Truck Problem Solution: $$$$

The City of Harrington can solve its problem of truck traffic, it is willing to foot the ultimate $350,000 bill. This figure was presented by Perry Smith, a member of the Advance Planning area of the State Highway Department during the January Council meeting Monday night.

Requests by citizens of Reese Avenue and the narrow section of Route 14 that becomes Commerce Street in Harrington prompted an on-going study made by the State Highway Department since August of 1975 to look into possible alternatives to the two-headed problem facing the City.

Since the installation of the Burris Plant near Reese Avenue and the use of the trucks to and from that facility, citizens of Reese Avenue have complained about the discomforts they say have resulted in the increased number of trucks using their street.

Earl McColley, a councilman of the sixth ward, also a resident of Reese Avenue, has been a vocal advocate of getting the trucks off Reese Avenue before becoming a council member. Since then, he has made concerted efforts to remove the truck traffic from the street and from the main section of town, which he remarks is too narrow for large trucks.

Smith proposed two steps to an ultimate removal of trucks from the problem areas. One would involve offering the Burris Plant a new entrance onto the Farmington road, thereby eliminating trucks from the Reese Avenue entrance. This would be an expense of the City, in the opinion of Planning and Zoning president, Gary Homewood. $15,000 in road work would be needed at the intersection west of town, where the trucks would enter and exit the Farmington road. This could be a first phase of a two-step plan to ultimately remove trucks from these two areas in the City.

Truck traffic might be routed from rt. 14 on road 316, to and from U.S. Route 13 to proceed onto Delaware rt. 14 again. Major work would be needed, according to Smith, at the point where the trucks would enter onto Route 13 south of this City Fairgrounds intersection, which, according to Planning and Zoning member Jimmy Callaway, is already a dangerous one.

The two plans would ultimately cost $350,000. In order to raise the necessary amount, a request would have to be entered into the General Assembly and be put into a bond bill with earliest time to possible action, in 1977.

In a study made by the Highway Department of the problem areas in the City, during a twelve-hour period between the hours of 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in August, 98 trucks came in and out of the west side of Harrington, through Harrington 88 trucks were counted during the period, near the intersection of U.S. 13 and Rt. 14 100 trucks were counted and 20 were counted on according to Smith, at the point where the trucks would enter onto Rt. 13, south of the City Fairgrounds intersection, according to Planning and Zoning memberments to East Street.

In other business of the council, Ray Gagne's request to rezone his property behind Stone's Hotel to Commercial 2 was approved by the Council. The zoning had been residential prior to last night's ruling.

It was reported that two candidates for policeman have been narrowed down from a field of 17 applicants. These are to be interviewed by City Manager Bobby Quillen during the month. Action is pending for the February meeting.

In closing remarks, Mayor William Minner expressed his appreciation for the work done by William Griffin, retiring councilman from the second ward, who is not seeking reelection.

Two dates to mark on the calendar are the annual citizens' meeting, this Friday night at 7:30 p.m. at the Harrington Fire House and the noncontest election Tuesday, January 13, from 12 noon to 7 p.m. at Harrington City Hall. Citizens in wards two and four will be voting.

A chilling rain saw Harrington Firemen hose down a potentially dangerous propane gas truck which, driven by Donald, 44, of Harrington, flipped over in the north-bound intersection of U.S. Rte. No. 13 and Delaware Rte. No. 14 around 4:00 P.M. New Year's Eve. According to police, Dean was charged with making an improper turn. His truck struck the car of Richard Feague, 19, of Frederica. SP-5 Becky Christensen, 20, a passenger in the Feague vehicle was treated for abrasions of the knee and released from Milford Memorial Hospital.

It took nearly 2 hrs to clear the intersection and right the overturned truck. The latter was done by Buck Hopkins of Harrington.

Terry Johnson, 31, a Harrington Fireman, while directing traffic following the accident was struck by John Eisenbrey, 46, of Houston. Johnson was treated for vertebrae injuries and released from Milford Memorial Hospital. According to police Eisenbrey did not see Johnson and was not charged.

Felton Renews Trash Contract

The Mayor and Town Council members Monday night voted to extend N.L. Wilkins another year on his trash pick-up for the Town of Felton. The contract price per month was $329. This will allow two pick-ups per week on Tuesday and Fridays. Last year's contract was $315. As Mayor William Myers pointed out, "Everything is going up." He further added Wilkins has spoken to him about the prospects of having one dumpster in the Town with the townspeople coming to the one spot with their trash. Myers was not in favor of that proposal.

The Mayor announced the Town had agreed to hire Gary Brown of McCauley's pond as their new police chief. Brown will replace John Filmore who will fill a magistrate's post. Brown has been associated with the Milford Police Department and the Houston Police Department.

In other matters before the council, it was agreed to pay bills outstanding which amounted to $1,549.63. This figure included two bills from Suburban Propane Gas Company for two months. The electric bill for the Little League Ball Park $294 and the street lights amounted were $305.55 for the past month.

The bill for the fencing around the new memorial on Main St. will be paid park for through donations from various businesses and townspeople. The Felton Fire Company Ladies Auxillary donated the flag pole and flag for the new memorial park. Councilman Don Jacobs suggested the Ladies Auxillary of the V.F.W. sponsor a flag raising on Memorial Day.

Reports of the new memorial park reflect the nearing completion of the project. Councilman Don Jacobs has spent a great deal of time working on it. The plaque has been installed and the names of the war dead have been inscribed. A wooded panel fence has been partially erected around the property. The Mayor indicated Monday night the park now needs a name.

There is some concrete work to be done to the area and Paul Chambers of ARC Builders of Viola has submitted the first and only written bid with specifications spelled out in the amount of $600.

Councilman Joseph Winnegar reported that Fred Greenley, Jr. wants to set up a lock smith shop in the garage on his property on High Street. The councilman agreed that he could do this inasmuch as it did not appear to harm the neighbors. According to Winnegar, Greenley would not engage in the sale of locks, but that he would merely fix and repair them.

Recently in Felton there has been two crimes have been committed involving sex. Councilman Dwight Stephens reported that the pulse of the community was rather upsetting. Mayor Myers reports that over 40 widows live in the Town and he has received calls from many voicing their concern over recent happenings. Stephens said "something must be done about it."

Area Student To Study In England

Thirteen Delaware students will soon fly to England for three weeks' research on the Revolutionary War period.

The program, which will bring English students to Delaware next spring, was developed by the State Department of Public Instruction. It is financed under Title III of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act and directed by John Morgan, a former social studies teacher at Middletown High School.

The students, four boys and nine girls, will leave from Philadelphia Airport Thursday evening, January 15, and will be greeted in London by school officials of Kent County, England.

They will live with the families of their counterparts in the exchange and center their research on the Kent County Archives in Maidstone, which contains documents that date from the Revolution.

Their itinerary also includes tours of London, the House of Commons, Winchester, and Oxford, and a reception at Heaver Castle.

The students will return February 8 and report their findings to school and community groups. The English students will visit Delaware for two months beginning in April. (continued to page 8)

Members of the Drew University's Theological School Choir will give a program of interpretive religious music and dance Monday night here at Trinity United Methodist Church. There is no charge for the 8 p.m. concert, although an offering will be taken to help meet

The men of the choir will open the program with a plainsong hymn from the 9th century, "Veni Creator," followed by a 20th century setting to popular music of the same text by Jeanne Sittler.

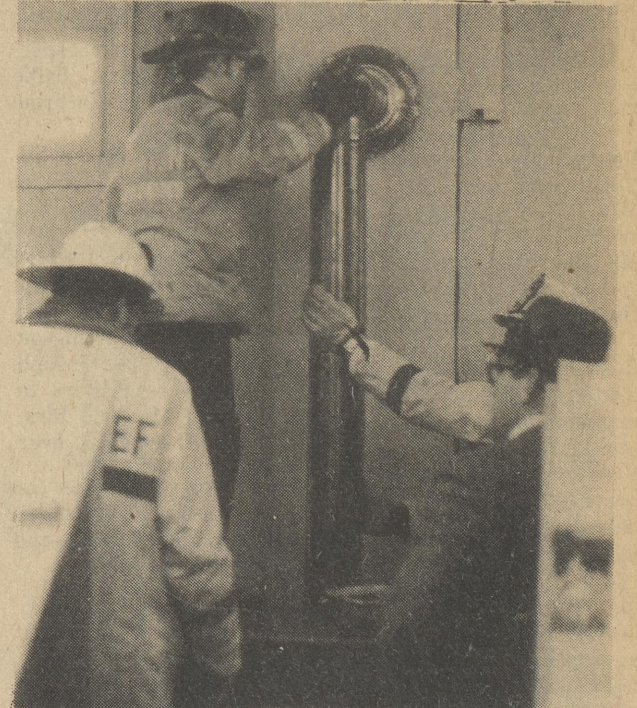

The women will be heard alone in Mendelssohn's "Lift Thine Eyes" from his popular oratoria, "Elijah," while

The Green Thumb

S. Derby Walker, Jr.

If you are planning on having a fresh, live Christmas tree, then start preparing for it. A live tree needs special care to keep it alive and fresh over Christmas and through the winter.

Dig the hole for the tree now, that is when the soil is not frozen. Fill the hole with mulch and mark it so no one will fall in it. Keep the soil in the garage or a cool basement so it won't be frozen when you are ready to plant the tree.

Usually it is best to plant the tree in the back yard as a specimen tree, as part of screen, windbreak or as a background plant. Remember, spruce, pine and other Christmas trees often reach heights of 40 to 80 feet. Give them room to grow to prevent having to cut them down. Don't plant the tree next to the house because they will be too big in a few years.

Keep the tree inside for as short a time as possible (under five days), also gradually change the temperature; one day in the garage, one day in a cool basement and then into the room where it will be decorated. Reverse the process when moving outside. Spraying a plastic anti-desiccant on foliage before you bring the tree in may help prevent drying out.

Water the tree as a house plant, water frequently and thoroughly but don't let the soil become dried out or water logged.

Keep the room temperature as cool as possible, especially at night. Be sure that it does not receive any direct sunlight. Never place tree next to heat source because it dries out too much. Also, don't use too many lights especially if they give off a lot of heat.

Plant the tree outdoors as soon after Christmas as possible. You can hold the tree in an unheated garage for a few days but be sure to insulate the roots. Insulation, such as straw, vermiculite, sawdust or styrofoam will prevent roots from freezing or drying out.

Use the unfrozen soil to firm the soil around the roots to prevent air pockets. You can add fertilizer in the spring but not very much. Mulch the tree and water well. If we have a dry year, be sure to water every 20 to 30 days when ground is not frozen. Repeat the antidesiccant spray every month to help keep the leaves from drying out.

With some care you can have a live Christmas tree this year and a yard tree for many years.

Many of you will be receiving fresh cut flowers as a Christmas Bouquet. You can enjoy these flowers longer if you follow a few simple steps: 1) Be sure your container or flower holder is clean. Non-metallic containers are usually the best. 2) Strip off the leaves that will be below the water level. 3) Make a fresh cut on each stem with a sharp knife just before placing the flowers in water. 4) Warm water of about 110 degrees, or as warm as your hand can stand should be used. 5) Flower preservatives also help, follow the directions on the package of preservative. 6) Refill the container with water as it evaporates. For best results, change the water after several days. Don't change it if you use a preservative, just add to it.

QUALITY, ECONOMY go hand in hand here!

"...nonetheless it is important that we celebrate the Bicentennial"

With the coming of the new year, it is time we considered making plans for a Bicentennial day for the City of Harrington. Money has been set aside by the County Levy Court to enable the City to have a festival day.

Mayor Minner on several occasions has appointed a committee to handle the matter. It will be too late to start proceedings later in the year for such an occasion. The time to make preparations for such a date is now.

If the committee and its membership does not see fit to act on this matter, it will be incumbent upon the service organizations of the City to respond... and respond immediately. I feel quite certain that they will get the wholehearted support of the Mayor.

There are other pressing matters for the City to consider this year, but this is now the Bicentennial year.

FROM THE FRYING PAN...

Well, here it is, the Bicentennial. Although presented in several versions, notably bi-centennial or bicentennial or Bi-centennial, when we refer to the 200th celebration of our nation, it is the Bicentennial.

Already there are comments about being sick and tired of having to hear about the Bicentennial. Certain members of our country no doubt will cringe at the thought of Bicentennial sneakers, ear plugs, heating pads, q-tips, and the like. The fact remains, this is a birthday party, and one that every American is invited to join in on.

Locally, the birthday hasn't gotten underway yet. It's been a long time since that prominent fellow from Fairfax went on to his reward so it's doubtful that "George will do it" for us.

The JAYCEES have already set the stage for us with their successful Christmas parade of which "A Revolutionary Christmas" was interpreted (quite cleverly in several instances) by entries during the Christmas Parade here.

Councilman William Shaw heads the committee regarding the Bicentennial in Harrington. Several people from the community will be meeting with him in the next several weeks. They will surely welcome reasonable suggestions.

Other communities near us have already begun to celebrate the beginning of our nation's birth. It is time the spirit of '76 begins to show itself here to commemorate that first '76.

Career Corner

By Buck Thompson

Forestry's a field that appeals to nearly everyone who enjoys getting close to nature. But before you get your hopes up, remember this: forestry is more than tramping through the woods - it's serious business that calls for technical know-how. Moreover, competition for jobs will be rugged.

Traditionally, about half of forestry grads entered government service and the balance joined private industry. A dramatic change in this ratio, beginning with federal staff reductions in the late 1960's, has encouraged more foresters to seek jobs outside the government.

Not all of this year's grads landed forestry jobs. Some found employment in forestry-related fields. Others are unemployed. What about tomorrow, when you graduate? We can't see forestry's future, but employment in this field is heavily dependent on the government spending which changes from year to year.

Foresters supervise forestry aides and forestry technicians to protect the natural resources found in forests such as trees, plants, wildlife, soil, and water supplies.

Other duties include preparing and revising plans for the planting and cutting of trees ... supervising the processing, marketing, and use of such forest products as wood pulp for paper ... designing methods of flood control. Some foresters are also mathematicians, scientists, teachers or engineers.

According to the Society of American Foresters, there are about 30,000 foresters in the U.S. Roughly one-third work for the federal government, primarily in the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture. The remainder work for state and local governments, private industry, colleges and universities, and consulting firms. A small number are self-employed.

A bachelor's degree with a major in forestry is the minimum educational requirement for professional foresters. To teach or work in research, you'll probably need a master's degree or doctorate. Forestry programs are offered by 52 colleges and universities, of which 40 are accredited by the Society of American Foresters. Many foresters specialize in one area such as timber management, recreation development, or research.

Annual starting salaries for beginning foresters with a bachelor's degree range between $8,500 and $10,520 for government employees; and $7,600 and $11,800 in private industry. Experienced foresters may earn as much as $30,000 a year.

You can't count on getting the job you want after graduation. Still, prospects can be considered favorable if you're at least an average student, an enthusiastic worker, and are willing to relocate. Highly motivated young men and women can carve a good career in forestry.

Weekly Report
by Senator Joseph Biden

The Second Session of the 94th Congress will be convening in the near future, and it therefore seems an appropriate time to take a brief look at some of the important things I think will be coming before the Congress in coming months.

Rather than attempting to give an extensive "laundry list" of important pieces of legislation which will be before Congress (and any such list would be very long), I'd like to concentrate on just three or four areas that I think are of importance.

I think the first priority -- one that is shared by all of us -- is the state of the economy.

Too many people are still out of work.

Inflation is still too high. Without predicting what might happen on specific bills, I think the need is to continue efforts to hold down as much as possible on Federal spending (to ease inflation), while at the same time channeling Federal programs as much as possible into efforts which will put people back to work.

Related to the state of the economy is the on-going questions of energy. Much yet remains to be done, from settling the question of now we price natural gas to the future of efforts to free us from imported petroleum. It seems to me that rather than the piece-meal approach that has characterized past debates, we need to establish a special Congressional committee and charge it with the full responsibility of dealing with energy legislation. I suggested such a course of action many months ago -- and I think it is more needed now than it was then.

A third area of special importance continues to be American foreign policy.

In this area, my major concern is not only the policy itself, by how we set that policy, Congress still has a long way to go before it has retrieved from the Presidency all of its Constitutional powers which have either been given or taken away over the course of decades. In the aftermath of our experience in Vietnam, I find it depressing that Congress has still not come to grips with its own responsibility in the area of foreign affairs.

Finally, there is the on-going issue of Congressional reform -- reform not only of Congressional institutions, but also in the way we deal especially the new Budget Committees which have been set up to deal with Federal spending -- Congress has made a good start. But more remains to be done. I think procedure (as opposed to the substance of an issue) is important. There are hopeful signs that Congress itself recognizes this, and that we can get on with reforms that will enable us to better deal with the growing complexity of the issues that come before us.

One last thing: To each of you, let me take this occasion to wish you a most happy and prosperous New Year.

Thoughts.... By Senator William Roth

Earlier forecasts of natural gas supplies for this winter were bleak. Severe shortages were anticipated, especially in the mid-Atlantic states served by interstate pipelines.

More recent assessments indicate that shortages may be significantly less serious than had been expected. One reason is the relatively mild weather. Another is the interim steps taken by local gas companies to acquire more gas from producing regions in the Southwest.

But I believe we must recognize that should the weather turn much colder, natural gas shortages could still occur and could cause serious economic disruptions in Delaware. In that case, there would be no effective natural gas legislation on the books to deal properly with emergency shortages.

Natural is particularly important to Delaware. Our state is heavily dependent on gas for home and commercial heating, agriculture processing, and petrochemical feedstocks. Last winter, we escaped large-scale plant shut-downs and job losses because temperatures were relatively mild and business activity had declined. Now business activity has picked up, and it is foolish to be dependent on mild weather.

The Senate has passed meaningful natural gas legislation which includes standby emergency powers to deal with shortages this winter, if and when they should occur.

Unfortunately, the House of Representatives has not completed action on the Senate bill or on any substantive alternative. Nor is action now possible before much of the coldest weather occurs.

I think this is a serious failure on the part of the House. If the weather turns significantly colder, the House's inaction could leave many areas at the mercy of natural gas shortages, without the emergency relief provided in the Senate-passed legislation.

What the situation requires is speedy action by the House on legislation which provides emergency powers to deal effectively with any natural gas shortages this winter and which encourages fuel conservation and the development of additional natural gas resources for the future.

If we're to have any effective natural gas legislation this winter, this must be made a priority matter in the House.

Open Letter to Chipman Parents

January 5, 1976

Dear Parents,

Here we are again at the beginning of a new year. For many of us the new year brings a feeling that this is the time to make a fresh start. What New Year's resolutions did you make? I hope that each family in our school district has resolved to spend more time together and to find ways to let each other know that they care. For my part, I am going to try to be more patient, to avoid getting so caught up in the rush that I make people feel that I don't really have time for them.

This week in class we are going to be looking at a filmstrip dealing with feelings. As you will recall, we did spend some time in learning about basic psychological needs. We also discussed ways to understand and get along with parents. The filmstrip will take us a little deeper into owning our feelings and identifying the sources of our feelings. Following this study of feelings we will be attempting to make use of our new knowledge by improving our skills in getting along with other people, especially our own brothers and sisters.

I hope that you have seen and are still seeing some changes in your seventh grader's attitude toward you -- more cooperation, more warmth, and more willingness to talk to you. It would be helpful if you would encourage your child to talk to you about what we are doing in class. If you can get him (or her) to discuss this week's filmstrip with you without being unpleasantly insistent, both you and your child will benefit.

Until next week...

Sincerely,
Sarah S. Webb

Tax Law Changes Can Lead To Savings For Taxpayers

Remember how welcome that tax rebate was last spring? Well, the rebate was only one small part of a new law that can lead to additional tax savings for millions of Americans filing returns this year.

For instance, the "low income allowance" -- a tax-free allowance designed to remove low income taxpayers from the tax rolls -- has been increased to $1,600 for a single taxpayer, to $1,900 for married persons filing jointly and to $950 for married persons filing separately. This, of course, is above and beyond the $750 provided per exemption.

Generally, to figure the amount on which a taxpayer must first pay tax, add $750 for each exemption to the low income allowance. A single person, therefore could earn up to $2,350 tax free; couples without children up to $3,400. As another example, a married couple filing jointly with three children normally would be entitled to five exemptions (one exemption for husband, wife, and each child). This means the family would not have to pay tax on income up to $5,650 ($750 x 5 = $3,750; $3,750 plus $1,900 = $5,650).

In addition to boosting the low income allowance, the new legislation also has increased the standard deduction to 16 per cent of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income, to a maximum of $2,300 for single persons, $2,600 for married couples filing joint returns and $1,300 for married persons filing separate returns.

Taxpayers should use the standard deduction only if he exceeds itemized deductions. To see how the standard deduction works, take the case of a husband and wife who have an adjusted gross income of $15,000 and file a joint return. If they claim the standard deduction they would subtract $2,400 (16 per cent of $15,000) from their adjusted gross income. If the couple could only claim $2,200 in itemized deductions, they should claim the larger standard deduction.

Taxpayers should compute their tax both on the standard deduction and on itemized deductions to determine which way they come out ahead.

Something else that's new in the law will not affect 1975 taxes, but generally will shrink many a tax bill for 1976 and thereafter. The change is in the child and dependent care law. Basically the law permits a taxpayer to deduct a maximum of $400 a month, as an itemized deduction, for the cost of caring for a child or for a disabled dependent or disabled spouse, while the taxpayer is employed on a job or looking for work.

Although the change does not increase the maximum monthly deduction, it does allow taxpayers to earn more money without experiencing a drop in the deduction permitted. Previously, taxpayers with an annual adjusted gross income over $18,000 could not claim the entire deduction. They have had to reduce their otherwise allowable expense by one-half the amount over $18,000, so that taxpayers with an adjusted gross income of over $27,600 have not been permitted to deduct any household and dependent care expenses.

With the change in the law, individuals may have as much as $35,000 in adjusted gross income in 1976 and still qualify for the full child and dependent care deduction. The deduction will not be phased out entirely until taxpayers' income exceeds $44,600.

In any case, before claiming the child care and dependent care deduction, taxpayers should read the instructions provided with their tax forms very carefully. If they still have a question about eligibility or how to compute the deduction, taxpayers should call their nearest Internal Revenue Service office toll free. It's particularly important to remember that the higher limit on adjusted gross income will not take effect for most taxpayers until 1976.

24 - Public Speaking Contest, Substation 1 p.m.

The year of our country's 200th birthday is here. Many will be participating in events that will highlight America's past, but let's stop a minute and think of her future. There are many young people in our country just waiting for the opportunity to become involved and learn to be better citizens and leaders. 4-H offers the kind of program that can help these young people make this desire a reality. The one thing that stops us from providing this program to everyone is the lack of adult volunteer leaders. All it takes to become a volunteer leader is a little time, a desire to help young people, and a dedication to our country's future. Why don't you make a New Year's resolution to find out more about how to become a volunteer 4-H leader?

4-H is open to all youth between the ages of 8 - 19 years of age. For more information you can call the Office at 856-5250. Do it today! What better way can you find to celebrate America's birthday than to guarantee her future?

4-H leaders are reminded to attend our bi-monthly meeting on next Tuesday night at the University of Del. Substation, 7:30 p.m. Our tentative schedule of events and highlights of our executive meetings will be presented.

Club meetings for next week are: Bridgeville Pioneers, Cokesbury, Bridgeville Live Wires and Sycamore on Monday and Belltown, Dublin Hill and Shawnee on Thursday.

Lead Poisoning Service Offered

A lead poisoning screening service is being added to the Kent County Health Unit's Child Health Clinic, according to Dr. Athena Nicholas, Kent County Health Officer.

Beginning Thursday, January 8, blood lead screening will be available every Thursday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Unit's Child Health Clinic, in the basement of the Jesse S. Cooper Building, Federal and Water Streets.

Dr. Nicholas said the target group for testing is children from one to five years of age. Parents may bring their children any time during the listed hours; no appointment is necessary. There is no charge for this service.

The screening procedure consists of simply drawing a blood sample, and testing the lead content in a child's blood. It is part of a statewide lead poisoning control program operated by the Division of Public Health, designed to detect lead poisoning in young children.

Health officials say the most common source of lead poisoning among children is eating paint chips, usually from old houses with lead-based paint.

Plan For A Safe Farm

Conducting safety meetings is also a good idea. Home safety should also be emphasized. Plan to prevent home accidents. Each member of the family needs to be active in the home safety program. Take time each month to discuss "near misses" and home and recreational safety rules.

By working together we can help to reduce the tragic toll of farm accidents, says the specialist. Remember that safety is part of your business and in 1976 only you can prevent accidents.

end on December 15.

During 1975 two hundred and fifty persons attended the classes which husbands are encouraged to attend. The knowledge gained by the husband provides a source of relaxation and assurance to the mother-to-be throughout her pregnancy as well as during labor and childbirth. While encouraging the method of "natural" childbirth, Mrs. Hatfield does not make it a requirement of those participating in the classes.

Mrs. Hatfield, who is a graduate of the Hospital for Women of Maryland has been associated with Milford Memorial Hospital for over twenty years and has taught prenatal, postnatal and baby care classes in other Delaware communities. Assisting her as "back-up" faculty in class instruction are Anna Marlette, R.N., Head Nurse of the Fourth Floor, and Judy Caldwell, R.N.

For information regarding enrollment in the Childbirth Education Classes call Mrs. Hatfield at 422-7511 or 422-5622.

Scout News

On December 17th, Junior Girl Scout Troop #879 held their yearly rededication ceremony at the Asbury Methodist Church.

Faye Kates as Scout in Charge, Shannon Swafford and Kibbie Way as Flag Bearers, Stephanie Lang and Lizzie Way as Color Guards led the scouts in the special ceremony with the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of "America". This was followed by the lighting of the three large candles, representing the three parts of the Girl Scout Promise, by Leader Mrs. Barbara Evans and Co-Leader Mrs. Jean Cerklefskie.

Each of the ten smaller candles were lit by individual scouts while reciting one tenth of the G. S. Law. The scouts in horseshoe formation renewed their G. S. Promise to Mrs. Evans and then sang "Girl Scouts Together." The ceremony was concluded by the installation of new patrol leaders Lori Sapp, Theresa Smith and Kibbie Way and the presentation of their patrol cords.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Beginning on January 5, the City's engineers will be conducting a preliminary sewer system study. This study is being done in an effort to identify the storm water and ground water inflow into the system which is overloading the waste treatment plant. The survey may involve the use of a harmless red or green dye to locate cracks in connection between storm and sanitary sewers. As this project is in the best interest of the City, public cooperation is requested.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Public hearings will be held by the City of Harrington on Jan. 8, 1976, at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall, 100 p.m. for the purpose of citizens' inputs on the desirability of having the City of Harrington apply for HUD grant monies for the purpose of more water wells.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Bringing home the venison in style are a father and son team of Harrington, Richard Johnson [above] got 'spike buck' early last month while on a hunting expedition in Monterey, Virginia. His deer weighed in the 125 pound range. Johnson reports he really wanted a turkey at the time he got the buck. Later that month, sixteen-year-old Kenny Johnson brought down an eight point 160 buck near Whitehaven, Maryland. The take was the first for son, second for father.

It Seems To Me

Did you receive a gift certificate or a Christmas check to spend for after-Christmas bargains? Your money can go twice as far at end-of-year sales if you can find what you want and have the time and energy to shop. The best bargains are snapped up by the most knowledgeable shoppers.

A wise shopper considers the fabric and its care, the style, and the condition of the item, all in relation to the price asked and her need for the article. If there is no real need, the item is expensive under any conditions.

The better the quality of the original fabric, the better it will perform. Look for care directions. These may have been lost in the pre-Christmas shuffle. It's almost impossible to know how to care for most fabrics unless care directions are given.

If the sale garment requires dry cleaning before you can wear it, this adds to the price. If you have no assurance that the fabric will be good as new after cleaning, you have thrown away your money.

High fashion or extreme styles and fads are put on sale because their wear life is short. If you can get a lot of wear from them right away, you may get your money's worth. But don't put them away to wear next fall. Even if styles don't change, your figure might.

Garments may be on sale because of lost buttons, ripped seams, or other construction defects. A whole new set of buttons brings up the price again. If you sew, it's easy to repair minor damage or to alter the garment to fit. Don't fall for a dress for which you need a whole new set of accessories. It may be the most expensive bargain you ever bought.

If you buy a sale item, it is at your risk. If it does not perform satisfactorily, you have no recourse. That is the chance you took in buying it. Buying at sales is really a form of gambling. Maybe that's why it is so popular.

LF Girls Drop Alumni

Lake Forest Women's Alumni played against the Lake Forest Girls' Varsity Basketball Team last Friday, January 2. The Varsity, which overpowered the Alumni during most of the game, came out on top with a final score of 44-23.

The Alumni was unable to stop the Varsity even though they had eleven players on the floor during the last minutes of the game.

Players for the Women's Alumni were: Sue Ellen Dennis and Juanita Thompson from the Class of 1970; Karen Minner, Susie Newnom and Shirley Larimore from the Class of 1971; Beth Schulties from the Class of 1972; Barbara Bullock from the Class of 1973; Faye Neeman from the Class of 1974; Becky Chalmers, Debbie Duerr and Beverly Mack from the Class of 1975.

Cheerleaders for both the Men's and Women's Alumni game were: Kay Roughley, Cheryl Harrington, Linda Newnom, Fay Stayton, Debbie Smith and Judy Back.

The Women's Alumni would probably have been able to play a better game if they had been able to practice together. Unfortunately, this was not possible because they would have been charged for the use of the gym.

The next Alumni game will be Harrington vs. Felton Alumni. The game, which is sponsored by Lake Forest Alumni Booster Club, will be played at Lake Forest High School gym on January 22.

Bowling News

By Rich Dennis

With just two weeks of bowling left before ending the second third, Burris Food maintains their five game lead over the second slot team. Nev Cover paved the way for the team with assistance from everyone Dallas even chipped in the last frame. Jerry Hayman lead the field for Fry's American and everyone else seemed to be practicing on how to pick up splits.

The Spoilers had a chance to pick up a game on the front runners, but dropped the third game to Quillen's Market. Most of the Spoilers had a hard time maintaining their own average, except Bruce Harrington, who had a 522 series. Quillen's couldn't get motivated Tuesday night.

(I vote that all bowlers for Quillen's have Tuesdays off with pay.) Donald Wilson must have crept off a couple hours early, I see he pulled down a 194 in the third.

Walley's Garage continues their ever pressing climb upwards as they took all four points from Moose "B". This, as we see it, puts them in second place with the Spoilers. D. Ryan sparked for Walley's and everyone else just chipped in. Sam Lyons sparked for Moose "B" and the rest just kind of watched him go.

Taylor & Messick even though having won the first third has managed to stay up in the top this third, but was up rooted by Dur-A-Clean, who swept three points from them. Ira Gland-en did the fine bowling as no one wanted to accelerate for T & M.

Jarrell's Fuel was unable to gain any guard as they came to a dead lock with Robbins and each team took two points.

Harrington Moose "A" worked on Big John's tonight, causing them to slip down a few notches while they maintained the fifth position, tied with T & M. Everyone seemed to be contented with their bowling average, except Harold Melvin, who had a nice 581 series.

Butler's Fuel seems to be unable to gain any traction in this third and keeps slipping around at the bottom. They did split two and two with the ninth slot team McKnatt's. Ralph Butler again lead the way. No one else was paying any attention to him and couldn't help him. Donald Gary had some nice games for McKnatt, but he also received very little assistance.

Food Rite didn't seem to gain any higher position but everyone on the roster seemed to get a chance to bowl.

Bill Manship seems to have a pretty consistent thing going about being able to bowl a 600 series. Bill had a grand 635 series Tuesday. Nice Bowling Bill! Paul Baker was the big gun for Penn Central with a 567 series. Paul, if you want to go higher, you better ask Bill how he does it.

Several players from both Woodbridge and Laurel move in for a rebound of a Louis Dexter shot. The players are [51] Alan Foskey, [41] Ty White and [53] Bob Trout of Laurel, [44], Ray Collins and [40] Spank Neal of Woodbridge. Trout scored the winning field goal as Laurel edged Woodbridge 50-48.

Raiders Finish Third in Tourney

Woodbridge Riders lost the opening game of the Seaford Invitational Tournament to tough shooting Laurel five. With five seconds left in the game Robert Trout sank a running one-hand set shot that went through the hoop for the final tally.

Woodbridge quickly brought the ball down court and Nelson Burbage tried in vain to pull it out with a running two handed set shot with practically nothing left on the clock. The final score was Laurel 50 and Woodbridge 48.

Spank Neal controlled the boards at will and ended the night leading scorers with 26 points. Jym VanSciver, head coach for Woodbridge, said his people were keying on Ty White and Alan Foskey. Foskey lead the Laurel Bulldogs in scoring 16 points. Vansciver also added that sloppy play contributed to the loss as well.

Woodbridge 71 Delmar 46
The following night (Dec. 30th) the Woodbridge Raiders clobbered Delmar 71 to 46 getting revenge in the Seaford Invitational Tournament. The game represented the consolation game and gave Woodbridge third place in the tournament. Again Spank Neal got 22 points with over 25 rebounds. Louis Dexter tallied 22 points to overcome the previous night's showing of four points. Neal ended the tournament leading all scorers with 48 points.

Dover Downs Has New Schedule

Something new has been added to this Sunday's racing schedule at Dover Downs as the 10-race matinee program will feature the first annual Dover Downs Father and Son Driving Championship.

"This is the first time we've put something like this together at Dover Downs," reports Racing Secretary, Bruce Munn. "There's a lot of enthusiasm among the drivers and the fans are going to enjoy some exciting racing. In the past we have done this at Brandywine and the results were excellent."

Munn explained that eight father and son teams have been selected to compete in the first annual event which will be comprised of four of the ten regularly scheduled races this Sunday.

The initial race will see all eight fathers compete followed by another race among all eight sons. A third race will see four fathers matched up against four opposing sons, and the fourth and final event will pit the remaining four fathers against the remaining four sons.

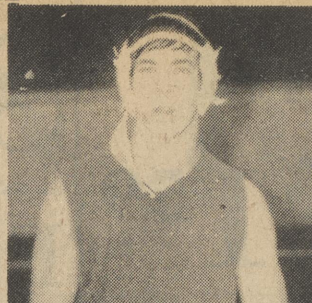

Points will be awarded according to how each individual finishes in each race. The winner of each event will receive 50 points with the remaining positions awarded points as follows: 2nd - 25 pts.; 3rd - 12 pts.; 4th - 8 pts.; 5th - 5 pts.; 6th - 3 pts.; 7th - 2 pts.; 8th - 1 pt. ## Raiders Open Season

As The Journal was going to press, the Woodbridge wrestlers were opening the season at home against Seaford. The Raiders were three and nine last year, and Coach Gary Bottinger has five boys back from the past year. They are Mike Fields, Alonza Frisby, Mike Richards, Jim Johnson and Rocky Flem. "This year will be another year of a rebuilding season. It seems that every season is a rebuilding one," said Bottinger. The Coach also added that he has 28 boys out for wrestling this year which is the sixth year for wrestling at Woodbridge. "There are 16 guys who have not wrestled before which is a real inexperienced squad, said Bottinger.

Anyone Interested?

Kenna Adams is in search of any female graduate of Harrington High School who might be interested in taking part in an alumni game with Felton Alumni on January 22.

Mrs. Adams wishes to hold a practice before the teams meet at Lake Forest High.

She reminds interested participants or spectators the style of basketball will be the modified (rover) type. This is unlike the full-court system used by basketball teams.

Cross-Country Jacket Fund Drive Still On

By Keith S. Burgess

The fund drive to give warmup jackets to the top runners of Lake Forest's state championship cross-country team, is inching laboriously toward its goal. Originally, it had been planned to take care of the first fifteen runners, but the squads No. 16 and No. 17 runners were so close to the No. 15 man, that it was decided to shoot for seventeen jackets, costing about $276.

Harrington postmaster Howard W. Dill, gave this writer a check to buy a jacket. Mrs. Phillip Tutbill of Bowers contacted cross-country coach, Jim Blades and contributed another $25.

Ray Blanchette of the Harrington Journal staff pledged the first jacket, this writer and wife came up with two more, a fan gave $17.50, more than enough to buy a $16.25 jacket. The Lake Forest Athletic Boosters added $50 and with $50 expected from another source, the fund now stands at $207.50, approximately $70 short of going over the top.

It should be mentioned that this team has won the state title for three straight years, but has not asked for donations since 1973, the first fund drive was in 1969.

In seven years of existence, Lake Forest has been state champion in cross-country four times. These kids proudly wear their Jackets and rightly so. They've earned that right with hundreds even thousands of miles of hard running behind them.

The communities which have contributed to these drives, and we are talking here of those individuals, business organizations, services clubs, etc. that have come through, in the clutch since 1969 are Burrowsville, Bowers, Frederica and Harrington.

The following is a list of the first seventeen runners of some 33 Spartans cross-country performers. The number opposite each name, represents the average finish of that runner, over the season.

Dan Parker, 1.21, Harrington.
Chris Palmisano, 2.64, Canterbury.
Chuck Carter, 3.71, Felton.
Terry Pettyjohn, 4.14, Frederica.
Bob Mullane, 6.64, Frederica and Howard Parker, 6.64, Harrington.
Dave Richter, 7.14, Canterbury.
Paul McClellan, 9.71, Canterbury.

Harry Benson, 11.64, Frederica.
Kelly Woodward, 12.79, Felton Heights.
Steve Saulsbury, 13.93, Felton.
Tom Ott, 14., Felton.
Cliff Ayres, 14.57, Harrington.
Eugene Butler, 15., Harrington.

Craig Kashner, 10.50, Canterbury, and Herb Jarrell, 10.50, Felton Heights.

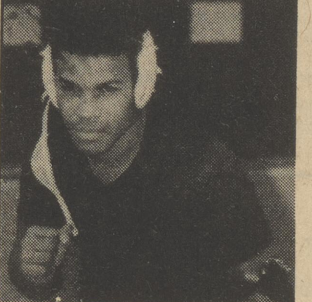

Marcus Bray, 15.71, Felton.

We are about four jackets short, at this writing, at $16.25 each. But, of course, any contribution will be appreciated. Call Coach Blades at 335-5831 or Keith S. Burgess at 398-8838 if you wish to help.
