure they are right side up. The pointed end is the top. Cover them with soil so that the top of the bulb is about 1/2 inch below the soil leaving 1/2 inch between the soil line and the rim of the pot for watering. Soak thoroughly with water immediately after potting. Put a label in each pot with the variety and name of the bulb. The pots then should be placed in a cool dark place such as a pit, cold frame, unheated garage where the temperature will be around 40-50 degrees. Placed in this environment the bulbs will root in five to eight weeks. During this time of rooting the pots should be checked to keep them from drying out completely. Water when necessary. When they are well rooted they can be brought into the house and placed in a cool area. Keep the plants out of direct sunlight for about two weeks. After the plants have made a few inches of top growth bring them into full sunlight where the temperature is 65-75 degrees. Keep the soil moist at all times.

We have received in our office the 1976 edition of the Farmers Tax Guide issued by the Internal Revenue Service. This is available to all those desiring one. Please stop in and pick one up or call 736-1448 and we will be happy to mail you one.

Winter Registration

At Del Tech Is Dec. 1-2

Registration for Winter Quarter classes at the Kent Campus of Delaware Tech and Community College, Dover, will be held on December 1, and 2, 1975, between 8:30 and 9 p.m., according to Dr. Gary Frank Petty, Campus Director.

Department Chairman, faculty, and counseling staff will be on hand both days to discuss educational plans, and to advise prospective students about Del Tech admission requirements, financial aid, and courses offered.

A special registration for Kent Campus classes taught at Dover Air Force Base will be held in Building 520, Room 227, but the registration will be scheduled from November 24 to December 4. The longer period has been planned to accommodate the complex schedules of DAFB personnel who may call 678-4665 for further information.

Kent Campus offers regular curriculum classes in day and evening hours, plus a variety of non-credit special interest classes for the personal enjoyment of county residents.

For complete information on day and evening classes, and counseling, prospective students are urged to drop by the campus at 1832 North DuPont Parkway, Dover, to pick up course schedules and listings.

Special recognition at Homestead AFB, Fla., has been accorded to Airman David E. Bragg, son of Air Force Master Sergeant and Mrs. Ceibert C. Bragg of Greenwood.

Airman Bragg, an administrative specialist, was selected Outstanding Airman of the Month in recognition of exemplary conduct and duety performance. He is assigned to the 31st Field Maintenance Squadron, a part of the Tactical Air Command.

A 1972 graduate of Wood-bridge High School in Bridgeville, the airman has studied at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va. coming events

LET'S TALK TURKEY

For good reason, Benjamin Franklin suggested the turkey as a more fitting emblem for America than the eagle: Wild turkey fed both the Virginia and New England colonists. It was the main dish at that first Thanksgiving. Few colonists had ever seen an eagle.

When an American says: "Let's talk turkey," you know what he means is, "Let's get down to the main issue of what is yours and what is mine and how we can share fairly."

All of which leads us to Thanksgiving dinner and one of the recipes traditionally used—Old Fashioned Stuffing, made with packaged herb seasoned stuffing to which only onions and celery have been added.

Railway Club

Sponsors Show

The Diamond State Model Railway Club will sponsor a public show at the Milford Hobby Center, 1 N. Walnut Street, Milford, on Sunday, November 30.

The public show will feature displays of model railroad equipment, operating layout and exhibits. Show hours are from 11 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Mayor Herman McNatt of Milford has proclaimed Sunday as Model Railroad Day in Milford because of the event.

The Huron Indians had men who preached to fish and persuaded them to come and be caught.

Bicentennial Farm Features

A Special Series from Sperry New Holland

Turkey Drivers Clogged Turn of Century Roads

Nearly every boatload of settlers that came to the New World in the 17th and 18th Centuries brought with it at least a few chickens. Chickens were easy to feed and maintain, they supplied eggs and meat on the long voyage, and they became a mainstay of nearly every Colonial farm.

Every farmer kept a few "dung-hill fowl" for family use, geese to pluck for feather beds and pillows, and a few ducks. Wild turkeys were abundant, but there were some domesticated turkeys, too. Interestingly enough, while Europeans first saw turkeys in the New World, it was in Europe that the bird was domesticated.

Surplus meat and eggs, beyond the needs of the family, were disposed of to customers in town or bartered at the country store. Not until after the Revolution was there much interest in poultry production as a commercial enterprise.

At the beginning of the 19th Century poultry roamed pretty much at will sometimes sharing the farm living quarters.

Around the beginning of the 19th Century, poultry husbandry in the colonies was in a sorry state. Chickens, geese and turkeys roamed pretty much at will, even, in some instances, sharing the living quarters of the settlers. The Swedes and the Finns, particularly, opened their doors to chickens in the New World as they had for centuries in the Old.

These early fowl ate whatever they could wherever they found it. They were found particularly on the colonial manure piles. They foraged in the fields for weeds and insects, and might live their entire lives without so much as a kernel of home grown grain.

The chickens of the day were a mongrel lot of assorted sizes, colors and degrees of inefficiency in both meat and egg production.

During the hey-day of the drover, from 1790 to about 1830, large flocks of turkeys and geese were driven to urban centers for marketing. These flocks must have provided some of the most colorful sights on colonial roads, and some of the most frustrating moments in the lives of the drovers.

Julius F. Sachse, an observer of the day, gave this account of turkey driving on the road to Philadelphia:

"One of the curious sights common in the fall of the year were flocks or armies of fowls, generally turkeys, but now and then geese, being driven toward the city. This was not an easy task. They were apt to crowd together and trample each other to death. To prevent this, they were divided into lots of 50-75 with a 'shooper' in charge of each lot. He had a long pole with a piece of red flannel fastened to the end. The best time made on the road was not much over a mile an hour.

"As soon as it commenced to grow dark the fun began. The birds were determined to go to roost and notwithstanding all the efforts of the drivers they generally did. The stampede usually took place in passing an orchard or grove of trees. In much less time than it takes to tell it the trees were black with birds and the day's journey was ended for the turkeys. Not so for the drivers, who had to watch the birds all night to prevent theft."

A wave of optimism for poultry production swept over eastern enthusiasts shortly after the Civil War. These mostly urban amateurs were swept off their feet in such great numbers that a contemporary farm paper poetically observed:

Lawyers and doctors and divines,
All their practice have resigned;
And to improve the breed of hens

All their talents have combined.

Prices of breeding stock, especially imported fowls, soared sky-high with the interest of these backyard breeders. Although very few practical farmers were afflicted with this hen fever, some permanent improvement in chickens resulted. Even so, there was little real progress in commercial poultry husbandry until after 1880.

Agrifacts . . .

The Whiskey Rebellion of 1794 was a revolt of frontier farmers against a tax on grain in the form of whiskey.

Bicentennial Salute To Youth And Education

The Greenwood Hi-Flyers 4-H Club as they looked after their performance on Saturday evening at Del Tech during the Bicentennial Salute to Youth and Education. The skit which the group presented was "The History of Greenwood". They traced the founding with Samuel Pennwell who gave the Town its name due to so many evergreens in the area. Pennwell later became a Governor of Delaware. The players left to right back row are as follows: Kenneth Cannon, Dawn Hall, Kay Andrews, Virginia Pratt, Kay Pratt, Carol Cox, and Doug Griffin; front row: Renee Vincent, Veronica Andres, Karla Cannon, and Nora Kay Cannon.

Alice milliker of Seaford is pictured demonstrating her quilting art at the Youth Bicentennial gathering at Georgetown on Saturday. She explained that she makes the quilts for her immediate family. They are put together by sewing strips of goods together with a polly-fill between the strips. There are many different patterns featured in quilting like the double wedding ring, the fam and the like. She also displays her quilts each year through the grange at the Delaware State Fair.

Mildred Williams of near Cannon demonstrates the art of tole painting. She is also known for her reverse painting of china which is an old art. It was originally seen on the bottom glass portions of old clocks where the pendulums could be seen. Mrs. Williams expected at the Thanksgiving Arts & Crafts Show this weekend at the Chipman School.

Mrs. Ruby Adkins of Arsonsbury, Md. demonstrates the art of soap making at the Bicentennial Youth Salute on Saturday at Del. Tech. Her recipe calls for: 2 1/2 pints of cold water, 2 112 pints of grease, 1 cup of borax, and 1 box of lye. The young lady watching is Beth Williams, a sophomore from Delmar who is a member of the FHA.
